Reagan Blocks Sale of Equipment to Russia

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Reagan, moving to punish the Soviet Union for the military crackdown in Poland, will block the sale of equipment for a pipeline that would carry natural gas from Siberia to Western Europe, a well-placed administration official says.

After reviewing recommendations by a high-level task force, Reagan also decided to halt exports of high technology to the Soviet Union, including computers, and suspend maritime rights under which Soviet ships use U.S. ports and aviation rights under which Soviet airliners operate within U.S. boundaries.

An aide who asked not to be identified described the program being pursued by Reagan as "tightening the screws." It marks the first step taken by the administration against the Soviets, whom Reagan blames for the imposition of martial law in Poland.

Reagan, spending a week-long holiday in California, was expected to announce the decisions this afternoon after receiving the recommendations Monday of the administration's Special Situation Group.

The group met 2 1/2 hours Monday while Reagan was on his way by helicopter to an afternoon of manual labor at his ranch about 100 miles north of here. The recommendations were relayed by telephone by Vice President George Bush, Edwin Meese III, the presidential counselor, and Adm. James Nance, acting national security adviser.

The president will confer later in the week with Secretary of State Alexander

Polish Workers Still Defiant

By The Associated Press
Defiant Polish workers are producing automobile parts that don't fit and engaging in other acts of industrial sabotage, according to uncensored reports reaching the West.
But Poland's military government claims work is returning to normal as the last strikes against martial law are dropped.

Meanwhile, a well-placed U.S. administration official said President Reagan will block the sale to the Soviets of equipment for a pipeline that would carry natural gas from Siberia to Western Europe. ## County Buys Insurance For Reserves; Makes Appointments

By BOB NIGH
MANAGING EDITOR
The Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court approved the purchase of workman's compensation insurance for Sheriff's Reserve Officers yesterday as they met in regular session at the courthouse.

County Judge Glen Nelson reported that a check of past performance had indicated that the county was receiving the services of five reserve officers "at any time" during the day.
The court voted to participate in the coverage through the Texas Association of Counties at a cost to the county of $516 per year. The insurance will cover only those deputies who are on actual duty at the time of need Nelson said.
In other action yesterday the county fathers made several appointments, okayed payment of the county's share of tax appraisal district budget for the first quarter of 1982, and tabled action on a request from the chamber of commerce for a donation to Christmas lighting funds.

Carolyn Johnson and Beverly Jayroe were reappointed to the local Child Welfare Board, while J.F. Martin was re-named to the Juvenile Board.

Ken Rogers was also named to replace James Gentry as Precinct 5 Election Judge. Gentry has moved out of the precinct, necessitating the replacement.

The county's share of the 1982 tax appraisal district budget is $99,274.02. The court approved the first quarter payment of $14,816.50 yesterday.

The commissioners tabled action on the request for funds by the chamber of commerce pending further investigation into the legality of it.

County Librarian Diane Pierson reported back to the county on her trip to the state library meeting in Austin recently. Ms. Pierson told the court that she had been assured that no change in the qualifications of librarians in towns under 25,000 population will be forthcoming. The court had expressed concern in the past when it was reported that a change in qualifications was going to be made.

The state association had indicated that it would change qualifications for all librarians in the state to make it mandatory for them to have a degree in library science, regardless of the size library they served.
As it now stands now those librarians serving cities with less than 25,000 people do not have to have a degree.
"Ms. Pierson has been assured that the qualifications will not be changed," Judge Nelson said. "And, she reported that moves to provide schooling toward a degree in library science in the Amarillo area are being made."

Nuclear Waste Meeting Set

Representatives of the Department of Energy will be in Hereford Tuesday, Jan. 19, as DOE conducts an informational meeting open to the public concerning the National Waste Terminal Storage Program.

According to Deaf Smith County Judge Glen Nelson the meeting will begin at 7 p.m., and will be held in the banquet room of the community center here.

Nelson said much of the information presented at the meeting would be the same which was presented to various local officials a few days ago.

Much concern has arisen, particularly in Swisher and Deaf Smith Counties, after salt core drillings have begun as a part of a DOE effort to find suitable depositories for nuclear waste.

Deaf Smith County is almost centrally located in the Permian Basin, one of some 10 regions being considered for the location of the waste storage terminals.

Holiday Deaths Below Estimates

By JOHN DOWLING
Associated Press Writer

Good weather and a lousy economy might have helped keep the Christmas traffic death toll below estimates made before the three-day holiday weekend, a National Safety Council official says.
During the holiday period, 320 traffic deaths were reported on the nation's highways, well below the 450 to 550 deaths the council projected would occur between 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

In Alabama, where officials had estimated that 10 people would die in holiday traffic accidents, no highway fatalities were reported. State police spokeswoman Paula Weiss said it was the first holiday period on record during which no traffic deaths were reported.

No traffic fatalities were reported in 10 other states — Alaska, Idaho, Maine, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Utah, Vermont and Wisconsin. The highest state death tolls were in California and Florida, with 32 each.

Although it is impossible to pinpoint factors that cause traffic death statistics to fluctuate, the effects of the current recession — and the weather — may have played a role in holding down the number of highway fatalities, according to Barbara Carraro, supervisor of motor vehicle statistics for the council.

"It could be that the condition of the economy is keeping some people home," she said Monday. "Also, we've had fairly decent weather. Usually, if the weather is bad, we'd expect the figures to be higher."

In 1978, the most recent year with a three-day Christmas holiday, 454 traffic deaths were reported. Over a four-day holiday in 1980, 494 people died in traffic accidents.

Pair Kidnaps Arizona Officer

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP) — State police officer Claudia Schmitz, abducted Sunday by two hitchhikers, says she doesn't think she "could have come any closer to death than that."

Ms. Schmitz, 31, said one of the two hitchhikers who held her at bay with her own revolver "kept saying he was going to shoot me if he didn't get free."

"Every time we saw another patrol car, he said he would shoot me," Ms. Schmitz said. "He had the hammer back and as we approached the roadblock, he had me by the collar with the gun at my head. I figured he was going to do it."

The male hitchhiker is believed to be Arnold Nafel but apparently is known by a variety of names. A woman who identified herself as Dawn R. Lombard accompanied him and the two were being held here Monday

Prayer Vigil Held for Priest

DENVER CITY, Texas (AP) — Mourners stunned by the beating death of this town's only Roman Catholic priest held an around-the-clock prayer vigil beside the body of the Rev. Patrick Ryan.

The priest's nude, bound and badly beaten body was found earlier this week in an Odessa motel room. Police Lt. Kenneth Jones said Monday investigators had no suspects in the slaying.

The vigil for the priest, affectionately known as "Father Paddy" in his predominantly poor and Hispanic parish, began Sunday night and was to continue until the funeral at St. Williams's Catholic Church at 2 p.m. today.

Ryan, 49, will be buried in his native Doon, Ireland. Ryan's body was taken first to a funeral home Sunday, but so many people gathered to pray beside the slain priest that the body was moved to the church to accommodate more people, said church member Elida Perez.

"His church is predominantly a Mexican-American community," said Low Barrett, editor of the Denver City Press and a close friend of Ryan. "They're taking it quite hard. Paddy was a very gentle, soft-spoken man

Bovina Man Dies in Wreck

A Bovina man was killed early today in a head-on collision six miles west of Friona, according to officer Art Lopez of the Friona police department.

Merle Ross McPherson, 57, was westbound on U.S. 80 when a tractor trailer rig crossed the center line and struck his 1971 Dodge car at 6:45 a.m.

The driver of the truck, Brent Besky, 30, Albuquerque, N.M., told police that he had reached for a cup of coffee and as he put it back on the dash saw that he was on the wrong side of the highway.

Besky was taken to Farmer County Hospital and is being held for observation.

Funeral arrangements for McPherson will be announced by Parson-Ellis Funeral Home in Friona.

Williams' Lawyers Focusing On Prejudice of Jury Panel

ATLANTA (AP) — Lawyers for Wayne B. Williams are focusing on racial prejudice and the publicity stirred up by a string of 28 killings around Atlanta as they question prospective jurors for the young black man's double-murder trial.

District Attorney Lewis Slaton and his assistants asked few questions of the prospective jurors in the initial day of jury selection, but defense lawyers Alvin Binder and Mary Welcome interrogated each one carefully, often at length.

Williams, a 23-year-old free-lance photographer, is charged with murdering Nathaniel Cater, 27, and Jimmy Ray Payne, 21, two of 28 young blacks whose deaths over a 22-month period have been investigated by a special police task force. There have been no arrests in the other 26 slayings.

"Have you had any experience or relationship with a black person that would make it difficult for you to sit in judgment in this case?" Binder and Ms. Welcome asked Monday.

While none admitted to racial biases that would affect judgment, each told of reading newspaper stories or seeing television reports about the series of slayings and Williams' arrest.

"If you were charged with a crime, and a juror in your frame of mind was trying you, would you feel comfortable?" the defense lawyers asked.

Some 700 prospective jurors have been called for the trial, but only 47 were questioned Monday. Of that group, 17 were excused because of medical or family hardships, and two were dismissed because they acknowledged they already had formed opinions about Williams' guilt or innocence.

Of the remaining 28, 11 were qualified for the jury pool from which the 12 jurors and alternates for the trial will be selected, and the other 17 faced individual questioning today by defense lawyers and prosecutors.

The courtroom was packed Monday with reporters and spectators, who were required along with the prospective jurors to pass through a metal detector before entering.

Williams sat with his elbows propped on the defense table during most of the questioning of the jury, conferring occasionally with members of his defense team.

Christmas Brighter By Stocking Fund

The Christmas Stocking Fund project made Christmas a little brighter for many Hereford families, thanks to contributions of more than $7,000 from local citizens.

The CSF program was started last year by a group of anonymous businessmen, some retired, as a means of meeting the needs of some less-fortunate families in the community.

The fund was used this year primarily for the purchase of food and clothing. Needy families, after being screened by the CSF committee, were presented certificates for the purchase of food and clothing.

The Hereford Brand handled the fund-raising campaign for the project. Contributions were mailed or brought to the newspaper office, and a list of the donations was published in The Brand.

The total to date is $7,048.00. The last report inadvertently had a $50 donation added in as a $500 gift, so the $7,000 total was not reached until over the Christmas holiday.

DC-9 Jet Makes Emergency Landing

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A Delta Air Lines DC-9 jet made an emergency landing at the Jackson Municipal Airport on Sunday after the craft lost power in one engine, officials say.

Authorities said none of the 88 passengers and five crew members on the flight from Atlanta to Houston were injured. The passengers were switched to another plane following the 5 p.m. incident and continued the flight into Houston.

Walter Krenzke, Federal Aviation Administration supervisor at the airport control tower, said Monday that the flight was southbound over Jackson when the plane lost power in one of its two engines and the pilot requested permission to make an emergency landing at the city's airport.

Krenzke said airport emergency crews stood by as the plane made the landing "without incident." He said the airline is required to make a report of the incident to the FAA.

PCB Incineration Off Texas Coast Continues on Schedule

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — About half of 850,000 gallons of hazardous waste earmarked for destruction has been incinerated on a ship moored in the Gulf of Mexico about 200 miles southeast of this city, a federal spokesman says.

About 425,000 gallons of the waste contaminated with the toxic chemical PCBs have been burned on the ship Vulcanus, according to Steve Shatzow, the Environmental Protection Agency's director of Water Resource Regulations and Standards in Washington.

The incineration began Dec. 22 and has continued on schedule, he said.

"Everything is going fine. They have burned about half of the contaminated material," Shatzow said. "I think they are planning to be done by the end of the week."

EPA officials said that the incineration poses no threat to the South Texas coast.

The Vulcanus has been using two large incinerators to burn PCBs — or polychlorinated biphenyls — at a rate of 3,000 gallons per hour. A small quantity of hydrogen chloride residue is discharged in a plume from the incineration stacks.

China Cools Ardent Toward U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — China is cooling its ardor toward the United States as part of a long-range policy aimed at enhancing its position among Third World nations, American officials say.

The officials, who asked not to be identified, said the Chinese policy has added a new and divisive dimension to Sino-American ties, already clouded by uncertainties over future U.S. military relations with Taiwan.

China has been trying to gain clout with Third World countries for years with only marginal success. It apparently has concluded, the officials said, that the campaign was being hampered by its close identification with the United States.

The Chinese have indicated they feel somewhat uncomfortable with President Reagan, partially because of his campaign statements last year about the desirability of "official" U.S. ties with Taiwan.

The Basics Of IRA Accounts

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

Millions of Americans will get a New Year's gift from the government on Jan. 1 — the right to open a tax-sheltered Individual Retirement Account.

The Economic Recovery and Tax Act of 1981 made millions of people eligible for IRAs and increased the amount of money they can invest free of current taxes. Here are some questions and answers about IRAs and how they work:

Q. What is an IRA?

A. It is an Individual Retirement Account. The money you invest and the interest it earns are not subject to federal income tax until you start making withdrawals.

Q. How long must I leave my money on deposit?

A. You cannot start withdrawals until you are 59½. If you withdraw the money before that, you must pay an Internal Revenue Service penalty equal to 10 percent of the amount you take out. You also may have to pay additional penalties imposed by the institution with which you invested your money. Once the money is withdrawn, it is subject to income tax at the regular rate.

Q. Why is there so much publicity about IRAs all of a sudden?

A. IRAs have been around since 1975, but until now, people who were covered by company pension plans could not have IRAs. As of Jan. 1, 1982, anyone with earned income is eligible.

Q. How much can I contribute?

A. Starting Jan. 1, each working individual can set aside up to $2,000 a year. A married couple with two wage earners can invest up to $4,000, but the money must be in separate accounts and the contribution to each account is limited to $2,000. A married couple with one wage earner can shelter up to $2,250 a year in a plan known as a "spousal IRA." You can divide the money between the spouses in any way you choose as long as neither spouse's investment tops $2,000. Each spouse must have a separate account.

Q. What is the main advantage of an IRA?

A. It lets you save for retirement and trim your current tax bill. You will eventually have to pay taxes on the money and the interest it earns, but presumably you will be in a lower bracket when you start making withdrawals after you retire.

Q. How fast will the money pile up?

A. It depends on how much you contribute, the interest rate and how often interest is compounded. The Dime Savings Bank of New York says that someone who deposits $2,000 a year and earns 12 percent, compounded daily will have $2,254,822 after 40 years.

Q. Do I have to withdraw the money when I reach 59½?

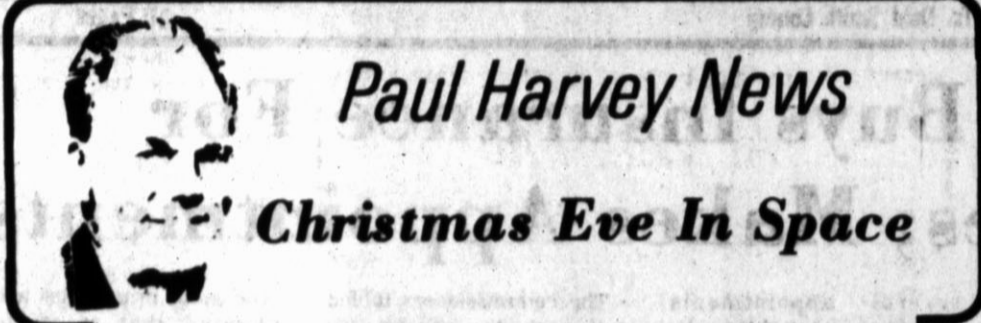

A. No. You can add to an existing IRA or open a new one at any age up to, but not including, the year you turn 70½. You must, however, start making withdrawals by the end of the year in which you turn 70½. And you must withdraw the money at a rate fast enough to empty the account by the time you reach your normal life expectancy.

Q. Is the money sheltered from state as well as federal taxes?

A. Some states have not amended their laws to make IRA contributions deductible, but most are expected to do so by the end of 1982.

Q. When can I open an IRA — and when can I claim the deduction?

A. Unless you were eligible under the old rules, you can't open an IRA until after Jan. 1. The deduction applies to 1982 income; you report it on the return filed in 1983. You can open an IRA for a given tax year any time up to the date that the return for that year is due.

Christmas Eve In Space

Thirteen years ago our Apollo Eight Astronauts, Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anders were 238,000 miles from home. They were orbiting the moon. And it was Christmas Eve.

They were the first earthmen ever really to explore beyond the beyond.

NASA had scheduled a broadcast from them to us — a Christmas Eve greeting from space. What would it be?

The Space Agency had left it entirely up to the Apollo crew, Borman in particular. He had scribbled some notes about "peace on earth," but earth-people at that time were suffering in unpopularity over our unpopular involvement in Vietnam.

Borman wanted any Christmas message to contribute to universality — something to which all the people of planet Earth could relate and respond.

A Christmas message for Christians would not touch nameless millions of Chinese, Indians, Moslems. Our spacemen were feeling the oneness of our home planet and they wanted everyone to share that feeling.

The lonely Earth floating in all that dark, forbidding emptiness hungered for hope. They were rich and poor down there. They were Catholic and Protestant, Jew and Mohammedan, Shinto and Buddhist...

They were East and West, generations deep in separate and frequently conflicting traditions.

What Christmas Eve message could possibly be a catalyst for so much diversity? ...

They were male and female, young and old, well and ill, fed and unfed; and they were all tuned in — waiting.

Do not judge Commander Borman's choice of words critically until you try it yourself...

You cannot offer "Merry Christmas" where it was neither.

You cannot wish "Happy Holidays" to hungry.

You cannot without hypocrisy plead the cause of peace to men at war.

Yet, this monumental opportunity to wrap your words around all men and women of all nations must not pass with less...

And it was then that Commander Borman inscribed on the flame proof paper of his flight plan the words which he would speak to us that Christmas Eve 13 years ago.

From Scripture, from the book of Genesis, the words: "In the beginning God created the heavens and the Earth." And we were one.

Officers

negotiations at a police roadblock near Hoover Dam.

Bond was set at $18,000 each after a Justice Court appearance here Monday.

Ms. Schmitz had stopped two hitchhikers Sunday morning on Arizona 93, about two miles north of Kingman, and had run a routine check to determine whether either was wanted for any felony, Schmidt said.

That's when she was told a second-degree grand larceny felony warrant had been issued by the Broome County Sheriff's Department at Binghamton, N.Y., in the name of Arnold Nafel for a person fitting Nafel's date of birth and general address in Endicott, near Binghamton, Schmidt said.

Nafel told Ms. Schmitz that the warrant might be for his brother, but about that time a police dispatcher lost radio contact with Ms. Schmitz.

Ms. Schmitz said Nafel pulled a knife and that in the ensuing struggle he was able to gain possession of her gun.

"We struggled and I went for my gun and he went for it, too. I tried to get the knife that at that point was at my throat," she said.

"It all happened so fast, the only thing I could think of was to keep that knife away from my throat," she added.

Ms. Schmitz said Miss Lombard was frightened.

"She didn't want to go to jail, but she didn't want to die, either," Ms. Schmitz said.

Other officers arriving on routine backup saw Ms. Schmitz, in handcuffs with a gun trained on her, being ordered into the back seat of her patrol car, Schmidt said.

Ms. Lombard drove the patrol car north toward the Nevada border while the backup officers and aircraft followed, Schmidt said. DPS dispatchers rerouted traffic and set up a roadblock near Hoover Dam, he added.

The police car was turned around when the driver saw the roadblock but was stopped after about a half-mile, he said. A DPS negotiator then talked with the hitchhikers by radio for about 40 minutes before Ms. Schmitz got on the radio and said they had agreed to surrender to her, Schmidt said.

The man Schmidt said officers were "pretty sure" is Arnold Nafel was held at the Mohave County Jail here on charges of kidnapping and aggravated assault on a police officer, and Ms. Lombard, about 23, was held on a charge of kidnapping, Schmidt said.

Schmidt said Nafel, or Naphthal, had an assortment of altered documents, including a birth certificate and military discharge in the name of Derick Sims. Sims is wanted in Midland, Texas, for larceny, Schmidt said.

Nafel-Naphthal also had various papers in the name of David Randall Autrey, wanted in San Diego for auto theft, Schmidt added.

He said the two may have been married in North Vernon Indiana, under the Autrey name in early 1981. There is a Baptist church document saying they were married but no marriage certificate, Schmidt said, adding that a letter was sent to them by the church last March 28 in care of a Paul McCoy in North Vernon.

Nafel, born in Great Britain, served with the U.S. Navy for two years and moved to Israel in 1978.

and everybody loved him."

He said several hundred people filed through the doors of St. William's on Monday to participate in the prayer vigil.

The Pallottine priest lived alone in a parsonage beside St. William's and was known in this town of 5,000. He also was the only priest for the nearby community of Plains.

Jones said investigators had gathered little information from an examination of Ryan's car, which was found Sunday 120 miles from Odessa in Hobbs, N.M.

Ryan, who left a steak dinner on the stove when he vanished, was reported missing Christmas Day after he failed to appear to celebrate a Mass Wednesday, a Christmas Eve midnight Mass and a Christmas Mass.

Saturday, a body found Tuesday in an Odessa motel room was identified as Ryan's.

Dr. Richard Cohen, medical examiner in Odessa, said Ryan's body was covered with bruises and that death probably was caused by a blow to the neck. He said the injuries were inflicted with a blunt instrument such as fists or a club.

Investigators said scratches on Ryan's arms and the condition of the room indicated a struggle took place.

No identification was found in the motel room and the room was registered under a false name and address, Jones said. He said a sports shirt and trousers were in the room but no clerical clothing.

"That is the 64-dollar question — what he was doing in Odessa," Barrett said. "I had never heard him mention Odessa. I knew he went to Lubbock quite frequently and met with some Irish priests. But we can't conceive of what business he would have had in Odessa. That's an entire mystery."

Ryan, who recently celebrated his 25th year as a priest, had been in Denver City for about two years, after spending 12 years as a missionary in Tanzania, Africa.

Hispanic Leader Rebukes Reagan Immigration Policy

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — An Hispanic leader has lashed out at the Reagan Administration's Latin American immigration policy as "nearsighted and hypocritical."

Ruben Bonilla, national counsel of the League of United Latin American Citizens, criticized in a statement Monday reported plans by the Immigration and Naturalization Service to revoke tens of thousands of temporary residency permits that have allowed Mexican aliens to live legally in the United States since 1981.

A Christmas weekend news story by the Los Angeles Times quoted an unidentified immigration official as saying INS offices would begin revoking about 170,000 temporary permits issued while an immigration case involving Mexican National Refugio Silva was being resolved in Chicago.

While the case was being heard, the government issued "Silva Letters" granting temporary U.S. residency to persons applying to immigrate legally before Jan. 1, 1977, and who then entered the country illegally, Bonilla said.

"This will probably be a very major issue for Hispanics as we enter 1982," he said. "The decision to revoke the temporary permits is grossly inhumane and is inconsistent with the president's plans for legalization announced earlier in 1981.

"It, in a sense, amounts to international double-cross for the president and INS to state to the nation a plan for broad legalization, then less than six months later, the administration hints at a revocation-deportation scheme that will reap turmoil in Hispanic communities across America."

Bonilla said he found it "ironic that while we grant the necessary and appropriate refuge to Polish refugees that we turn our backs on Mexican economic refugees."

He said LULAC has sent a telegram to INS Commissioner-designate Allen C. Nelson, asking him to issue a directive instructing immigration field directors to grant an extension of temporary residency to the Mexicans involved until Congress acts on Reagan's legalization program.

Bonilla said that Rep. Edwin Roybal, D-Calif., has introduced a resolution in Congress to instruct the INS to grant an extension of residency to Mexicans with the so-called Silva Letters.

"Otherwise the Reagan Administration is making this a very sorry Christmas and a dismal New Year for possible hundreds of thousands of persons," he said.

Police Investigating High School Break-In

Hereford police still have no suspect in a Sunday morning break-in of the Hereford High School cafeteria. An American flag was the only item reported stolen.

Officers patrolling early Sunday heard glass break on the east side of the cafeteria, but when arriving at the building no subjects were found.

In addition to the flag being stolen, a fire extinguisher was used to vandalize the cafeteria.

Several harrasing phone calls have been reported to the police and officers are noting that the number has risen due to students home from school.

Weekend mischief included slashing of two tires on a truck parked in the alley of the 400 block of East Park. A resident on the 200 block of Beach said the back windshield of his truck was shot out, causing about $150 damage.

A man who had lost his wallet in a convenience store told police that when it was returned to him about $100 was missing.

Police issued 29 citations during the holiday weekend, checked out three accidents, and made 12 arrests.

Hereford firemen doused a dumpster fire in the 100 block of Hereford Calle Monday morning for their only call through the Christmas weekend.

County authorities are also investigating a case of stolen pigs, which the owner said he found in another man's pen.

M. Haig Jr. in Palm Springs, deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said. Haig was speaking in San Francisco today.

Although Reagan's aides have said he would consult with the Western allies about any steps taken in connection with the developments in Poland, those likely to be announced today could be pursued without allied cooperation.

At the top of the list was a break in the sale of the equipment intended for the Soviets' planned 2,400-mile pipeline to carry natural gas from Northwest Siberia.

One well-placed source said the president rejected a proposal Monday to limit Polish credit at U.S. banks and to interrupt the export of technology for a combine harvester plant in the Soviet Union. The financially pressed International Harvester Co. received an export license for the technology transfer in early December.

broadsheets assuring there would be no reprisals if the miners quit the protest voluntarily.

Earlier official Polish media reports said the 2,300 miners who abandoned their strike last week at the nearby Ziemowit coal mine resumed digging Monday, and that full production had resumed at the Huta Katowice steelworks — where security forces had routed protesters.

Ex-Ambassador Wants All Trade Cut-Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The former Polish ambassador to Japan who renounced his position to protest the Warsaw regime says the United States should cut off all trade with his homeland and the Soviet Union.

"Do not give a single penny to the perfidious Polish junta," Zdzislaw Ruraz told the Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe.

Asked by Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., whether this meant "no trade, no food, no credits" to the Polish military government, Ruraz replied: "I would go even further than that. Not to the sponsors either."

He identified the "sponsors" as the Soviet Union, saying, "We are, in fact, fighting against the USSR."

"This junta, this government, would not stay in power for even a day, would never have come to power, without backing from the USSR," he said Monday. "The real screen players and conductors of the Polish drama are behind the Kremlin walls."

In Los Angeles, White House spokesman Larry Speakes said the administration's Special Situation Group met at the White House on Monday and "reviewed a number of possible steps or options that may be taken as a result of the Polish situation."

He said President Reagan's decisions would be reached and made public by the end of the week.

The United States already has suspended food aid to the Polish government, but has stopped short of an outright trade embargo and is backing food contributions as long as they flow through non-government channels in Poland.

AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland charged Monday in a speech to the Industrial Relations Research Association that the administration is not reacting firmly enough to the situation in Poland.

Kirkland did not give details, but said the AFL-CIO was urging "a series of strong measures...aimed at the Polish government and the true authors of the crackdown, the Soviet Union."

Earlier Monday, Kirkland aide Tom Kahn had advocated a grain embargo, said technology sales to the Soviet Union "should be placed under strict national security controls" and called for an end to credit to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.

Kahn's testimony came before the same commission that heard Ruraz' suggestions.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

This winter, a lot of you people out there are going to be using your fireplace a lot. As some of you may or may not have already discovered, there is an art to starting a fire.

Here are some observations that might prove helpful.
Do not count on a careless smoker to start your fire. There is never a careless smoker around when you need one. I've seen them on television a million times and so have you. The smoker who simply licks a cigarette butt into a field and seconds later 300,000 acres of forest are ablaze. All it would take to start your fire is one careless cigarette, but it'll never happen.
Old newspapers never burn. You can feed your fire 50 to 60 pounds of newspapers that are taking up space in your garage, but they won't burn. The only paper that will catch on at all is the one just delivered which no one has read and which still has a rubber band on it.
Cereal boxes, milk cartons and cracker boxes are excellent fire starters, but you lose momentum when you have to stop and wait until the kids eat up their contents.

Everyone in the room watching you struggle to build the fire will know that your wood is unseasoned but you. The builder of the fire is always the last to know.
Half of the people in the room watching you struggle to build the fire will know that you are giving the fire too much oxygen, thus creating a draft and blowing it out.

Do not be proud when members of the family offer old rulers, yardsticks, shoe supports, wooden hangers, birdhouses and Popsicle sticks. Every little bit of kindling helps.
Do not assault people who say they installed a gas conversion burner for under $14, use the prepared logs at the store for 99 cents, or who sit around all summer having the kids roll logs out of old newspaper that burn for 30 hours.
Never spurn the help of an eight-year-old Scout who once built a fire out of wet wood by rubbing two Boy Scout leaders together.

Never go to bed on a fireplace of darkened ashes. The moment you turn your back and say, "It's too late for a fire anyway," flames will leap out toward the screen, wood will crackle and pop and you'll have smoking embers for three days.
Remember, being warm isn't everything.

The sun is 30 trillion miles closer to Earth than is the next nearest star.
The oldest living trees on earth are believed to be a stand of Bristlecone Pine in California's Inyo National Park, estimated to be 4,600 years old.

London's Big Ben, the world's most famous clock, has a pendulum 13 feet long that weighs 700 pounds.

Rice paper is not made from rice but from the pit of the plant "Fatsia papyrifera."

Ann Landers

No Absolute Proof

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Someone very close to me had a child out of wedlock. The man she has been going with for three years claims the child is not his.
"Mary" is very upset over this for two reasons. First, she desperately needs financial help to raise this child. Second, the rat is trying to make her out to be loose morally by suggesting that she ran around with other men when they were supposed to be engaged.
I heard recently there are blood tests that can determine, for sure, whether a man is the father of a child. Please find out for me if this is true. If so, what are these tests like and where can they be made?—Seeker Of Truth In Bakerfield not necessarily mean you are guilty of something. It is just a sign that you are uncomfortable. For example, if the subject under discussion is extramarital sex, you may blush because the topic is embarrassing to you even though you are not guilty of cheating on your spouse. Get it?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several months ago our son married a lovely young woman whom we had met only once. We don't know her very well, but we like her very much and feel that our son has made a wonderful choice.

Should we ask her not to call us "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" or wait until she decides on her own to choose a more personal title?—Virginia Quandary

DEAR VIRGINIA: "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" sounds pretty stuffy. Suggest that she call you Mother and Dady Smith or by your first names. If she lapses back into Mr. and Mrs., don't be too unhappy. You should hear what some people call their in-laws.

Anyone Can Have

'Housewife Hands'

DEAR SEEKER: According to Dr. Park S. Gerald, chief of the Clinical Genetics Division of Children's Hospital and professor of pediatrics at Harvard Medical School, blood tests are available to determine if certain inherited factors are present in the blood of a child and parents. If a child possesses a blood factor that is NOT present in either parent, it is almost certain that one or both "parents" are not the biological parents of the child.

Dr. Gerald says it is much more difficult to prove the reverse. If some very rare blood factors are found in the father and those same blood factors are present in the child's blood, it is LIKELY that the individual is the parent. This method, however, is not ABSOLUTE proof of parentage. Any physician can arrange for a blood test.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A while back you printed a letter about people who steal things from hotels like bath mats, pictures and bedspreads and consider them "souvenirs."

That letter was discussed at lunch in the office cafeteria this morning. Suddenly I felt my face get hot. I knew I was blushing and excused myself for fear my red face might be interpreted as a sign of guilt. I have never stolen a thing in my life, and don't understand why I reacted as I did.

This sort of thing has happened to me before. Can you explain why a person who is perfectly innocent should react like that?—False Symptoms In Lexington

DEAR LEX: Blushing does

Admittedly, the term "housewife hands" is out of date today, but the condition it describes isn't. Anyone—man or woman—whose hands are exposed to harsh cleaning chemicals may experience skin problems, says the Texas Medical Association.

Most people first notice the condition when the skin underneath a ring breaks out. It usually starts as a red, itchy rash but can turn into skin eruptions if not treated promptly and properly.

Although many people attribute the rash to an allergy, it is rare that a person is allergic to either the metal in rings or a cleaning product.

Some people try to protect their skin from harsh chemicals by wearing rubber or waterproof gloves. Most experts advise that when this is done thin cotton gloves (dermal gloves) should be worn under the rubber gloves.

If this is done, and if the gloves only are worn for 15 to 20 minutes, any adverse effects caused by the skin's inability to perspire can be drastically reduced.

In addition, for maximum protection the rubber gloves must be free of holes. Also, avoid exposing the skin above the gloves to irritating compounds.

When a rash does appear, the best course of action is to avoid the substance which produces the reaction. Although people often apply creams or lotions on the rash, sometimes a greasy preparation which covers the skin may slow down the healing process.

If the chemical which produces the reaction cannot be identified, if the rash refuses to heal or if skin eruptions develop, medical help should be sought.

Since the average person comes in contact with so many chemicals each day, it often takes an expert to identify which one produces an adverse reaction.

Brown Named To Cheerleading Squad

Former Hereford Whiteface track and football performer Norman Brown has become the first black ever chosen as a cheerleader at Wayland Baptist University. Brown, a 1981 graduate of HHS, officially joins the 8-person WBU cheerleading squad when he returns to school Jan. 4, and will do his first cheerleading at a WBU athletic event at a basketball game Jan. 9.

Brown was selected to replace a member of the four man, four woman team, who had left school. Brown is a freshman at Wayland. He plans to run track this spring, specializing in the 400 meter run outdoors and the 300 meter run indoors. He will also run on the mile relay and 400 meter relay teams.

Brown, son of Lester and Alice Brown of Hereford, said that a background in gymnastics helped him decide to try out for the vacant spot on the team.

He also plans to become a candidate in the "Mr. Wayland" competition at the Plainview School later this year.

Overcoats Illustrate Bleak Lot of Soviet Consumers

By BRYAN BRUMLEY
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — When the winter wind blows cold in Russia, life itself can depend on an overcoat. And few commodities better illustrate the bleak lot of the Soviet consumer than the search for a coat that is both warm and stylish.

The situation, however, has improved since Nikolai Gogol penned the 19th century classic "The Overcoat," a bitter chronicle of Akaky Akakevich, a clerk in czarist Russia who spent all his money on a tailored overcoat. Thieves stole his new coat, and he suffered from exposure and died because he could not afford another.

A visitor to modern Moscow could be excused for thinking he is seeing double or triple while strolling the street. All the people are wrapped in warm coats, but many sport identical models. "Our styles are way behind the West. Here, they make the same models every year," said one shopper, adding that she preferred imported over Soviet models.

Among the favorite Soviet-made coats for women are green, blue and maroon models of a wool and synthetic mix, adorned with fur collars sewn on by individual owners. Parkas stuffed with down have yet to appear but those made of synthetics are on the increase.

Men who work out of doors favor the "telogreika," or body-warmer, made of quilted fabric, while factory managers and politicians seem to prefer formal wool coats similar to those worn by their counterparts in the West.

The long lines for clothing, and the lack of variety, has not escaped the attention of the Soviet government, which makes and sells virtually all commercially available clothes in the country.

Kremlin leaders promised to boost production of consumer goods in 1981 by 4.2 percent, faster than the 4.1 percent growth they project for heavy industry. Final data for the year have not been published, but preliminary figures suggest neither goal will be met.

Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev, in a major address Nov. 17, promised that over the next five years "The production of fabrics, footwear, and knitwear will grow by a far larger amount than during the previous five-year period."

Reagan Back At Desk To Sign Pile of Bills

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Reagan, fresh from an encounter with the brush and firewood at his ranch, was returning to desk duty today to clear away a year-end pile of legislation that included bills on defense spending, Social Security and foreign aid.

Special Situation Group which has been evaluating U.S. options on Poland. The flood of year-end legislation was highlighted by the military spending bill that cleared Congress earlier this month. It is $1.1 billion short of Reagan's original request and $9 billion below the original version voted by the Senate.

Cabinet agencies and is a big down payment on Reagan's rearmament program. The Social Security legislation offers a reprieve to those at the bottom of the benefits ladder who had been scheduled to lose their minimum payment in March. Reagan proposed the cut as a budget-cutting maneuver and got Congress to go along. But he reversed course in the face of a political firestorm and Congress was glad to grant his request to restore the minimum benefit.

If that estimate is correct, it means the end to more than three years of almost unparalleled disaster, during which home sales plunged more than 50 percent and the American dream became a nightmare.

That combination of factors, he suggests, can mean modest increases in home sales during the spring, and sharper increases through summer.

Employees of a Moscow overcoat factory, however, say they are striving to improve the quality and variety of their products, even if their overall output increases only slightly this year.

Western diplomats said the shift in targets might prestage a repeat of the 1971-76 period when Soviet planners abruptly dropped promises to boost consumer-goods production.

Every coat sewn in the Clara Zetkin factory, Makimov boasted, bears the Soviet mark of quality, which he said is coveted by Russian shoppers.

The president was expected to sign most of the measures, including those giving the Defense Department a record $199.7 billion and salvaging the $122-a-month minimum Social Security payment for some 3 million Americans.

The bill provides an increase of more than $28 billion over the amount appropriated for the Pentagon in the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 — a boost that exceeds the total budgets of many

Jack Carlson sees brighter days ahead, even while citing data that show existing home sales continued to fall in November — to only 1.9 million houses, compared with nearly 3.9 million in 1978.

Carlson may not be an unbiased observer, since he is executive vice president of the National Association of Realtors, which understandably wants to promote commission-producing sales.

Carlson observes that mortgage interest rates have declined in the past 60 days from more than 18 percent to nearly 16 percent. That still leaves institutional rates high, misleadingly so, says Carlson. True interest rates, he maintains, are greatly reduced by owner financing

The attorney general filed the suit against High Plains Payers Inc., Plainview; Boswell & Crafton Inc., Kerry Construction Co., Panhandle Payers Inc., South Plains Contracting & Equipment Co., Staffer Construction Inc., W.D. Turner Construction Co. and Western Payers Inc., all of Lubbock.

The indictments allege the firms and some executives circumvented the state's bidding system by submitting "intentionally high or complimentary" bids and "collusive, non-competitive and rigged" proposals for state construction work.

White alleged the defendants and "their co-conspirators" combined and conspired to rig bids between January of 1975 and June of 1980 so they could allocate highway construction jobs in the Lubbock area among themselves and at inflated prices.

White House officials said Reagan planned to act on all 36 bills before him before his trip Wednesday to Palm Springs for New Year's festivities at the home of publisher and former ambassador Walter Annenberg.

Among the other bills awaiting the president's signature was one allocating $11.5 billion for foreign assistance, including $2.2 billion for Israel.

Rawlings, 47, died Friday morning of a heart attack. He had taken over as director of the H.H. Herbert School of Journalism and Mass Communication in August.

Rawlings was buried in Resurrection Cemetery after a private ceremony Monday.

White asked for a permanent injunction to stop alleged antitrust violations and triple damages and a series of penalties for violation of state antitrust laws.

No hearing date has been set on the antitrust suit filed Monday by Attorney General Mark White.

White alleged the defendants and "their co-conspirators" combined and conspired to rig bids between January of 1975 and June of 1980 so they could allocate highway construction jobs in the Lubbock area among themselves and at inflated prices.

The attorney general alleged the defendants "restricted trade and commerce in violation of state and federal law."

Giants Beat Philadelphia at Their Own Game

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It was simply a case of the New York Giants beating the Philadelphia Eagles at their own game — running the football and unrelenting defense. The Giants, with the help of a pair of first-period turnovers — two fumbled kick returns — beat the Eagles

27-21 in a National Football League wild card playoff game Sunday. New York running back Leon Bright caught a 9-yard touchdown pass moments after Eagle return specialist Wally Henry fumbled a punt at his 25. Later in the first quarter, Henry bobbled a kickoff that rolled into the end zone where Mark Haynes fell on it for a touchdown and a 20-0 Giant lead that quieted a crowd of 71,611 at Veterans Stadium.

The Giants sandwiched those two touchdowns around a scoring drive capped by a 10-yard pass from quarterback Scott Brunner to wide receiver John Mistler.

The Eagles scored once in the third period on a 6-yard run by Wilbert Montgomery, and again in the fourth on Montgomery's 1-yard dive.

ago when Phil Simms suffered a separated shoulder. "The Eagles have a good club, but the breaks went our way today and we capitalized on them," said Brunner. He completed nine of 14 passes for 96 yards, but three of them went for touchdowns.

North Carolina was accustomed to the top spot in the Associated Press college basketball poll, but Wichita State was new to the feeling of being No. 2. Both teams, however, felt that scary feeling of a near upset.

Bryant Hopes Tide Not 'Embarrassing'

DALLAS (AP) — Paul "Bear" Bryant is delighted to be here for the Cotton Bowl but says he hopes his Alabama football team doesn't embarrass him during the game. Bryant is not showering the current Crimson Tide squad with praise.

Another thing that may stick in Bryant's craw is his record against Texas since he took charge at Alabama in 1958 — 6-2-1 in post-season play. Bryant grinned ruefully as he stepped off the team's charter plane Sunday and told a reporter, "I wouldn't say we've had trouble with Texas. They've just always defeated us."

Starr's Contract Renewed

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers hierarchy, weary of long unfinished rebuilding programs, has given Coach Bart Starr an unmistakable win-or-lose mandate along with a new two-year contract.

Robert J. Parins, the National Football League club's chief executive officer, said Monday that he and the executive committee's six other members "believe that reasonable success is foreseeable with our present head coach, and probably an addition to the staff."

But Parins also said Starr's seven-year coaching record (39-65-2), including a season-ending 26-3 thrashing Dec. 20 by the New York Jets that cost the Packers an NFL playoff berth, weighed as heavily in the decision as did the team's second-half turnaround of six victories in its last eight games.

The decisions on the rehirings and contract length essentially were those of Parins, who was elected chief executive officer by the club's 44-member Board of Directors Oct. 11.

Parins told a news conference he discussed "the general concept of a contract" with other committee members over the last several days.

He said he negotiated with Starr during the weekend, and that the agreement was completed at a meeting of the committee Monday.

Although he said the contract does not contain an escape clause, Parins said Starr may not be asked to return for the second year of the pact unless the Packers do well in the 1982 season.

"We have not finalized the contract, but we do not anticipate any such provision," he said. "Nor do I see a need for one. We can always terminate it."

Sikma, Sonics Nip Warriors

SEATTLE (AP) — It wasn't that the Golden State Warriors forgot about Seattle center Jack Sikma when he let loose a tie-breaking basket with one second remaining on the shot clock and only a half minute left in the game.

"You can't fault our defense on him. We had two or three men right on him and two hands in his face, and he still made the clutch shot," said Golden State Coach Al Attles, whose Warriors dropped a 104-100 decision to the Sonics Monday night.

The Indiana Pacers beat the New Jersey Nets 103-95 in the only other National Basketball Association game.

"I didn't realize there was only one second left on the shot clock until I heard the crowd," Sikma said after his baseline jumper broke a 98-98 tie with 30 seconds left.

"It wasn't a hurried shot," said Sikma, ignoring the hands of desperate Warrior defenders. "I got a chance to plant my feet and hit it. It felt good going off."

Sikma, who shared game scoring honors with teammate Gus Williams, hit 20 of his 26 points in the second half. In the third quarter, he supplied 14 points when the Sonics offense sputtered and the Warriors began to whittle down Seattle's 12-point halftime lead.

"Fred Brown and I played a two-man game," Sikma said. "We threw it back and forth till we got the shots we wanted."

In the fourth quarter, the Warriors outscored Seattle, 15-4, over three minutes behind guards World Free and Purvis Short and reserve center Rickey Brown. Free paced the Warriors with 25 points.

"We just couldn't get the break to put us over the top," said Attles, who never saw his team lead. "Sikma made some big shots at the end."

Seattle forwards Wally Walker and Danny Vranes limited the Warriors' Bernard King, who averages more than 22 points a game, to 13. King entered the game shooting 62.5 percent, second best in the league. He made only three of 14 shots against the Sonics.

"I tried to front him a little more" than last time when King hit 16 of 19 and finished with 38 points, Walker said. "I played him more without the ball. He missed some shots he made" last time.

Pacers 103, Nets 95
George Johnson scored 11 points in the fourth quarter as the Pacers, who trailed 86-73 with 10:16 remaining, outscored the Nets 30-9, including a 15-2 streak. Johnson's three-point play with 1:30 left gave the Pacers a 96-93 lead.

Johnny Davis paced Indiana with 19 points. Ray Williams missed all 15 of his field goal attempts for New Jersey, which was led by Mike O'Koren with his season-high, 25 points.

Tar Heels Hang On For Gator Bowl Win

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Shrouded in obscurity by a dense fog and a potent North Carolina offense in the second half, Arkansas appeared ready to hand the 11th-ranked Tar Heels an easy Gator Bowl victory.

But the Razorbacks, led by eternal optimist Lou Holtz, staged a fourth-quarter comeback and forced the North Carolina defense to come up with the key plays in a 31-27 victory.

"I'm sure a lot of people thought the game was over early in the fourth quarter, but I never felt that way," Holtz said. "We managed to recover an onside kick and then got a lift from a couple of big pass plays."

Junior tailback Kelvin Bryant rushed for 148 yards on 27 carries and one touchdown, while freshman Ethan Horton, switched from quarterback to tailback when Bryant and backup Tyrone Anthony were hurt in mid-season, ran for 144 yards and two scores on 27 carries.

Combined with a 1-yard sneak by quarterback Rod Elkins, North Carolina ran up a 31-10 lead with 7:29 left, enough to have sent some of the Razorback faithful out into a night so thick with fog that the public address announcer suggested that the officials would switch from whistles to foghorns.

But with the aid of penalties and passes by freshman quarterback Brad Taylor, Arkansas marched back down the field and scored with 5:03 remaining on a 1-yard run by Jessie Clark. A two-point conversion pass closed the Razorback deficit to 31-18.

Bruce Lahay's onside kick was recovered by Ed Jackson and the Razorbacks parlayed the strategy into a 107-yard scoring pass from Taylor to Darryl Mason with 2:44 remaining. Suddenly, the rout was a contest at 31-25.

"I was a little nervous," Bryant said, fearing that his game-high performance would come in a losing effort. "I'm just glad the defense came through in the clutch."

North Carolina took the ensuing kickoff at its own 5. After being pinned in by the Razorbacks, punter Jeff Hayes elected to run out of the end zone for the safety instead of yielding ground for a last-gasp Arkansas attack.

After Gary Anderson returned Hayes' free kick 29 yards to the Tar Heel 49, North Carolina's defense did its job. The key play was a sack by seldom-used Ronnie Snipes, a freshman nose guard who had been in on several plays earlier.

"The center tried to pick me up," Snipes said of his pass rush which sent Taylor reeling for a 17-yard loss. "But it was a little too late by the time he got to me."

Neither Holtz, who is now 2-3 against North Carolina, nor Tar Heel Coach Dick Crum, now 5-0 in post-season play, would blame the fog for offensive or defensive problems.

"The fog was on both sides of the field," Holtz said, "though I think it's easier to hand off in the fog than pass in it. But we have no excuses."

Elkins basically agreed about the problems with passing in high humidity and low visibility.

"It made the ball a little wet. It was easy to grip but it just flew through the air," Elkins said.

Dorsett Upset Over Fumbles

DALLAS (AP) — National Football League playoff games normally bring out the best in Tony Dorsett.

The classy Dallas tailback has rushed for 833 yards on 162 carries for an average of 5.08 yards per carry in postseason games with the Cowboys.

Dorsett has scored seven playoff touchdowns in his six years with the Cowboys.

"A playoff game is money time," Dorsett says. "That's what you work hard all year for — a chance to produce in the playoffs."

Dorsett goes into Saturday's National Conference divisional playoff against the Tampa Bay Buccaneers with added incentive. He's mad at himself for two costly fumbles in Dallas' regular season-ending 13-10 overtime loss to the New York Giants.

"I'm still upset about it," Dorsett said. Dorsett twice fumbled pitchoffs that the Giants recovered, costing Dallas field position and eventually the game.

He had lost only three fumbles all year prior to the contest.

"The Dallas fans have been great to me this year and I'm going to make it up to them — I owe it to them," Dorsett said.

Dorsett also lost the NFL rushing title to New Orleans' George Rogers by gaining 39

Bills Owner Delighted At Dome Possibility

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Buffalo Bills, perhaps 10 seconds away from going nowhere but home, are still traveling a road that could lead to Pontiac, Mich., and the Silverdome.

Ralph Wilson, the Bills' owner, once wanted a National Football League team in Detroit, and though having the Bills in suburban Pontiac for the Super Bowl was not what he had in mind at the time, he is delighted at the possibility.

After watching as the Bills held on by their fingernails for a 31-27 wild-card playoff victory over the New York Jets Sunday, Wilson crowed, "After all of these years, it would be the greatest thrill of my life to go to Detroit for the Super Bowl."

Wilson, in the 1960s, tried in vain to buy a piece of the Detroit Lions but eventually settled for ownership of the American Football League's Bills.

The Bills are now a couple of victories from getting to Pontiac, about a 30-minute drive from the Motor City.

Next Sunday, they'll be in Cincinnati to play the Bengals. If they win there, they'll play in Miami or San Diego, depending on whether the Dolphins or Chargers win next Saturday. And, then...

The Bills were close to closing all out their options Sunday in the American Football Conference wild-card matchup with the Jets.

They had built a 24-0 lead in the second quarter with the help of a Charles Romes fumble return for a touchdown on the opening kickoff and a pair of Joe Ferguson-to-Frank Lewis scoring passes.

But the Jets rallied to pull within 11 points. And after Joe Cribbs raced 45 yards with a pitchout early in the fourth quarter for a seemingly secure 31-13 lead, New York stormed back for two touchdowns and were just 11 yards and 10 seconds away from an incredible comeback when free safety Bill Simpson stepped in front of a Richard Todd pass and intercepted it two yards from the goal line.

Ferguson completed 17 of 34 passes for 268 yards and was intercepted four times. "For a moment there,"

Knox said sarcastically, "it looked as though they were trying to keep both New York teams in the playoffs, make it an all-New York day (the Giants, in fact, beat Philadelphia 27-21 about three hours later). But they forget Buffalo is in New York, too."

Romes got the Bills on the scoreboard in just 16 seconds. Ervin Parker stripped the ball from Bruce Harper, Romes picked it up on one bounce at the Jets' 28 and was in the end zone before anyone knew what had happened. Only Miami's Nat Moore, who had run an opening kickoff back 88 yards in 15 seconds against Oakland in a 1974 game, scored more quickly in a playoff.

Then Ferguson went to work with his TD passes of 50 and 26 yards to Lewis around Nick Mike-Mayer's 29-yard field goal.

Todd's 30-yard scoring pass to Mickey Shuler started the Jets' comeback, then Pat Leahy kicked field goals of 26 and 19 yards, the second one raising a few eyebrows since it came on a fourth-and-goal at the 3-yard line in the third quarter.
