'Tumbleweed Blizzard' Created By High Winds

A "tumbleweed blizzard" swept into west Hereford ay morning leaving ac-lations of one to eight feet and in some area drifts of up to ten feet were reported.

The hardest hit area was at the edge of a residential area near Moreman and Kingwood near Moreman and Kingwood where that intersection was impassable. Homes on Juniper and Kingwood were covered, and in many places the streets were blocked by the prickly balls.

Inflation Rate Moderates

WASHINGTON (AP) Easing food and housing costs held the nation's inflan rate to a moderate 6.2 percent annual pace in November, the government

Boys Lost In Fog Spend Cold Night Out

HELOTES, Texas (AP) - A mother, shouting their names in a dense fog, found her two missing sons in a brushy area not far from their home after they spent a damp, cold night in a brushy area. Mrs. Erick Urban told authorities she found Troy Urban, 12, and Skipper Urban, 10, when they responded to her calls shortly after sunrise Monday near this San Antonio suburb.

"They were a little dirty and wet, but in good condition," said Lt. Alvin Johnson of the Bexar County Sheriff's Department. "They got into a dry place and were sheltered from the moisture."

The two boys were reported missing about 8 p.m. Sunday and were located about 7:30 a.m. Monday.

Investigator Bob Giddings said the pair finished playing basketball with two other youths at a recreation center about a mile from their home at 6 p.m. Sunday.

Giddings said the subdivision where the boys lived near here is a maze of new dirt roads cutting through "super dense" brush.

"It's so foggy out there you couldn't see them without bumping into them," Sheriff's Lt. Ray Rogers said during the search.

Jury Declines Dallas Officers' Indictment

DALLAS (AP) - A Dallas County grand jury has declined to indict two Grand Prairie police officers accused of beating two handcuffed teen-agers they arrested at a car wash.

The grand jury's decision came Monday, after officers Jimmy L. Horrocks, 38, and Alan T. Patton, 27, were reinstated to the Dallas suburb's police department.

"I'm grateful and relieved," Patton said, "but I kind of thought this would happen. I think our getting our jobs back gave the grand jury something to think about,"

The officers were reinstated Friday. They had been dismissed from the force Nov. 23.

Horrocks, who had testified before the city's Civil Service Commission that he struck the 15-year-old Chris Gomez and 16-year-old Ricky Diaz with sand-weighted gloves, will be allowed to return Dec. 23, after serving a 30-day suspension without pay.

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) - At least a tenth of this area's Kansas City Southern Lines railroad workers won't have a very merry Christmas.

Company officials say a sluggish economy has forced the indefinite layoff of about 20 of KCS' 200 railroad workers. The layoffs begin today and continue through Monday, according to Larry Fields, the railroad's superintendent of terminals.

He said the layoffs probably would last three to six months.

A spokesman in KCS' home offices in Kansas City, Mo., said the workers were informed of the layoffs last

J.L. Deveney, vice president for personnel, said the national housing market slump, the lessened demand from the Detroit automobile industry and the reductions in services to the local petrochemical, rubber and paper board plants contributed to the layoffs.

He kept his promise to Begin Dislikes Reagan's Politics

JERUSALEM (AP) - An Israeli newspaper reprints an old picture of Prime Minister Menachem Begin embracing Jimmy Carter. The caption has the former president saying: "Well, Menachem, are you missing me already?"

With Ronald Reagan's election, Israel anticipated four years of cooperation and an end to the pressure politics of the Carter White House.

But now Israel is in its worst crisis in decades with an American government. Begin vented the accumulated rancor Sunday when he accused the United States of treating Israel like "a vassal state" and a "banana republic." In reprisal for Israel's annexation of the Syrian Golan Heights, Washington has suspended the watered-down strategic alliance it signed with Israel on Nov. 30. The suspension infuriated Begin, who announced he considered it a cancellation of the agree-

Police received reports of the theft of a $140 bike and a string of 40 Christmas lights. A Bluewater Gardens apartment was broken into and about $80 of goods taken.

A home in the 200 block of Texas had a window broken, and Hereford Cablevision reported that several been made to the office.

It was the third time in six months that the Reagan administration had tried to punish Israel, Begin said.

"Are we 14-year-old boys who get their fingers slapped when they don't behave?" Begin asked the U.S. ambassador Sunday.

Begin's disillusionment with Reagan was a long time in building. It began in March when the Reagan administration offered to sell Saudi Arabia AWACS radar planes - the first time the Arabs were offered something more sophisticated than what was in the Israeli arsenal.

To Israel's dismay, the tilt toward the Saudis continued hen the Reagan administration made defense of the Persian Gulf the cornerstone of America's anti-Soviet global policy. The president's sup-porters said Congress had to choose between Reagan and Begin, prompting the Israeli leader to charge Sunday that the Saudi eight-point peace plan, which Israel flatly rejected, fueled Begin's Tury over the administration's pro-Saudi stance.

But sources close to Begin say the U.S. failure to defuse Lebanon crisis embittered the Israeli leader even more than the Saudi affair.

The holidays will be more pleasant if we don't have to worry about getting busted. Newspaper coverage is nice when it recounts achievements. Possession and arrest are some else. You have no idea what a constant worry this is, and what grief it would cause your grandparents if they ever found out. They think you are all perfect.

The evidence is mounting that pot is not the harmless weed so many of you thought.

Don't you read the newspapers? As for cocaine, LSD and the pills you pop, they can be lethal, especially when mixed with alcohol, which you enjoy so much-especially at holiday time.

We stopped harping on this subject long ago because you told us we were square and boring you to death. But the evidence is there if you will only open your eyes. I hate to dwell on Christmas past, but for the last 30 years, I have never felt my husband really knew what he married: a sensuous temptress in an industrial-strength body.

I think he perceives me as your basic-no-nonsense-practical-down-to-dearth wife and mother who sees a Mr. Frederick window and crosses to the other side of the mail to

I always wanted the ultimate nightgown that you had to dry clean. A gown so filmy that when the doorbell rang or one of clean. A gown so filmy that when the doorbell rang or one of the kids came into the room, you had to throw a coat or an afghan over yourself to avoid arrest. It would have enough fur around the bottom to put in a fur storage for safekeeping and maybe just a touch of Astroturf to fight the NFL.

I always wanted a jumpsuit made out of fake animal, preferably leopard or cheetah, and fingernalls so long I couldn't make meat loaf without losing half the hamburger and the same of the sam

I always wanted a pair of eight-inch heeled bedroom alippers that killed your feet but made your ankies look like something that carried messages. Slippers so impractical that the only thing they were good for was dangling from your toe or drinking champagne out of.

It's difficult for men to look beyond the chapped hands, the sagging bodies and the Olivia Waltons they come home to each evening and see the fantasy that lives in us all.

I waited this long to say something so I could catch husbands just before they started their Christmas shopping. Go for it, Bunkies. The labels with washing instructions in a foreign language, the impractical silks that you can't sweat in, the scent that says she didn't marry the boy next door.

Some other things not to be

One law of life is that most things in living must be earned; they are not received accidently, and they cannot be forced arbitrarily. We can waste much time, effort and money trying to formulate the unworkable social mechanism that is support to force the conditions and relationshps some people planners envision. What power can force others to accept us, or force us to accept them? Trying to exert such force causes feelings of repulsion or worse. Rights are violated, and this is a threat to all human rights. In such situations, there will be many damaging consequences for all persons involved and for many innocent ories, too. True accep-tance must be mutual and by free choice. Law and arbitrary force cannot qualify us for some certain role in life. We must desire and then earn the role. Nothing is gained if we are forced into a role for which we are not qualified, and do not desire. It is foolish to try to fill a role for which we are not qualified, even if we do desire it.

When are we respected by others? It is when some law or some kind of official order requires others to respect us? Of course not. If we are respected, it will be because we earn the respect. If we retain the respect, it will be because of our continuing life

Man Says This Year Christmas Is Special

HOUSTON (AP) - A businessman who reunited a Detroit-area family separated by economic hard times says the gesture brought back the true meaning of Christmas for him. "Christmas to me has meant very little in the last 10 years," said Victor Franco, 52, a modern-day Good Samaritan who spent $2,000 helping a displaced family get settled in Houston Monday. "But this year it's going to be extra special." As Franco spoke, the beneficiaries of his good deed, Gregory and Barbara Hilts, hugged and kissed their three children in a tearful reunion near an arrival gate at Houston's Intercontinental Airport.

"It's going to be the best Christmas ever now," said Mrs. Hilts, wiping tears from her face.

She and her husband, both laid off from their jobs at Ford Motor Co., came to Houston two months ago hoping to find work. But they did not have enough money to bring their children - Christopher, 14, Shelly, 12, and Michael, 11 - so the youngsters stayed behind with grandparents in Ypsilanti. Franco heard of the plight of the Hilts family on a television show and remembered a promise to help people in need he made two years ago when he was lost at sea.

When they were interviewed on ABC's "Good Morning America" two weeks ago, Hilts said since moving to Houston he had landed a job in a factory for $7.25 an hour and his wife was working as a waitress at a truck stop.

But they still had not raised the money to bring their family back together and even if they could, they did not have a home big enough for the whole family.

Franco said that when he saw them on television, "It was a spontaneous thing ... I said, 'That's somebody I'd like to help."

Franco, who owns a used-car dealership, leased a home for the Hilts, paid their rent for three months and paid air fare for their children and the family's four dogs.

"Christmas is going to be fantastic this year," Franco said as he watched the Hilts in an emotional reunion. He then took them to their new home in his car. "They've probably made my Christmas as much fun as theirs is going to be," he said. Franco, who commutes weekly between his business in Houston and a home near Albuquerque, N.M., said he spent about $2,000 to help the Hilts, taking the money from a personal fund he set up to help people in need. The fund stems from a promise he made when he nearly died in an accident two years ago. He was sailing alone off Key Largo, Fla., when his boat capsized, leaving him in the water without a life jacket. He said he began to take on water and had all but given up hope. "While I was drowning, I was promising just about everything," he said.

Among those promises was that if he survived, he would help other people and not expect anything in return. Minutes later a stranger happened along and rescued

After he returned home, Franco kept his word and began setting aside $20 to $50 each payday until the fund reached about $3,000.

"It's the best thing I've had going in 50 years," Franco said. "There's got to be something better than being a car salesman.

Perhaps more than ever, state agencies and associa-tions are telling Texans not of the joys but of the dangers of the holiday season.

There is, however, one surprising statistic. Despite published reports of festive holiday periods often bring-ing on acute depression, December was the low month for suicides in Texas last year

"Stockings should be hung by the chimney with care and so should a lot of other things at Christmas to avoid a holiday tragedy," says the State Health Department.

Danger, it appears, lurks for humans and household lay snack food, colored lights and balls, gift-wrapping paper, tinsel, string, electric wires, fireworks, poisonous plants such as mistletoe and poinsettia, as well in holly berries and - of course - on the streets and high

"In homes with fireplaces, don't hang decorations of tinsel, Christmas cards or tree branches from the mantel where they could become ignited," says Harold Ray, director of the health department's Product Safety Division.

"And once those presents under the tree are opened, gather up all the wrappings and remove them from the home," says Ray. "Many colored gift wrapping papers contain lead and sometimes chromium, copper and zinc. These materials can cause toxic fumes if burned in the fireplace and can be harmful to children if they chew on them."

"Fires in homes and other family dwellings represent almost two-thirds of all fires and a significant number of these occur during the Christmas season," said State Fire Marshal Ernest Emerson.

Emerson's safety tips in-clude never installing electric lights on metal trees, because the trees can become charged with electricity if the lights are faulty; using no more than two sets of lights per ex-New Mexican Indicted Tinsel and string are also harmful because they can ball up in the intestine and cause blockage. Chewing on the wires of colored lights can cause electric shock and has proved fatal to many pets."

It was one of those games that you could play and play

In fact, that's what the Cincinnati Bearcats and the Bradley Braves did Monday night.

When it was over, Cineinnati had beaten Bradley 75-73 in seven nerve-racking overtimes to set a Division I college basketball record.

"We just couldn't get a break," said Bradley Coach Dick Versace after watching Doug Schloemer's 15-foot shot drop in for Cincinnati with one second left in the seventh overtime. "They got lucky - we didn't. Our guys played so hard, that you can't really fault them."

Neither team had scored in the final overtime frame prior to Schloemer's winning basket. Bradley's center Kerry Cooks launched an 18-footer after a long inbounds pass but the shot bounced off the back of the rim, ending the three hour and 15-minute marathon. "I knew I had a 50 percent chance of taking the last shot," said Schloemer. "Most of our shots are from the wing - and I thought it would be either me or Bobby Austin.

Regulation play ended with the teams tied at 61 after the overcame Bradley's 61-57 edge with 45 seconds to play. Jump shots by Kevin Geffney and Austin tied the contest to send the game into the first extra period Both teams played keepaway throughout the overtime periods and only once, in the fifth overtime, did either team manage more than a two-point lead.

The old Division I record of six overtimes was held by two games, one in 1955 when Minnesota beat Purdue, 59-56, and the other in 1953 when Niagara beat Siena, 88-81.

In games involving the nation's ranked teams, No. 4 Virginia routed Brigham Young-Hawaii 118-84; Kansas State upset No. 5 Minnesota 62-52; No. 9 Missouri walloped Youngstown State 97-60 and No. 12 Alabama trimmed Biscayne 94-63. Top Ten

All-America center Ralph Sampson put in 30 points and snared 16 rebounds to pace Virginia over BYU-Hawaii.

Othell Wilson added 19 points for the Cavaliers, as Coach Terry Holland substituted freely throughout the game against the NAIA team.

Ed Nealy scored 22 points and grabbed 10 rebounds to lead Kansas State over Min-

Kansas State Coach Jack Hartman credited junior center Les Craft with playing a pivotal role, even though he didn't score any points. Craft held the Gophers' 7-foot-3 center Randy Breuer to 12 points, 11 under his average. 'Les did a great job on Breuer," Hartman said. "And the rest did an equally good job of supporting him. The only way to stop Breuer is not to let him get the ball." Ricky Frazier scored 16 points and grabbed four rebounds to lead Missouri over Youngstown State. The victory was Missouri's 24th consecutive victory at home, a school record.

Eddie Phillips had 22 points and 11 other Alabama players broke into the scoring column as the Crimson Tide defeated Biscayne College. Alabama. 7-0, went into the dressing room at halftime with a 48-28 lead, and the game was never close after that.

Biscayne Coach Ken Stibler said he was extremely impressed with the Alabama team. "They wore us down physically by their depth and their domination on the boards. Alabama is definitely a Top Ten team barring injuries," he said.

Elsewhere, Jacques Tuz scored 14 points and grabbed eight rebounds, leading Colorado to a 58-52 victory over Idaho State in a first-round game of the Rebel Roundup tournament. Larry Anderson scored 20 points to pace Nevada-Las Vegas to a 66-59 victory over Stetson in the other first-round game. Greg Palm scored 21 points and pulled down 15 rebounds, leading Nevada-Reno to a 93-85 victory over Loyola Marymount in the first round of the Wolf Pack Classic. St. Mary's held off a last-ditch rally by North Texas State and Franklin Rhodes hit two free throws to wrap up an 88-86 Gaels' victory in the other opening-round game.

Elsewhere, Howard Carter scored 23 points as Louisiana State coasted past Texas-El Paso 71-59; Mark Jones had a career-high 27 points and Eric Stover added 21 to lead St. Bonaventure to a 93-68 victory over Maryland-Eastern Shore; Brad Seller scored 15 points as Wisconsin defeated Northern Iowa 65-53; Guy Morgan scored a career-high 27 points and pulled down 11 rebounds to pace Wake Forest to a 98-72 victory over North Carolina-Wilmington and Marcus Newbern and David Jenkins teamed for 34 points as Bowling Green routed Wisconsin-Superior

Also, Mike Phillips scored a career-high 25 points to lead Niagara to an 85-73 victory over Western Michigan; Dwayne Wallace and Darrell Gissendanner scored 12 points apiece as Pittsburgh defeated Utica College 64-47; Shelton Gibbs scored a career-high 32 points to lead St. Peter's (N.J.) to a 109-83 victory over St. Francis (Pa.); Darrell Lockhart led six Auburn players in double figures with 17 points as the Tigers routed Cal State-Chico

Matt Clark contributed 16 points and all 12 other Oklahoma State players scored as the Cowboys thrashed Cleveland State 92-66; Jeff Taylor scored 24 points, leading Texas Tech to an 83-71 over Long Beach State: Jerry Beck scored 11 points - seven of them in overtime - to lead Middle Tennessee State to a 67-63 win

Playing consistent offense, the Wildcats used eight Yates turnovers to its advantage. Lake Highlands cruised to a flawless 15-0 season, aided by defensive back Aaron Grant's 66-yard touchdown on an interception return.

Yates "had been laying the ball on the ground in the films we had seen," said Lake Highlands coach Joe Bob Johnson, "But I didn't relax until those three zeros went up" on the scoreboard clock.

Lake Highlands led 9-0 in the third quarter with Tschantz' field goals of 34, 39 and 22 yards. The third kick became a state record for the most field goals in a single season.

But Tschantz added a 36-yard field goal with 3:09 remaining in the third period after Grant pushed the Wildcats ahead 16-0. Grant recovered two fumbles and intercepted another pass.

Yates quarterback Thomas Ledet was intercepted four times and the Lions lost four fumbles. Ledet rallied his team briefly in the fourth quarter by connecting with Randolph Wilburn on a Hoelscher continued his passing attack with a 37-yard scoring toss to Powell after briefly handing off to wingback Oscar Riggins, who pitched it back to Hoelscher for the toss.

De la Rosa's third-quarter field goal from 20 yards out capped the scoring. Cameron Yoe finished its season with a 13-1-1 mark while Gilmer closed the year at 12-1-2.

Pilot Point captured the Class 2A state title by holding the Garrison Bulldogs scoreless, 32-0, aided by Johnny Schindler's two touchdowns at Mesquite Memorial Stadium.

Schindler caught a scoring pass from Greg Pelzel to put the icing on the cake for the. Bearcats' perfect 15-0 season.

Biles Inherits Woe Of What to Do With Earl

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON Houston Oiler Coach Eddie Biles has inherited the same dilemma that confronted former Houston Coach Burn Phillips we what to do with Earl Campbell.

Phillips built his offense around Campbell, and then Tyler Rose ran to three straight National Football League titles. But Phillips was accused of overusing Campbell in an oversimplified offensive alignment. Oakland's Lester Hayes said it was "high school."

Biles came along and announced plans to diversify the Oiler offense with Campbell running less and gaining just as many yards as ever.

It didn't work out. Campbell finished the season with 1,374 yards, the lowest total of his four-year career. He had only 24 yards on 13 carries in Sunday's finale, a 21-20 victory over Pittsburgh.

There have been seasonlong rumors that Campbell was unhappy and would be traded, all denied by Biles and Oiler owner Bud Adams. Earl Campbell is stuck in Houston whether he wants to be or not," Adams said. Campbell says he wants to stay and Biles wants him, but following Campbell's sub-par performance Sunday, his 10th straight game under 100 yards, Biles was reduced to praising Campbell's block-"I think what people need to realize about Campbell is that he is becoming a complete football player," Biles said Monday. "He had the best blocking day of his career yesterday.

"The way the rules have changed, a running back has to be able to block and pick up the blitzes. Earl has also improved as a receiver and he'll be better next year.'

Biles said the plan for next season will be to exploit a team's weaknesses rather than have Campbell pound monotonously at the opposing defense.

"We've been accused of running up against a brick wall," Biles said. "We want to be able to put the ball in the air against teams with weak pass defense without hurting anyone's feelings.

'And if we play a team that is weak against the run, we certainly have a runner like Earl who can take advantage of those weakensses.'

While Campbell is adjusting to his expanded duties, veteran quarterback Ken Stabler may have to get accustomed to a backup role. Biles said Monday tht Gifford Nielsen, who engineered the victory over Pittsburgh, had earned the No. 1 quarterback-ing tag going into training camp.

"Gifford's performance was good, bordering on outstanding," Biles said of Nielsen's three-touchdown performance against the Steelers

"We will go to training camp next summer with Gifford as the No. 1 quarterback. "That doesn't mean the preseason games can't change things around. But as of now there is no doubt who will be No. 1 at the start." Biles said Stabler, who will be expected to live here in the off-season and keep closer ties with the Oilers, was aware of his decision and understood the situation.

"Kenny still wants to play football and he realizes this is a competitive situation," Biles said.

OWINGS MILLS, Md. (AP) - Frank Kush, the Baltimore Colts' new head coach, was interviewed by members of the National Football League security staff before he was named to the job, but a league spokesman says there is no reason why his contract would not be approved by Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Jim Heffernan, the NFL's director of public relations, said Monday night he assumed Kush's talks with the security people had to do with litigation in which the former Arizona State coach had been involved. The Chargers, who won four of their last five games to cap the comeback, meet the AFC East champion Miami Dolphins, 11-4-1, on Saturday, Jan. 2. Fouts' record-breaking performance a few days after the NFL Players Association lifted a suspension threat against the veteran quarter-back for his refusal to pay

Rookie running back James Brooks sent San Diego James Brooks sent San Diego ahead 7-0 with an electrify-ing, tackle-busting 28-yard run midway through the first quarter. The touchdown came three plays after veteran Chargers safety Glen Edwards recovered a fumble at San Diego's 32. After Oakland got a 34-yard field goal from Chris Bahr early in the second quarter,

Sooners For Sun Bowl

By STEVE BREWER
Associated Press Writer
EL PASO, Texas (AP) —
Barry Switzer's Oklahoma
Sooners were scheduled to arrive in El Paso today to begin preparations for the 47th Sun Bowl game against Houston.
The Cougars arrived Monday night by chartered jet and went to the Sun Bowl for a loosening-up workout imtheir hotel. Couch Bill

Yeoman said his team was ready to give an all-out effort in the Saturday match.

"They're, looking forward to it," he said. "I think they'll play hard. I want them to have some fun. But it's not much fun if you don't play well."

One player who will miss the fun is starting fullback David Barnett. Yeoman said the 6-foot, 200-pound senior from Corpus Christi dropped a class during the season that left him with too few credits to be eligible to play. Yeoman said Allen Polk, a

200-pound senior, would replace Barnett in the lineup

Chargers Rip Oakland, 23-10 Chargers retaliated with 10-play, 77-yard drive, climaxed by Benirschke's first field goal, a line drive from 24 yards out.

from 34 yards out.

Leading 10-3 with less than two minutes remaining in the first half, veteran cornerback Willie Buchanon's interception set up San Diego's second touchdown. Two plays later, Fouts lobbed a 29-yard strike to wide receiver Charlie Oakland had a chance to cut the margin in the closing seconds of the first half, but seconds of the first half, but two Marc Wilson passes fell-incomplete, the last as time ran out. That thwarted an op-portunity to get Bahr on the field for a field goal try.

Oakland opened the second half with a 15-play, 71-yard drive to narrow the margin to 17-10 on a one-ward run by drive to narrow the margin to 17-10 on a one-yard run by Mark van Eeghen.

Again, the Chargers answered, this time with an 11-play, 56-yard drive that set up Benirschke's second field goal, a 27-yard shot.

Benirschke added his third field, a 38-yarder, with 3:46 remaining in the game, and the Chargers ate up the clock to preserve one of the most satisfying victories in the club's 21-year history.

and added "we're going to run a whole bunch of them."

After checking into their hotel, the Cougars went to the Sun Bowl late Monday for a brief workout without pads.

"It's just a normal Monday workout." Yeoman said, streasing that the team's preparations are much like they would be for regular season game. "We want them to get familiar with the beason game. We want them to get tamiliar with the stadium and run around a littie bit and get some fresh air in their lungs."
Yeoman's team was to practice again at 10 a.m.
Tuesday.

Which poison is better?

DEAR DR. LAMB — I know that being overweight is bad for you. And I know that smoking cigarettes is bad for you. I am overweight and smoke more than two packs of cigarettes a day. Now, I think I can quit smoking or I can lose weight, but there is no way I can do both.

My wife is after me because she thinks I'm a prime candidate for a heart attack. She may be right. What I would like to know from you is which is worse, smoking or being fat? If I stop smoking I know I will gain even more weight and if I go on a diet I'll need to smoke more than ever. Have you any suggestions?

DEAR READER — I hate

you any suggestions?

DEAR READER — I hate questions like that as you know perfectly well that both are important medical problems for you. It is like asking me which poison will harm you less.

You've asked it so I'll tell you that within reason cigarette smoking is a bigger risk for you than being moderately overweight. That is an average general-moderately overweight. That is an average generalization with many exceptions. If your blood pressure is high or you tend to have high blood cholesterol levels, then losing weight could be more important. We are back to saying you need to individualize, not generalize, and it depends upon what your health findings really are.

Why don't you quit smok-and it depends upon what your health findings really are.

Why don't you quit smoking first just to get started on a program. After you have stopped smoking you can then make a bigger effort to control your excess body fat.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 13-2, How to Measure Your Risk of Heart Disease, to give you some solid figures on risk factors. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 19919. The three main risk factors are blood pressure, cholesterol and cigarette smoking. Both of the first two are often influenced by body fat.

Now, you don't have to wait to start a fat-control program. Start a walking program right away. When you feel the urge to smoke, go for a walk. The walking will make you feel better and will help you keep from smoking. It will also start using some calories for you. As you build up your walking program it may solve the weight problem in time for you, too. In other words, walk, don't eat.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a widem are 75 and have quiet. I moved up here from Los Angeles to get out of the smoggy conditions that existed where I lived. I thought it would be better for my lungs. I don't smoke for my lungs. I and never have.

DEAR READER - You might want to have a medi-cal examination to see if you need your lung capacity checked. If you are having any problem it is not caused by the attitude.

At 5,000 feet or less the decrease in oxygen in the air is so slight that it has little effect on the body. Our blood oxygen uptake system is engineered so that it will still pick up almost as much oxygen as it normally carries at see level, even though there is a slight decrease in there is a slight decrease in oxygen in the lungs.

DEAR DR. LAMB — 1 would like information pertaining to the use of aloe vers straight from the plant. Is it poisonous to use on your face and throat just plain? I have been told it is or causes more hair to grow on your face. I'm bothered with facial hair and think it's caused from the protein cream I use.

DEAR READER — Aloe vera is an interesting plant. It appears to have some medicinal qualities. Dr. Wendell D. Winters at the University of Texas Health Sciences in San Antonio, Tex., has studied its healing effects in cell cultures. It does have healing properties.

does have healing properties.

But the commercial preparation obtained from health food stores for study doesn't have this effect. The difference may be caused by the "stabilizers" in the commercial preparation. So if you want to use it, you might as well grow your own and use the brokes fresh leaves.

No, it is not poissuous. I have no information on its effect on factal hair and I don't think there are any studies available, but I doubt very seriously that it would have such an effect.

Brown makes no bones about which side he's on. His magazine is unabashedly devoted to "the professional adventurer," a phrase critics translate as armed mercenaries.

Soldier of Fortune has been targeted by a Colorado citizen's group for allegedly violating federal law by ilrecruiting legally mercenaries to fight in foreign countries - an offense punishable by a $1,000 fine, a 3-year prison term or the law (against recruiting mercenaries), but I'm not going to (violate it and get) free room and board at prison."

Yet Brown doesn't deny having distributed information on how to join a foreign force - such as that of the Sultan of Oman or the Rhodesian security forces - nor having referred numerous inquiries about "merc" employment to known recruiters in the United States and abroad.

"I'm of the theory that, well, better dead than red," he says in admitting sympathy for a variety of mercenary causes. "One man's terrorist - or mercenary - is another man's freedom fighter."

Advertisements in the magazine tout the latest in do-it-yourself plastic explosives, automatic weapons and Italian stilettos. Invitations to "high-risk employment" and from individuals who claim they'll do "anything for the right price" fill the classified section.

"Those ads appear in other blications," says Brown, shrugging his muscular ders. He says Soldier Of shoulders. He says Soldier Of Fortune has rejected ads from Neo-Nazi groups and the Irish Republican Army.

Nevertheless, earlier this month, the U.S. House unanimously passed an amendment to the 1982 Foreign Aid Bill introduced by Leach that condemns the use of biochemical weapons by Soviet-backed Communist forces in Indochina and Afghanistan.

Brezhnev Calls For 'Normal Relation'

WASHINGTON (AP) -The Soviet Union and the United States should abandon "the senseless arms race" and "return to the path of normal relations," says Soviet President Leonid

Responding to written uestions from NBC chief diplomatic correspondent Marvin Kalb, the Soviet leader said the current arms talks the two nations are holding in Geneva "will determine whether the danger of outbreak of nuclear war will increase or decrease."

Brezhnev, NBC said Monday, expressed a concern that his country and the United States are sliding toward a confrontation. "The dangerous zeal in stepping up the arms race must be curb-

"Artificial obstacles" are preventing the improvement of U.S.-Soviet relations, said Brezhnev, adding that his country is ready to resume strategic arms control talks, according to NBC.

He did not explain what the artificial obstacles are.

Discussing the SALT negotiations, which have been stalled since 1979, Brezhnev said his country is "prepared to resume negotiations," adding, "It's now up to Washington."

Brezhnev said he hopes there will be a summit meeting between himself and President Reagan, but, reflecting a view also held by Reagan, he added, "adequate preparation is necessary for such a meeting to be suc-show business." Miss Taylor, 49, had been married six times before marrying Warner, a youthfullooking Washingtonian who was divorced from Pittsburgh heiress Catherine Mellon in 1973. The film star's marriages became an issue in Warner's Senate campaign.

"It's nobody's concern," Miss Taylor said in an interview with The Associated Press at the time.

"I think it's fairly obvious why I was married. As strange as it may sound, I am a very moral woman. I was taught by my parents that if you fall in love, if you want to have a love affair, you get married. I guess I'm very old-fashioned."

At the age of 18, she married Conrad Nicholson (Nicky) Hilton, the 23-yearold heir to his father's Eight months later, Liz was in divorce court, tearfully complaining that Nicky was more interested in gambling

She was 19 when she married 39-year-old Michael Wilding, the British actor.

They had two sons, Michael Jr., and Christopher Edward.

Miss Taylor was single again 41/2 years later. This time, she attracted the flamboyant film producer, Michael Todd - also 20 years her senior. They had a daughter, Elizabeth Frances. Little more than a year after their marriage, Todd was killed in a plane crash.

Six months after his death, Miss Taylor began seeing singer Eddie Fisher, who was best man at Todd's wedding.

Miss Taylor, who had embraced Judaism, married Fisher a few hours after his divorce from actress Debbie Reynolds became final. The Fishers moved to London and Miss Taylor began work on "Cleopatra."

She fell in love with her leading man, British actor Richard Burton. He became her fifth husband in 1964. She was 32: he was divorced and then remarried - each other.

Miss Taylor met the multimillionare Warner a few months after a brief romance with Iran Ambassador Ardeshir Zahedi, according to a recent biography by Kitty Kelley.
