Agriculture Week

Mayor Wes Fisher, at right, and Art Stoy of Garrison Seed participated in a proclamation of National Agriculture Week which begins today and runs through next Friday. The Texas Department of Agriculture is marking the week with an informal drop-in at its district offices, including the Amarillo branch at 5501 W. I-40, next Wednesday. Locally, Hereford State Bank will host a hamburger feed for area farmers and will have farm vehicles and implements on display at the bank parking lot March 23.

Fight expected over budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $966.1 billion budget calling for a freeze in Social Security benefits and a lid on military spending is headed for Senate floor action, but Republicans and Democrats alike are predicting major alterations.

"It needs some work," Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., said of the spending outline that would trim $55 billion from the nation's $200 billion deficit in 1986.

The Senate Budget Committee gave final approval to the budget on Thursday after rejecting last-minute Democratic efforts to strip away provisions that mandate some of the spending cuts. Dole promised to bring it to the floor in about two weeks.

The committee vote was a straight party-line 11-9 tally, with only Republicans voting for the measure and only Democrats opposing it.

Meanwhile, the chairman of the House Budget Committee, Rep. William Gray, D-Pa., said the Senate panel had demonstrated that even the Social Security system is no longer immune to the budget knife.

"Obviously, it's not a sacred cow anymore because (Committee Chairman) Sen. (Pete V.) Domenici and the Republican-controlled Senate Budget Committee did touch it in defiance of their own president," Gray told reporters.

Major alterations predicted

Reagan's budget called for deep domestic spending cuts, but left Social Security alone.

Gray said when the House committee begins its work on the budget in several weeks, "Social Security cost-of-living adjustments will be on the table."

"The House is reluctant to freeze cost-of-living adjustments for Social Security," Gray said. But, he added, "I have never ruled it out."

Dole said he supports the Social Security freeze and urged GOP colleagues to join him. "There aren't any painless ways to cut the deficit. But we are the majority party. In my view, we have to bite the first bullet."

But Democrats in the Senate were lining up in opposition to the freeze, as well as to spending cuts recommended by the panel in Medicare and other social programs.

"We can do better," said Sen. Daniel P. Moynihan, D-N.Y. "We had better do better."

Dole said it was time to bring Democrats and the White House into negotiations to try to forge a bipartisan consensus.

"We're waiting to be asked. We haven't been asked yet," said Sen. Lawton Chiles of Florida, senior Democrat on the budget panel.

The budget would permit defense spending to rise only with inflation in 1986, then allow additional increases on top of inflation of only 3 percent in 1987 and 1988.

By contrast, Reagan's plan calls for a defense spending increase of 5.9 percent above inflation in 1986, 8.2 percent over inflation in 1987 and 8.8 percent over inflation in 1988.

Reagan did win a round on taxes. The budget headed for Senate debate contains no proposals for new taxes.

Petition drive out in support of TRLA

Local residents circulating a petition in support of Hereford's Texas Rural Legal Aid office hope to get at least as many signatures—3,000 as did those who sent around petitions last fall criticizing the office.

The drive is in response to an investigation of TRLA by the Legal Services Corporation, which funds the program. LSC's Office of Compliance and Review announced this week it will follow up last November's preliminary investigation by sending a team of five persons to Hereford next week to conduct a more detailed probe.

"We...support the efforts of Texas Rural Legal Aid in our community," the petition reads. "We believe that without their services many poor and underprivileged citizens would go without proper correction of valid grievances."

The petition claims accusations made against TRLA are unfounded, and that there "are substantial numbers of persons...who believe strongly in the value of the services rendered by TRLA."

The document also asks that future investigations of the office "be unbiased and thorough, and that you avoid one-sided judgements of the issues."

A spokesman for the movement said this morning that the petition was drafted entirely independent of the local office, and that he in fact tried to keep TRLA staff members from even hearing about the petition before it began to circulate.

TRLA attorney Randall Marshall said Thursday the first he heard about it was when he read a story in KPAN's "Telegram" at a local restaurant.

The petitions circulated last fall by persons dissatisfied with the office brought OCR Investigator Wendell Wylie to town, who spent four days gathering testimony from persons generally hostile to the program.

TRLA Executive Director David Hall of Weslaco has demanded an apology over the report, which he called a "politically motivated hatchet job." Hall was to have met with LSC officials Thursday in Washington, D.C. to discuss next week's intended continuation of the investigation.

Wylie was not in his office when telephoned this morning by the Brand, and the outcome of that meeting is unknown.

Wholesale prices down last month

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cheaper prices for meat and gasoline helped overcome a sharp jump in fresh fruit and vegetable costs to pull wholesale prices down 0.1 percent last month, the government said today.

Prices soared 9.1 percent for fresh fruit and 4.6 percent for vegetables — both the result of January's devastating freeze in Florida. But prices for beef, pork and poultry were down. Overall, food prices fell 0.1 percent.

Gasoline prices were also off, standing 3.4 percent below the level of the preceding month.

Overall wholesale prices, which held flat in January, were down at an annual rate of 0.8 percent for the first two months of the year.

That compares to a 1.8 percent wholesale inflation rate for all of 1984 and a slight 0.6 percent gain in 1983 — the best back-to-back inflation performance in two decades.

The February decline surprised many analysts, who had forecast an increase as sharp as 0.3 percent overall. The severe winter weather, they conjectured, had driven energy prices up while sending food costs soaring.

Although fruit and vegetable prices did rise, the gains were not as dramatic as had been expected.

Mattox calls bribery acquittal victory for people of Texas

AUSTIN (AP) - Attorney General Jim Mattox, the self-described "people's lawyer," says his acquittal of a commercial bribery charge should not put political foes and big oil companies on notice.

"I view this very much as a victory for the people of the state of Texas," Mattox told some 100 cheering supporters who gathered outside the Travis County Courthouse as the verdict was returned Thursday night.

"I think in the long run it will help my political career," he said. "I think the people want somebody who's willing to fight for what's right."

Mattox had been accused in 1983 of threatening the lucrative bond business of the powerful Houston law firm Fulbright & Jaworski unless one of its lawyers stopped trying to question Mattox's sister in an oil rights case.

The eight-woman, four-man jury returned its verdict at 8:22 p.m. after about three hours of deliberations.

As the verdict was read, Mattox supporters who had packed the third-floor courtroom whooped, shouted and applauded. Within moments, the crowd outdoors began to cheer as well.

Immediately after state District Judge Mace B. Thurman Jr. released the jury, Mattox entered the jury room to personally thank each of them.

"Thank you all so much," Mattox told the jurors as he shook their hands. "From the bottom of my heart, thank you."

Mattox, who has professed his innocence since first being indicted in September 1983, assured the jurors they made the right decision.

"I never made those statements they say I did," he said. "Had I done so, I would have walked over here and taken my medicine."

Mattox has portrayed the oil rights dispute that led to his indictment as a fight between himself, the state's lawyer, and Mobil Oil Corp. He contended that Mobil for decades had been depriving the state of considerable oil revenue that goes into a public school fund.

Fulbright & Jaworski lawyer Thomas McDade represented Mobil, which was sued over the 1925 lease by the state and wealthy South Texas rancher Clinton Manges. The case was settled last year with the state gaining control over nearly 15,000 acres of oil land.

"I think tonight we have convinced Mobil Oil they've got to come in the front door of the attorney general's office just like everybody else does," Mattox said.

"I'm thankful that now we can go on with the business of the people," he added.

Jury foreman John Packer of Austin said that prosecutors in the five-week trial simply failed to prove a felony was committed.

"We went on what the charges were," Packer said. "There was not one (specific) factor."

If convicted, Mattox could have faced up to 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

District Attorney Ronnie Earle, who led the prosecution team and accused Mattox of abusing the power of his office, voiced disappointment

Gorbachev pondering summit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet chief Mikhail Gorbachev is pondering President Reagan's invitation to attend the first superpower summit in six years but has given no indication whether he will accept, according to an administration official.

Secretary of State George Shultz and Vice President George Bush met with the 54-year-old Gorbachev after the funeral of Soviet President Konstantin Chernenko, who died Sunday. Gorbachev assumed the reins of power less than seven hours after Chernenko died.

The administration source said the gist of Gorbachev's response amounted to, "We're interested, we'll get back to you."

The Soviets took the invitation under advisement "as we expected them to do, and said they would discuss it and notify us later of a response," the official said Thursday, speaking on condition he not be identified.

He added there was "no hint one way or other" whether Gorbachev intended to accept Reagan's suggestion that they meet, most probably in the United States.

Earlier, the White House had tried to dampen expectations it helped fuel, saying it might be "quite a period of time" before Gorbachev is ready to consider participating in a summit.

"Honestly, we think it may be quite a period of time before the Soviets are ready to have any movement toward a meeting of this type," White House spokesman Larry Speakes said.

He said Gorbachev "has a number of things on his platter there. He may focus on those before he focuses on foreign travel, particularly foreign travel to the United States or some other country, or entertaining a foreign visitor in his own country. That is simply the facts of the way people do business."

Speakes said it would take time for Gorbachev even "to be prepared to entertain the idea (of a summit), to address it."

Reagan raised the idea of a summit by declaring he was "more than ready" to meet with the new Soviet leader once he consolidates his position.

Taking it a step further, Bush said in Moscow that Reagan would meet with the Soviet leader whenever the Kremlin is ready. "If there ever was a time when we could move forward with progress in the last few years," Bush said, "I'd say that this is a good time for that."

Speakes minimized the importance of reports that Gorbachev had accepted in principle invitations to visit France and West Germany. He said the words "in principle" were diplomatic language that held little substance.

"We've got a couple dozen people that we've agreed to meet with in principle but haven't met with them yet," he said.

Reagan, meanwhile, told a group of visiting magazine publishers there was no evidence that Gorbachev "is less dominated by their system and their philosophy" than any other recent Soviet ruler.

At the same time, however, Reagan added, "I think what is most evident, and I believe that this will be reflected in him, is that the Soviet Union is in a different frame of mind than they've been in the past."

Garza drops from school race

One of the three candidates for the District 3 spot on the Hereford Independent School District Board has left the race.

Cecilia Garza, who filed for the position just under the March 6 deadline, officially withdrew her candidacy on Thursday.

When asked to explain her reasons for withdrawing Garza said "they're very personal reasons, that I'd rather not get into."

The Hereford woman works as an administrative secretary for Texas Rural Legal Aid.

The two candidates left in the District 3 race are Mary Parker and Bud Patterson.

Video console, cassette player stolen

A residential burglary reported Thursday left a Hereford residence missing about $270 in goods. A police investigation indicated that the back door window of the home had been broken to gain entry. Missing items included a video console, a cassette player, 10 tapes, and a half gallon of ice cream. A pet bird was also let loose.

Another report regarded a wallet containing $45 which was taken from a local convenience store.

Police assisted on a medical call where a person who fainted suffered a broken nose.

One person was arrested on charges of public intoxication, disorderly conduct, and fighting in public.

Police also checked reports of a prowler at Kings Manor, a criminal trespassing, harassment and an assault.

Game hearing March 27

Proposed regulation changes that would affect the 1985-86 hunting and fishing seasons will be discussed at a public hearing March 27 at the Deaf Smith County Courthouse.

Game warden Chuck Cosper, a hearings officer and a representative of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department are among those scheduled to take part in the 7 p.m. hearing.

According to Phil Evans, a wildlife biologist with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, an official change in the bag limit during pheasant season would probably be of the most interest to Deaf Smith County residents.

Although changed on an emergency basis last year from three to two cocks per day, the regulation must now be altered to officially lower the bag limit. The new rule would allow four in possession instead of six.

Evans said changes of interest to deer and turkey hunters will also be discussed during the hearing. The complete set of regulations is scheduled for publication in next week's Texas Register.

Suicide may be related to natal problems

LONDON (AP) — Teen-agers who suffered medical problems around the time of birth could be more likely to commit suicide than other people their age, U.S. researchers said in a report published today.

They said their study suggests that psychological and social problems are not the only causes of an upsurge in teen-age suicide.

"Though the mechanisms are not yet understood, the identification of previously unknown suicide risk factors offers opportunities for prevention," the medical team said in a report published by The Lancet, a British medical journal.

The suicide rate among teen-agers and young adults is 300 times higher than it was 30 years ago, although it has leveled off in the past five years, the article said.

Most speculation about the increase in teen-age suicide has focused on psychological and social factors.

"All segments of society, however, are exposed to psychological and social stresses," the article said, "and we must therefore ask what else has made the young more vulnerable to suicide than other age groups in our society."

A five-member team, headed by Professor Lee Salk, a Cornell University psychiatrist, sought to determine whether the increase in teen-age suicide might be related to problems at or near birth, including the mother's health during pregnancy.

Previous studies have suggested that influences early in life can have a lasting effect on suicide risk, but none had investigated the possible role of problems associated with birth.

In collaboration with researchers at Brown University, Salk examined the birth records of 52 adolescents between the ages of 12 and 20 who committed suicide in Rhode Island between February 1975 and March 1983. There were 43 boys and nine girls, a ratio consistent with that of suicides in the United States as a whole.

Records of the suicide victims were compared against those of 104 other teen-agers divided into two control groups.

"Three specific risk factors were shown to have a powerful capacity to

Suspect held in flagman shooting

DALLAS (AP) — A flagman who was shot and seriously wounded by a motorist he tried to stop at a construction site said the man gave no warning before he shot.

Zachery Tobias Reese, 25, said the motorist ignored his directions then stopped at a red light a few feet away, blocking a dump truck.

"I said, 'Don't you see the dump truck?' He started cursing me out. I just thought he was crazy. I just turned and started walking away and he shot me in the back," Reese told the Dallas Times Herald from his hospital bed.

Reese was in fair condition at Parkland Memorial Hospital late Thursday after undergoing surgery to remove a bullet from his lung, a hospital spokesman said.

A 32-year-old Dallas man remained in custody in lieu of $25,000 bond pending the filing of formal charges. He is being investigated for attempted murder, a spokeswoman at the Lew Sterrett Justice Center said late Thursday.

The flagman, who was wearing a bright red vest and carrying a red flag, was struck in the upper left back by a small-caliber bullet Wednesday morning in what police described as a random attack.

"He just shot him like a dog," said the Rev. R.L. Reese, the victim's father and a witness to the attack. "I thought he was dead."

Reese said his son was shot after a motorist ignored the flag he was using to temporarily halt traffic and allow a loaded dump truck to leave a construction site.

Reese, pastor of Mt. Vernon Baptist Church in Henderson, said his son approached the car, tapped it lightly and said, "You need to move, there's a truck coming out."

The preacher said the motorist got out of his car and began cursing, and both father and son noticed the man was carrying a nickel-plated revolver. He said his son turned his back on the motorist and started walking away when the man fired.

Police said four witnesses to the shooting wrote down the fleeing vehicle's license number and telephoned officers. The man was arrested a few minutes later.

AUSTIN (AP) — An lawyer for plaintiff inmates in a 13-year-old prisoner civil rights suit says state officials seem so "paralyzed by political maneuvering" the case may have to be settled in court, according to a report published today.

San Francisco attorney William B. Turner, in a letter to the lawyer for the state prison system, threatened to end settlement talks and accused Gov. Mark White and other state officials of dragging their feet.

The threat prompted lawmakers, prison officials and attorneys to meet privately Wednesday night to discuss a possible new settlement offer, The Houston Post reported.

The suit was initiated in 1972 by inmate David Ruiz and later was consolidated with other inmates' suits. U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice of Tyler ruled in 1981 the prison system's treatment of inmates was unconstitutional and ordered massive prison reforms.

In his letter to prison system attorney Rick Gray, Turner wrote "events of the last few days" may force the case back to court.

Turner specifically blamed White's appointment of four new members to the prison board and the governor's criticisms of a recent study of the Texas Department of Corrections.

But Gray said he is talking with lawmakers to determine how much money will be available to spend on prisons over the next two years, and he confirmed that some kind of settlement offer will be made to Turner by Saturday.

Prison overcrowding is the only remaining issue in the civil suit. The Texas Department of the Corrections is the nation's second largest prison system, with 37,637 inmates. TDC has a capacity of 40,464 inmates.

The plaintiff inmates agreed to delay a scheduled Feb. 4 trial on overcrowding to allow Dallas consultants Henningson, Durham and Richardson to complete a lengthy study of prison needs.

But in an unfiled draft of a petition asking Justice to order the state to trial, Turner said the state was not keeping its part of the bargain.

"If, as it appears, all the state agencies are so paralyzed by political maneuvering that TDC and the state cannot act decisively now to come to grips with TDC's overcrowding, then the state is effectively choosing to have the fate of its prisons decided by federal court order rather than state initiative," Turner said.

While the consultants' study may suggest possible solutions to alleviate prison overcrowding, "the state of Texas... has rejected the opportunity it earlier sought to propose its own solution to TDC's overcrowding," said the draft document, which was enclosed with Turner's letter.

The HDR report said Texas may have to spend $500 million to bring existing prisons close to national standards and an additional $370 million for new construction. The study concluded the state's prisons were overcrowded, unsafe, and plagued with poor ventilation, heating, shower and toilet facilities.

Gov. Mark White has called the report a "good starting point," but said it appeared to recommend "very nice prisons" that were not necessary to meet constitutional standards.

Gray confirmed that preliminary offers being discussed included boosting the TDC's 1986-87 budget by $50 million to $70 million above the $717 million recommended by the Legislative Budget Board. The additional money would be used for staff increases at eight TDC units, Gray said.

Officials also are discussing raising an additional $120 million through the sale of TDC property, as well as having private firms build new prisons that the state would lease, Gray said.

Turner also criticized White for choosing "this time to alter the composition of the board of corrections and appoint new members who are not knowledgeable about current conditions," the petition said.

The governor named as replacements to the board Austin banker Robert Lane, Palestine lawyer James Parsons III, Dallas businessman Dennis Hendrix and Austin health care entrepreneur Alfred Hughes to the nine-member panel that oversees Texas prisons.

Elizabeth Laporte, another of the inmates' lawyers, said her clients are waiting to see if the state "makes a good faith effort" to settle the case before deciding whether to ask Justice to order a trial.

"This is on a day-to-day basis," Laporte said. "The leash is not unlimited."

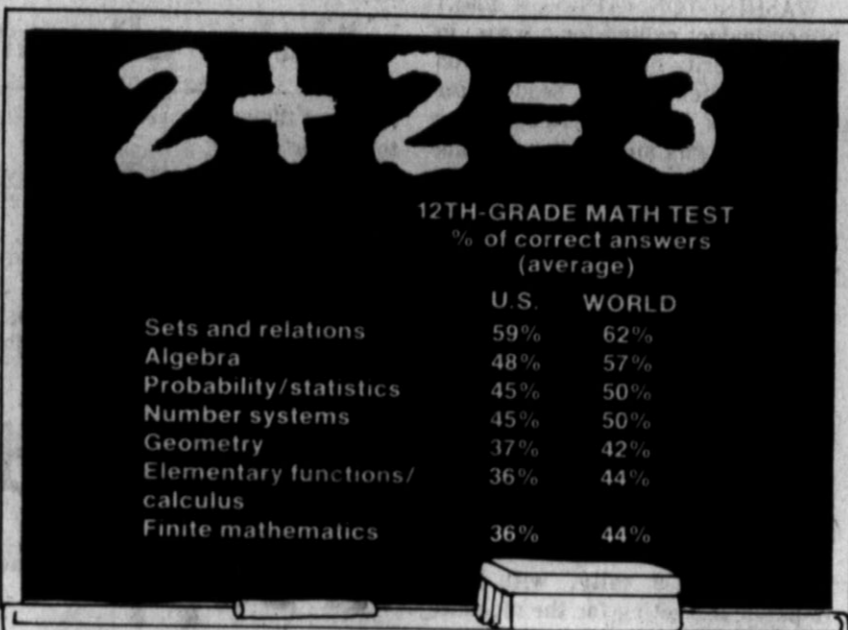

Prison officials, including TDC Director Ray Proconier, believe a trial would be a disaster for the state, since most evidence indicates the prisons are overcrowded, said prison board member Harry Whittington.

Whittington, who was not reappointed by White but who will serve until the new appointees are confirmed by the Senate, said prison officials are so aware of the poor prison conditions that they could not testify for the state.

"If we tell the truth in court, it's not going to help the state," Whittington said.

Celeste declares S&L holiday

CINCINNATI (AP) — Gov. Richard Celeste today declared a three-day bank holiday at the state's estimated 70 state-insured savings and loan institutions, saying he was taking a "serious step" because of some reported runs on deposits.

Celeste said at a news conference he was using his emergency powers as governor to close the state-insured thrifts to allow officials more time to formulate a plan that will restore confidence in the institutions.

The governor's action, announced less than 90 minutes before most of the institutions would have opened for business, followed a day of mounting concern at Cincinnati-area banks over runs on deposits.

Last week, the Cincinnati-based Home State Savings Association closed its doors after depositors withdrew millions. The withdrawals followed news that Home State had suffered severe losses as a result of the collapse of a Florida investment firm, ESM Government Securities Inc.

Home State's deposits were insured by the Ohio Deposit Guarantee Fund, a privately held insurance firm with $130 million.

Although state legislators acted this week to reassure depositors by creating a $90 million deposit insurance fund separate from the Ohio Deposit Guarantee Fund, customers at Cincinnati-area institutions began lining up outside banks Thursday to withdraw their money.

Depositors of some of those savings and loans camped out overnight on lines outside the thrifts, including Charter Oak Savings Association and Molitor Loan and Building Co., to withdraw their money today.

Molitor and Charter Oak also were mobbed by depositors withdrawing cash Thursday. State Commerce Director Kenneth Cox, who arrived here Thursday hoping to restore confidence in the state-chartered associations, said a third institution, which he did not identify, had had problems in Columbus.

Thomas Batties, a state Commerce Department official, said depositors would not be able to write checks during the holiday period.

Depositors began a run on Home State offices last week after it was disclosed Home State had borrowed $670 million from ESM, which was ordered closed March 4 after auditors discovered it had a $300 million deficit.

Home State had put up securities as collateral for a loan, but it has refused to say how much they were worth. It closed Saturday.

Home State had 33 branches, and Cox said its losses were expected to run about $140 million.

Charter Oak Chairman Thomas Mongan made a public plea to depositors Thursday night, asking them to leave their money in.

John Schmitz, a Molitor executive, said it was in good shape and all withdrawals would be honored.

Telecommunications to improve by partnership

Southwestern Bell Telephone and the state of Texas have much to gain from the shareholder agreement announced between Austin-based Micro-electronics and Computer Technology Corporation and Bell Communications Research.

"We're excited about the MCC/Bellcore partnership and what it will mean to Southwestern Bell Telephone and its 4-1/2 million customers in Texas," said James R. Adams, president-Texas Division. "We are anxious to apply the knowledge gained from the partnership to further improve our statewide telecommunications network."

Adams' comments were made during Austin ceremonies marking the agreement. Bellcore becomes the twenty-first shareholder in MCC, an Austin-based consortium which conducts long-range research aimed at advances in micro-electronics and computer science. MCC's shareholders will independently use the results of MCC's research in conducting their own business.

Announcement of the signing was made by Governor Mark White, along with Rocco Marano, Bellcore president, and Adams.

Bellcore, headquartered in Livingston, New Jersey, was established January 1, 1984, upon divestiture of the Bell System. It provides centralized technical support for the operating telephone companies of the seven regions, which include Southwestern Bell, Ameritech, Bell Atlantic, BellSouth, NYNEX, Pacific Telesis and U.S. West.

Bellcore will participate in two of MCC's research projects: Advanced Computer Architecture and Software Technology.

"Benefits from this advanced research will flow directly to all customers, both business and residence," Adams said. "Besides making available options which customers desire, new technology also helps us operate more efficiently and keep down the cost of providing telephone service."

"Increased efficiency along with revenue generated by new customer services more than pays for the new technology required. Certainly, too, Texans will benefit from the kind of telecommunications system which can support an economic environment necessary to attract new business growth," Adams added.

"In short, we welcome this dynamic new technology-sharing venture. With some of the country's great minds combining to provide knowledge that we can translate into new cost-effective products and services, our ability to provide all Texas customers with quality telephone service is greatly enhanced."

New law increases income

Earned income credit, a tax benefit for certain low income persons, has been expanded to allow for the effect of inflation and higher social security taxes, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

In 1984, qualified persons were allowed a maximum credit of $500, which was gradually phased out as income increased to $10,000. Beginning in 1985, the credit will equal 11 percent of the first $5,000 for a maximum credit of $550. If income is greater than $5,000, the credit continues to gradually phase out. With an income of $11,000 there is no benefit at all.

The credit may be computed only on earned income, such as wages or self-employment. Since it is refundable, it may be claimed even though income is so low that there is no tax liability. It may be entered on either Form 1040 or Form 1040A.

Earned income credit is available to low income persons who provide a home in the United States that they share with a child for an entire year. Married persons must also file a joint return and claim the child as a dependent.

If you feel that you may qualify to receive the earned income credit, but would like help with preparing your tax return, you can get that help free of charge at any of the neighborhood Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) centers.

with the outcome.

"You're always disappointed when you don't win," Earle said. "It was our decision to go with a felony charge. Texas law does not have an extortion charge that fit, so we went with the closest thing."

But, Earle said, the innocent verdict still "does not mean there was not an abuse of power."

Earle, in his closing argument, said Mattox had confused his private interest with the public's business in dealing with Fulbright & Jaworski.

"The man has a problem with vindictiveness. He has a problem with being a bully," Earle said. "What he did was misuse his power. What he did was throw his weight around."

But chief defense lawyer Roy Q. Minton said Mattox was only doing his duty when he told the law firm its municipal bonds would be checked closely by his office, which must approve such bonds before sale.

"He told them exactly what he should have told them, 'I'm going to approve your bonds after they've been checked,'" Minton said.

4-H program receives grant from council

COLLEGE STATION — The Texas 4-H program has received a $1,000 grant to implement innovative 4-H photography activities.

The grant was one of 12 awarded to states by the National 4-H Council through support from the Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N.Y., which sponsors the 4-H photography awards program, points out Preston Sides, 4-H specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Proposals for the state grants stemmed from a recent photography program development symposium, also sponsored by Kodak, at the National 4-H Center and attended by Extension Service staff from 43 states. Charles Gardner of Overton, Extension 4-H specialist, represented Texas at the symposium and prepared the state's proposal.

Seminar scheduled at A&M

Special workshops for both county and district clerks will be among highlights of the 13th annual County and District Clerks' Seminar at Texas A&M University, March 19-21.

Conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the seminar is designed to provide clerks with the latest information that is critical to their jobs.

Minton noted that Mattox had declined to plea bargain in the case.

"Jim Mattox has had the opportunity to come over (to the courthouse) and pay a fine for over a year. He said, 'I have not done a damn thing wrong,'" Minton told the jurors.

"We've got one of the best, most aggressive attorneys general we've ever had. The very thought that we're going to run him out of office on something like this is inconceivable to me," Minton said.

Water color painting topic of art meeting

The Hereford Fine Arts Association met at the Community Center on Tuesday with 21 members and guests in attendance.

It was announced that member Norma Hendon has paintings on display at the Chamber of Commerce office during the month of March. John Birdsong, water color artist of Amarillo, gave the group a program and demonstration on a fast water color painting. It was a snow scene with a windmill which he finished in about 30 minutes.

Refreshments of vegetables, dips and cookies were served by the hostesses for the evening, Linda Minchew and Suzy Wall.

The next regular meeting will be held on April 9 at the Community Center with Gayla Kimball, high school art teacher, showing art projects of the high school students. Guests are welcome to attend.

NCAA roundup

Hoyas face tougher task now

By The Associated Press

Having warmed up on little Lehigh, top-ranked Georgetown next faces another Pennsylvania team but a somewhat tougher task in its quest for a second consecutive NCAA basketball championship.

The Hoyas breezed past Lehigh 68-43 — 14 of the 16 higher-seeded teams won their opening-round games Thursday — and will meet Temple in Saturday's second round of the East Regional at Hartford, Conn. The Owls are 25-5 following a 60-57 victory over Virginia Tech, compared to Lehigh's 12-19 mark, which made it the only NCAA entrant with a losing record.

Temple Coach John Chaney realistically faces his probable fate.

"I don't think we can afford to do anything wrong against a great team like Georgetown, the very best team in America and the very best coached team in America," Chaney said. "But hope springs eternal."

In the other East double-header, No. 14 Loyola of Chicago nipped Iona 59-58 and Southern Methodist thumped Old Dominion 85-68.

Two other regional top seeds were in action Thursday. In the West Regional at Salt Lake City, third-ranked St. John's trounced Southern University 83-59 while No. 4 Oklahoma trimmed North Carolina A&T 96-83 in the Midwest Regional at Tulsa, Okla. Second-ranked Michigan, seeded No. 1 in the Southeast, gets under way today against Fairleigh Dickinson at Dayton, Ohio.

Thursday's other games:

West — Ninth-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas 85, San Diego State 80; Kentucky 66, Washington 58.

Midwest — Eighth-ranked Louisiana Tech 78, Pittsburgh 54; Ohio State 75, Iowa State 64; Illinois State 58, Southern California 55.

Southeast — Seventh-ranked North Carolina 76, Middle Tennessee State 57; No. 13 Kansas 49, Ohio University 38; Notre Dame 79, Oregon State 70.

Today's schedule:

East, at Atlanta — No. 12 Illinois vs. Northeastern, No. 19 Georgia vs. Wichita State, No. 15 Syracuse vs. DePaul, No. 6 Georgia Tech vs. Mercer.

Southeast, at Dayton — No. 20 LSU vs. Navy, Maryland vs. Miami of Ohio, No. 2 Michigan vs. Fairleigh Dickinson, Villanova vs. Dayton.

Midwest, at Houston — No. 5 Memphis State vs. Pennsylvania, Alabama-Birmingham vs. Michigan State, No. 17 Texas Tech vs. Boston College, No. 10 Duke vs. Pepperdine.

West, at Albuquerque, N.M. — No. 16 North Carolina State vs. Nevada-Reno, No. 18 Tulsa vs. Texas-El Paso, No. 11 Virginia Commonwealth vs. Marshall, Alabama vs. Arizona.

Fresh quarterbacks to lead USFL teams

By The Associated Press

The United States Football League season is only three weeks old, but at least three teams will have new quarterbacks this weekend.

Two of them will be at the helm Saturday night when Fred Mortensen leads the San Antonio Gunslingers against the winless Express in Los Angeles and Matt Robinson takes over when the Portland Breakers entertain the Orlando Renegades. On Saturday afternoon, Arizona visits Tampa Bay.

Three more games are on tap Sunday — Memphis at Birmingham, New Jersey at Baltimore and Jacksonville — under new quarterback Ed Luther — at Oakland. The weekend schedule winds up Monday night when Denver visits Houston.

San Antonio is the second lowest scoring team in the league, with Rick Neuheisel completing only 31 of 70 passes for 402 yards and just one touchdown. Mortensen, who was signed last year after being waived by Denver, is 8-of-14 for 85 yards in limited duty.

"We've gone three games and haven't executed as well as we need to," said Coach Jim Bates. "We felt it was time to take a good look at Fred. We just needed to see if a change would lift the team. It isn't that we've lost confidence in Rick. It doesn't mean that Rick isn't going to play any more. It's a long season. If we get in trouble, we won't hesitate to go to Rick."

The Express' off-field financial woes seem to have affected the team's play.

"Our kids have been playing hard," said Coach John Hadl, whose club is 0-3 and has blown a fourth-quarter lead in each game. "The ball's not bouncing right for us right now, but it's important for our players to maintain their poise and determination."

In announcing that Robinson would replace Doug Woodward (42-of-90 for 568 and two touchdowns), Portland Coach Dick Coury said the Breakers are "looking for a spark to ignite us."

He pointed to last week's 29-17 loss to Denver, saying: "We had 79 plays to Denver's 52. We should have scored more points with that edge. We feel we didn't play as well, with as much intensity, against Denver as we did in the other two games."

Robinson, a veteran of eight years in the pro ranks, was acquired from Jacksonville on waivers earlier this season.

Jacksonville signed Luther, a former backup for the San Diego Chargers, last week. He will get the call Sunday even though the Bulls' quarterbacks this season — Buck Belue, Robbie Mahfouz and the injured Brian Sipe — have completed 62 of 102 passes for 516 yards and five touchdowns.

The highlight of the weekend could come Monday night when Head Coach Darrel "Mouse" Davis brings his Denver team to Houston, where he installed the "run 'n' shoot" attack last season as the Gamblers' offensive coordinator.

League's replay plan, there will be no appeal. There will simply be an official with a monitor in the press box or elsewhere in the stadium who will communicate by radio with the officials on the field if he sees a play which might have been called wrong. "The whole thing is designed so the fans won't be aware it's happening," said Schramm.

As for the speed-up proposals, most were approved just as they were recommended by the competition committee, except for one that had recommended cutting timeouts in the last two minutes of each half from 90 seconds to 20. Instead, they will be reduced to 60 seconds.

The others include starting the clock after penalties if the clock would have kept running had the penalty not been called and accelerating officiating mechanics to put the ball in play more quickly between plays, after penalty calls and on kickoffs. The owners also approved a motion to urge the networks to get in and out of their commercials faster — using gimmicks like chalkboards and instant replays between plays rather than around commercials.

Golfers still on course

Rain halts golf tournament Thursday

By AUSTIN WILSON AP Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — John Mahaffey was philosophical about having to wait 15 hours to play one hole to learn if he would be the first-round leader in the $400,000 USF&G Golf Classic.

Rain ended play on Thursday with 36 golfers still out on the 7,000-yard Lakewood Country Club course — Mahaffey among them, 8-under-par, waiting to finish on No. 18.

"I would have liked to have finished today, but since that's not possible, I'll just have to make the best of it," Mahaffey said with a shrug.

Gibby Gilbert and Peter Jacobsen were already in the clubhouse with 65s, 7-under-par, sharing the lead when the rain began.

Brad Faxon, Tony Sills, Terry Snodgrass and Jim Simons were tied at 66.

The round's start was delayed 25 minutes by fog, and play ended suddenly when dark clouds blew in to cut short what had been a perfect day for golf.

Mike Smith, in the third group to start on the back nine, dropped in a five-iron shot for a hole-in-one on No. 13, but tailed off to finish in a group of nine tied at 67.

Jack Nicklaus, winner of 70 professional tournaments and five times PGA Player of the Year, was among the early starters and ran into immediate fog problems.

He bogied his first hole, the par-four No. 10, and finished the back nine at even par, 36. He went 4-under on the front nine to wind up with nine others at 68.

"We were sort of feeling our way for the first hole or two," he said.

Unnecessary for measley million dollars

Holmes says last bout maybe tonight

By ED SCHUYLER JR. AP Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Larry Holmes predicts David Bey will say, "He can fight 10 more years, why does he want to retire?"

But Holmes is not going to fight for another decade. In fact, while he says there is a possibility of his having another fight, his scheduled 15-round International Boxing Federation title defense against Bey tonight probably will cap a 13-year pro career.

The 35-year-old Holmes has said he would fight again for $3 million against light heavyweight champion Michael Spinks or for $25 million against Gerry Cooney, who he stopped in the 13th round of a big-money match here June 11, 1982.

But he admits neither fight is likely and says he plans to announce his retirement June 9, which will be the seventh anniversary of his 15-round split decision victory over Ken Norton here for the World Boxing Council title.

"It's not necessary for me to fight for a measley million dollars," said Holmes, who will get $2 million for fighting Bey. The challenger's purse is $250,000.

Holmes is a 7-2 choice to make his record 47-0 in the match in a 6,000-seat outdoor arena at the Riviera, which will be televised by HBO starting at about 7:25 p.m. PST.

The champion weighed in Thursday at 223½ pounds. Bey weighed 233½.

"I'm going to knock David Bey out," said Holmes, who has 33 knockouts. "When it's all over you people will probably say it was a mismatch."

"It looks like he has a couple of fighters left in him," said the 28-year-old Bey, of Philadelphia, who has a 14-0 record, with 11 knockouts. He earned his title shot with a 12-round split decision here last Aug. 31 over Greg Page, who now is the World Boxing Association champion.

"But I'm not going to let him get past me. I consider myself the WBA heavyweight champion, right now," said Bey. The WBC champion is Pinklon Thomas.

"I feel like the heavyweight champion of the world," added Bey. "He's fighting me. I'm not fighting him."

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Four days of special services are scheduled in First United Methodist Church beginning Sunday, March 24. Dr. Robert E. Goodrich of Dallas will be the evangelist.

He will preach at the usual Sunday meetings, at 10:55 a.m. and 7 p.m. Weekday services will be at 6:30 a.m. each of the next three days, when breakfasts will be served by the Methodist Men, and again at 7 p.m.

Youth of the church will be sponsors for the Sunday evening service, after their snack supper at 5:30 p.m. and Youth Fellowship sessions at 6 p.m., with Dr. Goodrich as their guest.

The church invites the public to hear Dr. Goodrich, who is widely known as a preacher on the Protestant Hour radio broadcasts, on numerous television programs originating in Dallas, and at cowboy camp meetings in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona.

He was pastor of United Methodist Churches in El Paso, Houston and for 26 years at First UMC in Dallas, where he is now bishop-in residence after retiring from active service as bishop in the Missouri area.

Dinner set for Sunday

Members of the local Pro-Life Organization have scheduled a St. Patrick's Day Celebration of Life dinner from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. Sunday at St. Anthony's School cafeteria.

All proceeds from the event will fund pro-life activities.

Tickets may be purchased at the door and are priced at $4.50 for adults and $2.50 for children 6 to 12 years of age. Those under six will be admitted without charge.

The menu will consist of roast beef, potatoes, gravy, corn, salad, a variety of relishes, cobbler, tea and coffee.

Draper elects club nominee

Draper Extension Club met recently with Sherri Blackwell, president, calling the meeting to order.

Members answered roll call by giving a short cut to lawn care. Tonie Vaughn was elected the club nominee as delegate to the district meeting in Canyon on April 18.

Dennis Newton, county extension agent, represented the program on lawn and garden care.

Members present were Linda Kritinich, Wanice Jones, Carmen Rickman, Johnnie Messer, Vaughn and Blackwell. One guest was also present, Kathy Christie.

The next meeting will be April 3 at noon in the home of Carmen Rickman.

History of library presented to club

Lone Star Study Club met in the Heritage Room of the library recently with Ruby Stevenson, president, presiding.

The club collect was read as the opening exercise. The minutes of the last meeting were read, and plans were made for next year's programs.

Oneita Davidson introduced Dianne Pierson who gave the program on the history of the library and its many materials and uses to day. The first library in Hereford was a small room on Main Street in 1910. In 1929, it was moved to the courthouse in a small room. The current library was completed in 1974 and houses 60,000 books, records, magazines and audio-visual aids.

Winnie Wiseman and Hilda Havel served refreshments to Opal Bookout, Carman Angel, Evadne Cox, Margaret Ann Durham, Wilma Goettsch, Ursalee Jacobsen, Lucile Naylor, Verna Sowell, Grace Tinner, Zoe Williams, Ruth Womble, Mildred Elliott, Bibby Morgan, Ella Higgins, Stevenson and Davidson.

Newspaper Bible

NO, GOD HAS NOT FORSAKEN YOU

I ask then, has God rejected and deserted His people the Jews? Oh no, not at all. Remember that I myself am a Jew, a descendant of Abraham and a member of Benjamin's family.

No, God has not discarded His own people whom He chose from the very beginning. Do you remember what the Scriptures say about this? Elijah the prophet was complaining to God about the Jews, telling God how they had killed the prophets and torn down God's altars; Elijah claimed that he was the only one left in all the land who still loved God, and they were trying to kill him too.

And do you remember how God replied? God said, "No, you are not the only one left. I have seven thousand others besides you who still love Me and have not bowed down to idols!"

It is the same today. Not all the Jews have turned away from God; there are a few being saved as a result of God's kindness in choosing them. And if it is by God's kindness then it is not by their being good enough. For in that case the free gift would no longer be free—it isn't free when it is earned.

So this is the situation: most of the Jews have not found the favor of God they are looking for. A few have—the ones God has picked out—but the eyes of the others have been blinded. This is what our Scriptures refer to when they say that God has put them to sleep, shutting their eyes and ears so that they do not understand what we are talking about when we tell them of Christ. And so it is to this very day.

King David spoke of this same thing when he said, "Let their good food and other blessings trap them into thinking all is well between themselves and God. Let these good things boomerang on them and fall back upon their heads to justly crush them. Let their eyes be dim," he said, "so that they cannot see, and let them walk bent-backed forever with a heavy load." Romans 11:1-10

Clove cigarettes' fragrance pervades Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — If a country can boast a unique national fragrance, Indonesia's would be the aromatic smell of burning cloves. The smell is accompanied by a soft snap and crackle as smokers puff on kreteks — cigarettes laced with cloves.

Sweet and spicy cigarette smoke greets visitors shortly they clear immigration and customs; the sometimes-cloying smell seems to permeate the entire country.

Kreteks take their name from the faint crackling sound made when volatile clove oil is released from the spice within while the cigarette burns.

They are uniquely Indonesian, a booming domestic industry with glowing export prospects, at least until U.S. authorities recently raised questions about possible health hazards.

Dr. Frederick Schechter, a surgeon at the University of California at Irvine, said he compiled four cases in which teen-agers who smoked kreteks subsequently came down with severe pneumonia-like illnesses. Two of the victims died.

Dr. Sue Binder, a medical epidemiologist at the federal Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, said people can develop allergies to eugenol, the active ingredient in cloves. Eugenol inhibits the synthesis of certain substances in the human body called prostaglandins which affect blood pressure and the action of some hormones and muscles, she said.

One clove cigarette maker is being sued by a Huntington Beach, Calif., couple who contend that their 17-year-old son suffered breathing difficulties that led to his death after smoking several of the firm's Djarum brand kreteks on March 2, 1984.

A spokesman for Djarum declined comment pending the receipt of additional information from California.

The United States is not contemplating any ban on the import of kreteks, according to a U.S. Embassy spokesman. More than 100 million were exported to the United States last year, compared to 16 million in 1980 when the Census Bureau added a special category for them in its statistics.

No official Indonesian source could indicate whether, based on decades of use here, clove cigarettes offered a distinct health danger.

Health minister Sewardjono Surjaningrat regularly urges the public to give up smoking but makes no distinction between kreteks and all-tobacco cigarettes which are known to Indonesians as "whites." Exported kreteks carry a "smoking is hazardous to health" warning that does not appear on packs sold within Indonesia.

In strictly economic terms, kreteks seem to be an almost ideal industry in a heavily populated developing country. Tobacco and clove farmers prosper, tens of thousands of unskilled jobs are created and the exports earn foreign exchange.

Tobacco taxes earned the state $5.7 million last year compared to $5.4 million in 1983, according to Finance Ministry figures.

The Jakarta Post recently estimated that more than 7 million of Indonesia's 166 million people depend directly or indirectly on the cultivation of tobacco or cloves and the manufacture and distribution of cigarettes.

The clove cigarettes industry is deliberately kept labor intensive. The kreteks exported to the U.S. in the mid-1960s, kreteks were considered a low-brow habit, inferior to "whites" because the tobacco was adulterated by cheap cloves. Reverse snobbery, resulting from astute marketing and the high price of cloves, have moved kreteks up the consumer prestige scale.

Organize tax records

COLLEGE STATION — Is this going to be another year of "burning the midnight oil" because you can't find the records you need to complete your tax return? Then maybe it's time to change, says family economics expert Nancy L. Granovsky.

"Better organized records can mean tax savings," says the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service specialist. "Sometimes important deductions are simply overlooked in the mass of disorganized financial material."

Good records also make it possible to back up your claims in case you're audited by the Internal Revenue Service and can make the task of completing tax forms much easier, she says.

There's no set rule for how to organize financial records, the specialist says. Some people just dump all financial records into a box or grocery sack throughout the year. Then they sort the material in January or February. But the sorting can be time consuming and frustrating.

According to Granovsky, most tax advisors recommend organizing throughout the year. That way you don't have a huge task on your hands around income tax time.

One way simple form of recording-keeping is to review your canceled checks every month and mark in red those that are tax-deductible, says the specialist.

If you itemize deductions, you can take it a step further by filing canceled checks, receipts and statements into folders that correspond to the deduction categories on schedule A, such as medical expenses, interest expense and charitable deductions.

Some very well organized people, add up their tax information every month so it never becomes unmanageable, says Granovsky.

Honey is one of the Earth's purest foods since disease-causing bacteria cannot exist in it.

Ann Landers

Better off rid of each other

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You are probably fed up with this subject but I hope you will print just one more letter. Sorry I'm so late getting into the act but I've been stewing about it for weeks. It's that nosy broad who "accidentally" discovered her fiance's diary, and just happened to read it. Translated into honest English, it means she suspected the guy kept a diary, went over his apartment with a fine-tooth comb until she found it, then read every word from first page to last.

The snoop is shocked by his history of sexual activity. (He recorded at least 200 affairs.) You called him a tomcat and advised her to dump him.

I hope she takes your advice, for HIS sake. This guy needs her like he needs a case of emphysema. She has proven herself to be a low-down sneak. If he marries her, he will be stuck with a wife who will not only read his diary, but his letters. She will listen in on his phone calls and accuse him of having affairs with every woman in town.

I don't know if the guy's diary is fact or fiction, but I do know a diary is a personal journal. No one with a shred of decency would do what she did. He is better off rid of her. I learned this lesson the hard way. — EXPERIENCED IN SEATTLE

DEAR SEATTLE: Let's say they are better off rid of each other. A man who has 200 affairs may be difficult to keep an eye on. And after he learns that she has read his diary, he won't trust her much either.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print this. I know of no one but you who can help me now. The person who wrote praising the quality of her life after she was saved from a suicide attempt failed to mention a very important point. True, good times will return, Ann—but so will the bad. I know.

I have been hospitalized for psychiatric illness more times than I can count. There are dozens of scars on my body from self-inflicted injuries. I have kept myself going by remembering the good times and reassuring myself that they will return. But I also know that the good times will be followed by crashes. When I'm depressed I lie in bed with the curtains drawn, don't want to see anyone and just wish I could die.

I can't live like this anymore. I've had years of therapy and loads of medication but I am terrified of the future and running out of strength. Is there any hope for me?—NAMELESS IN MEMPHIS

DEAR NAMELESS: Yes, there is hope. I know nothing about the therapy you've had or the type of medication you've taken, but neither has produced satisfactory results. I implore you to try another therapist. Ask your doctor to put you in touch with a psychiatrist who will work with you on anti-depressant medication until the desired results are achieved. You don't have to go through life like this.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If a woman shaves her legs will the hair grow back faster and bristle-like?—SWEET 16 IN THE OZARKS

DEAR SWEET: Shaving will not make the hair grow back faster or bristle-like. It may seem stiffer when it is short, but the texture remains the same.

Parents, what should you do if your teenager is having sexual relations? Ann Landers' new booklet, "High School Sex and How to Deal With It—A Guide for Teens and Their Parents," give no-nonsense advice on how to handle this delicate situation. For each booklet, send 50 cents plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.
