Y. P. S. C. E. DISTRICT CONVENTION NEWS

Rain Falls Almost-Incessantly For the Two Days Convention Was In Session—Short On Attendance but Great Interest Manifested

Convening Friday night under circumstances that could be classed as nothing short of discouraging, the Annual Convention of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor for the Panhandle District was beyond a doubt as successful in the way of review of the past year's work and the planning of the work for the coming year as any preceding one.

The attendance was not what was expected and not what it should have been. There were societies over the district that just failed to send delegates while others were prevented from attending only on account of the weather.

Throughout the entire day Friday, it rained. The first session of the convention was set for eight o'clock and the few who had braved the weather and gathered at the Presbyterian church had serious doubts as to there being anyone or rather enough delegates out for the opening. But never-the-less preparations were made and when time came there was a pleasant surprise for those in charge for the attendance was far better than was expected or even hoped for, the condition of the weather considered.

The opening session was given over to the appointment of committees, a song and prayer service and a few short talks by some of the visiting ministers and delegates. The opening address and response were carried over until the following morning and the remainder of the evening was given over to a social time during which refreshments of chocolate and cakes were served.

Convening Saturday morning, again under the very disheartening circumstances of having to wade through rain which had fallen unceasingly all night long, all interested showed up at the church smiling and ready to dig in and work for the success of the convention and the ultimate accomplishing of the good ends to which the Christian Endeavor movement is leading them.

After the Quiet Hour services, which were led by Rev. Baker of the Presbyterian church, the welcome address was delivered by Rev. Faris of the Christian church and Rev. Hurlbut of Friona responded. The State President of the Society, Hon. Patrick Henry, arrived on the morning train and immediately upon his arrival at headquarters, District Superintendent Watkins reviewed the work done over the district during the past year and the delegates made the reports for their societies. Next came the State President's Annual Message and all who heard it were not only made to realize the importance of this work undertaken by the young people of the State, the United States and in fact throughout the world, but they were brought to the understanding that the work is not taken up as merely something to entertain or some place to spend an hour or several hours each week, but has been studied out and planned by some of the foremost, most consecrated and deep thinking Christian men and women, old and young, in the nation not only of this day but cobwebbed yesterdays ago. A work that has for its ultimate accomplishment the results longed for and worked for and for which the Christ gave his life on Calvary to bring about. Yes, the State President's address convinced his hearers that the Christian Endeavor movement is at its height in that it is one of the most potent and far reaching means to an end, that end being the saving of souls, of the church today, and further than this, Patrick Henry fully convinced those who heard him that in their choice of a leader for this work, the young people of the Lone Star state had chosen wisely when they selected him.

Another feature of the morning session, and one that also dispelled the gloom, was the address by Rev. Thompson, of Amarillo. Taking for his text "There is Nothing New Under the Sun," Rev. Thompson pointed out to the young people that the very problems which they are called upon to solve today were the very same problems of the days when the world was young. Rev. Thompson's address was grand and it meant far more than he could possibly have hoped in that it was encouragement to young people to know personally and to hear a man who has had such experiences in his Christian life and who can impart these experiences and truths to his hearers.

At the Saturday afternoon session Rev. Baker led in the season of devotion, taking the place of Rev. Farmer. Rev. Hurlbut of Friona delivered an address on "Christian Service" that was appreciated, every word of it, by the delegates and visitors of the convention. Rev. Hurlbut is so well known to the people over the district as to make anything we could possibly say concerning his Christian life and his work in behalf of the Endeavor movement seem unnecessary. It is enough to say that the Endeavorers throughout the Panhandle district love not only the Rev. Hurlbut but also his estimable wife, the Rev. Mrs. Hurlbut.

Saturday evening another treat was in store for all in the address by Rev. G. A. Faris, of Hereford. It seems superfluous for us to mention that, to the people of this community where this good man lives as well as to thousands all over the state of Texas, his every day life and his every action bespeaks him one of Christianity's squarest men. In this as in his many talks to the convention, Rev. Faris made it clear that there was certainly something far better in store for all who had a part in the Christian Endeavor work than the mere satisfaction of hearing fellow men say well done.

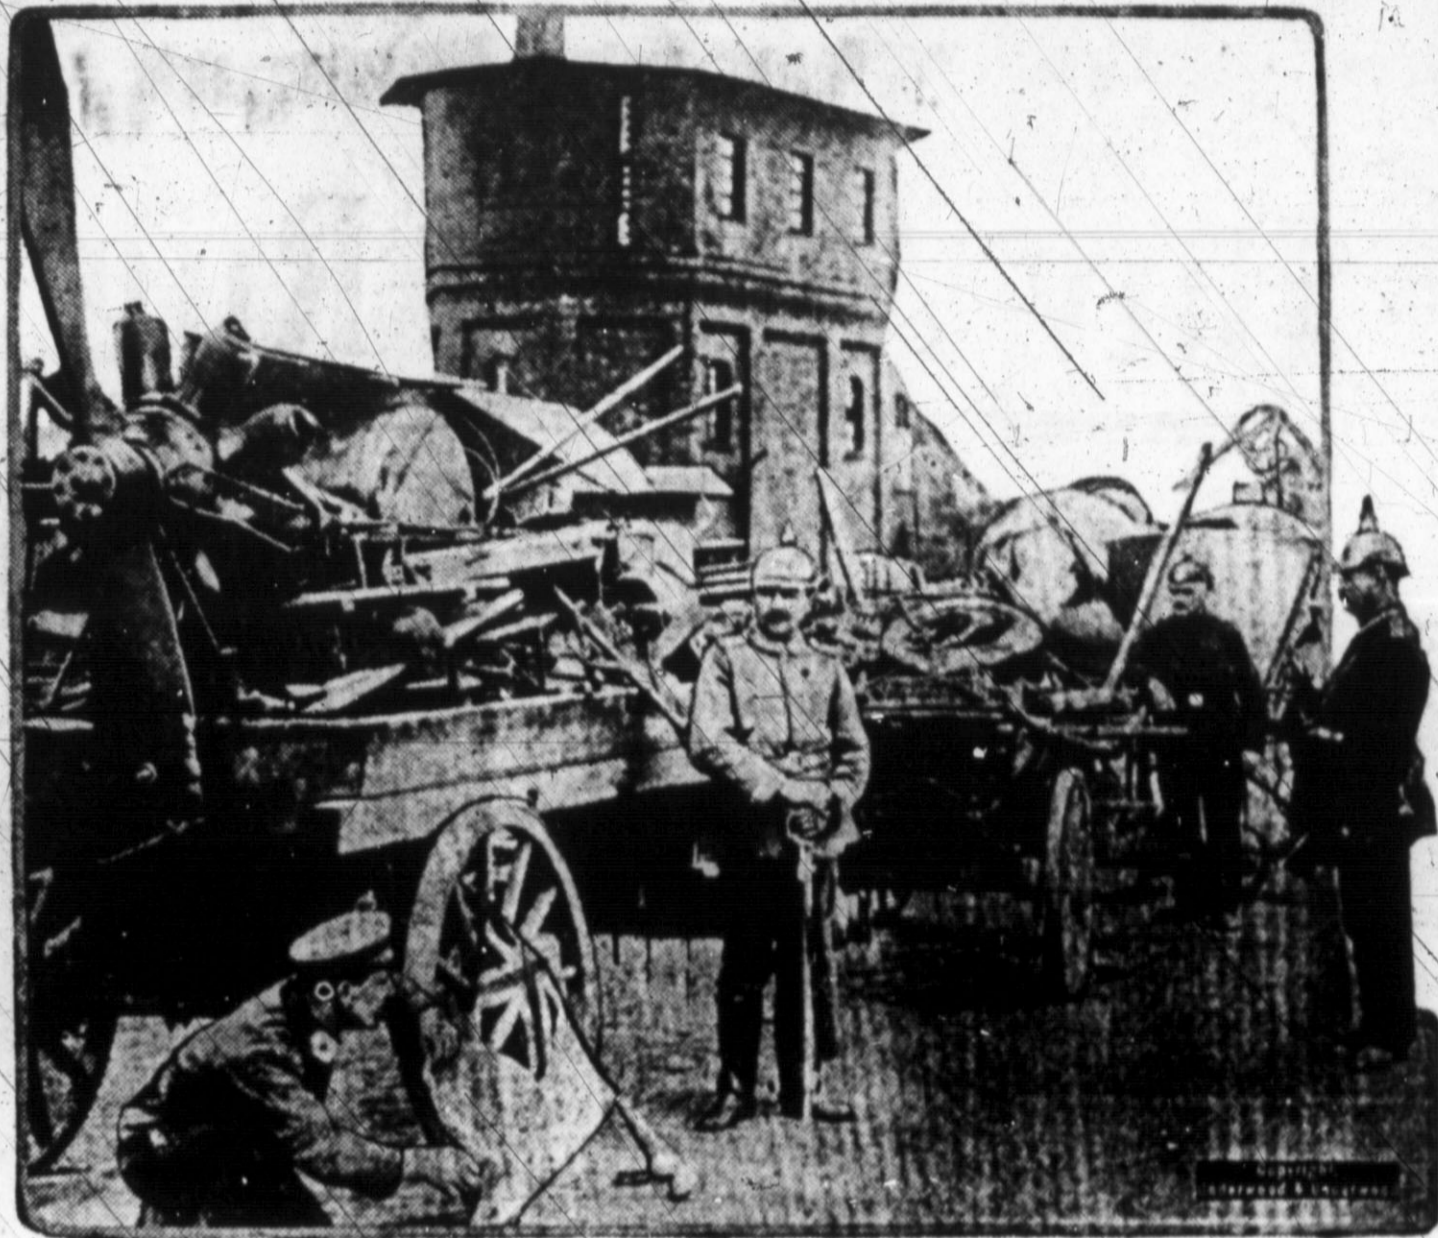

A number of short addresses were made by some of the ministers present at this session after which the convention adjourned until Sunday afternoon.

The Sunday afternoon session was given over to the Juniors, with small part of the time used for study in "Efficiency" led by Henry.

The Misses Nelia Carter and Lu Wood have charge of the Societies of Hereford and program rendered by the Juniors Sunday afternoon was the one enjoyed by all fortunate to be present and too many cannot be given Miss Wood for the very superintendency and training have given these little flowers the understanding that the work is not taken up as merely something to entertain or some place to spend an hour or several hours each week, but has been studied out and planned by some of the foremost, most consecrated and deep thinking Christian men and women, old and young, in the nation not only of this day but cobwebbed yesterdays ago. A work that has for its ultimate accomplishment the results longed for and worked for and for which the Christ gave his life on Calvary to bring about. Yes, the State President's address convinced his hearers that the Christian Endeavor movement is at its height in that it is one of the most potent and far help was also appreciated when it came time to meet the trains, even the midnight train, in a rain that simply fell in torrents.

Rev. Sharp of Tulia, was also an interested and interesting visitor and his short talks helped along way to put the workers in a spirit to enjoy the Convention despite the wet weather. Hope he attends the next convention.

District Superintendent Watkins had charge of the work and although he is still in his teens, he gives promise of being one of the most earnest and sincere workers in the Endeavor work.

This article makes no pretense whatever at being a complete report of the convention. But we do say it was just a brief outline of some of the numbers of the three day's session that will live as long as life shall last, as bright gems in our memory book of instruction on how to follow the command of Him who tells us to "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

County Court Adjourns.

Judge Wright adjourned the term of county court on last Friday. Besides the regular routine business of the term there was but one jury trial, that in which D. R. Cass & Son were plaintiffs and J. H. Williams was the defendant. A verdict was returned for the plaintiffs. This is the last term of county court over which Judge Wright will preside. During the four years which Judge Wright has held the office he has at all times been attentive to the very best interests of the people of the entire county and has handled such matters as came up for his attention with a spirit of being absolutely on the square with one and all. Upon his taking charge of the office there were seventy cases on the docket and when the office is turned over to his successor there will be just ten untried cases on record.

Back from California.

A. H. Elliston has returned from California quite "Full" of a lot of talk and information about that part of the country around and near Los Angeles. He is telling all sorts of tales about the big fruit and nuts and was "full of prunes" from the orchard of a former Hereford citizen who has been wintering in that state for several years. As evidence of his sincerity, he brought back a lot of these good things which may be seen on display in the window at the Brand office. While in that state and also in Arizona, he attended a Sariners Conclave and reports a big time. He also sold some of the desert folks two or three irrigable farms near Hereford some of them buying without coming here to see the land.

Damage Telephone Cable.

Manager R. W. Lovelace of the Southwestern Telephone and Telegraph Company at this place, was "on his ear" Monday. He said he and his trouble men had spent the most of two days in an attempt to find a leak in one of their cables. Mr. Lovelace says much damage of this nature is caused by the boys who throw and hit the cables with rocks and the like of that. This practice is undoubtedly indulged in thoughtlessly by the youngsters, who have no intention or thought of doing damage and that their attention has been called to the matter we believe they will find another and a more convenient target.

To Study Rural Schools.

With a view of becoming better acquainted with and improving the rural schools in this county, a commission of two persons from the Canyon Normal will arrive in Hereford, November the ninth, and will visit the schools of Deaf Smith county. We understand that this problem is to be made a feature of the future work at the Normal. And it is to the credit of that big school that this will be their aim, for, while we all realize the rural school problem is just one of the very many with which they have to deal, it is also the one that is too often given a "cellar position" in the minds of the authorities of most of our Normal Schools—the very institutions which are more directly connected with the matter of rural education.

This is one of the little children of Belgium orphaned by the war. Her father dead, her home in Louvain burned and her mother and sisters scattered, all that remains to her is her hairless, battered doll. It is for the half million children of Europe in much the same plight that plans are being carried forward in America to send Christmas ships loaded with gifts.

What They are Fighting For.

Saturday Evening Post: They all say they are fighting for existence; but, with the possible exception of Belgium, none of them are. Of all big nations Austria-Hungary is least strongly bound together by racial ties. With its various peoples and bitter racial jealousies, it is only a sort of political convenience, which has survived because it was finally more convenient than any other practicable arrangement. It is badly governed and has been defeated in three modern wars; yet it stands today very much as it stood before the French Revolution.

To suppose that Great Britain, France or Germany will cease to exist as Nations, however the fortunes of battle go, is absurd. It is within the bounds of possibility that a triumphant German, having torpedoed the British navy, might annex Belgium. A victorious Russia might carve some slav territory from the Dual Monarchy. A victorious France would get back Alsace and Lorraine. But where there is real Nationality among the Powers that launched the war there will be a real Nation when war is over.

Much more strangely, they say they are fighting for civilization. Each pointing to the other, cries: "The Hun is at the gate!" If the Hun were within the gate, he would be doing substantially what these defenders of civilization do. The Slav who serves as Germany's bogey, would do no worse to civilization than Germany is doing.

The old civilization was not destroyed by Huns. It decayed. European civilization's danger if not from any horde of invading barbarians, but from a Europe turned barbarous. No war ever had less valid excuse.

Surprise Birthday Dinner.

Neglect, or some sort of an oversight on the part of this paper as well as those concerned caused us to fail to mention the birthday dinner at the A. J. Fox home on last Wednesday evening, in honor of Mr. A. J. Fox and Mr. H. H. Bordman. Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Bordman prepared the dinner and invited about a dozen of the friends of their husbands to partake. One of the guests tells us that the most surprised person of the two gentlemen in whose honor the dinner was given was Mr. Bordman. It seems that Wednesday was Mr. Fox's birthday and Thursday was Mr. Bordman's. The wives of the gentlemen arranged for Mr. Bordman to keep Mr. Fox at the store until dinner time and then take him home. Upon arriving at the Fox home, in order not to break a life long Southern precedent, Mr. Fox very politely asked his friend into supper. Being, as he supposed "in on the joke" Mr. Bordman was perfectly delighted to accept. It was so we learn a "plum good" one on the host to meet the many friends gathered there to help him celebrate but the surprise of the evening came when Rev. Baker arose and announced that they had gathered there, not to celebrate the birthday of Mr. Fox alone, but that of his friend, Mr. Bordman, also. The gentlemen present pronounce the dinner and the pleasant time spent together as being the best ever and have no objections whatever to the aforesaid fellows having a birthday dinner every once in a while.

Sick Headache.

Sick headache is nearly always caused by disorders of the stomach. Correct them and the periodic attacks of sick headache will disappear. Mrs. John Bishop of Roseville, Ohio, writes: "About a year ago I was troubled with indigestion and had sick headache that lasted for two or three days at a time. I doctored and tried a number of remedies but nothing helped me until during one of those sick spells a friend advised me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. This medicine relieved me in a short time." The Value of a Shave.

A shave is a privilege to be enjoyed by every man. It puts 15 cents into the pocket of the barber, and lends a dollar's worth of personal appearance to the man who has received the shave. A shave is temporary. Never has one been seen that was permanent.

A shave stimulates the complexion and uncovers long lost smiles. Statistics would show that millions upon millions of smiles have been squandered in the depth of a bushy beard. Smiling under a hirsute growth is hiding the light of your heart under a half bushel—of whiskers.

The face unfortunately is arranged in such a way that the smile wrinkles run east and west across the lower portion while the frown wrinkles are horizontal furrows across that section of the face between the eyebrows and the timberline of the hair, which is the most conspicuous part of the countenance.

A man may feel more like a Christian if he shaves regularly. Look at the train robbers and stage villains. You never see one that does not need a barber's attention.

A man who had been out on the ruffles of civilization for several weeks arose from a barber's chair with a clean shave and remarked with a wide open smile: "Now I know I did not steal that horse. But I felt exactly like I had before I got the shave."

On the other hand beards may be used as chest protectors or to cover some facial defect or an identity; but they are mighty in the way when the wearer engages in a fight with home folk or an enemy.

Whiskers have been with us ever since Noah took every other sort of an animal into the ark except a barber; but in these times of all kinds of machinery, with its sundry fly-wheels and cogs and belts, it is imprudent to wear whiskers very far away from home.—George Bingham, in Judge.

Express Rates Reduction.

Drastic and sweeping reductions in express rates for the entire United States, recently ordered by the Interstate Commerce became effective October 16. Also effective at once the express companies are ordered to revise business methods. The later order the commission declares is designed to "safeguard the public." It simplifies the claim of shippers when disputes arise and disposes of the red tape methods.

Rate reduction-range all the way from 10 to 60 per cent, food-stuffs drawing the principle reduction.

The new rates are to be "experimental," for two years the commission announced. Unless it is shown that the express companies suffer too great a loss of revenue the rates will eventually become permanent. The Commission ruled that the express companies can effectively compete with the parcel government parcel post and with sufficient efforts and reasonable rates can offset any losses.

Gay Life in the City.

It's about time to put the kibosh on all this talk about keeping the boys on the farm. Why should a boy or young man want to stay on a farm when he can go to the city, and, after tramping through the heat, or cold, or rain, or snow for five or six weeks, land a fine, fat, easy, soft soap snap of a job as a motorman? Then all he will have to do will be to get about five g. m. winter and summer, swallow a boarding-house breakfast that a hog on his father's farm would spurn, dash merrily to the car barn, take the abuse of a slave-driving car-starter, and go gaily to work. Ah, what pleasure to stand all day in a vestibule that is perfumed with the smells of the unwashed bodies of the just over immigrant laborers, on their way to work in a sewer! Think of the fragrance of all grades of tobacco in cigarettes in cigars and in pipes of many degrees of strength! It is simply great to breathe this spicy air all day. In the meanwhile one hears the sweet compliments of the ladies and gentlemen who do not happen to think of signalling when they want to get off, but who rightfully feel that the motorman should have known, if he was not such a fat-headed loby, and who do not hesitate to tell him so. Oh yes, its great. Every farmer boy ought to leave home at once and dash to the city. Think of the wages he'll get! Why at the end of a month, after paying for board, room, laundry, clothes and uniform, union dues and assessments, he'll have almost enough left to go to a movie show. But he probably won't go, because he'll be so all-in and so full of the poisonous reek that he inhaled all day, that he will tumble into bed to forget it until the alarm clock calls him to begin all over again.

A little gas a little oil, a little wire they call a coil, a piece of tin, a twelve-foot board nailed together makes a Ford.

Aboard the Dallas Special

Enroute Special to Dallas State Fair, Oct. 34.—Accidents are said to be always double, likely because there are always two when the stork brings twins. In our efforts to leave home for this trip, the cab from the leading stable would not venture out because their horses were not used to getting wet with rain water. That was the first accident. The second happened immediately after when old Bob was hitched up, while we waded ankle deep in the flooded lot, and he was driven to the front gate and left only carelessly tethered. On returning with our suit case, we found horse and buggy had disappeared. A search failed to locate him, but thanks to the muddy road, his tracks showed he had headed for town. Grabbing our baggage, we "set sail" after the runaway, no where to be seen, out when a city block had been hydroplaned, we found the old miscreant had been attracted around the corner by Lucas field ricks. It was then 7 o'clock and raining, and nearly a mile to the station. Taking a passenger in the person of G. W. Lucas, we made post haste thru a small sized flood. It had been raining.

Post Card No. 2—Finally at the depot. Ticket and accident policy purchased. Everybody should buy an accident ticket, especially when they go on excursions and eat at Fred Harvey's. But the third accident that came "might nigh" happening was right at the depot, when we remembered that our (editorial pronoun) wife had put our new hat in the suit case with our tooth brush and lunch, some clean socks and collars. We tried to open said suit case and it refused to budge. We had worn our oldest hat, on account of the wet appearance of the weather, and now, there we were. After prying at the locks with soda pop bottle opener and a shoe hook, the congenial first trick man at the station discovered the thing wasn't locked at all. We loaned him our old hat till we should return to Hereford. It was still raining.

Post Card No. 3—Nothing of interest run over while training to Canyon. We passed Dawn before Edwards had cranked up his auto or bolted down his breakfast. His auto was still on the front porch of the Morning Twilight Hotel and we supposed his breakfast was on the table. Mrs. Edwards also has two other boarders. We soon have in sight of Canyon and C. Smith, who holds down a job there under Republican administration. Off at Canyon and still raining. We found a lot of Hereford folks had entrained on this special Santa Fe trip. There was Newell, the head man at Cash Callens' store, who was going to Dallas to lay in a "car load" of goods, and next-to-be-County-Judge Jim Hughes, who said he was going along to help Orville see the Fair. And there was Ben Hubbert, the stoic, who talks but little and don't drink tea or coffee (he told us so) but who sells both at his silver moon place of eats. As soon as Jim got out of sight of the Hereford city marshal he wanted to assert himself and so he "bucked" the slot machine in the Canyon depot, risking a copper, and winning on the first punch, a half "chaw of wax." Three hours and 13 minutes at Canyon. All the others, except ourselves, walked down town and back thru the rain to ask why the town-authorities burned the electric light on top of the court house flag pole in the broad open day time. They all came back wet on the east side. Ben didn't go either; he stayed and was entertained with the life-story of a Canyonite told by himself. He had been in a train wreck once, got $500 in money and gave half of it to a science doctor healer, and still enjoys a lame back and also the story as told by himself. We left Canyon on suspicion and it was still raining.

Post Card No. 4—We had a reservation for lower on the tourist and with the aid of the chief clerk of the general passenger department of Amarillo, who happened to be on the same Pullman tried to locate us, but the tan colored porter was non-plused when he found that we had been "docked" in No. 1, the porter's special reserve. When the Pullman conductor saw the predicament, he kindly transferred us to No. 16, and the porter replaced our suit case and thus relieved him of some embarrassment. Newell and Hughes, being a little puffed up over this trip, took a Standard. They may ride the smokers on their return. Nothing that would attract much attention occurred from Canyon to Lubbock. A few people got on at Happy, Tulia, Plainview and other flag stations. The Syndicate Lake at Plainview was full, as a result of the rain and likely also of the supreme court decision. At all odds, it was very wet in that town, where there's "nothing shallow but the water" and it was still raining. Thirteen passengers got on the Special here, and these included a Plainview past-candidate for the legislature. His friends call him "Judge," likely because he doesn't wear whiskers. He was our opponent during our bi-annual attack of officitis, and the porter made his "pallet" right across the aisle from us, but nothing serious has happened so far. It is evident he has recovered from his vociferousness as he was wont to vociferize during the campaign. Mayhaps the bewhiskered populist of Hale took some wind of his sails too.

Post Card No. 5—It was a long wet drive from Plainview to Slaton, where Fred Harvey fed the cattle. We passed Hale Center, where Joe Ferguson, the millionaire brother of will-be-governor Jim Ferguson, lives and resides. It was still raining some and the town lots between there and back to Plainview, which Plainview boosters have laid off, were all covered with water. Slipping by Center of Hale county, we soon hydroplaned by Abernathy into Lubbock. This is the town that "Made Sudan Grass Famous" and sells the seed at a dollar per pound, "sight and unseen." Lubbock, we remember, is the town that was a "railroad center" on the maps before the Santa Fe located Slaton. One thing sure, the first Egyptian monument seen on this trip was at Lubbock—the beautiful white depot. It don't look natural with its low brow and the absence of a red or green tile roof. Perhaps the Santa Fe erected this monument to Lubbock's Egyptian sleepiness to the division and Harvey House location. But the Lubbock bunch don't think much of their fine depot or more of them would have been down "to see the train pass." Perhaps they had not counted on the dike "a-busting" and were not supplied with motor boats, as it would have required a lot of them to get to the depot in such crowds as the Hereford folks turn out. It was still raining. We saw the place where the ancient order of Sudan Grass Growers and Dish Rag Raisers originated—four miles from Lubbock on the left side.

Post Card No. 6.—Slaton was named after a man by that cognomen and on account of his having a fanch to alleviate the feelings of Lubbock and because there were four sections of land located at that point on which to plat a town. When the train got there, everybody got off and because the train porter went thru and called out—"35 minutes for dinner at the Harvey." It was then bordering on 4 o'clock and all of us did not have a lunch of fried chicken and cut-off corn. We ventured out and up to the counter and inquired of the nurse in the white apron if we were compelled to eat the whole menu, written in broken English, or could we order just what suited our taste and pocketbook. There were a whole picnic of folks eating just as if the cost ticket attached to their dinners hadn't scared their appetites out of them. We all enjoyed the lunch, the beautiful building and its furnishings which go with each meal. We bought 20 cents worth and borrowed a toothpick at the newsstand. The big, yellow pumpkins as center pieces on the service tables and the bald headed waiter attracted our attention—and the coffee was good, too. It was still raining and one of the steam pipes to the day coach had also sprung a leak. The Harvey House as well as the Santa Fe Reading Room is an imposing structure of the regular Santa Fe architecture and would look well if they had a town for a background. Why is Slaton anyhow?

Post Card No. 7.—We forgot to mention that Lubbock is the town at the end of the Grip Cut-off, built especially for the "dry farmers" of the South Plains, to ship out their natural grain products and especially to ship in their grain products and also not de-natured. And Slaton is likewise at the end and beginning of a road—the Lamesa branch, built especially for Slaton. After leaving here we encountered more water, for it was still raining. It was an uneventful trip till we approached the "Cap Rock," and began to "slide off" the Plains. We really expected to "toboggan" down the 4 or 5 hundred feet like the Comey Island "shoot the shoots," but instead the road led along thru deep cuts and across small canyons. This section presents some real scenery in miniature—the painted soft rocks in gray and red, the rough and worn dunes, the table tops and castle-like elevations. We saw the "Rocks of Gibraltar," the "Pyramids of Pharaoh," the "Cathedral Spires," the "Royal Gorge," the "Castle of the Moors," and dozen other celebrities. A few miles of such scenery brought us and the 249 others on the "Special" in full view of the most famous town in Texas and the Southwest—Post City. This town is on the Lower Plains and was the place where the late multi-millionaire originated Post Toasties and built a cotton mill to supply hotels that were "short" on bed sheets and that were using "short" bed sheets. This is said to be the cleanest town in Texas and Dr. Garrick has never visited it either. The administration building of the Post town and half million acres of land surrounding it is the most noticeable thing in town other than the cotton mill. It was in operation. It is in this country that the Texas rivers get their supply of "red" when the folks "down in the sticks" talk of a "Red Rise." It was still raining and the water had stirred up the red dirt and it had added its muddy "red" to the rushing waters. This country looks like the High Plains would look if it should remove its covering of fat flesh and pink skin and expose the bones of the skeleton. Geologically this section is known as the "denuded plains," nature having removed by erosion the upper and cover strata of soil.

All along the route, folks of all kinds would get on the train. One boy with a cowboy swagger came into Tourist No. A at Post City and asked where the "ramrod of this shebang could be found." He soon located the timid little gentleman with brass buttons on his coat and bargained for an upper in No. 13, and wanted to know if a "chuck wagon" was hooked up to this stock train. When told that he would be fed at the Harvey House at Sweetwater, the next stop, he seemed to be contented. Darkness had overtaken us and the train pulled slowly thru the gloom and mist, arriving at last at the first town on the T. & P. with Sweetwater.

GERMAN OFFICERS DIE IN WRECK OF AUTO

Pinched beneath the wreckage of this automobile were the bodies of a German captain and lieutenant, who were bearing dispatches to the commanding officer of the army of the Marne. When the car came to the bridge at Triport, which the allies had destroyed, it was going so fast the officers could not save themselves.

H. C. DOLCATER

The Vampire
(By Felicia Blake, after Kipling)

A fool there was and she lowered her pride
(Even as you and I!)

To a bunch of conceit in masculine hide—
We saw the faults that could not be denied,
But the fool saw only his manly side
(Even as you and I!)

Oh, the love she laid on her own heart's grave
With the care of her head and hand,
Belongs to the man who did not know
(And now she knows that he never could know)

And did not understand.
A fool there was and the best she gave
(Even as you and I!)

Of noble thoughts, of gay and grave
(And all were accepted as due to the knave),
But the fool would never her folly save
(Even as you and I!)

Oh, the stabs she hid, which the Lord forbid
Had never been really planned,
She took from the man who didn't know why
(And now she knows he never knew why)

And did not understand.
The fool was loved while the game was new
(Even as you and I!)

And when it was played she took her cue,
(Plodding along as most of us do)
Trying to keep his faults from view
(Even as you and I!)

And it isn't the ache of the heart, or its break,
That stings like a white hot brand—
It's the learning to know that she raised a god
And bent her head to kiss the rod,
For the one who could not understand.

Another Potato Record
One of our exchanges was boasting last week of a potato record made by a subscriber in which two sweet potatoes, dug from one hill, weighed 16 pounds. The Enterprise told about one potato brought in by Henry Sharp last week that weighed 13 pounds, within 3 pounds of our exchange's two potatoes.

Now comes a still better record. Wednesday Rev. and Mrs. B. T. Sharp came to town and brought us a couple of yams that weighed 23 pounds. "We have finished digging our crop," said Bro. Sharp, "and in this last lot we dug seven that weighed 70 pounds."

How is that for a potato record?—Tulia Enterprise.

Fruits of Democracy

Today the fruits of President Wilson's administration, not yet a year and six months old, are piled high before us. We are warned that the passage of the tariff act, its first conspicuous achievement, would flood American markets with foreign goods, but the import statistics of the first nine months of its operation show that the normal annual increase of our import trade has not been equaled under the new tariff. We are about to put into operation a banking law acclaimed by the financial wisdom of this country and Europe. Our rational good faith has been vindicated in the eyes of all the great carrying nations of the world by the repeal of the Canal toll exemption act. Our relation with South America has been brought to the best condition they have presented since the Mexican War. And now with all Europe ablaze with war the United States, thanks to Woodrow Wilson's good sense, wide sympathies, political tact, and colossal indifference to detraction and criticism when serving his nation as God has given wisdom to serve, is at peace with all mankind and ready to serve the world with trade and treasure, with the implements of work, as only a mighty nation at peace can serve a world broken and distracted and panic-stricken by war.

Some men have to wait until after they are dead before the quality of their public service appears. To Woodrow Wilson's countrymen has been given the vision of the value of his work while he is yet alive. We cannot heal the grief which is his portion, but, in view of the harvest of his labor which is before us, the least that we can say is "Well done." We can at least join our wishes and our prayers that the sense of work faithfully wrought may nerve his hand and brain for the tasks which still confront him, and that, with all the weight of his personal griefs, something of the deep joy of the reaper among the garnered sheaves may be his in these autumn days.—St. Louis Republic.

We read in the Brand that Hereford dry farmers are scoring a success this year in raising feed stuff. Also that our friend and former townsman, J. H. Copeland, was one of the first to bring in a fine exhibit. If a man lives in the Clarendon country long enough to become "inoculated," he'll be a winner ever afterward, no matter where you put him.—Clarendon News.

Mrs. Paddock's birthday, it being a complete surprise to them. At the noon hour an elegant dinner was served by the guests, in which all seemed to do justice to the occasion. The afternoon hours were spent in conversation and all present seemed to be in a happy mood. The going home hour came all too soon, when all expressed themselves as having a most enjoyable time and wishing for Mrs. Paddock many happy returns of the day. Those present were: Mesdames Chvington, Nutter, Cobb, Saunders, Patton, James Robinson, Brown and daughter, Miss Vern, Mc Nerney, Wolfe, Williams, Bridges and Miss Elsie Smith. The ladies from town that were present were Mesdames Gilliland, Womack, Lovelace, Wear, John Robinson, also Mr. Ward Andrews. The most conspicuous of the guests were Master Thomas and James Robinson, Ruth and Ralph Wolfe, Alice and Ada Lay Womack and baby Saunders (perhaps his name is Bob). The most daring feat was pulled off on the home run when one of the number swiped the prettiest and most expensive wrap she saw and made good her escape, but later was detected and had to return the missing property. Rumor has it she failed to attend the Dallas fair as she intended. Perhaps it was because she failed to secure the wrap to wear. A Guest.

Not Always to Blame.
 It has not been a long time ago when the high cost of living was discussed that the farmer got the cussing for it. Recently before the farmers had a chance at it and the warehouses, and storages, etc. were full with all sorts of food stuffs the prices went up like a sky rocket. Investigation showed that speculators were the guilty ones. They advanced prices without good reasons. Haven't heard any complaints about farmers raising prices lately. The speculators are hot at him though, because he does not run all of his wheat to market and give them a chance to corner and squeeze the public.—The Farmer's Guide.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TEACHER LECTURES

Virgil O. Strickler, Member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass.

Monday night at the court house, the lecture on Christian Science drew a good house, tho the condition of the streets, being muddy, kept a number away. At the appointed time, Hon. C. D. Wright, county judge of Deaf Smith county, arose and introduced the speaker, Mr. Virgil O. Strickler, C. S., member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church of Christian Science. Judge Wright said:

Ladies and Gentlemen: We are here, as you know, to learn about Christian Science. A little boy once entered a grocery store and looked about until a clerk said, "What is it, little man? Do you want to buy some candy?" The little boy said wistfully, "Yes, I want to buy candy, but I've got to buy soap." How often do we come with a longing for candy—and we must take soap. It will not be that way this evening. We are promised a feast of intellectual sugar plums, the sweets of spiritual truths and Christ's teachings.

Many uninformed people think that Christian Science is against God and the Bible. Its very name contradicts this false accusation. Others think that Christian Science followers are only some kind of an association formed for the sole purpose of eliminating the medical fraternity, and has nothing to do with spiritual development. This accusation is as unfounded as the first, for no one can study this science with an open mind and not feel its spiritual uplift. I say with an "open mind," because I realize that man could shut his mind to all beauty. The infidel can find, even in the Bible, no soul-food because his prejudice has blinded him before he ever read the Bible; and so the infidel can find in that good book only the proofs of his unbelief. The infidel takes from the Bible his bar of soap. The Christian finds in the same book mighty truth that are as "honey comb sweet to the soul." I hope that there are none here tonight who harbor a soap flavored prejudice against Christian Science, so strong that the honey comb of truth cannot sweeten their knowledge.

It has been my experience and observation that the harshest and most unreasonable criticisms passed on a subject are generally by those who know the least about it. Many of us are prone to pass our judgment after hearing only one side of a question. Now, is this right? Is it fair? Is it just to ourselves? What would you think of a judge, who, after hearing the evidence of the prosecution, would refuse to listen to the defense; and would render his verdict from that one side of the case? We, here in Hereford, have often heard the negative side of the Christian Science question. Now, won't one and all give the affirmative a fair and impartial hearing, that you may be in position to form a correct opinion of what Christian Science is?

A year ago, I knew nothing about the teachings of Christian Science. Since then I have read "Science and Health." It teaches us to study the Bible with a new understanding, "to hold hatred in abeyance with kindness, to conquer lust with chastity, revenge with charity, and to overcome deceit with honesty."

He who will address you this evening is an advocate of these ideas. He is a deep student of Christian Science, which is synonymous with the Christ principles. You are thus here to learn what Christianity means from a scientific stand-point. This man is devoting his life to a cause that is trying to bring the yearning, seeking, restless masses back to an understanding of the simple teachings of the gentle Nazarene. Like all real Scientists, he is a soldier for good against unbelief, following Christ's command to preach the gospel and trying to make you hear anew the equally imperative command "to heal the sick." Such a man is a good man. I appreciate the honor I have in introducing to you this Scientific Christian, Virgil O. Strickler.

The speaker, after a few preliminary remarks, went at once into his subject, delivering a two hour lecture upon its various phases. It would be beyond the usual scope of a weekly paper to give the lecture in its entirety, but the following abbreviated form of his lecture is given. He said in part:

It is undeniable that Christian Science has healed many sick people and has brought about the regeneration of many who were the victims of sin. Among its membership are those who have been healed of intemperance, of so-called chronic and organic diseases, as well as of maladies that were acute or functional. It has healed others of sorrow, fear, unhappiness and similar diseased mental conditions that often cause more suffering and distress than physical disorders.

In every case of Christian Science healing, whether the disease was chronic or acute, physical or mental, the cure was brought about without the use of hypnotism, mental suggestion, drugs or any material means, and entirely through the application of the spiritual and metaphysical teachings of Christian Science.

The healing of the sick, however, is not the primary purpose of Christian Science. According to the teachings of this Science all sickness and disease result from error and false belief, which are summarized as sin, and when the error of belief is destroyed by the truth which Christian Science imparts, the disease disappears. Christian Science, therefore, teaches that the cause of all disease and sin is mental, and not physical, and that both sin and disease may be cured by one and the same metaphysical process, namely, by the substitution of spiritual truth in place of error and false belief in the human consciousness.

It is recorded in the 8th Chapter of the Gospel of John that upon one occasion Jesus turned to a group of his followers, who were standing near, and said to them, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." In all of the Bible there is no statement of greater importance to mankind than this utterance of the Master. It prescribes the remedy for every human ill. Knowledge of a thing must come through the mental and not through the physical, hence, according to the words of Jesus, mankind will be delivered from sin, disease and death not by doctoring the physical, but by filling the mental with truth.

Christian Science shows that it is the effect produced by Truth operating in the human mentality, destroying superstition, false and vicious beliefs that must and will some day emancipate mankind from bondage to sin, disease and death.

ULTIMATE TRUTH.
There must be ultimate truth somewhere, and when it is apprehended by the human mind it will emancipate those who apprehend it from bondage to evil. Christian Science asserts that ultimate truth concerning God and man and their relationship is revealed by the Scriptures, and may be gained by every person when the Scriptures are rightly interpreted.

MRS. EDDY.
Some day all mankind will recognize the immeasurable service that Mrs. Eddy has rendered to humanity by her discovery of Christian Science and the establishment of the Christian Science movement. Through her teaching she has elevated religious understanding from a theoretical to a practical basis. She has taught the world that it is the mission of religion to heal people of sickness, sorrow, unhappiness and fear, as well as to destroy sin, and has so clearly defined the process by means of which these results may be accomplished as to make it possible for every one to prove it for himself and thereby to heal himself and others. Christian Science is applied Christianity just as truly as engineering is applied mathematics. There is no mystery about it, and when one does his work correctly, according to its rule, healing and regeneration must follow.

In the Bible (John xx:17) we read that Jesus said to Mary, "Go to my brethren, and say unto them, I ascend unto my Father, and your Father; and to my God and your God." Also in 1 John, iii:2, "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be; but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is." St. Paul also wrote (Romans 8:16-17), "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children then heirs; heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ."

Christian Science demonstrates the truth of these inspired statements. It makes available as a present right and possibility man's inheritance as the son and heir of God by showing that the real man created by God is spiritual and not material; that his life, continuity, intelligence and harmony are in spirit and not in matter; that all of his qualities and attributes are derived from Spirit, and that every function of the real man is governed by the divine Mind. Man, therefore, expresses the divine nature, and hence he is the image of God, and as such is perfect and immortal. The material man is not the likeness of God, for matter cannot be the image of Spirit. He is the false concept of man, and the sin, disease and death involved in this false concept will disappear as false mortal beliefs are dissolved by truth. The material belief must give place to the spiritual fact in every case.

Out of the amplitude of her own spiritual understanding Mrs. Eddy has translated into human language the truth about God and man, and their relationship; has revealed a perfect divine Principle that governs mankind, and has proved that the truth taught by Jesus is scientific, and may be demonstrated today as of old to deliver the sinner, sorrowing and suffering from their oppressors, to set all mankind free from bondage to evil, and to establish the kingdom of God on earth.

Young Texas Pianist

Wins Honors in Chicago.
The Daily Oklahoman gives mention of a brilliant young pianist whose success has won more than National fame. He is the grandson of Uncle Joe Syper of Hereford and no doubt received his musical "blood" from his grandsire. He will be remembered by the musically inclined of Hereford as he has given a number of recitals here. The Oklahoman says:

"Joe Wynne, the talented young son of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Wynne of 107 West Park Place, has distinguished himself in a national pianists' contest held in Chicago, Oct. 17. Nineteen cities from Boston to San Francisco sent twenty-eight pianists to the contest. All but six were eliminated in the preliminaries held October 15 and 16 in Fullerton Hall. Joe Wynne was one of the six, among whom are several young pianists of considerable reputation. First honors and a cash prize of $200 fell to Pasquale Tellerico of Wilton, N. H. But the standard of artistic excellence maintained throughout the program given by the six contestants was so high that the donor, Mr. Charles G. Dawes increased the financial rewards to $600, to be divided between the six.

"A condition of the contest was that all entrants should be American trained. Joe Wynne was the only student of the Bush Temple conservatory considered eligible to the contest. He is a pupil under Professor Harold Von Mickwitz, formerly of Sherman, Texas."

Plaintiff further avers that Mrs. Jenellie Baldwin, who was known as Nellie Baldwin, has since died leaving three children of herself and W. E. Baldwin, said three children being minors and have no guardian of their person or estate in the State of Texas.

Plaintiff prays that defendants be cited to appear and answer this petition as required by law, and that on final hearing he have his judgment for the title and possession of the tract of land herein sued for, and for costs of suit. But in event that the court should hold that plaintiff is not entitled to recover the title and possession of the land above described, then he prays for judgment for his debt and the foreclosing of the vendor's lien on the land above described.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, And have you before said Court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this Writ, with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Hereford, this, the 7th day of October, A. D. 1914.

[L. S.] J. S. Jones, Clerk District Court, Deaf Smith County, Texas.

The National Stock Show.

Plans for the tenth National Western Stock Show are well under way, and the indications are that the show will be of more interest and be larger and better in every way than ever before. The show will open in Denver on January 18. The railroads are promising low rates from all sections, and there is more interest throughout the west than ever before. Last January approximately 37,000 people came in to Denver during stock show week. If the weather conditions are favorable this number will be greatly increased during the coming show. The premium list is out and has been materially strengthened all along the line, both in the amount of premiums and the number of classes.

Judge Wright in Turn-Turtle Auto. The Plainview News gives an account of an auto accident in which Judge Wright seems to have figured but being an ex-foot ball center, he came out on top. The News says: Judge H. C. Randolph received several painful injuries on both sides of his body, also on one hand and on his face in an auto accident about three miles north of town Tuesday morning. While painful none of the injuries were serious. Judge C. L. Peary, Judge Randolph and Clyde Wright, were returning from Silverton in the Peary Ford car, Judge Peary driving it. In an attempt to escape a rut in the road, the control of the car was lost and it turned over on its side. Wright fell on Randolph, nearly caving in his ribs. Peary and Wright were neither injured.

MOTHERS OF DELICATE CHILDREN

Should Read the Following Letter—Mrs. Slack's Story About Her Child's Recovery Is Entirely Reliable.

Palmyra, Pa.—"Three years ago my little girl had black measles which left her with a chronic cough and so awfully thin you could count all her ribs, and she coughed so much she had no appetite. Nothing we gave her seemed to help her at all until one day Mrs. Neibert told me how much good Vinol had done her little girl, so I decided to try it for my little one, and it has done her so much good she is hungry all the time, her cough is gone, she is stouter and more healthy in color and this is the first winter she has been able to play out in the snow, coasting and snow-balling without any ill effects."—Mrs. ALFRED SLACK, Palmyra, Pa.

We can induce you to try a bottle of Vinol as a body-builder and strength-creator for your child, and you do not find it is all we claim, we will return your money on demand. Sold by CORNER DRUG STORE Hereford, Texas

RUINED REIMS SEEN FROM CATHEDRAL

This photograph, made from one of the towers of the famous cathedral of Reims, was made while the Germans were still bombarding the city. In the foreground is the wrecked home of the archbishop.

Only Another Wolf Story.

There's no telling what some people will do. We have just read where a Hereford man almost exhausted himself, two companions and an auto in running down and catching a wolf. While we've been working hard ever since we can remember trying to keep away from one of those very same animals—or at least trying to keep him away from the main entrance to our mansion.—Clarendon News.

Bro. Warren seems to have fallen victim to the wolf story. There was but two grains of truth in that story—the wolf and the auto—all the other is a sample of the newspaper's embellishment.

Feterita Bread

N. M. Lee of Childress, has sent to F. R. Friend a sample of bread made from feterita at Springtown, which is pronounced by all who have tasted it as very fine bread. The grain was ground on a common corn mill, hence was a little coarse, but it tastes and looks a great deal like Craham bread. It is recommended by the pure food commission as entirely wholesome and nutritious. Since feterita is a sure crop in West Texas and makes good bread, there is no danger in our people ever being short on something to eat, if they will only turn their attention to this way of getting bread.

Below we give the recipe sent by Mr. Lee for making this bread: 2 cups buttermilk, 1 teaspoonful of soda, 1 tablespoonful of sugar, 1 teaspoonful of salt and 1 egg. Stir in feterita meal until thick enough to bake.—Childress Post.

A MOTHER'S GRATITUDE

Many a Mother in Hereford Will Appreciate the Following.

Many a strong man and many a healthy woman has much for which to thank mother. The care taken during their childhood brought them past the danger point and made them healthy men and women. Thousands of children are bothered with incontinence of urine and inability to retain it is oftentimes called a habit. It is not always the children's fault—in many cases the difficulty lies with the kidneys, and can be readily righted. A Hereford mother tells how she went about it.

Mrs. Clarence Smith, 611 E. Third St., Hereford, Texas, says: "About two months ago I gave Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Woodburn & Son's Drug Store, to my child, who was suffering from kidney weakness. They proved so satisfactory that I heartily recommend them. Doan's Kidney Pills made a permanent cure in this case after other remedies had failed."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Smith had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 1t

And He Will Find It. Some people can't be satisfied with the troubles that just naturally come to them in this merry old world, but must go out and hunt more; however, it is a very rare thing that a newspaper publisher has to do any "hunting." There is an exception to this rule, as to all others, and we have recently discovered it. The Gainesville Journal announces that it will publish in its columns each week the names of all men receiving shipments of booze through the Gainesville express and freight companies.—Clarendon News.
