Hereford firefighters had a 'slow' night on Wednesday with seven fires reported. All of them were fireworks-related. Two of the fires were at different times in the same location, northeast of Hereford just east of Ave. K. Firefighters patrolled throughout Hereford from about 7 p.m. until 1 a.m. and very few persons were setting off fireworks within the city.

NATO leaders began meeting today in London to discuss the future of the 45-year-old alliance in the face of a changing Europe. Other Western-nation leaders are meeting in Brussels and have agreed to provide millions of dollars of aid to four Eastern European countries, but did not agree on aid to the USSR. In the Soviet Union, Mikhail Gorbachev told the Party Congress that he and his other leaders will resign if Soviet citizens are not considerably better off in two years. Willie, politics top Fourth

By JAN RICH Associated Press Writer

Texans celebrated the Fourth of July by swarming to lakes and parks, attending fireworks displays, baseball games and Willie Nelson's July 4th picnic.

Although it was a one-day holiday at midweek, Texans found time to celebrate. Organizers of the Nelson bash worked hard to create a family atmosphere to erase the negative image of earlier concerts, which were marred by drunkenness, drug abuse, heat exhaustion, traffic jams and violence.

"The smoothest picnic ever. It was easy," Nelson said.

This year, there were children's rides, an inflatable castle, clowns and music.

"This is much more family oriented," said EMS technician Linda Varda.

No official attendance figures were available early today, but a crowd estimated at 12,000 to 15,000 attended the picnic and festival at Austin's Zilker Park.

Johnny Cash, Waylon Jennings and others joined Nelson on stage to entertain the fans. The concert ended late Wednesday with a fireworks display.

Police said there were about six arrests for public intoxication, including one woman who repeatedly attempted to climb on stage, and picnic-goers were generally well-behaved and not drinking heavily.

EMS technician Delilah Stallings estimated about 50 people were treated for heat-related problems, and three were taken to Brackenridge Hospital, as the temperature hit 101, the hottest July 4 in Austin in 20 years.

Austin also had its annual Austin Symphony Orchestra concert and fireworks display, which attracted thousands to the shores of Town Lake.

At Arlington, more than 41,000 fans attended the Baltimore Orioles-Texas Rangers baseball game which was followed by a huge fireworks display. Others attended a bash called Freedom Fest at the State Fair of Texas grounds in Dallas.

Some celebrated the holiday by attending traditional political rallies. At Beaumont about 1,000 turned out for a political rally featuring an appearance by Democratic gubernatorial nominee Ann Richards and several other candidates for statewide office.

Richards took Republican nominee Clayton Williams to task for avoiding her and the issues.

"We think Clayton ought to come on out and fight like a man," Ms. Richards said.

Ms. Richards urged those attending to help the Democrats raise money for the campaigns because the Republicans "all have a lot of money."

"And we are not going to let them buy this election. The governor's office... is not for sale," Ms. Richards said.

Three people were wounded by gunfire and nine people were arrested Tuesday night when one early celebration turned ugly at Fort Worth.

The annual July Third celebration in the Como neighborhood turned violent after a parking lot shooting. Several in the crowd threw rocks and bottles at police and emergency workers.

Accident causes injuries

Two persons were injured in this one-vehicle accident at 8:55 p.m. Wednesday at Grand and Major (between Avenues E and F). This 1988 Ford Tempo driven by Joe Benavidez, 19, of Hereford, jumped the curb and struck the utility pole in the foreground. Benavidez and an unidentified passenger were taken by private vehicle to Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Bush wants Gorbachev to address NATO allies

LONDON (AP) - President Bush urged his NATO allies today to invite Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev to address a future summit of the Western alliance as a goodwill gesture, diplomatic sources said.

Bush said leaders of the other Warsaw Pact nations of Eastern Europe also should be invited.

The president made his proposal at the opening of a two-day NATO summit called to reshape the Western alliance as a result of the rapidly diminishing military threat from the East. The allies were expected to endorse Bush's idea.

The diplomatic sources said the Bush proposal was intended to demonstrate that NATO is changing to keep pace with developments in East Europe and the Soviet Union. The Warsaw Pact has virtually collapsed since the Soviets' former military allies began ousting their long-dominant Communist governments last year.

Not long ago, it would have been unthinkable for a Soviet leader to be invited to address the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which was forged in 1949 to counter potential military aggression from the East. Now Western leaders speak of the Soviet Union and East European nations more as friends than foes.

West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl told NATO leaders they should make a joint declaration with Warsaw Pact countries "that we no longer regard one another as adversaries."

Wednesday was Independence Day and Americans had cause to celebrate a dream come true--a dream that is still far from becoming a reality in some nations.

For 214 years, America's love of freedom has been the standard for liberty-lovers everywhere. In our lifetime, even in the past year, we have seen that dream alive and on the march in other parts of the world...Romania, Czechoslovakia, Poland, China, Nicaragua--even the Soviet Union.

President Woodrow Wilson said it in a special way: "America lives in the heart of every man everywhere who wishes to find a region where he will be free to work out his destiny as he chooses."

There are some things wrong in America, but there is so much that is right and good. We haven't noticed any of those flag-burners wanting to move to any other country in the world!

We have celebrated the Fourth of July, now let us reflect on our past and what America means to each of us. Let's not forget the awesome responsibilities that come with the freedoms we enjoy.

Speaking of our freedoms, isn't it great we can criticize our government officials without fear of being put in jail? Reminds us of the story about the environmental agency getting carried away with its rules and regulations.

One day the Lord summoned Moses and said, "Moses, I have some good news and some bad news. I'll give you the good news first."

"You will go into the land of Egypt and free your people from bondage. You will lead the Israelites from the land, and when you get to the Red Sea, I will command the water to part, giving you and your people safe passage through."

"Then I will cause the waters to close behind you, destroying the Pharaoh and his pursuing army."

Moses was delighted and asked about the bad news.

"The bad news," the Lord said, "is that you have to file an environmental impact study."

Energy assistance offered

Persons with low incomes who need help to pay cooling bills this summer may be eligible for help through the Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP), a program of the Texas Department of Human Services.

The one-time payment is available to many low-income households. Applications have been mailed to households that receive food stamps, Aid to Families with Dependent Children, or Supplemental Security Income. If those households have at least one member who will be 60 or older in 1990, or a member with a medical condition that is aggravated by heat, they may qualify for assistance.

Other low-income individuals may request an application by calling, toll-free, 1-800-252-8060.

Eligibility for the program is limited by gross income and resources. Aid is available for a one-person household having less than $598.49 per month. The gross income limits are $802.49 for two persons, $1,006.49 for three, $1,210.49 for four, $1,414.49 for five, and $1,618.49 for six.

Households are eligible if the cost for cooling is included in the rent payment or if the household pays a portion of its home energy costs.

Energy assistance checks are sent directly to the people who are eligible for assistance; however, the checks are made payable to the energy company.

Persons receiving energy assistance payments should mail it or take it in person to the energy company's business office with their regular bill. The check can be cashed only by the energy company, and if the HEAP check is larger than the energy bill, the additional amount will be credited to the person's account for the next month's bill. If the energy bill is higher than the check, the person is responsible for paying the difference.

Gorbachev offers '92 deadline

MOSCOW (AP) - Mikhail S. Gorbachev said that if Soviet citizens aren't better off in two years, he and the rest of the Communist leadership will resign.

Gorbachev's remarks to reporters Wednesday, which were shown on national television, marked the first time the president and party leader gave himself a deadline for reversing the country's economic and political downside.

"I think that in two years, if there are no changes, this leadership must go," Gorbachev said as he entered the Kremlin Palace of Congresses on the third day of the Communist Party's watershed 28th Congress.

A Western journalist on the scene said Gorbachev had been asked what should happen if there are no improvements in the Soviet Union in two years.

Gorbachev, who rose to power in 1985, did not specify who would be covered by his self-imposed deadline, but it seemed likely he meant only party posts, rather than government positions.

Speaking confidently in a separate, videotaped segment shown on the nightly TV news program "Vremya," he denied that the Kremlin leadership would do anything just to hold on to political power.

In Wednesday's session, Gorbachev heard more bitter criticism from regional party officials who accused the Soviet leadership of cowardice and indecision in failing to defend the party amid growing anti-communist sentiment.

"Our position today reminds of an army that is retreating in haste without a plan," said Nursultan Nazarbaev, party chief in the Kazakhstan republic, pleading for clearer direction from the Kremlin.

Traditionalist party leader Yefrem Sokolov of Byelorussia, who complained to delegates that Moscow failed to cope with the fallout of the 1986 Chernobyl nuclear disaster,

"I think that in two years, if there are no changes, this leadership must go."

--Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev

nevertheless told reporters "Gorbachev started perestroika and party members support him."

The 10-day congress, which continued with closed committee sessions today, also passed a resolution appealing to disgruntled coal miners not to stage a one-day strike next week. It said a repetition of last summer's mine strikes could "lead to a breakup of the country's economy."

Reaugh featured as 1990 silver anniversary artist

The "Texas" Silver Anniversary Souvenir Program will feature full color renditions of paintings by noted southwest artist Frank Reaugh.

"Texas" opened its 25th season June 13, and will play nightly except Sundays at 8:30 p.m. beneath the towering cliffs of Palo Duro Canyon State Park near Amarillo and Canyon through Aug. 25.

Often referred to as the "Dean of Texas Painters," Reaugh is considered one of the greatest and most prolific artists of his time. His capture of the Texas longhorn in paint is internationally recognized.

Born in 1860, Reaugh first came to Texas, traveling by wagon from Illinois during 1876 with his parents. The Reaugh family settled near Terrell, Texas, and later moved to Dallas.

With his mother as his teacher, Reaugh learned an early appreciation of nature, grounded with zoology, botany and natural history. Recognizing his talent in art, Reaugh was encouraged at an early age.

Reaugh's father was a mechanic, carpenter and farmer, and from him Reaugh became adept with his hands, later making his own picture frames.

In the early 1880's Reaugh met two cattlemen, Frank and Romco Houston and accompanied them on cattle drives and roundups in northwest Texas. The numerous sketches made during this time resulted in the paintings: "The Approaching Herd" and "The One-O Roundup."

Reaugh's first formal artistic training was at the Saint Louis Museum and School of Fine Arts during the winter of 1884 and 1885.

Following graduation, Reaugh taught art classes in Terrell until he saved enough funds for Europe, where he enrolled at the Academic Julian in Paris. After traveling Europe, Reaugh returned to America in May, 1889, to create the famous pastel, "Watering the Heard." Not until years later did Reaugh adopt the characteristics of Impressionist painting that he learned while touring in Europe.

His greatest successes came from 1890 to 1910 during major exhibitions in Chicago and St. Louis. Having achieved fame at a relatively early age, Reaugh turned his attention to inventions. He patented, among other things, a folding lap easel and a water pump.

In the 1920s Reaugh and his students concentrated on automobiles in much of their works. Travels took him through El Paso to Tucson, to the Grand Canyon, returning via Albuquerque and Amarillo. He continued these trips yearly until his death in 1945 at age 80.

"Texas" is proud to feature Reaugh as the 1990 anniversary souvenir program artist. This year's program displays the art in full color. A collector's item, the program is available during each of the 64 season performances.

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in the city of Canyon has the largest collection of Reaugh's work in the Southwest. Copies of all 25 "Texas" souvenir programs and several paintings by Reaugh are currently on display in honor of the musical drama's birthday celebration.

In honor of the anniversary, the Paul Green musical drama, will blend dramatic additions to every show. In addition, prizes will be given each night to the 250th persons, 2,500th persons, 10,000th persons, 25,000th persons, with American Airlines donating two trips back to anywhere in Texas to the 50,000 person and 100,000 person.

"Texas" has entertained over two million persons from all over the world since 1966. Last year audiences came from every state and 93 different foreign countries.

Using a cast of 80, "Texas" unravels the settling of the Panhandle. Accented with brilliant song, dance and the latest sound and life, the outdoor drama uses a 600 foot cliff as its spectacular backdrop. For reservations and information on "Texas," write P.O. Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or 806-655-2181.

Bride-elect honored

A bridal shower was held for Tanya Jones, July 21 bride-elect of Mark Carder, June 30 at the E.B. Black House. Welcoming guests with the honoree were her grandmother, Ida Hobratchsk of Dimmitt; her mother, Betty Jones; and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Loretta Wilson of Amarillo.

Jones honored with bridal shower

Tanya Jones, July 21 bride-elect of Mark Carder, was feted with a bridal shower Saturday morning, June 30, in the E.B. Black House.

The honoree greeted guests along with her grandmother, Ida Hobratchsk of Dimmitt; her mother, Betty Jones; and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Loretta Wilson of Amarillo.

Jackie Murphy and Jill Harrison served refreshments of fruit plates, dip, sausage balls, cinnamon rolls, coffee and punch. The refreshment table was centered with a basket of pink and mauve spring flowers made by the bride-elect's mother.

Leslie Cansler of Amarillo invited guests to register.

A vacuum cleaner was given to Miss Jones by the hostesses: Jackie Smothermon, Jane Eggen, Melba Kee, Marjorie Jones, Ann Crouch, Gladys Brewer, Murlene Stroun, Leslie Cansler, Tanya Tucker, Sonya McElroy, Judith Rae Andrews, Betty Williams, Jill Harrison, Jackie Murphey and Beth Frye.

Substitute dressing for mayonnaise

Now substituting on the sandwich team for high-fat, high-cholesterol mayonnaise: reduced-calorie creamy cucumber dressing. The cool, fresh taste of the cucumber dressing is delicious with tuna. Choosing water-pack tuna is another way to reduce fat.

The oil in which tuna may be packed is cholesterol-free vegetable oil, not fish oil high in beneficial omega-3 fatty acids.

DILLED TUNA SANDWICHES
3 tablespoons reduced-calorie creamy cucumber salad dressing
1/4 teaspoon dried dillweed
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup chopped seeded cucumber
2 tablespoons chopped radishes
One 6 1/2-ounce can tuna (water pack), drained and broken into chunks
2 lettuce leaves
4 slices pumpernickel, rye or whole-wheat bread

In a medium mixing bowl combine salad dressing, dillweed and pepper. Stir in chopped cucumber and radishes. Add drained tuna. Toss gently to mix. For each sandwich, place 1 lettuce leaf on a slice of bread. Top with half the tuna mixture and another slice of bread. Makes 2 servings.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR READERS:

With summer fast approaching, are you beginning to dread those higher electrical bills? Don't feel alone. Here are some tips I have found useful for conserving electricity.

Watch the air-conditioning thermostat and find a temperature setting that is comfortable. Do not continually move the thermostat up and down during the course of a day. When leaving for a while, raise the thermostat up about five or six degrees higher. Also close the curtains when you are away to keep the summer heat out.

Keep air-conditioning filters clean and change them monthly. Dirty filters cause the air conditioner to work harder, which costs you money.

Use ceiling fans or portable fans. They are less expensive to use and will make the house feel cooler.

Check your water heater thermostat and make sure it is not set too high. Also turn the water heater off when going on vacation.

Check with your local public utilities office for more information on conserving energy in your home. It's up to you to take charge and cut those electrical bills down to size. — Heloise

BATHING SUIT

Dear Heloise: Is there a way to protect my swimwear from the harmful effects of chlorinated water in swimming pools? — Georgia Kay, Roswell, N.M.

Over a period of time, the chlorine in pool water will cause fading and shorten the life of the bathing suit. To help prevent this, use chlorine-remover drops. They can be found in pet stores and are used to remove chlorine from aquarium water.

Make a solution of one drop of chlorine remover to one gallon of water and use this solution to rinse out your bathing suit after each use. — Heloise

OLD TOOTHBRUSHES

Dear Heloise: At the suggestion of our dentist, my family uses soft-bristle toothbrushes which we replace about every six months.

In a family of four this means a lot of discarded toothbrushes, so I save them for various uses. We use several for applying paste shoe polish to our shoes and boots. Each handle is marked with the polish color it is used for so the colors are not mixed up.

Old toothbrushes can really come in handy. Just put your thinking cap on and I'm sure you'll think of many more uses. — Alberta Bruner, Louisville, Ky.

Canseco, Sandberg top vote-getters in All-Star fan balloting

NEW YORK (AP) - Last season, the San Diego Padres thought they had two All-Star catchers in their organization. They were right. San Diego traded Sandy Alomar to the Cleveland Indians and kept Benito Santiago. Both were selected starting catchers for the All-Star Game in voting announced Wednesday.

The 61st All-Star Game is scheduled for Tuesday night at Wrigley Field.

"As a rookie, I wasn't expecting to be that close," said Alomar, hitting .298 with three homers and 31 RBIs.

Santiago was elected for the second straight year at catcher but will not be able to play because of a broken arm. Mike Scioscia of Los Angeles was the runner-up at catcher with 571,378 votes to Santiago's 1,785,412. Rookie catcher Todd Zeile of St. Louis was third with 570,971 votes.

The Padres traded Alomar, infielder Carlos Baerga and outfielder Chris James to Cleveland last December for outfielder Joe Carter.

"I thought he would be an All-Star," San Diego Manager Jack McKeon said of Alomar. "Wouldn't it have been nice to have two of my catchers on the All-Star team, both as starting catchers?"

Jose Canseco led a parade of three Oakland Athletics on the AL team and Ryne Sandberg of the Chicago Cubs topped the balloting in the National League.

Canseco led all players in fan balloting with 2,313,091 votes, the most since catcher Gary Carter received 2,785,407 in 1982 while playing for Montreal. Sandberg was next with 2,262,245 votes.

Canseco, who signed a five-year, $23.5 million contract last week, has been elected twice before as an All-Star. In 1991, Canseco will make $2.8 million. Sandberg will be making his fifth straight start for the NL and sixth overall.

Joining Canseco in the starting AL outfield will be Seattle's Ken Griffey

Jr. and Oakland's Rickey Henderson, making his sixth All-Star start. Griffey is the first player in Mariners' history to be elected as an All-Star starter.

Starting in the AL infield will be third baseman Wade Boggs of Boston, shortstop Cal Ripken Jr. of Baltimore, second baseman Steve Sax of New York and first baseman Mark McGwire of Oakland.

For Boggs, batting .299, it's his sixth straight All-Star appearance.

Toronto third baseman Kelly Gruber was runner-up to Boggs. Gruber is hitting .303 with 20 homers and 65 RBIs.

Cecil Fielder of Detroit, who leads the AL with 27 homers and 70 RBIs, was runner-up to McGwire at first base with 1,151,099 votes.

Chicago White Sox shortstop Ozzie Guillen, hitting .324, was second to Ripken with 1,054,370 votes.

Starting with Sandberg in the NL infield will be first baseman Will Clark of San Francisco, third baseman Chris Sabo of Cincinnati and Ozzie Smith of St. Louis, making his eighth consecutive start at shortstop.

Smith is having an off-year so far, hitting .224 with seven errors. But his 1,337,815 votes beat Cincinnati's Barry Larkin by 79,220. Larkin is hitting .317.

The NL outfield consists of Chicago's Andre Dawson, Philadelphia's Lenny Dykstra and San Francisco's Kevin Mitchell.

Dawson will be making his sixth start and Mitchell (19 homers and 45 RBIs) will be starting for the second year in a row. Dykstra is the majors' leading hitter at .368 and gets a $25,000 bonus for making the All-Star team.

Perhaps the biggest oversight by the fans was Barry Bonds' ninth-place finish in the NL outfield. Bonds is hitting .329 with 14 homers, 55 RBIs and 21 stolen bases.

The reserves and pitchers for both leagues were announced today.

Arkansas waiting for SEC to call

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - Frank Broyles says he's not exactly sitting by the telephone, but he's surprised the Southeastern Conference hasn't called yet.

"We have not heard from them," said the Arkansas athletic director who returned to work Tuesday after a two-week trip to the Soviet Union. "We thought we would have received some material."

Arkansas notified the SEC two weeks ago that the Razorbacks were interested in joining the league. Meanwhile, it's business as usual at Arkansas, Broyles said.

"I'm going to wait," Broyles said. "They (the SEC) know how important it is and as soon as they have something they want us to review, they'll send it to us."

Broyles acknowledged that it would help if a decision was made rather quickly. "The speed with which the transition could be made is important. That will be a factor," he said.

But he also has said he expected the process to go slowly.

"They're going through some discussions," he said of the SEC expansion committee. "They're

Shootouts set World Cup final

ROME (AP) - After 30 days and 50 games, the World Cup tournament is back where it was in 1986, with West Germany and Argentina playing for the trophy.

Until the semifinals, the teams had progressed in vastly different fashions. The Germans were awesome, overpowering nearly everyone with a precise attack, speed and strength. The Argentines were lucky, getting by on experience and guile.

Both took the same route through the semis, however. After 1-1 ties, they won shootouts, 4-3, putting in all four of their penalty kicks while their opponents missed the final two.

West Germany made its third straight final, fifth overall, by beating England on Wednesday night in Turin. The previous evening, in Naples, the defending champion Argentines edged host Italy.

On Sunday, in Mexico City, Carlos Bilardo's Argentina plays Franz Beckenbauer's West Germany.

"It should be an open game," Beckenbauer said. "It's great to have the opportunity to beat Argentina."

"It will be like a chess game, with a lot of marking in the midfield. Whoever makes a mistake will lose," Bilardo said. "The bottom line is that if we want to be world champions, we have to beat everybody."

It will be the third final in the last four World Cups for Argentina, seeking to equal Brazil's record of winning three of four. The Germans are the first to make three straight finals.

But they aren't getting cocky about it.

"The match was more difficult than expected. We can't remember such a good and dramatic match as this one," Beckenbauer said. "Both teams had reached their peak."

It was the first time England did so in the tournament.

"We got told we play medieval, old-fashioned football," Manager Bobby Robson said. "We have shown, with all our players, that our game hasn't gone back at all."

Perhaps they could have asked for more success in the shootout. The English came up with a late goal for the third straight game, with Gary Lineker scoring his third in two games on a defensive mistake with 10 minutes remaining. That offset Andreas Brehme's shot that nicked the leg of defender Paul Parker and soared over goalie Peter Shilton in the 59th minute.

Both teams hit the goalpost in the overtime, and then came the shootout.

The shootout featured 23-year-old German goalie Bodo Illgner, in his first World Cup, against 40-year-old Shilton, the record holder for international appearances. It was Illgner who had the magic, however.

Shilton just missed on several of West Germany's shots, but could not stop Brehme, Lothar Matthaus, Karlheinz Riedle and Olaf Thon.

England's Lineker, Peter Beardsley and David Platt made their bids before Stuart Pearce shot right at Illgner. He stopped it with his feet.

When Chris Waddle missed high and wide, the Germans were in their fifth final.

'Real men' power into Wimbledon semis; Graf, Navratilova favored in women's WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - They blast aces and service winners, or crush volleys at the net. They don't bother with dainty lobs or baseline rallies.

Real men don't try dropshots.

And real men win, especially on the Wimbledon grass.

Ivan Lendl, Boris Becker, Stefan Edberg and Goran Ivanisevic turned up the power Wednesday to reach the semifinals, serve-and-volleying their way past shell-shocked opponents.

"I saw a lot of balls go by," Kevin Curren said after losing to Ivanisevic. "I don't think I've been aced 25 times before."

On a day when the Wimbledon weather finally lived up to its miserable reputation with a four-hour rain delay, balls were flying faster than the bone-chilling wind.

The women have to deal with that weather today in their semifinals. Two-time defending champion Steffi

Graf faces Zina Garrison and eight-time winner Martina Navratilova plays Gabriela Sabatini.

Becker, the defending champion known as "Boom Boom" for his overpowering serve, eliminated seventh seed Brad Gilbert 6-4, 6-4, 6-1 on Wednesday. The second-seeded Becker lost his serve early in the first set and never faced another break point.

"The wind was really bad and you couldn't play great tennis out there, but I still made the most of it," Becker said. "It wasn't comfortable at all."

Lendl, the top seed, lashed 12 aces while defeating Brad Pearce 6-4, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4. Lendl has won $16 million in a career based on baseline brilliance, but he has learned to serve and volley to seek a Wimbledon title.

Pearce, ranked 120th in the world, never before playing beyond the first round of Wimbledon, gave a sluggish Lendl fits. It was Pearce's third quarterfinal appearance in any tournament in a five-year pro career.

The elimination of Pearce, Gilbert and Curren swept the only remaining American men out of the tournament on the Fourth of July.

Third-seeded Edberg ousted Swedish compatriot Christian Bergstrom 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 and will play Lendl in Friday's semifinals. Lendl has won 10 of his previous 16 encounters with Edberg.

The biggest fireworks took place on Court 1, where Ivanisevic and Curren were combining for 41 aces.

There was little finesse as the players slugged one high powered serve after another. The players spit on the grass in disgust after losing points and let out battle cries after winners.

The 18-year-old Ivanisevic is the first unseeded player in the semifinals since 1986. Ivanisevic proved too powerful for Curren, a Wimbledon semifinalist in 1983 and 1985, losing his serve just once in the 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3 victory.

Ivanisevic's semifinal opponent is Becker, whom the Yugoslav upset in the first round of this year's French Open. Ivanisevic had 19 aces in that contest, to only three for Becker, who said afterward, "I don't want to see him on grass."

This time, Ivanisevic said, his task will be much more difficult.

"It is much different," he said. "It is much easier to play Becker in the first round than the semifinals, and easier on clay than on grass."

'Dangerous' Mets just 1/2 game back

By The Associated Press

Dwight Gooden wasn't at his best - but the way the New York Mets are playing these days, it didn't matter. "They have eight guys who can hit it out. That's one dangerous lineup," Houston pitcher Larry Andersen said after the Mets beat the Astros 7-4 Wednesday night for their 21st victory in 24 games. "They're so hot right now that even if you make a good pitch they'll drop it in the seats. A bad pitch, forget about it, they'll crush it."

That's exactly what happened Wednesday night with Darryl Strawberry hitting a three-run homer and Howard Johnson a two-run shot.

The homers supported a so-so effort by Gooden (8-5), who pitched with a blister on his right index finger. He lasted eight innings and gave up all four Houston runs on eight hits. He eight strikeouts.

In other National League games, it was Chicago 5, Los Angeles 3; San Francisco 9, St. Louis 2; Montreal 5, Cincinnati 3; Atlanta 4, Philadelphia 1; San Diego 5, Pittsburgh 4.

Coupled with Pittsburgh's loss, the Mets moved within a half-game of the front-running Pirates in the NL East.

Cubs 5, Dodgers 3

Joe Girardi had three hits and drove in three runs and Marvell Wynne hit a two-run homer as Chicago beat Los Angeles and Fernando Valenzuela.

Valenzuela (6-7), allowed 10 hits and all five Chicago runs in seven innings. He walked one and struck out two.

Valenzuela had pitched the first no-hitter of his career last Friday night in the Dodgers' 6-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cubs went ahead for good in the fourth on a two-run double by Girardi.

Giants 9, Cardinals 2

San Francisco scored eight late runs, including a two-run homer by pinch-hitter Bill Bathe in the seventh.

The victory completed a three-game sweep for the Giants, who have won 14 of their last 18 at Candlestick Park after losing their first eight home games this season.

Trailing 2-1, the Giants rallied for four runs in the seventh and four more in the eighth.

Giants starter John Burkett (8-2) held the Cardinals to two runs and four hits over seven innings. Jeff Brantley pitched the final two innings for his 12th save. St. Louis starter Jose DeLeon (6-7) took the loss.

Expos 5, Reds 3

Dennis Martinez pitched a five-hitter over eight innings and Mike Aldrete and Andres Galarraga had two RBIs each in a five-run first to lead Montreal.

Martinez (6-6), who had lost his two previous starts, struck out four and walked two before yielding to Dave Schmidt, who notched his 10th save with perfect relief in the ninth.

The Expos, who had lost six of their previous seven games, took a 5-0 lead off Scott Scudder (1-2), making his first start for the Reds since being recalled from Triple-A Nashville on Saturday.

Braves 4, Phillies 1

Dale Murphy homered and knocked in two runs as the Braves concluded their first winning road trip since September of 1989.

The Braves, fifth in the National League West, wound up their current road swing at 4-2. It was Murphy's 366th career homer.

Tom Glavine (5-5), scattered six hits during 6.2-3 innings. Joe Boever pitched the ninth for his eighth save. Pat Combs (4-7) was the loser.

Padres 5, Pirates 4

Eric Show earned his first victory in more than a year and hit a two-run single as San Diego ended a seven-game losing streak.

Show (1-6) entered the game in the second inning and allowed one earned run over five innings to win for the first time since last June 19 when he made his next-to-last start before ending the year with a back injury.

Greg Harris got the last two outs for his fifth save. Neil Heaton (10-4), was the loser.

probably trying to develop a package for us to consider, and that's going to take time.

"Obviously, it has to be resolved. But we have to wait until all of the pieces of the puzzle are in place before we can give it rational consideration," he said.

The Southwest Conference also is working on a plan for the future, Broyles said.

"The Southwest Conference is having meetings to see what they can do to strengthen the conference. We have to give both of those groups time to develop a plan," he said.

Arkansas is a charter member of the SWC.

Brewers pound Stewart

By The Associated Press

On the Fourth of July, the Milwaukee Brewers and Toronto utilityman Tom Lawless made statements of independence.

The Brewers, who were 1-12 against Oakland's Dave Stewart, got home runs from Greg Vaughn, Bill Spier's and Dave Parker and pounded the Athletics' no-hit pitcher 7-1.

"When you've got nine or 10 wins against a club like I have against the Brewers, you're not going to continue to beat them every time," said Stewart, who gave up six runs and eight hits in 2 1/3 innings. "Eventually they're going to make adjustments. I made some good pitches, but they hit them."

Seldom-used Lawless singled home a key run with his first hit of the season and the Blue Jays survived a 12-hit attack and beat the California Angels 4-2.

In other American League games Wednesday night it was Detroit 10, Chicago 7 in 12 innings; Boston 4, Minnesota 3; Seattle 3, Cleveland 2;

Baltimore 9, Texas 4; Kansas City 13, New York 6.

Stewart (10-7) pitched a no-hitter against Toronto in his previous outing but any hope of another one disappeared quicker than you can say Johnny Vander Meer. Jim Gantner hit his first pitch for a single and eventually scored on Parker's sacrifice fly.

Ron Robinson (2-1), scattered eight hits in pitching his first complete game in six years. His first came in 1984 with the Reds.

Blue Jays 4, Angels 2

John Cerutti (5-6) gave up nine hits in 5 2/3 innings but only two runs. On Tuesday night, Toronto beat the Angels 5-2 despite 15 California hits. Loser Jim Abbott (5-7) gave up all four Toronto runs in 7 1/3 innings but his own error cost him two unearned runs in the first inning.

Lawless, starting a game for only the third time this year, singled in the second following a double by .118 hitter Ken Williams and Pat Borders' RBI single in the third following

George Bell's double made it 4-0. Tigers 10, White Sox 7

Mike Heath hit a three-run homer in the 12th inning, giving Detroit a 6-3 lead over Chicago in the season series and keeping the White Sox one game behind Oakland in the AL West.

Heath hit his third homer off Ken Patterson (0-2), the fifth Chicago pitcher. Lance McCullers (2-0), Detroit's fifth pitcher, was the winner with four scoreless innings of one-hit relief.

Dave Bergman also homered for Detroit while Ron Kittle hit two for Chicago.

Red Sox 4, Twins 3

Dwight Evans hit a two-out, three-run homer in the ninth inning for Boston. Wade Boggs led off with a checked-swing single off Minnesota relief ace Rick Aguilera (2-2). After Jody Reed fouled out, Tony Pena's single moved Boggs to third. Tom Brunansky struck out before Evans hit his 10th homer.

Reliever Dennis Lamp (2-2) retired nine straight batters for the victory. Jeff Reardon pitched the ninth for his 14th save. Aguilera blew his third save in 22 chances.

Mariners 3, Indians 2

Randy Johnson, the AL's Pitcher of the Month for June, started July with his sixth straight victory and Tracy Jones homered for the Mariners, who have won six of their last seven games.

Johnson (9-3) is 6-0 with a 2.47 ERA in seven starts since June 2, when he pitched a no-hitter against Detroit.

Orioles 9, Rangers 4

Designated hitter Sam Horn, recalled from the minors on Tuesday, hit a tie-breaking two-run homer to key a four-run sixth inning. Texas starter Charlie Hough (7-6) walked Cal Ripken with one out in the sixth and Horn followed with his fourth homer.

Baltimore starter Dave Johnson (8-4) yielded four runs and five hits in five-plus innings and is 5-0 in eight starts following a Baltimore defeat.

Royals 13, Yankees 6

Bo Jackson's towering three-run homer keyed a seven-run seventh inning as the woeful Yankees lost despite a season-high 18 hits.

Jackson victimized Lee Guetterman (5-3). He has 15 home runs for the year. Frank White capped the inning with a two-run homer off Alan Mjills.

Steve Crawford (2-1) relieved a shaky Bret Saberhagen in the sixth.

Donald leaving Open behind for A-B Classic

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) - Don't count Mike Donald among those unexcited about the Anheuser-Busch Golf Classic after battling in a 19-hole playoff at the U.S. Open.

"You can't keep living in the world of what-might-have-been," said Donald, who lost the Open playoff to Hale Irwin but today began defense of his Anheuser-Busch title.

Donald, whose only victory in an 11-year career came here, has been struggling to deal with the sudden surge of attention generated by his performance in the Open two-plus weeks ago.

For starters, he has been deluged with letters of encouragement and congratulation. Some thanked him for conducting himself like a gentleman in defeat, and one man even sent him a bracelet to wear for good luck.

"It's crazy," Donald said. "They're all very nice, but some of these things that they write, you'd think you just created world peace."

Donald also has been presented with some endorsement opportunities in recent days. He is reluctant to act on them.

"I've been trying to take it kind of slow. I'm trying to sort the whole thing out," he said.

Can you write a story using each of the 10 words you had your parent spell?

Rita: Remember, to enter the Family Reading Challenge 1990 you must read at least two books, two magazine articles and two newspaper articles between June 8 and Sept. 8.

Rex: And don't forget to discuss what you have read with your parent, guardian or other adult.

Now the facts about lung cancer in women

All women need to know the facts about lung cancer. Death rates for women from lung cancer have soared over the past decade, rising 44 percent over the seven year period between 1979 and 1986, according to a recent report from the Centers for Disease Control. Over the same time period, lung cancer deaths rose only seven percent among men.

Approximately 54,000 women will be diagnosed with lung cancer this year and 49,000 women will die from it. Lung cancer is now the leading cancer killer among both women and men.

The sad fact about lung cancer is that it is largely a preventable disease. Scientists estimate that more than 80 percent of lung cancer deaths are caused by cigarette smoking. Although the prevalence of smoking has declined in recent decades, this decline has been much slower among women than men. About 27 percent of women 18 and older still smoked in 1978, according to a survey done by the National Cancer Institute and the National Center for Health Statistics.

There are two types of lung cancer—small cell lung cancer and nonsmall cell lung cancer. The cancer cells of each type grow differently and spread differently. The two types are also treated differently.

If the doctor suspects lung cancer, he or she will do a series of tests to determine if cancer is present. Usually, the examination involves a physical exam, chest X-rays, and collection of cells of the lung for microscopic evaluation, as well as other specialized procedures to verify that cancer is present and to see if it has spread.

If the diagnosis of lung cancer is made, the doctor will begin to set up a treatment plan for the patient. Small cell lung cancer spreads quickly to other parts of the body, so the disease is commonly treated with a combination of several anticancer drugs (chemotherapy) with or without radiation to the chest. This treatment allows cancer cells that have spread to distant parts of the body to be killed along with the cancer cells in the chest.

Patients with nonsmall cell lung cancer may be treated by surgery to remove the cancer in the lung, or by radiation, if surgery is not possible because of other medical problems. Doctors sometimes also use chemotherapy to treat this type of cancer. Often, they use combinations of these different forms of treatment.

Scientists and doctors are looking for new ways to diagnose and treat lung cancer and have made many promising advances. But to achieve their goal of reducing the number of lung cancer deaths in this country, they need to count on all Americans not to start smoking or to give up the deadly habit.

Why did they make mummies?

The Egyptians made mummies because they believed there was life after death. They thought that a person would need his body with him after he died, so they developed a method of preserving the body.

The whole process took 70 days. After bodily organs were removed, and the cavity was treated with chemicals and then padded, a paste made of resins and fats was plastered on the body.

The body was wrapped in layers of linen bandages. Egyptians would then paint the surface so that it would resemble the person who had died.

Finally, the mummy was placed in a coffin, usually made of wood or stone. Sometimes the mummy would be placed in several coffins, one inside the other. The coffin was then placed in a tomb.

The dead person's organs were sealed in separate jars and placed in the same tomb, along with many other objects that the person had used in his life. The Egyptians believed these objects would be needed in the next world.

Although it is very different from our customs, the ancient Egyptian process of making mummies is a fascinating art and custom.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am writing about my father in the hopes you can help us. He has been to all kinds of doctors but to no avail. No one can tell us what is happening. It scares my mom to death when it happens.

He is a large man, 58 years old, 5 feet 11 inches, weighing about 250 pounds. He smokes at least two packs of cigarettes a day. He's never had high blood pressure and he's in overall good health.

But he has coughing spells, and sometimes when he does, he passes out. It doesn't matter if he's standing, sitting or lying down. When he starts coughing, his eyes roll back in his head and he passes out. He looks like he's not breathing and is dead. When it happens my mom beats him on either the chest or the back to bring him around. He's even been to a well-known clinic and they found nothing wrong with him. They said they would have to see it happen before they could diagnose it.

My mom is afraid to leave him alone for fear of what might happen.

DEAR READER: That is a fairly typical story for "cough syncope." It means fainting from coughing. This interesting medical oddity occurs in overweight middle-aged men who are heavy smokers. It is the cough itself that causes the faint.

Here is how it happens. With a prolonged coughing spell there is an increase in pressure within the chest cavity. Normally there is a negative pressure inside the chest that actually sucks blood back to the heart. With the increased pressure from coughing, this does not happen and there is not enough blood returned to the heart to maintain circulation.

The increased pressure in the chest cavity also is transmitted to the veins which are directly connected to the face veins. That causes unoxygenated blood to distend the face veins causing a bluish discoloration or cyanosis.

Also, the increased pressure in the veins is transmitted directly to the spinal fluid and around the brain.

There are many causes for fainting which I have discussed in Special Report 67, If You Faint, which I am sending you. Others who want this report can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/67, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. In most of these causes, fainting occurs while standing, but the mechanism in cough syncope is such that it doesn't matter whether a person is standing or lying down.

Most faints occur because too much blood pools in the legs while you are standing upright. That means there is not enough blood left to return to the heart for circulation. But in cough syncope, the obstruction is from the increased pressure in the chest and is unrelated to body position.

Your father probably has chronic bronchitis and should be evaluated for it. That is the likely cause for his coughing spells. If it can be controlled, his cough syncope should disappear. But that means he must stop smoking at once and lose weight. The smoking causes the chronic bronchitis.

I don't mean to alarm you, but I can't imagine that your father is in overall good health. His weight, smoking and coughing spells all mean trouble. The fainting spells alone may not hurt him, unless he injures himself during a fall. But underlying chronic bronchitis is a serious medical problem and he sounds like a good candidate for a heart attack. He needs a good medical program.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I read your column about ulcers and acid indigestion. I've got it. I'm careful not to eat irritating foods — no wine, no spices — and I don't smoke.

I understand that duodenal ulcers recur, even after a healing process. I had two ulcers two years ago. After Tagamet treatment and two internal exams, my doctor said I could resume my regular diet. I was fine until four months ago. Now I'm back to square one.

The only medicine I take is half of a Tagamet pill every night before retiring. I do get frequent heartburn attacks, but hesitate getting into the habit of antacid tablets. I believe occasional stressful situations cause most of my indigestion/discomfort. Please send your report on ulcers.

DEAR READER: The shocker is that about two-thirds of peptic ulcers that are healed do recur. And the ulcer patient may have recurrent problems for 10 to 15 years. After that, the disease often burns itself out. One goal of ulcer therapy is to get the patient through this period or at least through the first five to seven years. A high percentage of the recurrences are within the first year after the initial successful treatment of an ulcer.

Individuals who smoke have the highest incidence of recurrences. I'm glad you do not have that habit. Stopping smoking is about as important as taking medicines to control ulcers.

Tagamet, Zantac and other related medicines have been of great benefit in controlling ulcers. They prevent the stomach from producing excess amounts of acid digestive juice. I have discussed these and other aspects of treatment of ulcers in Special Report 75, Ulcers and Acid Indigestion, which I am sending you as you requested. Others who want this report can send $1 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/75, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

Stress is important. And you may have esophageal regurgitation rather than an actual ulcer. It will produce similar symptoms. You would probably need a complete examination to tell, and that might include another look inside your stomach with the gastroscope.

Long-term use of medicines such as Tagamet is often prescribed to help prevent recurrences.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Crispbreads satisfies cravings

Man does not live by carrot sticks alone—nor woman either. Even on a diet, most of us long for something solid, something to sink our teeth into—some form of that basic food, bread.

A blueberry muffin, maybe? The tiny kind have nearly 200 calories apiece, larger commercial varieties up to 600—and they're often loaded with fat. Bagels, plain, cost 150 calories or more...English muffins 125, before the butter or jam. Thin "diet" bread? One small slice, without much chewiness or texture carries at least 50 calories.

There is, however, a tasty solution—Norwegian crispbreads from Kavli. Available in Thick, Thin, Ultra Thin, Rye-Bran and new Muesli (great for breakfast), these hearty crackers have zesty flavor and lots of satisfying crunch. Delicious by themselves or with "legal" toppings, like cottage cheese and fruit, crispbreads are low in calories (about 20 per slice), sodium and fat and contain no cholesterol. They're also chock-full of beneficial fiber.

Whether or not you're dieting, keep a box or two on hand to keep those cravings from sabotaging how you look and feel—better than a "fat" picture on the refrigerator door!
