

CROP CONDITIONS ARE FINE

Recent Rains Put Ground In First-Class Condition—Bumper Crop of Every Kind.

The recent rains that have fallen over Deaf Smith and adjoining counties almost assures a good crop of the grain sorghums. There is a large acreage planted and it is in good condition and the outlook is good for one of the largest crops ever grown here.

While wheat was damaged in places by the dry weather it is making a good yield and at present prices will bring the farmers plenty of money. The pastures are in fine condition and cattle are doing well. The fruit crop is abundant and of good quality.

This great Panhandle country looks this year like a land of promise for the man who will apply industry and brains with some capital. Now would be a good time to enter on an advertising campaign so that the immigration that is passing us may be turned this way.

HURT IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

Mrs. Tom Reagan Badly Bruised When Car Turns Over. Four Others are Injured

On Wednesday of this week an auto wreck near Parmerton resulted in the injury of five persons more or less seriously.

Mrs. Tom Reagan of Clovis was most seriously injured, her injuries being internal. Another lady had an arm broken and another badly cut, and all six of the passengers except a little child were injured.

The party had left Clovis in a big Buick car for Hereford on a fishing trip. The party were all ladies. The lady driving the car lost control of it in some way and undertook to stop it and instead threw on more gasoline. The car sprang sideways and one wheel went down and the car turned over. They were all taken back to Clovis and reports are that Mrs. Reagan's condition is serious.

Mrs. Reagan's family, the Humphreys, formerly lived here.

Dr. Hicks was called to attend them but made no examination of their injuries as they were taken at once to a hospital at Clovis.

From Mr. and Mrs. McClung

The following card received by the Brand will be of interest to many friends here of Mr. and Mrs. McClung. Mrs. McClung was formerly Miss Maude McLain and both she and Mr. McClung were teachers in the Hereford High School last term. Austin, Texas, 7-27-15

Dear Mr. Editor: We have made quite a trip through East Texas and are this far back from South Texas. We are now on our home stretch. Best regards to the Brand. Yours truly, W. S. McClung.

A Near Fire

J. C. Cummins came very near being the loser of a garage containing an automobile and various and sundry implements, tools, etc., when the building caught fire from some ashes that had been thrown out. The timely passing of Dr. Turrentine prevented the destruction of the property. The loss was nothing.

Dr. Price was called to Clovis yesterday to attend Wiley Pierce who was operated on for appendicitis last week at that place.

Miss Mamie Begeman who has been visiting her mother near town for two weeks left Monday for Miami where she is employed as post-office clerk.

On and after the first of August all cold drinks will be strictly CASH. Geo. E. Burns, Druggist.

RETURNS FROM BANKERS' MEETING

J. W. Hoopes Says Crop Conditions in Panhandle Are Fine

J. W. Hoopes, vice governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, returned yesterday from Hereford, Texas, where he attended the Panhandle bankers' convention.

"The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic and absolutely satisfactory in every respect that I have ever attended in Texas," said Mr. Hoopes. "There were about two hundred bankers in attendance and the splendid reports brought in by every delegate on the prosperous condition prevailing and the indications for a fine fall trade put every one in rare humor. The citizens of Hereford certainly did themselves proud in the way of entertainment and every one there had a fine time."

Mr. Hoopes said that crop conditions in the Panhandle are the finest he has ever seen in that section of the State. He predicts the greatest fall trade in the history of that section of Texas this year.—Dallas News.

Wheat From Stock Ranch

A crop of 7,000 bushels of choice wheat this season on land valued at $15 to $20 an acre, which Harrison Troy of Deaf Smith County, Tex., selected a few years ago for ranching purposes, was reported on the Kansas City market by that stockman-farmer. After looking the whole plains country over. Mr. Troy picked out his present location which is not far from the New Mexico line, as ideal for ranching. There he owns 15,000 acres of land. He stocked it with cattle of the highest grade, and with open country about him at that time, launched out as a rancher. Fences were put up, and then stock farming was introduced, with the result that the wheat crop this year in that part of the state is the best in the whole country. In many parts wheat this year will bring more than the land is worth. The crop was saved in good condition, and is now being threshed. It is averaging between 20 and 23 bushels to the acre.

"With more rain than usual we have produced the greatest crops ever produced on the plains of Texas," said Mr. Troy. "We raised large crops last year, which with our present amount of grain and feed will send us on our way rejoicing. While the general rainfall there is rather light, at the same time by introducing products adapted to an arid climate, we are discovering that stock farming is what we must follow. In many parts of the plains where I am wells are being sunk, and lands are being irrigated. In this way still larger crop yields are insured at but slight cost after the wells are in operation. "We are thus prepared to raise and mature cattle right at home. And it is being done, and they are being finished for sale to the killers. Sheep feeding has also been introduced in Deaf Smith county because of the large amount of cheap feeds, milo maize and kafir corn we are raising and the superior climate there for feeding. A large number of mules are being raised, and we are stocking up on cattle, so that on the whole we will soon be turning out more livestock than in the days of open and free range."—Drovers Telegram.

All Amendments Defeated

At the recent election to vote on proposed amendments to the constitution, all of the proposed amendments were defeated by a large majority.

It really seems difficult to amend a constitution no matter how old and effete it may be. Voters are afraid that there is a joker in the amendment that will help grind some fellows ax, and there often is.

Many Attend Picnic at Dimmitt

Hereford was all but depopulated yesterday caused by so many of her citizens attending the Castro County Annual Picnic at Dimmitt. At the time of this writing we have no report as to the success of the picnic, neither do we need a report to assure us that it was a howling success in every sense of the word because this is not the first one to be held at that place and nothing but genuine pleasure was the lot of all who attended those of the past years.

But what we have been trying to get said was this: Why can't Hereford get busy and hold a picnic of the same kind? What under the sun is to prevent except the want of a little bit of energy that will be necessary to make the arrangements? If we can just get enough of our people together to work for this, the labor—what little there will be,—can be divided among us till no one will suffer from a dose of overwork. Now we did ourselves proud in entertaining the Bankers' convention and if we will take hold of this picnic proposition with the same spirit that made the convention a success, we can make it a sure go. The expense of the undertaking will be nominal and the citizens of our city will do well to provide at least a day of pleasure for their friends who live in the country and who would most certainly appreciate the entertainment. Let's do it. Other places do and what other places do we know Hereford can do.

Prominent Bankers Were Here

The following is a list of prominent bankers from outside the district who attended the Bankers' Convention here last week:

- A. Newman, Vice-President and Cashier Drovers National Bank, Kansas City.
- J. M. Hellings, Assistant Cashier and David T. Beal Interstate National Bank, Kansas City.
- Chas. E. Watie, President Stock Yards National Bank, Kansas City.
- Chas. H. Moore, Vice President Southwest National Bank of Commerce, Kansas City.
- V. K. Tuggle, Assistant Cashier, New England National Bank, Kansas City.
- T. P. Martin, President Stock Yards National Bank, Oklahoma City.
- Wirt Wright, President National Live Stock Yards National Bank, Chicago.
- M. B. Keith, Assistant Cashier, Security National Bank, Dallas.
- J. D. Gillespie, Assistant Cashier City National Bank, Dallas.
- W. P. Andrews, Cashier First National Bank, Ft. Worth.
- M. W. Massie, Assistant Cashier Ft. Worth National Bank.
- J. W. Hoopes, Vice Governor Federal Reserve Bank, Dallas.
- Thos. J. Zook, Zook & Zook Commission Co., Kansas City.
- J. C. Swift, Swift & Henry Co., Kansas City.

David Beas Here

Although young in years one of the best known men attending the Bankers convention last week was David T. Beas of Kansas City. He was here as a representative of the Interstate National Bank of Kansas City. He is just past twenty one. When a child two years old, he was kidnapped and held for ransom. He was finally released after his father had spent large sums for detectives and for ransom money to get him back. His father is a millionaire banker.

Several Cases of Typhoid

There are several cases of typhoid fever reported in this section. A son of James Clark, Mr. White's boy of north of town and A. M. Leving's boy near Friona, are all reported as being ill of this disease. Good time to clean up and watch the milk and water supply.

SNEAK-THIEVES STILL AT IT

Another Business House Is Victim of Gang of Thieves—Elliston Takes Shot at Prowler.

Some time Friday night the gang of little petty, kitchen robbing loafers entered the back window of the Lewis Bakery and carried off just enough, cakes, bread other pastry and several boxes of chewing gum, to be aggravating.

This is the second business house within the past two or three weeks that has been the recipient of a visit of these prowlers, the meat market being the first to have the honor. For several weeks now, this thieving has been going on in the east part of town and while nothing of any big value has yet been taken, there is no telling just when the nerve of these "things" will prompt them to attempt something bigger. Probably would be a Lord's blessing if they did, for then the officers would have a clue of some kind to work on.

Some clear eyed citizen ought to load his trusty old shot gun with a big load of salt and mustard seed and apply the application some time just as Mr. Robber is going away from the kitchen.

Tuesday night Byrle Elliston took a shot at someone he discovered prowling around his residence. It probably was one of the "gang."

Constable Purcell was called to the home of Mrs. Hysmith, Wednesday night about ten o'clock by the information that some one had attempted to break into her home. By the time the officer reached the scene no trace of the maurader was to be found.

Farmers Have Charge of Services

The evening services at the Presbyterian church last Sunday were in charge of the farmer members of the congregation. Despite the fact that the leader, W. A. Stewart had very little time in which to arrange a service, a very entertaining and helpful program was given. In addition to a very interesting talk by the leader, Mr. Rice delivered a fifteen minutes talk on the subject of "Habits" that could not fail to be very helpful to all who heard it. Short talks were also made by Mr. Chapman and Mr. Gallagher in the way of testimonials as to the success they have had in mixing the teachings of the Lowly Nazarene with the farming vocation. Another feature of the service was the beautiful song rendered by a quartette.

Regular Services

The Regular services will be held at the Methodist church Sunday. The subject of the morning sermon will be "The New Jerusalem."

RIVER STEAMER CAPSIZED

1000 Passengers Drowned in Chicago River. Boat was Top Heavy

The steamer Eastland capsized at the wharf at the mouth of the Chicago river last Friday and the entire load of passengers went into the river.

There were about 2500 passengers on board all bound for an excursion and picnic. As soon as the boat was loosed from its moorings it toppled over and sunk in the river. It is estimated that about a thousand lives were lost.

The boat was top heavy either from improper construction or from not being properly ballasted. An investigation is underway to fix the responsibility.

Hereford Now Has Laundry

One of the new enterprises that Hereford should be proud of as well as support to the fullest extent is the new Sanitary Steam Laundry just put in operation.

The attention of Brand readers is called to the advertisement of this institution this week. Every citizen should support this institution with its business if it can do good work at even higher prices.

The town that will not support its own institutions has the dry rot and is a goner.

Mrs. Axe served an elaborate dinner last Sunday, having invited the county commissioners who served when Mr. Axe was a commissioner too. The men who composed that distinguished body shown as the commissioners' court were all present except one, it being impossible for John McCormick to be with them.

A most enjoyable day was spent recalling and discussing past incidents of their office work together. Every man among them is loud in his praise of the culinary art displayed by their hostess at the noon hour. Only one who has enjoyed a noon hour with Mrs. Axe can amply describe it. Roast turkey with all the "fixins" that go with it and good cream ice cream for dessert.

As the shadows began to lengthen it reminded them all too soon that the day was beginning to wane. Each reluctantly bade adieu to their host and his good wife who had made for them a day of unalloyed pleasure long to be remembered. The dinner guests were Judge Kerr and County Attorney Cousart, of Dimmitt, T. L. Snyder of Bailey county, Frank Metcalf and Frank Axe.

Mrs. Flo Bacus of Nazareth, spent one day recently at the home of her parents. She is slowly improving in health.

Chin Music

The story is said of a veteran of the civil war who returned to the home of his boyhood to attend a banquet given by the old boys. The diners were all men he had known as youngsters. He expected them to talk over old times. Instead, one talked incessantly about his bad liver; another discoursed on his weak heart; a third had a lot to say about his kidney trouble, and so it went on. When the veteran returned to his home he was asked how he enjoyed the banquet.

"Banquet!" he replied, showing vexation. "It wasn't a banquet it was an organ recital."—Ex.

A Tragic Event

It was a town girl—and the same sad story that, alas, has often been told, and checked many a young life which had its beginning in sunshine, surrounded by luxury and the wealth of the world. Her eyes were wild and staring, her face was flushed and her hands were nervously working. She was a deeply troubled and injured woman, and we hear her saying: "Oh cruel one you have injured the very foundation of my being! Day by day you have tortured me, and yet I could not bear to give you up. When we first met how your ease and polish affected me! When you became my own, how my friends envied me. But your understanding is too small for my large soul. You are opposed to my advancing myself. You have injured my standing in society. If we had never met I might have walked in peace. So now be gone! We part forever!" There was a moment's convulsive breathing, a gritting of teeth and a sharp sigh. It was all over. By a supreme effort she had pulled off her new shoe.—Ex.

Big Cattle Deal

Genuine Paprika is NOT a Kind of Cayenne Pepper

Because they look alike, most of us have a sort of general impression that Cayenne (Red) Pepper and Paprika are made of pretty much the same thing, only that one is hotter than the other. And that the difference in the "burn" of them comes from the way they're made or by putting something into the Paprika to sweeten it.

The best Cayenne is ground from pods that come all the way from the East Indies. Of course, some of the lower grades of Cayenne come from Jamaica, South America, Mexico and our own South, but when we speak of Cayenne we refer to the choicest, most pungent and finest flavored, such as White Swan Red Pepper.

The real Paprika though comes from Spain or Hungary and has no Cayenne mixed with it. It is an entirely different pod than Cayenne and is used to flavor with its own delightful and distinctive taste, mild and sweet, while Cayenne is used primarily to make things hot. And yet though so different it belongs to the red pepper family. Therefore, it is possible to use ordinary red peppers in making a so-called Paprika and to call it by a name similar to this and be within the letter of the law. It is more hot than tasty—yet it might pass for Paprika.

Here again you must buy your Paprika under the brand of a company whose standing and integrity are both beyond question, if you are to be certain of getting a Paprika that has the real and delicious flavor that only the best can have. We guarantee to you that White Swan Paprika is genuine and unadulterated—packed to preserve all flavor and goodness.

Your grocer sells White Swan Red Pepper and White Swan Paprika—both of distinguished quality, purity and strength.

Gained Four Days Out of Nine

Over in Oklahoma one of the business concerns using a great many wagons had been considering the question of axle grease.

Apparently no conclusion could be reached from the statements of competitive sellers of the products, so the company decided to make a test.

Two NEW wagons which had just been delivered to the company were selected for the test. To one wagon a competitive grease was applied on both front and rear wheels, Texaco grease being used on the other.

They were set to work. In five days the competitive grease was done, the spindles got hot and a new application was required.

IN NINE DAYS TEXACO GREASE WAS STILL GOOD, SPINDLES IN PERFECT CONDITION READY FOR ONE MORE DAY.

Texaco service on wagons is like Texaco service on anything else, ready to give unusual value to the man who uses it.

Take advantage of Texaco quality by buying the Red-Star-Green-T oils. Made in Texas.

"Behind them the upper rim of the sun shone blood-red above the top of the purple mountain wall; over their heads in the soft still depths of the sky an early star appeared. Around them on every side the great desert lay under its seas of soft color, its veils of misty light and streaming scarfs of lilac and rose. Even as they looked the dusk of twilight fell upon the great plain. The ground-owl's weird call came from a hummock near the trail, the ghostly form of a coyote slipped stealthily past like a shadow moving from shadow to shadow until he was lost in the deeper shade, out of which, as if in mocking challenge of a spirit band to any mortal who would follow, came the wild, snarling, unearthly cries of his invisible mates. And still to the eastward the higher levels of the Mesa above the rim of the dark Basin, the slow drifting clouds of dust that lifted from the tired feet of the grading teams coming into camp from the day's work on the canals, or from freighters drawing near their journey's end, caught the last of the light and showed long level bands and bars and threads of gold against the deep purple of the hills beyond, whose peaks and domes and ridges were flaming crimson, burnished copper and gleaming silver on the deep background of the sky. Before them on the other side of the deep Dry River channel, through which now a generous stream of water flowed, they could see the tents of the camp—some glowing brightly from lights within, others showing mere spots of dull white in the gloom, while here and there lanterns, like great fireflies, flitted aimlessly to and fro."—From "The Winning of Barbara Worth," by Harold Bell Wright.

Saved Girl's Life

"I want to tell you what wonderful benefit I have received from the use of Thedford's Black-Draught," writes Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky.

"It certainly has no equal for la grippe, bad colds, liver and stomach troubles. I firmly believe Black-Draught saved my little girl's life. When she had the measles, they went in on her, but one good dose of Thedford's Black-Draught made them break out, and she has had no more trouble. I shall never be without

The brand office would like to have reports from farms on wheat yields, as well as reports on crops of all kind. These things all help boost, and our country is well worth boosting.

If the Kaiser ever succeeds in getting the ire of the American people stirred up against him to the extent that a base ball umpire sometimes does, there will certainly be doings on the works. Will be no lengthy peace arguments, no recalling of ministers, no arbitration, or anything like that, but believe us, there will be battle instant.

If worse comes to worse we think this country has a much more effective way of bringing Germany to terms than that of going to war. For instance, we might shut off the exporting of food stuffs and war munitions, etc., to that country. Judging by the amount of these commodities now being shipped to the war area, that would be the one sane, humane and simple means of ending that conflict anyhow.

Did you ever notice that the one place in a neighborhood where one can hear all the gossip, every bit of scandal, yes, and have the information given you that someone you had called friend was saying mean things about you,—did you ever notice, we say, that the inhabitant of that place can hear more of that sort of things by staying at home than others can hear who spend part of each day in their business houses and on the streets?

We knew a long time ago that it should have been done but we just stalled it off from day to day until last Friday Brother Ashbrook and Bob Brazil called us to the back door and offered a few suggestions as to placing our coal box and kindling pile. We followed instructions and like it much better, because we now have a straight shoot from the back door to the coal box and back from the coal box to the door. This efficiency business is sure something great. The way it was before, now, the old coal box was at our left as we went out the door, so we had to go out, turn to the left, get our coal, then turn the corner again to get back inside the house. Besides being handier on a cold winter day, it looks a heap better.

Something has to be done and that something right now, to put a quietus on that petty larceny thieving of victuals that has been going on for the past several weeks over in the east part of town. Evidently the little tin-horn burglar is keeping the wolf from the door by swiping his neighbor's breakfast, but it's pretty doggone tough on the said neighbor to get comfortably seated at the breakfast table, get his tools in position to devour that which is set before him, and then have the good wife enter kind of sad-eyed looking from the kitchen and slip him the information that the "ham and," the pancake dough and the "taters" have been swiped, and if they have any breakfast at all he'll have to hurry out and "pail old Sooky" while one of the kids hot-foots it to the bakery for a loaf of "butter-crust." Some of the residents over there insinuate that there are breakers ahead for this breakfast swiping guy, as the novelty of having their breakfast thieved while they sleep has worn off and as all else must end sooner or later, this, too, has got to stop.

WILSON'S THIRD NOTE

In his third note to Germany President Wilson has combined diplomatic language and firmness of utterance. The President has certainly made it plain to the German Emperor just where we stand. There is no backing down.

Every good American should be and will be behind the President for our rights as a matter of principle. At this time while the terribleness of war is constantly before us, the people of this country sincerely want peace. But peace at any price is not to be thought of.

In this dealing with Germany, President Wilson is showing a strong side of his character. Calmness linked with firmness.

TIME TO PREPARE EXHIBIT

It is time some steps should be taken to prepare an exhibit for the Panhandle Fair at Amarillo. The products of this section will compare favorably with those from any section. The advertising that the county gets from such an exhibit as Deaf Smith had last year will have a wide influence. If the selection of samples is put off till late the best will not be secured, nor will the variety be so great.

SOME NEEDED STREET WORK

Many of the streets of Hereford are in rather bad condition especially for autos. Main street is not only rough and full of ruts in places but there are many sharp stones that cut tires. If there is no available funds for dragging these streets after rains, it seems that it might be done by private subscription. The expense would improve the appearance of the town and make traffic both more safe and pleasant.

Many of the crossings are in bad condition. They have been put in too high and not given a proper approach. These could be remedied with a little expenditure. This would seem to be a proper work for the commercial club to take hold of.

ARE WE UNPREPARED

A great many nervous people in this country are uneasy lest this country get into war and find themselves in an unprepared state to battle with any of the first class powers. This raises the question as to whether the United States is as unprepared as some people think. It is not customary for a country to let every one know just what is being done along these lines. Very few people knew before the Spanish American war that the United States had one of the most powerful fleets afloat, yet they were in such perfect trim that it only took a few minutes to the Spanish fleet out and end the war.

This country has been spending billions on battleships and training men ever since the last war. Just now they are spending more than a million on air ships of the fighting kind. Edison has let it be known that if we had to have war we could construct guns and other war schemes that would make war so much more terrible than at present that a little of it would satisfy any nation. We do not want war but let no one fear that his nation is entirely unprepared.

The President's Note

In standing now back of the President the American people do not need to speak the alternative, "My country, right or wrong." Mr. Wilson, in his latest note to Germany, has placed his country unquestionably right.

It is a statement of national self-respect and yet of friendly respect to every right of Germany. It cuts away all the side issues. If it is an "ultimatum" it is so only in the sense that it now ends diplomatic evasions and rests it with the German government either to be friendly or unfriendly.

The essence of what the President has now said to Germany was there in his first note on the Lusitania incident. The only difference is that Germany's apparent non-understanding of the American position has made it necessary to reduce the general principles to more specific terms.

The president has called to the surface the patriotism and pride in American citizenship that abides in the hearts of the 100 million American people. In all deliberate fairness and consciousness of responsibility he has stated the fundamentals of manhood and nationhood. He has placed the great republic on a plane of unoffending but unafraid righteousness.—Kansas City Star.

The country in the vicinity of Hereford was fortunate again Sunday morning in receiving a pretty good shower. From all reports we can get the country is in pretty good shape at present and does not particularly need rain, but what we do get will do no harm and will be welcomed.

It is said that "fools rush in where angels fear to tread," but we are going to say it, anyway: We are getting sick and tired of hearing professional evangelists continually denouncing society and club women. The subject has long been worn threadbare, and for the good this continual harping at them does, it would just as well be left unsaid. The average society and club woman measures up in goodness and goodly acts pretty well with other women. Then another thing: Denouncing and ridiculing women's dress is talk thrown away. What right has man to dictate what a woman shall or shall not wear?—Amarillo News.

"Them's our sentiments, too."—Crosbyton Review.

The Menace of Content.

It is in this truth that I find the real secret, the deepest meaning, of the everlasting dissatisfaction of men that is always ready to be stirred. We moralize, we philosophize about the discontent of men. We give little reason for it; but the real reason for it all is this, that which everything lying behind really signifies that man is greater than his circumstances, and that God is always calling to him to come up to the fullness of his life. Dreadful will be the day when the world becomes contented, when one great universal satisfaction spreads itself over the world. Sad will be the day for every man when he becomes absolutely contented with the life that he is living, with the thoughts that he is thinking, with the deeds that he is doing, when there is not forever beating at the doors of his soul some great desire to do something larger, which he knows that he was meant and made to do because he is the child of God. And there is the real secret of the man's struggle with his sins. It is not simply the hatefulness of the sin, as we have said again and again, but it is the dim preception, the deep suspicion, the real knowledge at the heart of the man, that there is a richer and a sinless region in which it is really meant for him to dwell. Man stands separated from that life of God, as it were, by a great, thick wall, and every effort to put away his sin, to make himself nobler and a purer man, is simply his beating at the inside of that door which stands between him and the life of God, which he knows that he ought to be living. It is like the prisoner hidden in his cave, who feels through all the thick walls that shuts him out from the sunlight and the joyous life that is outside, who knows that his imprisonment is not his true condition, and so with every tool that his hands can grasp and with his bleeding hands themselves, beats on the stone that he may find his way out.—PHILIPPS BROOKS.

Flag of the United States

John Wanamaker, the great merchant prince of the United States, and life-long and consistent Republican, who has conscientiously supported the policies of President Wilson, made a speech in Philadelphia a few days ago that deserves more than passing comment, for it contained the ring of true Americanism. Mr. Wanamaker said:

"The flag of the United States from this day on has got to mean more to the world than it ever did before. This nation is not going to ask permission from any foreign country to travel across the ocean that belongs to the whole world, and don't forget that!"

That is the kind of language to use to every European belligerent, for it is language that expresses honest American sentiment and gives notice to the world that as a nation

we are prepared to back up and defend every right we are entitled to. The navigable waters of this earth do not belong to Great Britain. Neither do those around the British Isles belong to Germany. Right has not yet been subordinated to might, and there is no nation on the face of the earth that is big enough to successfully deny us our rights.

The flag of the United States does not stand for the control of the seas, and we do not sing little anthems concerning the ability of Uncle Sam to rule the waves. But Old Glory does stand for the freedom of the seas and the right of American commerce to extend itself to every nook and corner of this globe that desire our business.—Amarillo Daily News.

CALOMEL IS MERCURY! IT SICKENS! ACTS ON LIVER LIKE DYNAMITE

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Starts Your Liver Better Than Calomel and Doesn't Salivate or Make You Sick.

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work! Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone on my guarantee.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful to-night and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick. I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

It is cheaper to buy wholesome fruits than it is to pay doctor bills. A sweet, juicy orange or a slice of luscious pineapple is more pleasant to "take" than a dose of Calomel. Eat fruit and avoid irritating, weakening purgative medicines. Fruits are nourishing too, and easy to digest. It is absolutely necessary to eat them to "carry off" heavy meats. Our fruits are always the "choicest."

The Farmer and the Cow

There were interesting papers read at the Panhandle Bankers Convention at Hereford, Texas last week. They covered such a practical field that it is hoped they will be printed for general circulation.

"Financing Cattle Paper" by Julian M. Bassett, president of the First National Bank of Crosbyton was a paper that will interest every industry in northwest Texas. After summing up the changed conditions, Mr. Bassett said:

"The cow or the heifers can be handled at less expense to the farmer than the steer herds and yield to him dividends through the production of milk and butter and the sustaining of his family which does not exist through the handling of steers and beef cattle.

"It is particularly true of our country that there is an immense amount of waste on the farms such as stalks from kaffir corn, milo maize, feterita, wheat straw, and the grass that grow around the margins of the fields. If the farmer, who is naturally timid and retiring and who looks upon the banker as lording it over the situation, was encouraged to make loans for the purchase of cattle at the time he needs them to consume his waste crop, we would add to the production of our country in meat in such way that we would have a large income from that portion of the farms which is now a waste or detriment to the farmer. And when we come to consider that all the seed that is produced is ultimately or in the end consumed by human beings, either in vegetable or meat foods, we can easily see that the conserving of this cheap product would add greatly to our wealth and produce for us a revenue from which we do not now benefit."

—A. M. Hove.

Dr. Rucker Goes to Austin

Dr. H. D. Rucker, one of the best farmers that ever settled in the Panhandle, and incidentally one of the best boosters for Hereford and country that ever called this place home, left Sunday for Austin, accompanying those boys who went from this place to attend the Boys' Short Course. Doctor Rucker informed us at the station that he was going to let the people down at the capitol know that Hereford country was on the map and the very best country in the best state in the union.

Soon after the return of the Doctor it is his intention to serve a special chicken dinner to the ministers of Hereford and a few other friends.

Before settling in the Panhandle Dr. Rucker was in the show business and that he made a success of that business is attested to by the scores of other show people who hold his friendship very high, and also by people all over the Southwest who are familiar with Rucker medicines and the doctor's methods of dealing with customers. He has made the same success with farming that he made with the show business.

Credit

Credit is an estimate of your capacity to worry about paying your bills which is held about you by a lot of total strangers. Credit is also a belief held of your ability to pay for something long after you have ceased to derive any benefit from it. Credit is likewise a gauge of willingness to deceive yourself into the belief you can afford to buy something because you cannot pay cash for it. If everybody paid cash there would be no bond issues, no huge clerical forces, no national debts, no armies or military systems, no schools such as exist today, no war, no degenerate fashions—nothing but plain, everyday living. Credit enables everybody to live a fictitious existence. Nothing exceeds like credit.—Life!

What Bill Turner Did.

Bill Turner was a farmer, he ignored all his life. He didn't have no schoolin' and neither had his wife. But Bill was built for business and made the wheels go round, and left a healthy fortune when they put him under ground. He was always taking chances, paid a hundred for a bull. His neighbors called him crazy, but he left a stable full of cows that broke the record, making butter by the ton, an' Bill had his picture printed in the Speedunk Weekly Sun. He had newfangled notions of making farming pay. He even bought a fool machine to help him load his hay. The neighbors fairly snorted when they saw the bloomin' thing; said Bill would never make it work. It wasn't worth a diag! Bill didn't say a single word and didn't care a darn 'bout what they said, fer slick as grease, his hay went in the barn an hour before the thunder storm came sailin' out that way and caught his neighbors in a pinch and spoiled their new-mown hay. Bill' neighbors put their milk in cans and set 'em in a tank. Bill skimmed his milk with a machine and turned it with a crank. Smith chops his firewood with an ax. Bill used some gasolene and saws a hundred cords a day with another blame machine. Today Bill's wife rides in a car and dresses up in silk. Smith's wife rides in a wagon and keeps on skimming milk.—Ex.

BETTER CONSTRUCTION AT LOWER COST

STUDY THESE CUTS

Why Interlocking Tile is so Widely Used

For many years the public—you—has needed a building material that would be better than anything heretofore in use, and at the same time be within the reach of all in cost.

Interlocking Tile is being used from New England to the Pacific Slope, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, because it is what the demand. In Texas every section is using this material for exterior building, it being a more especially adapted to our climate than any other.

No home can compare with a material that builds fireproof walls. It is used in summer, winter, in winter, stronger and more rigid, and at the same time cheaper than any other. Interlocking Tile does this.

Just why these apparently impossible "too-good-to-be-true" claims are so fully explained in our literature, government reports, etc. Write for this data and information now, even if you do not intend to build until later. You will be well repaid.

20,000 Horses For England
Gathered at Lathrop, Mo.
Kansas City, Mo., July 24.—Twenty thousand horses have been gathered at the British remount depot at Lathrop, Mo., and all the pens there are full. Until the horses can be inspected and shipped out no more will be bought. The horse receipts at Kansas City this year show an increase of 75 per cent and dealers say that more than 90 per cent of the offerings have been taken by representatives of European belligerents.

Mules are being bought up as fast as offered and are shipped at once to the seaboard for England or France, a few going to Italy. The supply is not up to the demand and prices are going up.

As a result of the demand for horses and mules abroad, the breeding business is booming and hundreds of farmers are replacing cattle with brood mares.

The above is from the St. Louis Post Dispatch. The editor of the Brand passed through the little town of Lathrop not larger than Hereford, on his recent trip to north Missouri. It is certainly a sight worth seeing to look at these horses grazing on these pastures adjoining. The great herds are plainly visible from the road as well as the big white barns used for feeding them. The death role among these horses from accident and disease of one kind and another is said to be from six to eight per day.

Trapping Lobos and Coyotes
John Corbett, an old trapper who for many years has trapped in West Texas, has been in the Denison pasture since June 23rd, trapping lobos, jack rabbits, etc. Since he has been in this part of the county he has caught 38 coyotes, 342 jack rabbits and 32 rattlesnakes. Mr. Corbett has three burros, a wagon, a South African blood hound and a pet lobo, which he uses in his business. He has quite a unique way of trapping lobos. He takes a fiddle and saws out some lonesome old tune, this causes the pet lobo to howl which brings other lobos within range and then the trapper gets them. Mr. Corbett is a first cousin of the ex-champion prize fighter, James Corbett, and has been in the west many years. His home is in San Angelo.—Midland Reporter.

Gathering News.
Never find fault because a newspaper fails to give every scrap of news so long as you take no pains to give the editor the information. The average editor isn't a medium or a mind reader, but he gets his news the same way a milkman gets his milk—by pumping. This is true especially of that class of items known as personals. Rightly they are not "puffery," simply personal mention for the information of local readers, and those having friends visiting them should always let the editor know it and he will be glad to give it proper notice. So if you have a bit of news worth printing put in the way of our pencil pusher.—Vega Sentinel.

Wheat Makes 43 bushels
J. R. Johnson, living west of town threshed 15 acres of dry farming wheat last week which made 43 bushels to the acre. This is the best yield that has been reported to this office, however, the crop throughout this section will average between 25 and 30 bushels to the acre. It is by far the best wheat and oat crop that has ever been made in Floyd county. The crop in the Lockney trade territory alone will bring a million dollars.—Lockney Beacon.

More Frills
Johnny handed the following note from his mother to the teacher one morning:
"Dear teacher You keep telling my boy to breathe with his diaphragm. Maybe rich children have got diaphragms, but how about when their father only makes a dollar a day and has got five children to keep? First it's one thing then it's another, and now it's diaphragms. That's the worst yet."

Improving Property
F. H. Oberthier is making some very extensive improvements on the property recently purchased, on Third street just a block off Main. Besides having city water put in and sewer connections made, he is having the house, the out buildings and the fence put in first-class condition. When the improvements are completed this will make a very desirable close in residence.

Ideals
Have you ever noticed that in almost every case the successful farmers are men who have definite aims—that they are men with ideals? A thinking man who plans to get the better things usually gets them, too. We need more ideals in farming. Especially it is important that the young men should get the right ideals. Unless a man starts out with a belief in livestock farming and a determination to get something out of life besides money he cannot make the greatest success. In forming these ideals a good plan is to consider the methods used by the successful farmers in your community quite carefully.

The Singing Heart.
If I could flap my wings and sing I guess that would be everything In this old world that I would do! Because the skies is such a blue, Because of children sweet to see, And people that think lots of me; If I could sing, guess I can say That's 'bout all! I would do all day. And so it's fortunate, I guess, That it sounds like some swift distress Had overtook a little shoat And was a-tuggin at its goat, And makin it squeal, when I roll My eyes up and pour out my soul In thankfulness, and joy and peace— Then someone laughs, and then I cease. And I guess that it's a good thing That my voice was not made to sing; Because there's lots of soil to turn, And there's a lignin' for to earn For all of them that's lovin' me; But th' ain't no bird in any tree, That sets and sings there all day long, That's half as full as me of song.
—Judd Lewis in Houston Post.

Recording Big Deed
County Clerk A. O. Thompson is busy now recording the most voluminous deed he ever had to deal with. It is a deed transferring 978,053 acres of land and some town lots from the capital syndicate to Francis C. Farwell and others. There are 98 type written pages. It is gotten up in English style and is a curiosity. It required nearly $5,000 revenue stamps and will cost about $200 to record it in the four counties in which the land lies.

Radium Used to Promote Plant Growth.

Some of the remarkable properties of radium are being demonstrated by an exhibitor in the Liberal Arts building at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco.

Demonstrating the power of this mineral promoting metabolism a number of young plants, some existing with and some without the aid of radium, are shown.

This inventor has found a process of impregnating terra cotta bricks with radium-bearing minerals, and these small bricks placed in water are said to give it remarkable purgative properties.

Most Rapid Photographs Ever Taken.

The most remarkable set of speed photographs ever taken are a part of the war department's exhibit in Machinery Hall at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco.

The pictures were taken with a lens having an exposure period of one five-thousandth of a second, this being the fastest shutter ever manufactured.

One picture shows the shell half-way out of the muzzle before any smoke and gas has escaped. Another was taken when the shell was two feet from the muzzle but hidden by a heavy ring of smoke.

The photographs are so perfect and the exposure so rapid that scarcely any blur is perceptible. They were taken at Fortress Monroe, Va., under the direction of Capt. F. J. Behl of the coast artillery corps and head of the department of enlisted specialists at the Coast Artillery school at Fortress Monroe.

THE BATTLE OF THE TIRES

(Agricultural and Commercial Press Service)
It is interesting to watch the forces of civilization battling for supremacy. The struggle now going on between the rubber and the iron tire promises to be the liveliest contest of the Twentieth Century.

The struggle is a silent one and there are no war correspondents to write vivid descriptions of the conflict but the results are more far-reaching to present and future generations than the war of Europe.

The rubber tire has been maneuvering for point of attack for several years and has captured a few important positions in traffic, but it has now pitched a decisive battle with its iron competitor by hurling a million "jitters" at the street railways and the battle is raging from ocean to ocean.

If the rubber tire conquers the street traffic its next struggle is with the railroads of the country, and then the greatest battle between economic forces ever fought out on the face of this earth is on, for iron is the undisputed master in transportation, and is fortified behind billions of dollars, and millions of men.

Stephenson applied the steel tire to an iron rail in 1814, but it was 1869 before the golden spike was driven at Promontory Point, which bound the country together with bands of steel. It took the iron tire fifty-five years to creep from ocean to ocean, but the rubber tire while warm from the creative mind of the inventive genius sped across the continent like an arrow shot from the bow of Ulysses.

But iron is a stubborn metal and it has mastered every wheel that turns; has fought battles with every element above and beneath the earth and has never tasted the wormwood of defeat, and when rubber hurls its full force against this monarch of the Mineral Kingdom, it may rebound to the factory stunned beyond recovery.

The rubber tire first made its appearance on the bicycle, but it proved a frivolous servant and was dismissed for incompetency. It has always been too much inclined to revel in luxury to be taken seriously as a utility machine and its reputation is not one to inspire confidence in heavy traffic performance.

But to those who care to waft into drear land, it is enchanting to note that there will be a marvelous difference between a rubber and an iron age. The rubber tire will scatter the cities throughout the valleys for with transportation at every man's door, why a city? It will traverse the continent with a net work of Macadam highways as beautiful as the boulevard built by Napoleon.

FEDERAL INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION

By Peter Radford.
The recent investigation of the United States Commission of Industrial Relations brought together the extremes of society and has given the public an opportunity to view the representatives of distinct classes, side by side, and to study their views in parallel columns.

Capital and labor have always been glaring at each other over gulfs of misunderstanding and if the Federal Industrial Commission attempts to bridge the chasm, it will render the public a distinct service.

The farmer has been sitting on the fence watching capital and labor fight for many years and incidentally furnishing the stews of war and it is quite gratifying to find them talking with, instead of about, each other. When honest men smile and look into each other's souls, it always makes the world better and far more satisfactory to the farmer, who in the end, bears the burden of conflict, than resolutions, speeches or pamphlets containing charges and counter-charges.

The love for justice makes the whole world kin. Understanding is an arbiter far more powerful than the mandates of government, for there is no authority quite so commanding as an honest conscience; there is no decree quite so binding as that of the Supreme Court of Common Sense and no sheriff can keep the peace quite so perfect as Understanding.

We suppose the time will never come when capital and labor will not be occasionally blinded by the lightning flashes of avarice or frightened by the thunder peals of discontent. But Understanding is a Prince of Peace that ever holds out the olive branch to men who want to do right. A man's income is always a sacred thing for it is the hope, ambition and opportunity of himself, and family, but there is nothing in a human heart quite so divine as Justice and Understanding is its handmaiden.

HIS LAST TEA FIGHT

By HOPE AINSLEE.
(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Don't ask me to go to any more of these tea fights, Helen, I beg of you," protested Donald Moore as he anticipated his sister's invitation.

Helen's pretty face became clouded at once. "George! How rude! Tea fights!"

"Well, pink, blue or yellow tea—or anything you like to call them. I've escorted you this whole winter from one studio to another. I've imbibed gallons of sticky tea and eaten pounds of cake and tarts and jam, and I've listened to would-be artists rave for hours about their souls and their temperaments. I'm sick of it."

"Won't you go just this once—this afternoon? I promised you would be there and I believe you'll really like Caroline Becker. She has no temperament and of course I find her rather dull—"

"I'll go," interrupted her brother. "Any person living in a studio and having a tea and that you can find dull must be an oddity."

George turned away, whistling. He had a sincere hope that his sister would develop some common sense after she had a season or two of New York studio life. She was young.

As they walked briskly down Central park west toward the studio building in which Helen's "dull" artist friend lived, George Moore began to be curious about his hostess to be.

He was more than curious when he took her proffered hand and felt her warm, strong grip as she welcomed him and his sister to her studio. The girl was beautiful, in a simple, sweet way. She was like the girl he knew in the West, not a particle like the girl his sister "adored" and who lived in the studios he had been frequenting.

"Neither was this studio like the others. It looked more like a real home than anything he had seen in New York. There was no oriental scent in the air; there were no dimly lighted candle lamps, no smoking table with "ladies' cigarettes" lying on it.

"This is so cheerful and homelike, Miss Becker," he found himself saying after he and his sister had admired the picture that had won the Academy prize.

"Oh, it is, really?" asked Caroline, earnestly. "It is, indeed," George repeated. "That's been one of my main objects in the furnishing of it and in all my little entertainments. I've tried to have the home atmosphere—the way mother does at home in Omaha—and now don't laugh when I show you something." She ran behind a screen and returned with a stone crock in her arms.

"The cookie crock!" cried Helen. "I can hardly believe my eyes," added George. "And real, homemade cookies!" explained Caroline, removing the top of the crock. "Mother sends them every week and I always have some."

Each of the guests took a round sugar-covered cookie and ate it as if it were the best thing they had ever tasted. "I wouldn't exchange this cookie for all the French tarts or pate-de-fougere tid-bits in all the studios in New York," said George Moore more enthusiastically than his sister had heard him express himself since he had left home.

"They are good," admitted Helen. "It's just that—they remind me of home," said Caroline. "As George reached for a third cookie his sister frowned upon him. "George Moore! You laugh so loud and eat so much. I'm ashamed of you," she admonished.

"Don't be so cross, Miss Moore," pleaded Caroline, putting a friendly hand on Helen's arm. "It's so good to see and hear him. It's like home— itself."

And after that the guests began to arrive so that George and his sister could not monopolize their hostess. Helen had to drag her brother home and as she usually had to urge him to remain even a polite length of time she was more than amused. "That is the first real girl I've met at these tea fights, sis," he said as they walked home.
