Reagan's 'State of the Union' speech tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) -President Reagan, facing strengthened opposition in Congress and the longest recession since World War II, unveils priorities for the second half of his term tonight, and a White House official says there will be "no rosy economic forecasts."

Delivering his State of the Union address to a joint session of the House and Senate and a nationwide television and radio audience, Reagan will make a "strong bipar-tisan appeal to attack the economic problems," said the official, who spoke on the condition that he not be identified by name.

Reagan invited Republican congressional leaders to the White House this morning for a briefing on the speech and

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes predicted that once Reagan's congressional allies have had a look at his proposals, they are less likely to object to some of them.

The president's reported plan to ask for a contingency tax increase by 1966 if his pro-gram fails to bring down the federal budget deficit has met with skepticism on the part of Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn.

As late as Monday afternoon, that plan was still under discussion at the White House, a senior White House official said.

The president is scheduled to begin the State of the Union speech, marking the start of

The new Congress presents the president with a new political situation.

The Republican congres-sional leadership is showing ss willingness than it did two years ago to go along with Reagan's plans, and the Democrats have boosted their majority by 26 seats in

The new scenario, and continued economic problems, has brought pressure on Reagan to propose jobs pro-grams, reduce the planned increase in defense spending, and scale back his planned reductions in spending for domestic programs.

In addition, his political standing appears weaker among the voters.

A recent Gallup Poll showed that 41 percent of those surveyed approved of the way he was doing his job, a recent predecessors at midterm. And a new-Washington Post-ABC poll got the same results, putting the approval rate at 42 percent of those it surveyed.

One administration official, speaking privately, said that in his message, Reagan will say that "we are going to create conditions that will result in future economic growth and solve the problem growth and solve the problem of unemployment."

During the past year, the rate of joblessness rose from 8.5 percent to 10.8 percent.

Officials said the president would include proposals to: -Allow teen-agers to work for a sub-minimum wage.

-Delay cost-of-living increases for beneficiaries of certain government pro-

-Reduce medical costs.

Services for Schroeter Wednesday

MAJOR SCHROETER

August J. "Major" Schroeter, a prominent, Hereford longtime businessman, civic and church leader, died Monday morning in Deaf Smith General Hospital after a short illness.

Schroeter, 71, was owner of A.O. Thompson Abstract Co., with his wife, Margaret, for many years. He was a former county judge, longtime county surveyor, and was selected as the county's "Citizen of the Year" for 1973.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday in First Presbyterian Church with the Rev. George Belford, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in West Park Cemetery under direction of Gililland-Watson Funeral Home.

Schroete was born Feb. 20, 1911 in Cypress Mill, near Marble Falls. The family moved to Abernathy when he was six years old, and he finished high school at Plainview. Major attended Texas Tech University. He married Margaret Thompson Aug. 27, 1931 and they lived in Lubbock a short time before moving to Hereford early in 1933.

The Schroeters have lived at 603 Union since May 1 1936. Major worked at Thompson Abstract, Hereford National Farm Loan Association, and served as Deaf Smith County Judge in 1939-44. He also worked at the Prisoner of War camp outside Hereford.

Schroeter and his father, R. Schroeter, built Elm Court and he helped with the operation of it after the POW camp closed at the end of World War II. After the death of Judge Gulley was ill. McPherson said that one bailiff could not handle the duties of the court, especially with conflicts due to supervision of juries and guarding of prisoners. The sheriff said that he felt another bailiff was necessary, and that it was his duty by law to provide the court with one if the judge deemed it necessary. Several options, including the hiring of a person to act as a bailiff on an on-call basis, were discussed by the court before a decision was made to table the item for further information.

Irrigation energy costs to increase

By JERI CURTIS Staff Writer

Energy costs for irrigation will rise in 1983. And again in 1984. And probably in 1985. Farmers heard the familiar story straight from local utility managers Monday night at a forum presented by the Deaf Smith County Extension Office.

Basically: -Gas costs for running irrigation engines will be about

The Coffee Memorial Bloodmobile will be at the Hereford Community Center from 4 to 6:30 p.m. Wednesday for the monthly blood drive. Residents are encouraged to come by and give this year than in August of last year.

"We're counting on things going well," NASA spokesman Hugh Harris said late Monday. "The whole crux of the matter is finding where that hydrogen is coming from."

The countdown for today's scheduled test began at 9 a.m. Saturday, and space agency spokesman Dick Young said that "it looks like a smooth count."

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said they would not know for several days whether whether the leak had been found.

The leak of hydrogen within, or into, the tailsection engine compartment has mystified technicians since shortly after the first forced NASA to postponement Challenger's first mission by more than a month until late February, at the earliest.

Harris emphasized that "this is nothing like the Hindenburg," referring to the German zeppelin whose hydrogen-inflated gas bag exploded over Lakehurst, N.J.; in 1937, killing 36 people. "We're talking about a relatively small amount of hydrogen.'

Heavy Snowfall

The 15 inches of snow must have been too much for this metal building to stand up under last weekend, and the structure, housing Hap's Flea Market on north Ave. K collapsed under the ponderous weight of the icy stuff. Clear skies have helped the situation the past couple of days, with much of the snow melting off streets in the area.

The residents of this house on Ave. C had some fun over the weekend, taking advantage of the wet snow to build their own bathing beauty. The armless fem sports a silver two-piece suit, a close-cropped hairdo, and a bigger-than-life belly button.

Hereford was still digging out of the snow and ice this week after a 15-inch blanket of snow covered the area Thursday and Friday. The storm caused many cancellations and postponements of meetings and events, and practically shut down business activities Friday.

We'd like to brag on our Brand carriers for getting the paper to their customers Friday and Saturday. The youngsters did a great job, even though some of the papers may have got covered up in the snow. Our subscribers were understanding and cooperative, too, and not many people called in to have another paper

While some folks are complaining about the inconviences caused by the snow, it is a real blessing to farmers of the area. It will deposit some beneficial moisture on farm and ranch land!

We lost a good'un Monday.

The death of Major Schroeter is a loss that will be felt throughout the entire community. He was, truly, a pillar of the community-a man who contributed and participated in making Hereford a better place in which to live, work and play.

We only had the privilege of knowing the Major for 11 years, but others have loved and respected him for half a century. Major always had that pleasant smile, optimistic attitude and a word of encouragement at the right time Major was a mover in the growth and development of Deaf Smith County, but he went about it in a gracious and low-key manner. Major was a very special person to my wife, Lavon. years ago, Lavon and Major teamed up to win a bridge tourney and they began calling each other "Champ" when their paths crossed.

Major was a champ, no doubt about it. He left his mark on this community and many of us will have fond memories of our friendship with Major Schroeter.

He was a good'un!

Representative hit

by broken gavel AUSTIN (AP) - A slow day early in the session can turn hectic fast, as Rep. Anita Hill found when she had to be hustled down to the Capitol doctor for a tetanus shot after getting hit in the head by a broken gavel.

Rep. Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, was standing in for Speaker Gib Lewis who was in Houston at philanthropist George Brown's funeral Monday. Berlanga was slamming the big wooden gavel to signal passage of several courtesy resolutions when it broke in two and flew out onto the floor.

"The handle broke near the big round part, which hit me in the side of the head. It cut the skin and bled a lot, but not enough to require stitches," said Rep. Hill, R-Garland, who immediately left the House chamber.

She said the doctor told her she was "lucky" - she did not have a concussion. But she said she was not feeling

Senators approve safety seat bill

AUSTIN (AP) - Senators have quickly approved a bill making it mandatory to keep a child under 4 years restrained in a safety seat while a car or light truck is moving. The 9-0 approval of the Senate State Affairs Committee sent the bill to the full Senate, one of the first proposals approved for debate this session.

Laura Begnaud of Port Neches testified Monday that the death of her small son in an automobile accident probably could have been prevented if he had been strapped in a car safety

'My son's death could have been avoided," she said.

With her was a small daughter, April, who wore an artificial hand as a result of the crash.

Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said his bill provided for fines of $25 to $50, but that the fines could be waived if the parents prove within 10 days they have purchased or obtained a car safety seat.

He said the program had been successful in Tennessee since 1978. State partol cars carry a child's seat with them to loan to violators until they can get their own.

ODESSA, Texas (AP) - Two West Texas utilities have heeded the suggestion of Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace and started a fund to help the poor and elderly pay their natural gas and electricity bills.

The Salvation Army on Monday began administering the fund to which customers and employees of Energas Co. and Texas Electric Service Co. will be asked to donate.

Wallace has called on Texas utilities to start the funds.

Energas President Charles Vaughn said his company has reached agreements with seven non-profit organizations in the area to direct its "Heat Help" program.

Energas will be contributing an initial "working fund" based on the number of meters in each community, Vaughn said.

Texas Electric Service Co. has a similar program.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) - A plot including high-stakes gambling, narcotics and murder-for-hire continues to unravel before jurors hearing the murder trial of Jimmy Chagra, accused of ordering the assassination of a Texas federal judge

The government's case enters its eighth day today as prosecutors outline events leading up to the murder of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. The trial was moved to Jacksonville because of pretrial publicity in Texas.

Wood, known as "Maximum John," was shot once in the back outside his San Antonio townhouse on May 29, 1979, the day he once had been scheduled to begin presiding in Chagra's narcotics trial.

I hear from them a lot, thanks to the papers that carry this column and from friends who are kind enough to send it on to them.

Mostly I hear from them twice a year: the Fourth of July and the holidays. That's when the women suffer an attack of "home." It gets through to them. From one of our bases in the Philippines: "How much we Americans take for granted. There's no place like the good old U.S. of A. Our children would give anything for a Big Mac and a trip to a local shopping mall. We'd love to enjoy the spirit of fall football games and burning leaves.'

From Guam: "Tell us what is going on in our country. Not the big political stuff which we hear about, but has slang changed? Are there any mothers who still stay home? Has the family really changed drastically?"

The letters come from Germany, Belgium and Saudi Arabia, all wanting reassurance that their country is still here and is as they remember it.

These women are probably the closest most of the world gets to our country. Each and every member of their family is, in their own unique way, an ambassador of the United States. And what do they talk about when they get new orders? Are the schools great? Can I speak the language? Are there live-in snakes and creepy crawlers? Is the government friendly? Nope. The No. 1 priority is, "Will the curtains and draperies fit?"

Military people never keep diaries, just curtains.

I read every word of the letters and always experience a feeling of sadness. I wish I had the resources to take my own troupe of women to these countries, not to entertain the servicemen, but their wives and children. Somehow it might comfort them to know that supermarkets still have the carts with the wheels designed to go in four directions, that every woman in America would eat rice the rest of her life to have a live husband on the weekends from September to March, and that one-size-fits-all is still a

But, things might change tonight as Plainview meets winless Hereford in the second half of a district doubleheader in the HHS gym.

Monday, in games which were makeups of contests postponed last Friday because of foul weather, Caprock disposed of Hereford, 89-81; Tascosa tripped Palo Duro, 64-60; Lubbock ripped AHS, 77-63 and Monterey belted Coronado, 69-45, in boys' play.

The girls' race, which is a definite three-team chase for the two playoff spots, is much more predictable.

Monterey remained atop the heap with a 58-47 win over and Hereford (0-9) are out of the playoff picture. Monterey's 10-0 record leads the way in the girls' race. Plainview is a game back at 9-1, followed by AHS at 9-2. Then comes Palo Duro at 7-4, followed by Hereford (5-6),

Arkansas falls to 12th Leaders remain atop AP poll

By The Associated Press

UCLA, Indiana and North Carolina kept the top three spots today in The Associated Press college basketball poll, while a loss to previously unbeaten Arkansas allowed five members of last week's Top Ten to move up one notch.

In a nationwide poll of 60 sports writers and broadcasters, UCLA grabbed 28 first-place votes and 1,146 points, and Indiana had 25 first-place votes and 11 fewer points than the Bruins. Last week, the Hoosiers trailed UCLA by only eight points.

North Carolina stayed in third with 1,024 points and five first-place ballots.

Nevada-Las Vegas, the only NCAA Division I school with no losses, and Memphis State got one first-place vote each and took the fourth and fifth spots in the poll with 974 and 906 points, respectively.

They each jumped one spot from last week's Top 20 as Arkansas lost to Houston 75-60 and fell from fourth to

Also moving up one place were No. 6 Virginia, No. 7 St. John's and No. 8 Louisville.

Rounding out the first 10 were Houston, which leaped from 14th to ninth with its victory over Arkansas, and Kentucky, 11th a week ago.

The Second Ten is Villanova, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Georgetown, Minnesota, Illinois State, Syracuse, Wake Forest and Oklahoma State.

Illinois State, which improved its record to 14-1 by beating Tulsa 61-55, and Wake Forest, 13-2, were not ranked last week. They replaced Virginia Tech, which lost to Virginia and Tulane, and Auburn, which lost to Vanderbilt.

Carroll named player of week

NEW YORK (AP) - Joe Barry Carroll of the Golden State Warriors, who averaged 27.5 points and 11 rebounds a game last week, was named the National Basketball Association Player of the Hereford's girls, now 7-8 on the season, opened a 13-point lead with 2:45 left in the third period when they ran off 12 unanswered points at the outset of the second

But, after that it was a struggle as Caprock pulled within two points (51-49) with 48 seconds to play in the

Hereford sealed the win when Stephanie Foster hit the front end of a one-and-one foul situation with 40 seconds to play and Caprock's Kristy Keiber missed the front end of a similar situation 30 seconds later. Angela Richburg hit a layup with three seconds remaining to make the score

Field goal shooting was pretty much the difference. Hereford shot 38 percent from the floor (23 of 60), while Caprock could manage only 26 percent (19 of 71). In essence, the Longhorn girls took 11 more shots but hit four fewer baskets.

Sherri Ellis led Hereford with 19 points, while Carla Contreras led Caprock with a game-high 21. Miss Conteras was only nine of 25 from the field, however.

In addition to Caprock's inability to hit from the field, its foul shooting suffered too. The hosts hit only 11 of 25 charity attempts for 44 percent. Hereford was eight of 11 from the line for 72.7 percent.

The boys' game featured a lot of offense and little defense. Both teams raced up and down the floor most of the game Caprock's 50.7 percent field goal shooting proved to be the difference. The Longhorns missed their first attempt of the night, then proceeded to drop in 11 in a row as they built an early 21-10 lead. Caprock wound up hitting 11 of 14 from the field in the first period and led, 24-16.

After that, it was catchup for Hereford (now 5-16 on the season), and it never did.

Caprock did cool off as the game progressed, and Hereford finally managed to pull within four points (83-79 and 85-81 in the games' final minute). But Caprock hit six straight free throws in the final 28 seconds to ice the vic-

Although the Longhorns wound up hitting 50.7 percent from the field (35 of 69), they were cruising along at a 60.7 percent clip (34 of 56) as they enjoyed a 12-point lead (81-69) with just under four minutes left to play.

They hit only one of their last five attempts, while Hereford hit four of its last seven to close the gap.

Six Longhorn players found the range for double figures, led by Troy Fry's 17 markers. Todd Hunkapiller, Colin Dunavin and Kirk Luecke added M, while Scott Brewer chipped in with 13. Robbie Lambert rounded out the attack with 10.

Terry Shelton, who hit seven of 12 shots from the field, led Hereford with 22 points and 15 rebounds. Jeff Streun added 14 points and Brian Taylor 12, while Gary Long chipped in 10.

For the game, Hereford was 29 of 75 from the field for 38.6 percent. The Herd stayed within range by sinking 23 of 25 foul shots.

Martin is All State

BY LES GILES Sports Editor

The accolades keep coming for Hereford's Tim Martin. A two-time all-district center in football: an All-South Plains selection (picked by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal) and this past season's offensive player of the year on the Amarillo Globe-News Super Football Team (the first time a lineman has ever been honored).

This past weekend, Martin, who also has been nominated to the Air Force Academy (though he hasn't formally committed), was named to the Texas Sports Writers Association Class 5A All State Football Team as an offensive lineman.

The 5-11, 200-pound senior was one of two area 5A gridders named to the first team. The other was Caprock punter Sean Frederickson. Two players gained secondteam honors - Amarillo High defensive lineman Jeff Jordan and Plainview defensive back Kenneth Hallman.

Martin is the fourth Hereford player in the past two seasons to gain first-team honors. Running back Wayne High, lineman Aubrey Richburg and linebacker John Phibbs gained similar status a year earlier.

Dallas and the New York Jets found out the hard way last weekend you simply can't continually turn the ball over and expect to make it to the Super Bowl.

Washington took advantage of Cowboy mistakes to score 17 points in a 31-17 victory.

The Jets, meanwhile, suffered five interceptions as Miami came away with a 14-0 triumph.

tunistic this season will meet in Super Bowl XVII Sunday The Dolphins, two-time winners in pro football's biggest event, have intercepted 10 passes the last two weeks.

Washington, meanwhile, has parlayed a bruising ground game (spearheaded by John Riggins), a solid passing attack (led by Joe Theismann) and a sound defense into its first Super Bowl trip in 10 years. Ironically, the only time Washington reached the big game before it was against the Dolphins. In that one, Miami won, 14-0, to complete a perfect (17-0) season. Miami appeared in the Super Bowl three years in a row ... losing to the Cowboys, then beating the Redskins and

The early betting line favors Miami by three points.

Seeing as how I've been wrong more often than not, I'll pick the Redskins.

No particular reason. Both teams have been playing exceptionally well, but maybe it's just the Redskins' year.

LaPlata cage teams win 5 of 6 from Gattis

Natalie Sims and Shelly Edwards combined for 26 points as LaPlata's 9th grade girls won their 13th game in 15 starts this season to highlight junior high basketball action Monday against Clovis schools.

While LaPlata's 9th grade girls eaked out a 50-49 victory, the 9th grade boys, led by Don Carl Tardy's 11 points and 10 from Curtis Cotten, won their first game this season, tripping Gattis, 46-39.

When the action had ended yesterday, LaPlata's teams were victorious in five of six contests. Stanton, meanwhile, managed two wins in six games.

In 7th grade action, Gattis' girls beat LaPlata, 34-16; the LaPlata boys won, 50-33; Yucca's girls edged Stanton, 21-20, and Stanton's boys nipped Yucca, 28-26.

LaPlata's 8th grade teams both won. The girls, paced by Tonya Redwine's 10 points and eight from Markay White, won, 35-24, while the boys romped, 52-38, as Bobby Baker tossed in 19 points and David Manchee 10.

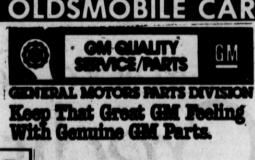

Stanton's 8th grade teams lost to Yucca, the girls by a 21-19 margin and the boys, 29-28. Pansie Wilson's eight points led the girls, while Kyle Streun had 12 in a losing cause for the boys.

In the other 9th grade games, Stanton got double figure scoring from four girls in a 49-32 win over Yucca. Donann Cummings and Stephanie Ford had 11 points, while Sara Alonzo and Melissa O'Rand had 10. Stanton's boys dropped a 58-49 decision, despite 14 points from Stephon Hacker.

Derrell Page poured in 15 points and Trent Bowling added 10 as LaPlata's 7th grade boys rolled to a 50-33 win over Gattis. Kim Edelmon and Amy Coneway had fine points apiece in the 7th grade girls' loss to Gattis. Marcus Brown led Stanton's 28-26 7th grade boys' win with a dozen points, while Crystal Ball and Carolyn Rieves had six in the girls' 21-20 loss to Yucca.

This weekend, LaPlata's 7th grade teams travel to Litlefield four tournament action. The 9th grade teams will be at Canyon's tournament.

Stanton's 7th and 8th grade teams will be in the Friona Tournament, while the 9th grade teams also will travel CHEVROLET CARS. LIGHT DUTY TRUCKS AND VANS, OLDSMOBILE CARS.

Coming back turned out to be a most profitable decision for Den Herder. He's already earned $34,000 in playoff payoffs for Miami's first three games and will get either $18,000 or $36,000 more depending on who wins Sunday's contest.

Those payoffs are double what they used to be before the seven-week strike. What's more, the new contract provides for severence pay and fixed minimums, making Den Herder's return a financial windfall. His minimum salary, as a result of the settlement is $140,000. His severence, should he retire after Sunday's game, will be another $140,000. When he retired originally, his severance was $0.

Docs: 'E.T.' is scary but good for kids' mental health

NEW YORK (AP) - The movie "E.T.," declared offlimits to youngsters in three Scandinavian countries, doesn't scare kids as much as it touches them, say U.S. child psychiatrists who liken it to "The Wizard of Oz."

"There is something in the film that has captured an important part of a child's concern," said Dr. Kenneth Robson, director of child psychiatry at the New England Medical Center Hospital in Boston.

"The feeling of being understood by someone else in an alien world is common in childhood. It's sharing on the same level, between two people or creatures who are frequently misunderstood, which is the rule of childhood anyway."

The Swedish Board of Film Censorship last week banned children under 12 from "E.T., The Extra-Terrestrial," saying the fantasy film portrayed adults as enemies of children. The censors also said children might be "agonized" by the "threatening and frightening atmosphere" in E.T.

Finland has set the age limit at 8 and Norway at 12. In the United States, where "E.T." surpassed "Star Wars' last weekend to become the biggest moneymaker in movie history, the film is rated "PG," which means all ages are allowed but parental guidance is suggested.

"Children's anxieties are more likely to be increased by horror films than one as gentle as this," said Dr. Edward Futterman, clinical professor of psychiatry and pediatrics at the Yale Child Study Clinic.

"Some of the most frightening movies to kids are 'Pinocchio,' 'Snow White' and 'Bambi,'" said Dr. Elissa Benedek, an Ann Arbor, Mich., child psychiatrist. "You can't predict when a movie will tap into a particular concern of a child, especially very young children."

Fear is OK if it's "digestible," said Robson.

"That is, given the child's age and previous experience, is it more disorienting than growth-enhancing?" he said. "The kind of fear in a film like 'Jaws,' for example, is unhealthful for youngsters."

In "E.T.." children are sometimes at odds with adults. And last week, in Sweden at least, children took up picket signs to complain about some other adults film censors. Among the messages: "Children's films are made for children" and "We want E.T."

"I think everyone should be allowed to see it and learn that there are planets out there," said Anna Fogelstrom, 9, as she emerged from a Stockholm cinema. She dodged the ban by pretending to be of age.

Robson said the relationship between the children in the film and the gawky, benign alien is "like one they might have with a best friend or a dog, but rarely with an adult. It illuminates children's fantasies about parental control, but it doesn't make them alienated from their parents."

Futterman said the film helped children deal with "their ambivalent feelings about adults, giving them the opportunity to work through feeling and fantasies about adults rather than alienate them."

Senator Bill Sarpalius

Reports

PARI-MUTUEL BETTING

The subject of pari-mutuel betting (horse racing) has been brought many times before the Texas Legislature. However, it has only recently been seen as having a strong chance of passage. It is therefore vital that we determine how the majority of the 31st District feels about this issue. This way we can vote accordingly in the Texas Senate.

With the recent passage of the Oklahoma pari-mutuel law, Texas is now surrounded by states that allow wagering on horse races. It is estimated that over 50% of the bettors at neighboring states' horse tracks come from Texas, taking with hundreds millions of dollars annually. Texas has a multi-million dollar thoroughbred and quarterhorse breeding industry, but they must go out of state in order to race profitably

Proponents of legalized horse betting, which are led by the Texas Horse Racing Association, are confident that the legislation they seek will be passed in the upcoming 68th or 69th Legislative Sessions. In past sessions, these measures have died quickly without receiving serious attention.

The majority of the proposed laws would allow pari-mutuel wagering on a local option basis and set strict state laws regulating them. In the last session the proceeds. This accounts for the recent increases in support for these measures as this revenue would somewhat postpone the initiation of new state taxes.

There is also strong, wellfounded opposition to parimutuel betting. This opposition is based on a belief that gambling would only serve to corrupt and break down Texas' moral fiber. They cite examples of organized crime's influence in other states' horse racing industries.

When this failed in past sessions it was because of these strong moral beliefs. Many people feel that allowing pari-mutuel betting would be like "selling licenses to steal." It was also expressed that this would be "a regressive form of taxation that would hurt those most who could afford it the least."

From our research, we believe that the Panhandle area is fairly evenly divided on this issue. It is a strongly conservative area that also has a large quarter horse and thoroughbred industry.

We want to represent the 31st Senatorial District by expressing the beliefs of the majority of our constituents in the Texas Senate. Therefore we ask your opinion upon whether Texas should legalize parimutuel betting or refuse it once again. Please write Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O.

AUSTIN (AP) - If Texas keeps executing criminals, sooner or later its citizens will rise up against the death penalty, says the Texas International. "Slowly but surely the horror will come through, Michael Skadden told a Capitol news conference Monday.

The group had called the news conference to protest the scheduled execution of Thomas Barefoot. Two hours after the news conference, Barefoot won a stay of execution from the U.S. Supreme Court. He was to have been put to death just after midnight today.

"I think in the long run, if the executions keep coming at the rate they seem to be coming this year and the more repulsive it is from this happening every two weeks, it's going to, in the end, work in our favor," Skadden said. "People, in the end, won't stand for it."

The Supreme Court stayed the execution to use Barefoot's case to determine how emergency requests for stays should be handled by federal courts.

Barefoot would have been the second Texas inmate executed under the state's "new" death penalty law, enacted in 1972, and the second man put to death by lethal injection. Texas' previous capital punishment law was thrown out as unconstitutionally vague.

Charlie Brooks Jr. was executed with a fatal dose of intravenous drugs on Dec. 7, becoming the first person put to death in Texas since 1964. Texas previously executed condemned men by electrocuting them.

"The death penalty really wasn't too much of an issue in this state before the Brooks execution," Skadden said. "It didn't seem to be something that was really going to hap-

WTSU musical 'Showcase' slated Friday

The third annual "Showcase" featuring more than 300 West Texas State University music students and faculty, will be held Friday at 8 p.m. at the Amarillo Civic Center Auditorium.

"Showcase" is sponsored by the School of Fine Arts at WTSU and the master of ceremonies will be Bill Sexton, radio personality at KGNC Radio in Amarillo.

Co-sponsors for "Showcase" are the Amarillo Globe-News and area Kiwanis Clubs.

Tickets are $3 and may be obtained locally from Steve Nieman. Hereford noon Kiwanis Club president, or any member of the noon Kiwanis Club or Kiwanis Whiteface breakfast club.

The concert program consists of the trumpet choir under the direction of Dave Ritter, assistant professor of music, performing "Canterbury Flourish" by Gordon Jacob; Dr. Gary Garner, professor of music, directing the university orchestra in "Rumanian Folk Dances" by

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am depressed and am always tired. I get up feeling bad and very tired every day. My arms hurt and tire easily. I have three children and a husband. My little girl wants me to do things with her and I can't. I get tired of telling her I don't feel good. I went to the doctor and all he said was my blood was low. He put me on B-12 shots and all they did was make me eat more.

I went to a counselor, Ph.D., and all she did was talk to me and give me a tape on relaxation. I don't have $65 to keep going to her when it is not working

I get depressed and it takes days for me to come out of it. Then I am very sick. All the doctors I have gone to tell me to relax. I can't relax and I get tired of telling them I can't. I don't enjoy company. I hope you can help me for my life with my family is all I have.

DEAR READER — You need a complete medical evaluation. There are medical problems that can cause or contribute to such problems. If you have none of these then your story sounds like you are having at least a mild depression.

Depression makes a person tired. Waking up tired in the morning is one of the symptoms. We all have depressed moods. The more severe they become the more likely they are to require professional help. Perhaps you should see a psychiatrist (M.D.) as you may need some medicine to help you overcome your depressed feelings. Your not being able to enjoy company and tenden-cy to withdraw is suggestive of depression. Think of your depressed feeling as a signal that you need to make some changes in your life.

A short mild depression can be beneficial if it stimulates a person to make needed changes in his or her life. A person's lifestyle can influence those mild depressed moods that people have. Overcoming depression often leads to personality growth. I'm sending you The Health Letter 10-10, Depression: The Ups and Downs of Llfe, for more information.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I've heard that castration can make a man's hair grow again. Can it be done with-out any noticeable traces with a few snips here and there? If so, does the amount of hair already lost or age make a difference? Will this also considerably decrease his sex drive? Will the hair thicken or just fall out anyway in later years?

DEAR READER - It won't help. You have heard some loose talk misconstruing the facts. If a male is castrated before sexual maturity he is not likely to be bald. And he is not likely to have secondary male sexual characteristics, such as the masculine body and voice. But once sexual maturity has occurred castration doesn't reverse things. And if you have already started losing hair it won't enable it to grow. Even if it did I don't think such a treatment would meet with widespread popularity.

Yes, castration can decrease sex drive but as the Roman conqueror's wives soon learned the castrated Egyptian slaves were still able to perform when their husband was absent.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 28-year-old female. Since I was 8 years old I have occasionally developed a skin rash that was caused by tomatoes. About five days after eating a tomato, even a slice. or spaghetti with tomato sauce, the rash would start. First a patch of * skin would itch a lot. Then a small blister developed. The irritation is on my neck, arms and legs. The skin is raw from the irritation. The rash will last for three weeks. I used to eat spaghetti or lasagna maybe once a year with no reaction. If I ate it or tomatoes more often there would be a reaction. What is in tomatoes that can cause a reaction like this? Why does the irritation persist for so long? Does the food we eat remain in our system so long?

DEAR READER — Your story is consistent with a food allergy, in your case tomatoes. It is not what is in the tomatoes but what is in you. When a person is first exposed to a substance he or she is allergic to, the body develops antibodies to the allergic substance. The next time you are exposed to it the antibody will react to the

We call the substance Immunoglobin E (IgE). It can be fixed in any of your tissues. In your case it is in your skin. As a result, when you eat tomatoes the substance in the tomatoes reacts with the IgE in your skin and a skin rash appears. That is the way hives are formed. The persistence is unusual and suggests that the allergy sets off a tendency to skin rash in your particular case.

Another person may have the IgE fixed in the digestive system. That person will have "hives" of the digestive system which can cause severe abdominal cramps and diarrhea. Because the IgE can be anywhere, the reaction can occur almost anywhere. That is how food allergies cause such a wide variety of symptoms that may mimic other diseases.

Polly Fisher

Elbow grease vs. stained tub

DEAR POLLY - We just moved into an apartment that has a bathtub that looks like it hasn't been cleaned in six months - or longer! I've tried every tub and tile cleaner on the market - foams, sprays, etc. Nothing really does the job easily. Is there a better way? — MOLLIE

DEAR MOLLIE — I've found that nothing really works better than ordinary kitchen cleanser (a mildly abrasive kind that won't scratch porcelain) and plenty of elbow grease. It's a job, but it works better than any of the so-called tub and tile cleaners that I've used. To dissolve heavy deposits of mineral buildup and soap scum, full-strength vinegar works. Rust stains usually respond to diluted chlorine bleach. Chlorine bleach is also a good remedy for mil-dewed tile. Be sure to rinse the bleach off the tub or sink quickly and thoroughly, since prolonged contact could damage the finish of the porcelain — and don't use it on the newer glass fiber tubs. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY - Instead of keeping photograph negatives with the photos, put them in numbered envelopes (coded to correspond to the photos in albums) and store in another part of the house, in a safe deposit box at the bank, or at the home of a relative. In case of a fire or other natural disaster, your precious negatives will be safe so that any destroyed photos may be reproduced. - LYNDA

DEAR LYNDA - This is a Pointer that can save much heartbreak if followed. Many's the time when the most disturbing losses in a fire are those which are the least costly — but the most sentimental — such as baby photos of your children, treasured photographs of deceased parents, etc. Your thoughtful Pointer earns you the Pointer of the Week award: an autographed copy of Polly's Pointers: 1081 Help-

DEAR POLLY - When you run out of maple syrup, don't fret. Just combine two cups of sugar, two cups water, and one teaspoon maple flavoring. Bring to a boil, boil for five minutes, bottle and refrigerate. Yummy over pancakes or waffles. - MRS. V.B.

DEAR POLLY - What is the best way to cook hard winter squash? I have always cut it in chunks and boiled it, but it's such a struggle trying to cut through that hard shell. Is there an easier way? — JIM

DEAR JIM — There certainly is! Just pop that entire

'Squash (no peeling, cutting, piercing, or anything) into the oven and bake it until it's tender and very cuttable. Put the squash on a buttered cookie sheet or a piece of foil, since the skin sometimes cracks during baking, allowing the juices to bubble out - all over the oven floor if you haven't used some kind of pan. After 45 minutes to an hour (or more or less depending on the size of the squash) it should be forktender, ready to scrape out of the rind. Then you can mash it and mix it with your favorite seasonings and spices, or cut it into chunks, or otherwise proceed with whatever your favorite squash preparation is.

WOULD YOU HAVE SCORED BETTER?

Then Jesus said to the disciples. "Tonight. you will all desert Me. For it is written in the Scriptures that God will smite the Shepherd, and the sheep of the flock will be scattered." Peter declared. "If everyone else deserts

You. I won't." Jesus told him, "The truth is that this very night before the cock crows at dawn, you will deny Me three times!"

"I would die first!" Peter insisted. And all the other disciples said the same thing. (Matthew 26:31-35)

Meanwhile, as Peter was sitting in the courtyard a girl came over and said to him, "You were with Jesus, for both of you are from Galilee." But Peter denied it loudly, "I don't even know what you are talking about," he angrily declared.

Later, out by the gate, another girl noticed him and said to those standing around, "This man was with Jesus--from Nazareth." Again Peter denied it, this time with an oath, "I don't even know the man," he said.

But after a while the men who had been standing there came over to him and said, "We know you are one of His disciples, for we can tell by your Galilean accent." Peter began to curse and swear. "I don't even know the man." he said. And immediately the cock crowed. Then Peter remembered what Jesus had said. "Before the cock crows, you will deny Me three times." And he went away, crying bitterly. (Matthew 26:69-75)

Colleges, universities respond to troubled U.S. economy

By LEE MITGANG AP

Education Writer
Colleges and universities, responding to the troubled economy, are starting to provide direct help to at least some of the nation's 12 million jobless, offering tuition-free courses, job counseling and retraining.

Economists generally agree that many of the jobs lost by America's unemployed — especially in heavy industries like autos and steel — are gone forever. Such workers desperately need retraining for jobs in growing new fields such as microelectronics.

Some schools have formed partnerships with state governments, private foundations and industry to provide the new skills unemployed workers need to get back to work, as well as career counseling and other services for the jobless.

"If you are being laid off in autos or steel mills, it's highly unlikely that there'll be new jobs in those areas. We're saying take time to think about it," says Vilma Allen, director of continuing education at Fairfield University in Fairfield, Conn., which for a $70 fee has been giving career counseling to laid-off teachers from nearby Bridgeport.

Career planning centers like the University of Fairfield's are perhaps the most common form of help higher education is offering the unemployed. Most, such as New York University and Kansas State University, provide help with job seeking skills like writing resumes and interviewing.

Massachusetts announced last week it was putting up $1 million to provide free tuition this semester at campuses around the state to help retrain as many as 3,000 unemployed.

The state came up with the money after Greenfield Community College made a tuition-free offer to the unemployed earlier in the month and was overwhelmed with applicants.

Also last week, Bradford College in Haverhill, Mass., announced it was offering five full scholarships to children of the unemployed starting next September.

Pennsylvania, where tens of thousands of steel workers have been laid off, plans this year to establish "Ben Franklin High Tech Centers" that will use $1 million in state grants to help universities retrain workers for jobs in emerging industries such as microelectronics and

Michigan State University has begun a program to teach that state's jobless how to start home businesses such as baking and clothing alteration

MSU has also started a "stress management program" for unemployed farmers to help prevent them from becoming alcoholics or committing suicide.

Several colleges are offering tuition-free courses to the unemployed.

Since November, Mount Aloysius Junior College, in Cresson, Pa., has offered free career development courses and a general studies course to the poor and unemployed in Cambria County, an area of high coal and steel unemployment.

"Teachers have volunteered extra hours to do this," said Sister Kathleen Mary Smith, dean of student services.

A semester of tuition-free college courses is being of-fered by Sacred Heart College, a tiny liberal arts school in Belmont, N.C., where nearby textile mills have fallen on hard times. The college received a $100,000 grant from a local yarn mill, R.L. Stowe Mills Inc., and $50,000 from the Joseph M. Bryan Foundation in Greensboro,

Thirty-five jobless people took free courses in October, when the program began. About 80 are enrolled in the second session that started this month, taking courses like "Introduction to Business Management" and "Career and Life Planning." The courses are good for credits toward eventual

"I'll tell you the truth. It's the best thing that's happened to me," said Richard Pullen, 37, who has been out of work since a commercial print firm he worked for went out of business 7½ months

"With a few business courses, maybe I could make a go of it as a radio and TV serviceman," he said.

Another unemployed student, Richard Newsom, held a managerial job with a local manufacturer of picture frames that was forced to lay off workers in September.

Newsom, 46, with a wife and daughter now in college, has two years of college credit at Clemson University and decided to go to Sacred Heart to finish his degree and make himself more employable.

"I now have something to do with myself," he said. "It only takes so long each day to trim your shrubs back and stuff envelopes with your resume."

Texas A&M University is operating an "Oil Rig School" in the Abilene area that is training unemployed workers for jobs as roughnecks paying $30,000 or more. A group of oil and exploration companies donated the rigs, equipment and land for the program.

"A lot of folks from Michigan and other depressed states who migrated into Texas looking for job opportunities are taking advantage of this program," says Milton Radke, who heads the school's program.

He says the waiting list to get into the Oil Rig School, which graduated its first group a year ago December, has reached 3,000 despite a $600 tuition fee. But the cost seems worth it, since all 200 rig school graduates now have oil field jobs.

Wright pays off on Poke loss

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Texas has paid off his bet on the Dallas Cowboys-Washington Redskins game — using a blue and red wheelbarrow emblazoned with a white Texas star.

Wright used the wheelbarrow Monday to carry Del. Walter E. Fauntroy, D-D.C., into the Capitol, his payoff for

He also indicated there were no hard feelings over the loss.

Wilson implicated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former CIA agent Edwin Wilson tried last week to hire "hit squads" to kill two prosecutors and at least five federal witnesses against him, broadcast reports quote federal officials as saying.

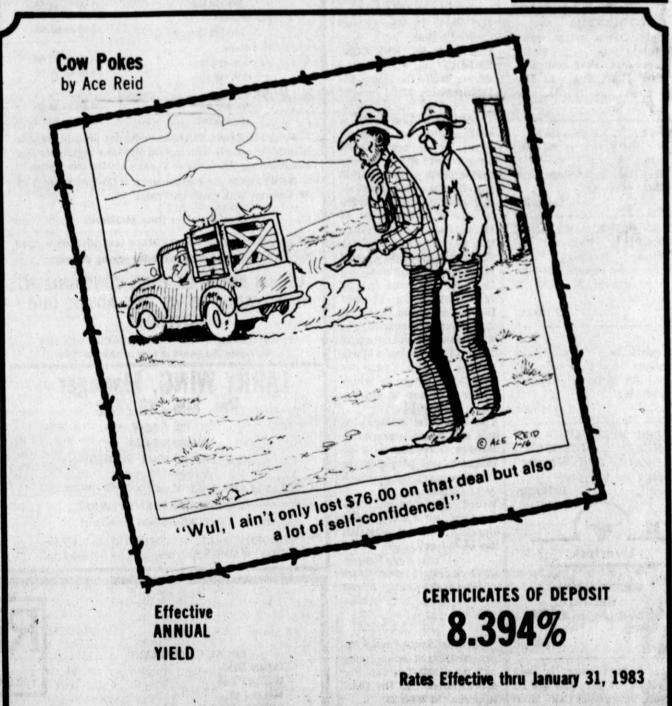

CBS News said Friday night that the alleged attempt was made while Wilson was being held in a New York area jail following his federal conviction in Arlington, Va., last month. He was found guilty of shipping firearms to Libya and was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

"The government charged that Wilson arranged delivery of a $10,000 down payment for the murders to an intermediary along with a hit list," the network said.
