WORLD COMES TO AN END

As Predicted by Pastor Russell, the End of All Time Was on the Thirteenth; All Have Begun Life in Eternity.

You may not know it, but "the world came to an end" last Tuesday, October 13, on schedule time according to the predictions of Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle. The day was ushered in as usual and the people went about their business, "marrying and being given in marriage," just like the bible said they would be when Gabriel would take his horn. The strange thing about the whole thing is that few men have been able to interpret Pastor Russell's world-wide and world-end prophecy. He did not have reference at all to the melting of the earth by fire nor the rolling up of the heavens like a scroll, but the four straits made by the Boston Team, and only those who had bet on the Athletics saw any of the stars fall. Even in Hereford, some of the Philly crowd fled from the wrath to come and prayed for the rocks to fall on them. If Pastor Russell had his money up on the Athletics, it will be difficult for his friends to convince him that he is not living in "eternity" instead of under the Stars and Stripes of Uncle Sam, who is still doing business at the old stand. Perhaps, he will have some years yet in which to explain how he missed his calculations in figuring out that October 13, 1914, would be "the end of the world." He will live to see the war in Europe end and the nations of the earth again pursuing their peaceful occupations. He will enjoy a lot more of free advertising in the newspapers of earth instead of having his announcements made by the angels with their golden trumpets as they trip along the golden streets of heaven.

Bird Season Opens Nov. 1

The season for game birds will open November 1. After that date and until February 1st quail, doves, ducks and other game birds may be killed. A day's kill must not include over twenty-five birds, either mixed or of one kind. Possession at any time in the year during which killing of birds is prohibited is prima facie evidence of the guilt of the person in possession thereof. Turkeys may be killed from December 1st to February 1st. The season on waterfowl begins on November 1st.

Dry Farmers Score Success.

Two dry farmers of Hereford have scored a success this year in raising feed stuff. The first to bring in a sample of his products was J. H. Copeland. He presents a collection of maize heads which are hard to beat. The next was E. I. Barnett, a new farmer for this section. He brought in this week a fine lot of samples—white maize, red maize, feterita and kafir. All of the products are on exhibition in the show window at this office and have attracted a good deal of attention. The pumpkin brought in by Mr. Barnett makes one think of Riley's famous poem: When the frost is on the pumpkin, and the fodder is in the shock.

First Frost of the Season.

Tuesday morning, the first frost of the season appeared. While the frost was light, there was ice and the temperature stood at 30 degrees. All tender flowers and garden stuff went the way of Jack Frost.

Ostend now Panic Stricken.

Ostend, Oct. 14.—Ostend's fate now hangs in the balance. The government has left. King Albert and the main military quarters left Tuesday. Sixty thousand panic stricken people await action.

The Germans are known to be within twenty miles of the city. The inhabitants are fleeing as fast as ships can be provided. All ships were emptied today and the docks were lined with wounded soldiers. Hundreds were carried on litters; and less severely hurt hobbled on canes, supported by nurses, doctors, nuns and priests. These were given preference to transports with twenty-five thousand struggling people massed on the docks attempting to find places.

A German aeroplane flew over the harbor striking terror to those below. Escape is cut off on all sides by land. Thousands were still gathered miserably on the docks when the last ship left this afternoon.

Most of the business houses have been closed, all seeking to get away. All taxicabs, cab horses have been taken by the government long ago, affording little means of transportation.

Helped Him Celebrate His Birthday.

Last Sunday morning, Mrs. O. M. Shore persuaded her husband to break his usual custom and to go to church. So they made preparations and came into town and attended one of the places of worship. On their return, however, and much to the surprise of Mr. Shore, they found autos and buggies surrounding the house and the yard and house full of people. He thought an invasion had occurred, but when he learned that his friends had come to help him celebrate his birthday, he got over his excitement. A fine dinner was served and all enjoyed the day. Among the families who participated in the affair were: The Sillivans, Johnsons, Gressons, Russells, Weavers, Greggs, Baidts, Mooneys. Mrs. Mooney was master of ceremonies.

Catches Lobo Wolf.

While out reconnoitering for life insurance, Robert Elliott and others, one day recently, enjoyed a bit of Roosevelt excitement when they encountered a young lobo wolf. They were driving near the Flag Ranch in Castro county, the 45 section ranch, the property of Col. C. T. Herring, President of the Amarillo Life Insurance Company. On seeing the young animal, the Ford was pushed up to a good speed and soon the party was in close chase. The young wolf, from instinct, knew that his natural enemies were present and he spent his usual and accustomed efforts in trying to make his escape. Dashing off across the wide expanse of mirage plains, turning his head from one side to the other, watching with flashing eyes the approach of the men in the Ford, he made a long run for his freedom and life. After a run of several miles, switching back and forth a number of times, the speed of the young lobo, apparently about six months old, began to slacken. With head coat in hand and standing on the running board, Mr. Elliott urged his friend, Guy Nesbitt, at the wheel to give close and fast chase. Time and time again, they tried to pick up the men almost tired out animal, but each time he would fox turn them and a new start would have to be taken. Finally, however, just as the machine ran along side the wolf and as he attempted to dash under the machine, Mr. Elliott caught him by the nap of the neck and threw him bodily into the car, covering him with the rain coat, holding him secure, until Mr. Nesbitt could tie the coat around his head and hog tie the wolf. This done, they turned their way towards Hereford, their home. After keeping the animal a few days, allowing his coat of beautiful fur to straighten out, he proved to be quite a prize. His beautiful coat of fine fur is a soft gray color next to the skin, but ends at the tips in a brilliant, shiny black. Mr. Elliott is taming the young lobo and even after a few days is able to handle him without danger.

CORPORAL O'BRIEN

Corporal O'Brien is one of the men who took part in the memorable charge of the Ninth British lancers under Captain Grenfell at Mons. He was wounded and sent home, and is shown here appealing to the men of Great Britain to enlist. His two brothers were killed within a hundred yards of him.

Oyster Supper Enjoyed.

The W. O. W. had a good time on last meeting night when a fine oyster supper was served to about forty who attended. After the regular business was transacted, open house was held and a general good social time was had. On the first meeting night in November, it is expected to pull off something special.

COUNTIES FORM TRIPLE ALLIANCE

Deaf Smith, Castro and Farmer Counties to Employ Expert Agricultural Demonstrator

P. E. Boesen, Secretary of the City Development Board of Amarillo, and Dr. M. W. Cunningham, another live wire from the same city, were in Hereford Monday on the business of presenting the matter of co-operative farming to the citizens of this county. They and a few local people went before the County Commissioners and presented the matter. It is the purpose of the co-operative farming plan to unite with one or two other counties, Castro, and Farmer, and employ an agricultural supervisor, whose business it would be to aid all the farmers who would join the move in the planting, cultivation and harvesting of their crops. Seed selecting and rotation, soil development, all would be a part of the work of the farm demonstrator.

After due consideration, the Deaf Smith County Commissioners decided to begin work, provided the other counties would co-operate. Arrangements were made at once by phone with the Courts of Castro and Farmer counties to await the visit of the citizens from this county. The following men went as a commission from Deaf Smith: In J. I. Walker's car—Walker, Lipscomb, Garrison, Oberthier, and Shaw; In Gregory's car—Gregory, Kibbe and Meeks, all commissioners of Deaf Smith county. The Committee first visited Castro county. The Commissioners of that county decided to co-operate with Deaf Smith and agreed to pay $250.00 per year as as their part of the expenses. After closing there, Gregory, Meeks, Kibbe and Walker, in Gregory's car went across to Farwell where they met the Farmer county commissioners. They, too, agreed to co-operate and will appropriate $250.00 per year as their part. This leaves Deaf Smith county to appropriate $500.00 per year. The remaining part of the salary of $1800.00 of the demonstrator is to be paid by the Federal Government. The Texas division of this work will appoint a man for these three counties. He will move to Hereford and will begin his work of organizing the farmers. By the use of an auto, he will visit every farmer in the county, securing as many to co-operate in the demonstration work as possible.

Canyon 57; Hereford 6.

The lucky star of the Hereford high school team is having a run in the Canyon National state race in the east, judging from the score which they got piled on against them in their game with that institution last Monday afternoon. Supt. Bright and Prof. Fetsch accompanied the Hereford High to that city. Several others beside the team also attended. The next game on the schedule is with Cleveland high school. The event is billed for Saturday. The local team should receive the encouragement of the sports-loving folks of Hereford by attending the game. There is considerable expenses in bringing a team to Hereford and the gates fees are all the source of revenue the boys have. Even if this was not worthy of thinking, a good crowd of local rooters always helps the team win.

Laying Sidewalks.

Concatination of Ancient Order

...of...
Sudan Grass Growers and Dish Rag Raisers

Not satisfied with the progress of the "Buy-a-Bale" movement to give that immediate relief to the farmers of Texas, both financially and morally, which they eminently desire, two observant drummers, always alert as drummers are, have conceived the idea of utilizing the wasted and unused resources of the State of Texas and the Commonwealth of Oklahoma in a manner never before thought of by any mortal. These two gentlemen are known to every newspaper person in the territory in which they periodically perambulate. Their names: Eugene Thompson of Dallas, who travels for a small paper house, and High Cost Bridge, who does likewise for a similar firm of Oklahoma City. While Bridges desires to give all the credit to his traveling companion, for they nearly always travel together, so they can save some cash in tips and sleeping car room, yet, both are equally guilty of concocting the greatest scheme of relief ever presented to a mad and raving people, who are trying to make one bale go where a dozen ought to be going.

The plan is simple. High Cost says that Eugene told him all about the plan when they rode up to the Plains country the other night on a Denver train. Not being able to sleep on a rolling Denver bed, they sat up and figured out the profit and pleasure in the whole business. Thompson being the brighter of the two men, explained in detail the other day just what it was. He proposes to concatenate all of the sudan grass growers in Lubbock and other counties and to unite with them with the ancient order of dish rag growers from Deaf Smith and adjoining communities, the whole dingbatus to be known as "The Concatination of the Ancient Order of Sudan Grass Growers and Dish Rag Raisers."

As will be seen from the name, a powerful organization is to be effected between the sudan grass growers and dish rag raisers. Each division will have a head and department of its own. Thompson will be the official high potentate of the sudan grass growers and Bridges will be the high mogul of the dish rag raisers, and the two will form the dual high chief of the order. Other officers to look after the detail of the order will be chosen. A charter will be obtained from the State.

So much for that. Now, the squintflitting brain light which emanated from the heads of these two paper drummers was this, that instead of using the farms to grow the grass and raise the rags, the members would use the railroad right-of-ways. There are some 13,000 miles of railroads in the State and thousands of acres are allowed to go in absolute waste, these men say, and to utilize this vast acreage is the object of the concatenation. The railroads would be required by the Railroad Commission to level up as much as possible their right-of-ways, leaving, of course, the dump or actual road bed. All of the remainder would be planted in sudan grass and dish rag vines. These to be planted and raised under the supervision of the two high chiefs of the order.

The United States Government would be asked to furnish the seed, both for the sudan grass and the dish rags. All that would be required of the members of the order would be to plow and plant. The reaping would be done by the railroads. Self binders, headers and dish rag pullers, would be operated along the tracks at the harvesting season, each machine being especially suited for its particular work. They would be so constructed that as the long blades of grass were cut, they would be conveyed to a special machine on a flat car where it would be baled and the bales, then, automatically stacked in another car for transportation to market. The dish rag machine would be more complicated, something like a linotype machine, it is thought from the description given by Thompson, as he was a typesetter at one time. A long arm, operated by some sort of contraction, would reach out along the road, pull the dish rags from their vine connections, and then hang them on the telegraph wires to dry. Of course, this would cause the railroad company to send a special train out later, but likely the officials of the road would not mind that, even if they took them in themselves, (perhaps they would not be so desirous of chewing the rag so much about rates), and then they could see how much more scenery the Ancient Order of S. G. G. and D. R. G.'s have added to their property.

One thing about to be forgotten: it was understood in the beginning that only the tenant farmers who voted for Ferguson with the understanding that he would see that they got a slice off of somebody's farm, if elected, should become actual members of this order. Each member would be given a secret number and name. He and his family would live in the towns along the roads, go out each morning on a motor hand car to cultivate their allotment of the right-of-way, and return in the evening the same way, it being understood that no member should work over 8 hours during any twenty four. The returns from the sudan grass would be divided equally between the members and the railroad, except that one round trip will be issued to each member and his family so that all may attend the Dallas State Fair. The division of the dish rags will be different: First, on the Harvey House lines, the railroad company shall have enough to supply the eating places, and where no gray houses are maintained then about enough for the lunch counters that serve the public, especially for the families at Bowie who feed the Denver passengers on "chicken and bread." Then, the State House officials, especially the members of the Legislature who enjoy "chewing the rag," and the members of the Railroad Commission. If any dish rags are remaining, then the members are to receive three fourths and the railroad company one fourth.

Both Mr. Bridges and Mr. Thompson will likely appear before the next call session of the Legislature to place the matter before that body. They feel that it will require a "special act" of a "special session" to make the whole thing go. They are confident that this will solve the money stringency in Texas at this and all other times and that the scheme will reduce the acreage of cotton from 50 to 75 per cent, as most of the cotton farmers will join the order and the landlords will have to reduce the acreage. These two traveling salesmen, who have spent many, many restless nights perfecting the plan, are to be congratulated. They will be hailed in the future as the Caleb and Joshua of Texas, who will have led their people thru the cotton patch wilderness and into the promised land.

Peace Sunday in Chicago.

A card from Mr. and Mrs. English tells that they attended the great "Peace Sunday" in the Auditorium Theatre of Chicago, when that building was filled to its capacity. The two distinguished Hereford people occupied a place on the stage with many prominent citizens of the United States. Addresses and prayers were offered. The Chicago papers contained a lengthy account of the occasion and pronounce "Peace Sunday" in that city as the greatest meetings ever held.

Hunting Potash Beds

University Station, Oct. 15.—In Bulletin No. 363, just issued, the Bureau of Economic Geology has called attention to the fact that some of the water obtained from the deep well (4489 feet) at Spur, Dickens County, has carried an amount of chloride of potash larger than any known water in the United States, nearly 400 grains per gallon. While this amount is not sufficient for commercial purposes, yet it is of great importance in showing that we have in Texas deposits of potash salts well worth the closest attention. If a workable deposit of potash salts could be found in Texas it would be valued at a very high figure.

Is there a chance? There is.

From geological considerations it is believed that the portion of Texas bordering on the south-east of New Mexico is favorable for the existence of potash salts. The necessary explorations, however, cannot be undertaken for lack of means. There are no deep borings in that part of the state, nor have any deep borings been made there. We can only say that in one deep well a considerable amount of chloride of potash has been found and that the water from many other and shallower wells has contained noticeable quantities of potash.

Instead of one field party, now at work on the water resources of Hale County, there should be half a dozen in that part of the state, for, if deposits of potash salts are to be found in Texas at all they will be found there. Perhaps at great depths, but this cuts no figure. Of potash salts we imported in 1912 $10,726,096 worth. Europe is now at war. Is not this a fairly good hint?

Printer as Freshman.

University Station, Oct. 15.—There appeared in the San Marcos Times-Herald of Sept. 16, the following item concerning Keating Ransome of Cleburne, a fresheeman of the University of Texas:

"Keating Ransome of Cleburne is in the city with the Texas State University training camp. That's not all. A rather chunky, jolly looking young man stopped in front of the San Marcos Times-Herald office this morning and inquired if this was a printing shop. On an answer in the affirmative and an invitation to step in; he introduced himself as Keating Ransome, said his father was a newspaper man, and proceeded to make himself at home. He sat down at the Mergenthaler machine, and as proof, "set up" a galley of type. His father is postmaster at Cleburne, and his mother is business manager of the Cleburne Daily Enterprise; while Keating Ransome has his name inscribed at the mast head as advertising manager. He is a fresheeman at the State University, and is going to make a record for sure."

Texan in England.
University Station, Oct. 15.—T. Harwood Stacy of Austin, Texas, went to Europe in the early part of last summer on a pleasure trip, and has now accepted employment from the English government as director of a reading-room for sailors stationed at the Naval Volunteer Corps, Kingsdown, Walmer. Young Stacy was graduated last year from the University of Texas with a B. A. degree, and was captain of the University baseball team in 1911. He will remain in England indefinitely, evidently preferring the excitement of war in Europe to the piping times of peace in his native country.

The Alleys and the Allies
Occasionally the discussion of the European war brings out the fact that some American citizens believe that both the Alleys and the Allies need a thorough "cleaning." While some pronounce both words the same, using both a pronunciation and a distinction. The singular of the words will give the correct pronunciation. "Alley" means a narrow passage, "ally" means an aid. The plural of "alleys," the plural of "allies."

Friday Cleaning Helps.
The custom established by the business houses on Main to make a general cleaning on every Friday helps a lot in keeping down the dust and keeping up a neat appearance. The cleaning is not only done in front, but in the rear and alleys as well. But after all, there are a few, only a few, who have never hit a lick towards keeping their premises neat. Even if they do occupy rented property, there should be some natural pride. In fact, less than half of the firms occupy their own property.

The W. O. W. meet on the second and fourth Saturday nights of each month. Members should keep these dates in mind and attend. 13tf

If a girl of fourteen can raise 102 bushels of maize on an acre of land when properly planted and cultivated, why could not the average farm make half that much under favorable conditions? This girl lives near Canyon and was a member of the farm co-operative demonstration work. Of course, she took the prize for the greatest yield.

The commissioners court of Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer counties are to be congratulated upon taking up the work of co-operate farm demonstration. This is a move that is succeeding in every section of the country where it has been tried. There is nothing new in the work as it has been tried in the older states and sections with eminent success. The work is not experimental farming, but the application, under a proper instructor of such methods of farming as have been shown to meet with success. It is not expected that a man shall devote his entire cultivated part of his farm to the work, but just a few acres, ten or even less, the only difference is that he will agree to follow the instructions of the farm demonstrator in handling that particular part of his farm.

So far, the European War, England has taken but a small part. She sent a small force of some 50,000 men to the aid of Antwerp and, it is reported, 30,000 of these retreated, when the city fell, into Holland where they were disarmed by that country and afterwards were taken prisoners by a small scouting party of the Germans. If England, so quick to take up arms in the defense of what she considered a sacred right, is to make any effective stand with the other Allies, she will have to move her forces with greater alacrity. With the fall of Antwerp and other coast cities of Belgium, the Kaiser's forces will have easy access to the English coast defenses and with the effective work of the sub-marines, the world power British fleet will fall victim to the silent forces of the speeding German water craft. With the destruction of the English sea power, Germany will make for the Island and will attack the English coast towns with impunity. Then, with the landing of land forces on English soil and a few powerful siege guns, the King of England may be compelled to sue for peace. Thus, the Germans may Germanize the English and French, making those countries provinces or states in the great German Empire.

The war in Europe is having the effect of destroying a peaceful little Dinner Horns. Talk of cattle in one's dreams, softly, gently lowin', What I'm dreamin' mostly of's dinner horns a-blowin'! Dinner horns whose music comes over hill an' holler, Till I have to drop my work what I'm at an' foller! Go head up an' eyes a-shine where the gravy's steamin', To the napkins snowy white an' the ware a-gleamin', To the green peas cooked in cream, biscuits-platters of 'em! And pork grease to sop 'em in! Goodness, don't I love 'em! Some men dream of sweetheart's eyes an' how they was lookin' But I dream of dinner horns an' old-fashioned cookin'! Apple sauce till you can't rest creamy taters by it; Whilst the grace was bein' said how we use to eye it! Tender chicken, fried so brown it would sort o' crackle! What a mess that was to eat! What a meal to tackle! And when we was most too full how we'd set a-drummin' With our fingers on the cloth whilst the pie was comin'. There are lots of things back there, ways that knowed our goin', Eyes that looked into our eyes, checks that was a-glowin', Elbows that had dimples, lips that was half parted, Nights that was plum full of stars when us two sweethearted, Days when at our busiest thoughts of HER come shovin', And life seemed a glory song set to rhyme with lovin'; But when memory wakes up and it starts to goin' These days it goes back to where dinner horns is blowin'. -Judd Mortimer Lewis.

country, Belgium, when she had no thought of having to bear the brunt of the war. The Germans, of necessity, they claim, needed to pass thru their territory and this the Belgians refused to permit and took up arms to defend what they believed their bounded duty to do. As a result, the Germans, fretted and gauled by the stubborn resistance of the little Belgian army, have turned aside with a part of their forces intended to march into the French capital, and are taking up, in a systematic way, the entire destruction of the Belgian country. One city and stronghold after another has fallen to the merciless power of the German artillery. The last city to fall is Antwerp and now the German army is before Ostend, where the refugees from the other cities had gathered for the purpose of making flight. The dispatches to the daily papers describe the anguish of the women and children and the suffering of the wounded, as they stood on the ship landings and watched the last out-going ship, when there were thousands who could not be taken aboard. If Germany is the successful combatant in this great conflict, Belgian, as a nation, will be in history only. Other small countries, also, who happen to be in the path of the German army, will fall easy prey and will be annexed and Germanized.

Sunday School Specialist

Dr. W. E. Foster of Dallas, Sunday School Specialist, who will be at the Baptist Church, October 22-23-24 and 25.

At Baptist Church. Sunday, October 18th, will be the 16th anniversary of the organization of the First Baptist church of Hereford. The Bible school at 9:45 a. m., will make offering for State Missions. Pastor R. E. L. Farmer will preach at 11 a. m. Subject: "The Power of Love and Truth Combined." There will be "dinner on the ground" at 2:30 p. m. There will be roll call of the church. All members are requested to respond with verse of Scripture. Subject for evening service at 7:30 is "Three Kinds of Repentance as Taught in the Book of Jonah." Frank Lambert has returned and will conduct the music in all services. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Lutheran Church. The Lutheran congregation will hold English services at the court house next Sunday-Sunday school at 10 o'clock; preaching at 11 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend. The pastor, Rev. O. E. Schmitt, will do the preaching.

Church Reporters. Each church in the city is invited to have appointed a press reporter for their own church. It would be his duty to write news notes about the affairs of the church and hand them in to the paper. The Brand is always glad to get real news and its space is always open. A capable press reporter, young man or young woman, could do something worthy for their church if they would ask for the place and perform their duties faithfully. There is enough news in the different churches each week to fill a column or two and the matter would be interesting and readable if properly written. The different pastors are invited to select some one for such duties.

Sunday School Contest. So far, there has been no response made to the proposal to organize a Sunday school contest. If the different superintendents favor the movement and will place the matter before their schools, it is certain that the attendance at the schools could be doubled in less than one month. Of course, if they do not favor the contest there is no harm done in the proposal.

Kansas City Cattle Market.
 What is said to be the heaviest shipment of cattle for some years occurred in the Kansas City markets last week when in three days 53,000 head were received, the total for the week being 71,200 head. The prices ranged from Bowles Commission Company reports that there was a world of feeders and stockers of all kind last week and the quality was only fair, but some prize yearlings, (Herefords), shipped by C. T. Word of Canyon, sold at $8.35, averaging 631 and their mates brought $8.25, averaging 655. There was a slight decline in prices at the close of the week.

Hereford and near-by shippers were strongly in evidence, the total number of cattle going out being as follows:

Young Officer Killed at Texico.
 A. L. Britain, deputy marshal at Texico, was shot by a man named Taylor last Sunday night in that town, from the effects of which he died a few hours later. Three shots were fired, all taking effect. Britain was unarmed. His remains were shipped to Amarillo, where his father and mother live, and were buried on Tuesday. Officer Britain was a nephew of our townsman, F. H. Britain, and was but about 30 years of age.

 I have a client who wishes to purchase 8 or 10 sections of ranch land in one or two bodies for cash. The price must be right. Owners with small tracts need not apply. Send your proposition to A. C. Elliott, Hereford, Texas, giving approximate location and full description of land in first letter.

Many Show Appreciation.
 After sending out some 500 notices to the subscribers of the Brand, the way the returns have been coming in show that the citizens of this county appreciate the paper. A lot of these "Duns," as one good man called them, were placed in the office Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning, they began to come to this office. The first one to appear was Jim Hughes; the second one, J. T. Wilkinson; the third, Jno. Jacobsen, who paid for himself and his brother down in Texas; the fourth was E. A. Hurst, who risked another in stallment. And all day and every day since then, the subscriptions have been taken up. The Brand management certainly appreciates the hearty response to these notices.

MOTHER SUPERIOR ROSARY HILL HOME

Tells How Vinol Restores Strength and Vitality to the Weak, Worn-Out Ones in Her Charge.

Rosary Hill Home, Hawthorne, N. Y. "I have been at work among the sick and poor for nearly eighteen years, and whenever I have used Vinol for run-down, weak or emaciated patients, they have been visibly benefited by it. One patient, a young woman, was so weak and ill she could hardly creep to my door for aid, and was leaning on a friend's arm. I supplied Vinol to her liberally and in a month when she returned to thank me I hardly recognized her. She was strong, her color charming and her cheeks rounded out. These words are uttered from my heart, in order that more people may know about Vinol, as there is nothing makes me happier in the world than to relieve the sick."—MOTHER M. ALPHONSA LATHROP, O. S. D., Hawthorne, N. Y.
 Such disinterested and reliable testimony should convince everyone of the merits of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic to build up health and strength for all weakened and nervous conditions, whether caused from overwork, worry or chronic coughs and colds. If Vinol fails to benefit we return your money.

Railroad Porter Writes War Classic.

[A poem written by Henry Chapell, a railroad porter of Bath, England, is causing a sensation in Great Britain. The author has hitherto been unknown to fame, but the product of his brain now bids fair to become the great classic of the greatest war the world has known. The poem is printed herewith.]

THE DAY.

You boasted the Day, and you toasted the Day,
And now the Day has come.
Blasphemer, braggart and coward all,
Little you reck of the numbing ball,
The blasting shell, or the "white arm's fall,"
As they speed poor human home.
You spied for the Day, you lied for the Day,
And woke the Day's red spleen.
Monster, who asked God's aid divine,
Then strewed His seas with the ghastly mine;
Not all the waters of all the Rhine
Can wash thy foul hands clean.
You dreamed for the Day, you schemed for the Day,
Watch how the Day will go,
Slayer of age and youth and prime (Defenseless slain for never a crime),
Thou art steeped in blood as a hog in slime,
False friend and cowardly foe.
You have sown for the Day, you have grown for the Day,
Yours is the harvest red,
Can you hear the groans and the awful cries?
Can you see the heaps of the slain that lie,
And sightless turned to the flame-split skies
The glassy eyes of the dead?
You have longed for the Day, you have wronged for the Day
That lit the awful flame
'Tis nothing to you that hill and plain
Yield sheaves of dead men amid the grain;
That widows mourn for their loved ones slain,
And mothers curse thy name.
But after the Day there's a price to pay
For the sleepers under the sod,
And He you have mocked for many a day,
Listen and hear what He has to say;
'Vengeance is mine, I will repay.'
What can you say to God?

The Telephone Girl.

Take of your hat when you meet the telephone girl, advises the Lyons Daily News. She is the one person in the city who knows exactly where every lady and every gentleman lives, has the home location of every hypocrite and Pharisee and double-dealer, is perfectly "next" to the girl who is telling her parents she is spending the evening with Mary" while in fact she is bumming the streets with some cheap sport, and if there are men and women who regard the marriage tie lightly the telephone girl has them all spotted. She has advance information about every wedding, a line on every scandal, inside history of every neighborhood roa. Every bit of this she knows without ever stopping to "listen in," for that is not only impossible in the rush of business, but totally unnecessary. Like the actor and the newspaper, the telephone girl knows a great many things she never speaks of; and if either of these three would be as free about their gossip as the average person, pandemonium would reign in town. It's wonderful how the fact that a person is carrying dynamite in his hands makes him careful about dropping it. There are folks everywhere who would be safer handling dynamite than carrying about with them some of the inside history these three agencies carry every day in the natural course of their service to humanity.

Dr. Presly of the firm of Drs. Presly and Swearingin, specialists, Roswell, N. M., will be in Hereford at Dr. W. A. Price's office on the 12, 13 and 14 of each month to do eye, ear, nose and throat practice and to fit glasses. 111f

POOR LEDA GOODBIN!

A storiette in verse, in three chapters, by Allenhurst. CHAP. III.

Fred sat in the pergola all alone,
Until a very late hour in the night,
Was thinking, pond'ring it, o'er in his mind
How he had gotten into such a plight.
He had an aunt Dell they called "Dellita,"
The "ita" meaning little, pretty, well;
And he remembered that he'd thought of her
When Mrs. Goodbin called her daughter "Dell."

He'd thought, instead of saying "Dellita,"
They'd simply used the suffix to her name;
And, thus, he never had suspected but:
That Dell and 'lita (Leda) were the same.
Names of endearment, like this one, are used
In most our homes—he no attention paid;
He did not e'en suspect there were two girls,
Till after the engagement had been made!

Late in the night he went into his room,
He passed by Leda's door, she had not slept,
He sat beside his bed for hours, alone—
In Contemplation's grasp, the vigil kept.
'Twas nearly morning, and the moon was low,
Poor Leda stood without his door, still dressed,
He knelt, in reverence, there by her side,
And pressed his aching head against her breast.

She stroked his hair—gave him that tender touch
No other woman in this world can give;
Then they arose and went out to the grounds—
'Twas June—She said: "How sweet it is to live!"
The lovers strolled among the flowers, and talked,
He argued they must flee—flee far away,
That they now had no time to hesitate,
'Twas now the time to act—'twas almost day.

(She) "We must not go, it will not, will not do,
'Twould kill poor Dell to have you leave her now;
She's told me everything—She loves you too,
You must not go. O, you must keep your vow.
Poor woman must delete that sad mistake—
Its penalty be paid—by her, by me—
Your promise binds you whatso'er you would,
O, cruel, cruel Fate 'tis her Decree!"

(He) "It is not Fate's Decree, it is Mistake's,
Mistake's Decree I would not, could not wish,
There was not one sole element of wrong,
(Mistake, by law, e'er vitiates its work.)
If either you or she must pay the debt,
Let her, sweetheart, she took the greater,
I can not, shall not, dare not give you up,
You are my complement—your heart, my heart."

(She) "But Dell loves me—has ever found me true,
Can I betray her now—she it condone?
O, it would taint our children's children's blood,
They'd bear the curse a hundred years to come!"
(He) "Think not of Dell, you must first save yourself,
For Nature's law, in wisdom, made that plan;
You love me more than she, I you than her,
You were my own before the world began!"

(He) "I loved her not, 'twas love for you through her,
Disease's cruel veil obscured my view;
Her body, the frail casket, I ignored,
It was the Soul I sought—I thought 'twas you.
When she has known the depth of love you bear,
Her love will fly away—will set her free,
She'll be our happy, care-free sister then,
She'll recognize, she'll bow to Fate's Decree."

And thus he urged, and thus she him refused—
She said: "We must go in, 'tis almost day;"
She kissed his tears away and stroked his brow,
And said: "Good-Bye My Love, Good-Bye for Aye!"
Poor Fred then went to bed, and morning came,
Her bed had not been touched, nor was she found;
That day they searched down in the river bed—
Poor, little, faithful Leda had been drowned!

German Airmen Slain in Duels. Paris—Jules Vedrines, the French aviator, has engaged in two duels in midair with German aviators, whom he brought to earth.

The latest German victim was dangerously reconnoitering the position of the allies when Vedrines ascended. Moving swiftly upward until he was above the German, Vedrines gave chase, and as he skimmed along fished the air scout with his automatic gun.

The German machine was riddled and the aviator killed, the machine collapsing to the ground within fifteen minutes from the time Vedrines took the air. Vedrines had accomplished a similar feat three days ago.

A Fine Showing.

The Brand has always prided itself on the clean mailing list and is one of a few papers that is not ashamed of the list of subscribers. In fact, the present manager is rather proud of the bunch of Hereford and out-of-town subscribers. Just the other day, a solicitor, who was placing advertising for one of the biggest firms in the United States, visited this office, asked about our rates and the mailing list. When told that we had so many thousand, he looked with surprise and remarked that it was strange that the average country paper always stretched its subscription list several hundred when the ad man came around. He was taken by the neck and led up to the place where the subscription list is kept on constant display and told to count the names for himself, if he didn't believe what we said about it. Seeing the long list, he succumbed. Therefore, in order to assist the Brand in maintaining this enviable position, the management would be pleased to have every one come forward with the necessary amount of One, Two or Three dollars, as the case may be. Don't wait till you sell your cotton; we need the money to "Buy our bale."

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst."

"I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework."

"I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off."

"I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

"I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy.

Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

Write to Chattanooga Medicine Co., Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for strength instructions on your case and large book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper. J-6

Man Who Killed Crown Prince of Austria Charged With Treason

Scarjevo, Oct. 15.—At the trial of twenty-two people on charges of high treason and conspiracy in the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, mere Gavrillo Princip, the man whose shots actually killed the archduke and his morgantic wife, and Trifko Grabes and Nideljko Cabrinovic who, the state charges, brought to Sarajevo from Belgrade the bombs with which an unsuccessful attempt was made to assassinate the heir of Austria's throne several hours before Princip fired the bullets which killed him.

Princip will go down in history as the man who started the European war. He is an 18-year-old Serbian student. Austria charges that Serbia was constantly fomenting a revolution against her authority in the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina and submitted an ultimatum to Serbia which carried such harsh terms that Serbia's only alternative was war.

Germany supported Austria against Serbia and Russia sided with Serbia. The original cause of the quarrel was almost forgotten when England and France were drawn into the vortex of the war.

E. Baldwin, Everette Baldwin, Marion Baldwin and John Baldwin, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the Honorable District Court, at the next regular term thereof, to be holden in the county of Deaf Smith, at the Courthouse thereof, in Hereford on the second day of November A. D. 1914, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court, on the 7th day of October, A. D. 1914, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 833, wherein N. R. France is plaintiff, and W. E. Baldwin, Everette Baldwin, Marion Baldwin and John Baldwin, defendants. The nature of the plaintiff's demand being as follows, to-wit:

Plaintiff avers that on or about the first day of March 1914, he was the owner of 160 acres of land situated in Deaf Smith County, Texas, and being the S. E. 1/4 of Survey No. 23, in Block K-11. Certificate No. 4-555 issued to the G. C. & S. F. R. R. Co.

Plaintiff claims to own said tract of land and that he is entitled to possession thereof.

Plaintiff avers that on the 10th day of March, 1914, the defendants unlawfully entered said premises and dispossessed plaintiff thereof, and still holds said premises.

Plaintiff further avers that on the 9th day of April 1908, the defendant W. E. Baldwin, together with his wife, Jennie Baldwin, made, executed and delivered to plaintiff, their five promissory notes in writing, bearing date last above mentioned, by the terms of which they promised to pay to plaintiff the sum of $416 00 on or before March 1st, 1910, 1911, 1912, 1913, and 1914 respectively, all notes bearing interest from date at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, interest payable annually, each of said notes providing that interest, if not paid when due, should become principal and bear interest from due date at same rate of interest as the notes, said notes also providing for the usual 10 per cent attorney's fees if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection. That by the execution of said notes herein mentioned, the said W. E. Baldwin and Mrs. Jennie Baldwin became liable and promised to pay plaintiff the several sums of money in each one of the notes specified. That all of the notes are long since due and unpaid to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $3,000.00.

Said notes were given as part purchase price for the tract of land heretofore described herein; that vendors lien was retained in the deed of conveyance and defendants are hereby notified to produce said deed on the trial hereof or secondary evidence will be offered of its contents.

Plaintiff further avers that Mrs. Jennie Baldwin, who was known as Nellie Baldwin, has since died leaving three children of herself and W. E. Baldwin, said three children being minors and have no guardian of their person or estate in the State of Texas.

Plaintiff prays that defendants be cited to appear and answer this petition as required by law, and that on final hearing he have his judgment for the title and possession of the tract of land herein sued for, and for costs of suit. But in event that the court should hold that plaintiff is not entitled to recover the title and possession of the land above described, then he prays for judgment for his debt and the foreclosing of the vendors lien on the land above described.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, And have you before said Court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this Writ, with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Hereford, this, the 7th day of October A. D. 1914.
