Recovery 'Delayed Until Summer'

Regan Says U.S. Economy 'Dead In Water'

By ROBERT BURNS AP
Business Writer
U.S. factory use fell in March for the seventh time in the past eight months, while corporate profits in the final three months were lower than earlier estimates, the government reported today.

imports dipped last week to the lowest weekly level since 1974.
Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan, who as recently as February had predicted the economy would "come roaring back" by late spring, declared Thursday that the economy is "dead in the water" and said recovery was delayed until summer.

The American Petroleum Institute said Thursday that crude imports fell to 2.5 million barrels daily from 2.6 million in the previous week. In the first week of April last year, imports were 4.3 million barrels a day.

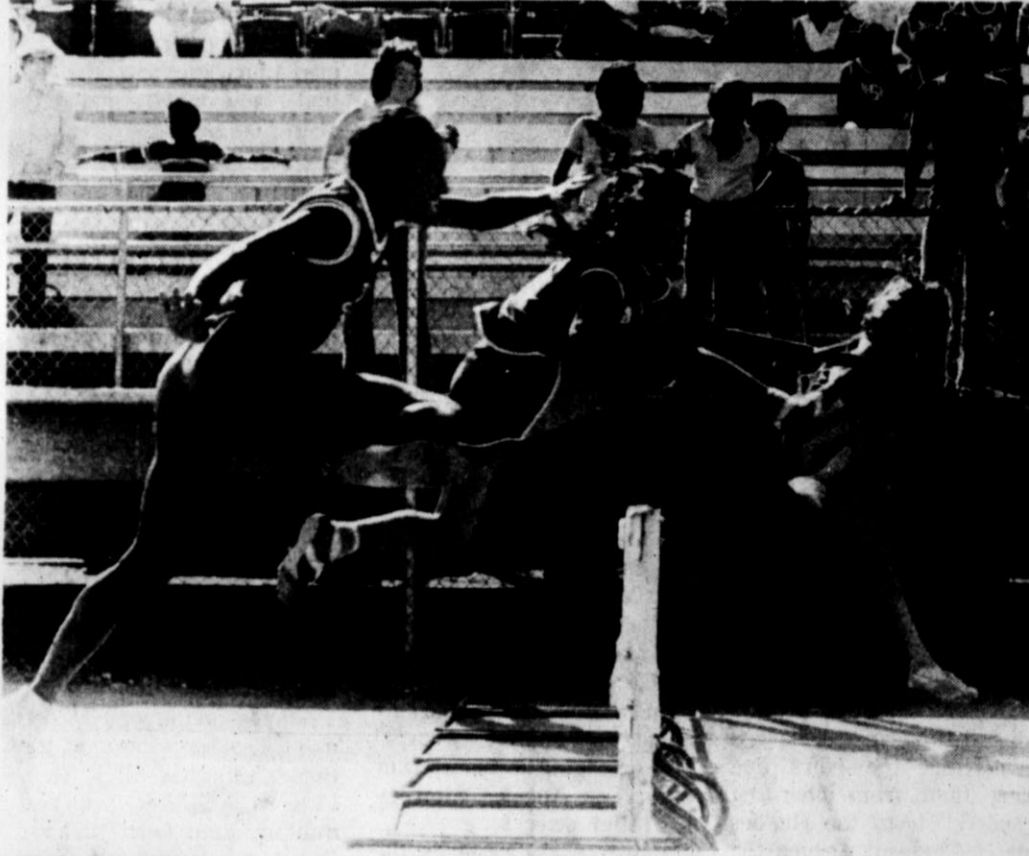

The recession, by contributing to factory closings and reduced economic activity, has lowered the nation's need for oil. The Federal Reserve Board reported Thursday that industrial production fell 0.8 percent in March, marking the seventh decline in the last eight months.

"We're in a very steep recession at this point and the economy is dead in the water," Regan said.
In Houston, the nation's largest builder of single-family houses lashed out at the Federal Reserve Board's monetary policy and blamed high interest rates in reporting a $1.4 million loss for the first business quarter.

U.S. Home Corp. said that by comparison, it had earned a profit of $11.5 million in last year's first quarter. It said revenues fell 42 percent, to $173.2 million from $299.0 million in the year-earlier period.
The company also said it had temporarily suspended operations in Utah, Pennsylvania and Oregon, "reflecting the severity of the recession in the housing industry" number of autoworkers on indefinite layoff dropped slightly to 249,636 this week, while car production will be up an estimated 26.1 percent from last week's level.

Keith Forrest, an economist at Unionmutual, a group disability insurer, said the blizzards that struck the Northeast earlier this month cost the economy between $2.3 billion and $4.5 billion in lost output. The weather may have lowered the Gross National Product for this quarter by as much as 1.2 percentage points, he said.

Dozen Die, 17 Injured
As Bridge Collapses

By DEBORAH ZABARENKO
Associated Press Writer
EAST CHICAGO, Ind. (AP) — Rescue workers pulled the bodies of all but one of 12 construction workers from the collapsed, twisted wreckage of an unfinished highway bridge — but the last body was still entombed in a pillar of freshly hardened concrete.
The accident left 17 construction workers injured in addition to the dozen killed. Officials planned to free the last body today and continue searching for others, although they say all 75 men who had been working at the site have been accounted for.

carpenter. "He didn't make it. I found him in the rubble at the bottom of the west span when I got down."
"It came down in sections," said Bill Rabb, 42, an employee at a nearby Amoco oil refinery. "It looked like a bunch of dominoes."
Rabb said when he and two co-workers ran to the site "there were guys lying all over."
After the first 250-foot section collapsed, six or seven men were trapped on what remained of the bridge, said firefighter Oscar Gaza, who arrived at the scene as the second span buckled and collapsed.

Willardo suspended rescue operations at nightfall Thursday for safety reasons.
All available ambulances in the densely populated, industrialized area southeast of Chicago were summoned to the scene.
The injured were taken to two local hospitals, where Willardo said two were in critical condition.
"Evidently they were pouring concrete on one of the spans when it collapsed. Presumably what fell was the false work — the scaffolding that holds up the forms for the concrete," said Gene

'Historic' Auto Contract
Inked By GM, UAW

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers union President Douglas A. Fraser and General Motors Corp. Chairman Roger B. Smith signed a historic concessions contract today that is designed to pump new life into the nation's largest auto company.
The pact, which went in effect Monday, was signed at the bargaining table on the fifth floor of GM headquarters where the union and the company struggled in two sets of negotiations over 10 weeks.

agreement was reached), and say it was the beginning of greater job security for GM workers," said Fraser.
The contract, which comes amid the most prolonged auto industry slump in half a century, will save the No. 1 U.S. automaker $2.5 billion through labor concessions in exchange for job security arrangements covering some 470,000 U.S. autoworkers.
"I do believe we are dedicated to a new spirit of cooperation," Smith said after he signed the contract.
Ford Motor Co. got about $1 billion in labor savings when it signed a similar concessions contract with the UAW last month.

The pact has been hailed as a move toward greater cooperation between GM labor and management but Fraser said this morning on NBC's "Today" show that while "there's a better feeling developing" at GM, widespread cooperation is still a ways off.
Also on "Today" show, Smith said the automaker intends to make the most of the pact by using the "new beginning to get our workers involved in the product."
The 30-month GM contract takes away the workers' annual wage boosts, paid personal holidays and defers three cost-of-living allowance increases.
GM will rescind four announced plant closings, give workers with 10 or more years' seniority guaranteed income if they are laid off and offer profit sharing and free legal services.
Ratification proved nearly as difficult as the negotiations. The pact passed by a margin of only 52 percent to 48 percent, the closest ever in such a ratification vote at GM, historians say.
Chrysler Corp. received more than $460 million in concessions from the UAW in 1980 and 1981 to stave off bankruptcy. The federal Chrysler Loan Guarantee Board had demanded that autoworkers make sacrifices before the government would provide more than $1 billion in federal loan guarantees.
American Motors Corp. is negotiating with the UAW in Milwaukee on an employee investment plan under which autoworkers would make wage and benefit concessions to give the automaker $150 million for product development. The company says it would repay the money with interest starting in 1985.

Mood On Falklands
Changes to Optimism

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. delivered a message from President Reagan to Argentine President Leopoldo Galtieri today in a new bid to avert war over the Falkland Islands.
A top Argentine diplomat expressed optimism over the latest initiative.
Haig, accompanied by special envoy Vernon Walters and U.S. Ambassador Harry Shlaudeman, met for 30 minutes at Government House with Galtieri and Foreign Minister Nicanor Costa Mendez, then drove to the Foreign Ministry for more talks with Costa Mendez.
Haig made no comment to reporters waiting at Government House and the Foreign Ministry, but a high-ranking Argentine diplomat remarked to a local radio station that "yesterday I was pessimistic, but today I'm optimistic" about the outcome of the talks.

Presidential Press Secretary Rodolfo Baltierrez told reporters that the talks at Government House had been "frank and useful." He said Haig delivered a message from Reagan to Galtieri. The message, contents of which were not revealed, was drawn up following a Thursday telephone conversation between the two presidents.
In the telephone conversation, Galtieri "reaffirmed ... his personal desire for a peaceful resolution to the dispute," the White House said. Galtieri also asked Reagan to keep in mind that the United States fought against colonialism in 1776 to achieve independence, and that Argentina did the same in the next century "and completed the process in 1982" by retaking the Falkland Islands

Private School Tax Break
Drawing Heavy Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's promised tax break for parents of private school children is drawing heavy fire from public school supporters while several key lawmakers say they doubt Congress will approve the measure.
Some 5,000 educators at the National Catholic Educational Association convention in Chicago gave Reagan rousing ovations Thursday when he unveiled the proposal to phase in a tuition tax credit for private elementary and secondary education.

Under the legislation, which Reagan said he would send to Congress later this spring, parents would be allowed to take half the tuition costs off their taxes, up to a maximum of $100 per child in 1983, $300 in 1984 and $500 in 1985.

Reagan, who returned here after a one-day trip to Illinois, said the tuition tax credits will "strengthen public education" by spurring the public schools to strive for improvements. "Excellence demands competition among students and among schools," declared Reagan.
But the League of Women Voters accused Reagan of "abandoning public education." Ruth J. Hinerfeld, league president, said Reagan's proposed tax credits, which the White House estimates would cost $1.5 billion annually by 1987, come "at a time when the ad-

Israel Expected
To 'Quit' Sinai

By The Associated Press
High-level negotiators shuttled between Jerusalem and Cairo for the second day today expressing optimism that Israel will quit the Sinai April 25 despite last-minute disputes.
U.S. Deputy Secretary of State Walter Stoessel was flying from Jerusalem to Cairo, while Butros Ghali, Egyptian minister of state for foreign affairs, was reported going from Cairo to Jerusalem with a message to Prime Minister Menachem Begin from President Hosni Mubarak.
Israeli Defense Minister Ariel Sharon flew back from Jerusalem Thursday night after a one-day visit to the Egyptian capital. He said Egyptian Foreign Minister Kamal Hassan Aly would visit Israel next week to discuss the major issue still unresolved, a territorial conflict over 1,000 yards of southern Sinai coastline on the Gulf of Aqaba and 14 other points.
Israel also charged that Egypt had installed facilities in the Sinai for more troops that it is allowed by the Camp David peace treaty, but Sharon said the Egyptians pledged to adjust their troop deployment to conform to the treaty.

Stoessel said he was "optimistic for a good outcome." Aly expressed confidence Israel would quit the Sinai on schedule.

Hereford Man, Couple
Killed In Truck Mishap

Two diesel trucks collided on U.S. 287 near the Texas-Oklahoma line Thursday morning, killing a Hereford man and a Montana couple.
Joe Mayo, 28, of Hereford, apparently fell asleep at the wheel causing his northbound grain truck to veer into the left lane. His truck ran head-on into another 18-wheeler pulling a mobile home.
The crash occurred at around 8 a.m. 1.4 miles south of the state borders.
Mayo and the driver and passenger of the other truck, David and Gloria Sullivan of Laurel, Mont., were burned beyond recognition, according to DPS officer Gary Davis.
Stratford firemen were at the scene to douse the blaze and hose down the highway from what Davis said was "the worst wreck I've worked in a long time."

The trooper said that from the looks of the damage both trucks were exceeding the speed limit.

Jobs Found For Half Dropped From Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government found unsubsidized jobs for roughly half the 30,000 participants in a public works program phased out by the Reagan administration, the General Accounting Office says.

The figures reinforce estimates the Labor Department has given of administration efforts to soften the impact of ending the public service employment program financed under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

The CETA act expires Sept. 30, and one of the host of job training bills under consideration in Congress would retain that program — once the centerpiece of the federal government's manpower initiatives.

In a study done at the behest of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., the GAO sought to learn what happened to a random sample of public service job participants in eight U.S. cities, which were "prime sponsors" of the CETA federally subsidized job program.

The results showed that 45 percent of the participants found new work, although 24 percent of these people held temporary jobs and an additional 21 percent had part-time work.

The GAO said 5 percent were placed in other job training programs.

And it said 50 percent of the public service jobs program participants were out of work.

The eight cities included in the GAO study were Atlanta, Birmingham, Ala.; Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, Providence, R.I.; San Francisco and Stockton, Calif.

Inmate Sentenced For Fraud Scheme

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A New Mexico State Penitentiary inmate has been sentenced to a five-year federal prison term in connection with a scheme to convince prison guards he would hire them for a business he said he operated.

James V. Dees, 41, pleaded guilty in February to one count of wire fraud as part of a plea agreement with the U.S. attorney's office.

U.S. District Judge Juan G. Burciaga on Wednesday ordered that Dees serve his federal prison term once he completes a two- to 10-year prison sentence for convictions on fraud and escape charges.

Burciaga ordered that Dees complete his state sentence at the Bastrop Federal Correctional Center near Austin, Texas.

Dees contended his life was in danger because of possible reprisals from friends of the nine guards who were dismissed last December in connection with the scheme.

Prosecutors said Dees convinced his guards he ran a large import-export business operating in the United States and Latin America.

Dees told the guards he would hire them as security specialists for his business and displayed phony bank drafts to support his story, prosecutors said.

Ex-Sandinista Hero Surfaces, Condemns Former Comrades

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — A hero of Nicaragua's 1979 revolution has surfaced after more than nine months of self-imposed exile, vowing to fight what he called a "reign of terror" backed by foreign military advisers in Nicaragua.

"I call on all Nicaraguans to put yourselves on a war footing while there are foreign soldiers on our native soil," Eden Pastora, "Comandante Zero" of the Sandinista National Liberation Front, told a news conference Thursday.

Pastora said there were Soviet-bloc military advisers in Nicaragua and that carried "a high political cost."

He said Sandinistas were living in the mansions of the Somoza dictatorship they overthrew, buying Soviet tanks, training pilots in communist Bulgaria, censoring the press, confiscating private property and failing to improve economic conditions.

Unemployment Up Or Down? It's All In How You Look At It

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even though the Labor Department reported that unemployment rose by 280,000 in March, President Reagan says the number of people thrown out of work actually declined.

Reagan and the Labor Department are both correct — depending on whether you take raw figures or the seasonally adjusted figure more commonly used for comparisons.

Reagan said Thursday that 88,000 fewer people were out of work last month, and the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics report for March bears him out. When the jobless figures were not adjusted to reflect seasonal variations, the number of people out of work declined from 10,378,000 to 10,290,000 — a drop of 88,000.

But the seasonally adjusted figures — the ones long recognized by economists as the best indicator of employment trends — showed that unemployment rose by 280,000 and employment fell by 98,000.

Five Indicted For Murder Of U.S. District Judge Wood

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A massive investigation that began almost three years ago with little more evidence than the body of a federal judge sprawled in a driveway has resulted in murder charges against a hired killer and a West Texas narcotics kingpin.

Federal grand jurors Thursday accused imprisoned drug trafficker Jamiel "Jimmy" Chagra of paying convicted hitman Charles V. Harrelson about $250,000 to kill U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr.

The panel also indicted the two men, Chagra's wife, Elizabeth, and his brother, Joe, an El Paso lawyer, for conspiracy to murder a federal judge, and accused the three Chagras, Harrelson and his wife, Joe Ann Starr Harrelson, of conspiring to obstruct the investigation.

Murder of a federal judge carries a mandatory sentence of life in prison and conspiracy to murder a federal judge carries a maximum sentence of life in prison.

The indictments "should reassure Americans that assault on federal officers responsible for the administration of justice will not be tolerated," FBI Director William Webster said in Washington.

He called Wood's murder — the first assassination of a federal judge in this century — a "direct attack on the criminal justice system," and the indictments "a strong signal that should be apparent to all that care to listen" that killing a federal judge is a serious offense.

Wood, 63, was shot in the back with a single high-powered rifle bullet outside his San Antonio townhome on May 29, 1979.

The judge, nicknamed "Maximum John" because of the hefty sentences he gave drug peddlers, was scheduled at the time of his assassination to preside over Jimmy Chagra's cocaine-related criminal enterprise trial.

Jimmy Chagra, 37, of El Paso, had accused Wood of being biased and demanded that the judge excuse himself, but Wood had refused.

Joe Chagra, 35, and Elizabeth Chagra, 28, appeared Thursday before U.S. Magistrate Janet Ruesch in El Paso and were ordered held on bonds of $1.6 million each. Mrs. Harrelson, 41, appeared before U.S.

Magistrate William Sanders in Dallas and was ordered held on $250,000 bond.

Harrelson, 43, who was convicted last year on unrelated state weapons and narcotics charges, is serving sentences totaling 40 years at the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville. Jimmy Chagra, who was convicted of continuing criminal enterprise in 1979, is serving a 30-year sentence at the federal penitentiary in Marion, Ill.

Webster said the three-year investigation — that he once called the most extensive federal inquiry since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy — cost $4.7 million for FBI agents alone.

"It was very, very hard, painstaking work. There were no eyewitnesses and there was virtually no forensic evidence at the scene," said Webster.

"We started with nothing and built from the ground up a case that resulted in the grand jury's indictments and that I believe will stand up in court," he said.

All five defendants were accused of conspiring to obstruct justice by helping Jimmy Chagra escape from the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and Harrelson from the Harris County jail in Houston.

The grand jury alleged Jimmy Chagra conspired to get out of prison by escape or bribery and that Jimmy and Joe Chagra conspired to smuggle and sell narcotics to raise money for Jimmy's planned escape and flight from the country.

A separate second indictment Thursday charged the three Chagras and Mrs. Chagra's father, retired military man Leon Nichols, 52, of El Paso, with conspiracy to evade income taxes and income tax evasion. Nichols appeared before a magistrate in El Paso Thursday and was released on $50,000 bond.

Harrelson has told news reporters for a year that he wanted to be indicted so he could prove his innocence.

"There's not enough money in the world for me to kill anybody," he said.

Harrelson claimed to be in Dallas the day Wood was shot and provided the names of alibi witnesses.

Grand jurors alleged in the indictment that Harrelson arranged the alibis.

that Britain had held for 149 years.

Reagan had telephoned the Argentine president on April 2 to try to get him to call off the seizure of the British colony, but the invasion force was already en route, and Galtieri would not order it back. Britain subsequently dispatched a 40-ship armada and declared a 200-mile war zone around the islands. The flotilla was expected around the islands in several days.

Haig said Thursday night on his arrival after some 30,000 miles of peace shuttling in eight days. "The task is not easy, but the stakes are so great they demand the ultimate effort by all participants in these discussions." He called for a "flexible approach by both sides, not an abandonment of principles" and said both the Argentine and British governments assured the U.S. government "of their wish to continue the efforts we are making for a political solution."

Hours before Haig arrived, Argentina's official Telam news agency reported some of the Argentine navy's 31 ships sailed, "presumably to the south," from their base at Puerto Belgrano, 850 miles north of the Falklands.

The British government said today it had received reports some of Argentina's warships had sailed from Puerto Belgrano, but said they were not expected to try to penetrate the 200-mile blockade zone Britain proclaimed Monday around the islands 250 miles off the southern coast of Argentina.

A British Defense Ministry spokesman in London said, "It's more likely this is a propaganda or morale-boosting exercise. They could also be working up their crews to combat readiness after a period in port. However, we can only speculate on their reasons for sailing."

The British Defense Ministry also said two British air force technicians who remained in the Falkland Islands after the Argentine invasion returned to London Thursday and were supplying British military intelligence with "invaluable" information.

The two brought back photographs of Argentine military preparations around the island capital of Stanley, and a British spokesman said, "We are now able to confirm absolutely that the runway in the Falkland Islands has not been extended. It remains at about 4,000 feet long."

At this length, the islands' sole runway is too short for many Argentine fighters, including the French-built Mirage which needs at least 5,000 feet to take off, according to defense sources.

Argentina has demanded British recognition of Argentine sovereignty over the islands as a prelude to negotiations over administration of them and joint development of the offshore oil and gas that is believed around them.

that the problems are not so difficult to solve," said one Israeli official who asked not to be named. But he warned: "If Egypt does not fulfill its treaty obligations, Israel will have to reconsider what it is doing."

"According to what we are going to see in the area, we are going to take our decision," said Sharon.

Stoessel, sent to the Mideast by President Reagan at Israel's request, met for two hours with Begin on Thursday. Israeli officials said Begin gave him a list of political and military infractions of the Camp David treaty which Israel accused Egypt of.

The Egyptian press said Stoessel would meet first with the Egyptian foreign minister and then with Mubarak on Sunday.

Begin's Cabinet holds its weekly meeting on Sunday also, and the withdrawal was expected to be at the top of the agenda.

Israel also claims that

Egypt is not preventing the smuggling of arms across Sinai to Palestinian terrorists in the Gaza Strip. Israeli officials said they intercepted 200 hand grenades in the last few weeks.

The Israelis also objected to what they called "hostile propaganda" at a U.N. Security Council meeting during which Egypt condemned Israeli suppression of the Palestine Liberation Organization in the Gaza Strip.

administration is proposing reductions of $2 billion in federal aid to education, much of it targeted to our neediest children."

Albert Shanker, president of the American Federation of Teachers, said his union would fight "tooth and nail" against "this nasty tonic."

Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., who helped defeat an elementary and secondary tuition tax credit in the Senate in 1978, said Reagan's plan is "not just unconstitutional, uneconomical and unwise" but at this point is "unconscionable" because of the big federal deficit.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which has jurisdiction over tax laws, said it "won't fly soon."

Sen. Harrison P. Schmitt, R-M., said, "There's one big fly in the ointment. ... The proposal won't survive a constitutional test."

It is virtually certain that any tuition tax credit law would be challenged in the Supreme Court.

Robert Smith, executive director of the Council for American Private Education, told reporters after Reagan's speech that no one can be certain how the high court would rule.

Reagan, fielding questions later Thursday from an 8th grade civics class at St. Peter's Elementary School in Geneva, Ill., said his plan was designed not to entangle the church and state "by getting the aid through the tax credits directly to the parents."

About five million, or 11 percent, of the nation's 48 million pupils attend private schools. Two-thirds of them, or 3.5 million, are in Catholic schools. The White House estimates 80 percent of the private school families would benefit from the credit, but poor families who pay no income tax would not.

"Acme International, acting by and through its president ... and others have engaged in a conspiracy to claim that the copy purportedly found is a last will and testament of Howard Robard Hughes Jr., when in fact it is a fraud and forgery," the suit said.

Attorneys for the five cousins declared heirs to half of Hughes' estate asked Harris County Probate Judge Pat Gregory to brand an alleged will found by Acme International Corp. President Martha Jo Graves a fraud.

The suit, which also seeks $250,000 in actual damages and $1 million in punitive damages from each of five defendants, was filed Wednesday against Acme, Ms. Graves, Acme stockholder Glenn David Lawyers for the cousins contend the group conspired to defraud the heirs and "keep them from inheriting property" from the Hughes estate. The suit argues the heirs have been damaged by the alleged will that has clouded the issue, caused unnecessary delays and expenses and prolonged distribution of the estate.

"He's got a right to say what he wants to when he's not on duty," said Barbara Mello, the ACLU's lawyer who is representing Berger.

Sgt. Mike Bass, a spokesman for the police department, said that as a matter of policy the department does not comment on pending litigation.

The NAACP has called Berger's performances

"socially and racially reprehensible." Jolson, a popular white entertainer in the 1920s, '30s and '40s, is best known for his starring role in "The Jazz Singer," the first talking film. In it he sang his famous version of "Mammy" in blackface.

Although Berger performed his Jolson review for more than four years, appearing in small clubs and bars in predominantly working-class, white neighborhoods, his problems surfaced in February when he brought his show to a downtown hotel.

His performances brought Berger national attention when the NAACP picketed the hotel.

The final performance was called off and on Feb. 19 the police department ordered Berger not to perform in blackface.

Hope said the man is out on bond and the case has been turned over to the district attorney.

The attorneys said in the suit that the action was filed "in order to set an example to others who might be inclined to pursue similar conduct."

The alleged will has not been presented before a court, but Gregory said the group has until Friday to offer it for probate or to show why they cannot produce it.

Harold Rhoden, a Los Angeles attorney representing Ms. Graves, said he did understand the conspiracy and fraud allegations.

Ms. Graves claims she found a tissue copy of the purported will in a locked metal box belonging to her former boss, Los Angeles attorney Earl Lightower.

However, she contends, the original document was placed in a briefcase later lost on a flight to Dallas. She said she has only a Xerox copy of the original document.

Ann Landers

Others Can Help Ease The Load

DEAR ANN LANDERS: First, I want to apologize for laughing at the people who write to you. I thought they must all be morons. Now I am in line with the rest of them. Recently you recommended a book by Joel Wells, "How to Survive With Your Teenager." When I read the passages from that book, I knew it would be a great help to millions of frustrated parents. My question, dear Ann, is can you recommend a book on "How to Survive with Your Elderly Parent?" My mother, 85 and blind, makes her home with me. She is becoming very depressed, doesn't want to leave her room and resists bathing. No matter how hard I try to please her, she says my meals are terrible and I am not a good daughter. I have a young woman who comes in three times a week to help. My brother and sister drop in a couple of times a week for brief visits. A neighbor or friend visits occasionally, but we are mostly alone together. It is pitiful to see such a drastic change in her personality. Physically she is becoming weaker and weaker. Please tell me what to do. I am desperate.—Puerto Rico

DEAR PUERTO RICO: Your clergyman can help by talking with your sister and brother—pointing out their responsibilities. You should not be carrying this load by yourself. She is their mother, too. Plan a program that gets you out of that house more frequently. Engage a high-school girl to come after school and weekends. Contact organizations that supply people who will come and read to the blind.

Has your mother been seen by a doctor lately? There are new drugs that can help depressed people. Has he suggested any? If not, maybe she needs another doctor. Actually, I am more concerned about you than her. I hope I have helped. Buena Suerte.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several months ago a man who is employed by the same firm as my husband moved to this neighborhood. He drives to work and has offered to pick up Clyde since it's on the way. Clyde is supposed to be outside at 7:40 a.m. The office is only a mile from our home. Clyde used to take the bus in bad weather. On nice days he walked.

Sounds nice? Listen, there's more. Nearly every morning for the last three months the "friend" has arrived 20 minutes early. Of course, we are at the breakfast table, so I must be courteous and ask him if he'd like a cup of coffee. He always says, "Don't mind if I do." Then he proceeds to help himself to cereal, toast, muffins, pancakes, whatever he can reach.

I am sick of his free-loading. Also breakfast used to be a time when Clyde and the kids and I enjoyed a little family conversation. No more. Please tell me how to put a stop to this. Clyde is easy-going and doesn't want to "make waves at work."—Scranton Wife A-Boiling

DEAR SCRANTON: That mile walk to the office could add years to Clyde's life. Enlist the help of his doctor to encourage it.

Your pitch should be positive. Emphasize the value of family time at the breakfast table. If you can get the kids to push for it, you've got it made.

Chamber Singers To Perform At Dedication

The Hereford Chamber Singers will be performing two numbers at the formal dedication ceremony of the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame, set to begin at 1:30 p.m. Saturday afternoon at the Hall of Fame's new location, 515 Ave. B.

Future plans of the Chamber Singers include a clinic-concert weekend with noted composer and musical director, Eugene Butler, on Saturday and Sunday, May 3-9.

The concert is open to the public and will begin at 2:30 p.m. May 9 in the Hereford High School Auditorium. Tickets are $3 each and will be available at the door.

Butler will direct the group in a selection of his musical compositions, including an original number composed especially for the Chamber Singers.

The Singers will participate in a clinic with Butler on May 8 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 2-4 p.m. at the high school auditorium. A "pig roast" will be held at the Community Center at 6 p.m. that evening at a cost of $5 per person. Advance reservations are necessary.

Family News

will be donated to the Senior Citizens as well as one for Westgate.

President Norma Hendon read a letter addressed to the club from the national Cowgirl Hall of Fame inviting all members of the Hereford Fine Arts Association to attend the dedication of their new location on Saturday.

The Fine Arts Association is looking forward to receiving several members from the Hereford Art Guild and it is hoped that with these combined efforts and a common goal the Association can be of better service to the community.

The scholarship committee will select a deserving student for the Hereford Fine Arts Award and it will be presented at the awards assembly at Hereford High School in May.

Jean Lyles gave a report on her recent trip to San Francisco, Calif. where she was invited to teach two classes at the 10th annual National Toile and Decorative Painters Convention. She enjoyed this opportunity to gain new ideas and learn about new products.

Hostesses for the evening were Louella Cowsert and Jolene Bledsoe. They served punch and cookies. The next meeting will be held May 11 in the Community Center.

The meeting was turned over to Gayla Kimball, art teacher at Hereford High School. She presented a demonstration and program on copper enameling, a process of glass on copper. She explained a technique called Sgraffito.

First, two applications of enamel are fired on the metal piece for a good basecoat. A contrasting color, such as black on white is applied over the entire surface and allowed to dry.

Then with a sharp instrument a design is scratched through the dry enamel to expose parts of the base coat. Varying widths of lines and scraped areas give interesting effects.

Festivities To Be Planned

Mothers of this year's Hereford High School graduating class are asked to meet at 7 p.m. Monday in the Community Room of First National Bank.

During the meeting, final plans for the senior prom and graduation party will be made.

Herd Qualifiers at Plainview

District 4-5A girls' track champion Hereford will compete in a Regional Qualifier's Meet at Plainview Saturday. The Herd, which raced to the loop title with 200 points April 6, sends six individual district champions and all three relay teams to the meet, which reportedly will attract the cream of girls track performers from a wide area.

of 14.7 set by Lubbock High's Melanie Brooks last year. White's hurdles time is, of course, the new school record in the 100 H. The old mark was a 15.0 she set herself last season. She set a new standard in the long jump this year also, leaping 17-4 at the district meet, bettering the old school record of 16-6 set by Tawana Moton in 1977.

Howell broke the school mark in both the 1600 and 3200 meter runs this season, bettering marks she had set herself last season. She ran a 12:56.9 in the 3200 meter run, 17 seconds better than her old mark of 13:13.5, and her 5:47.1 in the 1600 meter run broke her old record of 5:58 by 11 seconds.

Carreon also set a new discus record for HHS this year with a toss of 120-10 1/2. She also held the old record with a toss of 115-0 last year.

And, Jill Pickens, recent winner of the Fighting Heart Award at the HHS All Sports Banquet, upped the school record in the high jump with a 5-3 effort at the district meet. She and White and co-held the old record of 5-1 set last season.

Borg to Bypass Wimbledon

TOKYO (AP) — Five-time Wimbledon champion Bjorn Borg said today he will not play in the prestigious British tennis tournament this year because he must go through the qualifying process.

"I will not play in the Wimbledon this year because I have to go through the qualifying tournament," the Swedish star said at a news conference in Tokyo.

British tennis officials said Thursday that they were willing to bend the rules in an effort to woo Borg. But Borg refused to accept a plan which would have circumvented the Pro Tennis Council's regulation requiring him to qualify this year for Wimbledon. The problem centers on Borg's refusal to play in the stipulated minimum of 10 Grand Prix tournaments in 1982. He was told he could spread those tournaments over 12 months between April 1, 1982, and March 31, 1983.

Borg has entered seven Grand Prix events this year and the compromise would enable him to get in the rest early next year.

A statement from the club, signed by the chairman Sir Brian Burnett, said: "Despite much persuasion on the part of Sir Brian that it would be in the best interests of the game as well as Borg himself, Borg felt unable to accept in principle even this reasonable compromise. "Wimbledon still hopes that Bjorn Borg will accept the system."

Borg's alternative, if he is to play at Wimbledon, would be to qualify at a tournament in a small club at Roehampton the previous week.

Borg recently returned from a five-month break from tournament play, during which his other recreations included hockey.

Borg faces the same qualifying requirement for the seven tournaments he has entered, and also would have to qualify to defend his title in the French Open and to enter the U.S. Open in September, a tournament he has yet to win. He has hinted he will not defend his title in the French Open, which he has won six times.

Burnett went to Monte Carlo two weeks ago to talk to the Professional Tennis Council and to Borg himself. He clearly was disappointed by Borg's refusal to compromise.

The All England Club said, "In the circumstances, the committee of management of the championships, think it can do no more to help Borg in this matter, short of Wimbledon withdrawing from the Grand Prix.

Switzer Supercedes Sports Stereotyping

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

It was 9 a.m. and Kathrine Switzer was rushing around New York's Rockefeller Plaza with a pair of sneakers in one hand while the other hand was hastily applying a splash of red to her lips.

"I have to get dressed in flight," she apologized. "Just came from my French lessons. Got to be back at the office for a conference at 10 and then catch the shuttle to Boston. The Boston Marathon is Monday, you know. I'm doing commentary on the race."

Switzer is America's woman in perpetual motion, an example to the millions of females she has put in running shoes and sent scurrying over dirt paths and concrete thoroughfares all over the world.

She was the first female officially to run in the Boston Marathon. Monday will mark the 15th anniversary of that historic event. Since then, as director of Avon Sports, besides running tennis and bowling tournaments, she has created an international distance running circuit for women in 12 countries. She led the campaign to have a women's marathon added to the 1984 Olympic program in Los Angeles.

"This supercedes sex stereotypes," she said. "I am not an avid women's libber, as such. Women never will be able to compete with men on an equal basis. Men are bigger and stronger."

"But that doesn't mean women shouldn't be given the opportunities. Men no longer think of women as a threat. But neither are we any longer intimidated by the men."

Switzer won't be happy until she scales Everest, excels at scuba diving and wind surfing and writes a book.

Thirtyish, an attractive bundle of unexploding energy, Switzer looks back with great fondness at the international stir she created when she crashed the Boston Marathon in 1967.

"I really wasn't the first," she reminded us.

"Remember Roberta Gibb came out from behind the bushes and got in the field in 1966. But I was the first woman duly registered."

When coach Arnie Briggs entered Switzer into the Boston Marathon, he signed the form, "K.V. Switzer." "It was a cold, sleeting day," Kathy recalled. "I wore an ugly old gray sweat suit and looked like a slob. All bundled up, no one could tell I was a woman."

"But at the four-mile point, I discarded my shirt and pants. Then Will Cloney, the marathon director, and the press corps drove by in a flat bed truck."

"Somebody yelled, 'Hey, Will, you got a broad in the race.' Cloney was flabbergasted and an angry man. Jock Semple, Cloney's assistant, jumped out and grabbed me by the shirt."

"Give me your numbers and get out of here," he screamed. Just then, Tom Miller, a hammer thrower whom I'd been dating, rushed in and gave Semple a body block.

WHO AM I?

For more than 20 years, I've been a sports executive. I grew up in California. At Loyola, I set seven NCAA records. As a passer, my U.S. pro teams were Cleveland, Dallas and Los Angeles. Now I'm a behind-the-scenes star.

"Pictures of the tussle were sent around the world. I finished in a little more than four hours but I got my message across. I showed that women could do it. And I became completely radicalized."

Sandra Post Leading Into Second Round

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Sandra Post had the lead going into the second round of the $150,000 CPC International golf tournament at Moss Creek Plantation.

Post, the veteran from Canada who has been in a slump of late, shot a 2-under-par 70 Thursday. Sally Little, the defending champion, and Beth Daniel, the leading money winner on the LPGA tour, were the only other players to break par with 71s.

The talk at the end of opening day wasn't about the competition, but the difficulty of the 6,200 yard Devil's Elbow South Course. The course clearly had the edge over an elite field of 67 women golfers in the seventh renewal of the event.

"It was a tough course today," said Little. "There was a funny kind of wind. It seemed to be in our faces the entire back nine until the 18th, which was directly down wind. That made the course play very long."

That refrain turned into a chorus as player after player managed to get past the turn a shot or two under par only to have their progress stolen away on the back nine.

Post, echoing everyone's laments about the course playing so long, added, "I didn't like the course at first. But I've come to appreciate it very much. You have to hit good golf shots in order to score out there and that's the way golf should be played."

At 17, a 150-yarder with sea marsh from tee to green, Post missed the green to the right, then nudged her second shot. But the scrambling Post then hit a spectacular 60-foot chip shot into the cup to pull even with Little.

Little came to the final hole needing only a par to tie for the lead. But she put her second shot into the trap and bogeyed.

White Sox Doing Better Because Pressure Is Off

By JOHN NELSON AP Sports Writer

The undefeated Chicago White Sox are off to their best start since 1945, and Tom Paciorek believes it's because the pressure is off.

"We don't have many superstars in our lineup, if (any) at all, but everybody is a good hitter," says Paciorek, a transplanted Seattle Mariner who is hitting .632 for Chicago. "We just have so many quality players, there's no real pressure on anyone to produce."

The White Sox made it five in a row Thursday with an 8-4 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Steve Kemp's two-run homer keyed a 15-hit attack.

"When you're hot, you're hot," said Paciorek, who had eight hits in 11 at-bats as Chicago swept the three-game series in Boston. He extended his hitting streak to five games.

"When you're going good, it shows up everywhere — at bat and in the field," said the 35-year-old Paciorek. "For instance, I'm playing first base for the first time ever on a regular basis, and, out there, everything seems to be hitting the middle of my glove."

Chicago's start is no guarantee of success, however, as veteran White Sox watchers realize. In 1945, after winning their first five, the White Sox finished sixth in the American League with a 71-78 record. Chicago has not finished better than .500 since 1977, when the White Sox won 90 games.

Kemp joined Harold Baines and Jim Morrison with two RBI apiece Thursday as every Chicago player who came to bat had a hit. Dennis Lamp earned the victory although he yielded four runs on nine hits in 51-3 innings. In other AL games, Minnesota clobbered Oakland 11-5, Detroit defeated Toronto 4-2, Cleveland walloped Milwaukee 8-1 and California edged Seattle 3-2.

Paciorek had three hits Thursday, including a ninth-inning double off reliever Tom Burgmeier. The White Sox scored in the first on singles by Greg Luzinski and Paciorek and a forceout at second. They added to more runs in the fourth, two in the fifth and one more in the sixth.

Jerry Kosman finished for Lamp, pitching 32-3 innings of two-hit relief with four strikeouts.

Twins 11, A's 5
Rookie designated hitter Randy Johnson slugged a three-run home run, and Kent Hrbek, another rookie, slugged homer No. 5 for the season as Minnesota unleashed a barrage of power hitting to bury Oakland.

The Twins had four home runs in the game, three by rookies. First-year player Jim Eisenreich and veteran Butch Wynegar also homered for the Twins, who scored six runs in the eighth inning to break open a close game. Johnson's homer capped the eighth-inning uprising.

Al Williams threw 42-3 innings of no-hit ball and picked up his second victory. He yielded just four hits before leaving in favor of Ron Davis in the seventh.

Davis earned his first save despite giving up a two-run homer to Rickey Henderson in the ninth.

Tigers 4, Blue Jays 2
Enos Cabell drove in two runs, and Lou Whitaker snapped a 2-2 tie with a single in the sixth inning to make Detroit victorious in its home opener.

Silas Burns Recorded Losses With Win

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

San Diego Coach Paul Silas stemmed one kind of fire before the game and then started another after the Clippers avoided tying the National Basketball Association record for consecutive losses.

Silas asked Dr. Maryann Engle, a sports psychologist, to help extinguish the "anger and pent-up emotion" burning inside his players because of the 19-game losing streak they carried into their final game of the season, against Portland.

But after the Clippers beat the Blazers 129-123 Thursday night, Silas was handed the NBA record book page with losing streak records on it and he put a match to it.

The victory enabled the Clippers to avoid tying the longest single-season losing streak in NBA history. The Philadelphia 76ers lost 20 straight games during the 1972-73 season.

"What I appreciated most about this club all season — their never quitting — really came out tonight," said Silas. "I think this will carry over to next season. Certain players really found themselves during this season."

Silas specifically mentioned young forwards Tom Chambers and Michael Brooks, who scored 39 and 37 points, respectively, to lead the victory over Portland.

"We really needed that," said Chambers, a rookie. "It would have been a long summer."

In the only other NBA games, Indiana beat Atlanta 108-102 and Detroit beat Cleveland 120-110, the Cavs' 17th-straight loss.

Only seven players participated in San Diego's final game, the first victory for the injury-riddled Clippers since March 9, when they beat San Antonio. San Diego completed the season with a 17-65 record.

"Being forced to play with the reduced roster really brought us much closer as a team," said Brooks. "We just pulled together. If we can get a center as mobile as we are, we're going to be tremendous. We get a (Ralph) Sampson or a James Worthy and we're not that far away from being serious contenders."

The Clippers could get the first choice in the 1982 college draft if they can win a coin flip with Los Angeles on May 20.

San Diego trailed 75-66 in the third quarter before rallying to take a 97-94 advantage entering the final period. The Clippers went ahead for good at 103-101 early in the fourth quarter on a three-point play by Brooks, who led all rebounders in the game with 13.

Joe Bryant added 22 points for the Clippers, while Billy Ray Bates led the Blazers with 27 points, 15 of them in the fourth quarter. Jim Paxson had 23 for Portland.

While Silas admitted Portland had a better team than the Clippers, Blazers' forward Bob Gross gave San Diego credit.

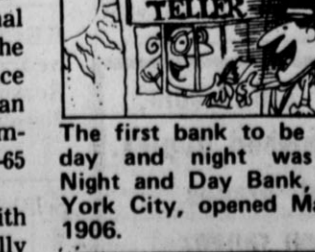

"They wanted it more than we did," said Gross. "We woke up in the morning and found we were out of the playoffs. There was a letdown there."

Pistons 120, Cavaliers 110
While San Diego snapped its losing streak, Cleveland lost its 17th in a row as Kelly Tripucka and John Long each scored 22 points for Detroit.

The Cavaliers, who have two games left in the season, trailed 76-75 in the third period as forward Cliff Robinson scored eight points for Cleveland to trim a 65-59 halftime deficit.

But the Pistons outscored the Cavaliers 21-3 over the next nine minutes, including 12 points in a row, to take control of the game.

Ron Brewer scored a game-high 23 points and Robinson added 20 for the Cavaliers.

Detroit tied the score 2-2 in the fifth inning off Toronto ace Dave Stieb on a walk and consecutive singles by Chet Lemon and Cabell. Larry Herndon walked in the sixth and scored from first on Whitaker's two-out single.

Kevin Saucier got the victory with 32-3 innings of relief, and Elias Sosa got the save.

Indians 8, Brewers 1
Right-hander Bert Blyleven held Milwaukee to two hits over seven innings, and Cleveland scored three runs in the first inning off Brewer left-hander Mike Caldwell. Caldwell later allowed two more runs on a pair of wild pitches.

Blyleven, who struggled through spring training with tendinitis in his right elbow, retired the first 13 Milwaukee hitters and struck out seven before Ed Whitson relieved him.

Bake McBride drove in two of Cleveland's first-inning runs, and the Indians made it 5-0 in the third on consecutive wild pitches by Caldwell.

Angels 3, Mariners 2
Bobby Grich scored twice and Don Baylor continued his hot hitting with a pair of singles as California beat Seattle and frustrated 43-year-old Gaylord Perry's quest for his 298th career victory.

Perry, 0-2, pitched his second complete game of the season but was beaten by a couple of unearned runs.

A wild throw by Seattle catcher Bud Bulling on a double steal in the second inning allowed one California run to score. The Angels made it 3-0 in the fourth, when Grich led off with a double and scored on Baylor's single, his seventh hit in his last 10 at-bats. When center fielder Dave Henderson's throw to the plate was wild, Baylor advanced to second and he scored on a one-out single by Tim Foli.

California left-hander Angel Moreno, 1-0, allowed six hits, one of them a two-run triple by Jim Maler in the fifth.

In National League action, it was Philadelphia 8, New York 4 in 13 innings; Pittsburgh 4, Montreal 3; St. Louis 6, Chicago 1 and San Diego 2, Los Angeles 0.

Wadkins Two-Stroke Lead Too Close For Comfort

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Lanny Wadkins was pleased but far from comfortable with a two-stroke lead after the first round of the $350,000 MONY-Tournament of Champions.

"Look who's behind you," Wadkins said after posting a solid, 5-under-par 67 Thursday in the first round of this elite event that brings together winners of PGA Tour titles over the last 12 months.

"It's the Who's Who of Golf," said Wadkins, a former PGA champion who qualified for the 31-man field with a victory in the Phoenix Open earlier this season.

"A guy could go out and shoot a 61 and have an 8-shot lead and he wouldn't be comfortable because of who's behind you. Anybody who can

Secretary Of Red Sox Dies

BOSTON (AP) — Joseph H. LaCour, 62, secretary of the Boston Red Sox for many years, died after a lengthy illness at Norwood Hospital.

LaCour had worked with the Red Sox' late owner Thomas A. Yawkey and his family for 42 years. LaCour also was executive director and a trustee of the Yawkey Foundation and vice president, treasurer and a director of the J.R.Y. (Jean R. Yawkey) Corporation, part owner of the Red Sox.

SPORTS TALK: Hank Aaron

Hank Aaron, baseball's career home-run king, will be inducted on Aug. 1 into the Hall of Fame. He is now an Atlanta Braves executive. Aaron is coming out of retirement on July 19 to play in the First Annual Cracker Jack Old-Timers Baseball Classic in Washington.

Do you feel upset about not becoming the first unanimous selection to the Hall of Fame?
"Don't get me wrong — I am honored to have been selected to the Hall of Fame at the earliest possible opportunity. But I am disappointed that I was not a unanimous choice. My record in home runs and other categories stands so above the many other players that I think I deserved the unanimous nod."

For the Braves, you're the vice president in charge of player development. What about returning to baseball in a more active role — manager, for instance?

"First, we have just hired a very fine manager, Joe Torre, who should do an excellent job with our players. Also, my present job involves some important responsibilities."

I'm in charge of minor-league operations, analyzing all the players trying to make our team. Now, I won't go into specifics, but that's a demanding job, evaluating players' skills, negotiating contracts and helping build future Braves teams.

"Finally, I was considered for, and offered, the managerial position here and with other teams — the Brewers, for one. However, I prefer the flexibility of my present job which lets me spend more time with my family and pursuing other opportunities."

What are the Braves' chances in the National League West this season?
"We compete in a very tough division. Yet our players are young and have improved each year. So, with some better pitching, we can give the Dodgers, Reds and Astros a run for their money."

You are putting the uniform back on for the Old-Timers Classic. Does that kind of event mean a lot to former baseball stars?

"Once we get away from the ball park, baseball players miss different aspects of the game — like the pennant races, batting titles, fans and especially the camaraderie. So, this game will allow a lot of us to relive those moments — in an evening of fun and entertainment."

Many players are also eager to participate in an event that will provide benefits to the APBPA (the Association of Professional Baseball Players of America, which helps ill or indigent ex-baseball players).

"Separately, the game might give me another chance to convince nine writers (who didn't vote me into the Hall of Fame) of my talents."

That brings up a good point. Many of the players will be reliving their careers in the Old-Timers Classic. Was breaking Babe Ruth's record your most memorable moment in baseball?

"Yes, that was one of my many great moments — along with winning the championship and MVP award in 1957."

Who else will be playing in this Old-Timers Game?
"Many famous players have been contacted about their availability and interest in playing. As of now, Ernie Banks, Warren Spahn, Stan Musial, Brooks Robinson and others have agreed to play — if selected by fans."

How can fans get involved in the voting?
"Ballots are available at displays in most grocery stores and in magazine ads. Voting ends in mid-June."

How do today's stars compare to the old-timers?
"Undoubtedly, the kids playing today are some of the finer athletes the sport has seen. Timmy Lincecum, in Montreal, Dave Righetti in New York, Valenzuela in Los Angeles, Templeton in San Diego and Horner on our club are just incredible. Some of the slightly older players like Schmidt and Brett are amazing athletes, too."

But, I will also be frank. I will compare many of the players of my generation with those fellows any day. Then, there are the Koufaxes and Musials who were awesome at times.

"I guess that's the beauty of the sport. It is a game that spans the generations."

So, how many homers do you plan to hit in the Old-Timers Game?

"Hey, I'm not promising anything. But I'll practice my stroke a bit... and you'll be surprised. I'll be ready to move 'em around the bases."

play is here."

Immediately behind Wadkins, at 69, three under par on the 6,911-yard La Costa Country Club course, was a threesome composed of Tom Watson, Hale Irwin and Bill Rogers, the 1981 Player of the Year and current British Open champion.

Watson and Irwin, however, were less than pleased by their efforts in the gusty winds.

"I got away with murder," said Watson, a two-time winner this season and a four-time leading money-winner. "I turned a 76 into a 69. I can't play the way I played today and have any realistic chance of winning the golf tournament."

Watson three-putted twice, missed six greens and twice had to one-putt for par 5. Irwin, twice a U.S. Open champion, also said he played "really raggedly. I got every bit I could out of the round. I've been playing very, very poorly for the last few weeks. I haven't broken 75 in my last six rounds. And this was not a great deal different, except that I did make a couple of putts."

Their problems were not as severe as those encountered by new Masters champion Craig Stadler, however. Stadler, experiencing the let-down common after winning one of golf's major championships, beat only one man in the field with his 2-over-par 74.

The group at 70, three shots back with three rounds to go in the chase for a $63,000 first prize, included U.S. Open champ David Graham of Australia, Bruce Lietzke, Fuzzy Zoeller, Ed Fiori, Tom Weiskopf, Jim Simons and Andy Bean.

Defending title-holder Lée Trevino birdied the last hole for a 71.

Rhoden Pitched Despite News Of Brother's Death

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

To some observers, it was the most courageous thing that Rick Rhoden could do. For the Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher, it was just something he had to do.

"I never really thought about not pitching today," said the right-hander, who pitched Thursday despite news that his brother had died in an auto accident.

The grieving Rhoden put on a lion-hearted performance, yielding only one earned run through the first six innings, to help the Pirates beat the Montreal Expos 4-3.

"It's the toughest thing I've ever experienced in my life," said Rhoden about pitching in the wake of the death of his 33-year-old brother Bill in an auto accident in Charlotte, N.C., on Wednesday. "It puts things in a different perspective. A lot of things you think are important, then something like this happens and suddenly they're not so important any more."

Rhoden said the decision to start was left up to him following a meeting with Pirate Manager Chuck Tanner.

"Chuck and my teammates were great," Rhoden said. "But they can only say so much, then you have to go out and do it. I wanted to get the whole thing out of my mind for a couple of hours."

Omar Moreno singled home Johnny Ray from third base in the ninth inning against reliever Woodie Fryman for Pittsburgh's winning run.

"I just wanted to put the ball in play somewhere," said Moreno. "Woodie Fryman is a tough relief pitcher and he's always given me trouble in the past."

Montreal starter Steve Rogers, 1-1, carried a 3-1 lead into the ninth, but gave up consecutive home runs to Dave Parker and Jason Thompson that tied the game. Kent Tekulve, 1-0, gained the victory with two perfect innings of relief while Rod Scurry pitched the ninth to pick up his first save of the year.

In other National League action, St. Louis whipped Chicago 6-1; Philadelphia stopped New York 8-4 in 13 innings and San Diego blanked

Los Angeles 2-0. Cardinals 6, Cubs 1. Lonnie Smith and George Hendrick hit solo home runs and Steve Mura hurled a four-hitter to help St. Louis beat Chicago for the Cardinals' fifth straight victory.

Smith hit his second homer of the season in the fifth inning and Hendrick hit his third in the ninth. Mura, whose 5-14 record with San Diego made him the losingest pitcher in the major leagues last season, was pleased in going the distance in Wrigley Field.

"I've never gone more than 41-3 innings in the ballpark," said Mura. "Getting an early lead helps but I had an early lead last year with the Padres and blew it."

Phillies 8, Mets 4
Luis Aguayo, filling in for Mike Schmidt at third base, slugged a three-run homer in the 13th inning to cap a four-run burst that carried Philadelphia over New York.

The Mets had tied the score 4-4 in the bottom of the 12th when John Stearns doubled, took third on an infield out and came home on a wild pitch by reliever Sid Monge.

Aguayo, a 5-foot-9, 173-pounder, ate most of his meals the last few days at his aunt's home in New York, and he maintained that her cooking helped give him enough power to hit his home run. He said he picked on a sinker from Charlie Puleo, 0-1, and made good contact to reach the left field bullpen at Shea Stadium with his homer.

Aguayo said the Phillies generally play loosely, but there seems to be pressure on them so far this year because of their poor 2-5 start.

"The club doesn't seem as relaxed as it has been in previous years," said Aguayo, playing only because Schmidt is out with a cracked rib suffered in Tuesday night's game with the Mets. "The comeback victory against the Mets certainly should help our morale."

Padres 2, Dodgers 0
Juan Eichelberger and Gary Lucas combined to shut out Los Angeles on five hits and Lucas drove in a run with a bases-loaded walk off Fernando Valenzuela to help San Diego beat the Dodgers.

Valenzuela, 1-1, making his second start, was touched for a run in the first inning on singles by Gene Richards, Juan Bonilla and Garry Tempton.

The Padres chased last year's Cy Young Award winner and Rookie of the Year in the seventh when Sixto Lezcano hit a one-out double, Luis Salazar walked and Kurt Bevacqua was safe on a fielder's choice. After Bevacqua stole second, rookie catcher Doug Gwosdz was walked intentionally, bringing up Lucas. The pitcher walked on a 3-2 pitch to force in a run, giving the Padres a 2-0 lead.

Valenzuela refused to appear at a scheduled post-game press conference after the loss.

"He talked to me and said he just wanted to go," said Los Angeles Manager Tom Lasorda. "He's pitched two outstanding ball games and you can't ask any more than that."

In American League action, it was Minnesota 11, Oakland 5; Detroit 4, Toronto 2; Chicago 8, Boston 4; Cleveland 8, Milwaukee 1 and California 3, Seattle 2.

DEAR DR. LAMB - You just had a column about sugar not being addictive. Then why do people crave sweets? Isn't it true that too much sugar will keep your body from using other nutrients properly such as vitamins and minerals? You said sugar was in all carbohydrates but isn't the difference whether it is a natural food or not? Can you live without using any sugar and are you healthier if you don't use it? I have read a lot of reports that sugar is bad for you. Does that mean you should also avoid desserts? DEAR READER - There is lots of confusion around about sugar. Some of the widely distributed writings are by people who do not have any scientific background. One of the best known self-appointed authorities who appears on TV and writes books has a doctor's degree based on a thesis studying the response

DEAR POLLY - Can I substitute cocoa powder for baking chocolate called for in cake and pudding recipes? How much cocoa should one use for one square of chocolate? - TERRY DEAR TERRY - Yes, you can easily substitute cocoa for unsweetened chocolate. However, you must add vegetable oil or vegetable shortening to the recipe to make up for the cocoa butter found in chocolate, but removed from powdered cocoa. To replace one one-ounce square of unsweetened chocolate, use three tablespoons cocoa and one tablespoon shortening or oil. For recipes requiring semisweet chocolate, six ounces of semisweet chocolate can be replaced by six tablespoons cocoa, seven tablespoons sugar and four tablespoons shortening or oil. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - Last year, when I was in the middle of canning jelly, all our local stores happened to run out of paraffin wax. So that I won't be caught again this year, I now save all the paraffin when I remove it from a new jar of jelly. I wash and dry the piece of wax thoroughly, then store in a jar with a paper towel to absorb any excess moisture. Re-using the paraffin will also save me a little money. - THELMA DEAR POLLY - To keep neighborhood dogs and cats away from our house and shrubs, we sprinkle the contents of an eight-ounce can of black pepper around the off-limits area. This has worked very well for us. - RICHARD DEAR POLLY - Have you ever wished for a third hand? Try the presser foot of your sewing machine. I use it for many things, especially for holding the fabric taught when opening a seam, or to hold fast whatever craft or hand sewing project I'm working on. - MRS. W.A.S. DEAR POLLY - I've found a very attractive and economical way to wrap gifts, especially bridal gifts and baby items. When wrapping baby gifts, I use a receiving blanket instead of wrapping paper. I pin it closed with diaper pins. For bridal gifts, bath or dish towels work nicely. For bows I use dish cloths or matching wash cloths, folded or gathered into fans and pinned on. This is a useful wrapping which costs little more than the regular gift wrap you usually throw away. - DEBBIE of female listeners to his radio program. He had written ad copy for a company selling vitamins. Sugar is a natural food. It is a purified product from the sugar cane or sugar beet. More recently it is made from corn. You could say by strict definition that people do become addicted to food. If you don't eat you certainly have both physiological and psychological symptoms. But addiction is usually applied to drugs. Sugar is not a drug. It is a basic food. As I have stated before, it is sucrose made up of glucose and fructose. These are the same two sugars in honey, fruit, vegetables and cereals. No, glucose and fructose do not interfere with your body using vitamins or minerals whether these two single sugars are in sucrose or in an apple. The danger remains that sugar, as a refined food, does not provide minerals or bulk. But you can get the bulk from whole grain cereal, usually eaten with sugar and other natural food sources of bulk.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Recently we bought a still to remove minerals from the local water supply due to my

LET FAITH BE YOUR GUIDEPOST AT THE CROSSROADS

Have you come to a fork in the road? Are you confronted with a major decision which you must make and make wisely, in order to travel the road of greater benefit to yourself and your loved ones? Each of us must at some time decide whether to move, to change jobs, to begin a new life in a different area, or some such question of far-reaching consequences. As others before you have done, let your faith in God give you the wisdom, strength and resolution to make the correct choice. Beginning this Sunday, go to your Church and trust Him to point your footsteps in the right direction for all concerned.

Have you come to the Red Sea place in your life, Where, in spite of all you can do, There is no way out, there is no way back, There is no other way but through?
— Annie Johnson Flint

"But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering, for he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed."
— James 1:6
