

Nominating Committee Names Eight For Chamber of Commerce Directors

New directors, the county farm-to-market program including Harrison Highway and the Hereford House New York opening occupied the meeting of Hereford Chamber of Commerce directors last week.

Directors talked over the farm-to-market program and details concerning Harrison Highway, with special emphasis towards an effort to have Harrison Highway details cleaned-up before the contract is let, probably on Nov. 14 so the contractor can go to work the following day.

One or two channel easements and other minor details need to be attended to. This includes fences, REA and telephone poles, moving two barns, and two butane tanks and the store at Westway. All of these are in the process, but must be completed, according to Chamber of Commerce secretary manager O. P. Cowart.

Chief problem concerning the trip to New York is that the Hereford House accepted the offer of a bull calf and now somebody is going to have to come up with one. It may be that a calf can be bought in New York for the affair. However, if any generous person has a calf to donate to this cause the Chamber of Commerce would accept it with pleasure.

The nominating committee announced selection of eight candidates (Continued on Page 6)

Coat Theft Reported To Sheriff's Office

Sheriff C. Reese reported that J. R. McDermott, about 23, formerly of Hereford and now of Amarillo had paid one dollar fine and costs and $13 worth of worthless checks on a charge of passing "hot checks" in Hereford. Total fine paid with costs was $23.30.

Reese said that Jack Bradley reported the theft of a coat out of his car which was parked near Whiteface Field Friday night during the football game. This was the first report of theft since October 23.

As to Halloween, Reese said this was the quietest he could remember. He said he didn't know the explanation but he didn't even "come close to making an arrest." He didn't even have to tell anyone to quit doing something or to not to do anything. Reese served with the Texas State Highway Patrol five years in Hereford before being elected Sheriff three years ago. He has spent eight Halloweens in Hereford.

This is National Apple Week, Oct. 29 to Nov. 5, which is merely leading up to the fact that Floyd Davenport of Hereford Shoe Store brought in a bushel of apples from his orchard at Farmington, N. M. that everyone enjoyed.

Winter's blast Sunday sent those who hadn't already dug out the woollens scurrying for warmer clothes.

U.S.O. contributions are reported slow. You can give at either bank or at the Brand office.

Presbyterian Guild is having a bake sale Saturday morning starting at 10 o'clock in Cogdell Motor Company.

In case you didn't notice we are asking all persons who have been Brand subscribers since it started nearly 50 years ago to let us know about it.

Jim Brown says the yield on that Hubam Clover was a little over 300 pounds to the acre which might clear up any confusion resulting from the story Sunday which said he got 100 pounds per acre. The ten pounds is the amount of seed planted to the acre. Incidentally, he says the re-cleaning on the seed is rather expensive, but he didn't grow it necessarily to market. His primary reason being to build up the soil and anything else that came out of it, well and good.

Plan on leaving for Canyon Friday night and the Whiteface-Eagle game about 6:45 or 7 o'clock at the latest to avoid the rush and don't drive too fast for the safety of others if you aren't concerned about yourself.

Jiggs Hartman has taken over S. A. Duckworth's filling station across the street from Hotel Jim Hill and is doing business as usual.

Francis Hardwick says he's got a Day and Date release break on "She Wore A Yellow Ribbon." He says there are three types of releases: World Premiere, Saturation and Day and Date. The first as the name implies is where the show is given the build-up of one showing at some selected point and publicized as such. Saturation releases are the type where the District office receives enough pictures for almost everyone in the District and floods the show out to everyone within a few days. Day and Date releases are where the picture is released all over the United States on the same day or within one or two days of the same date. The Dallas News carried a half page ad on this particular show Sunday asking readers to watch for the release date.

Mr. F. E. Finney Dies Suddenly Thursday

Funeral services for F. E. Finney, 58, who lived seven miles south of Wildorado, were held Saturday in Kress. Finney died suddenly Thursday night at his home. He was buried in Kress.

Finney was born in Seymour and farmed in Plainview prior to moving to this vicinity 10 years ago. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Horace Chilton, Amarillo and Verdis Chilton, Santa Monica, California. The sisters married brothers. Another daughter, Mrs. Loretta Swann had two children who are living in Kress with their father, R. B. Swann.

Rev. Russell McAnally, Methodist Church, officiated with Brother White of Palo Duro Baptist Church assisting at the funeral.

Special Train Makes Trip To Phillips Game

Win, lose or draw with Canyon, a special train will take Hereford football fans to Phillips for the Whiteface-Blackhawk tilt Friday night, November 11.

Chamber of Commerce sponsored the Special to leave Hereford at 4:15 o'clock Friday afternoon and should pull back into town about 1:30 that night. The train will arrive in Phillips within two blocks of the football field at 7:15, 45 minutes before game time. It will leave as soon as possible after the game.

Tickets on sale at Chamber of Commerce offices, cost $5.41 for adults and half-price for children between 5 and 12. Younger children ride for nothing. The Chamber of Commerce has put up a check guaranteeing 200 adult tickets to the Santa Fe.

They are also urging anyone who will to buy an extra ticket to help take the band and pep squad on the train.

Sandwiches and soft drinks will be served by some High School organization from the baggage car of the train.

Purpose of the special train is to give support to the Whiteface football team and make it a safer trip for the supporters.

County Cotton Starts Pouring To Gin, Good Weather Helps

With exception of a wet spell last week the last 40 days has been the finest cotton-weather possible, according to John McClesky, manager of Hereford Cotton Gin. Over 350 bales have been ginned, so far this year and a lot of that has been in the last two weeks. Monday, 19 bales were ginned with 22 on Tuesday, 20 on Wednesday. Thirty-eight bales were ginned last Saturday. McClesky said 100 bales or more would be ginned by next Saturday.

The cotton picked situation has eased somewhat. Local cottonseed prices were up, two dollars from the original price at the start of the season, $38, to $40. A run-down of cottonseed prices from other counties showed prices as high as $50 in Cochran county, Castro and Hale showed from $43 to $45, Muleshoe, in Bailey county, showed as high as $46.50, Parmer, $43, and PMA continues to buy at $46.50.

This wide range of prices was attributed, by some, to local gin fights in the areas. Gins were reported losing money in some cases. Gainers have the smallest spread in seed in recent years. Where, in the past, ginners had from $5.00 to $15.00 spread, now they are trying to operate on a $3.00 spread.

Hereford Selected As Convention Site For B&PW District Next Year

Dyalthia Brady, Hereford Business and Professional Women's Club member, was elected alternate delegate at the B&PW district meeting in Pampa October 29 and 30. Each B&PW region of the state appoints one delegate to the state nominating committee along with an alternate.

Cotton Growers Vote On Quotas In Referendum

State Production and Marketing Administration is making plans to hold a cotton referendum, on December 15, 1949 in every cotton growing county in the state, according to information received in the local PMA office, says Faust Collier, manager.

He said the statement follows the October 13 proclamation of Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan that will be national on that date. The Secretary also announced a national cotton acreage allotment of 21,000,000 acres.

Collier has been advised that the national allotment will be broken down to States, counties and farms and that every effort is being made to get the figures to farmers before the referendum. Deaf Smith and other county PMA offices have been getting production records from farmers upon which farm allotments will be based.

The referendum amounts to he farmers deciding whether they will have cotton allotments and quotas or just allotments in the future. One with a penalty, the other without.

TOYS STEAL INTO STORE WINDOWS

Hereford Merchants Anticipate Super Sale Of Christmas Toys As Supply Is Plentiful

By JOHN SCOTT
Some 15 Hereford merchants have begun Christmas toys, outright or layaway, since September 1 and a local dealer estimated the average volume for all stores will run as high as $5,000 each. This figure would represent the biggest year for toy business in the history of Hereford.

All of these merchants have stocked for a big year on the more expensive toys like electric trains, bicycles and higher priced dolls. Layaway business, best in the estimation of dealers, has been good for the last two months. Another dealer reported, already, that $1,700 worth of toys had been paid on and laid back for delivery before Christmas. People this year are going to buy more and better toys for the kids and, in the case of the better ones, they find the layaway plan most serviceable.

High Moisture Contents Stall Grain Harvest A Week Or More

Recent warm, dry weather has helped grain farmers in this area as excessive moisture content has halted cutting in most cases, while some farmers cut the grain and let it lay in the field to dry. Observers note that, while these farmers were trying to hurry the harvest, they ended up having grain wetter than it was at the close of the recent damp season.

Lack of storage space and shortage of freight cars still caused some worry among milling and storing companies. According to the Wall Street Journal, freight cars were tied up in the east where no apparent need existed while the southwest suffered. This block was broken; by the middle of this week, however, as most of the elevators reported all eased but not solved situation. More cars were available but still there was a shortage.

Majority of grain dealers looked for peak business by next week. One dealer, however, said damp conditions of grain would set peak harvest back until, possibly, the 15th of the month.

Good Wheat Crop Expected Next Year Because Of High Soil Moisture Content

Wheat farmers can look to good crops next year, according to figures released by offices of Deaf Smith County Wind Erosion District this week. If heavy snows carry through the average moisture content this winter, good wheat crops are in store if it never rains next spring.

This good news on crop planting concerns, primarily, the dry land farmers. Natural moisture is a "must" if they are to survive. Irrigation farmers had rather control the moisture by their own methods.

Records from the 13 rain gauges scattered throughout the county and serviced by the Research Division of the Soil Conservation Service, reveal that average total rainfall to date in 1949 is 9.37 inches above normal. Most of this excess came during the three months of May, June and July. However, every month was above normal except March, August and September.

Average total rainfall for the first nine months of 1949 was 25.28 inches while the long time average for these months is 15.91 inches and the average annual rainfall is 18.97.

As a result of the extra rainfall this past summer moisture conditions at wheat seeding time were better than they have been for several years. Moisture samples taken early in September on wheat land scattered over the county showed an average of 30 inches of moisture on continuous wheat land and 46 inches on summer fallowed land.

Ground cover and stubble conditions in the county were considered very favorable.

Lettuce Shipments Fall Off Slightly

Lettuce harvest continues in Deaf Smith with shipments running a little lighter. Cold weather has not hurt the crop so far to any appreciable extent, as a matter of fact the frost resisting varieties were helped.

QUESTION of the WEEK

What was the most fun you ever had on Halloween?

Mrs. Richard P. Barnard, Ok. G. I imagine the most fun I ever had on Halloween was when I was in high school and look people's gates and hid them. We used to knock on doors and run away and do such things as that. There are some things I did I wouldn't want printed in a paper. We never did anything destructive, though.

Mrs. Cecil Boyer: The night I went to a tacky party at Progressive. We had cornbread leed with cake icing, red beans and onions. We had "ghost land" at the party in which the boys had fixed an electrically wired chairs for fortune telling. When we sat down in the chair we got shocked.

Mrs. C. W. Botts: Most surprised I ever was one night when I went to a party at a neighbor's house with my small son. I had on a mask and the neighbor thought I was a prankster. They said I was the most grown-up child they ever saw. I never got into any trouble that I can recall right now.

Mrs. C. O. Lee: I had the most fun when I was giving parties for my children and grandchildren. I never got into any trouble when I was a girl on Halloween. My father always said I was a good girl.

Mrs. Bonnie Kelly: One time, at a party in Waco, I got dunked with a bucket of water when I was told to go through one of two doors. I naturally, thought the door was fixed to dunk me so I went through the other one. I was wrong and all wet afterwards. I was caught removing a gate, once, and assigned the embarrassing task of returning it and apologizing.

Mrs. James C. Mercer: We got caught stealing watermelons once, but we outran the man who owned them. Most fun I ever had was during the war, here in Hereford, when pranksters started bothering us. My husband went out the back door with a bucket of water and ran them around to the front door where a friend met them and let them have it with the water. They were really surprised.

Commissioners Change Interest Paying Date On County Road Bonds

Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court Monday in County Court house, Hereford, and voted to change the interest paying date of the $500,000 road bond, voted in by voters October 1, from April, 1951 to December, 1950. Judge L. H. Foster said the action was the result of action of Texas Attorney General Price Daniel, who refused to grant the 18 month coupons originally set up to cover the amount.

Commissioners Court was notified of the Attorney General's decision by a letter from the legal firm of Southwest Company of Dallas who purchased the bonds.

Passage of the bond issue on October 2 climaxed nearly seven months effort on the part of the Rural Roads Committee, Chamber of Commerce and interested persons in favor of the plan. It assured Deaf Smith County 55.9 miles of roads located 7 1/2 miles north and east of Dawn, beginning at US highway 60; 5.9 miles east and south of Hereford beginning at US highway 60; five miles south of Wildorado, beginning at the county line; 23 1/2 miles west beginning at a point 14 miles north of highway 51; and 14 miles north from Harrison Highway at Bootleg corner to connect with the 23 1/2 miles road.

Churches Will Vote On Union In 1955 Rev. Roy Ford Learns At Convention

Rev. Roy Ford returned from Centennial International Convention of Disciples of Christ in Cincinnati Monday night. He made the trip by air, both ways.

At the convention headed by Dr. F. E. Davidson, Oak Park, Illinois, a commission report was heard on the union of the Northern Baptist Church and the Christian Churches of America. In 1951 North Baptist Church and Christian Church will hold their conventions in the same city and at the same time. Rev. Ford said he said that in 1953 articles of union would be presented to the churches and, in 1955, a vote will be taken on the union.

Dr. Dwight E. Stevenson, professor of Homiletics, College of Bible, Lexington, Kentucky, gave a number of historical lectures on the formation of the convention and its missionary society.

An outside speaker was Dr. Douglas Horton, Minister, General Council of the Christian Church of New York City. He made the final address, "Humans Centuries and God's Purpose."

Rev. Ford said about 13,000 attended communion last Sunday which was served by 20 elders and 400 Deacons.

Dr. James W. Clark spoke to 1,000 ministers at Friday morning breakfast. Dr. Clark is pastor of Second Presbyterian Church of St. Louis.

Rev. Ford said the Convention was "the biggest thing Cincinnati has ever seen."

The Dalhart-Hereford game last Friday has been creating wide interest all week and quite a few people have dropped into the office to ask what the Dalhart paper had to say. I thought that they were mighty fair about the whole thing, despite the fact that the Dalhart Coach made a few heated remarks immediately following the game. I am sure he cooled off and feels a little better now. No one could turn out such a good team and not be a pretty good fellow. Boys just won't play for a coach unless he is fair and reasonable. Here's the Dalhart Texas story of Monday, October 31:

The ten-day-old Dalhart-Phillips game that Panhandle sports writers thought Dalhart would discuss for years is already under the table and practically forgotten. That Dalhart-Hereford battle has stolen the show. Dalhart beat Phillips 39-20, the first time it had won in at least five years. Some said it was the first time in history. But Sports Writer Bill Johnson on The Wolf Howl, Dalhart high school paper, says the Wolves beat Phillips, back in 1932.

Most eyebrows are up like window shades over Dalhart's 13-13 tie with Hereford at Hereford Friday night. After the Pack took the Phillips Blackhaws, most Dalhartans thought Hereford was in the bag. Some predicted as late as Friday that Dalhart would win by 40 or more points. It isn't fair to put a coach on the spot by asking him anyone who knows Wolf whys and wherefores. But Mentor Gene Sunderman knows that he didn't think the Hereford game was in the bag. He knew it would be tough, said it would and drilled his charges on that basis. He says the gridders told themselves it would be tough.

He says the Wolves weren't over-confident; that they simply had a letdown from the terrific Phillips game which some fans have called the best and hardest fought high school game they ever saw. The Pack just couldn't get going till the last half against Hereford, he said. Like "Stub" Newman says, everybody in town seemed to be alibing Saturday except Sunderman. Pressed a little, the Wolf coach did point to some breaks and there's never any way of telling how much effect a break has. It's like falling down the steps. Suppose you had gone out the back door. What would have happened. You'll never know.

The coach said once the Wolf Pack, early in the game, drove to the five yard line and lost the ball on a fumble. In a few minutes they were again knocking at the scoring door when an intercepted pass rocked them back on their heels. Then they never seemed to get coordinated again until the second half. The 13-13 tie made "Tommy" Tomlinson of Dalhart the top prophet in the Panhandle. So far as this writer knows he's the only person who predicted that Dalhart would have a tougher time with Hereford than it did with Phillips. He got fibbed hard about that statement after it was printed last week, but now, of course, the second-guessers are tipping their hats to him as they pass. Incidentally, Tomlinson is among those who believe the Wolves were a "see hit" on the over-confident side. Frank A. Godsoe, Jr., Amarillo Globe-News sports writer, said the Dalhart team "obviously was let down after its smashing victory over Phillips, and plainly was over-confident too."

But the argument concerning over-confidence is just a south forty in the 640-acre discussion that broke out as soon as the game ended and has been running rampant ever since. The first controversy, of course, was over whether either team won on penetrations, or on first downs. The District I-A rule is that a tie score is a tie score game unless special pre-game arrangements are made. And if an attempt had been made to decide the game on penetrations or downs there would have been an even bigger argument. Sports writers were agreed that each club had four penetrations. But they weren't together on the downs. Godsoe said Hereford led in first downs 13 to 11. Kenneth Hogue, who covered the game for The Texan and kept his usual play-by-play chart showing where the ball is at all times, has carefully re-checked and says the downs were even, 12 and 12. Coach Sunderman thought they were 13-12 in favor of Hereford. He said the officials had them the same way.

Brother, was there material for fireworks in that situation — just in case an attempt had been made to award the game on basis of downs? And the end isn't yet. The game was so terrifically hard fought, and so fast and furious at times that fans are still arguing about who actually made the touchdowns. Even some of the sports writers didn't agree. Godsoe crawled into Caylor Caddell's rear echelon doghouse when he commented in his story that "the game was as hard-fought clean and well officiated a duel as will be seen this year." Caddell doesn't see eye to eye with Godsoe on the officiating and Saturday afternoon he was taking time between customers to pound out a note to the Amarillo setting forth his views on the matter. Yep, Phillips may get back into Dalhart conversation again — but it will be next year.

Kiddy push cars with new roller bearings for easier handling for younger two and three-year-olds will sell for around $3. Dealers are handling this seven-dollar-more-expensive model because its ease of control will make up for the difference. It has, so far, in Christmas sales according to a merchant.

Air rifles run from $2.29 to $7.49. Cap pistols, as near like the real thing possible, run from a quarter to $4.00.

One store reported its complete stock of $24.95 dolls already sold out.

One thing the merchants all agreed on was that the steel strike would not hurt supply of toys. Most of them had already sold a large amount of their stock and the ones that had their re-orders in could be sure of getting them.

LaPlata Club's Annual Hobby Show Nets Hospital Nursery A Good Sum

The Camp Fire Hut took on the look of a collectors storehouse Saturday and Sunday when the LaPlata Club opened its second annual hobby show which netted the club a sizable fund to aid in furnishing the Deaf Smith County Hospital Nursery.

The group sponsored a hobby show last year, experiencing so much success that this year it was decided to have a bigger show, not only to raise money for the club's project but to acquaint more people with the hobbies others pursue and enjoy.

Tables around the edges of the main room were arranged with creative and collective art objects with such handmade items as woolen sweaters, mittens and tiny booties, beautifully done baby quilts a scale model freight train and a collection of guns as well as an aquarium of tropical fish and even valuable collections of antiques.

"If I were to single out any special points of interest in the show as evidenced by popular survey, it would be the train entered by Dr. M. C. Adams which interested old and young alike, and the ceramic art displays where the crowds gathered, said the hobby show chairman, Mrs. J. R. Johnson, after the two-day display. Mrs. Johnson and other members of the committee also gave special mention to the Hereford Camera Club display, the hammered aluminum trays entered by the Shish-tinta Camp Fire Group and the corages entered for sale by Mrs. A. L. Manjeot.

First, second and third place ribbons were awarded in the adult and junior divisions in both creative and collective sections. Mrs. R. C. Childers placed first, Mrs. Charles Newell second and Dr. M. C. Adams third, in all adult creative division.

Mrs. Childers' display of ceramic art, included containers for jewelry and cosmetics as well as dainty ornamental pieces. Mrs. Newell showed again, the Nativity scene, carved in soap, which attracted so much attention last year and the freight train done by Dr. M. C. Adams held

More Legume Seed And Grass Needed

How much grass and legume seed will we need in this country in the years immediately ahead. That is the question which State PMA committees and the Agricultural Conservation Program Branch in Washington have undertaken to answer, according to Faust Collier, Deaf Smith PMA secretary.

He says a tabulation of reports from all states on 164 different grasses and 86 legumes shows what farmers would plant, assuming that a plentiful supply of seed is available at reasonable prices; that research and educational efforts continue; and that the ACP program and appropriations will continue at about present levels. The estimates cover the years 1950 through 1955 and the year 1960.

Estimates in practically all cases indicate that farmers would plant much more seed than has so far been produced. For example, farmers would like to have 120 million pounds of red clover seed to plant in 1950. Only once in the past nine years, in 1940, has the domestic supply of seed been that much and then it was because of the relatively large carryover from the year before.

The amount of alfalfa seed that farmers would like to plant in 1950 is over 102 million pounds. In the past nine years the domestic supply of alfalfa seed has been that large only twice, in 1947 and 48, and in both years it was due to large carry-over stocks.

Texas Railroad Commission Handles Oil Industry And Transportation

By MAC ROY RASOR
Austin, Tex. (P)—Throughout Texas' mighty petroleum empire, oil flows or stops at the beckoning of three men.

boss over every ounce of Texas' "flowing gold" and those who make it flow. Sometimes their decisions wind up in the courts.

Young, oil-experienced William J. (Bill) Murray, Jr., heads the elective body as chairman. Ernest O. Thompson and Olin Culberson, both of whom have also served as chairmen, complete the membership.

Oil is only one of the big businesses they oversee. By statute, they have control as well over operation in Texas of railroads, gas production and gas utilities, liquefied petroleum gas, the motor bus and the trucking business.

The body is administrative, legislative in a sense, and quasi-judicial. It administers the laws passed by the legislature. It makes the rules and regulations empowered to it by the legislature. It holds public hearings and decides questions of fact and law related to any of its duties.

For the mammoth job assigned to it, the commission has divided itself into four operating divisions staffed by scores of technical and clerical assistants:

1. The main office and rate division administers laws relating to railroads in Texas; determines fares, rates, and charges for all common carriers except pipelines; holds hearings ranging in scope from individual wells to statewide permissive crude oil production; acts with the Interstate Commerce Commission in joint hearing involving southwestern rates; and keeps the fiscal records for all divisions of the commission.

2. The oil and gas division administers the laws relating to conservation and prevention of physical waste of crude oil and gas, and the laws relating to pipelines as common carriers, and maintains statistical and accounting records.

3. The gas utilities division administers the laws relating to the operation of gas utilities and the liquefied petroleum gas industry, collects specified taxes and fees, and maintains statistical and accounting records.

4. The motor transportation division administers laws relating to the transporting of passengers and freight for hire on the state highways, collects, specifies fees and taxes, and also maintains statistical and accounting records.

Situated in Austin headquarters, the commission maintains district offices at Abilene, Corpus Christi,

We Give Gunn Bros. THRIFT STAMPS IRELAND MOTOR CO. Gulf Service Station

Houston, Kilgore, Midland, Mount Pleasant, Palestine, Pampa, San Antonio and Wichita Falls.

Only since 1917 has the commission been under legislative mandate to administer the state's oil and gas conservation laws. Before that, the commission from its creation in 1891 had been primarily concerned only with regulation of railroads.

The oil industry itself pays the expenses for its regulation by the commission. A tax of 3/16ths of one cent per barrel is levied on all crude petroleum produced within the state for the "oil and gas enforcement fund" which is paid into the state treasury. The operating expenses of the oil and gas division (and other agencies) are appropriated by the legislature to be paid from this fund.

All excess balances in the "oil and gas enforcement fund" finally revert to the state's general revenue fund. Well over half the million-dollar-a-year cost of operating the Railroad Commission comes in the oil and gas division.

Commissioners are elected for six-year terms, one at each general election every two years so that terms overlap. Their annual salaries were raised, to $10,000 each by the last legislature.

Murray's term, which he inherited first by appointment of the late Gov. Beauford H. Jester when Jester left the commission for the governor's office and later by election, ends in January, 1951. Culberson's term runs to January, 1953 and Thompson's lasts until January, 1955.

Murray, 34, came to the commission from a background of oil and gas fields. He was born at Coleman; educated in Cisco public schools, Hardin-Simmons University and the University of Texas; and taught University of Texas courses in petroleum engineering before he left in 1937 with both a bachelor's and master's degree in petroleum engineering.

He had worked in the fields as a tool dresser, a geologist and lease superintendent, did consulting work, served as chief enforcement engineer for the commission's oil and gas division, and worked as federal conservation engineer over six states before he came to the Railroad Commission as a member.

Off duty, Murray and wife, Jo, like to fish both fresh and salt waters. They have three children, all girls.

Culberson came to the commission as a member in 1940 after six years service as chief of the commission's gas and utilities division.

A native Texan, he was reared in Hill County and educated at Culberson's Select School at Hillsboro. He is former Hill county clerk and county judge, a former secretary of the County Judges Association and for 25 years was secretary of the Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Still affectionally called "Judge," Commissioner Culberson always has an anecdote and a chuckle for anyone with time to listen.

Few Texans' careers have been more colorful than Thompson's. Born at Alvord 57 years ago, the red-haired Irishman quickly proved himself a dynamo of energy, and automobile business employing four persons by the time he finished high school.

He got his law degree from the University of Texas and then served in World War I where he won the rank and title of "colonel" that has stuck with him 'til even now when his actual rank is lieutenant general as commanding officer of the Texas National Guard.

Thompson came to the Railroad Commission by appointment to succeed Gov. Pat M. Neff in 1932 and has been elected continuously ever since. He has gained international

City Golf Tourney Matches Postponed Because Of Weather

Cold weather caused some of the matches in the City Golf tournament to be postponed Sunday. The tournament committee composed of Wayne Phillips and Erb Jordan have announced that these matches must be played by Sunday this week at the latest.

Championship flight matches were played despite the cold with Jerry Stoltz defeating Dr. John Channer 3 and 2 for the City Championship and J. M. Posey beat Don Martin 2 up in the championship flight consolation finals.

Both matches were close with Stoltz and Channer see-sawing all the way while Posey and Martin played to the last hole before the match was decided.

Stoltz gets his name on the club trophy while Channer and Posey each win $3.25 in golf merchandise.

Bill Howard won the First Flight 1 up on the 20th hole from Dr. E. E. Lingenfelter and John Patton beat Darrell Blanton 4 and 3 in the Second Flight final. Both winners receive $8 in golf merchandise, runner-ups $3.25. Mutt Wheeler beat S. A. Duckworth 1 up in the cold and rain Sunday morning to be Second flight consolation winner.

Unplayed matches include the Third flight championship between Dick Lucas and Bruce Woodell and consolation finals in the first and third flights between Bill Waldrep and Bill Davis and T. J. Clay and Dale Tinnin.

Second Guessing

By JERRY STOLTZ

Duck season opens tomorrow (Friday). Shooting may begin at noon, with four ducks and two geese a day the limit. Ducks are as numerous as flies while the goose hunter will have to search a little further. They say not many have been sighted so far. Most of them will be down in the last half of the season around or before Christmas.

Still on hunting, and according to others since as a hunter I shoot a better round of golf, the big game hunters are getting their firearms oiled in anticipation of the opening of the season in New Mexico on Nov. 10.

Indications point towards several going but also many who are now "has-beens." They say when New Mexico hiked the non-resident license to fifty bucks, that dropped them into the ex-hunter category.

Of course all you have to do to hunt in Texas is buy a whole ranch, minus the title, for hunting privileges.

Deer meat gets dearer every year.

Weekly prognostications: Hereford 20, Canyon 0; Dalhart 45, Perryton 0 (they will pour it on to make a stronger showing than the Whitefaces did). Phillips 40, Dumas 6.

Phillips-Hereford Game Will Be Played At Night

Hereford plays Phillips at Phillips next Friday night the week following the Canyon tilt. Although the game is scheduled for Armistice Day, November 11, local school officials have announced, in answer to many inquiries, that it won't be in the afternoon. They tried to get it in the afternoon, but Phillips said they prefer to play at night because of the plant working shifts.

Remainder of the season would be injuries. Quarterback Billy Ritter received a pretty bad ankle injury down here Friday night and may be out for two weeks or more. All kidding aside, Dalhart had a set of backs that would be mighty hard to beat man for man.

Bill Cessnun, stellar Dalhart fullback, who didn't shake loose with much Friday night because he didn't even get past the line of scrimmage in most cases because of the hard charging Hereford line. It's a sophomore, but only has one more year of eligibility under the present interscholastic league age rule. Of course by then the limit will probably be set back a year and Whiteface fans will see a lot of him.

Looks like the Whitefaces will rate "Times Team of the Week" and a "Player of the Week" in the News. Picking them as a unit for "Team of the Week" wasn't a hard task for the Times, but how Frank Godsoe can pick one lineman out of the eight or more that played Friday night is a good problem.

Calves Take On Canyon Eagles Thursday Afternoon In Hereford

Coach Kenneth Mayes will take his twice-beaten, once victorious Calves Squad into the Canyon B game here Thursday afternoon with practically the same lineup that lost to Dalhart last week. Mayes said his squad was in good shape and, with the exception of one lineman, all last week's starters would go against Canyon.

This is the second home engagement for the Calves. Their last win was at home against Perryton B. The Calves lost their first game at Happy, 0-13. Inexperience and over-aggressiveness caused them to whistle away scoring opportunities while outplaying Happy in every department but the main one.

B Squad next whipped Perryton, 19-0. Defense stood out in this game when Perryton drove to Hereford's one-yard line, only to be held on downs by the beefy Cal line. Randy Thomas, quarterback, scored once and Dale Winget twice in the Perryton spree.

Dalhart dumped the Calves last week in the last game. The Coyotes definitely not the underdog as reported, took after their big brothers, mixing double wing and T formations to rattle a 13-6 win. Johnny Fields saved a blanking when he ran 50 yards for a score with 10 seconds remaining to play.

He really picked himself a job. Without exception the Hereford line both offensively and defensively, played a stellar brand of football. But we're also pleased that a Hereford boy is receiving the honor. They are all worthy to receive it.

Hereford will be the only school in District 1-A without a new or nearly new gymnasium for the 1949-50 basketball season.

Incidentally the District championship will be determined as in years past, with a tournament in March. Dumas will be host this year. There was a proposal to determine the champ on a home-and-home schedule during the season, but it didn't meet with the approval of the district members. Several thought it would promote interest in the cage sport to have conference games during the season.

Hereford linework is good but lets down without a scoring punch. Several times in the Dalhart game, they pushed downward, but not far enough to mark.

Game time is 2:30 Thursday afternoon in Whiteface Memorial Stadium. Starting lineups:

Ends — Ray Graham and Jerry Resse

Tackles — Burl Fish and Paul Rettman.

Guards — Tim Corbett and Ray DeMent.

Center — Ray London.

Backfield — Randolph Thomas, Bill Rose, Dale Winget and Johnny Fields.

Digging Divots

With Hank Jere

Jim Terry set a new course record for nine holes Friday with a sizzling 4 under par 32 from the front tees. Playing with Doc Lingenfelter, Bill Hilton and S. A. Duckworth, Terry went one over on the first hole, came back even with par on the second, took a par on three, birdied four, had pars on 5-6-7, birdied eight and eagled number nine for his 32.

Golf course members will have a four club tournament this week end instead of the regular weekly ball sweepstakes, according to Jim Terry. There will be a 50c entry fee.

It works as follows: each player is allowed four clubs, a wood, 2 iron, 5 iron and putter. On number one tee all players must use the wood, thereafter they must use the 2 iron, 5 iron and putter in sequence for all subsequent shots no matter what the lie of the ball. Player may find himself driving with a 5 iron, putting with a wood or approaching with a putter, there's no telling.

One-half usual handicaps will be allowed because the game itself

Whitefaces Meet Rapid Improving Canyon Eagles There Friday Night

Hereford resumes play Friday night in Buffalo Stadium with their oldest rival scheduled this year, the Canyon Eagles.

Canyon with 4 won, 3 lost record, has been improving rapidly and will be in the starting lineup. Otherwise the squad is in good trim.

Complete records are not available on the series, but Hereford and Canyon High have see-sawed along since 1922 just as they have in the past two encounters with Hereford winning last year 33-13 and the year before when the Eagles romped off with a 31-0 victory.

The Whitefaces will be out to win their second district tilt and to continue towards the possible, co-championship with Dalhart. Once again they will be facing a very potent passing attack and a proven ground game. Whether they can cope with the former is the big question. The ability of the Hereford forward wall has been proven against excellent ground attacks.

Canyon started almost from scratch and without a coach this fall. However, things picked up as soon as Coach George Scott checked in from Elk City, Oklahoma and switched the offense from last year's box and short punt to the famed Split-T.

They started off slow, "downing" District 3-A Tulla 6-0 and then dropping a close 19-13 game to Memphis. Memphis was at that time rated top class. A eleven in the Panhandle. Memphis had to rally in the final quarter to eke out the victory.

First evidence of a potent passing attack was shown by the Eagles in that game.

Price College was the next Eagle victim, losing 13-12. Canyon scored all 13 points on passes. Price College scored once on an 85-yard kick-off return and again on a 75-yard punt return.

Sudan (the only common opponent Hereford won 6-0) dropped the Eagles by two touchdowns 12-0. From there on the Canyon record is impressive. They invaded Clarendon, beating that 2-A rival 19-0. Canyon completely outmanned the Bronchos and maintained complete control over the game from the opening whistle to the final gun. They displayed an effective running attack and didn't resort to their aerial game.

Against Dumas the Eagles had "fumbelitis" during the first half, trailing 13-7 when they went in. However, in the second half the Butler to Winn combination started clicking off touchdowns. Three of the four TDs came via passing. They completed 5 of 8 tosses.

Canyon's touchdown drive against Phillips is indicative of a good running attack. They took the kickoff and scored in four plays, every one run between the tackles. Phillips scored with less than a minute of playing time left to win 14-7. Canyon scored their extra-point on a jump pass from Butler to Winn.

Canyon's starting offensive lineup (they are two platoon with eight men changing defensively and offensively) is LE King, LT, Sorfelle, LG, Harding, C. T. Burrus, RG, Root, RT, R. Burrus, RE, Winn, Backs are Abbott, O'Donald, Payne and Butler.

SNAKE-BIT TEXAS—Blair Cherry's University of Texas Longhorn eleven has come out on the short end of the last two games a total of three points. The first two were in the Rice game where Ray Stone, U. T. end missed the pass above behind the Owl goal line when Oather Pugh, (No. 46) knocked the ball into the air. The third point came last weekend when S.M.U. won 7-6, with the Longhorns dropping a pass in the end zone in the final seconds of play.

Tom Connally Makes Peace Offering To Offended Colleagues In Senate

By DON WHITEHEAD
Washington, (AP) — Texas' Tom Connally has offered the olive branch of peace to fellow senators scarred by the whip of Connally's sarcasm during debates over American Foreign Policy.

It's an unusual gesture for the old-school lawmaker who generally uses barbed anger, scorn and ridicule like a shillelah, without totting up the score in wounded pride.

But this time Connally can afford the peace move. As chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he has won every battle of the session for the administration's foreign program.

First it was the $5,778,000,000 (B) foreign recovery program. Then the nally prosecutes foreign policy in the same direct manner he used to handle cases as a young attorney in Texas.

His courtroom style of oratory and questioning witnesses hasn't changed much over the years, his friends say. He's just improved on the technique.

When former Vice President Henry Wallace appeared before the foreign Relations committee to oppose the Atlantic Treaty, he fell victim to a Connally tactic which took much of the steam out of his testimony.

At one point in the hearing, Wallace said earnestly: "If you ratify this treaty, you will turn Russia into a wild, cornered beast . . ."

Connally's head came up and he looked over his shell-rimmed glasses: "What's that about cornered beast? What's cornered beef got to do with this treaty?"

The audience chuckled. The drama evaporated.

At another point a distinguished witness got a Connally build-up and then quick deflation.

After the witness testified, Connally said: "You have done a great service. We are pleased to hear from a man of your distinction, integrity, high-mindedness—" Connally paused—"and all that stuff. That's all."

Connally makes it clear he doesn't have much use for what he calls the "striped britches" school of diplomacy.

A good example of this came when Senator Donnell (R-Mo.) challenged the qualifications of Mrs. Perle Mesta to be U. S. Minister to Luxembourg. Donnell's argument was that Mrs. Mesta's fame as Washington's top-ranking hostess and No. 1 party-giver did not necessarily give her the background to be a diplomat.

Connally came charging to Mrs. Mesta's defense. And with edged sarcasm he blasted at Donnell. "Does the senator know that Luxembourg is a Grand Duchy? And it is ruled by a Grand Duchess—a female—a woman, if you please. I suppose the Senator would prefer we send someone in striped britches . . ."

Connally is skilled in the use of the oratorical broad-axe as well as the rapier in promoting the administration's foreign programs. When a group of Republican-led Senators proposed a China-aid program, Connally saw it as a political move to embarrass the administration. And he set out to cut it down. Perhaps more than anyone else, the Texan blocked a China-aid proposal which could have meant U. S. support for Chiang Kai-shek.

In the debate, Connally bluntly accused Chiang of deserting his people and "abandoning" to Formosa with a $138,000,000 (M) gold hoard that rightfully belonged to the Nationalist Government. He shouted against pouring any more aid "into rat holes, at the bottom of which you will find Chiang Kai-shek."

A China-aid amendment was tacked onto the Foreign Arms Bill, but it was a watered-down version that gave the president the authority to spend $75,000,000 (M) in the "China area" only if he chooses.

The Chinese Embassy issued a denial that Chiang had taken the gold for his personal use. And some Senators were critical of Connally's attack on Chiang.

The next day Connally arose on the senate floor and with mock solemnity apologized for his remarks about Chiang.

"I was wrong when I said he took $138,000,000 (M)," Connally began. "I now find that he took $300,000,000 (M)."

Connally has been helping to shape American Foreign Policy now for more than 30 years. He was elected to the House in 1916, and John Nance Garner—then a house member and later Vice President—put him on the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Connally's first vote, was for war with Germany.

He came to the Senate in 1928 and became chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in 1941.

And, barring any political upsets in party control of the senate, Connally will be around for a good many more years.

As one senator put it: "There's nothing wrong with Tom that a good fight won't cure."

New Lawyer Hangs Up Shingle Here After Surveying Most Of The State

Hereford's newest lawyer, Bruce Miller, selected the Deaf Smith county seat after looking over 15 or 20 other Texas towns as prospective sites for his family to call home.

Young Mr. Miller has been around during his 36 years. He started out at Siloam Springs, Arkansas, going on to graduate from Culver Military Academy and the University of Arkansas with a year at Oklahoma University spliced in.

He was admitted to the Texas Bar in 1937 and practiced in Houston with Cutrer and Murfree for three and a half years before enlisting in the Texas National Guard in last 1940.

His military experience includes service with the 36th Field Artillery Division at Camp Bowie and Camp Blanding, Florida. He graduated from the Field Artillery Officer Candidate School at Ft. Sill in July, 1942. Then served as intelligence officer at the Coleman, primary flight training school.

He graduated from Air Intelligence school in Pennsylvania in 1944 and was assigned to one of the original B-29 groups, serving 18 months in India, China, and the Marianas as combat intelligence officer. He was released from active duty in December 1945 and retains his Captain's commission in the Air Force Reserve.

Following the war Miller took six months of post graduate work at Harvard Law School and then worked with a New York City law firm about three years.

Miller had moving back to Texas in his mind during all of this time while he was gaining experience.

Mrs. Miller and 2-year-old son Bruce are visiting in Arkansas at the present time until Mr. Miller gets

When you talk about VALVE-IN-HEAD you're talking about

The Power that made Buick Famous

If you want to know what's "the newest thing" in automobile engines, look at the Buick engine pictured here, and you'll see the words "valve-in-head."

But it happens that this isn't new with Buick. As a matter of fact, the valve-in-head engine was invented back in 1902—U. S. Patent No. 771095—and immediately, Buick adopted the principle, which became the first in a long string of "Buick firsts."

Not everyone went for the idea—then. In spite of the fact that this engine "breathes" more freely—gets fuel in and exhaust gases out more easily—others hung onto their pet ideas.

Then came the airplane, with its need for maximum power from every drop of fuel—and every maker of internal combustion airplane engines adopted the valve-in-head principle.

And more recently—with the hope that higher-octane fuels will become available—a lot of automotive engine designers are taking a new look at the valve-in-head idea.

But just for the record, we'd like to point out that Buick got there first.

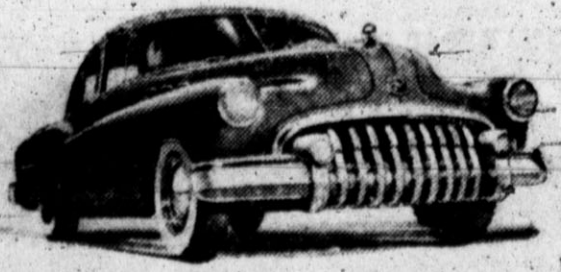

And ever since, Buick has gone steadily ahead, building up a name as "valve-in-headquarters." Buick engineers reshaped pistons to put Fireball wallop in these engines. They stepped up compression ratios as fast as better fuels came along.

So perhaps you'll want to remember, when you hear the term "valve-in-head," that this is the type of power that made Buick famous.

If others want to climb on the handwagon, we say "more power to them"—and no pun is intended.

But Buick has been doing more with valve-in-head right from the start.

And—we might add—it stands to reason that Buick is not through making this type of engine better and better.

Highway Maintenance Costs Rise While Roads Are Worse In State

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff
Austin, Tex., (AP)—Highways built in Texas 20 years ago are beginning to crumble under the constant pounding of traffic.

It would be desirable to re-design most of the primary arteries and rebuild most of them for safety.

It would cost several hundred million dollars to put Texas' main roads in first-class shape, but where's the money coming from?

Those three assertions contain the meat of a recent statement issued here by Fred Wemple, of Midland, chairman of the state highway commission.

He said highway planners are becoming increasingly concerned over the cost of maintaining state roads. That cost runs around 22 million dollars a year.

Most of the main routes through the state were built almost 20 years ago. The rate of their run-down increases every year, Wemple said, and the time is nearing when patching them up here and there will not help much.

Texas continues to lead the nation in the total mileage of roads built. The latest estimates call for 4,250 miles to be completed in 1949.

Elsewhere in the nation, there are only seven states that will build more than 1,000 miles of roads this year. North Carolina with 3,000 new miles should wind up next to Texas.

Each mile of new roads adds to the maintenance problem.

"Although a large number of new roads are being built, we can not be content with the highway situation in Texas," Wemple says.

"The size of the state demands more road mileage than any other state. As we build more and more new roads, they are added to the list for maintenance."

"Unless some solution is found for the highway maintenance problem, we shall soon find our worst roads are the heaviest traveled roads."

Wemple offered no immediate solution. He did say the financial condition of the state and nation was such that a general overhauling of the primary road system was impractical now.

The state highway program is chiefly dependent on the gasoline tax for basic revenue. The last legislature supplemented farm to market road money with a direct allocation on the clearance fund. State funds are also supplemented by local and federal money on specific types of projects, but the gasoline tax is still the major feeder.

Wemple's statement aroused considerable speculation in the capital as to whether or not the next legislature would be asked to find more money for roads.

headquarters for this district. 53. "We discussed, mostly, problems pertaining to old age assistance so as to be better informed of the project and of the people we are dealing with," Whisenand said. He added that the health of the aged person is another factor that is growing in importance.

The State Department of Public Welfare is not a medical agency but we do help some cases," he said. "We work with other related agencies and our office in Hereford has excellent relations with the Red Cross."

Other problems discussed were rehabilitation of old persons and dependant children. Actual case histories on hand from this and other counties were studied to make the workers more aware of what problems faced them.

In charge of the Amarillo meeting attended by eight men in charge of 15 counties was Arla E. Hallford, area supervisor of SDPW.

Whisenand also revealed that there was somewhat of a shortage of welfare workers at this time. Positions are now open in the department for interested persons he said. Positions range from stenographers and clerical to professional with educational requirements from high school to college. Applications and additional information will be supplied by Whisenand at his office for persons interested.

May I Present--

There! I said, I'd be here, and here I am.
 Have you gotten into the complications of an introduction? Haven't you often wondered, "Which do I present first?" If not, you might as well go on to the next article, this one is more or less only for those seeking what information I can give.
 An introduction may be charmingly executed or it may be executed, if you know what I mean. It will be worth your while to learn to present one person to another with correctness and grace of manner. To introduce nicely is an art. The more social experience one has had, the more easily and graciously he executes and accepts an introduction.
 If you want to make and accept these introductions in the correct manner, here are a few pointers. Let's see if they might help.
 1. No introducer should ever take a woman across a room to a man for an introduction. The man always crosses the room to meet the woman.
 2. The man is always presented to the woman, such as: "John Smith, Billy Green."
 3. When a boy comes into the girl's home for the first time, it is to the comfort of everyone involved if the girl can master the introductions smoothly. In this introduction, she should present the boy first. She could use an introduction similar to this: "Mother, this is Jim Smith Jim, this is my mother, Mrs. Johnson; Father, (Dad or Daddy, to most of us) I want you to know Jim." Mother and Dad will start the conversation and ball rolling from there (We'll see if they might help).
 4. I hadn't intended to put this one in but someone told me they hadn't heard of it before so here goes. A woman needn't shake hands when being introduced—unless she wishes to do so. It is entirely up to her.
 5. One should be very careful as to pronounce names correctly and distinctly. This is one of the most important factors of a successful introduction.
 6. When introducing, one must be in such a position that his voice will carry to the person being presented as well as the person being presented to.
 7. If a name is not understood, it is in order to say: "I'm sorry, I did not quite catch the name."
 8. These are but a few of the pointers I would like to get over to you, but as you know I can't take up the whole paper for just my article, so I will close now. However, in closing, I sincerely hope that I have helped you in my earnest attempt. If you have not gained anything from this article, don't blame me: I told you to go on to the next article, but you just wouldn't listen.

Junior High News

By GERRY PATTERSON
 Say, kids, will you please help us by getting in the things that happen over at Junior High? Well, first of all, we have the football game. As you probably know, Friona beat the Junior high team 9-0. They made a safety, a touchdown and an extra point. Our boys did their best, though.

 Gene Harper dropped this week so that leaves one less in junior high. The junior high pep club was at the game, too. Mrs. Purris Williams, sponsor, said that as soon as the pep club got some more yells that things would go along better.

HHS CODE OF ETHICS

Honor For Self And School Is First

By EARLENA PHILLIPS
 This is first in a series of articles on the code of ethics of Hereford High School.
 The word honor stands for a lot without anything added. When you add for self and school that includes an even wider field. If you honor something you think a lot of it and never speak a harsh word against it. We all honor ourselves, but honor for our school is not quite so common. Hereford High is something to honor and really be proud of. I know that I am proud that I came to Hereford and that I am going to graduate from Hereford High.
 There are many ways that we can honor our school. Think a while and you probably think of more than I can. First, you can always do as you are asked without griping about it. Honor your teachers, because after all they are human too. Honor the students in HHS, maybe you don't know them but chances are that they know you. Honor the school building and the desks in it. At home you wouldn't mark in it. At school you wouldn't do it at school?
 Remember that Hereford High School will give you one of the best educations possible if you are only willing to cooperate and learn.

JUST SLIDE INTO A BOOTH, PROFESSOR. I'LL CALL YOU WHEN YOUR PRESCRIPTION IS FILLED.

...HYPERTROPHIC CIRRHOSIS, RHEUMATISM AND NEURITIS! I DON'T KNOW HOW I EVER PULLED THROUGH IT... IT WAS SIMPLY THE ICKIEST SPELLING-BEE I'VE EVER BEEN IN!

First Concert Series Program Shows 'The Hasty Heart' Here Monday Night

'HASTY HEART' CAST—Jackie, Margaret and Yank, or in real life Edward Horner, Barbara Ames and William Kester, two soldiers and a nurse in the first Hereford Concert Association program of the winter series.

Presenting a play with a hospital setting and making it believable to Rochester, Minnesota is just what the Theatre-On-Tour, "Hasty Heart" company has done. After the performance October 27th in Rochester, home of the famous Mayo Clinic, the Post-Bulletin called attention to the prolonged applause and curtain-calls, and incidentally mentioned that one of the actors wore a "Zimmer Frace."

"The Hasty Heart," 75 per cent comedy and 25 per cent drama, says the Post-Bulletin, "is a play believable even to veterans who have spent time in similar hospitals around the world. The brilliant work of the cast last night enhances the sound reputation of the Theatre Guild of New York, which selected the play, cast and director."

"Before the curtain closes on the third act," the Rochester paper continues, "each of the players has become a familiar personality who will live in the memory of the audience for months after the play has ended. Edward Horner as Lachien, the arrogant Scot, is the outstanding character in the play, but performances were generally so strong that it would be unkind to single out any one player and call his performance superior to the others."
