FFA Farm Mechanics Contest Slated Here

Hereford will host the first Amarillo District Future Farmers of America Farm Mechanic Contest, set to begin at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Vocational Agricultural Shop at the high school.

Ray Simpson one of the contest coordinators, said six teams already have entered the contest, with about 10 of the 14 schools in the Amarillo District expected to compete. Teams will come from the west half of the Texas Panhandle.

Skills will be tested in farm electronics, oxy-acetylene welding, plumbing and power and hand tool identification. Judges will be agriculture teachers from the agriculture districts and Electric Co-op employees. Teams are expected from Hereford, Dumas, Canyon, Adrian, Vega, Texline, Dalhart and other cities.

Simpson and Nick Craig of the Rita Blanca Electric Co-op in Dalhart will be contest coordinators. A Member Services Advisor, Simpson is employed at Deaf Smith County Electric Co-op.

Simpson explained that the contests have grown over the past three years as more electric cooperatives have become spons-sors. "We have been interested in promoting something so the boys could gain practical experience and be able to use it when they graduated from high school and college," he stated.

Contestants learn how to cut, measure, thread, fit pipe, wire a house and how to use a welder.

Trophies will be presented to the top individuals in each contest division, and trophies also will go to the first three winning teams.

WALKING CONTEST

The metermaid or the mailman — who walks the farthest?

The Brand will attempt to answer the question this week when W. C. Beene of the Hereford Post Office Department and Dorothy Taylor of the Police Department wear pedometers as they make their daily rounds.

The two will wear the instruments a full two days and will keep an account of their walking — on and off the job.

Later this week, a car hop will be matched against a cafe waitress. Next week, a husband and wife will have steps matched.

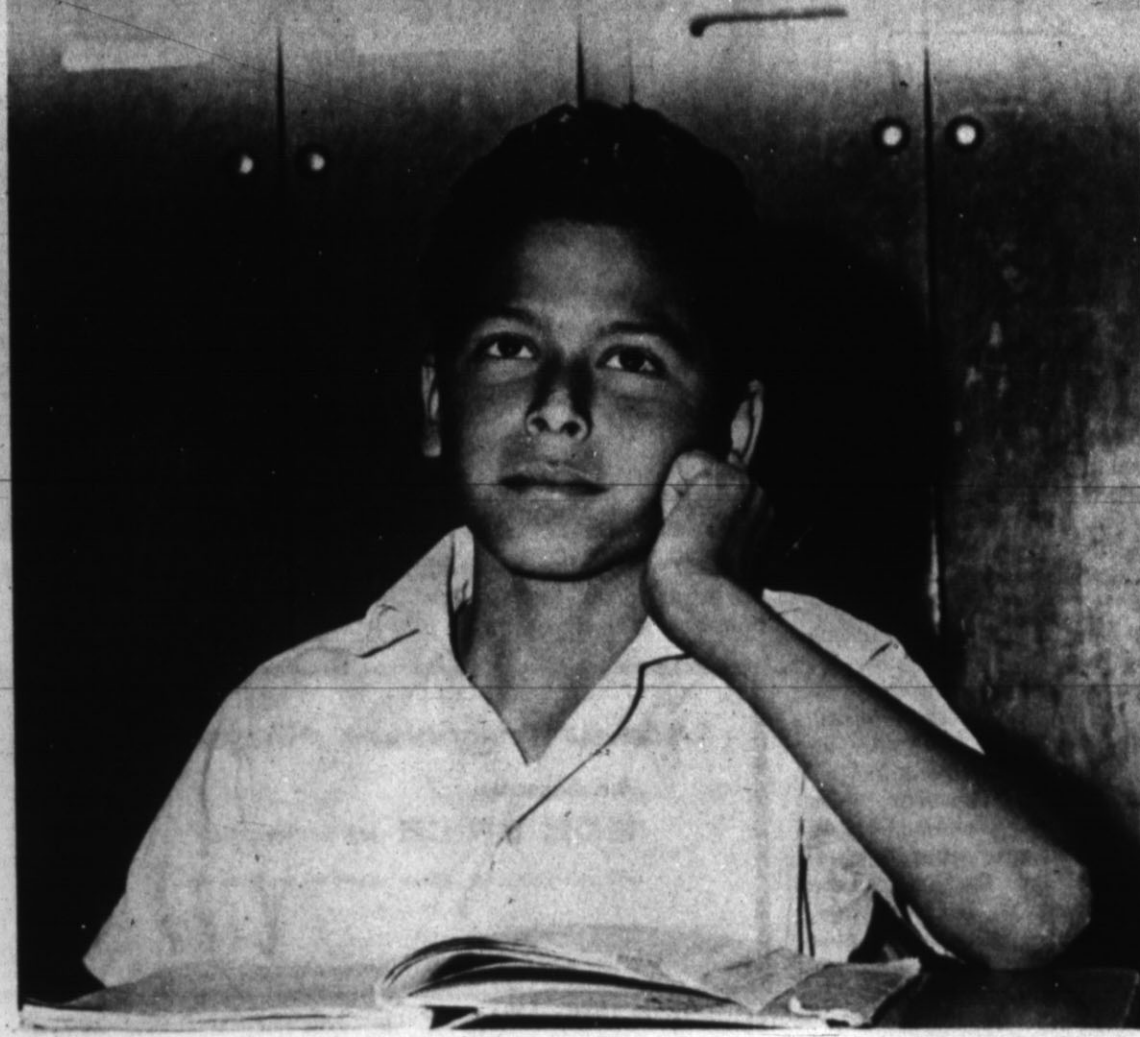

Volunteer Work Planned By VFW

Man Being Held In Rape Of Child

A 53-year old man was arrested by Deaf Smith County Sheriff's deputies Thursday and charged with the rape of a five-year-old Latin American girl.

Pablo Estrada Castanada was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ernest Wade, who denied bond in the case and ordered Castanada jailed. Castanada will go before the Deaf Smith County Grand Jury April 10 for indictment.

Sheriff's deputies said they received a call Thursday that a man had lured a small girl into a restroom in a vegetable shed in southwest Hereford. The man was arrested at the scene and the victim taken to a doctor for examination.

BRUCELLOSIS PROBLEM

Cattlemen Are Urged To Help Certification

The withholding of Deaf Smith County's Brucellosis Certificate by the Federal Health Division has caused many producers in this county to protest that it is costing them $1.50 to $2 per hundred pounds of cattle when sold in the market.

The county has not yet been issued certification because of a previous mix-up between state and federal health divisions, Juston McBride, county agricultural agent stated. He further went on to say that all cattle producers that are interested in getting this county's certificate should contact one of the government authorities requesting that the certificate be issued without causing the county to have its herds re-checked.

When any particular county applies for certification, all herds in the county are inspected for the disease. When approved, the county thereafter must have recertification every three years but at that time only a percentage of the herds are checked.

The county did not receive its certificate this year even though the herds were inspected. The state division does the inspecting and even though they reported that the county was approved, the federal division did not grant certification. The main reason the federal division gave was that not enough herds had been inspected for their approval. The state division again inspected more herds and when submitting their report, the federal division again refused to grant this county the certification. The reason they gave then was that the state department took more than the six-month period that is required for inspecting. In order for the county to be the federal division requires that all the herds in the county be checked again. This is too big a process and producers are protesting the action.

Bill Thompson, manager of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, contacted Congressman Bob Price. He received the following telegram in return:

"Have discussed the matter of re-certification as a modified certified county under the brucellosis control program with director of animal health division USDA here, who advises me he will be in contact with Dr. Carson for solution to problem about which you wrote. Will advise as soon as I hear — Bob Price, Member of Congress."

Amarillo Livestock Auction has reported that no inspection is required on cattle sold in this state. They required only inspection for the first week and later were advised by the state division not to do so.

The withholding of the certification of this county does not, See CATTLEMEN, Page 2

Revisit Clinic Underway

First phase of the IAHP of Hereford, Revisit Center, began this week with the arrival of a therapist from the Institutes for the Achievement of Human Potential of Texas, Inc., in San Antonio.

Don Zemen of the IAHP has been doing re-evaluation of brain damaged children this week and will continue next week said Mrs. Jack Brown of Hereford. Furniture for the Hereford branch of the IAHP also began arriving this week and should all be here soon, according to Mrs. Brown.

Guy M. Parrish, director of the IAHP, announced last week that the Revisit Center would be located in Hereford. It is expected to serve approximately 80 children in the general area. Dr. Bruce G. Beene of Hereford will be medical director of the clinic.

Mrs. Brown said contributions toward getting the center here have come in from Dimmitt, Tulla, Friona, Happy and Amarillo.

"Floydada also has asked if they could help, but we haven't received anything from them as yet," she added. "It's going far better than we ever anticipated," Mrs. Brown explained.

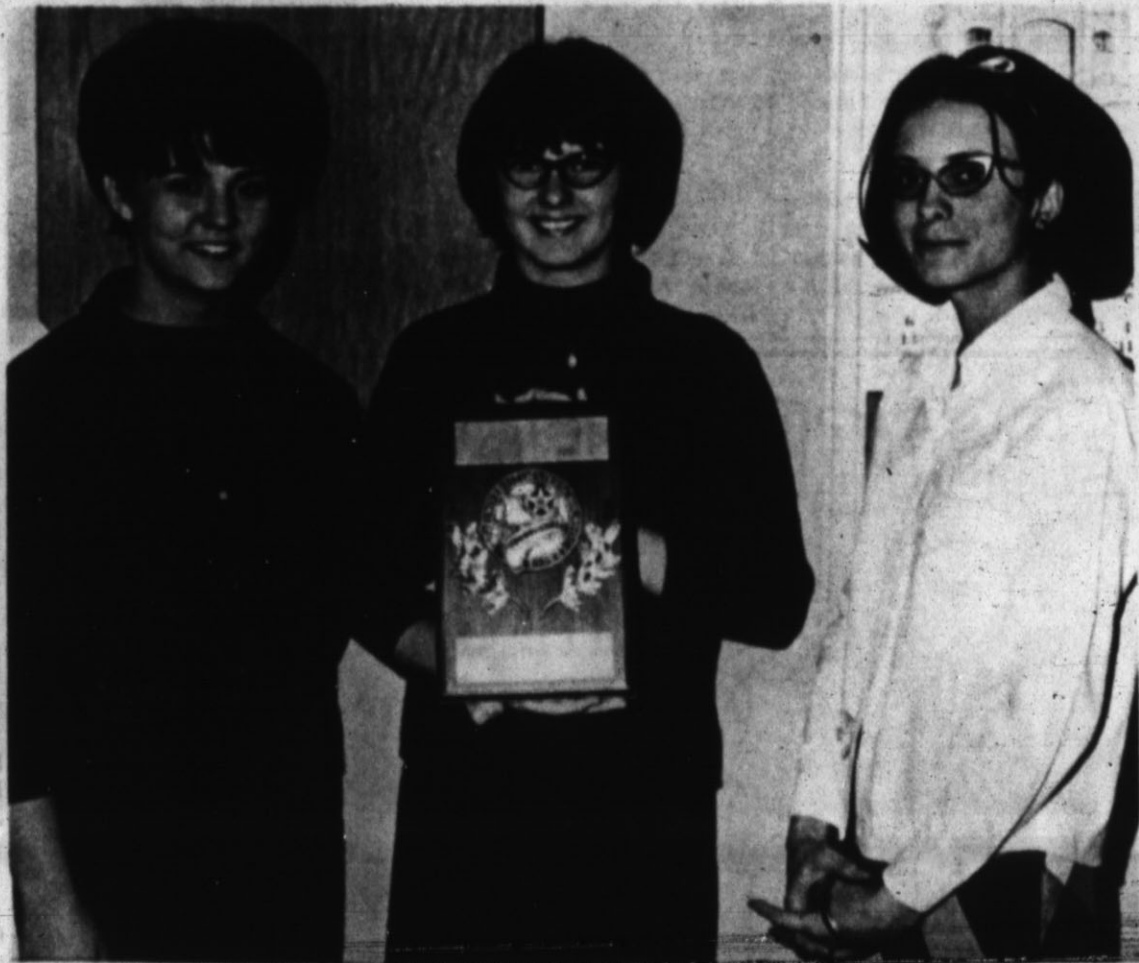

She said that local supporters of the center have plans to begin solicitation of funds late next week if the $4,700 required isn't raised by then. One of the requirements laid down by directors of the IAHP in locating the center in any Panhandle city was that "the people in the community show their interest by providing the funds necessary for the purchase of office equipment to meet the initial requirements."

The center will be located in five offices directly west of the Deaf Smith County Courthouse.

Contributions may be made at either of the two banks in Hereford, where accounts have been set up, said Mrs. Brown.

Before joining the IAHP, Zemen was director of the foundation for Cerebral Palsy for Kansas.

this choir earned a second division in sight reading. Only one other mixed choir of the 17 that sang, took first division in concert. The sight-reading judge paid the Hereford Acappella Choir a rare compliment, Director Richard Jackson reports, by requesting that it sing one of its concert numbers after it sight-read. This choir will compete in the statewide Buccaneer contest at Corpus Christi in April; it earned sweepstakes there two years ago. Concert judges at Canyon were Deryl Johnson of Hastings College, Howard Skinner of Colorado State College and A. R. Skoog of State College of Arkansas. Sight reading judge was Bob Buchanan of Brownsville High School.

UF Directors Named

Eight new board members were named to United Fund this week at a called meeting. Named to serve three year terms were Debbs Knox, Pauline Howard, Darrell Rose, Roy Botkins, Bruce Brown, Naomi Hopson, Rev. Clifford Trotter and Gladys Manjeot. They will be filling the places of out-going directors Clint Formy, Wheeler Sears, Mary Janie Pitman, Dub Hair, Frank Ford Jr., Melvin Young, Mrs. James Higgins and Melvin Jayroe. Officers for 1967 were elected early in March with Elmore Rains being named president, Ed Skypala, vice president and Wayne Williams, as secretary-treasurer.

Rains said that he will have to have a good crew pulling hard to match the success of the last two outstanding campaigns in the county.

Melvin Jayroe is out-going president, Jack Nunley and Dale Young, retiring vice presidents and Alex Schroeter was secretary-treasurer for 1966.

Drapery Trade Show Organized Saturday

A trade show being assembled in Hereford by the American Drapery Dealers Association will be taken to other cities and will also be shown in open display here, local members of the organization convened for a business session in Hotel Jim Hill ballroom.

New styles in draperies and bedspreads from dealers in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico, Colorado, Utah and Idaho, and from firms dealing in drapery fabrics and hardware, are being arranged for the traveling show.

Exhibit space was reserved by 36 dealers, and much of it was filled for the dealers to view Saturday afternoon.

Date of the public showing here will be announced this week. The trade show will be booked for various cities by the member-dealers, and in some instances will be sponsored by organizations as a charity benefit.

Rena Rae Newton is regional representative here for the A.D.D.A. which has recently completed organization. Two previous meetings have been held in Hereford as the organization was being formed. Dorothy Ott

Jury Hears Case In Corporation Court This Week

A six-man jury deliberated about 30 minutes in Corporation Court Thursday morning and returned a verdict of not guilty against two Hereford teenagers charged with racing.

Robert Leland Baum, 17, and Norman J. Edwards, 19, were charged Jan. 5 with "Contesting for speed" on 13th Street.

Testifying for the state was Sgt. Ray Morgan of the Hereford Police Department. Norman Edwards, Bill Joe Wall and W. J. Edwards testified for the defense. Earnest Langley is attorney for the City of Hereford, while Andrew Shuval was attorney for the defendants.

Baum and Edwards were tried together, although they had been driving separate cars. Members of the jury were Pat Parker, C. D. Fitzgerald, Bob Renfro, Joe Hamilton Harold Kids and Dale Barclay. Judge J. D. Neill presided.

Hendrickson, Mrs. Campbell, and Sister Wandolina. The Junior winners may enter if they wish.

Parents and spectators are welcome to attend.

The students will be given a word to spell and if they miss then a different word will be given to the next entry. When the last two are remaining then the word is given and if it is missed, the last one must spell the missed word and also another word. If he misses either, then they both have another chance, until one remains.

The winners of the County Bee will go to the Amarillo Golden Spread Spelling Bee, with the Juniors attending the luncheon. This will take place April 22 at Amarillo. The winner of this contest will go to Washington. Date to be announced at a later date.

St. Anthony's Catholic Church will begin the services at 6:30 p. m. today with "Blessing of the Palms." Following the Holy Thursday service, which begins at 8 p. m., members will begin the Procession of Holy Eucharist to the Repository.

Good Friday services will begin at 3 p. m., followed by the Stations of the Cross and Veneration of a Relic of the True Cross. Preliminary services for Holy Saturday will begin at 8 p. m., followed by the Mass of Easter.

Masses will begin at the usual times Sunday, said Father Angelus.

however, affect the county's feed yards or any other producer who sells his cattle to be slaughtered. It affects only the producer who sells his cattle to be used as breeders or which goes to a breeder herd. If a producer sells his cattle to breeder farms, he is not penalized if he sells them to someone who will not take them out-of-state. This penalizing action effects only the person who must sell his cattle to out-of-state buyers.

Due to the dry condition affecting this area at the present time, the action taken by the federal government hasn't yet been too badly felt. It will do more harm when rains come to the area because there will be many out-of-state buyers who will have to be refused cattle because of this action. An alternative is to have each animal inspected by a veterinarian.

Brucellosis is a disease that affects only female cattle. It is a disease that affects the cattle reproductive organs.

Producers urge all concerned to take action to prevent the county from having to be checked over again. It is advised that one write to his congressman or to Dr. Carson, head of the Brucellosis division, Animal Health Division, Federal Maryland, or to John L. Wilbur, veterinarian in charge of Federal Animal Disease Eradication. He may be contacted by calling Greenwood 6-4411, Extension 6593, Austin, McBride said.

Counties affected by the federal's action extend to others than Deaf Smith. Also included are Dallam, Hartly and Floyd,

BOB PRICE 10TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

1222 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. • 225-3706

Since my election I have received many letters in regard to postmaster and rural carrier appointments in the district. However, these appointments are made-by the President with the advise and consent of the Senate. This is a holdover from days when all government jobs went to the friends of politicians.

On March 9 I introduced a bill to take these jobs out of politics. The legislation would provide that appointments to these positions be given to qualified career employees in the postal service.

A resolution approving additional United States food aid to India was debated in the House on March 9. During the discussion I pointed out that the American farmer should not be asked to subsidize this Nation's foreign policy, of using American food to aid and stabilize needy areas, unless he is getting a fair price for his products.

The actual purpose for considering the resolution was to take the blame from the President's shoulders for sending more grain abroad for which the American farmer received prices well below parity. Just last month the Department of Agriculture reported the market price for wheat was only 58 percent of parity and for grain sorghum, 76 percent of parity.

While taking all these things into consideration I decided to vote for the resolution anyway. There are starving people in India.

dia who need this food. It is a market for the farmer's product and I will keep our surplus down. I will be doing everything possible in the future to see that American farmers receive a better price for their grain in transactions with India and other countries.

The problem of our defense policies still overshadows most other considerations here in Washington. The war in Viet Nam, of course, remains at the top of the list, occasionally other problems arise. One of these was recent testimony before a Senate subcommittee when a former State Department official testified that his sources in Cuba have indicated the Russians still have some missiles in that country.

For many months I have advocated blockading Cuba. This would undoubtedly bring about Castro's downfall in a short period of time. It seems very stupid to me for our fighting men to be dying in the jungles of Viet Nam, thousands of miles away, while we continue to let this communist sore exist 90 miles from our shores.

On the subject of Viet Nam, I would like to quote from a letter one of my colleagues received from an American airman serving there. It expresses my feeling.

"We might make a few of our friends mad when we sink a few of their ships in the Port of Haiphong or stop them from going in, but if we don't want to lose another 500 planes over North Viet Nam, we are going to have to say, 'OK, on these dates we are going to bomb Haiphong and Hanoi — civilians, sorry about that, but move out of the city.' We would then totally destroy their means of waging war at the minimum loss of life to all concerned."

veteran any assistance he might need.

The volunteer help is designed to meet any need of the veteran or his family. Helping the family before the veteran leaves for the hospital, or assisting them after he comes home is part of the program.

Local assistance can be given to veterans such as Arch Dobbins and Waldo Jennings who are living at King's Manor. Errands to supply the needs of veterans, visits, etc. are considered part of volunteer work.

The VFW is sponsoring the clinic and has invited American Legion Auxiliary or the wives of any veterans to participate.

The two hour session begins at 7:30 p. m. at the Veteran's clubhouse.

City Agenda

A relatively light agenda will face Hereford City Commissioners when they hold their regular meeting Monday night in City Hall.

Commissioners are expected to accept bids on a truck chassis for the Hereford Fire Department and discuss a request from the Deaf Smith County Commissioners for easements to widen the road leading to the Municipal Airport.

Meetings, held the first and third Monday's of each month, begin at 7:30 p. m. and are open to the public.

Training Course Is Planned Here

An area-wide Worker's Training Course will be held Monday through Friday in the Hereford Assembly of God Church, Union and Avenue G.

Instructor for the course, which will begin at 7 p. m. Monday, will be the Rev. H. E. Allen of Wichita Falls. Rated as one of the best instructors in the south, Rev. Allen has conducted training courses in more than 100 churches in Texas and Oklahoma during the past 20 years. He has served as Pastor of the Wichita Falls section for the past six years.

Textbook for the course is "Teaching as Jesus Taught." Visual aids will be used by Rev. Allen.

Two sessions will be held each night from 7 to 9 p. m., with a five-minute intermission between the two. Diplomas will be awarded Friday night.

The Rev. V. W. Marcontell, pastor of the church, said Dimmitt and Friona churches have been invited.

CONTRIBUTION ACCEPTED — Mrs. Jack Brown, right, accepts a check from Mrs. Werner Koelzer, president of the Parish Council of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, for the new I.A.H.P. of Hereford, Revisit Center. The Institutes for the Achievement of Human Potential of Texas, Inc. announced last week that a Revisit Center will be located in Hereford and one of the requirements is that $4,700 be raised by local residents to pay for initial costs. Dimmitt Voters Approve Airport

DIMMITT — A special bond issue to raise $100,000 for construction of a municipal airport was approved by Dimmitt voters Friday by a county of 470-102.

Matching funds totaling $96,431 will be made available from the Federal Aviation Agency and the entire amount will go toward construction of the airport a mile north of town. Ninety acres will be purchased at that spot.

The airport will include a 50 by 4,000-foot runway, turnarounds, taxiways, aprons, lighting and an access road. Construction could start in July and the project completed by September officials said.

MORE PEOPLE MADE A FEDERAL CASE OF IT CHICAGO — Federal legal case loads reached an all-time high in 1966.

Cases pending before the U. S. Courts of Appeals climbed to a record 5,387, some 600 more than pending the previous year. Commerce Clearing House said appeals in 7,183 cases were docketed in 1966. It is an increase of 6 per cent from the 6,766 cases docketed the previous year.

Cases disposed of during the year totaled 6,571.

District Court civil cases filed totaled 70,906 with 68,184 civil cases closed.

The most important tree species found in Texas commercial forests are loblolly, shortleaf, longleaf and slash pines; red, tupelo and black gums; white, red, and black oaks; cypress; cedar; white ash; magnolia; elm; hickory; beech; sycamore; maple; and cottonwood.

Rites Conducted For A. H. Davis

The funeral of Arthur Huffaker Davis, who died suddenly Wednesday morning, was conducted Saturday morning in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home by the Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor of First Methodist Church.

Burial was in West Park Cemetery with J. W. Robinson, Jack Gilliland, John D. Pitman, Elmer Patterson, John Pool and Bill Hutson as pallbearers.

A native of Tennessee, Mr. Davis was born in 1891 and came to Texas as a young man. He moved from Milford to Deaf Smith County in 1917.

Surviving are his wife and three daughters including Mrs. A. B. Higgins of Hereford; a sister, three brothers, ten grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

INSTEAD OF COMING FROM SHOW BIZ

CALCUTTA, India — Mihir Sen, the Indian who made a name for himself swimming well-known bodies of water such as the Panama Canal and the Dardanelles, has decided to plunge into political waters.

Sen announced he would seek election to parliament's lower house (Lok Sabha) in India's general elections next February. He will contest as an independent.

In announcing his candidacy, Sen said the ruling Congress Party, which warmly congratulated him on each of his swimming feats, "has driven India to the brink of disaster."

Hi. This next Wednesday will be slave day! Won't some seniors and juniors have some fun. Last Tuesday, an auction was held and several sophomores were auctioned off. Debbie Waldon and Sue Easley must have something special. If all the sophomores had sold at the same price these two girls did, it would not take too long to raise a little money.

The basketball banquet was held Saturday night, at the Hereford Country Club. Supt. Johnny Clark spoke and the Strawbenders provided the entertainment. This is an annual event which is always looked forward to.

This week, according to the Amarillo weathercasters, ends the driest six-month period since man has been recording moisture totals. And after doing a little digging in the garden, we can well believe it. It's been so dry up our way that the earth worms are trying to get a drink out of the dog's bowl.

With modern medicine doing so well at increasing our life expectancy, we'd better be careful about adding to the national debt. We might have to pay it ourselves instead of passing it on.
And you think you have troubles? It's a topsy-turvy world.

reports TOPS News Service. You think you've got troubles and you fret and whine about them. Just look what's happening around the world and the reaction.

Fred Hoffkinson, of Dublin, Ireland, runs a chain of dry cleaning establishments. He went to the race track and lost on just about every race. Instead of getting all upset, he quipped:

"As far as I'm concerned, you can report that the cleaners were taken to the books." And over in Yugoslavia, lightning hit the home of Franco Backe. It went into the cellar and broke open a cask of wine. He took it philosophically.

"It's the fifth time lightning has hit my place, but it's the first time it ever drank my wine."

Back in the good old U. S. of A., the county officials at Stuart Fla., held a ground breaking ceremony for a new $48,000 courthouse.

Then it was discovered the county did not own the land. A comedian at a London theater will probably be more careful in the future how he takes part in audience-participation routines. He asked a man seated out front, "How's your sex life?" "Horrible!" the man shouted back.

His wife, sitting next to him, got up and left and later divorced him.

And on the local front, one man, picked up for bootlegging, was pleading with the officers as they were leaving his home following confiscation of his stock. But in this case, the officers not only found the man's bootleg liquor, but apparently found his private stock of expensive bourbon as well.

"Mister," he told the officer, "You know I'm a bootlegger, and I know I'm a bootlegger, but we both know that ain't bootleg whiskey."

His pleading fell on deaf ears however, as the officers loaded up the goods.

And one thief, if he's ever caught, is going to have a rough time in county court. He's the man who stole the tools out of the back of the pickup owned by Judge H. C. (Hank) Williams.

The judge, somewhat upset by the whole business, reported that someone had apparently gone into his backyard, walking right past the bedroom window, heisted his tool kit out of the back of the farm pickup and made off with about $100 worth of tools.

Now that's what we would call a "brave" robber.

The moral to these happenings is simply this: "You think you have troubles. Well, so has everyone else. And how would you like to face an irate county judge after being charged with stealing his tools?"

So don't let your troubles get you down. It could be worse. And someday, somehow, there is a solution to everything, large and small, and this includes your own woes.

Some people, we're told, just can't count calories, and they have figures to prove it.

Don't forget the big concert by famed violinist Rubenoff. And you fellows that haven't bought tickets yet, you might as well make up your mind that you're going to do so. We just can't tolerate too much sales resistance.

March 28 is the deadline.

Speaking of deadlines, final deadline time for auto inspection stickers and new license plates is drawing near. Better beat the crowds and get it done now.

Father (to teenage daughter): "This should make you feel more grown-up — your own phone bill."

EGG HUNTERS — Some carry baskets of colored eggs, some are still searching for well-hidden Easter eggs at the close of the annual party given for their children by Young Mothers Study Club members. The scene is being repeated often this week by groups of Hereford children taking part in traditional Easter hunts.

Feed Yards Is Planned In Area

BOVINA — The Farmer County Cattle Co., Inc., a corporation which includes two Hereford men, has announced plans to install a feedlot operation near Bovina which ultimately will handle 30,000 head of cattle.

Members of the newly formed corporation include G. D. Anderson Jr. of Bovina, John Douglas Pitman and Owen Seamands of Hereford, A. R. Dillard Jr. of Wichita Falls, and Jack Dunn of Clovis. The land for the feedlot was purchased from Dunn.

To be installed four miles southwest of Bovina on U. S. 60, the feedlot will be managed by Casper C. (Cap) Naegle, former manager of a Roswell, N. M., feedlot. Construction is expected to begin soon and the operation to start in about six months.

Bargain Is Seen In Hospital Here

Residents of Deaf Smith County are receiving a bargain in medical care through the Deaf Smith County Hospital, if an insurance companies reports are a good index.

According to Blue Cross, the average cost per day is $30.74 in this hospital, $32.40 in the Amarillo area and $35.69 in the state of Texas, for Blue Cross payments. For average total costs, Deaf Smith County patients are paying $41.05 per day, while patients in the Amarillo area are paying $41.15 a day and the state average is $45.79.

Some of the lower costs are found in the cost of drugs and some in the costs of laboratory work. Lab work in our county hospital runs $19.28 average per case, $26.01 in the Amarillo area and $34.83 in the state.

Time spent in the hospital averages 5 days in Hereford, 5.8 in the Amarillo area and 6.3 days as a state average.

Costs have been creeping up in all areas over the past few years, but records show that Deaf Smith County Hospital has not jumped as much as most hospitals in the state.

Figures for 1962 show that the average cost per case in the county was $156.37. In 1963, it rose to $168.89; 1964, $189.03; 1965, $201.45 and in 1966, $204.07.

Room costs in the county have gone up from $13.37 in 1962 to $19.77 in 1966. Room costs per day in the Amarillo area are some lower than in Deaf Smith County Sheriff Ed Roberson was the guest speaker of the Kiwanis Club during their weekly noon luncheon Thursday.

During the meeting, the club gave recognition to the Hereford Lions Club for its 50th Anniversary by having the Lions Club officers as special guests and also presenting them with a cake. Kiwanians also sang "Happy Birthday" to them.

Lowell Sharp, past sheriff of this county and program chairman of the Kiwanis Club this month, introduced Roberson. Roberson's topic was "Trends in the Legislation" and how citizens should cooperate with law officers for better law enforcement.

Bobby Owens, chairman of the fertilizer sale, reported that over one-half of the 50-pound bags had been sold and that an all-out effort would be launched this week to sell the rest. This will be the last week of the sale and persons are urged to buy the lawn fertilizer. The bags sell for $4 each and the profits of this sale will go to the Kiwanis Club.

Ray Todd presented the friendship dollar to Truman Reagan.

Dean Herring, president of the club, presided over the meeting.

May Draft Call Is Some Lower

AUSTIN — The state's 155 draft boards will be called upon to furnish 885 men for the armed forces in May, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Thursday.

This compares with quotas of 675 for April, 761 for March, 674 for February, and 1,110 for January.

There will be no quotas for the physical and mental pre-induction examination of men in April, Colonel Schwartz said.

This continues a ban on examinations since early January because of the budgetary limitation of travel funds.

The state Selective Service director said no decision had been made as to whether or not examinations would be held in May.

He said Texas currently had sufficient examined and acceptable men to fill current quotas.

Induction quotas for the Army by Texas draft boards in the fall of 1966 reached as high as 2,700 monthly.

American Legion Has Celebration

The Hereford Post of The American Legion will be celebrating the 48th birthday of the organization when they meet with members of the American Legion Auxiliary on Tuesday March 21st, in the Legion Home located in Veterans Park.

The birthday dinner will be served at 7:30 p. m. with the hosts. The dinner will be a covered dish affair, with the meat furnished by the Legion and Auxiliary members bringing salad or vegetable. A birthday cake will be featured.

The American Legion had its beginning in Paris, France, soon after World War one ended. The local Post was organized in 1929 with Dr. D. K. Roberson serving as the first commander. The National Organization has grown from this small beginning to the largest patriotic organization in the world, with post in all of the 50 states and several foreign countries. The majority of the 17,000 posts will be celebrating the birthday in March.

All members of the American Legion and Auxiliary are invited to attend the Tuesday meeting.

The Department Commander, Jack Flynt Dimmitt, is expected to attend and be the speaker for the evening. Also expected to attend are Mrs. Jack Flynt Department President, District Commander Roy Beard and his wife from Amarillo and District Vice-Commander Bill Brady from Claude.

POSTAL PROBLEMS
 NEW DELHI — About 2.5 million improperly addressed letters and packages are received each day in the Indian postal system, a department official complained.

The official said 22 million articles are in circulation in the postal system each day, with one-third of the traffic concentrated in the tiny handful of major Indian cities.

Feed Lot Waste Problems Studied

HOUSTON — Solutions to feed lot waste disposal problems are promised through research being conducted by Texas Technological College, cattlemen were told here today.

The research, which is being made possible through a grant by the Cattle Feeders Division of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, was announced by Ben H. Carpenter of Dallas, TSCRA President and Dr. Grover Murray, President of Texas Tech at the 90th Annual TSCRA Convention in Houston.

Additional funds for the research project are being provided by the Coordinating Board Texas College and University System, according to Lloyd Bergsma, Director of the TSCRA Cattle Feeders Division.

The project is officially designated, "Economic and Engineering Feasibility Analyses of Alternative Systems of Feed Lot Waste Disposal."

The Texas Tech Departments of Agricultural Engineering, Agricultural Economics and Animal Husbandry are cooperating in carrying out the studies.

Primary purpose of the research is to determine basic characteristics of factors which could lead to problems in water and air pollution and the best methods of reducing or eliminating these factors.

Bergsma said the research project, which is divided into four phases, is already underway. It is scheduled for completion early in 1968.

The funds provided by the Cattle Feeders Division were contributed by Texas cattle feeders for specific use in this research project.

Cattle feeding within the state has more than tripled in the last decade and expansion has been particularly great the last two years. On March 1, 1967, Texas cattle feeders had 679,000 head on feed, which was 35 percent greater than the number on feed March 1, 1966. Bergsma estimated that cattle feeding volume in Texas in 1967, would reach 1,750,000 head.

Small Strokes Danger Signals

An often unsuspected cause of mental and physical incapacity is a series of "little strokes," says Today's Health Guide, the American Medical Association's book of health information for the American family.

A stroke occurs when the blood supply to a part of the brain is reduced or completely cut off. This can be caused by a blood clot or by hemorrhage — bleeding from an artery in the brain. When the nerve cells of a part of the brain are deprived of their blood supply, the part of the body controlled by these nerve centers cannot function normally.

"Little strokes" may start when a person is in the 30's or 40's striking silently at night or passing almost unnoticed as a sudden dizzy spell, a momentary blackout, or just a few moments of confusion. The stroke itself is not severe enough to compel the patient to seek medical aid, but some permanent brain damage remains just the same.

Clark Attended Company Meet

A formerly kind, gentle person may become highly impatient and irritable. His judgment is often impaired. A strong man may become weak and prone to tears. Suspiciousness is common. A person with a tendency to emotional instability, held in check heretofore by will power, may suddenly develop a psychosis. Some become sloppy in dress and befuddled in thought, others lose a part of their moral sense. Sometimes the victim, merely loses interest in his family and friends, and lives secretively, constantly hiding things that through forgetfulness he cannot later find.

When the symptoms are mild, as they often are, the person may get along fairly well. Surveys show that a sufferer of cerebral vascular disease can get along better in the slower-going farm and small-town areas than in the faster-living city.

The problem of small strokes is one of the most difficult ever tackled by medical science. The most hopeful research approach is that of finding ways to prevent stroke. Science seeks to learn more about how to recognize early symptoms so that treatment can be instituted promptly.

Flaked almonds look pretty when they top a frosted cake or other dessert. To flake, blanch almonds and use a swivel-blade vegetable peeler run over the wide side of each nut to make "flakes." This is a time-consuming process but fortunately not many of the thinly cut nuts are needed for the garnish!

DETERMINED — Mike Aven knows that March is a time for flying kites and he is determined to try the sport even if the thermometer dips pretty low. He was caught in front of his home, 135 Ave. J, by the brand photographer one cold afternoon, kite well aloft. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Bulldogs Hand Defeat To Herd

Hereford pitcher Alex Diaz turned in the best pitching performance by a Whiteface hurler Friday afternoon, but the Plainview Bulldogs capitalized on their five hits to defeat the locals 3-1 in Plainview.

The loss was the third in a row for the Herd, the second by the varsity. They were scheduled to play a doubleheader with Amarillo High School in Amarillo Saturday afternoon.

Plainview got a run in the first inning Friday when a player walked, and then was given a free ride all the way to home plate as a throw from catcher to second base went into centerfield and was mishandled there.

In the second inning the Bulldogs got a single, triple and another single to run the score to 3-0. The Herd got its run in the sixth inning and compiled four hits. The loss was the first for Diaz after a victory over the same Bulldogs March 11. Hereford carried a 3-3 record into the doubleheader with Amarillo High.

The Hereford Whiteface varsity baseball team was beaten for the first time this year Tuesday afternoon when the Caprock Longhorns of Amarillo scored four runs in the first inning and raced on to a 9-6 win.

Hereford had split a doubleheader with Plainview on the local diamond March 11, but reserves played the second game, which Plainview won 12-4. The varsity won the first game 14-9.

In Amarillo Tuesday the unbeaten Class AAAA Longhorns jumped on Whiteface pitcher Barry Johnson for four runs in the first inning, got two more in the third inning, one in the fourth and two more in the fifth inning. Winners of their first four games, Caprock banged out 13 hits, including two doubles and two triples.

Hereford couldn't score until the fifth inning, when they got three runs. They got another in the sixth and then began a big rally in the final inning. Alex Diaz led off with a single, Gene Duvall slammed a big triple and Bill Watts hit a single. A pop-up and a doubleplay ended the surge and the game.

The Herd missed a big scoring opportunity in the second inning when they hit four singles. Watts was picked off third base, and Robert Wagner and Sheldon White both fanned to end the inning.

Johnson, who was relieved by Lynn Betts, took the loss. He also has won a game. Duvall led the locals in hitting by driving in three runs with a triple and two singles. Watts, Sid Shaw, Gary Tucker and Kenny Hagar got two singles each.

Hereford banged out 12 hits in beating Plainview 14-9 in Saturday's opener. In that contest, the local team fell behind 7-0 in the first two and one-half innings. In their half of the third inning, Diaz, Johnson walked, Shaw and Watts singled before Duvall uncorked a home run for five runs.

Again in the fourth, Watts, Duvall, Wagner, Johnson and Shaw all walked, Diaz got on after a Plainview error, and Hagar singled to score five more runs. Singles by Shaw, Watts, Duvall and Tucker and a walk by Hagar brought in four runs in the fifth inning.

In the game, Watts got two hits, drove in three runs and scored three times; Shaw had three hits, one run batted in and scored three runs; Diaz had two hits, drove in three runs and scored three. Johnson and Duvall had stolen bases. Diaz went all the way to pick up the victory for the Herd.

In the second game, the Hereford reserves were held to four runs and six hits in the five inning game. Plainview got 12 runs on 11 hits. The Herd got three runs in the last inning when McGowan was hit by a pitch, Walker and Roger Beasley singled, Betts doubled and Shaw walked. Betts lost the game.

Hereford was scheduled to play a doubleheader with

Beta Sigma Phi Events For Spring Planned

Spring rituals and a Founders Day dinner, annual events for Beta Sigma Phi members here, were planned in detail at the March meeting of the sorority's City Council Thursday in Mrs. Larry Summers' home.

Hostesses for the ritual program, to be held April 4 in Community Center, are Mmes. David Hamblen, Clete Corlis, Harold Beauchamp, Harold Kids and Miss Ollene Williams.

Observing the 36th Founders Day, a dinner will be given at Ward's Restaurant April 30. As it is each year, the Girl of the Year award will be presented to a BSP member. The year's theme in the international sorority, Jewel The Phi, will be the banquet theme.

Invitations were read to a BSP dance at Amarillo April 14 to benefit Gristown U. S. A., and to the New Mexico state convention at Clovis April 14-16.

Final reports were compiled on the Valentine Ball here, and it was announced that the proceeds will make a substantial contribution to Gristown. Another benefit for the same purpose will be a kidnap breakfast planned for this spring.

Council members present were Mmes. Harold Kids, Corlis, C. D. Fitzgerald, Rudy Metz, Duke Powell and Miss Williams.

Motorists Have Two Deadlines

City and state law enforcement officials have warned motorists of two rapidly approaching deadlines April 1 for getting new license plates on the car and April 15 for getting the inspection sticker on.

Corporation Court Judge J. D. Neill and Sgt. W. E. Wells of the Texas Department of Public Safety urges local and area residents that citations will be given those violating the laws.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

In the Name of Charity

To help a worthy cause, you buy a $5 ticket to a theater party. May you deduct the $5 on your next income tax return as a charitable contribution?

No, because your payment was not all charity. You received something of value in return: the show itself. If the regular price of tickets is $3, you may deduct only the other $2—the part that was truly a gift.

This rule has wide application, not only in such frivolous areas as theater parties, charity balls, lotteries, and athletic events but also in such basic areas as health and education.

For example:

A man claimed a deduction for money paid to a non-profit retirement home—in return for lifetime care.

A woman claimed a deduction for money paid to a religious society—in return for perpetual upkeep of her burial plot.

A family claimed a deduction for money paid to a church—in return for their son's education. But in each case, the deduction was not allowed. For in each case, the payment was held not true charity but simply a purchase of services—like any other family expense.

The mere fact that your payment is in the form of a check made out to a charitable organization does not change it into charity if it really isn't.

And, by the same token, a true gift may be deductible even if it is not in the form of money at all. Thus, contributions of food or books to a qualified charitable organization are deductible.

What about services that you render? No doubt, in the scales of virtue, donating your services weighs as much as donating your money—or your merchandise.

Nonetheless, services are held not a deductible contribution, perhaps because of the formidable problems of fixing their value. Imagine the difficulties of putting a price tag on the services of Mom to a Girl Scout troop or of Dad to the Community Chest.

On the other hand, if your services require out-of-pocket expenses for which you are not reimbursed, they are generally deductible.

For instance, the costs of driving to a volunteer job at a hospital, or of buying uniforms not otherwise useful, may be deducted. For, in a true sense, you are giving this amount to charity.

Support Is Need In Viet Nam

HOUSTON — Former Rep. Lera Thomas of Houston says the American serviceman in Vietnam just wants to feel the people at home are behind him.

Mrs. Thomas made a two-month tour of Vietnam and said in an interview she is impressed by the spirit of the United States fighting men.

"I never heard any complaints from the young boys," she said. "I only heard two men say they wanted to get out and never come back — they couldn't care less about the Vietnamese people."

She said one of the men made such a statement in a group and the other men turned away.

"They just don't want any part of that thinking," she said.

Mrs. Thomas, who last year filled the unexpired 16th term of her late husband, Rep. Albert Thomas, but did not seek election to a full term, said she is convinced the United States can arrive at no negotiations with the Viet Cong until "we persuade them they can't win."

"The only thing those people know is force," she said. "You're going to have to play their game, fight the way they fight. Mrs. Thomas contacted hundreds of Texas servicemen and delivered messages from Houston area residents. She also brought back several hundred messages.

She said many Air Force pilots said they would like to fly to North Vietnam and get the job done through massive air strikes.

"But this is a war in which you can't see the enemy," she said. "From the air you can see streaks where the jungle has been defoliated in an attempt to find them."

She said the new project of Newport, where all American goods will be unloaded, will stop pilfering at the docks for the black market.

She described the Vietnamese situation as a "nightmare war." "Once on a highway north of Saigon, we passed a side road on which there was a full-scale battle in progress," she said. "Traffic on the highway continued and the people appeared not to notice the fight."

She said American servicemen are learning to match the mobility of the Viet Cong and "this will be the answer in winning the war."

"We are also going to win with the younger generation of Vietnamese and the education we are giving them," she said. "These people want most of all to be free and to have the security, public health and schools our people are giving them."

Although having to fight the war under miserable conditions of mud, disease and filth, she said the fighting man's spirits remain high.

"Just tell our people we only want to feel they are behind us," is the average soldier's request," she said.

Washington Report

From Congressman

BOB PRICE 10th DISTRICT, TEXAS

1323 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. • 225-2704

National Demolay Week has been proclaimed for March 13 through March 17.

Demolay is an organization sponsored by the Shriners to better prepare the youth of today for their role as citizens of the nation.

Congressman Bob Price issued this challenge to the Demolay members of the 18th Congressional District. "As the preambles states, this is a government of the people. This means not only that you have the opportunity to enjoy the benefits of this country, but that you have a responsibility to participate in the governing of this country. Every citizen whether he or she has reached the voting age or not, should make every effort to keep informed on current events. When a person reaches voting age and is thoroughly knowledgeable, they are then in a position to effectively exercise their responsibility as a citizen of this great country. Congressman Price is himself a member of the Khiva Shrine organization of Texas.

Mrs. Kendall Is Party Honoree

The 90th birthday of Mrs. Lee Kendall heads a list of several birthdays in the family to be celebrated at the annual March reunion of the Kendall family today in the fellowship room of Odd Fellows Hall.

A custom for many years past the reunion this year will have special interest as it marks the 90th milestone of the great-great grandmother's life. Her friends are all invited to call for an informal reception and program beginning at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Kendall, who lives at 710 East Third, has two living children, Mrs. Ky Lawrence of Summerfield and Joe Kendall of Hereford, seven grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren who are all expected to be present for the birthday celebration along with their families, numerous nieces and nephews, and friends from the Summerfield and Hereford communities.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Boyer will have charge of a program which will include hymn singing by the group and special songs by soloists, duets and quartets of family members. Mrs. Lawrence Kendall will bake the birthday cake which is a tradition at the yearly reunion.

The Lee Kendalls came to the Summerfield area from Eldorado, Okla., in 1918 and lived there until he retired from active farming because of ill health some 23 years ago. After his death Mrs. Kendall lived alone except for a few years when a son, Henry, shared the home before his death four years ago.

She enjoys good health, does most of her own housework and as a hobby bakes dozens of angel food cakes and loaves of bread each year, giving them to friends and members of her family.

A lover of flowers, she has a collection of African violets which she has propagated and which make an attractive display in a living room window.

Mrs. Kendall has been a member of Summerfield Baptist Church 48 years, and formerly taught children's classes in the Sunday School.

She was born March 20, 1877 in Columbia, Tenn., and with her parents moved to a home near McKinney, Tex., is a small child. After the death of both parents in 1891 she lived with an older sister until her marriage to a member of another Tennessee family on March 18, 1894.

As did many young couples then, the Kendalls progressively moved westward, to a farm near Decatur, then north of Chillicothe, then across Red River to Eldorado, where they had first visited the family of her sister and she had watched centipedes crawl on the rafters of the half-dugout home.

Aided by her three children as they grew up, she raised chickens and turkeys and made butter to sell, taking it by buggy to Quanah, Tex., and fording Red River each trip.

With friends, they made a trip to the West Texas Plains and both Mr. and Mrs. Kendall found the wide open grassland to their liking and soon made another move west to the farm at Summerfield.

They took that direction yet again to spend a few retirement years at Hot Springs, N. M., where both enjoyed fishing and other recreation before they located in Hereford.

Their Golden Wedding anniversary was celebrated shortly before Mr. Kendall's death.

Wealth Is Seen Under The Ocean

Our seas offer the last great geographic area for economic exploration on this planet, Dr. Chas. F. Jones, president of Humble Oil & Refining Company, told the Natural Gas Men of Houston here today.
In addition to its potential as a food source, the sea contains an abundant supply of metals, minerals, and valuable elements Dr. Jones said.
"Manganese nodules on parts of the ocean floor maybe worth up to ten million dollars a square mile," he said. "An estimated one and one-half billion tons of phosphorite, used in fertilizer, lie from 200 to 1000 feet off the Pacific Coast. One firm is successfully mining the ocean floor for diamonds off the coast of Africa."
Dr. Jones noted that sea water contains some 60 dissolved elements in abundance, but at present it is generally too expensive to extract them. Vast amounts of gold exist in the ocean, he said, but the gold in a million gallons of sea water is worth only one cent.
He reminded his audience that the oil industry recognized the value of minerals below the ocean floor three decades ago. In the free world, he said, offshore oil fields here and abroad are currently producing more than four million barrels of oil a day, about 16 per cent of the free world total.
Dr. Jones said that as business considers ways to utilize the sea and its resources, it should keep in mind that long-term responsibilities go along with long-term opportunities.
"Long-range thinking and planning are essential for orderly development of the seas," he said. "We must plan and not plunder. The sea is the treasury of time and we must not waste it."
The last of the week Mrs. T. L. Sparkman who has been in the hospital since Saturday, was improving and hoped to be able to go home by the weekend.

bankrupt its resources."
Dr. Jones observed, however, that companies must remember that they still have a responsibility to their shareholders to make sound investments.
"In many cases," he said, "investments in the ocean won't begin to pay off for a long time. We must minimize our aquatic risks by prediction and planning."

Review Sparks Debate

Review of a book with a controversial subject, which supplied a topic for general discussion by members, was presented in Farm and Ranch Club Thursday after a covered dish dinner in the home of Mrs. Roland Hairgrove.
Mrs. Jim McAndrews reviewed the book by George A. Estabrooks and Nancy E. Gross, titled The Future of the Human Mind. It deals with hypnosis and other types of mind control. Mrs. McAndrews said she chose it to spark discussion.
In the business session with Mrs. Phillip Miller presiding, plans were made for a guest day April 6. Others present were Mmes. Glenn Burrus, John Hill, W. B. Nunley, Paul Rudd, and Jack Weaver.

FEED FIRE — Firemen worked several hours Thursday to keep a feed fire from spreading at the Russell Ranch east of Hereford. Jerry Robinson, manager of the ranch and feed yards said that he did not know how the fire started. In the high winds, the dry feed blew several hundred yards, starting dozens of small fires. No extensive damage was done to corrals, the blaze being contained to small piles of feed in lanes. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Search Is Made For Ag Scientist

RENNER — A massive search is underway for an American scientist whose contribution merits the nation's top award in the agricultural sciences.

When found, the scientist, or team of scientists, will receive the Hoblitzelle National Award in the Agricultural Sciences for 1968, an honor consisting of $10,000 in cash and a gold medal. Search for the outstanding scientist is now underway through the various professional societies.

The periodical award is conferred by the Hoblitzelle Foundation of Dallas and administered by Texas Research Foundation at Renner, Texas, a privately-supported research and educational institution founded in 1944.

In announcing the 1968 award, Dr. C. L. Lundell, Executive Vice President and Director of Texas Research Foundation, said purpose of the award is to encourage and recognize scientists for notable contributions to American agriculture. Work meriting the honor must have been published during the four-year period January 1, 1963 through December 31, 1966.

The award — the $10,000 in cash, a gold medal and attesting certificate — will be presented during the year in appropriate ceremonies at Texas

Research Foundation at Renner. "Any individual, group or agency in the United States may nominate scientists for the award," Dr. Lundell said. "All nominations should be forwarded for evaluation to the designated committee in the nominee's respective professional society or organization."

"The nomination must be accompanied by a complete set of publications by the scientists covering his accomplishment, and a factual evaluation of the work," Dr. Lundell explained. "Based on its evaluation, each society should forward the three top nominations to Texas Research Foundation at Renner, Texas, by January 15, 1968." In evaluating and screening nominations, all committees will give equal consideration to all scientists regardless of creed, color, nationality, age, sex, branch of science, or affiliation with scientific or scholastic organizations.

The Hoblitzelle Foundation established the award in 1951. The last Hoblitzelle National Award in the Agricultural Sciences was presented in 1965 to Dr. James E. Carnahan, research supervisor and biochemist of E. I. Du Pont Co., Wilmington, Delaware, and Dr. Leonard E. Mortenson, associate professor of biology and microbial biochemist of Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana, for joint discovery of an electron carrier that enables bacteria to fix nitrogen from the air, and to Dr. Harold J. Evans, professor of botany, Oregon State University Corvallis, Oregon, for his work on the biological control of nitrogen fixation.

Additional information on the 1968 award may be obtained by writing: Permanent Secretary, The Hoblitzelle Awards, Texas Research Foundation, Renner, Texas 78079.

Spring!

OPENING NOTES in the song of spring are struck each year in fashions, as lyrical pastels or dancing patterns replace the dark tones of winter dress, with stirring accent in gleaming patent ccessories and crisp tempo in cocky straw hats.

STORES IN HEREFORD offer a wide choice to the shopper who is selecting a costume for Easter and afterward. Typical are these in which pretty Hereford girls pose on downtown Main or in Sugarland Mall.

BEFLOWERED IN FRONT with a bright panel of color, the white A-line shift Mary Stoy is wearing comes from Rutherford & Co. Flared sleeves are elbow length; lowered neckline and buttons give back interest. The dress is accessorized all in white. The hat, with high-rolled brim, gloves and bag are also from Rutherford & Co.

HIGH FASHION COLOR this spring, yellow, is combined with navy in an arnel jersey dress banded at the low waistline, worn by Cheryl Solomon with navy accessories, all from the C. R. Anthony Store. Her straw hat with a flirtatious wide brim has its crown circled with wide ribbon which forms a bow on one side. The navy bag is of leather.

STROLLING DOWNTOWN, Diane Springer shows perennial spring favorites, navy blue and white with polka dots. Dotted ruffles at neckline and wrist, and white buttons in threes on the front of her navy jacket from Harman's add perf touches, like the cockade on the side of her white ribbon beret. White gloves, straw bag and shoes are also from Harman's.

A STOP TO LOOK at an Easter display in a window is made by Karen Sue Cox wearing a green and white striped shift with cowl collar, topped with a green sleeveless coat boasting a parade of pockets down each side. With hat and bag of rough white straw, it is from the Sweetbriar Shop. The dress is of arnel jersey, the coat of cotton and rayon.

Trial Of Christ Is Club Subject

A lawyer's view of the trial of Jesus was given in an unusual pre-Easter program for Hereford Study Club Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Johnny Clark. Wayne Thomas, Hereford attorney, was the guest speaker.

Mrs. Art Stoy was hostess with Mrs. Clark. Mrs. R. N. Yarbrow, yearbook chairman, introduced the speaker who sketched the background of ancient Jewish law and Roman law against which the accusations against Jesus were made.

He reminded the club women that the arrest of Jesus and the first hearing occurred at night. Reviewing the charges, he said accusations were first made on religious grounds to the Jewish Sanhedrin, then on political grounds to the Roman governor, Pilate.

"The trial of Jesus continues today," the speaker concluded. "Every one has a part in it, with the choice of following or rejecting the Christ."

Plans were made for a trip to Canyon April 27 to see the WTSU Opera Workshop production of the musical play Camelot as the club's annual fine arts program. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Marvin Knox of April 6.

The hostesses served refreshments to the program guest and Mmes. Laby Ballard, N. D. Bartlett Jr., T. E. Braddy, S. L. Garrison, Noble Howard, Merlin Kaul, Knox, Baxter London, Don Robinson, Ed Wilson Jr., C. R. Winget, Yarbrow and Miss Gladys Setliff.

Ford H.D. Club Plans Community Building Aid

Purchase of items for use in Ford Community Building was planned at a meeting there Wednesday of Ford Home Demonstration Club. Redecorating and furnishing the building has been a club project for several years.

Seven members displayed table settings which were discussed by Argen Draper, County H. D. Agent, on the program. She also gave suggestions for buying table linens and using different settings for various types of meals.

Others present were Mmes. John Brorman, Leroy Edwards, A. B. Hollingsworth, Raymond Smith and Troy Waller.

Victory Class Teacher Given Birthday Party

A birthday cake holding a surprise was presented to the teacher, Mrs. Johnny Townsend at a social meeting of Avenue Baptist Victory Class Thursday in the home of Mrs. Clois Kemp. Dollar bills enclosed in capsules had been inserted in the icing of the cake.

Mrs. Townsend had been the devotional speaker on the subject, Neighbors, and each member had told of a good neighbor. Secret pals' names were revealed and new names drawn.

Mmes. Billy Wall, Leroy Rickman, Marvis Southward, Pearl Boyer, C. E. Coleman, Carlyle Sargent and G. W. Duncan were present.

Sunshine Club Plans Film Show

Mrs. Clois Kemp was hostess to the Sunshine Club at her home for a brief business session and informal social hour. Plans were made to show the film, On The Square, to members and guests at a meeting soon. Mrs. M. J. Koelzer presided.

Mrs. Clint Lundry received the hostess gift and Mrs. Kemp the penny ante gift. The next meeting, March 28, will be in Mrs. Lundry's home.

Words and Music Heard On Bay View Program

In music, poetry and prose, an Easter program was presented for Bay View Study Club Thursday afternoon in the home of the president, Mrs. Ansel McDowell. Three guests and a member took part.

Miss Gladys Setliff, one of the guests, was the speaker. Her subject was "And the Women Also," a discussion of women in the life of Christ.

She emphasized the point that the New Testament stories of these women is a good commentary on characteristics of the age in which women were held in little esteem, but there were

In making the recommendation, Superintendent Johnny Clark said that he considered the positions of curriculum coordinators on the level of the principals and complimented the two people on their unusually capable methods and abilities.

ONE MINUTE PLEASE

THE CHURCH I LOVE SEES THE BEAUTY OF TRUE CHRISTIANITY.

"If that is Christianity, I want no part of it." This statement, or one similar to it, has been made often by those observing a person who pretends to be a Christian and curses, cheats, commits adultery, or is self-righteous, filled with jealousy and envy.

My reply to such a statement is, "Brother, if that is Christianity, neither would I want any part of it!" No one appreciates a hypocrite. Least of all the Lord Jesus Christ. Note what the Lord said to the hypocrites of his day in Matthew 23:13-33.

The hypocrites who pretend to be a Christian have done more harm to the cause of Christ among men than all the atheists, agnostics and modernists combined. It would be better if the pretenders would join forces with the enemies of Christ than to attach themselves as ticks to the church, which is the body of Christ, and suck the life out of it.

What is the beauty of true Christianity? It is the cessation of all sin and evil in our lives, whether it be the evil disposition of the heart or the overt deeds of unrighteousness. The beauty of true Christianity is the putting off of all sin, as we put off filthy garments, and "having our hearts sprinkled clean from an evil conscience and our bodies washed with pure water." (Hebrews 10:22).

"Put to death therefore what is earthly in you: immorality, impurity, passion, evil desire, and covetousness, which is idolatry. . . put them all away; anger, wrath, malice, slander, and foul talk from your mouth." (Colossians 3:5-8). As we put on clean pure garments for a banquet, we are to "Put on then, as God's chosen ones, holy and beloved, compassion, kindness, lowliness, meekness, and patience, forbearing one another and, if one has a complaint against another, forgiving each other, as the Lord has forgiven you, so you also must forgive. And above all these put on love, which binds everything together in perfect harmony." (Colossians 3:12-14).

When we have put off the sin, evil and debauchery from ourselves, by God's provision through his Son; and, replaced them with the genuine characteristics of Christ; we shall have the true beauty of Christianity.

Opinions Of Citizens Is Important For Progress

What does Hereford need more than any other single thing?
Seldom do we solicit letters, although our columns are open on pertinent questions, but we are wondering if some of our readers might not do themselves and the community a big favor by listing some of the points where they feel that the community falls short. Because we are dead serious, we expect the suggestions to follow suit and to remain within the bounds of reason.

Hereford boasts good schools, reasonable law enforcements, adequate shopping facilities, excellent water, first class medical and hospital services, adequate banking, and a host of other assets. At the same time, none of us feels that the community is perfect or that it could not be improved.

Entertainment, for instance, is perhaps a phase which might attract some interest, especially on the teenage levels. Others might find fault with some of the existing services.

So, why not get out the old ball point

Smaller Towns Have Advantage

One of the bills to appear before the Texas Senate with predictions of good chance for passage is that generally known as the City Sales Tax bill. In its present form, the bill would allow cities the option to assess and collect a sales tax of 1 percent on all purchases with proceeds supplementing operations costs of the involved.

Those who have familiarized themselves with the bill — and quite a few have — appear to all hold different interpretations of what it would mean, depending primarily on the viewpoint of the person involved.

Many people from the smaller cities (the size of Hereford and downward) feel that they wish the bill was 5 percent, instead of 1 percent. The reason: they feel that Amarillo will pass the tax, and this, in turn, would keep many of the present shoppers in their home towns.

Although they have yet to declare themselves, we have a feeling that Hereford's city officials would likely recommend passage of the optional tax along with the cities. This would present the same type of challenge to Vega, Friona, Dimmitt and other adjoining towns from where Hereford draws at least some business.

Whether this is a factor remains to be seen, since many observers feel that people are going to shop where they find merchandise and values, regardless of sales tax—and more especially the 1 percent variety.

On a general scale, it seems to us that most of the larger cities will, like Amarillo, take the option and approve the tax. We say that because cities are rapidly finding themselves with their backs to the wall. Costs are spiraling, whereas the real estate tax is no longer adequate to offset the demands for additional funds. This is especially true in the police, judicial and garbage disposal departments.

With as few as one out of each 10 families paying any real taxes at all, it is obvious that additional revenues will have to arrive from some other source. Already the property owner is often finding his investment a burden, rather than an asset—and to further asses him could well parallel killing of the goose that laid the golden egg.

Even more burdensome than city costs, probably, are school costs. Some change along this line, too, is logical within the next decade. While city costs are spiraling, school costs are soaring with every indication that the situation will become far, far worse before it gets any better.

Wide Interest Is Seen In Museum

Deaf Smith County officially dedicated its new Historical Museum here Sunday and, along with the occasion, came two big surprises for its sponsors. First, a tremendous interest in the project as indicated through the crowds which thronged the place all afternoon; second, the fine quality and organization reflected in the presentation of contents within the new museum.

No one, and more especially the commissioners who made possible the building which houses the project, ever dreamed that so many people would be interested in a museum. People from all walks of life were on hand for the dedication — and stayed on for hours to browse through the collection of curios and artifacts. Many old timers were there and enjoyed the occasion thoroughly, especially when they got the opportunity to explain some particular item to a "tenderfoot". The teenagers were another group which displayed surprising interest, along with scores of middle-agers who found themselves at home until they reached the pre-1930 sections. Quite a few Latin Americans, generally considered new comers to the area, were also in attendance and seemed to thoroughly enjoy the tour.

And if the sponsors were surprised at the unprecedented interest in the museum, so were the guests. Everything was ship-shape, even to wigs on the models as they gave life-like appearance to various rooms found in the homes of early settlers in a most authentic atmosphere. The presentation, highly similar to that found in the new building of the Smithsonian in Washington, was carried out in minute detail with lard cans, baking powder cans and other containers familiar to the era.

Of state-wide and national interest was the section based on the Escarbada Division of the famous XIT Ranch, which once dominated this area. Implements, saddles, household items, cattle brands and pictures galore rounded out the presentation that was far better than any of the visitors even dared to expect. Not one single guest failed to express appreciation for the museum, and most of them were amazed at the amount of work and time which had been contributed to make the museum one of the best in the country.

Also of tremendous interest were the paintings, generally produced by local artists, which provided informational background for the displays, information and materials found within the building which, within itself, appears ideal for the Museum.

Dedication speeches pointed up the fact that thousands of tourists will visit Texas this year, and that museums of the type found here will draw hundreds of visitors. This, we feel sure, is absolutely true, but from where we sit the Deaf Smith County Museum more than "pays its way" in local interest among the people who live here and within the immediate area. It has been a long time, in fact, since we encountered a development quite so worthwhile, so well accomplished, and so universally serviceable as Deaf Smith County's new museum.

Hereford Needs Junior College

Moore County has recently opened a drive for a junior college, and the movement appears to be gaining considerable momentum. It is being pushed primarily through the Chamber of Commerce, with active support from the Lions and several other civic clubs.

Meanwhile, Hockley County currently supports a successful, active junior college at Levelland in a joint program with Texas Tech, Clarendon, Borger and Amarillo also sponsor and maintain junior colleges.

This is not a new subject in the The Brand columns, we admit, but we keep harping on it because it seems to us that Hereford and Deaf Smith County are being left at the post, Junior colleges, within the decade, will likely become the rule rather than the exception. Perhaps they may even become a part of our regular public school system and operate within the same framework. We have junior college precedents all of the way from New York to California, because they are less costly for parents, because they afford higher education for so many more people—and primarily because the age in which we live demands such an education level.

Shortage Of Trained Help Is Serious In Washington

By BERT MILLS

Washington, D. C. — Facts gush forth from the Federal factory in a never-ending stream. Here are some of the recent disclosures:

At least 3 million American adults cannot read or write, and another 13 million never attended school past the eighth grade.

The Federal government is so short of typists and secretaries that the Pentagon is considering resorting to longhand for some correspondence. The Defense Department also offers part-time jobs to housewives in an effort to fill vacancies.

When Justice Tom C. Clark retires from the Supreme Court this year at age 67, there will still be four out of nine members who are past 65. Chief Justice Earl Warren is 75, Hugo Black is 81, William O. Douglas is 68, and John M. Harlan is 67.

One freshman in Congress was on the Harvard faculty until his election. He is Rep. Donald W. Riegle (R., Mich.). Only 28, he is still working on his Ph.D. He is a former IBM computer expert.

Average cost-per-patient in U. S. hospitals more than tripled between 1950 and 1965, from $14.40 to $45. The trend is still up.

House Boasts 26 Eagle Scouts
More than half of the male members of the 90th Congress are former Boy Scouts. Twenty-six legislators attained the highest rank, Eagle Scout. Of the 11 ladies in the House, one is an Honorary Boy Scout and one used to be a Cub Scout Den Mother.

New junior colleges are being established at the rate of one-per-week. Enrollment in the 840 two-year institutions is now close to 1.5 million, up 12 percent in one year. Enrollment is expected to reach 2.5 million in 1970.

One newcomer to the 90th Congress used to preach what he now practices. He is Sen. Mark O. Hatfield (R., Ore.), a former professor of political science. Only 44, he served six years as Governor of Oregon.

THE BOOTLEG

—Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm northwest of Hereford is up to his old tricks, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

According to an article I read in a copy of a newspaper a March wind blew through a hole in my back screen door, sure, I know the screen ought to be fixed, but first things first — first the back step ought to be fixed, because that loose board's what caused me to stumble and push a hole in the screen in the first place, and the reason the board is loose is because I couldn't find my hammer, and the reason I didn't find my hammer was because there wasn't any use wasting all day looking for it, I'm out of nails anyway, which proves there may not be an easy answer to a lot of things, whether it's Viet Nam or a hole in my back screen door; so, to get on with this sentence, according to this article in this newspaper which you might say had been carefully screened, the United States needs to pay more attention to its image throughout the world.

"The image we create in the minds of the people of the rest of the world is vitally important to our success in maintaining world leadership," the article went on.

I had not paid much attention to this matter before and personally have never been very much interested in leading the world, not in view of where it seems to be going at the moment, but after giving it some thought I can see some advantage in maintaining the proper image abroad.

For example, just this morning I was asked to dig some holes and put in a few posts where the garden fence has fallen over but I declined on the grounds it would destroy America's agricultural image abroad.

"What do you mean?" I was asked, not exactly pleasantly.

"What's our present image?" I asked, and went ahead to explain it's mechanized. "Every other nation on Earth knows American farming is mechanized, we do everything mechanically. You're not going to catch me tilling our international image by picking up a post hole digger and digging by hand. What do you think it would do to our position of world leadership?"

"You could do it after dark."

"And increase the credibility gap? There's too much deception and dishonesty in the world already."

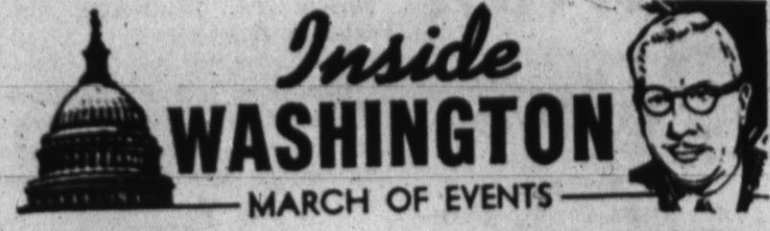

I got tired of arguing and moved out of ear range. There are some things some people will never understand. The world is more complicated than you think.

Your faithfully,

so prone to consider the need. However, by the same token, we sit in an ideal position to enter into a working agreement with WTU which could prove invaluable to both parties say, along the lines that Tech and Levelland are operating.

Hereford is in the college business back in the early 1900's, but the venture failed. Today, it seems to us that the pioneers had the right idea, but were maybe 60 years ahead of their time. Things are changing constantly, and it seems to us that one of the big items in the not to distant future will be the existence of a junior college in each of the growing communities which continues to grow.

POSITIVE OPINION NOW BACKING CIA PROGRAM
NAIVETE OF U.S. PUBLIC DEPRESSING REVELATION

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The initial shocked reaction to covert financing of supposedly-private undertakings by the Central Intelligence Agency has worn off and there are some healthy second thoughts on the part of some segments of Washington officialdom.

The net result is that there has been a belated rallying of positive opinion behind the CIA program, what it was intended to accomplish and the degree to which it succeeded. This is all to the good. Far from being censured, the CIA deserves public support for its activities in financing counter-offensives to the world-wide expansionist efforts of Communist governments and their puppet organizations.

One depressing aspect of the incident concerns the naivete of the U.S. public. The initial reaction of the man-in-the-street, and of the press, was horror and dismay that the U.S. government could do such a thing. If the public is naive it is unfortunate, but the officials in Washington, including Congress, who rushed into print to condemn the CIA activity are not naive.

At least three-quarters of those who spoke out hastily must have known, at least dimly, that the CIA was financing operations of the kind disclosed. They spoke out because of purely reactive political considerations—wishing to gain some brownie points by reflecting public concern, and incidentally to appear to disassociate themselves from the CIA.

Their reaction should be condemned by the informed and the naive alike. Those who did not know should not be in government. Those who knew should be condemned as cynical followers of ill-informed public opinion, when they should have been leaders.

● CURRENT JOKE—Washingtonians are asking each other why the President recommended that the Department of Commerce and the Department of Labor be combined. The answer: So he could name the new agency the Labor, Business and Jobs Department. This would make it known as the LBJ.

● DRAFT DODGER'S PROBLEM—Washington officials, concerned with the problems of dealing with youths opposed to the draft, are telling a story that illustrates that some of them have a hard time, even when they succeed in avoiding induction.

One highly-publicized device for avoiding the draft is for youths to migrate to Canada, and quite a few of them have. One who opposed everything military went to Toronto where he soon happily settled into a job with a clothing manufacturer.

His conscience forced him to quit, however, when he found out that the company had a contract with the Pentagon as a producer of green berets for the U.S. Special Forces units fighting in Vietnam.

Some Washington officials are wondering if they shouldn't emphasize for this kind of objector that virtually everything produced has, in the final analysis, a part to play in supporting a war effort under modern economic conditions.

In a reasonably short time after the drill machinery was set, D. I. McDonald brought in a big supply well for the city last Thursday noon. This well, with the proper equipment, will easily afford 2,000 gallons of subterranean water, cool and pure. The hole is 26 inches in diameter, in which will be placed a 24 inch steel casing, solid down to the water bearing sand; then a shutter screen casing will be used. The well from the surface to the water is only 50 feet but the well was sunk 150 feet in order to secure an abundant supply.

After some delay, but not at all unnecessary, the City Commission has finally decided to proceed with the paving. In order to secure a good piece of work and at the least possible cost, the City Government has employed an experienced and thoroughly competent engineer in the person of Mr. Henry Elrod of Dallas. He comes highly recommended as a competent engineer and fully acquainted with the many problems involved in street paving.

E. B. Black, pioneer Hereford ranchman, this week announced sale of the last of his famous blooded Hereford herd.

Migrant Workers Want The Right To Bargain

Members of the House can use the swimming pool in the Rayburn House Office Building only 14 hours per week. It seems some of the male legislators take their dips au naturel.

Top staff members of House committees are now paid as much as $25,890 a year. The maximum for Senate staffers is $1,430 less but legislation is pending to authorize a new limit equaling the House.

Births in the U. S. last year were the lowest since 1950, and the rate per 1,000 population was the lowest since 1936. Because there was a baby boom 20 years ago, the marriage rate is rising and a reversal of the birth rate decline is predicted in future years.

Sixty-five million Americans filed Federal income tax returns in 1964. The average tax paid was $720.

Police protection cost the U. S. $38 billion in 1965, or $20 per capita.

Pentagon workers and visitors must be wary not to be run down. Small electric vehicles, called jets and widgets, are used to deliver mail in the 18 miles of corridors. The same vehicles are used by maintenance crews to replace light bulbs.

It costs 9/10th of a cent for the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to turn out a dollar bill. The unit cost has been reduced and should be cut further in future years, due to technological improvements in printing.

U. S. Navy, now has a fleet of 69 nuclear submarines, with 35 more authorized. There are three nuclear surface ships, with a fourth under construction.

A panel of scientists studying transportation problems for the Department of Housing and Urban Development reported: "A robot surveyor sent to the moon in 1966 landed on its feet where it was told to land and sent home 10,000 photographs better than most tourists' snapshots."

It is equally feasible now to build a computer capable of driving 10,000 vehicle safely while their occupants all read books.

WE HAVE SOME nice popular sprouts for anyone who would like them. They will be dug up before spring, real spring that is gets here.

THERE HAVE BEEN releases in regard to the Nematex tomato variety. John E. Larsen, Extension Horticulturist — Vegetables — wrote that the seed is not readily available. They sell for $5.00 per ounce and a minimum sale of 1/5 oz. for $1.00. One ounce is about 8000 seeds.

Nematex performed well at the experiment station in Lubbock and should do well here. The new list of varieties include: Homestead (improved strains), Young, Summer Time, Summer Cherry.

Of course, you are still using the varieties you have used formerly and found to do well here.

on strike in Rio Grande City are not asking for a minimum wage, but—rather—are simply trying to gain the right to bargain collectively with their employers. This is the strike as seen by Ernie Cortez, a young man who dropped out of college in order to promote "La Huelga" in South Texas.

Protestors sitting in front of the Capitol in Austin, however, were calling a different tune. What they were asking was an across-the-board minimum wage of $1.25 an hour for every work — agriculture or otherwise — in the state. The "sit-in" on the steps of the Capitol grew out of the march the strikers made from the valley to Austin last summer.

How the causes got separated is anybody's guess; Cortez claims the strikers were never asking for the $1.25 an hour minimum wage. But this difference is really immaterial here — except in pointing out that perhaps some of the leadership in the movement has gotten itself crossed up.

The position of "La Huelga" in South Texas is really not known by anybody; it would be pure academics to say it is on its last feet or still going strong.

But to say whether it is effective or not is another question: hopefully, to many, the strikers will in the long run win out and begin bargaining with their employers concerning their rates of pay. Until that time, however, the crops will still continue to be planted, cultivated and harvested.

Migrant labor in the valley isn't scarce; the Rio Grande City strike causes a slight inconvenience to agriculturalists, but it looks as though that is all. Busses are run into nearby towns to pick up additional labor when Rio Grande City can't produce the needed workers.

Tony Orendine, a figure of determination and hard work, associates his efforts in behalf of the valley strike with some bitterness and much disappointment. He is an underdog in South Texas, and he knows it.

"Before all this, I was a 'good Mexican worker' making only 90 cents an hour," Tony recalls. The ninety cents didn't go far in providing his family with the necessities of life. "But now that I am asking for more, I am an agitator and a communist," he says, reflecting the apparent opinions of him displayed by hostile elements in the Rio Grande Valley. Tony is an officer in United Farm Workers, the organization attempting to bring all migrant labor out of the fields to join the strike. But the Mexican workers cannot afford to strike. Although their pay is low, it is better than nothing.

Employers claim that union officials are harassing their migrant laborers; and union officials in turn charge that employers are threatening migrant laborers to not have anything to do with La Huelga or else face immediate dismissal.

The migrant is like a schoolboy in the principal's office — all the "right" persons, those with any influence at all, seem to be on the other guys side. Migrants don't have anybody to fight for them.

The Rio Grande Valley picture doesn't appear to be changing very fast. It appears as though it might not change at all until migrants get so hungry they will trudge back to the fields to work. Caravans bringing food, money and clothing have been made from major Texas cities in an effort to take care of the workers.

Fr. Sherrill Smith, a Roman Catholic priest from San Antonio, compares the Texas strike to the California strike in pointing out that California Mexicans appear to be more "sophisticated" and organized as a community.

One of the objects the unions have had in South Texas has been the creation of a sense of unity among the South Texas Mexicans. Efforts of organizers in California resulted in a credit union, a cafeteria, a hospital and other community services. This led to a "sense of coordination," Fr. Smith said, before the strike ever came. This sense of community coordination is not now present in South Texas.

In California, where the strike was aimed at very large growers, products could be boycotted because brand names were displayed in grocery stores. This is not possible in Texas; "La Casita" lettuce looks the same as any other brand when it is displayed in the grocery. Another difference is that leaders of the Texas group are more loosely knit than leaders in California.

The basic problem, as Fr. Smith sees it, is paternalism of the white over the Latin American.

In justifying his active participation in strike as a priest, Fr. Smith claims that it is time for the American church "to get its skirts dirty." It is not a group a poor people who make up the "Roman Catholic church in America. Quite the contrary, he says, labelling his church as "fat and middle-class."

People used to refer to a certain group of poor immigrants as Irish Americans. But now that these people have entered into the ranks of the middle classes, they prefer to call all citizens Americans. "We are all Americans," is their slogan, Fr. Smith says. These people are afraid to see the poorer classes that now exist among the Negro-Americans and Mexican-Americans. "This is a system that we are going to have to crack open and split apart," the priest believes, pointing up the need to elevate these minority groups within the ranks of American society.

"We have plenty of understanding — but not enough feeling for the anguish and pain of these people," he says. "But we have to remember that they are poor in mind."

"We are going to have to come out from the books and rub elbows with these people. If we don't become citizens of the world, we will all become sterile." He was pointing his comments to members of the white middle class in general.

So much for the moral issue centered around the strike in the valley. The practical issue whether migrant labor is going to get its bargaining rights — is not about to be settled. The situation could result in stagnation unless some kind of positive action is taken by either side.

H.D. CHATTER Food Also Has Easter Style

By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

Easter is only a week away. The wardrobe is being analyzed, but so should the food fare. Ham is traditional for Easter and there are many interesting ways of serving ham or fresh pork.

PORK SHOULD BE cooked slowly until done for the tenderest and juiciest results. Methods of preparation vary as much as in any food group.

Depending on the cut, prok can be baked, broiled, pan-broiled, fried, braised or simmered. Casserole dishes can be very tasty, as well as interesting.

Different seasonings give pork a more interesting taste and look. Garlic, dry mustard, ginger, sage, thyme, rosemary, soy sauce and caraway or celery seed go especially well with fresh pork. Moist cuts of fresh pork baked with barbecue sauces are delicious, too.

YOU'LL FIND GLAZES or sauces add flavor to both fresh and cured pork. Currant jelly, orange marmalade, peach or apricot jam, applesauce, cranberry sauce and pineapple are delicious.

You may want to select honey, barbecue sauce or pickled fruits and their juices. Sauces also may be made from such soups as celery, mushroom and onion.

Dressings made of apples, raisins and prunes, and spiced with cinnamon provide real taste treats for roasts and stuffed chops.

TRY THIS METHOD for glazing your Easter ham. When the ham is done, remove it from the oven. Then remove rind and excess fat. Score the remaining fat lightly into squares or diamonds and stud with cloves. Then cover with a glaze.

Return the ham to the oven, raising the heat to about 400 degrees F. Bake long enough to allow browning — about 15 minutes. Baste once or twice with the melted syrup that runs off the ham.

If you don't have your own tasty glaze, you might try this one made of 1 cup brown sugar mixed with 1 teaspoon dry mustard and 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves. Mix with a little fat from the pan to make a stiff paste.

WITH BAKED HAM or baked fresh pork roast, try this apple-raisin stuffing. You'll need 2 slices diced bacon, 1/2 cup chopped celery, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 3 tart apples, 1/3 cup sugar, 1/2 cup raisins, 2 cups dry bread crumbs, 1/4 cup chopped parsley, 1/4 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt and 1/8 teaspoon pepper.

To prepare, fry bacon until crisp. Cook celery and onion in drippings for 3 minutes. Core and dice apples. Add apples and raisins to celery mixture. Add crumbs, parsley, sugar and seasonings. Mix lightly.

PARTY PORK CHOPS

6 chops, cut 3/4 to 1 inch thick
1/4 C. water
2 T. fat
2 T. Raisins
Salt & Pepper
1 T. sugar
1 t. flour
1 — 8 1/2 oz. can sliced pineapple
1 T. vinegar
1 avocado

Brown chops in fat. Pour off drippings. Season meat with salt and pepper. Add water and raisins. Cover lightly and cook slowly for 45 minutes. Remove chops.

Mix sugar and flour. Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Add pineapple syrup and vinegar to sugar-flour mixture and stir into cooking liquid. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Return chops to mixture: Cut pineapple slices in half and add to chops.

Peel and cut avocado into 12 wedges and place on pineapple slices. Spoon sauce over all. Cover and cook slowly for five minutes. Serve hot.

SOMETHING THAT has always interested me is the enthusiasm restaurant operators have for their business. Bill Patton was telling me of an innovation with French fries. Potatoes made into meal or flour, dampened and run through a plate and then fried in deep fat. This does make very uniform French fries.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Saw a piece in the paper the other day about automation invading the home, and it said by 1975, if we live so long, we will have robot housemaids. That I want to wait for.

WHEN SOMEBODY has tried to sell me a replacement for my beat-up vacuum cleaner, or the latest dishwasher, I've resisted by telling them their wares just aren't up to my specifications.

If they have a vacuum, I say, that will take itself out of the closet, go in the living room, plug itself in, change attachments when necessary and give the room a good cleaning while I'm out transplanting the daisies that are crowding the east flower bed, I'll take one.

Or if their dishwasher will clear the table, put the straps in the garbage can and then empty it into the alley can, sort the dishes, rinse them, wash and dry them and put them back where they belong while I'm reading the evening paper, I'll buy it.

OTHERWISE, my decrepit vacuum and good old dishpan will serve my purposes as well as the newest and most improved. But the robot maid is another thing. When you get it properly programmed it is supposed to be self-starting and self-operating, and I trust that it, like the electronic brains that compute math problems, will correct its own mistakes — such as pushing the pieces under the rug when it breaks a vase.

There will probably be some sort of catch to this, but meantime we can dream, until we get the robot-of-all-work and have to pay an exorbitant fee for its programming, then see if we can find a repair man to replace the loose screw when it breaks down on spring cleaning day.

THAT PRETTY LITTLE triangular park at the intersection of West Fourth and 25 Mile Ave. needs one small alteration, in my opinion. It is often on my route, and every time I get to that intersection I wish the tree on the very corner were trimmed up so I could see under it, up 25 Mile Ave. to the north. Bushes and low trees on street corners always bother me, and this one particularly because you can't afford to drive out a little bit to get a clearer look. If you do, you are nearly certain to be smacked into by a car coming fast from the south.

The operation of one Texas pulpwood truck represents an average of $25,000 annual business in that community.

BOOKS FOR ANTIQUE COLLECTORS

The book, Cambridge Glass 1818 to 1888 by Laura Woodside Watkins, is outstanding because of its many illustrations and for its excellent history on the subject of glassware. It should be well received by collectors of this item.

The origin of glass in this country was in the form of cut glass, etched glass and colored glassware. The story is interesting reading, whether you are a collector or not. We were especially pleased to read of the Libby Brand of cut glass, always one of our favorites. If you own a piece marked with this brand name you have a treasure!

For the paper-weight collectors there is a chapter that will give you information on how to evaluate your collection and also help you with ideas for future acquisitions.

Other subjects covered are pressed glass, which is now very popular due to shortage of the cut glass of the early day. Molded-glass, engraved glass and some forms of cut glass, and the once popular colored glass of the eighties, are included. Colored glass was very much in demand in that period and its manufacture was brought about because of its popularity.

More new volumes in the library on antiques are two by G. Bernard Hughes and are entitled English, Scottish and Irish Table Glass and the second, is on unusual silverware, with the title Small Antique Silver Ware.

Two of the most popular books says librarian, Mrs. Newman, are American Glass by Gerge S. and Helen McKieran and one by N. Hudson Moore, Old Glass, European and American.

You will find these and many other books on antiques classed under 749 in the library. Corinne J. Neely

American Ways Fascinate Youth

FT. WOLTERS — Glorifying in the hamburger and fascinated by American music, youthful Vietnamese air cadets think this country is a pretty swinging place.

They marvel at the donuts, the cars, the electricity and the girls. They delight in American movies and television and enjoy in all the hustle and bustle.

Football is a puzzle. So are critics of American involvement in Vietnam.

Texas is big and charming but the weather is either too hot, too cold, or too dry. And they'd like to see some snow.

Everyone talks too fast, including the drawing Texans. But communications is not a big problem.

And they've learned the perils of fried buzzard.

This is a sampling of 27 bright, dedicated cadets, brought to this buzzing Texas military post to become helicopter pilots.

Average is 22. And they tackle the task with youthful exuberance and vigor.

But they are reluctant to discuss the grim war that brought them here. And they are hesitant to forecast what lies ahead when they return.

Like some 200 cadets before them, they will spend roughly a year in the United States, first learning English.

This is done at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio. They come here then for the first of several helicopter training phases, winding up the tour at Ft. Rucker, Ala.

The rigorous, whirlwind training program is financed under the military assistance program. The cadets are guests of the U. S. government.

"They are an extremely dedicated group," said Capt. Richard Timmermeyer, the allied liaison officer at the Army's Primary Helicopter Center here.

"They realize the importance of their mission over here and the responsibility they have to their country. They work very hard at mastering the program."

"They take the exact course given U. S. students and the instructors make no concessions. The cadets are integrated into the regular flying program."

Timmermeyer said the Vietnamese blend harmoniously with students from this country and other allied nations.

"They bring with them the courtesies and customs of their own country," he explained. "They acquaint the Americans with the Vietnamese life."

And the American instructor pilots are aware of the responsibility facing these students.

The Ft. Wolters phase provides 110 flying hours and carries the students through pre- solo to semi-tactical training.

They first spend eight weeks learning basic and primary fundamentals of rotary wing flight. A civilian flight contractor conducts the fundamental training.

The final eight weeks here is taught by instructors from the military flight division, mostly combat veterans who have been in Vietnam. This includes night, semi-tactical flying.

And then it's on to Rucker to learn instrument flying and gunnery tactics and make the transition to the heralded Huey, the mighty warhorse of the Vietnam war. The Vietnamese, Timmermeyerer explained, encounter their biggest problem here the first three or four weeks trying to adapt to the unfamiliarities of the helicopter.

"These kids are really wonderful," he said, "but they're not mechanically minded. Anything mechanical is very difficult for them to comprehend."

"The problem is there, but they are whipping it..." Timmermeyer is perhaps closer to the cadets than any other American, since he is involved in their every activity except the actual helicopter training.

They're crazy about American music," he chuckled. "Anything in the way of American music they go for... and American dancing is very popular with them."

"They're tremendously interested in the Western aspect of our nation."

This includes the cowboys, Indians, boots, hats and jeans.

Through an active, highly successful sponsorship program directed by Timmermeyer—the cadets visit frequently in civilian homes, exchanging views and learning "the American way of life."

The cadets often spend weekends with their sponsors, and several returned once with a couple of buzzards they'd shot down on a hunting excursion.

"They brought those buzzards back, plucked the feathers and fried them," Timmermeyer laughed. "They found them too tough to eat."

Humor and curiosity flash through conversations with the cadets, whose command of English is not yet polished. A favorite topic is the weather.

"The weather here is quite different than in my country," said one, Tranh Van Ngoc, 21, a pleasant, self-styled spokesman for the group.

"In my country there are just two seasons. Wet and dry. Rainy about five months. About seven months sunny. At first we couldn't get used to weather here. It is too cold." A diminutive companion, Tran Quang Hung, speaking out in support, added: "The weather in here is very crazy."

Commenting on the U. S. pace of living, Hung observed that "Most of the Americans hurry."

I think Americans have good idea. They try hard at what they do."

Ngoc, discussing the sponsor program, expressed the major opinion, saying: "It's pretty nice. When we stay over at the house we can practice on English."

"We can understand Americans more," added Nguyen Huu Tuoi.

The cadets spend much of their free time either with sponsors or on group tours of historical, industrial or recreational interest.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ

The good tax folks tell us that simple errors on federal income tax returns delay many refunds and cause taxpayers trouble. They suggest this simple check list: 1) Check arithmetic; 2) Sign your return (both husband and wife); 3) Print or type name and address, including zip code; 4) List your social security number correctly. Spending a little time checking can save a lot of headaches later.

Bill Will Raise Drivers Age

Representatives Ralph Wayne of Plainview and David Crews of Conroe have introduced Governor John Connally's omnibus highway safety program on the House of Representatives. The compact of bills is designed to decrease the number of lives that are lost each year on Texas highways. The safety program consists of several major bills which were all introduced by Representatives Wayne and Crews jointly at the request of Governor Connally.

One of the bills is designed to raise the minimum licensing age to sixteen if the individual has a driver's education course. The minimum age for individuals not taking drivers education will be eighteen years of age. There could be exception to the age limit, but only if the individual can show a hardship if the age limit is enforced on them. Representative Wayne commented, "The minimum age is being raised as a result of the great number of accidents in which young people are involved. A study by the National Safety Council showed that 43 percent of all the drivers under twenty years of age are involved in accidents, whereas only eighteen per cent of the drivers in all other age groups had mishaps." The original bill called for a re-examination each year of all people over 65 years of age. But, Representative Wayne has proposed re-examination of only those who have an accident prone record.

Wayne's bill also calls for all driver's license to have the individuals picture on it. The drivers under 21 years of age would have a different color of license. Representative Wayne said, "One reason for the different colored license and the picture is to keep minors from obtaining alcoholic beverages when the drivers license is used as identification." Representative Wayne added "By raising the minimum age to obtain a drivers license, the state will also increase the number of drivers education programs in our schools. They have confirmed that a school trained driver under age sixteen is a far safer driver than a sixteen year old who has not had professional instruction. "Insurance companies have proved this from their records. They charge $358 for a policy on an eighteen-year old boy without the drivers training, but if he has a drivers training course, the cost is only $324.90. One of the bills in the safety program is designed to require all individuals operating a motorcycle to wear a safety helmet. The most serious injuries arising from motorcycle accidents have been head injuries. Research had shown that safety helmets would greatly defer the number of deaths and serious injuries caused by motorcycle accidents.

In summation, Representative Wayne said, "This safety program is designed to save lives and economic loss in property, and to stabilize our rising auto insurance cost.

National Camp Fire Celebrates

NEW YORK N. Y. — State Capitol doors are swinging all this week, swinging wide to admit members of Camp Fire Girls. From the palm-fringed beaches of Hawaii to the historic niches of Massachusetts, girls are being welcomed by their Governors in honor of their Birthday Week.

Governors will do more than hand the girls a gold seal ribboned proclamation. They have invited them to sit in on official proceedings where possible, and to see and learn about historic places.

In St. Paul, girls still bake and take a cake to the Governor as well as to the policeman who shepherds them to school, but the new swing is in the field of art.

In celebration of Birthday Week, there will be nationwide "Young in Art" shows and festivals. Many of the more than half million young people, in their search for identification and self expression, have found a dramatic answer in recent Camp Fire Girls annual projects focused on the creative arts.

Many girls, particularly those confined to congested areas, express their thoughts and emotions through music, the dance, dramatic skits.

Some lucky Governors will be surprised and delighted to receive a token of the creative artwork of Camp Fire Girls as a gift in honor of their Birthday.

For the most part, all of them have sprung enthusiastically to the color palette in a burst of the visual arts. In the crowded area of Hunters Point in San Francisco, delicate colored tissue paper has been gently torn to form birds on the wing, falling raindrops, sky and sea as girls have transformed a 40-foot church wall into a decorative mural.

In Portland, Oregon, the month of March to Camp Fire Girls has become synonymous with murals, mosaics and mobiles in an art festival for the entire city.

And in Atlanta, Georgia, Camp Fire Girls have joined industry in a citywide art venture. An exhibit of girls paintings will be on display in the mall of a major shopping center.

Natural Gas Sales Announced

HOUSTON — An agreement to sell more than 1.7 trillion cubic feet of natural gas over a period of 20 years for $394,565,000 to Cities Service Gas Company of Oklahoma City today was announced by Transwestern Pipeline Company, Houston.

sale was in addition to an existing sale of 100 million cubic feet daily for 20 years to Cities Service, consummated in 1965.

Basil P. Kantzer, Transwestern president, stated that the Kantzer said the new contract provided for the additional delivery of 100 million cubic feet per day commencing in November, 1968, and increasing at the rate of 50 million cubic feet per day for each of the following three years amounting to a total of 250 million cubic feet daily.

By November, 1971, Transwestern will be selling to Cities Service a total volume of 350 million cubic feet per day. The company will install facilities costing in excess of $30 million connecting the gas supplies to deliver the additional volumes.

Along with Transwestern's present contract sales of 640 million cubic feet to Pacific Lighting Service and Supply Company of Los Angeles, the company will then be transporting over one billion cubic feet of gas per day throughout its system.

Transwestern is presently negotiating with Pacific Lighting for additional sales and hopes to soon place even more gas into the Southern California market.

The additional volumes of gas needed to supply Transwestern's sales requirements will be furnished from the company's supply areas in the Texas-Oklahoma Panhandle and the Permian Basin in West Texas and New Mexico, with a substantial portion of the gas provided from the Deep Ellenburger fields in the Permian Basin. Deliveries will be made to Cities Service from Transwestern's system in Hemphill County, Texas.

CIRCUS STRONGMAN? — Hereford High School coach Willie Williams, always trying to keep his athletes in top condition, must practice what he preaches as attested by the photograph. Hamming with the photographer, Williams said, "people will think I'm standing up and the world has just turned." The coach didn't think the picture would get in the paper, either. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Odessa Athletes Signed By Buffs

ODESSA — West Texas State University head football coach Joe Kerbel Monday night signed two of the most coveted schoolboy athletes in the state when he inked Odessa Ector's triple-threat quarterback Clarence (Pooky) Redic and full-back-linebacker Harold Stuart.

Redic, an all-district and all-state choice for the class AAA Ector Eagles, was one of the most sought after athletes in the country, having received 115 scholarship offers. He is 6-1, weighs 190 pounds, and was clocked at 10.1 in the 100 yard dash his sophomore year.

This past football season, Redic ran for eight touchdowns and passed for another 13. He hit on 60 of 119 aerial attempts in guiding the Eagles to a 9-1 record. Redic scored 10 touchdowns as a junior, five as a sophomore, and six as a freshman, for a career total of 29.

In addition to his other duties Redic also kicked. He tried only four field goals all year, kicking three of them from 42.44 and 36 yards out. The one he missed was a 54-yard boot, which sailed wide.

Redic also excelled in basketball and baseball. He has been offered $30,000 to turn professional in baseball. He is wanted by the Cincinnati Redlegs and the New York Yankees.

In basketball, Redic averaged 16 points a game. He hit 21 per game as a sophomore and 20 as a junior. He ran freshmen track and high jumped six feet, broad jumped 21-7 and ran on the 440-yard relay team.

Stuart, who resembles a cut-down Jimmy Brown, scored eight touchdowns this year and rushed for 600 yards in 86 carries. This was the first year that 5-10, 185 pound Stuart played fullback. He had played tackle three years at Odessa Blackshear before transferring to Ector with Redic.

Like Redic, Stuart also has 10.1 speed. He ran on the 440-relay team in track. He received between 25 and 30 offers, including Washington State, Houston, Wisconsin, Texas, Texas Tech, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Nebraska.

Stuart made all-district as a linebacker and was honorable mention on offense.

This brings WT's schoolboy recruit list to 28.

Texas Loved By Pro Golfers

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Golfers everywhere should have a warm spot in their hearts for Texas.

It was in this state that the first big money tournament was held. It wouldn't be considered big money today, with the $100,000 purse for most golf tournaments, but then it was somewhat sensational.

The Texas Open at San Antonio was $5,000 when it first saw the light of day 45 years ago.

Come April and the Texas Open will be for $100,000 — one of four Texas tournaments offering as much or more than that.

Texas will post $512,500 for the golfers to shoot at this year — $96,000 more than last year although there will be one less tournament.

Six women's tournaments were held in 1966 but only five of them will be staged in 1967. San Antonio is giving up its $12,500 tournament that had been held in the fall.

But there have been hikes in prize money of most other tournaments and the San Antonio affair won't be missed, at least moneywise.

Houston and Fort Worth have the biggest tournaments from the standpoint of cash. The Houston Champions International and the Colonial National Invitation each will post $115,000. Dallas will hold a $100,000 tournament the same as San Antonio.

Houston increased its prize money by $15,000, Fort Worth by $5,000. San Antonio is up $30, 000, Dallas $40,000.

Three women's tournaments offer more. The Dallas Civitan has been raised $2,500. Amarillo is hiking the prize money by the same amount and the Babe Zaharias Open at Beaumont is up $1,000.

Waco came on the circuit for the first time last year with a $10,000 tournament and was so successful it will have it again this year.

CONSISTENT PERFORMERS — Bobby Burwick, left, and Gary Goodin have been consistent performers for track coach Joe Brooks so far this season, picking up points in each meet. Burwick won third place in the 440-yard dash in Saturday's meet at Denver City. Goodwin won first in the high hurdles and second in the intermediate hurdles. The pair also are members of the relay teams. (Hereford Brand Photo)
