Wilson Agrees To Sale Of Corporate Shares

CHICAGO — Wilson & Co., Inc. Board of Directors announced today that they are recommending that the stockholders of Wilson & Co., Inc. accept the merger proposal authorized by the Executive Committee of Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc. on March 17. The merger proposal will be submitted to shareholders of both companies for approval at meetings to be held April 27 in Dallas and Chicago. Wilson common stockholders of record on April 3, 1967 will be entitled to notice of and entitled to vote at the Wilson meeting.

LTV's proposal provides the merger be accomplished through an exchange of stock whereby Wilson common stock shareholders would receive one share of a new issue of LTV Series A convertible preferred for each one and one-half shares of Wilson common.

In making his announcement on March 17, James J. Ling, Chairman and Chief Executive of LTV, stated that the new issue of Series A preferred would have these features: A redemption and liquidation value of $100 per share; be convertible into LTV common at a rate of one share preferred for 8-10th share of common for ten years; be callable any time after five years from issue, pay a $50.00 annual dividend payable quarterly.

There would be a mandatory call of 1/10th of the original issue beginning the sixteenth year after. It is planned that the new issue would be listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

At its meeting today, the Wilson Board called for redemption at $100.00 plus accrued dividends as of March 31, 1967, its outstanding $1.25 cumulative preferred stock of which approximately 158,000 shares are outstanding. The call for redemption and the funds required will be deposited irrevocably March 31, 1967 at the First National Bank of Chicago as redemptive agent, and holders of such stock may make presentation and receive payment accordingly. It also declared a dividend of 42-1/2 cents per share on the Company's common stock for the second quarter of the 1967 fiscal year, February 1, 1967 to April 30, 1967, payable April 26, 1967 to stockholders of record April 3, 1967.

In announcing the decision of the Wilson Board, Roscoe G. Haynie, Chairman and Chief Executive of Wilson, said, "We believe that this merger proposal under the circumstances now prevailing is in the best interests of the Wilson stockholders and the employees of the Company."

The new LTV Series A convertible preferred's $5.00 dividend rate compares with a $2.55 dividend for one and one-half shares of Wilson common.

Construction To Begin Within Thirty Days Plans Include Rendering Plant

The biggest addition to Hereford industry since Holly Sugar came this week with the announcement of a meat packing plant to be located east of Hereford.

Texas Meat Packers, Inc. will begin construction of a $2 million plant within thirty days, according to owner-operator Archie Sloane.

Sloane said in a telephone interview that his company expects to slaughter 150 head an hour and will employ 150 people for a one shift operation. "Later we could double the output and that would mean that we could slaughter 16,000 head a week," he said.

He explained that the two shifts would not double the personnel, however, since some would be administrative staff.

"We hope to hire most of the workers from Hereford and the surrounding area," he said.

Texas Meat Packers, Inc. is owned jointly by Sloane and Joe Spiritas. The company has been operating for about 25 years with headquarters in Dallas.

The Dallas plant employs 500 people and will do all of the processing and shipping of the beef slaughtered in Hereford.

The Hereford plant will be an automated on the rail slaughter plant. Whole carcasses will be shipped by rail and by truck to the Dallas plant, Sloane said.

In conjunction with the slaughtering plant the company will construct an inedible rendering plant. This plant will be constructed at a cost of $250,000.

Sloane said that all they are asking the community to do is cooperate and supply enough labor to man the plant. He is building his own settling tanks to take care of sewage and will not run any untreated waste into Tierra Blanca Creek, the stream that has played heavily in state pollution discussions.

The plant will be unionized since the Dallas operation works with union labor.

Sloane said that his company had long felt that they were losing money by shipping live animals to Dallas for slaughtering and considered the building of the Hereford plant an economy move. He explained that shrinkage not only cut down on the profits, but on the quality of meat and that he could better compete with a plant located in the heart of the Panhandle cattle feeding area.

He said that the Hereford plant will cut operational costs by a substantial margin.

Presently, the company has five or six cattle trucks moving fat cattle the 400 miles out of the Panhandle to the Dallas plant.

"Now we'll have all the cattle we need right at our back door and save a tremendous packing bill," Sloane said.

Texas Meat ships beef to markets all over the world. Sloane said that nearly 100 percent of his current meat-processing operation is being supplied by cattle from the Panhandle feeders and he considers the quality tops.

"There was a time when eastern markets demanded Kansas City beef," he said, but during the last three or four years Texas beef has become acceptable throughout the world. In fact Texas beef is now being preferred over much beef coming out of the Midwest."

He attributes much of the improvement in quality to scientific methods of feeding. He said that the feeders in the Panhandle get more marbling and less fat in the higher-priced cuts.

Wilson and Co., Inc. had announced options on land here earlier this year and announcement of their decision concerning a Hereford location is expected at any time.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is reprinted with the permission of The Wall Street Journal. The Brand is reprinting the complete article since it is an analysis of why Hereford has grown by adding industry. Dennis Farney spent a week in Hereford during the week of January 19 to gather material for the article. He had stated that his paper wanted to use Hereford as a case study to help other towns know how to attract and hold industry. In a telephone conversation Friday morning, Farney said that he had studied other towns but that his editors wanted to concentrate on Hereford. The article was published on the front page of the Wall Street Journal Friday March 24.

Hustling Hereford Texas Cow Town Pulls Many New Factories By Ignoring The Rules.

LETTERS FROM HIGH-SCHOOLERS VISIT TO A SICKROOM HELP ATTRACT A SUGAR REFINERY
By Dennis Farney
Staff Reporter of THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

HEREFORD, Texas — This is a cowtown on the make. So far, it has made out amazingly well.

In the city park, a giant trash can which is shaped like the Lone Star State, touts Hereford as the place where "industry and agriculture meet." And they literally do. White-faced cattle that gave the town its name graze beside spanking new plants that have pumped about 600 new jobs and $10 million annually into the tiny town's economy within the past five years. More plants are on the way.

Hereford might seem to have no right to be so successful in hustling industry. The competition is fierce. Industrial development experts estimate that at least half of all the U. S. communities now actively wooing outside industry are towns of 15,000 population or less (Hereford boasts 12,568 citizens). And many competitors can offer a lot more than this little Texas Panhandle town.

Most competitors can give industry at least one of the following advantages: Low wage rates, low taxes or tax "holidays," limited union activity, bond financing to build plants, proximity to major markets and pleasant surroundings. Hereford dangles none of these lures.

AN OLD ARMY VERDICT

Its biggest new plant is unionized and wages average $3.40 hourly. It gives no tax holidays and builds no plants with bond money. It is nowhere near any major urban market. The treeless high plains that stretch to the horizon are scorching in summer, freezing in winter, and ravaged by dust storms. An Army survey after the Civil War dismissed this whole area as "so barren that it must always remain uninhabited by man and beast alike."

But Hereford has ignored all this and grown impressively anyway — thanks to canny cultivation of the assets it does have, incredible persistence sprinkled with sheer gall, and a lightning-like rush to open the door at the slightest tentative tap of opportunity. Its industrial development program is more a mad scramble than an orderly, planned effort. But it works.

The proof shows up everywhere. Since 1962 the town has landed 11 new industries, the principal prize being a $23 million beet-sugar refinery built by Holly Sugar Corp. Population has increased 40%, and block after block of expensive new ranch-style homes are pushing out onto the plains. Bank deposits have risen 80%.

Main Street throbs with new vitality. Merchants are planting shrubs outside their stores, putting up colorful sunshades, and piping in music to put customers in a buying mood. Light planes shuttle in and out of the local airstrip, bringing engineers, developers and eager Easterners with money to spend. "I never thought we'd have to turn away capital, but it's come to that," gasps a local cattle feedlot operator.

STRONG AGRICULTURAL BASE

Much of this prosperity comes from new industry, and much of the new industry has come in because Hereford has been successful in building a strong agricultural base. The area sits atop an abundant supply of underground water, and irrigation has been highly developed. Consequently, farmers in these regions can grow rich crops on plains where rainfall is scanty indeed. Also, since 1956, a thriving cattle-feeding operation has been painstakingly expanded. About 150,000 head are fattened near here now.

These developments, in turn, have helped draw such industries as the beet-sugar operation, fertilizer-blending plants, livestock-feed manufacturers — and one company, Bravo Smokes Inc., which makes cigarettes out of lettuce leaves.

In drawing some of these plants Hereford has broken quite a few of the "rules" followed by many other towns scuffling for industry. It doesn't have an industrial park where outside firms can settle in easily and its formal industrial development committee is moribund.

But it does have a handful of civic leaders who cooperate informally to land industry in whatever unconventional way seems best. They avoid the careful planning and study sessions recommended by industrial development experts, preferring immediate eyeball-to-eyeball confrontation with a possible prospect. And they don't seem to listen when the prospect says "no."

Consider their pursuit of the sugar refinery. Old newspaper clips show that the town had longed for such an operation as far back as 1911. When the idea boosters bolted into action. There was no research, no pre-emption planning — one week they were in Hereford, discussing the idea casually, and the next they were in Denver, pressing the proposal upon executives of American Crystal Sugar Co. Quickly and coolly, those executives picked the idea apart.

The chief obstacle, they explained, was the National Sugar Act. This law set domestic acreage allotments for sugar production, and there weren't any for the Hereford area. American Crystal suggested somewhat skeptically that Hereford change the law.

That's exactly what the town eventually helped to do — by spending about $100,000 of local money contributed by civic leaders, enlisting just about everyone in Hereford in a two-year lobbying effort, and trying some ploys that would make a professional consultant shudder.

After Denver, the Hereford delegation went to Washington and was rebuffed again. "They just laughed at us," says Henry Sears, president of the First National Bank in Hereford. "Harold Cooley (then chairman of the House Agriculture Committee) told us: 'Boys

I sure admire your spunk but you'll never get the job done.'

Mr. Sears and his friends saw that Hereford would have to neutralize almost-certain opposition to a change in the law from a combination of powerful interests, including foreign lobbyists, U. S. State Department officials and some sugar producers with a stake in the status quo. They helped do it by enlisting the support of farmers in other potential beet-sugar growing areas, a strategy mapped out by James Witherspoon, a Hereford attorney.

Mr. Witherspoon helped organize about 70 growers' associations in 10 states — each, he recalls fondly, "writing its Congressman and raising hell with him." A blizzard of letters issued from the Witherspoon law offices, too. No one was overlooked, not even Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln, personal secretary to the late John F. Kennedy ("Please do not let our President overlook these facts...").

Spurred on by their teachers, the 650 students of Hereford High School showered Congressmen and the President with 3,000 handwritten letters pleading for a change in the law. Mr. Witherspoon added another "persuader" — 50-lb. sacks of Hereford onions shipped to the President and to House committee chairmen. When he wasn't writing letters and shipping edibles, the attorney was in Washington, buttonholing the men with influence.

THE GOVERNMENT CAPITULATES

Months passed with no visible progress. But in 1962 Uncle Sam caved in — thanks largely to curtailment of sugar imports from Castro's Cuba as well as to the clamor from the growers' associations. In any event, a new sugar act was passed; the Hereford area got enough allotments to warrant construction of a beet-sugar refinery, and got a commitment from Holly to build one.

That company's chief executive officer, however, became seriously ill (he later died) and dictated a bedside memo canceling the commitment. Immediately, Mr. Sears flew up from Hereford, contacted the executive in his hospital room, and talked him into reinstating the proposed plant.

Things have been hopping in Hereford ever since it was built. The refinery puts about $8 million a year into the local economy, and its beet-pulp byproducts, useful in cattle feed, have given an additional boost to the commercial feedlot business.

Some small towns have been successful in luring industry, only to find that the companies settling in have been too shaky financially to survive. Hereford has had no such trouble. Its list of corporate citizens and citizens-to-be reads like a roster of blue chips.

THE ROSTER

Besides Holly Sugar, there are Monsanto Co. and American Cyanamid Co., which operate fertilizer blending plants; W. R. Grace & Co., which has a subsidiary here making livestock feed; Allied Chemical Corp. and Swift & Co., which are building livestock feed facilities. Wilson & Co. has taken an option on a site for a possible meat-packing plant, and civic leaders are hopeful of landing a plant of a major baby food manufacturer. Just yesterday, Texas Meat Packers, Inc. of Dallas agreed to buy a 25-acre site and says it plans to build a $2 million slaughtering plant capable of processing 8,000 head a week.

Hereford has never attracted an industry that later failed. It had a close call when local investors pledged $85,000 to Dolly Textiles Inc., a maker of girls' dresses originally based in Las Vegas, N. M. Dolly Textiles came to Hereford in 1964 and promptly posted a $25,000 loss. But management has since been changed and the firm expects a net profit of roughly $30,000 in the fiscal year ending next Thursday.

Bravo Smokes, by any measure the most unusual business in Hereford, is doing well, according to Puzant Torigian, its owner. It is making 1 million cigarettes a day now and plans to boost output to 10 million before the year is out. Mr. Torigian says Bravo will add six new curing plants (where the lettuce leaves are treated with enzymes in a process he invented) to its lone curing operation in Uvalde, Texas. He also has opened up new retail outlets in major cities.

TWO BRUSHOFFS, BUT THEN

Hereford landed Bravo in typical fashion. When town leaders first got in touch with Mr. Torigian by letter in 1964 "he didn't even answer us," says W. T. Thompson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. The town tried again in early 1965, but got the brushoff again. Mr. Torigian then said: "We believe our needs are too great for your town to afford."

After Hereford landed the Holly Sugar plant, however, and after local investors pledged more than $100,000 in capital, Mr. Torigian allowed himself to be won over. Another big factor in Hereford's favor: The lettuce crop grown in the area on irrigated land.

The aggressiveness shown by Hereford is being emulated by many other small towns now.

Tracy, Calif., plans to mail 2,000 personal letters to "presidents and chairmen of firms of every description." Trenton, Ga. out-hustling competitors, brought in plants of the H. D. Lee Co. and the Hudson Wire Co.; townsfolk pledged $45,000 to attract the Lee plant, and just before a site selection team visited the town, "those people washed down the courthouse square," says an admiring observer.

Lisbon, Me., rebounded from the stunning loss in 1964 of its two woolen mills, which provided a total of 1,100 jobs in a town of 5,700. Adding to Federal loans $300,000 raised locally, the town built a new plant, bought one of the old mills, and leased the structures back to a textile finishing concern and an electronics-components manufacturer.

GROWING PAINS FOR HEREFORD

Comparatively few small towns, however, have had the success Hereford has enjoyed. In some ways, though, the onrush of industry has been a mixed blessing; Hereford is suffering some growing pains. Since 1963 it has had to sell $1.2 million in bonds to finance water and sewer extension and street improvements. During the same period it sold school bond issues totaling $2.4 million and built 88 new classrooms. Still, the schools have barely kept pace with increased enrollments and property taxes have risen.

And, inevitably, perhaps some friction has been noted between the natives and "outsiders." Mr. Torigian of Bravo Smokes, for example, has rubbed some Herefordites the wrong way. The local farmers and businessmen who made up his board of directors tended to view Bravo Smokes as a strictly local industry, and didn't entirely appreciate his plans for expanding from the company's base here to a national operation.

Thus, says one local observer, while Mr. Torigian, a friendly New Yorker of Armenian extraction, staged press conferences and mapped national sales strategy, "his directors were jumping him about plans to hang drapes in his office and install a new ladies' rest room."

BUYING OUT THE LOCALS

Outspoken and always in a hurry, the newcomer "tried to tell our bankers how to run their banks, our businessmen how to run their businesses — and for a while we didn't know if he could run his own," says a local businessman. Directors of Bravo finally began toying with the idea of undercutting Mr. Torigian by hiring a business manager. After several bitter meetings, Mr. Torigian bought out his local investors in- See HEREFORD Page 3

Postman Chalks The Most Miles

The postman walked 20 miles and the metermaid nine miles. That was the result of the first experiment being conducted by the Hereford Brand on how far Hereford residents walk.

W. C. Beene of the Hereford Post Office Department put on the pedometer just before he began his daily rounds Tuesday morning. He wore the calculator throughout the day and kept it on until he had completed his rounds Wednesday morning. The total was 17.4 miles walked on the job and the remainder at home.

Beene said he usually walks farther at home, but had ridden horses Tuesday afternoon. The route taken by Beene goes as far south as the post office, as far north to the Kings Manor area, west just past Kibbe and Catalpa streets, with numerous zig zag of blocks between.

Dorothy Taylor, metermaid for the Hereford Police Department, said she put nine miles on the pedometer in approximately six hours of walking Friday. The metermaid said she has no set schedule in her walking and has a different amount each day.

This week, two car hops from different drive-ins will be matched against two cafe waitresses. Later, a husband and wife will be settling the question of who walks the most.

Today, the head of Bravo Smokes still smarts over the experiences he has had and the chilly reception he still gets from many townsfolk. "After all this time," he says, "not one—not one—of my neighbors has come over to say hello to me."

But the social climate is improving. Not long ago at a high school pep rally for the basketball team (the Whitefaces, naturally), students delighted Christine Trigan, 15, by abandoning the standard cheer to break into shouts of "Bravo! Bravo!"

Deaf Smith County Regains Lost Brucellosis Certificate

Deaf Smith County has been re-certified as a modified certified county under the Brucellosis Control Program by the Animal Health Division of the United States Department of Agriculture without the county having to re-test its herds of cattle.

The announcement was received by Bill Thompson, manager of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, from Congressman Bob Price. Price, however, stated that the state department in Austin had not yet received the certificate but that the date would be announced as soon as it was received.

The local chamber of commerce had contacted Congressman John Tower, Ralph Yarborough, Price and Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman in protesting the federal division's action toward the county.

The withholding of the Brucellosis Certificate by the Federal Health Division had caused many protests from cattle producers because it was costing them $1.50-$2 per hundred pounds of cattle when sold to out-of-state markets. The action had affected only those who sold their cattle to be bred or to breeder farms.

Brucellosis is a disease affecting female cattle. It does not concern those that are sold to be slaughtered.

The certificate had been withheld because of a previous mix-up between state and federal health divisions. In order for any county to get certification, all herds in the county have to be tested for possible Brucellosis. The testing is conducted by the state division and consists of a blood test.

When approved by the state, the report is then submitted to the federal division for final approval. When approved, the county must then have only a per-centage of its herds, re-tested every three years for re-certification. All testing must be done within a six-month period in order for the federal government to consider re-certification.

If the county does not conduct its re-testing within the time allowed by the federal division, it loses its certificate and again the county must test all its herds to be considered for re-certification.

Deaf Smith County had its required number of herds tested for re-certification within the time allowed and was approved by the state division. However, when the state division submitted its report to the federal division, it was refused. The reason the federal division gave was that not enough herds had been tested and that six or seven more herds were needed to be considered for approval. The state did test those requested but when the report was again submitted, the federal division refused to grant the certification. The reason this time was that the state department had taken more than the six-month period allowed and that all herds in the county would have to be re-tested for consideration.

Re-testing of all herds would be costly and would have required the efforts of many men.

Feedlots in this area were not affected by the withholding of the certificate because the cattle they feed is sold for slaughtering mainly.

Counties that still have their certificates lifted are Dallam, Hartley and Floyd.

PEP Slates Water Workshop

A kick-off meeting of water and water use studies will be held at the Community Center, Tuesday, March 28.

The first phase of the Panhandle Economic Program, the workshop on water is being jointly sponsored by the water and crop committees for the county. The program begins at 1:30 p. m.

Marvin Nichols, considered one of the foremost water authorities in the state will speak on the water outlook in Deaf Smith County and the High Plains. Nichols is a consulting engineer with a Ft. Worth firm.

James Valentine, area soil chemist with the South Plains Research and Extension Center, Lubbock, will open the meeting with a discussion on fertility and use of fertilizer on Deaf Smith County crops.

After a short break, Andrew Kershen, district director of High Plains Water District will discuss Deaf Smith County Water Resources and future trends.

Rate of consumption and critical periods by plants will be the topic of a talk by Dr. Kenneth Porter, agronomist, Bushland Experiment Station, Bushland.

William Lyle, area irrigation specialist from Lubbock will close the meeting with a discussion of well-development and maintenance, including several phases and types of irrigation.

The meeting is open to the public and the sponsors hope that any interested parties will take advantage of the comprehensive workshop.

W. P. Axe is chairman of the water committee and Hugh Clearman is chairman of the crops committee.

Members of the water committee named recently are: Mike Betzen, A. J. Bezner, Earl Holt, Charles Hoover, Elmo Hall, R. G. Peeler, Ray Gerk, Charles Shipley, Layton Sawyer, Hilrey Aven, Burns Hamilton, R. Paul Conaway, R. C. Godwin, Leo Forrest, V. E. Dodson, Joe Easley, Kershen, J. V. Perrin, Virgil Marsh, Glenn Allred, Bruce Burney, John D. Alkin, Bill Gentry, Labry Ballard, F. A. Marnell, and Andrew McCathern.

Four Hereford men will be seeking the two positions on the Hereford City Commission and Ray Cowser is running unopposed for his fourth term as mayor.

Dick Barnard of 212 Ave. B is seeking to serve a second term as commissioner, Place 2. He will be opposed by Benny L. Womble of 246 Ranger Drive.

Edwin Schroeter of 208 Star will be opposing D. C. Kinsey of 148 Centre for Place 1 on the commission, the seat formerly held by Joe Easley, who decided not to run again.

Voting will be done in City Hall from 8 a. m. until 7 p. m. April 4.

No absentee ballots had been cast in the county school trustee election which will be held April 1. Last day for absentee balloting in that election is March 28. Absentee voting is done in the county clerk's office.

Fourteen absentee votes have been cast in the Hereford Independent School trustee election which carries the same dates as the county election.

Absentee voting is done at the school tax office on Avenue F.

G. M. Connell, Pioneer Family Member, Passes

George Muse Connell, 59, a Hereford native whose family was prominent in early years of this county, died Friday morning in Las Vegas, Nev., where he had lived the past four years.

The funeral service was tentatively planned for today, with burial to follow in a family cemetery at Bartlett, Tex.

Son of Ed Connell, who came to Deaf Smith County in 1895 as a Texas Ranger and served three terms as sheriff here before he entered the real estate and ranching business, George M. Connell followed in his father's footsteps in serving as a peace officer.

He was born in Hereford Aug. 8, 1907. He left here in the 1930's, and for many years was in the sheriff's office at Corpus Christi before he moved to Las Vegas.

Survivors include his wife, the former Irene Leachman of Amarillo; a stepdaughter and stepson; two sisters, Mrs. Joe Trussell of Brownwood and Mrs. Lulu Bennett of Houston; and two brothers, Douglas Connell of Houston and Ira Connell of Portland, Ore.

Heavy Damages In Truck Wreck

Approximately $750 worth of damages resulted when a 1966 pick-up collided with a 1965 pick-up at the intersection of U. S. 385 and North St. Friday morning.

The 1966 truck, driven by Thomas L. Sparkman, Jr. of Rt. 1, received about $400 worth of the damages and the 1965 model truck, driven by Juan C. Mendoza of Box 30, accounted for the rest.

The accident occurred when one vehicle was headed north when the other was making a left turn south. A ticket was given for failure to yield right of way.

Union Contract Renewed By Wilson And Co.

Wilson & Co., Inc. and the United Packinghouse, Food and Allied Workers, AFL-CIO jointly announced today that agreement had been reached on a new three and one-half year labor contract, extending to August 31, 1970, covering units presently under their master agreement.

The new agreement, which is subject to ratification, provides for wage increases and other improvements comparable to those included in the settlement recently negotiated with Armour & Co.

The Brand receives many complaints, but Thursday, a gentleman walked into the office and said that he had not received his paper for Thursday. The receptionist told him that she would give him one but that he should contact his carrier if he had any more trouble.

The paper for Thursday March 23, 1967 would not pacify the man.

He laughed and said he needed the paper for March 24, 1957—ten years ago.

In discussing the date, the receptionist discovered that March 24, 1957 was during the big blizzard—efforts to deliver papers were hampered and finally halted by house-high snow drifts.

The man asking for the paper was Ronald Fuhrmann and he said he would never forget that morning because his son, Joel was born that morning. He stuck his car, a pick-up and a squad car before a four-wheel drive from Neill Body Shop finally delivered his wife to the hospital door.

"And imagine how I felt when I got home—no Hereford Brand to read after all I had been through," Fuhrmann grinned.

Famous Musician Will Present Concert Tuesday

Rubinfoff and his Violin will day morning at 10:30 during a student concert.

Hereford Rotary is sponsoring the musician and will use funds raised by the event for local youth work.

The program will begin at 8:15 p. m. in the high school auditorium. Rubinfoff will play a series of numbers designed to please people with varied musical tastes. With a varied assortment of popular concert pieces, he includes musical themes from some television commercials, square dance and fiddle music.

Owner of a highly rare and valuable Romanoff-Stradivarius violin, which is insured for $10,000 Rubinfoff plans to use this violin in his performances here.

The instrument still retains the original varnish which it was given in 1731, when it was made by the master of violin makers.

Tickets for the Rubinfoff performance may be purchased from any Rotarian, or at the door. They are also available at the Chandelier shop in Sugarland Mall, at McDowell Drug in Downtown Hereford and at either of the banks in town.

The student body of high school will hear Rubinfoff Tuesday morning at 10:30 during a student concert.

—Small Talk—

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Changing styles keep making old expressions obsolete. For years it's been sound advice to tell someone to "use your head for something besides a hat-rack!" Now that both men and women, more and more, are wearing hats less and less, it's no wonder you hardly ever hear that any more.

THERE IS A MATTER of relativity, or just plain kinfolks, in a couple of society items in today's paper. One is the story of Kay Dirks' marriage to Jackie Ray Stallings, and the other an announcement of Connie Watson's engagement to Conrad Urbanczyk. The two girls are cousins.

People used to say that when there was one wedding in a family, look out for more soon. Maybe there's truth in that.

A SURPRISE PARTY was given Tuesday evening for J. C. Ricketts by members of a Sunday School class he was taught at First Christian Church for many years. Just how many, the members I talked with can't exactly remember, but anyway long enough for the teacher to have earned their gratitude.

It was his birthday and the Friendship Class members got together and went to M. R. Ricketts' home, taking refreshments suitable for a birthday party. They played 42 and talked through a pleasant evening.

In the party were Messrs. and Mmes. W. B. Phillips, Ira Ricketts, Carl Williams, R. G. Blue and F. Y. Moreman, Mrs. George Muse and her sister, Mrs. W. R. Bell of Pampa, Mrs. Nona Jowell and, dropping by to add his congratulations on the birthday, the Rev. Eugene Brink.

singing student, Joe Ella Cansler, in a starring role, the Opera Workshop at West Texas State University will present its annual spring musical Camelot, April 19-22 and April 25-29. Tickets went on sale this week and will be sold by mail until April 10, an announcement from the Fine Arts Department says.

Remembering past musicals by the Opera Workshop, many Hereford residents will want to reserve seats early. The Lerner-Loewe musical is a recent Broadway success that created song hits still heard frequently, and the WTSU students can be trusted to make an appealing production of it.

The story is told that the writer-composer team responsible for its words and music decided they were tired of musical people that you can see on the streets any time" so they decided to make a show with beautiful people in beautiful settings, and turned back to the times of King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table for their story. Nothing realistic, no social message, just a beautiful show.

The soprano from Hereford, the former Joe Ella McGee, will sing the leading feminine role as Queen Guinevere. Quite a contrast to her saucy soubrette lead in last year's spring musical, Carousel, in which she provided most of the comedy relief as bouncy Mrs. Snow.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for the many acts of kindness and thoughtfulness shown us during the passing of our loved one. We deeply appreciate all the flowers, the food, the host of cards, phone calls, the words of encouragement. God bless each one of you is our prayer.

Kayleen Dirks Is Bride Of Jackie R. Stallings

Miss Kayleen Ann Dirks and Jackie Ray Stallings of Hereford exchanged marriage vows Saturday evening at Windy Acres, home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gwen McFarland, at Arney.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Dirks, who live south of the city, and Mrs. Addie Stallings, 409 Avenue J. The Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor of First Methodist Church here, conducted the double ring ceremony in which the bride was given by her father.

She entered the room down a winding staircase, and proceeded to the improvised altar arranged in front of a bay window. Yellow tapers burned in a pair of candelabra flanked by baskets of daisies and chrysanthemums. More of the flowers filled a cupid vase on the stairway.

Miss DeZane McFarland, her cousin, was her only attendant and the bridegroom's brother, Dean Stallings, acted as his best man.

A medley of wedding music and the marches were played by Mrs. Fred Ruland.

The bride's dress, street length, was a cage of English lace worn over a satin sheath. The lace was gathered to a circular band at the neckline and to similar bands at the wrists.

Layers of illusion fell over her shoulders from a cluster of white satin roses, their petals edged with seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of daisies. As an heirloom piece she carried a handkerchief which has been a part of the bridal costume of several members of her family.

Miss McFarland's dress was styled like the bride's, of chiffon over yellow satin, and her flowers were a small-scaled replica of the bridal bouquet.

A reception in the home followed the ceremony. Daisies and other blossoms in white and yellow decorated the table which was covered with white linen over yellow.

Mrs. Dean Stallings served the wedding cake while Mrs. Jackie Rhodes of Stamford, sister of the bridegroom, led punch. Mrs. Bill Dirks, sister-in-law of the bride, also of Stamford, sat at the guest book.

Mrs. Stallings left for a honeymoon in New Mexico wearing a white linen suit with black patent accessories. Her corsage was of orchids. The couple expects to spend about two weeks in Hereford before leaving to make a home in San

Miss Townsend Says Vows With Walter Burnett

The marriage of Miss Lynda Sue Townsend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shepard G. Townsend, 207 Avenue J., and Walter Burnett Jr., son of Mrs. Walter Burnett Sr. of Ola, Ark., was read by Dr. W. W. Adcock, pastor, Church at Amarillo Saturday evening.

The couple, both residents of Amarillo, will continue to make their home in that city, residing at 1126 Bellaire.

Mr. Townsend gave his daughter in marriage in the twilight ceremony, solemnized at an altar decorated with white chrysanthemums and gladiolas. A medley of wedding music was played by the church organist.

Attending the couple were the bride's sister, Miss Kathy Townsend of Hereford as maid of honor and Jackie Wallace of Amarillo as best man.

White imported silk, brocaded in a scroll pattern, made the bride's gown, with fitted bodice, portrait neckline and petal point sleeves, the A-line skirt sweeping to back fullness and widening into a chapel train. A bow of the fabric marked the center back waistline.

For "something old" in her costume, she wore the shoulder-length illusion veil with headpiece of looped crystals and pearls which two of her friends had previously worn as brides, and which is to be worn by still another bride next June. She carried a bouquet of gardenias.

The maid of honor was dressed in mint green, an empire style gown with brief train. Sleeves were bracelet length and the neckline rounded. A ribbon bow of matching color was pinned in her hair and her flowers were gardenias also, in a smaller bouquet.

After the wedding the couple and their parents received guests in the church fellowship hall, where Mrs. Lawrence Bagley was at the registry. Mrs. Jackie Wallace served the wedding cake and Mrs. Janice Smith poured punch.

The table was appointed in mint green and white, with a center arrangement of white mums and gladiolas.

Out-of-city guests included parents of the bride and groom, also her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Henry of Lancaster, Calif., and aunts, Mrs. D. D. Speer and Mrs. Raleigh Atwood of Coconago Park, Calif.

Mrs. Burnett is employed with an insurance firm in Amarillo and he with a construction company. She attended West Texas State University after graduation from Canyon High School. Burnett completed his high school education in Ola, Ark.

Funeral Is Held For Ex-Resident

Funeral services for a former resident of this area, Edmond Preston Campbell, 89, of Huntsville, were conducted Tuesday afternoon in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home. Mr. Campbell died March 18 in a Huntsville hospital after a long illness.

He was the father of Billy Joe Campbell of Hereford, and had lived southwest of this city a number of years ago. Born Feb. 20, 1878, at Corsicana, he married Mary E. Williams there in 1922. She preceded him in death in 1951.

In addition to the son he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Rex Utley of Huntsville and Mrs. J. H. Jones of Amarillo, and a sister, Mrs. E. D. McDow of Meridian.

The Rev. Noah Arnpriester, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, officiated for the funeral service. Burial was in West Park Cemetery.

The Arctic tern is the champion migrator among birds. In fall it deserts nesting sites in the Far North to sweep down the Atlantic and Pacific for a second summer in Antarctic regions. The round-trip flight may cover more than 22,000 miles.

A Precious Memory of Easter 1967

PLANTING A TREE — Dirt is shoveled around a mimosa tree planted by Junior Garden Club members on Kings Manor grounds this week. Mrs. S. S. Williams, right, is chairman of the therapy committee of Hereford Garden Club, which arranged the Arbor Day ceremony.

Arbor Day Is Observed With Planting Of Tree

A mimosa tree was planted by Junior Garden Club members on the grounds of Kings Manor as an Arbor Day observance sponsored by Hereford Garden Club Wednesday afternoon. The tree was set just in front of Westgate Hospital unit. Afterward women of the sponsoring club set a lilac bush near the residence unit of the Manor. Mrs. S. S. Williams, chairman of the club's therapy committee, was in charge of arrangements. The tree-planting ceremony included a short talk by Mrs. R. L. Wilson on the origin of Arbor Day and the reading of a poem, "Trees," by Mrs. W. C. Hromas. A quartet of high school students, Linda Stewart, Judy and Randy Martin and Larry Cooper, sang. Girls of A-O-WA-Ki-Ya Camp Fire Group assisted in putting the young tree in the ground. Mrs. Eugene Brink, Mrs. Charles Bolden and Mrs. Charles Hoover are leaders of the group. Garden Club members present included Mmes. C. D. Kelton, John Jacobsen Jr., James Brown, G. W. Newsom, Glenn Boardman, A. O. Thompson, D. K. Brook, O. G. Hill Sr., Emmett Hale and the club president, Mrs. Ray Johnson.

Area Artist To Speak For Guild

Larry Hilburn, Amarillo and Taos artist, will be guest speaker for Hereford Art Guild Tuesday, when the Guild will have its meeting in the fine arts parlor at Deaf Smith County Museum beginning at 7:30 p. m. Hilburn, considered one of the top artists of this area, is a painter and teacher, a permanent exhibitor and director of High Plains Gallery in Amarillo. He will be introduced by Mrs. Juston McBride, who is in charge of the program. National recognition has come to Hilburn for his work in oils, watercolors, prints and drawings, which has found its way into private collections, schools, art centers and galleries in the United States and France. He has studied in the Beaux Arts Ecole de Louvre in Paris a year under a Fulbright Scholarship. The artist holds a BA in art from Southwestern State University in Oklahoma and an MA in art education from West Texas State University. Memberships in Texas Watercolor Society, Texas Fine Arts Association and Kappa Pi, national honorary art fraternity, reflect his professional interest. Museums and galleries which have exhibited his work include Duveen-Graham Galley in New York, Gallerie Huit and Gallerie St. Sulpice in Paris; Philbrook Art Center, Tulsa; Witte Art Museum, San Antonio; Arkansas Art Center, Little Rock; Houston and El Paso art museums, Carnegie Art Institute, Blue Door Gallery at Taos, Kahl Gallery at Dallas, Stamford, Conn., Art Museum and Jackson, Miss. ACTION APLENTY — Local athletes are shown straining toward victory in Thursday's Hereford Invitational Track meet. Bobby Burwick was anchor man for the victorious

Hereford High School Whitefaces mile relay team which set a new meet record in the final event of the night. In other pictures, Marsh Pitman of Stanton Junior High leads the pack on his way to a win in the 70-yard high hurdles for freshmen, Jessie Bernal of LaPlata Junior High finished first in the 440-yard dash for freshmen and

THURSDAY INVITATIONAL

Whitefaces Take Eight Wins Out Of Fourteen Events

Hereford High School tracksters ran away with their own meet Thursday, winning eight of the 14 events and setting five new records while amassing 183 points — the most ever by a team in the meet.

The Dimmitt Bobcats nosed out Stanton 141-133 in the Freshmen Division by winning two of the last three events. The two teams had stayed on even terms throughout the day, but Dimmitt clinched the title with a victory in the mile relay, final event of the night.

The Whitefaces began their domination of the meet with the first two events as Jim Childers took the broad jump with a leap of 20 feet, four inches and Ricky Fangman won the discus throw with a mighty heave of 142 feet, five inches. Fangman bettered his old record of 138 feet, eight inches.

Bobby Burwick finished third in the broad jump with a mark of 20 feet and one-fourth inch, while Donnie Fangman almost nosed out his brother for first place in the discus with a toss of 135 feet, five and three-fourths inches. Johnny Cornelius finished sixth in the discus with a throw of 118 feet, 11 inches. Bill Coffin of Hereford finished second in the shot put event with a toss of 46 feet, seven inches, and Bob Gentry took fourth with 44 feet, 11 and one fourth inches. A Floydada athlete took first with a toss of 47 feet, one and three-fourths inches.

Tulia, which took second place in the meet with 147 points, had little trouble winning the mile run, taking the first two positions. David Kelly and Henry LaFuenta of Hereford picked up valuable points for Hereford, however, by finishing third and fourth. Winning time was 4:51.4, while Kelly ran 4:59.8 and LaFuenta 5:04.7.

Mark Hicks finished second and fourth in the high jump, which was won by a Floydada jumper. The winner had the fewest misses at five, nine inches.

Roger Suttle of Hereford soared 12 feet, four inches to set a new meet record in the pole vault, while Charlie Inman and Donnie Jones of Hereford finished fourth and sixth, respectively, in the 880-yard run. A Floydada runner set a new record in the event by running the 880 in 2:05.4, while Inman had a time of 2:08.8 and Jones 2:16.7. Hereford had no entries in the 100-yard dash, which was won by a Tulia runner in a record-tying time of 9.9.

The 220-yard dash finished with Billy Frank, Steve McAndrews and Larry Champ of Hereford in second, third and sixth places, respectively. Frank ran the distance in 24 seconds; McAndrews, 24.2 and Champ, 24.6. Tulia took the event with a time of 23.7.

Burwick outran his teammate Ronnie Jones to set a new record in the 440-yard dash of 52.1. Jones finished second with a time of 52.7.

Gary Goodin ran away from the pack in his events, taking first in the 120-yard high hurdles and the intermediate hurdles. His time of 14.9 in the first event tied his own record, while the 40.4 time in the intermediate hurdles will go down as a record because it was the first time the event was held here. Childers again showed his versatility by finishing fifth in the 120-yard high hurdles and fourth in the intermediate hurdles. He ran a 16.8 in the first event and 44.5 in the second.

Operating with precision smoothness, Hereford's relay teams set new records as they outdistanced all opponents. In the 440-yard relay, Ernie Williams, Billy Frank, Bobby Burwick and Goodin reeled off a sparkling 43.9. The old record of 43.8 also was held by Hereford. Tulia finished second in the 440 with a 44.5.

The mile relay team, composed of Ronnie Jones, Burwick, Billy Frank and Charlie Inman, erased any doubts they were the tops when they combined for a 3:34 time, eclipsing the old record of 3:35.6.

Hereford and Tulia were followed in point totals by Floydada, 86; Friona, 40; Vega, 27; and Dimmitt, 23. Vega replaced Muleshoe in the meet.

Finishes for Stanton and LaPlata in the Freshmen Division included:

SHOT PUT — Morton, LaPlata, first with throw of 48 feet, seven inches; Anderson, Stanton, second with throw of 47 feet 9 1/2 inches. POLE VAULT — Lyons, LaPlata, fifth with seven foot vault. HIGH JUMP — Black, Stanton, third with 5 feet, one inch. 100-YARD DASH — Black, Stanton, first with 10.75 seconds; Brisendine, LaPlata fourth and Bernal, LaPlata, both 11 seconds.

880-YARD DASH — Mays, Stanton, first in 2:13; Hendon, LaPlata, third, 2:21.9; Lyons, LaPlata, fourth, 2:22; Hagar, Stanton, fifth, 2:22.9, and Sando, LaPlata, sixth, 2:23.5. 120-YARD LOW HURDLES — Pitman, Stanton, first, 13.9 and Paetzold, Stanton, sixth, 16.2.

70-YARD HIGH HURDLES — Pitman, Stanton, first, 9.6; Caldwell, Stanton, fifth, 11.4; and Stanton, fifth, 11.4; and Salcedo, sixth, LaPlata, 11.3.

440-YARD DASH — Bernal, LaPlata, first, 58.4, and Sievers, LaPlata, fifth, 59.8.

220-YARD DASH — Martin, LaPlata sixth, 26.4. MILE RUN

Muscle, Music Make Follies

CANYON — An idea set to music and harnessed to the muscle of the West Texas State University football team is beginning to pay dividends of lasting importance.

The idea is Buffalo Follies, a zippy song-and-dance revue that has met with rousing approval in four Panhandle cities. The Follies cast, which includes 36 West Texas football players and six volunteer players, have received thunderous ovations in all four stops to date, Canyon, Dimmitt, Plainview and Spearman.

Monday, April 10, the Follies troupe arrives in Hereford. Memphis, Boise City, Oklahoma, Amarillo, and Booker are also booked for performances.

"We feel that the public relations impact from this show will be of great value to West Texas State University," says Joe Kerbel, head football coach. "There is already a great deal of interest attached to the Follies, and we feel that it will grow with each show. We're looking forward to a thrilling football season in 1967 and we feel that the Follies is an excellent way to stimulate interest in our team."

Follies performances will all begin at 8 p. m. No admission is charged.

Baseball League Planning Slated

An organizational meeting for this year's Pony League season will be held Thursday at 8:00 p. m. in the Boy Scouts Room of the Hereford Community Center.

Ted Higgins, president of this past season organization, stated that all fathers of youngsters who might be interested in joining a baseball team are urged to attend. It is most urgent that they attend because all rules, regulations and the complete program will be discussed, Higgins stressed.

Also needed this year is coaches and managers. Experience in baseball is not absolutely necessary and no one will be turned away.

The Pony League is open to any youngster who is between 13-14 years of age.

(Freshmen run three-fourths of a mile) Sierra, Stanton, second, 3:53.6; and Lopez-LaPlata 3:52.2. Mile Relay, Stanton Second, 3:54.4, and LaPlata, fifth, 4:18.

Totals on the Freshmen Division included Dimmitt, 141; Stanton, 133; Friona, 80; Tulia, 76, and LaPlata, 62.

Next meet for the Whitefaces will be Saturday at Seminole. They will enter the meet at 8:00 a. m. and then travel to Dumas for the District 1-AAA meet April 15.

Bulldogs Take Win Over Herd

The Borger Bulldogs manhandled the Hereford Whitefaces in Borger Friday afternoon, taking both the varsity and "B" team games.

Hereford rapped out 10 hits in the opener, but could manage only five runs. Borger got 11 runs on 12 hits, but also committed five errors. Bill Watts started for Hereford and took the loss. Alex Diaz also hurled.

In the "B" game, Borger got four runs in their half of the first inning and were never close again. The Bulldogs got eight runs on 11 hits while Hereford

Registration Deadline Near

Car registrations are running about the same as last year, Mrs. Nell Miller, Deaf Smith County Tax Assessor-Collector, reported Friday, "but this week will tell the tale."

With the deadline for getting new license plates on the vehicles set for midnight, April 1, the tax office is expecting a big rush this week.

Just before quitting time Friday, a total of 3,423 passenger cars and 1,740 pickups and trucks had been registered in the tax office.

The tax office will be open during noon this week.

Ruidoso Racing Opens May 27

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N. M. — The twice-postponed Annual Meeting of the Ruidoso Racing Association Stockholders was held today at Ruidoso Downs.

Well-known horseman, A. B. Green of Purcell, Oklahoma, was newly elected President, with former New Mexico Racing Commission Chairman, John Augustine, Las Cruces, as Vice-President and Senator Joseph Skeen, Picacho, as Secretary and Treasurer. Elected to the Board of Directors were Green; Mrs. Billie Hensley, Phoenix, Ariz.; John Augustine; Joe Skeen; and Stan Snedigar of Ruidoso Downs. Snedigar was the only Board member retained from the retiring Board of Directors and Officers.

President A. B. Green is one of the veteran Quarter Horse racing authorities and breeders in America, having at one time or another owned some of the greatest racing studs in the Quarter Horse world. They include Go Man Go, Top Deck and Depth Bars. His Green Pastures Ranch, near Purcell, is considered one of the major breeding farms in the Southwest.

Ruidoso Downs opens its gates to summer racing May 27th with 49 days of running action through Labor Day when Ruidoso Downs schedules the Ninth Running of the All American Futurity, the world's richest horse race.

Casa de Amigos

By MARTIN WINCH
THE MIGRANT MINISTRY
PART IV

The apartment at the Casa de Amigos had been vacant for better than four months when Eunice Vasquez reached Hereford on a clear and sunny Monday, January 2, 1965. During from Piedras Negras, Mexico, with her mother, who remained for six months.

On April 4th, the Casa became the Easter-vacation home of 13 students from DePauw University, Indiana. The following day, these young people rented apartments in the barracks for their remaining five nights in Hereford. Under an annual seminar sponsored by the Methodist Student Foundation, they had come to study the sociological aspects of a migrant laboring population. Groups of their fellows traveled to Chicago, New York, Mississippi, and Florida to experience other distinctive social problems. The Hereford Migrant Ministry was selected for the students by the Texas Council of Churches, which cited Hereford's community project as a particularly solid year-round endeavor. While in Hereford, the thirteen took notes and participated in panel discussions involving Miss Vasquez, Dodson local ministers, Migrant Ministry Board members, city and county officials, growers, labor contractors, and other area leaders. Many of these discussions took place at the Casa de Amigos.

In mid-June, a group of nearly two dozen high school students from Panhandle schools came to spend a week in Hereford. Following a Methodist retreat, the youths worked at the Casa under the supervision of Bob Wert. They cleaned the grounds, repaired playground equipment, painted benches and toyboxes, and helped Brother Christopher of the St. Joseph's Mission with registering Camp residents for Social Security. Local families gave the visitors food and lodging during their week's stay here.

Shortly before the Panhandle youth left, two of the DePauw students returned to Hereford to spend their post-graduation summer working with the migrant labor problem. The Alton Frasers gave food and lodging to Nancy Giesecke, an English major from suburban Chicago, who also spent two weeks with Mrs. Bess Moore. The Earnest Langleys had as their guest Bobbie Rath, a Spanish major from Columbus, Ohio. The two girls worked in Hereford until early September, seeking to develop the considerable time spent with families and civic organizations in Hereford, the girls helped with crafts and sports at the Casa de Amigos, conducted a cooking class at the St. Joseph's Mission, and helped students from West Texas State University who were conducting a weekly adult English class at the Casa.

The annual two-week Bible school in August was the responsibility of Mrs. William Dameron and Mrs. Elmer Kimball. They directed local volunteers in teaching about Jesus, while leading the children in song, crafts and play. The class was divided into four groups, each conducted by a different local congregation but all taking place simultaneously within and outside the Casa. About eighty children, ranging in age from infancy to twelve years, regularly attended the classes. Miss Vasquez assisted the volunteers, and one afternoon the Vargases paid a surprise visit from Kentucky.

SYMBOLS OF SPRING and Easter, flowers have a traditional part in celebration of the season of rebirth and resurrection, with the lily as queen. Purity and freshness typified by gracefully curved petals are reflected in the faces of small children and the lacy whiteness of their Easter dresses. Mary Ann, left, and Helen Marie are the identical twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Roberts, 136 Beach. They are four years old this Easter.

Area Training School For OEA Set Thursday

A school of instruction which will bring Order of Eastern Star members from 16 cities of this area to Hereford Thursday, will be conducted in the Masonic Temple Here. Officers of the grand chapter of Texas, state organization, will be in charge.

Theme of the school is Spring Symphony. It is for OEA members of District 2, Section 3, of which Mrs. Charlie Noland of Hereford is deputy grand matron.

Beginning with an informal coffee at 8 a. m. and registration at 8:30 sessions of the school will continue through the day, with a luncheon, banquet, and after the evening session a reception honoring the grand officers.

They will be headed by Mrs. Edwin Lee Sharpe of Dallas, worthy grand matron, and Herschel F. Harrington of Houston, worthy grand patron. Mrs. Gaston Harbour of Shamrock, grand examiner, and Mrs. Paul Basinger of Lubbock, district deputy grand matron, are also to be here.

Mrs. Basinger will conduct the school with the assistance of Mrs. Sharpe. The Hereford OES chapter will be acting as hosts under leadership of Mrs. Marjorie Cline, worthy matron, and John Patton, worthy patron.

Call to order for the morning session is scheduled at 9:15 a. m., when Mrs. Noland will welcome the visitors who are to come from chapters at Dimmitt, Bovina, Friona, Canyon, Tulia, Happy, Olton, Earth, Plainview, Petersburg, Hale Center, Lockney, Floydada, Silvertown and Muleshoe. Notable guests will be introduced.

Mrs. Basinger will formally open the school and conduct the first session before luncheon in Hereford Country Club. Theme of the luncheon program is Harmony of Nature. Mary Neal Henry of Happy will be master of ceremonies.

A humorous skit, Disharmony Fashion Show, will be presented by the Happy chapter as the entertainment feature, after Suddie Beth Hancock of Amarillo responds to the welcome from Frances Austin of Plainview.

More instruction will occupy the afternoon, and the banquet will be held in the Country Club. Its theme is Wonderful World of Music. Program guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Zack Pannell and Ben Gollehon, vocalists, and Mrs. Joe Hacker, accompanist.

Mrs. B. E. Roberson will voice the welcome and Dorothy Parish of Earth will respond. Joyce Roberts of El Paso will introduce the distinguished guests. Raymond Wilson of Dimmitt will be toastmaster.

A joint fraternal visit of the worthy grand matron to all the chapters in this section will be conducted at the evening session, then the final reception will be held.

Grand officers are scheduled to arrive Wednesday and remain in Hereford until Friday afternoon.

Chairmen of local committees include Mrs. Marvin Coffee, registration; Mrs. R. E. Hutson, invitations; Mrs. J. B. Noland, luncheon tickets; Mrs. Art Lewis, banquet tickets.

Shower-Tea Precedes Easter Sunday Wedding

A shower-tea complimenting Miss Penny Johnson, whose marriage to Ben Hunter Boyett Jr. of Hobbs will take place today, was given Friday in the home of Mrs. Ron L. Zimmerman.

Callers were received by the honoree and her mother, Mrs. J. R. Johnson, Mrs. Boyett Sr. and Miss Debbie Beene, who is Miss Johnson's roommate at Texas Tech and will be her only attendant in the Easter wedding ceremony.

Miss Judy McCarver and Mrs. Lisle Patton were at the refreshment table and Miss Ellen McGowan at the guest book.

Green and yellow in the varied shades of spring flowers were used in table decorations.

Centering the cover of antique ivory linen was an arrangement of iris, star mums and stock with a cupid figurine and accent of net butterflies. More flowers brightened the registry table and the gift display room.

In the hostess party were Meses. H. V. Beasley, Bruce G. Beene, T. E. Braddy, W. T. Carmichael, Orpha L. Click, L. W. Combs, S. S. Dodson, J. T. Gilbreath Jr., Marlin Gilliland, J. M. Gillentine, Paul Harvey, Raymond J. Herr, A. C. Hudson, R. B. Hutson.

Also Meses. Lynn C. Kester, J. Edward Line, A. J. Manjeot, C. L. McGowan Jr., A. N. McRight, James C. Mercer, M. W. Nobles, Lloyd Pool, Glenn Snyder, W. Glenn Williams, H. A. Cavness and Carl McCaslin.

ONE MINUTE PLEASE

THE CHURCH I LOVE KNOWS ONLY TOO WELL WHO CRUCIFIED THE CHRIST

Peter, the apostle, was speaking to an audience on the day of Pentecost in the city of Jerusalem. This large gathering was made up primarily of Jews from about 17 different nations. Among other things, the preacher said, "Men of Israel, hear these words: Jesus of Nazareth, a man attested to you by God with mighty works and wonders and signs which God did through him in your midst, as you yourselves know — this Jesus, delivered up according to the definite plan and foreknowledge of God, you crucified and killed by the hands of lawless men." (Acts 2:22, 23).

Peter ended his sermon on the same note: "God has made him both Lord and Christ, this Jesus whom you crucified." (verse 36). The Jews could not deny this statement, so they said of Peter and the rest of the apostles, "Brethren, what shall we do?" (verse 37).

(Remember, that Jesus prayed while on the cross, "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do." (Luke 23:34). Peter said to those who had crucified the Christ a few weeks before, "Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins." (Acts 2:38). "So those who received his word were baptized, and there were added that day about 3,000 souls." (verse 41). These very people who had crucified the Christ with their hands had received mercy and pardon when they obeyed God because of their faith. The charter members of the church I love were made up of those who had killed the Savior.

But, in a larger sense, you and I crucified the Son of God on the cross. Actually our Lord could have been rescued from both the Romans and Jews. For when they came to take him, he said, "Do you think I cannot appeal to my Father, and he will at once send me more than twelve legions of angels? But how then should the scriptures be fulfilled, that it must be so?" (Matthew 26:53-54). "Christ died for our sins in accordance with the scriptures, that he was buried, that he was raised on the third day in accordance with the scriptures." (1 Corinthians 15:3, 4).

Note "Christ died for our sins." So, actually, everyone of us from Adam and Eve to the present generation who have sinned crucified the Lord Jesus Christ.

None of us can shift the blame for this dreadful deed to some one else; "since all have sinned," (Romans 3:23). For serving Satan in sin, he pays us with death (Romans 6:23). "But God shows his love for us in that while we were yet sinners Christ died for us," (Romans 5:8), giving eternal life to all who accept his grace through his Son.

Small or Fast Reading Books

There's No Place Like Home is a gay rollicking story of Alaska by Artis Palmer. It tells of her early life with her family during the depression days when they were forced to leave Seattle for Alaska to make a living. This was about thirty years after the gold rush days were over.

The book is about people who lived in Alaska at the transition period between the gold seeking and the present. It is full of humor. Even in near-tragedy times she finds something funny to tell. Many of the old-timers who had gone to hunt gold still lived there. Most of them never found gold and some still hoped to; others had found and squandered it.

With Eskimo friends, wolf-dogs, fishing, hunting, mining, the social and church affairs along with the school life there was never a dull moment for the Palmers.

Another book, When the Buffalo Ran by George Grinnell, a small book, is a simple story of the growth and education of an Indian boy before the white man came. He was taught the fundamentals of the Indian way of life. His simple education consisted of how to hunt small game, fish, ride ponies, and, as he grew older, to hunt buffalo with the men. He learned how to search for enemies and how to hide from them; later to fight against enemy tribes who molested them and stole their horses.

Those interested in Indian life and history, both adult and youngsters will find this an interesting tale.

A third book made up of half a hundred pages is filled with pirates, buried treasures, ghosts and Texas history. It is a fun-reading book entitled The Treasures of Galveston Bay. Too bad it is so far away from us!

The story is written by Carrol Lewis in a lively manner and is supplemented with maps where chests of gold and silver, or historical artifact, may be searched for. The locations are on land, in groves of trees, on the beach and in sunken ships off shore, according to the author.

Two Going To State Convention

Mrs. A. O. Thompson of Music Study Club and Mrs. Carl Wimberley of Dawn Music Club plan to be in Tyler this weekend for the annual convention of Texas Federation of Music Clubs, which will begin with registration Wednesday afternoon.

Both Deaf Smith County women are members of the state board, Mrs. Thompson as state chairman of choral music and Mrs. Wimberley as president of District I, TFMC. The board meeting will be held at 7 p. m. Wednesday and a meeting of district presidents that afternoon.

Theme of the convention is Music for Everyone. Mrs. Delton Bumgardner of Carthage, TFMC president who was a visitor here during the Dawn last fall, will preside at most meetings. Junior music clubs will have their convention Saturday, when awards will be presented to junior composers.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. Ray Watson, Country Club Drive, announce the engagement of their daughter, Connie Dell, to Conrad Urbanczyk, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Urbanczyk, Rt. 5. An evening wedding on June 12 is planned in St. Anthony's Catholic Church. Both Miss Watson and her fiance, are graduates of Hereford High School and he is a student at West Texas State University. The couple will make a home in Hereford.

Federated Club Women To Attend Convention

Clubwomen from Hereford organizations in the Federation of Women's Clubs will go to Amarillo Thursday and Friday for the annual convention of Top of Texas District, Texas F.W.C. A pre-convention reception will be held Wednesday evening.

It will be in Amarillo Federation Women's Clubhouse, 2001 Civic Circle. Convention sessions will be held there and in Amarillo Little Theater.

Mrs. C. D. Kelton, president of Deaf Smith County club federation, with delegates from Pioneer, Bay View and Summerfield Study Clubs will represent Hereford. Mrs. Ralph McCullough, O. G. Hill Sr., Ray Johnson, L. H. Lookingbill Sr. and Delmar Sigle plan to attend from Pioneer Club.

Mrs. Guy Crawford of Borger, who was elected district president at the 1966 convention here last spring, will preside for business sessions. Mrs. B. F. Seay of Andrews, Texas Federation president, will be present and will speak at one session.

Principal speakers, all from Dallas, are J. Gordon Shanklin, agent in charge of the Dallas Division, Federal Bureau of Investigation; Mrs. H. D. Tobolowsky, attorney and past president of Texas Business and Professional Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Franklin J. Peabody, who will present a capsule version of a Broadway musical using a review technique she originated.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Since Internal Revenue Service processes all the income tax through the computer they have to match the name, address and social security number with last year's information in the computer tape. This makes it very important for taxpayers to use the pre-addressed tax forms they receive in the mail from Internal Revenue Service. If you cannot use the form you receive in the mail, take off the piggyback label and use it on your return so Internal Revenue can identify you. Don't get "lost" by sending in a different name or social security number.

Local Taxes Offer More Per Dollar Than Federal

Deaf Smith County paid in direct taxes last year:
Federal	$2,986,000.00
School	$1,316,000.00
County	$ 755,355.00
City	$ 352,800.00
TOTAL	$5,410,135.00

Next to the weather, people probably talk more about taxes than any other topic. Perhaps this is because we are seldom very happy about either, and, significant or not, they are probably the two things, which most of us can do the least about.

Today taxes, as a topic, may even outdo the weather. Some people even predict that they will ultimately result in the downfall of our republic, but we wonder how many people actually realize how much taxes we do pay. Last year in Deaf Smith County the total direct tax bill amounted to slightly less than $5½ million—and this does not include such things as sales tax, gasoline tax, cigarette tax or luxury taxes which we frequently encounter on things many of us consider necessary items.

Our direct tax bill to the federal government last year was steepest of all with a recorded take of $2,986,000 in the form of income taxes from residents of Deaf Smith County. The estimated take from this source for the present year is $3,353,000—plus the proposed surtax of President Johnson, along with any other new taxes Congress may see fit to enact.

Second largest single tax bill in Deaf Smith County was assessed by the Hereford Independent Schools last year to the tune of $1,316,000 and, although school costs are expected to rise, the tax office could give no indication of the probable increases. This item, although it provides education for some 4,000 youngsters, builds and maintains numerous buildings, is still $670,000 short of being one-half of the amount we pay the federal government each year.

Our third largest tax bill is collected by Deaf Smith County. It totals $755,355, or approximately one-fourth as much as local citizens pay Uncle Sam each year. County roads, records and courts consume a large portion of the county tax collections.

The City of Hereford, which naturally excludes everything outside the city limits, came in last with a take of $352,800 in tax collections for the year. Prime city costs of operation include police protection, fire protection, street building, street repairs, courts, and other facilities, provided we assume that the water, sewage and garbage departments are operated on a break-even basis.

The time was when national defense provided the nation's prime responsibility, and this is probably still the greatest benefit the tax payer derives from his federal government. Since 1934, however, the federal government has moved into so many other phases of public life, including welfare, schools, employment, roads, old age benefits, and a host of others, that it is difficult to tell where the local authority ends and the federal authority begins.

Needless to say, the federal government has also moved into the taxing picture in a big way in Deaf Smith County. If we add the tax bill of our three local agencies (school, county and city) together we have $2,424,135; subtract this amount from the $2,986,000 federal bill, and we find that we are paying $561,865 more to the federal government in taxes than to the three local governments combined. In addition, we have the promise of a federal increase this year, as well as in other years to come.

Out of balance? Yes. And when one stops to figure that it costs as much as 50 percent of our federal tax money to administer and allocate its application, it becomes quite obvious that we would be in a much better position if we collected, administered and spent our money on the local level. What's more, we would spend our money when and where we desire, rather than where some civil service expert feels we would best have it.

The one remaining bright picture rests in the fact that school, county and city taxes are deductible from federal assessments. In view of this situation, it is indeed amazing that the federal government ever got such a stranglehold on local and area governmental subdivisions. However, they did just that, mostly because we failed to meet obligations to the public on these levels, thus giving them an opportunity to step in and take over.

Meanwhile, let us be thankful that in most instances, we are pretty well getting our money's worth from our local level taxes. If the federal government ever becomes half so efficient in its distribution of our tax money, we could border on a modern Utopia. Or, what is more likely, we would be faced with so many rules and so much red tape that no one, including the administrators, could survive.

Feedlots Have Area Advantage

Small towns are these days plagued with many woes, which make any bright spot more than welcome. Hereford, like several other Panhandle communities, has found that bright spot in the form of feedlots. To make things still brighter, the industry seems to be expanding steadily as the years and months pass.

While we do not have the figures on how much a feedlot contributes to a community in dollars and cents, it is immediately an obvious benefit for the small community in that it creates employment, consumes locally produced products, and carries with it the built-in purchasing power of any ordinary operation of such large size and volume. In our particular case, the existence of several feedlots has led the way to preliminary steps toward a packing plant.

Feedlots are big business. Locally operated, they provide several advantages in that cattle are now finished here, where a few years ago they were shipped into the Corn Belt states for this process, thence on to the packer, and often back to Texas and the Southwest for consumption. By eliminating so many steps and so much expense, they have provided a tremendous service for the average consumer, while they provide a gainful business for the operator and investor.

With tremendous operations in the Hereford-Friona area as an example, the feedlot is fast spreading into other communities in the Southwest, including Oklahoma and New Mexico. It provides an ideal home-grown industry in that it consumes our primary crop, grain sorghum, which a few years ago was becoming a glut on the market. Climate and weather, recognized since the days of the famous XII spread, as ideal for the growth of cattle are well adapted to the industry.

These advantages no doubt account for the tremendous expansion of area feedlots in recent months, and because of these same advantages it is logical to expect continued growth and expansion in future months and years. Industry, like other development, needs all of the advantages it can gather to survive. Fortunately, the feedlot in this area possesses more than any other industry we can recall at the moment.

For this reason, we feel that the feedlot is probably the best thing to come our way in long time. Further more, we believe that their growth is bound to continue. The next step, in fact, will likely be addition of smaller feedlots in connection with each farm unit to supplement the giant operations which we now have on record. Such, at least, was the pattern in Iowa and other Corn Belt states, where both operations complimented the other to the point that they were found highly practical.

Meanwhile, when the wind gets in the wrong direction, the big thing is to convince ourselves that the odor we smell is nothing but "money"—and we will have taken a giant stride toward adjusting ourselves to this new era of progress which promises to do so much for the Plains.

"STYLE" OF THE PRESIDENT IS UNDERGOING CHANGE | ADVISERS WORKING HARD TO CHANGE LBJ'S IMAGE

By HENRY CATHCART

Central Press Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It may be no more than a coincidence, but some White House watchers think they detect a change in the "style" of President Johnson. The change concerns a lessened effort on his part to seek personal publicity for federal governmental activities that are "favorable" in nature and of sufficient stature to warrant a high degree of exposure in the press.

President Johnson

Re-making his image

It is known that the President's top advisers have been hard at work re-making his public image in the aftermath of the November, 1966, national elections in which the Democratic Party suffered greater-than-expected political reverses.

The Johnson penchant for seeking favorable publicity—and for being extremely sensitive to unfavorable mention—obviously was overworked and a part of the political losses have been attributed to this facet of his personality.

Since the convening of the new Congress early in January, the President has been noticeably more restrained in manner. The White House issues fewer press releases, and the releases tend to deal more with matters of direct White House involvement, rather than with announcements of developments within the federal departments and independent agencies.

Another change concerns the general tone of White House statements. Johnson is placed more in the attitude of the leader of a vast team effort than of a man who seeks to control the flow of governmental news for his own personal publicity.

If this tentative assessment proves correct, its purpose is to improve his public image in time to overcome voter antipathy before the 1968 presidential election.

● END RUN—Erection of a suitable memorial to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt has been stymied for years because of the inability to obtain required approvals of design.

One design rendering, dubbed as "instant Stonehenge," was rejected by all official bodies in Washington that had responsibility. It was also deplored by a number of individuals and organizations that had no responsibility, but wanted to speak out, anyway.

Some months ago, a second design rendering was found acceptable by the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial Commission, established for the express purpose of carrying out the project indicated in its name. This time individuals and organizations spoke out in approval, again wanting to have their say.

But the Washington Fine Arts Commission turned thumbs down, and without the approval of this group, the plans could not move forward.

What to do? The FDR Memorial Commission has voted unanimously to ask Congress to approve the second design, thus effectively circumventing the need for approval by the Fine Arts Commission.

And things being what they are, Congress just might do it.

The Chamber of Commerce, through its secretary, has been officially notified that its protest against the taking off of trains 114 and 117 has been favorably heard and that Hereford and the other towns between Amarillo and Clovis will have transportation facilities as usual. The new train over the Sweetwater division, which was the original bone of contention, has been allowed and will be in operation by April 1st.

They say that Hereford is freer of "tattle" than other towns. If true, happy is Hereford. If not true then why should Hereford hold such a reputation? Tale-bearing, back-biting, lowbrow work, suspicion, misjudgement, of motives do not constitute a part of the seven virtues. Let not Hereford disappoint itself.

Congressional Hearings Are Supposedly Helpful

By BERT MILLS
WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressional hearings begin to blossom about this time of year as the legislators settle down and start making decisions on what laws they will grind out this year or next.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm northwest of Hereford expresses himself on daylight saving time this week.

Dear editor: There are times when I'm convinced I don't know anything at all about people.

For the last week or so I've been reading in every newspaper that turns up out here on this bindweed farm about the big hassle over daylight saving time.

As I understand it, Congress has passed a law instilling daylight saving time all over the country and the only way a state can escape is to pass a special law exempting itself.

And last night when I saw a special television report on the situation was when I decided I don't know anything about people.

One man from a city said daylight saving time would give him an extra hour to play golf in the afternoons and he sure wanted that. A farmer said it would throw him and his cows and his milking and feeding schedule off and he was violently opposed to the change. A barber said he goes to bed at 9 every night and the thing would cause him to go to bed actually at 8 with the sun maybe still shining.

I don't understand any of this. There has been no Congress ever assembled that can tell me when to go to bed and when to get up, and there never will be. And while I don't play golf or mumbletypeg, I've never seen the day when I couldn't fish an hour longer if that's what I had in mind.

I go to bed when I'm sleepy and I get up when I wake up, and what difference could it possibly make to me what time Congress says it is? Any man who has to look at a clock to tell whether he's sleepy or not, probably needs a Congress to legislate his bedtime. Any man who has to appeal to Congress to give him an extra hour of golf, is a man I'm not familiar with.

And as for cows, it'd surprise you how many cows don't even know Congress exists.

There are times when I suspect the reason there are so many laws is that people want to be told. Personally, I don't care whether Congress votes to turn the clocks backwards or forwards, or whether it votes to make every day in the week Saturday or summer to overlap winter. My clock hasn't kept correct time in years anyway, and I went six months once without turning the page on my calendar.

As I see it, the sun comes up in the morning and goes down in the evening in compliance with a law that got here before Congress did.

Your faithfully,
J. A.

TO WED HEREFORD MAN — Miss Sandra Kay McClellan of Gruver will marry Bobby Wayne King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob A. King Jr. of Hereford, in a late spring wedding, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo McClellan, have announced at Gruver. Miss McClellan is a freshman at West Texas State University and King is entering his senior year there, majoring in speech and English. He is a graduate of Hereford High School. The couple plans to be married in First Methodist Church of Gruver.

Couples Can Get Tax Advantages

The income tax instructions mailed to taxpayers do not tell the whole story for married taxpayers in Texas. Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of the Dallas District, points out that married couples in Texas must consider the Texas Community Property Law in determining what they should report on their income tax return. They must distinguish between what is community property and income and what is separate property and income if they plan on filing separate returns.

In filing separate returns each spouse must take into account half of the community income and deductions, and all of his or her, separate income and deductions, to determine the proper tax on separate returns. Each may claim only his own exemptions and deductions. A dependent supported with community funds may be claimed by either spouse — however, an exemption may not be divided by the taxpayers.

Campbell says that — contrary to other states — a non-working wife in Texas is liable for filing an income tax return and paying the tax due on 1/2 of her working husband's income, unless they file a joint return that is signed by both husband and wife. Determining the amount of community income and deductions becomes especially important in divorce cases. The husband and wife are each liable for income tax on 1/2 of the income from the salaries of both and are each entitled to the deductions up to the date of divorce. Each is naturally liable for his or her own separate income after the date of divorce.

Campbell emphasizes three special areas affected by community property law:

The community property law can eliminate part or all of the retirement income credit that would be available to the retired taxpayer in other states. On the benefit side, community property can give a young wife in Texas full retirement income credit from the retired husband's income from a public retirement system, even though she would not qualify in non-community property states. Community property's greatest tax benefit comes from the additional $1524 retirement income credit on joint returns each year. The community property law can cause some of these taxpayers to pay as much as $300 additional tax — or it can reduce the tax bill by as much as $300.

Document 5192, explaining the community property law effect on income tax, is available at IRS offices for taxpayers who need additional information to claim the proper dividend exclusion, capital loss, more retirement income credit. Taxpayers who are concerned about the community property effect on their income tax return should call the Internal Revenue Service for help.

YHT LITTLE SISTER — Susan Bradley is presented the award as Little Sister of this year by Mrs. Lewis Block at the annual Little Sister tea given by the Young Homemakers of Texas chapter this week. YHT members entertained girls in Young Homemakers of America chapters at Hereford High School, with Mrs. Block and Mrs. Bud Thomas as hostess chairmen.

College News About Students From This Area

CANYON — Four Hereford students have recently been named spring pledges of national social sororities and fraternities at West Texas State University.

They are Vickie Inman, Zeta Tau Alpha; Tom Moss and John Lesly, Lambda Chi Alpha; and James Proffitt, Phi Delta Theta.

Miss Inman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burke Inman, 416 Star, is a sophomore. She is majoring in journalism.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. William Moss, Star Route, Moss is a junior agriculture major.

Lesly, a pre-law student, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Lesly, Route 4. He is a freshman.

Majoring in finance, Proffitt is a sophomore. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hudson, 104 Aspen.

BRIDE-ELECT — Miss Donna Gayle Carlisle of Tullio, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Owens, 114 Ave. C, is to marry Dwight Edwin Carter of Kress on June 2, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carlisle, announce. Carter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Olin W. Carter of Kress. Miss Carlisle is employed by a Tullio accounting firm and her fiancé is a sophomore in West Texas State University.

Shower Is Courtesy To April Bride-Elect

An April bride-elect, Miss Sherrin Betts, was honored at a shower Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Jack R. Allmon, with Meses Don Waters, Vernon Inmon, Bill Lamm, Bill Shore and Brice Glass as other hostesses.

Miss Betts' marriage to James C. Simpson of Wichita Falls is to be solemnized April 8 in a church at Wichita Falls, her former home. Friends in that city complimented her with a shower recently when she visited there.

At the party Thursday, Miss Betts and her mother, Mrs. Lesly Betts, greeted guests with Mrs. Allmon. The honoree was wearing a mint green shift with a band of gaily-colored embroidery circling the skirt just above the hem. Her corsage was white rosebuds.

Her younger sister, Patty Betts, was at the guest register. Misses Cheryl Solomon and Sharon Lamm served refreshments the first hour, Misses Shirley Simpson and Becky Long the second. White roses in an epergne decorated the table. Cake squares, lime punch and green mints were served.

Miss Betts was recently honored in the home of Mrs. Lamm when a group of women from Temple Baptist Missionary Union were hostesses for a white Bible service by the Young Women's Auxiliary.

The Bible she will carry at her wedding was presented in a ceremony by Misses Lamm, Long, Simpson, Rosie Rogers and Sidney Davis. Miss Rogers sang a solo, Bless This House. Mrs. Sam Long was in charge of the program.

statement. Thus the legislator will have missed nothing and saved a half hour of his time. If interested, he can scan the text and get its gist in a few minutes.

From the standpoint of the witness, courtesy sometimes demands he be given a chance to have his say. He may have traveled from afar to present his viewpoint, or he may be earning his fee which might be in jeopardy if he simply filed his statement for the record.

Committee chairman seeking to expedite a bill will sometimes urge a witness to file instead of reading a statement. In some such cases, a witness will demur and be allowed to speak his piece. In other cases, chairmen are using a form of filibuster by deliberately prolonging hearings on hopes of killing a bill they oppose, or delaying it until a satisfactory compromise can be arranged.

Cabinet Member Leads Off

On important legislation, the first witness when hearings are opened is usually the Cabinet member with jurisdiction over the subject in question. The Secretary of the Treasury, for example, is the traditional leadoff man when the House Ways and Means Committee opens hearings on a major tax bill.

Usually the proponents of a bill are heard first, with opponents heard later. Sometimes when the Administration is trying to gain passage of a proposal, its spokesmen will be offered a chance to rebut opposition testimony, particularly if it has been damaging or erroneous.

A legislative reform bill has now passed the Senate. It makes certain changes in committee procedures but does not alter the essential nature of Congressional hearings. It looks as if the time-honored institution is here to stay.

Songs Of Patriotism Will Make CFG Program For Fathers' Dinner

A "Sing-Out Explosion" will be the unusual program presented by Camp Fire Girls, Bluebirds and Horizon Club girls to entertain their fathers at the annual father-daughter banquet Thursday evening.

The program is to begin at 7 p. m. in the County Bull Barn. Some 250 girls, representing all Camp Fire organizations in the county, will take part. The musical production they will present has a theme of patriotism and citizenship responsibility.

It is an original program created by a youth group in the Moral Rearmament movement. A group of Camp Fire Girl leaders from Hereford heard it in another city last year, and Hearing Delayed Until Friday A preliminary hearing for Pablo Estrada Castanada, 53, charged with the statutory rape of a 5-year-old Hereford girl, was postponed Friday morning until a court reporter could sit in.

Arrested March 16, in a vegetable shed in southwest Hereford by Deaf Smith County Sheriff's deputies, Castanada originally was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. The charge was changed after the victim had been examined by a physician. Castanada was arraigned earlier before Justice of the Peace Ernest Wade, who denied bond in the case. He reportedly had been seen taking the Latin American girl into a restroom at the shed and the authorities summoned. The hearing is expected to be held late this week.

Hi, Last Wednesday was slave day. Some of the sights were unbelievable. Everyone always looks forward to buying a slave after they have been bought once or twice. Sue Drummond - what was that following you around all day?

Sheldon Alexander - where did that egg come from that fell on the floor?

Dianne Springer never had to carry her books to class, as there was always some cute little boy, (Jimmy Victor) carrying them for her.

Thursday the Easter Dance was held at the community center. Jekyl and the Hydes played. Tuesday, the Red Cross Talent show was held in the HHS auditorium. First place winner was Judy Hollingsworth. The Windjammers placed second and the Strawbenders came in third place.

The baseball team so far has 4 wins and 5 losses. They played a double header in Borger last Friday. The next game will be Tuesday, March 28. This Friday they will play Tucumcari here.

The Easter Holidays are something that is looked forward to by student's and teachers. By this time of the school year everyone is looking forward to the end of school. Will see you later when school resumes Wednesday. Hope everyone has a nice Easter.

"I've got to give up smoking," the guy told his wife as he walked out of the clinic. "The doctor said one lung is almost gone." "Oh, George," she replied, "can't you hold out a little longer until we get enough coupons for the new power mower?" Cheryl Solomon

Social Security Hours Are Set

A field representative of the Social Security Administration will be in Hereford Courthouse on Tuesday at 9:00 to 11:00 on April 4, 11, 18, and 25; May 2, 9, 16 and 23 and June 6, 13, 20 and 27.

Help will be given on any matter relating to social security. The business office of the Amarillo branch is open from 8:15 to 4:30 Monday through Friday if further information is needed and is located at 1906 Adams, Amarillo.

Not Guilty Is Manslaughter Trial Verdict CLAYTON, N. M. - A six-man, six-woman jury found Earl E. Caster, 40, of Hereford, not guilty of a charge of involuntary manslaughter in Clayton last week.

The Hereford man had been charged with the shooting death of Dorman Bryan of Pritchett, Colo., on Aug. 19, 1966. Five men, including Caster and Bryan, were hunting deer at night with a spotlight when the shooting occurred.

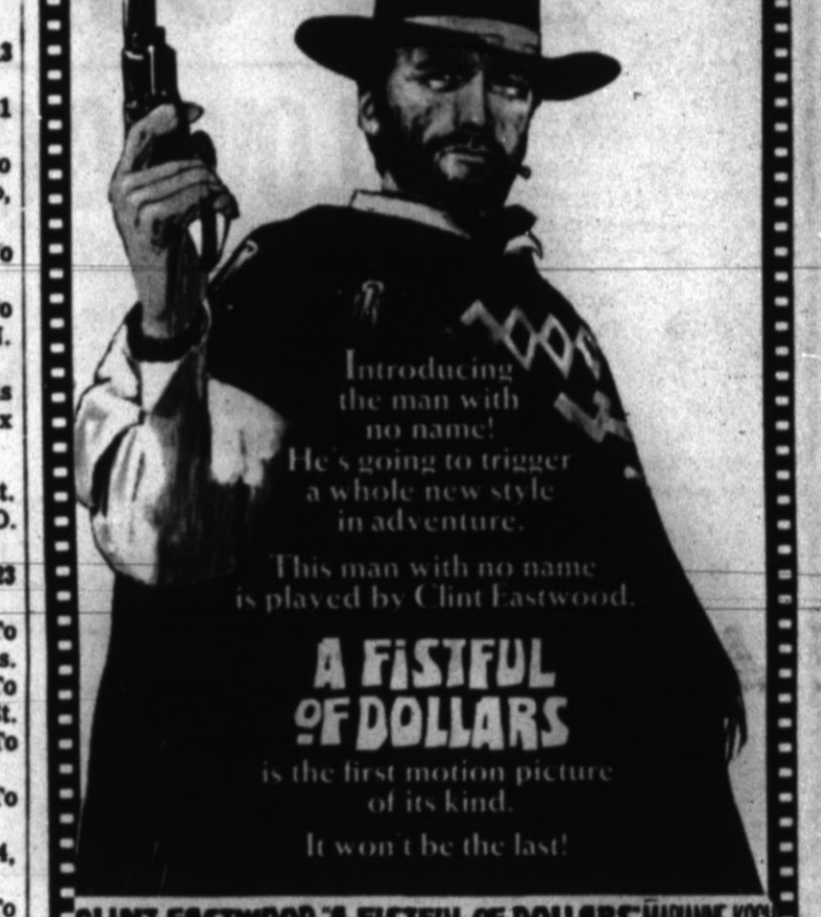

Testimony revealed that Bryan had left a truck the men were riding in and was later shot when the truck returned toward him.

BOY! MY STOMACH IS REALLY GROWLING

HOW CAN I BE SO STARVED? IT'S ONLY 3 O'CLOCK

I'M ALMOST OUT OF POTATO CHIPS. THIS IS MY LAST BAG

WHAT'S THIS? IT'S STILL 3 O'CLOCK!

OH-OH! MY WATCH HAS STOPPED!!

I HOPE ALL THE CHOW ISN'T GONE!

I MADE IT!! THE DOOR'S STILL OPEN!!

IT'S ONLY FIVE O'CLOCK! DINNER WON'T BE READY FOR AN HOUR!

THAT'S FUNNY--MY STOMACH FEELS LIKE SEVEN O'CLOCK

WELL, AS LONG AS I'M HERE I MAY AS WELL WAIT.

THAT'S THE THIRD TIME THIS WEEK HE'S FORGOTTEN TO WIND HIS WATCH

FLASH GORDON

by MAC RABOY

AND NOW, DEAR FRIENDS, THE MARRIAGE OF THE TENTH DUKE OF NAPLES TO THE GRACIOUS SIGNORINA INGRID OF STOCKHOLM... IS ABOUT TO COMMENCE!

WHAT'S KEEPING FLASH? PERHAPS I DID NOT SUCCEED IN REVIVING HIM?!

AS DUKE LORENZO LEADS HIS RELUCTANT BRIDE DOWN THE AISLE, A WSC TASK FORCE SILENTLY INFILTRATES THE CASTLE....

AND... SORRY TO BREAK IN-- RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE OF A WEDDING CEREMONY, FOLKS....

WE--WE'RE SURROUNDED!

...BUT WE HAVE ORDERS TO TAKE YOU IN, DUKE LORENZO --- AND TO SHUT DOWN YOUR LITTLE SLAVE WORLD!

I AM LEAVING MY CASTLE ALIVE ...AND FREE...

SHOOT HIM! SHOOT THE SWINE DOWN!

OKAY... GIVE HIM A WIDE BERTH! HE WON'T GET FAR!

I MEAN IT... EITHER I AM ALLOWED TO LEAVE ALIVE... OR SHE DOESN'T!

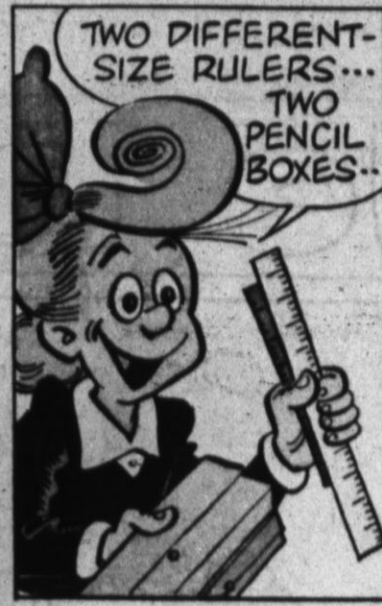

THROUGH THAT DOORWAY, MY PET--- WE SHALL TEST YOUR PILOTING TALENTS!

SWINE! NEVER!
