President May Intervene In Longshoremen's Walkout

NEW YORK (AP)—The Port Authority of New York and New Jersey has asked President Carter to intervene personally to end the 13-day-old strike by 50,000 East and Gulf coast dockworkers before the walkout wrecks the progress the country has made toward economic recovery.

The request was telegraphed to the White House Wednesday evening by Alan Sagner, chairman of the authority, as some 90 ships carrying "containerized" cargo lay strikebound on three coasts.

The ships are stranded because Atlantic and Gulf Coast members of the International Longshoremen's Association-ILA are refusing to unload cargo that is sealed and shipped in truck-sized steel vans. The vans have eliminated much of

Cropdusters To Blitz Rally

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Hereford's American Agriculture movement activities in conjunction with a massive farm strike rally to be held in Amarillo tomorrow got another shot in the arm today as a spokesman for a local aerial spraying firm reported that cropdusters from the Magic Triangle area of Deaf Smith, Parmer and Castro counties will stage a flyover at the rally meeting at the Tri-State Fairgrounds.

Ray Frye of American Dusting Co. of Hereford reported that he had obtained clearance from the FAA for the flyover, and that 10-20 planes from the Hereford-Friona Dimmitt area would be taking part in the flyover.

"Our clearance will allow us to fly over at 1,000 feet," said Frye. "We would have liked to fly over at a lower altitude, but a waiver would have been required for that and we just didn't have time to get one," he added.

Frye emphasized that the flyover is an indication of support for the American Agriculture farm strike movement on the part of one of the major agriculture-related businesses of the Magic Triangle area.

"We are still tying down the final details on this thing at this time," said Frye. "I'm sure we'll have at least 10 planes, and I hope we'll have 20. There would be more planes from the Hereford area but a couple of the local boys are engaged in boll weevil spraying in south Texas and couldn't make it back," he explained.

According to Frye, the planes will fly over the Tri-State Fairgrounds shortly after the arrival of the strike rally tractor caravan at the site.

"We'll be flying over to Amarillo in single file. We'll make one pass over the fairgrounds, do a 180 turn and probably make another pass over the fairgrounds, pass in an indication of support for the American Agriculture cause," Frye indicated.

Frye was attempting to enlist additional planes for the flyover at Brand presstime this morning.

While the farmer strike movement obtained air support, local farmers are finalizing their plans for strike rally participation tomorrow.

As many as 30-50 tractors from the Hereford area will be part of a caravan which will roll into Amarillo.

Farmers from the immediate Hereford area will stage their caravan at the Bull Barn and will depart for Canyon at 9 a.m.

"They will be joined by tractors from the Dawn and Umbarger areas en route."

Another tractor caravan with machines from northern Deaf Smith County and the Vega area will take a northern route, proceeding to Bushland.

The Hereford caravan will proceed to an area west of Canyon to join with a caravan from the Canyon area, and yet another caravan which will stage south of Canyon will join the group on the final leg of the journey to Amarillo.

Deaf Smith County Sheriff Travis McPherson urges all farmers placing tractors in the caravan to have their SMV emblems in place. The sheriff's department will provide an escort for the Hereford caravan.

Tractors from throughout the Panhandle area will gather at the parking lot of the Amarillo Civic Center and will parade down Polk Street on the way to the fairgrounds.

A strike meeting will be held at the fair grounds coliseum at 2 p.m. The coliseum seats 6,000 but area farmers are hoping

Building Permits Sink To Low in September

After getting off to a rousing start the first half of the year, new construction in Hereford has slowed the past few months. However, the nine-month total shows a healthy total of more than $4 million.

Building permits issued at city hall during the month of September totalled only $210,350—which was the lowest monthly total of 1977. Permits in August amounted to $302,300.

Even with a lackluster performance the rest of the year, the new construction total for 1977 will rate as one of the better years in the past decade. The city recorded a record-breaking total in 1976 when permits amounted to $7,473,850. New construction rose just above the $5 million mark in 1970 and 1965.

Permits for the first six months of this year totalled $3,463,280 and the nine-month amount has climbed to $4,305,680. That figure is already larger than the yearly totals for 7 of the past 10 years.

Only 17 permits were issued in September, and five new residential starts accounted for most of the total. The permits issued included:

Marie Griffin, residence, $24,000; Bill Brooks, residence, $45,000; Tom

Hereford Residents Eating Out More

Hereford residents are eating out more than ever, according to a recent survey.

The changing pattern shows up in a national comparison of current expenditures with figures of 15 years ago. Last year, the figures indicate, the total spent for outside eating amounted to $2,368,000 more than was spent 15 years ago. In good part, this was due to inflation.

The findings are from the copyrighted "Survey of Buying Power," released by Sales and Marketing Management.

The publication says that "rising personal income, a dramatic surge in the number of working wives, greater accessibility of restaurants, the proliferation of fast-food outlets, increased popularity of vacation trips, even the high prices of food at the supermarket—these are some of the factors making more Americans do more of their eating away from home."

In Deaf Smith County, the survey indicates, the total spent in the past year in eating and drinking places was more than $2,971,000. That was well above the 1961 figure of $603,000.

Related to the local population, it represented an outlay of $520 per household. Fifteen years earlier the figure was $160 per household.

The increase, 225 percent, compares with a rise of 149 percent in the United States and with 221 percent in the West South Central States.

Changing lifestyles have been chiefly responsible for the shift to eating out, according to the Labor Department.

It notes that the great majority of American families no longer consist of a husband who is the only bread-winner, a wife who is solely a homemaker and two or more children.

Today, the Labor Department finds, half of all households are made up of single men and women or married couples without children. And, in the households of married couples, half of the wives go to work.

As a result, people eat out more often. At the present time, $1.00 out of every $3.00 spent for food is going to restaurants. Ten years ago, $1.00 of every $5 went that way.

Phenomenon Viewed

Although experts warned against viewing the event because of possible eye damage that might occur, Hereford residents had the opportunity Wednesday afternoon of witnessing a partial solar eclipse. Air Bags Necessary Claims Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, refusing to overrule the Transportation Department, has opened the way for mandatory air bags or other passive restraints in all new cars by the 1984 model year.

Votes Wednesday in the Senate and in the House Commerce Committee mean the safety devices will be required for some cars as early as the 1981 model year.

The Senate, 65-31, and the House panel, 16-14, voted to block any congressional attempt to overrule last June's decision by Transportation Secretary Brock Adams making the devices mandatory.

Both houses of Congress would have had to act by Friday to prevent the new policy from becoming law.

President Attacks Oil, Gas Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter said today the oil and gas companies are trying to become the war profiteers of the energy crisis, and warned that the nation faces the danger of "the biggest ripoff in history."

Carter keynoted his new campaign for his embattled energy program with a head-on attack on the industry, saying the administration plan would provide enormous profits "but the oil companies apparently want it all."

Carter told a nationally-broadcast news conference that he intends to devote "most of my time in the next few weeks" to reassembling the administration energy plan, virtually dismantled by the Senate.

He recalled that in proposing the plan initially, he had described the energy crisis as the moral equivalent of war. "I haven't changed my mind," he said. "In fact, the seriousness of the energy crisis is even more acute than it was then."

"But as is the case in time of war, there is potential war profiteering in the energy crisis," he said. "This could develop as the biggest ripoff in history."

Americans Win Medicine Prizes

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Three Americans won Nobel prizes for medicine today, bringing to five the Nobels awarded this year to U.S. citizens.

Dr. Roger Guillemin, 53, of the Salk Institute in San Diego, Calif., and Dr. Andrew Schally, 50, of the Veterans Administration hospital in New Orleans, La., share one half of the $145,000 prize for their discoveries on peptide hormone production.

The other half went to Dr. Rosalyn Yalow, 56, of the Veterans Administration hospital in the Bronx, New York City, for discoveries concerning peptide production of the brain.

Two Americans and a Briton shared the Nobel prize for physics awarded Tuesday. The Americans were John H. Van Vleck, 78, of Harvard University and his former student, Philip Anderson, 55, of Princeton University and Bell Laboratories. The third recipient was Sir Nevill F. Mott, 72, of Cambridge University in England.

Defense Finished In Robinson Trial

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorneys in the seven-week trial of a $7.6 million wrongful death civil damage suit against oil millionaire Ash Robinson were to confer today to write the charges the seven-man, five-woman jury must answer.

State District Judge Arthur Lester scheduled final arguments for Friday morning.

The defense rested its case Wednesday after Robinson, 79, completed his testimony.

The legal action was filed by the survivors of Dr. John Hill, a plastic surgeon who was shot to death at his fashionable River Oaks home in 1972.

Robert Hill, 17, Connie Hill, 37, and Myra Hill, 75, the son, widow and mother of the slain doctor allege in the legal action that Robinson arranged Hill's death to avenge the death of Robinson's daughter, Joan Robinson Hill. She was Hill's first wife and Robinson's mother.

Police Report

Continental Grain Co., 101 S. Lee, told Hereford police Wednesday morning that somebody stole 300 bushels of corn, about 1,800 pounds, sometime during the night or early morning.

Entrance to the elevator was gained by using a truck according to police. Several bare footprints were found inside the elevator.

The city water department reported the theft of a Weed Eater two-cycle power mower, a hedge trimmer and two tires from the city warehouse on New York St.

Entrance was gained by using screw drivers and pliers, according to police.

Space Shuttle Touches Down

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — In its most realistic test and fastest flight to date, the Space Shuttle Enterprise landed safely today after a diving descent simulating a return from space.

Flying for the first time without a streamlined tailcone used in the three previous flights to extend its gliding range, the Shuttle dropped more steeply and swiftly, touching down only 2½ minutes after separating from the 747 jet that bore it aloft.

Minus the tailcone, the Shuttle was about 30 feet shorter with a blunt, instead of pointed, rear end.

This made the bulky space transport craft less buoyant and also caused the carrier to strain and shake while taking the Enterprise to launch altitude.

The added drag during the climb over the desert caused the separation to be delayed by minutes while the 747 struggled higher.

After casting free of the mother ship, the Shuttle was guided by astronauts Joe Engle, 45, and Richard Truly, 39, through a few quick maneuvers before touching down on a dry lake bed at about 250 miles per hour, somewhat faster than previous landings.

Unlike the previous flights, today's glide, carried live on national television, was so short that the Shuttle was unable to make a leisurely U-turn and many test maneuvers before landing.

Instead, it nosed down at a steep angle and made a nearly straight-in approach with little time for tests of guidance control systems.

Immediately after separation, Engle and Truly were told from the ground they were some 1,500 feet higher than planned on the course.

The pilots then opened the speed brake, a pair of hinged flaps on the Shuttle's tail which slowed it and dropped it to the desired position.

On landing, the crewmen applied brakes hard and stopped the rolling Shuttle within about 5,000 feet. NASA officials said this would make it possible for the next and final test flight to end with a landing on a concrete runway here rather than the sun-baked dry lake bed.

The successful powerless descent of the Shuttle, at speeds of up to 330 miles per hour, in its final form apparently demonstrated the feasibility of returning men and cargo from earth orbit flights in an airplane-style landing.

All previous U.S. manned space flights ended with costly and complex ocean splash-downs.

The Shuttle will be launched vertically by means of a main rocket engine and additional booster rockets, but will depend entirely on its momentum and gliding ability to return from orbit.

The most uncertain part of today's mission was the 747's struggling climb toward separation altitude, with the less-streamlined Shuttle causing rough shaking of the Boeing's tail.

The voices of the crewmen of both craft could be heard trembling in radio broadcasts as they were jostled about. In addition, the modified horizontal tail surfaces of the 747 could be seen bouncing and wavering, but the turbulence was no worse than expected and did not prevent any flight objectives from being reached.

Following one more test next month, the Shuttle will be taken to Huntsville, Ala., for ground tests.

WITH COOL WEATHER finally arriving it's the time of the year when many folks will be buying some firewood. And, this is an area where some folks get stung when they're buying. Most of us don't know much about firewood, so it pays to buy from someone you know will give fair and honest measure. You'll find several local people listed in the classified pages of this newspaper who sell firewood in Hereford.

The Better Business Bureau reminds us that a cord of wood is a pile 4 feet by 8 feet. We've often heard of a "rick" of wood, but according to the dictionary, the legal definition of a rick is merely "a pile of wood."

AND, SPEAKING of getting stung, we throw away many classified ad orders which come in the mail because we don't want to be a party to getting our readers swindled. Sometimes a classified ad slips by but we don't plan for these schemes to find a place in this newspaper.

There are classified ads from out of town which are legitimate and which are probably not worth answering, but we leave that up to the reader who is, no doubt, as smart about these schemes as we are.

One example which we've run across is the ad promising a return of some $250 per thousand for stuffing envelopes at home. Commercial printing plants charge about $10 to $60 per thousand, so it doesn't make much sense that anyone would pay $250 for the same job. The catch on most of these work-at-home schemes is that you have to send in $10 or so for your materials and information. This is the money-making end of the proposition.

Dock Strike

expanded strike nationwide to completely paralyze the shipping industry until the ILA gets what it wants - increased job protection for dock workers.

ILA leaders believe federal intervention would merely delay an expanded dock strike.

In his message, Sagner told Carter that the strike against containerized cargo ships, including those carrying trailer trucks and loaded barges, involved issues "so complex as to cast doubt on the ability of the parties to come to any resolution quickly."

Sagner asserted that New York is "the premier container port of the U.S. and serves as the anchor for the economic well-being of the Northeast in international trade."

"I implore you to take a personal hand ... to get the ports back to work and avoid a most serious economic blow to the eastern half of the country, particularly the hard-hit Northeast," he told Carter.

Wayne L. Horwitz, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, maintained contact by telephone with Thomas W. "Teddy" Gleason, president of the ILA, and with chief shipping industry negotiator, James J. Dickman.

However, there appeared to be no prospect for an agreement as the various port managements resisted pressure to join in guaranteeing pay and benefits for longshoremen left jobless or whose jobs have been threatened by automation.

Meanwhile, Arthur C. Rutzen, district director here of the Domestic and International Business Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce, saw a likely worsening of the record balance of payments deficit, already projected at $25-$30 billion, because of continuing oil imports coinciding with a halt in exports.

In addition, Rutzen estimated that business losses from the strike "could run into billions of dollars."

Freight forwarder James Evans, suddenly jobless in Manhattan, said over 200,000 along the east Coast were besieging unemployment offices as the dock strike surbed export production and visited disaster on shipping firms and trucking companies serving the waterfront.

The Port Authority estimated 400,000 jobs in this port along were vulnerable in a shipping strike after a busy summer of stockpiling goods for Christmas, from electronic appliances to Scotch whisky.

The dock strike has greatly benefited international air carriers, including Seaboard World Airlines which developed a special 20-foot container for air freight.

The airlines are carrying capacity loads and adding extra flights to enable merchandise to reach stores ahead of the Christmas season. Airline spokesmen say transoceanic flights are fully loaded with high-cost, light and compact goods.

United Cargo Corp., which employs only ILA members to consolidate or unpack and sort multiple cargoes moved in a single container, reported business was fine. The 200 or so containers it normally has in transit at any one time were removed from ships and piers before the strike began Oct. 1, Isaac Charcat, president of the firm, said shipments were continuing without trouble, using routes he declined to reveal.

"I guess," Kaplan ventured, "he's the guy who decides what goes on. A lot of them never show up, they just handle financial arrangements and take the title."

Pathologist Says No Drugs in Farr

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — A Fort Worth pathologist testified Wednesday at the Cullen Davis murder trial he found no evidence of drugs and only a trace of alcohol in the "voluminous" bullet-riddled body of Stan Farr.

He said the bullet that killed Davis' young stepdaughter penetrated the main body artery and she most likely died in "a very short time."

Dr. Felix Gwordz, a Fort Worth medical examiner, performed the autopsies last year on the two victims of a midnight shooting spree at Davis' hilltop Fort Worth mansion.

Davis, 44, is on trial for his role in the Aug. 2, 1976 slaying of Andrea Wilborn, 12.

Farr, 30, was gunned down after he and the millionaire defendant's estranged wife, Priscilla, returned to the mansion which they shared at the time of the shootings.

Mrs. Davis, 36, and Gus Gavrel, 22, were wounded in the gunfire. Both have identified Davis as the "man in black" who fired the near fatal shots.

Gwordz, a native of Poland who speaks in a distinct Slavic accent, pointed out on a schematic drawing the entrance and exit wounds that killed Farr and Miss Wilborn. He said the girl died of shock and massive bleeding.

He told the jury Farr was struck by four bullets, two of which he removed from Farr's body and identified Wednesday for the jury.

He said Farr died of "massive bleeding into his abdomen and chest due to a gunshot wound in the chest and terminal massive aspiration of vomituous material ... into his larynx."

In response to a defense question, the witness said, "I recognized the projectiles because it took me a lot of time to get them."

He described Farr's body as "rather voluminous" and said the victim was 6-10 and weighed an estimated 290 to 295 pounds.

Gwordz testified that Farr was struck twice by bullets in the left chest and thigh, once in the right chest and once in the back. There were two exit wounds, including one in the neck.

The wounds and the projection of the bullets were consistent with the eyewitness account of the shooting that Mrs. Davis provided jurors nearly two months ago.

The Fort Worth socialite said the gunman's first bullet penetrated a door before hitting Farr, and that the two men struggled briefly before the assailant got off a second shot. She said her lover was lying on her side, looking at her and making strange gurgling noises when the man in black fired two more bullets into his body.

Kaplan To Be Host

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Come Sunday, Oct. 23, the star of ABC's "Welcome Back, Kotter" will "battle NBC's 'Big Event'" with an ABC special called "Gabriel Kaplan Presents the Small Event."

It's his first special. And it's the first time he's been executive producer of one. He was asked what an executive producer does.

"I guess," Kaplan ventured, "he's the guy who decides what goes on. A lot of them never show up, they just handle financial arrangements and take the title."

"They say, 'Producer, you produce it, director, you direct it, and if it makes money I take the money.'"

If it bombs, he suggested, custom calls for the executive producer to blame everyone, then blow town. But he vowed not to do this.

"The most important thing about this is to really sink or swim on my own," Kaplan said. "The type of humor I think is funny is the type of stuff I'll be doing."

"I'll take the whole responsibility," The Brooklyn-born comic, a soft-spoken, thoughtful guy who sprang to fame in 1973 on NBC's "Tonight" with a mild geriatric spoof of "The Dating Game," said he'll spoof specials on his first special.

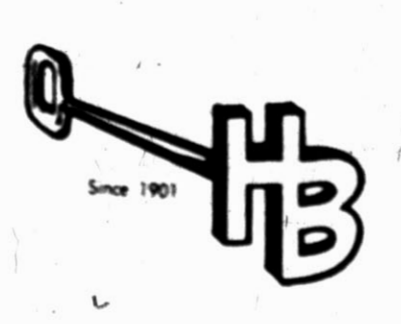

For example, he said, he'll have a sports special, "The Battle of Celebrity Relatives," pitting Robert Conrad's smug against Penny Marshall's mother. He'll cover the event as Howard Cosell's father.

There also will be a celebrity "roast" of sorts. But in this one, Kaplan said, "they've run out of celebrities to roast, so they're roasting the head of some obscure Eastern religious cult ..."

Of special interest will be a one-man special dramatizing the words of a great former president, Millard Fillmore.

Kaplan, who spoke of all this by phone from Las Vegas, where he's working by night at the Frontier Hotel and commuting to "Kotter" by day, said his special even spoofs network

Bulldogs Three TD Favorite Over HHS

By Bob Nigh
Brand Sports Editor
The Plainview Bulldogs are a whopping 18-point favorite to beat the Hereford Whitefaces in the two teams' district opener this Friday night according to the latest Harris Poll.

Plainview comes into the contest with a 3-2 record after taking the week off last week, and are ranked 68th among the state's biggest schools this week by the poll. Plainview's 144.5 power rating is far above the Herd's 126.2 mark, which puts the Whitefaces in 194th position in Class 4A this week.

The Bulldogs are considered by many the only team in the district to have a chance to challenge favorite Monterey for the league title this season. They rolled to a 23-7 win over the 'Faces last year at their Homecoming, but were shackled with a 44-7 loss the last time they invaded Whiteface Field.

In the other district matchup Coronado is a nine-point nod over Lubbock High. The Mustangs have a 137.6 power rating this week to the Westerners' 128.2. Monterey is open this week as they watch the rest of the loop fight it out on the opening weekend of league play.

In class 3A Borger is a five-point favorite to sideline the Canyon Eagles, 7-0 winners over Palo Duro last week. Borger dropped it's first game of the season last week in a 14-7 thriller to Tascosa. The Rebels are ranked a touchdown favorite to knock off Palo Duro this week as the two teams open up district play in District 3-4A.

Contest Winners Changed

An altered list of winners in last week's Brand Football Contest has been released by the Brand's advertising department after a mix up in grading the entries last week arose.

Winners after correcting the error were Curt McNaney, 1st; Gwen Bryant of Dimmitt, 2nd; and Mike Brorman, 3rd.

The confusion arose after two games appeared in the same box last week (Colo. St.-Utah and Pitt-Florida). Standard grading had found McNaney, Brorman, and Sheila Brannon the top three entrants, but the listing of two games in the same box necessitated throwing that game out, and the difference in that one game moved Bryant to second place, and dropped Brorman to third.

The seventh week of the contest appeared in Tuesday's issue. All entries are due at the Brand office by 5 p.m. Friday to be eligible. Mail entries must be postmarked by the same time.

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
NEW YORK (AP) - Return with us now to those thrilling days of yesteryear when they were hollering "Soocy, Pig" for Frank Broyles at Arkansas and when Darrell Royal at Texas liked to "dance with who bring us."

Actually, that was as recently as last year. But a funny thing happened. Royal and Broyles decided to announce their retirements at the same time and it just so happened that ABC-TV decided to air the game as the regular-season finale.

The tears and the memories were flowing like beer as Darrell went out with a 29-12 whipping of his old/golfing buddy.

Well, Texas and Arkansas tangle again Saturday in Fayetteville, Ark., but this time Darrell and Frank will be upstairs in the cheap seats as the respective athletic directors.

Marching the sidelines for Arkansas will be Lou Holtz, the noted amateur magician whose sleight-of-hand tricks flopped with the New York Jets. On the Texas side will be Fred Akers, who mostly just wins football games.

ABC again is showing this game nationally but this time

Netters Claim Second Victory

The Hereford High School boys' tennis team upped it's Fall record to 2-0 with a 9-0 swamping of the Clovis Wildcats Tuesday afternoon at the HHS courts. The Herd boys not only are unbeaten teamwise, but have also not lost a match along the way in going 18-0.

The scores were somewhat closer this time around, however, than when the HHS teams beat Dimmitt last week. Three matches went to split sets before Herd players won out.

Scott Formby played to a 6-2, 5-7, 6-2 decision over Rudden of Clovis while Bill Bayne went three sets in defeating Hussey 6-7, 6-1, 6-4 in singles play. The

Evans, Watts Fight It Out

Pat Evans and Jettie Watts battled each other all the way in the Monday night Strikettes women's bowling league this week-with the former finally posting the high series after Watts registered the high game.

Evans topped all three-game series with a 565 score, ahead of Watts' 524 and Chris Ivy's 520. Watts turned the table on Evans in the single-game category, however, carding a 235 to Evans' 225. Lois Jones had the third-best game with a 198. That effort earned Jones Star of the Week honor.

Shirley Peterson of the Honda Hawks was alone in picking up two splits on the night (5-7, 5-10), while solo efforts came by Bertie Pope and Glenda Hansen because of the records - both teams are 4-0 - rather than the coaches.

Show the Longhorns the old Indian rope trick. Lou... Arkansas 21-20.

That choice pick comes to you straight from the same corner who thrilled you last week with a record of 45 right, 25 wrong and two ties for a .643 percentage. For the season, it's 256-100-7 .719. Only the fact that two of the three Upset Specials - Washington State over California and Dartmouth over Yale - came through prevented the week from being a complete embarrassment.

Wisconsin at Michigan: Wisconsin is 5-0 for the first time since 1921. The gag is that Wisconsin has been undefeated, untied and unimpressive. Scratch undefeated... Michigan 28-14.

Kentucky at Louisiana State: Not much to choose between these two Southeastern Conference contenders - actually Kentucky is on probation - so let's go with the home team... LSU 24-17.

Tennessee at Alabama: Way back at the Sugar Bowl last Jan.

Trevino Goes After Caviar Money Today

By MILLER BONNER
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - Now that he's got his "betr money," Lee Trevino says he'll be in the market for caviar today as the $150,000 Texas Oak Hills Country Club course.

Trevino, whose golfing abilities were threatened by back surgery last year, proved his game is still potent in his followers at Wednesday's Texas Open Pro-Am by collecting six birdies enroute to a 3-under-par 67.

"The pro-ams are just for beer money, though," said the smiling Super Mex after earning $587.50 for his efforts.

"If you score well, then you get a little beer money but pro-ams are team events. There for the guys who put up the money to play in them. I made three boogies today because I wasn't concentrating like I will be tomorrow."

Trevino is but one of several golfing stars on hand for the 51st Texas Open, the oldest PGA event played in the Lone Star State.

Defending champion Butch Baird, who clipped veteran Miller Barber for last year's title in a sudden-death playoff, is on hand along with Barber, who fired a 66 in Wednesday's pro-am.

Barber, who won the Anheuser-Busch two tourney two weeks ago, shared top honors Wednesday with long-hitting Jim Dent and reigning Greater Hartford Open champ Bill Kratzert. Each man collected $625 for their day's work.

Texan Bruce Lietzke, one of 38 native sons entered in the Texas Open, leads the list of this year's top money winners entered. Lietzke, a two-time winner on the tour this season,

Economy, Recession Puzzle Experts

NEW YORK (AP) - There are at least two sides to every story, as is very obvious in tracking the trail of the snail, as the economy is sometimes referred to. Especially when the two sides seem to come from the same source.

Is the economy growing stronger or getting weaker? Take your choice.

That pledge of a balanced budget, low unemployment and low inflation - a very stury economy, that is - has never been officially withdrawn by the Carter people ever since it was first made during the pre-election campaign.

But Charles Schultze, the President's chief economic adviser, and Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal are saying a tax cut might be needed next year to spur a slowing economy.

Will there be a recession? Beginning a few months ago the word has been appearing in almost every stock market report and economic analysis. Some discount the notion, but the general feeling left is that, yes, something is coming by both land and sea.

Merrill Lynch Economics Inc., however, sees little reason to call out the militia. "In our judgment ... a recession just isn't in the cards," it says, and goes right on to confuse us about another two-sided issue.

Isn't Business Week Magazine lamenting in its cover story this week about the "distressing" level of capital investing, which as you probably know is investment by industry in plant and equipment? yes it is.

But Merrill Lynch maintains "we have fresh evidence that capital spending will move forward at a rapid clip in the months ahead and in 1978."

The latest survey, it says, indicates a strong picture.

Turning to the stock market, which is the opposite direction being assumed by many individual investors, we spot two opposing views on the current valuation of stocks.

Says Data Resources Inc., a widely used numbers factory run by former White House economist Otto Eckstein in Lexington, Mass.:

As of Oct. 1, prices of stocks are "overvalued." Well, not all, but three-quarters of the 81 groups studied were so termed in relation to this year's anticipated earnings.

And John Wright, professional investor, adviser to bank trust departments, and president of Wright Investors Service, Bridgeport, Conn.:

"It is inescapable that on any basic which takes into account historic value relationships during peace and war, prosperity and recession, stock prices are today severely undervalued."

Unemployment? Depends on how you look at it.

At 6.9 percent of the civilian labor force, for example, the jobless rate is historically high. Yes, but it's slowly coming down. In 1975 it was 8.5 percent, and last year was still up around 7.7 percent.

Okay, but too many people unemployed. True, but we've also got more jobs than ever in history.

"The remarkable thing about this whole economic recovery has been the tremendous number of new jobs we've been creating - some three million a year," said Julius Sheskin, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

It's a different story also if you are black rather than white or white rather than black. Black joblessness in September was 13.1 percent, down from 14.5 percent in August.

Philadelphia Learned Lesson In Portland

The Philadelphia 76ers were beaten by the Portland Trail Blazers in the National Basketball Association playoff finals last year, but it wasn't a total loss.

"We will be better off this season because of having lost to Portland," suggested Julius Erving. His runningmate at forward, George McGinnis, added, "We learned a lesson in Portland."

That lesson was that there is no replacement for teamwork, cohesion and plain old hard work. McGinnis, for one, is living down his reputation for loafing through practices. He reported 15 pounds lighter than last year and has been working as hard as anyone.

Atlantic Division
Erving missed most of the exhibition schedule after colliding with muscular reserve center Darryl Dawkins, but should be ready for next week's start of the regular season.

McGinnis has learned to adjust to having another superstar on the team, and his improved attitude toward practice should make Coach Gene Shue's job a bit easier. Caldwell Jones and Dawkins will share the center spot, while the backcourt will have Doug Collins and Henry Bibby backed up by mercurial Lloyd Free.

The Knicks' new coach, Willis Reed, has been stressing defensive fundamentals and a running offense. Rugged Lonnie Shelton has been installed at center, with high-scoring Bob McCoo moving to forward.

The other forward, Spencer Haywood, is trying to come back from serious leg injuries.

Boston's front-line players are fine, but depth is a problem. John Havlicek will be 38 years old by the time the season ends, which is too old to be playing 40 minutes a game. Veteran Dave Bing has been picked up to help out behind guards Jo Jo White and Charlie Scott and rookie Cedric "Cornbread" Maxwell is being counted on at forward.

New owner John Y. Brown has revamped Buffalo, getting center Swen Nater, high-scoring forward Billy Knight and explosive guard Nate Archibald to go along with team captain Randy Smith in a dynamic offense.

Central Division
"We feel we have the right combination of youth and experience," says Washington Coach Dick Mota, and he may be right.

Motta is particularly high on rookie forward Greg Ballard of Oregon, who joins veterans Elvin Hayes and Wes Unseld, second-year man Mitch Kupchak and free agent Bobby Dandridge in a fine frontcourt.

Backcourt star Phil Chenier has missed the exhibition season because of a pulled muscle in his back that hasn't responded. When he comes around, he'll join Tom Henderson, Larry Wright, swingman Kevin Grevey and rookie surprise Phil Walker at guard.

Houston climbed to the top of the division behind new Coach Tom Nissalke and two new stars, Moses Malone and John Lucas. The Rockets stood pat since last year, hoping for improvement from the players already on its roster particularly Malone, whom Nissalke feels will be one of the game's dominant big men for years to come.

Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch is hoping Frazier, the Knicks' all-time scoring and assist leader, will provide the leadership the Cavs have lacked in the past. Centers Jim Chones and Elmore Smith, forwards Campy Russell and Jim Brewer and guard Austin Carr provide a strong nucleus.

Injuries have cost San Antonio guards James Silas and George Karl, leaving All Star

George Gervin and defensive star Mike Gale. Larry Kenon is one of the best forwards in the league and Billy Paultz is a capable center, but a lack of depth and defense will hurt.

Pete Maravich of New Orleans, the NBA scoring king, will have some help in the form of forward Truck Robinson.

Shepard Claims UH Railroaded By NCAA

HOUSTON (AP) - University of Houston freshman quarterback Darrell Shepard refuses to name names but he says he was offered a lot "under the table" by some schools.

The former Odessa High school standout said Houston was not among them and that UH "has never given me anything."

He said UH was the victim of "a railroad job" in being assessed a one-year probation by the National Collegiate Athletic Association NCAA in connection with alleged recruiting violations in signing him.

"I know today that I haven't done anything wrong," Shepard said. "And the University of Houston has never given me anything. But I was offered a lot-and I mean a lot-under the table by some other schools."

"I was offered cars and money, mostly by alumni of schools. But one coach made an offer that was under the table."

He said if it were up to him he would elaborate but UH Coach Bill Yeoman had told him not to say anything about any other schools.

"He feels it wouldn't do any good," Shepard said.

In addition to Houston Shepard visited SMU, Baylor, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas.

Shepard admitted he did say yes to Texas but changed his mind after visiting Houston. He said he feels some animosity toward Texas.

"They're trying to make me ineligible just because I didn't go to school there," he said.

He said the NCAA investigators visited his home about three times during the summer and that each visit was about

'Animals' Scare Dodgers Players

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) - "These people are animals," Mike Garman, relief pitcher of the Los Angeles Dodgers, said of the unruly Yankee Stadium crowd after the Dodgers had leveled the World Series at a game apiece with a 6-1 victory over the New York Yankees Wednesday night.

"I hope we can win the next three so I won't have to come back to this place. We're sitting ducks out there. I'll tell you the truth - I was scared to death," Garman added.

The game came close to turning into a fan uprising in the latter innings with a half-dozen spectators at various times running onto the field and being chased by security officers.

A smoke bomb, which trailed streams of green smoke, was tossed into right-center field near the 385-foot mark, obscuring outfielders from the crowd of 56,691.

Outfielder Reggie Smith of the Dodgers was struck on the head by a hard rubber ball as three hours long.

"They asked the same questions on every visit. I got the impression on their last visit that they weren't going to make a big deal out of what happened," he said. "It (the probation) was a surprise to me and my family. I thought the whole thing was over."

Explosive Dodgers Even Series

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - It was an explosive combination that should protect New York City from power blackouts for a long time.

Catfish Hunter, a home run pitcher, was throwing big, hanging baseballs to the Los Angeles Dodgers, home run hitters, and the results were predictably powerful - particularly since Hunter hadn't pitched since Sept. 10.

The Dodgers walloped four homers, three off Hunter in the first 21-3 innings, and blasted the New York Yankees 6-1 Wednesday night, evening the 1977 World Series at one game apiece.

The ninth matchup of these historic baseball rivals now shifts across the country to Los Angeles for Game 3 Friday night, with Dodger left-hander Tommy John, a 20-game

MRS. TOM BURDETT
 ...With Bliss, Dorie and Shannon

Let's Cook

Young Mother Of Three Enjoys Active Homelife

By DIANNE BANNER
 Brand Staff Writer

"I'm a homebody" Mrs. Tom Burdett, 312 Douglas, commented as her 10-month-old daughter, Dorie, scurried about her and 7 1/2-year-old sister Bliss followed closely behind acting as babysitter.

"My children are a blessing, we enjoy each other so much." A mother of three, Mrs. Burdett often has her "hands full." Her 5 1/2-year-old son Shannon is full of energy and is a real football player. He attends the First Baptist Church Kindergarten.

Bliss is a second grader at Northwest Elementary and is "quite a helper". The blond-haired, blue-eyed daughter wakes up early and starts breakfast by preparing the scrambled eggs. She is currently taking dancing lessons from Lewis Larrymore.

Dorie, who has been in the family only 10 months, creates excitement by "getting into everything." She is learning to walk. During The Brand interview she demonstrated her talent of turning off the television set.

The homemakers life is centered around her family. She stays busy pleasing the members and their pet dog, Sugar.

After she married, Carlie Burdett and her husband Tom attended college at University of Texas in Austin. He was studying to become a lawyer and her major was music.

The talented musician taught piano and studied voice. In her spare time, she composes and arranges music. One piece which she created for a ladies church retreat is in the process of preparation for copy right.

she started her daughter Bliss playing the piano at the age of four years and helps her when she needs assistance.

Another hobby that the active mother enjoys and shares with her daughter is sewing. She makes most of her children's clothes.

Bliss has been promised a sewing lesson on the machine after her next birthday.

Mrs. Burdett also spends time crocheting, working with ceramics, decorating her home, toile painting, needlepoint and making snacks for the family.

When asked if the clan had any special family projects, the homemaker admitted that they had a ranch in Central Texas which they enjoy visiting, and getting away from hectic life.

Tom has hopes of going up there (The ranch) and getting some deer hunting in, but the trip is a good excuse to go and see our parents, they live around that area," she added with a cheerful tone.

The Burdetts are members of Central Church of Christ where Tom is a deacon and teaches high school classes on Wednesday evenings.

He is an attorney associated with Thomas and Burdett Law Firm.

The industrious individual added that she was looking forward to taking flying lessons and someday getting a pilot's license.

The following recipe are meals which Mrs. Burdett originated herself:

CHICKEN AND NOODLES

Layer in a 9x12 buttered pan:
 1 pkg. scallop noodles
 1 chicken, cut up
 Salt and pepper to taste
 1 can cream of celery soup
 1 can cream of chicken (or mushroom) soup
 1 can of water
 Cover with foil, Bake at 350 degrees for 1 1/2 hours until chicken is well done. Check and add more water if needed.

Heat in 10 inch skillet:
 2 c. water
 2 t. Wyler's instant beef bouillon
 1/2 c. flour, mixed well with fork
 1/2 c. cook roast, cut in 1 inch pieces
 Optional:
 1/2 t. Worcestershire powder
 1 t. onion bits

Simmer and stir until gravy is thick and roast is tender. Serve over rice.

Janet Daniel and Rhon Stewart served refreshments to the following members: Jan Wishahaar, Linda Woodard, Jan Dudley, Kathy Haney, Leota Kelso and Mrs. Self.

Rural Homemaker's Day To Involve Area Women

The 15th Annual Rural Homemaker's Day sponsored by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce Women's Division will begin at 8:30 a.m., Thursday, Oct. 20, at the Villa Inn, Dinner Theatre, in Amarillo.

About 500 women from within a 250-mile radius of Amarillo are expected to attend the event, according to Mrs. Chuck (Lois) Gallimore. The event is designed for all presidents and council delegates of the home demonstration clubs in the Amarillo trade area.

Guest luncheon speaker will be Peter A. Dallas, vice president of the First National Bank of Amarillo. Dallas will discuss "The Credit World and Women." He was named credit department manager of the First National in 1965 and since 1966 has been loan officer in the FNB commercial loan department.

Dallas attended the University of Missouri receiving a bachelor of science degree in public administration and West Texas State University where he received his masters in business administration, emphasis on finance and economics.

In addition, Dallas attended American Institute of Banking courses in the principals of banking, negotiable insurance and installment credit. He also attended the Southwestern Graduate School of Banking, SMU. He has been active on many boards of directors in Amarillo.

Other activities scheduled for the Rural Homemakers Day include an informal fashion clinic by Robert Kalbfleisch of Sakowitz in Amarillo, according to Mrs. Norman (Carlene) Burk, who is coordinating the event. Becky Culp of the Potter County Home Demonstration Office will hold a pants fitting seminar entitled "fit or misfit." The luncheon will also feature a welcome by Mayor Jerry Hodge and Chamber President, Don H. Mason.

Agenda for the Rural Homemakers Day begins with registration, 8:30 a.m.; fashion clinic, 9:30 a.m.; coffee, 10:30 a.m.; pants fitting seminar, 11:15 a.m.; intermission; and luncheon, 12:30 p.m.

To separate cake and cakepan, rotate the pan so that weight is balanced on each side, says Foods and Nutrition Specialist Marilyn Haggard. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. "The cake will loosen by its own weight," Miss Haggard says.

C of C Women's Division Honors Mrs. McKinster

In citation of her involvement in the community, Irene McKinster was awarded the Torch Light honor Tuesday evening by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, who held their quarterly membership meeting at the Country Club.

In making the presentation, award chairman LaJean Henry recognized Mrs. McKinster's accomplishments as Marketing Director at Hereford State Bank. In this position, Mrs. McKinster assists individuals with their financial affairs through the bank's Special Organizational Service (SOS).

Mrs. McKinster was selected for the honor by a special committee composed of Mrs. Henry, Marlene Watson and Pat Clark. The Torch Light award is presented to a woman at each quarterly meeting of the Chamber women and recipients do not have to be members of the Women's Division.

Held in the Country Club's Halbert Room, the meeting was brought to order by Donna VanderZee, president of the Women's Division. The main item of business was the election of three new board members, including Mary Herring, Glenda Gerles and Janet Welty.

A welcome was extended to numerous local guests, as well as three out-of-town guests, Joyce Thompson and Jennie Blankenship, both of Tulia, and Mrs. William Erwin of Amarillo. Mrs. Thompson is president of her city's Chamber Women and Mrs. Blankenship is manager of Tulia's Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Erwin is the wife of the guest speaker for Tuesday's meeting.

Sharon Davis delivered the invocation. Program chairman Berta Ottesen introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Dr. William Erwin, psychology professor at West Texas State University. Dr. Erwin is in private practice as a psychologist and is a consultant to Amarillo Regional Mental Health Mental Retardation Center and Texas Rehabilitation Commission.

Dr. Erwin's subject was the broadening of social roles by women and men, who still feel pressures to conform to traditional identities. In his program, Dr. Erwin revealed that, as a psychologist, he sees a ratio of four female patients to three males. He stated that this rising number of women seeking a psychologist's aid is due to the fact that it is easier now for women to get counseling than in the past.

Dr. Erwin stated that domestic responsibilities, such as housework and caring for one's children, can put added pressure on women, who often find the need to share their feelings through counseling. Encouraging his audience to "be a little bit different," Dr. Erwin said that "being liberated is doing what you enjoy, whether it's salaried work or staying in the home."

Addressing the mothers present, Dr. Erwin advised them "to be a little bit selfish, taking time for yourselves." He continued, saying, "When your children are grown, you will still have yourself."

Dr. Erwin felt that, in most cases, a working mother should not return to her job until her child is 2 years old. However, he stressed that a mother's time spent with her child should be judged on quality rather than quantity. "In some cases, children benefit by being at a day care center," he opined.

Local Women Attend District Conference

Mrs. Eugene Hendon and Mrs. Walter L. Hardin, representing Hereford Aggie Mothers club, attended the District 10 meeting of Texas A&M University Mothers club Saturday in Amarillo. Mrs. Hendon is district chairman and Mrs. Hardin is club president.

Other representatives in attendance were delegates of the other clubs in District 10, including Lubbock, Canyon, Borger and Adrian.

Certificates of merit were awarded to the Hereford and Lubbock Aggie Mothers Club at Amarillo Garden Center. Mary McBride, Lubbock, historian of the Federation of A&M Mothers Club, spoke during the meeting. She related that more than $44,500 was donated by the Mothers clubs last year to help and encourage the University and its student body. The Federation is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year.

Hereford Aggie Mothers club will host the 1978 District 10 meeting and Mrs. Hardin was elected chairman of the District for next year.

The meeting was enhanced by a tour of the Texas A&M Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory and the Texas A&M Research and Development Center, which are extensions of the University's main headquarters at College Station.

Build approximately two years ago, the diagnostic lab is now staffed by four veterinarians and several technicians. There are plans to increase the personnel. Approximately 500 cases are handled monthly by the diagnostic lab.

Due to the large number of feedyards in the area, the A&M extension centers were established in the Panhandle in order to serve this region. New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Mrs. Gerald Hamby, chairman of the WoHeLo committee and Mrs. State Norvell, Camp Fire Field Director, held a WoHeLo Madallion Workshop at the Community Center.

This workshop was a special meeting for all 9th grade Horizon Club members and advisors. Each learned the requirements for obtaining the WoHeLo Madallion, which is the highest honor offered in the Camp Fire program. Every girl must attend a workshop before she comes eligible to start on her WoHeLo, which is a long range goal and must be completed by December of her Senior year.

Yearbooks Presented To Pioneer Members

Miss Roberta Campbell, yearbook chairman of Pioneer Study Club, presented the new program books to her fellow club members during a luncheon meeting Tuesday at Caison Steak House.

In her presentation, Miss Campbell explained the book's theme as "Passport to Dreams" and gave boarding passes to the members. She informed her audience that they would be traveling "first class on Flight No. 1977-78 to the lands of their dreams."

The first journey to be taken by the club was narrated by Mrs. Herman Ford, who described her trip to the British Isles. With British tapestries illustrating her program, Mrs. Ford talked about the many palaces and castles with Warwick Castle being the oldest and "most glorious."

Sidelights of the trip revealed by Mrs. Ford included the fact that the British refer to the subway as "the tube" and that tourists are not allowed to visit Buckingham Palace when the outside flag is at full mast, for this indicates that the Queen is present. Mrs. Ford supplied various brochures about the British Isles for her audience.

Mrs. W.C. Hromas presided during a routine business session. Mrs. H.E. Miller delivered the invocation and Mrs. Hromas led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance. The Salute to the Texas Flag was given by Bess Werner.

Mrs. Miller and C. Ora Cockrell were hostesses.

Party To Honor Mrs. Whitehead

Mrs. C.L. Whitehead, a pioneer resident of this community, will celebrate her 89th birthday Saturday in her daughter's home, 800 E. Third St. The party will be from 2-5 p.m.

Friends of Mrs. Whitehead's are invited to attend. Hostesses for the birthday celebration will be her daughters Madlynne Kelly and Mrs. Verdon Watts.

Birthday Party Given By Messenger HD Club

A birthday party and supper was given recently by the Messenger Home Demonstration Club honoring Elmer Northcutt, S.N. Thweatt, and Gean Bradley.

Gifts were presented to the three men and "42" was played. The group took part in other activities and casual conversation.

Guests present were Messrs. and Mmes. A.P. Hagan of Levelland, Coy Howard of Whiteharrell, Dub Anthony and Jack Clark all of Friona. Members present were the Jerry Northcutt and sons Kemp and Todd, Messrs. and Mmes. Bobby Hammock and daughter Jennifer, Bill Paige and children Leesa and Rod, Bob Molar and daughter Janie, Gene Bradley and sons Zay and Todd, Elmer Northcutt and S.N. Thweatt.

The Messenger HD Club will meet Friday morning at 9:30 a.m. in the Club house for an all day quilting party. Members are to bring their thimbles and a sack lunch.

On The Turnrow

By Jim Steiert
Brand Farm Editor

We have a policy here at The Brand concerning letters to the editor. In it, we emphasize that we do not run unsigned letters for the obvious reasons of character defamation and other important considerations.

I received a letter Wednesday afternoon from a local farm wife who chose to sign her letter only "A Deaf Smith County Farm Wife."

Although the item failed to qualify for our letters to the editor column due to the lack of a signature, it was a fine piece of food for thought and could not be dismissed simply on what was largely a technicality in this case.

A woman who had never written a letter to a publication before took the time to sit down and put together a six page handwritten letter voicing her fears, frustrations and misgivings about the treatment of our farmers in general and the desperate need for improvement on the farm front.

She made some good points, some points that I don't think any of us can give the least bit of consideration without realizing a drastic change is needed.

The farm wife is a very important part of American agriculture. She's a stalwart figure descended from the pioneer women who helped carve a lifestyle out of a harsh and rugged frontier.

The farm wife knows all of the inner trials and tribulations of this agricultural lifestyle.

When she gets worried to the point of casting aside any misgivings she has about putting her own writing in print, things are getting pretty serious, folks.

Such a woman deserves to be heard.

—And might I add that I'm proud to have this letter appearing under my column head.

Dear Editor,

I read with interest all of the articles related to farming in your Sunday paper. I am proud of the meeting on the farm strike which was held in Hereford Tuesday night, and I hope that related activities have a good attendance.

I think a farm strike might just work because the farmers that can afford to hold out may go along with it and it looks like the rest of us are going to be squeezed out anyway.

Can all of you Hereford people think or realize what a farm strike could or would do? Do you realize how many businesses or companies are directly affected by farming? Do you know that all implement houses, seed companies, irrigation well drillers, irrigation pump service and repair companies, underground pipe installation and repair companies, irrigation motor and sprinkler system businesses, crop insurance companies, pesticide and spray handling companies, crop spraying services, fertilizer companies, all custom farming and harvesting companies, all car dealers (pickups and trucks) depend on farmers for their continued survival?

Besides all of these companies and the people who work for them, think of all the people agriculture employs. We hire tremendous amounts of seasonal labor in addition to the steady farm hands we can no longer afford to employ if the farm strike is called.

Do you know that even if the farmers don't strike and barely hang on that you are going to be affected and your businesses will suffer because we have no money to trade with you or we cannot pay our bills?

One organizer of the American Agriculture movement says that the farmer is subsidizing the American people and he is right. We subsidize every person in America because they do not pay as much for food as it costs the farmer to grow it. (And who does not eat?)

Not only that, but we do so doubly when the government passes out food stamps to almost anyone who asks for them! I saw an article in the Sunday paper that states there is a new Food Stamp program underway and the USDA wants to find out how to make the program more responsive.

Of course you know who is going to pay for this! All of us, but mostly the farmer. This will all be charged to the agriculture program and everyone will be appalled at the amount apparently spent on the farm program. (This is besides the free lunch, breakfast and everything else program we are credited with.)

Another article in the paper mentioned that analysts were worried about the economic future of our country.

Anyone who has studied the history of the United States should be able to deduct the fact that every time the farmer has to suffer and do without, it is eventually going to work its way up and most will suffer. And if it keeps up, the end will be a depression.

If you are working somewhere on a comfortable salary and think these circumstances cannot affect you, you may be surprised when your company is not doing well enough to afford you.

There was a program that helped the farmer but got a lot of complaints from everyone else. It was the farm layout program.

The amount of money we received for laying out land helped farmers offset poor prices on their products—thus subsidizing every food purchaser so they did not have to pay the full cost for their food.

When that program expired and was dropped, grocery and supply costs went up sky high and all of the markets went crazy for a while.

That is when the government told the farmer to plant from fence to fence because the world needed the food.

When we did that, the Ford administration put an embargo on shipping grain to other countries—thus helping to create our present surplus.

Now I know a lot of town businesses and people say, "Oh, the farmer is always complaining and we are having it just as bad."

I also know that if you get a price increase from your supplier—you go up on your price and pass the increase along.

Also, if you have goods that don't sell, you don't reorder those goods.

But the farmer does not have anyone to pass his price increase on to and by the time he knows his product is not selling—he has invested a year's work.

My husband and I have farmed for about 25 years and we are on the verge of losing everything we have worked for (as far as material things) in all those years.

We are deeper in debt that we have ever been with no high hopes for the future.

I feel that we have been betrayed, violated, defiled, abused and ravaged.

I think if something is not done soon, this era will be known in history as "The Rape of the American Farmer."

I urge each of you not to let this happen to us and you. Support the farm movement for 100 percent parity.—Bring pressure against our elected people when you can. Urge them to speak up for the farmer and his need.

This is the first letter I have ever written to any place in the hope of having it published. I sign my name simply,
A Deaf Smith County Farm Wife

Holly Plans Media Tour

Holly Sugar Corporation and the Hereford-based Texas-New Mexico Beet Growers Association will conduct a media tour of area beet fields and the Holly corporation's Hereford beet processing plant Oct. 25.

According to Bob Ginn, Holly agricultural manager, area media representatives have been invited to attend a noon luncheon at the Caison Steak House on that date.

Following the luncheon; the tour will visit fields where beet harvesting is underway.

A tour of the local beet factory will then be provided, to allow media representatives an opportunity to view the plant in operation during the beet campaign.

New Spillway Developed

WASHINGTON (AP) - Agriculture Department scientists say they have developed a new type of spillway for small farm reservoirs that can improve the quality of pond water and possibly reduce dam construction costs.

The department's Agricultural Research Service says that the development is called an "automatic bottom-with-drawal spillway" which works like a siphon.

Instead of taking excess water from the top of a reservoir as is done with a conventional spillway, the siphon removes water from the bottom of the pond where incoming soil sediment and other pollutants gather.

"By pulling out the poorest quality water, the system reduces the amount of sediment that accumulates in the reservoir's lower levels and extends the life of the reservoir," the agency said.

The scientists say that since sediment problems are reduced, future dams with bottom withdrawal systems can be made smaller, thus saving millions of dollars in construction costs.

Clover Seed Down

WASHINGTON (AP) - Production of red clover seed is estimated at 25.4 million pounds, a drop of 32 percent from more than 37.1 million pounds last year, according to the Agriculture Department.

Officials said that "untimely rains in August and September" hampered harvest of the seed and caused yields to decline. Drought, severe cold last winter and grasshoppers also were factors.

The Illinois crop is estimated at 4 million pounds, down from 5,525,000 last year; Oregon 3,570,000 and 3,900,000; Ohio 2,590,000 and 3,400,000; Missouri 2,590,000 and 4,950,000.

Church, Farm Leaders Agree: Political Will is Key to Food

COLLEGE STATION — The viewpoints of both religious groups and American agricultural producers on the "Right to Food" issue were presented at the annual Town and Country Church Conference at Texas A&M University.

Both Rev. Arthur Simon, executive director of the Bread for the World organization, and Allan Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, agreed on one thing — that the effort to provide food to the hungry people throughout the world depends primarily on "political will."

"Hunger is a public policy issue," contended Simon, whose organization advocates the involvement of the ordinary citizen in shaping governmental policies related to feeding the hungry. "By silence on public policy, we are actually driving people deeper and deeper into hunger. We must make our voices heard on policy relating to the world food and hunger situation."

"Political will is the key to dealing with the world hunger situation," emphasized Simon. "Offering time, ability and influence as a citizen to bring about political changes will solve the world food problem."

Simon noted that Bread for the World now has some 20,000 members and is working toward helping people of this country use their citizenship more effectively. He said that the organization attempts to draw on the faith and lives of Christians to stimulate them to add to the monetary support already being provided through drives by various religious groups.

Simon also pointed out that his organization played a key role in drafting a "Right to Food" Resolution that was recently approved in Congress. The resolution affirms the right of all people to an adequate diet.

Why the "Right to Food?" Simon gave five supporting responses:

—The "Right to Food" is rooted in the value God places on human life.

—It is linked to the fact that the earth is the Lord's and we are His stewards.

—It is imbedded in the Bible, in which everyone is asked to help the poor.

—It is espoused in the Declaration of Independence, in the "right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

The religious leader emphasized that church groups must continue to get involved in politics to lead such causes as the "Right to Food." The church staying out of politics would be like turning much of life over to the devil.

Grant, leader of the nation's largest farm organization, emphasized that "American agricultural producers are concerned about world hunger but do not have a guilt complex. They produce mountains of food each year and are quite efficient at it. Agriculture is this nation's greatest success story."

Grant noted, "Far more hunger is caused by political decisions than any of nature's calamities. The situation of world hunger is an emotional issue that produces shallow answers to long-range problems."

Related that the United States has for the past 20 to 25 years provided 80 to 85 percent of all food assistance to developing nations, Grant expressed the feeling of many government officials that the leaders of poorer nations are not doing enough to help themselves.

"The governments of developing nations need to double their food production by 1985—just a few years away—if they are to meet the needs of their growing populations. Most of these countries could turn barren land into a green oasis with the proper political leadership and the incentives to produce food."

The farm leader said, "The longterm solution to world hunger lies in population control and food production incentives to produce food."

American farmers are not isolationists and will continue to support any emergency situations that occur regarding world hunger, added Grant. They are currently supporting an emergency food fund for international use which would involve all the world powers, including the OPEC nations.

In providing food assistance,

Grant emphasized the need for effective use of food supplies. "We must make sure the countries we are trying to help don't waste the food. We need to look before we leap; we need to help, not hinder."

The annual conference conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station attracted some 250 church ministers and lay leaders from throughout the state.

Native Trees

There are 865 species of trees native to the continental United States, including a few imports that have become naturalized so that they now reproduce themselves in the wild state. The oldest living trees in the world are reputed to be the bristlecone pines, growing on the arid crags of California's White Mountains. Some are estimated to be more than 4,600 years old. The oldest known redwoods are about 3,500 years old.

Court To Consider NontrIGGERman Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court soon will decide whether states can put to death convicted "murderers" who never took a life.

Embroided in numerous capital punishment controversies over the past five years, the justices agreed this week to decide whether the death penalty is a valid punishment for persons convicted of murder under so-called felony murder or "nontrIGGERman" laws.

The laws, on the books in each of the 33 states that have death penalty provisions, most often make a person liable for murder upon conviction of a crime in which someone dies - even though the defendant may not have done the actual killing.

While no one appears to have an accurate count of how many of the 400 death row inmates across the nation will be affected by the court's eventual decision, leading attorneys opposed to capital punishment said Tuesday that the total could represent a significant percentage.

For example, five of the 14 persons on Alabama's death row were condemned to death for murder in crimes in which they were not the actual killers.

The high court agreed to hear the appeal of Sandra Lockett of Akron, Ohio, sentenced to die in the electric chair for the 1975 shooting death of Akron pawnbroker Sidney Cohen.

At her trial, prosecutors portrayed Miss Lockett as the mastermind of a plot to rob Cohen. But Miss Lockett never entered the shop the night it was robbed and Cohen killed.

To date, the court has approved the death penalty laws of three states - Florida, Georgia and Texas - only as they apply to murderers.

In other matters Tuesday, the justices:

- Set aside a lower court's ruling that threatened the military veterans' preference laws used by 46 states in hiring for public jobs.
- Agreed to decide whether it is prejudicial for judges to warn juries in criminal cases not to consider whether a defendant testifies in his own behalf. The warning is traditional.
- Ruled that communities have a right to prevent commuters from parking in residential neighborhoods.

Discrimination in Israel

Twenty-five black Americans were recently expelled from Israel. They are protesting to President Carter and to the United Nations what they call discrimination.

Is there color consciousness in Israel?

There is indeed.

Basically, Israelis are divided into three groups.

The "elite" are those who were born in Israel. Invariably, these home-grown Jews consider themselves deservedly "special." They are known as the "Sabras."

Then there are the immigrants—those who came to Israel from Europe, Russia or the United States. They and their children now comprise the majority of Israelis. They occupy some of the top positions in government and business, yet they are not quite part of the native-born "elite."

In essence, the longer one has been in Israel, the more respect he or she commands.

Now we come to the low persons on the social scale. These are immigrants from other Middle Eastern and North African areas—especially those from Yemen and Morocco.

Though this caste system is not officially conceded, it is apparent to any observer that these latter immigrants are treated as third-class citizens—that often they are treated worse than the Arab minority which remained in Israel after the 1948 partition.

This color consciousness in Israel became apparent worldwide when that group of American blacks was "unwelcomed" and their leader made a fuss about it.

They had said they were "Presbyterians" wanting to baptize their children in the Jordan River.

Actually, they were intending to join up and settle in with a sect of calling themselves "black Hebrews."

The leader of the Americans, who identifies himself as "Prince Asiel Ben Israel, International Ambassador for the Original Hebrew Israelite Nation of Jerusalem" says he and his followers were "arrested and jailed and subjected to the most inhumane kind of treatment."

Ben Israel says the expelled groups was deprived of its human rights by the Israeli government.

What really happened when the uninvited group tore up its passports and return airline tickets and announced its intention to stay in Israel is that they were jailed and then escorted to the airport and sent home.

What sounds incongruous to the world is that Israelis—victims of generations of discrimination—should themselves discriminate.

But the harsh realities of existence if that desert nation leave no room for the likes of 400 members of this unproductive sect now dug in at Dimona.

Israel cannot afford to support unproductive outsiders. And perhaps we should not be too quick to criticize that national policy of "homefolks first."

Mondale Dresses Better than Boss

NEW YORK (AP) - Vice President Walter Mondale made it onto the Custom Tailors Guide of America's Best Dressed List. His boss won't get there until he stops being "indifferent and careless" in his sartorial habits.

"Although he has considerably improved his dress habits since becoming president, Jimmy Carter is a far cry from being a well-dressed man," the Guild said in releasing its list.

The men who won a spot on the list are hardly a consistent field of blue serge. Vice Duro, president of the Guild, noted that they range from "the conservative, dignified tastes of Vice President Mondale to the flamboyancy and contemporary elegance of Joe Namath."

The Guild's Top Ten: Mondale, in politics; Namath, in sports; Burt Reynolds, in motion pictures; Don Rickles, in television; Percy Foreman, Houston, Tex., attorney, in law; Monty Hall, in philanthropy; singer John Denver, in music; comic Frank Gorshin, in nightclubs; Mel Boldt, head of the Chicago industrial design firm of Mel Boldt & Associates, in industry, and Vito Pasucci, president of LeBlanc Corp., Kenosha, Wis., in business.

Pair Arrested For Hijacking

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) - Two hijackers of a Czechoslovak jetliner, one of them a man reportedly accused of skipping alimony payments at home, were held Wednesday by West German authorities on charges of "endangering airline transportation."

A Czechoslovak newspaper reported, meanwhile, that the male hijacker told the pilot he had a "packet of money" abroad and wanted to get it.

The man and woman, both identified as ground-crew employees of Czechoslovak Airlines, commandeered the YAK-40 Tuesday after it took off from Karlovy Vary in western Czechoslovakia bound for the capital of Prague, German officials said.

Wearing blue airline uniforms and armed with pistols, the pair ordered the pilot to fly to West Germany. He landed at Frankfurt, where they surrendered after negotiations with authorities.

The other 24 passengers and three crew members, unharmed, flew back to Czechoslovakia aboard the Soviet-built plane later Tuesday.

The hijackers were identified as Vlastimil Toupalik, 30, and Ruzena Vlkova, 22. German police said they "were not married to one another," and the Czechoslovak news agency CTK said Toupalik faced charges at home of failure to pay alimony.

It was the sixth time since 1970 that Czechoslovakians have crossed to West Germany by diverting commercial airliners from the Communist-ruled country.

Today In History

Today is Thursday, Oct. 13, the 286th day of 1977. There are 79 days left in this year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1775, the Continental Congress in Philadelphia ordered the construction of a naval fleet. It was the beginning of the U.S. Navy.

On this date: In 1792, George Washington dedicated the cornerstone of the executive mansion in Washington.

In 1845, Texas ratified the U.S. Constitution.

In 1943, a coastal storm claimed 46 lives in northern California and the Pacific Northwest.

In 1969, the Soviets had seven cosmonauts in orbit in three spacecraft.

In 1970, the FBI announced it had arrested black activist Angela Davis in New York in connection with a California courtroom shootout.

In 1975, President Gerald Ford signed a congressional resolution providing for 200 American civilians to man monitoring stations in a buffer zone between Israel and Egypt.

Ten years ago: The leftist government in Chile took control of all radio stations in a move to try to cope with spreading strikes.

One year ago: Thailand's new military dictatorship announced that elections would not be held for at least four years.

At Wits End
BY ERMA BOMBECK

It seems like every other book I pick up these days, an author is dissecting relationships and behavior patterns. One of the largest groups in this country and ironically the least understood has yet to be explained. It's your basic Monday dieter.

At last count, there were 18 million of these disciples who, every Monday morning, make their annual pilgrimage to the shrine of cottage cheese. Who, every Monday morning, look at themselves in the mirror and declare to the image, "This is the first day of the rest of my thin life."

One of the first things you must appreciate about the Monday dieter is his or her optimism. Here is a person for whom Tuesday never comes. Nor Wednesday. Nor Thursday. Nor Friday, etc. He just knows that some time between Monday morning and Monday evening the rest of the week will be cancelled due to the lack of attendance, and he will be off the hook diet-wise.

Secondly, Monday dieters are lousy with virtue, but are basically weak, which is a polite way of saying they have absolutely no scruples whatsoever. They will tell you outrageous lies like, "Pasta will never pass my lips," and as they are telling you this have a pound of linguini hidden under a stack of Weight Watchers magazines in the hall closet.

They cannot help themselves. They will lie about their weight on their driver's license, subtract 15 pounds when they weigh with their clothes on, tilt the bathroom scale against the toilet to make it weigh lighter, and on insurance charts will declare themselves "large boned."

Monday dieters are predictably neat people. They cannot stand to leave an uneven row of fudge in a pan or a dab of ice cream at the bottom of a half-gallon carton. They are kind to their mothers ("I'll eat the rest of that pizza, Mother, if your teeth are bothering you") and are good with numbers. ("Let's see, I had the beef stroganoff, baked potatoes with sour cream, asparagus with the Hollandaise and the banana cream pie, so pass me the artificial sweetener for my coffee.")

In case you're wondering why I'm such an authority on the Monday dieter, it's because I have dieted for the last consecutive 1,456 Mondays.

Why Mondays? Who knows. Frankly, I think it's stupid to pick a day with 36 hours in it when every other day of the week only has 24.

Ann Landers
Explanation of Fondness

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It has been three years since you have had the article on an essay that put each child in his place. It was sent to you by a reader who found it in the library stuck between two books. I have had it on my refrigerator door and it's pretty tattered by this time.

Will you please give it a rerun? The date was Sept. 26, 1974.

Many thanks — Mrs. R.N. Hialeah, Fla.

DEAR FRIEND: Thanks for asking. The author of that lovely essay is my good friend — that talented lady, Erma Bombeck. Isn't she the greatest?

Here it is — with pleasure:

DEAR FIRST BORN: I've always loved you best because you were our first miracle. You were the genesis of a marriage and the fulfillment of young love.

You sustained us through the hamburger years, the first apartment (furnished in Early Poverty), our first mode of transportation (1955 Ford) and the 7-inch TV we paid on for 36 months.

You were new and had unused grandparents and 'enough clothes for a set of triplets. You were the original model for a mom and a dad who were trying to work the bugs out. You got the strained lamb, the open safety pins and three-hour naps.

You were the beginning.

Dear Middle Child: I've always loved you best because you drew a tough spot in the family and it made you stronger for it.

You cried less, had more patience, wore faded hand-me-downs and never in your life did anything first. But it only made you more special. You were the one we relaxed with and realized a dog could kiss you and you wouldn't get sick. You could cross a street by yourself long before you were old enough to get married. And you helped us understand the world wouldn't collapse if you went to bed with dirty feet.

You were the child of our busy, ambitious years. Without you we never could have survived the job changes and the tedium and routine that is marriage.

To the Baby: I've always loved you best because while endings are generally sad, you are such a joy. You readily accepted the milk-stained bibs, the lower bunk, the cracked baseball bat, the baby book that had nothing written in it except a recipe for graham-cracker piecrust that someone had jammed between the pages.

You are the one we held onto so tightly. You are the link with our past, a reason for tomorrow. You quicken our steps, square our shoulders, restore our vision and give us a sense of humor that security, maturity and durability can't provide.

When your hairline takes on the shape of Lake Erie and your own children tower over you, you will still be our baby. — A Mother

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Help! I've been invited to a double wedding. The brides are cousins. I know one of the girls very well. The other is no more than a passing acquaintance.

Am I expected to buy both brides a wedding gift? Please answer. I've asked several people and have gotten a lot of conflicting advice. — Double Or What?

DEAR DORW: Both brides should receive a gift, but for the one you know slightly a much more modest present will do.
