Big Cattle Deal.

Last week Frank Patton, who brought cattle here from Knox county some time ago, sold the entire herd to the Shoenail people, at private terms.

The Shoenail outfit, in charge of Mr. Cravens, was here several days branding and tallying out the herd, which consisted of about 1300 head. Mr. Patton left Tuesday for his home in Knox county.—Wheeler County Texan.

Public School Notes

Thomas and Sadie Woodward are new pupils this week. Quite a number are out of school this week from sickness and other causes.

Miss Donnell's classes are studying a copy of Robinson Crusoe, that is adapted to third grade pupils with much interest. The story serves as a basis for some first class language drills.

School was dismissed for an hour Tuesday evening to give the teachers and pupils an opportunity to hear the great orator Cyclone Davis. All felt well repaid by the change from the regular work.

The seniors are to discuss the question Friday evening, "Resolved, that country life is more conducive to human progress than is city life." The leading disputants have been busy preparing arguments for more than a week, and the subject will very likely, be well handled by these young speakers.

There have been an unusually large number of attractions in town this week to divert the minds of pupils from their studies; all things considered the week's work has been very satisfactory.

If you wish to see pleasant faces, pretty little dimpled arms, and curly heads all busily and pleasantly engaged, step into our primary room some day when they are practising a calisthenic drill.

Prof. Silvey's buggy horse disappeared last week and was afterwards found at Goodnight. He says if the candidate that rode or drove him out of the county will come forward and pay the expense he has been out in getting him back the matter will be righted, if not he is for the other fellow.

One of the most enthusiastic classes in school is the class in English and American literature. The readings and quotations from Tennyson's works Wednesday morning were well chosen and calculated to cultivate a taste for good literature.

The seventh and eighth grades are soon to begin the study of English classic. Books adapted to these grades have been selected and will soon be placed in the hands of the pupils.

Our two primary teachers have often desired tables suitable to their work and it now seems that this long felt want is soon to be gratified. A carpenter has been given the order to make these desks according to specifications furnished by the teachers.

The first cool norther of the term braced us up for school a few mornings ago. The shivering children were greeted in their rooms by cheerful fires and pleasant teachers and all worked with a zest that cold mornings only can bring.

Since the matter has been about settled that Clarendon is to have the November session of the Panhandle Teachers Association lets make it the best and most enthusiastic meeting ever held here. If you will open your homes and entertain a teacher or two you will not regret it.

In Miss Allen's room hangs a pretty new flag. Just at present this flag is in possession of the girls, they having excelled the boys in their class work. The probabilities are that they will not retain it long, as it is coveted by the boys who will strive to get possession of it.

That a wrong view of school duties is taken by the majority of patrons and pupils is very evident. Many parents and pupils look upon school as a time of extra duty or enforced tasks. The task of getting the children off to school of mornings, and the necessity of buying books and supplies add to the irksomeness of the task. As a matter of fact, every day of school should be regarded by each as another opportunity for self improvement and its duties gladly entered upon.

A Kurious Kolumn

By A. Kurus Kusse

Kurus Kusse this week met a man who from a political standpoint was one of the name-him-and-take-him sort of guys. As for religion he was in the position of the little boy who "don't want no more" and he had about as much to begin with as an orang-otang. He was like a goat, always butting in. As Kurus has some butting in propensities himself it was only a few seconds until we were in the hottest sort of an argument with him. We got sat on, but we learned something. We are always learning something but this man was a regular walking encyclopedia and with or without our consent he persisted in cramming into our cranium a lot of objectionable knowledge that we had about as much use for as Parker has for the republican campaign fund or as the Russians have for a searchlight to locate Kuroki. Just for a political feeler Kurus made some remark anent the strange ideas that have in days gone by been promulgated in the brain of Henry George, et al. Right there is where the fireworks started. We thought for about two seconds that the millenium was at hand and that we together with other morally indigent printers had caught on to a steady "set" in inferno. However, the sulphurous smell did not emanate from another world but was only the surcharge of a political eruption on the part of our gentle friend. He told us to quit using our head for a hatrack and we would learn something. We said nothing. Silence is golden. It also acquires. And right here, apropos of nothing at all, we want to say that if we catch anyone attempting to use our head as a receptacle for holding broken down derbys and such trash we will shoot them on the spot and not be too particular about the spot. Our head may resemble an elongated chunk of railroad eating house pie but our thinker is neither a hatrack or umbrella stand. But we degress. That man was an anarchist, a socialist, a single taxer and heaven alone knows what else. We thought for awhile we had his category of beliefs down pat when he began shoveling out new dirty, sloppy beliefs faster than we could dot them down. He has an amalgamated belief, the chief ingredients being Paganism, Mohamedism and Buddhism, intersprinkled with all the nasty isms that the devilish ingenuity of the seers of the dark ages could conjure. With one breath he extolled the virtues of the common herd; the next hated all mankind. He said his parents were good christian people and the next second made the startling statement that Christ was the meanest man that ever lived. This man's bad points so far overshadow his good ones that they are scarcely discernable but the glimpse we caught of them was like a gleam of silvery sunlight athwart an inky sky. What an antithetical mind is his; soaring and groveling, inspiring and revolting, hate and love, despair and serenity, dirt and deity so fearfully mixed in this one human breast that the angels of darkness would fear to enter the dark, cavernous corridors of this love deserted soul.

never seen Cyclone but knowing he was from the ranks of populism we spotted him the moment he stepped from the train. He wore a long coat; the collar was turned up and the coat was buttoned down to the vicinity of his knees. The great man stalked through the crowd as only great men know how to do, while the crowd gaped in awestruck silence. None seemed able to speak but gazed after his retreating figure, speechless. Then a local preacher who had been discussing local matters with Kurus broke the silence. Says he, "I'll bet Cyclone hasn't any small boys." "Why?" we asked. "Because" said he, "if he had I know his wife would cut off part of his coat tail and make them some pantaloons." Then again did silence reign.

Col. Cecil Lyon, pseudo military hero and high muckamuck of the republican party of Texas, says the state will have four republican congressmen this year. You know the fable about the animal with the long ears that masqueraded under cover of a lion's skin. Cecil is it.

There is a young lady in Clarendon Col— Who talks nonsense like a parrot poll; But the boys they adore her, The girls they ignore her, Because she has a face like a doll.

WANTED—A position as wet nurse to all infant industries of America and all dependent negro and half-breed colonies of the universe. T. ROOSEVELT.

All is quiet in Clarendon at present. Everyone is observing the Law. He is holding a big meeting in a still bigger tent and preaching to a still bigger crowd.

A Hint to the Wise. An exchange makes mention of a man who, it is said, always paid for his paper a year in advance. And as a result he has never been sick in his life, never had corns on his toes, nor the tooth ache; his potatoes never rust nor rot, his babies never cry at night, his wife never scolds, and he succeeded in serving three years on the school board without being cussed. We have a lot of delinquent subscribers on our list who might try the plan referred to above with highly satisfactory results to themselves as well as to the editor and publisher; at any rate, we would suggest a trial before condemning the plan.

Is It Groceries You Want?

The monthly grocery bill is something that cannot be avoided. It is as certain as death and taxes. But YOUR grocery bill can be greatly reduced each month if you will patronize C. E. Phone your orders to No. 83, and get satisfaction in quality and price of every article for your table.

"A stitch in time saves nine" Better have your titles examined now or abstracts reviewed because errors could be much more easily corrected now while former owners and vendors still live and are in this country. I have 15 years land experience in this country. Charges for examination reasonable.

A. M. Beville.

Clarendon - - - Texas.

Judge Skeen has called the Commissioners' Court to meet on next Monday, the 10th, for the purpose of making up the official ballot to be used on the 8th day of next month and all candidates for office are required by law to notify the court at that time on which of the six political party tickets they wish their name to appear. Under the law a candidate's name can be printed on one ticket only. The ticket to be voted will be about 30 inches long and about 4 inches wide. The voter, on entering the polling place, will be handed a bunch of six of these tickets (one of each political party) which are perforated and stapled together on one end. He will then select and fill out the ticket which he desires to vote, tear it out and hand to one of the election judges, who will make the necessary record upon it and deposit the ballot in one of the boxes. The five tickets which he does not vote will be handed back to one of the election officers who will place them in another box provided for that purpose. It will be observed by this that it will require six tickets for every man who votes, five of which are not marked at all. The system, while a little cumbersome and hard to understand, is a good one, and is absolutely fair to each political party. It makes no difference if there is but one voter of a certain political party in the county, the law requires that that party shall have the same number of tickets printed as the dominant party. In other words, every democratic ticket has to have with it a republican, prohibition, social, labor and populist ticket.—Wichita Falls Times.

Trinidad Colo. Oct. 6th.
Editor of Banner-Stockman,
Clarendon, Texas.

DEAR SIR:—

I write this to let you know that we are still alive and that Trinidad is still a town though some papers had it completely wiped off the map. The flood, which came at 2 o'clock on the morning of the 30th, was terrible, but not nearly so bad as was pictured. We live three blocks from the river and the water came over the keyboard of the piano in the house half a block away, but our street is steep and the water flowed obliquely across, so we escaped with a wet cellar. The Santa Fe solid rock depot, city park, large two-story brick hotel, the six bridges of the town, and many houses are completely gone. There was much damage all along the river front and it will amount to a million dollars if not more.

We are very well satisfied with our new home, though we often miss Clarendon and Clarendon people. I am working as private secretary and stenographer for the leading attorney of the city.

With best wishes for your success, and the prosperity of our old home, I remain,

Yours truly,
GRACE F. ANDERSON.

KANSAS CITY MARKET REPORT

Special to BANNER-STOCKMAN.

Kansas City, Mo., Monday, Oct. 10.

The washouts and floods in the Southwest kept cattle receipts down last week, and prices advance 10 to 20 cents on nearly all kinds of cattle. Not as many range cattle were here as usual, but those shippers lucky enough to be on the market went home pleased. About fifty loads of Mountain cattle were here, the steers 1070 to 1250 lbs, selling at $3.25 to $3.75, $25lb to 1000 lbs, feeders at $3.20 to $3.50 horned feeders around $3.00 to $3.25, cows $2.50 to $3.05, spayed heifers $3.25 and some Old Mexicos 1000 lbs at $3.25. These prices represented an advance of from strong to 20 centshigher. Panhandle cattle, account of the floods, were scarce, but a good many plains cattle were here and sold at satisfactory prices. The run today is liberal at 21,000 head, market on cows and country kinds of cattle strong, beef steers lower. Some 882 lbs feeders, horned, Southeastern Colorado sold at $3.35 and 900 to 950 lb cows from same locality sold at $2.60, fairly good. Trade is active today, although there is a heavy run at all the markets, and it begins to look as though we have seen the lowest prices of the present season.

Sheep receipts are unchanged from last week, and are about the same as they have been for several weeks past. Lambs lost to 15 cents last week, and are a little lower today. The quality of Western stuff now coming is good, and the sales are made without any haggling. What the killers do not take is easily placed with country buyers, as the demand from the feeders is holding up as well as ever. Supply last week was more than 40,000 head, and run today is 10,000 head. Wethers and yearlings sell to the killers at $3.40 to $3.85, fat ewes at $3.00 to $3.30. 61 lbs lambs sold today at $4.70 and 68 to 75 lbs lambs bring up to $5.00, which was the best price today. Country buyers take the wethers and yearlings at $3.35 to $3.65, and stock ewes bring $2.75 to $3.50. Feeders in this territory have had two very successful seasons, which accounts for the very good demand this fall, and for the good prices for country stuff, about 25 to 30 cents higher than last fall.

J. A. RICKART.

Col. J. Q. Morrison spent Saturday in Clarendon, talking up business for the Katy. The colonel lost about 100 pounds during his recent illness but he still retains "the smile that won't come off" and is rapidly regaining his erstwhile activity.

Clarendon College.

The writer of these notes had the pleasure of taking supper with Mr. and Mrs. Pope a few evenings since, and he can bear testimony to the fact that some one in the culinary department of that pleasant and hospitable home is master of the art of making orthodox apple pie. Uncle Remus says that the woman who is going to sit closest to the sweetest cherub in the field of light is the one who can manage the cooking department in such a way as to obviate the necessity of indigestion.

Bros. Law and Phillips conducted chapel service at the college on Wednesday morning to the great enjoyment of the student body. Bro. Phillips sang a beautiful solo and Bro. Law made a good practical talk on Christ, Christianity and Character.

We were glad to have Dr. Carroll look in on us the other day. We found him to be a very genial and pleasant man. He put a very bright boy in the college to be educated. Dr. Carroll knows a good thing when he sees it.

About a half dozen new pupils enrolled the present week. This gives us encouragement.

Miss Betts' room is a busy hive. A finer class of preparatory children one does not often see in any school. Our preparatory department is really "a thing of beauty," and we trust that it will be a joy forever to the college.

Some sentences taken from "A Story of a Grain of Wheat," written by the Senior English class:

Mr. Sherman: This grain of wheat was first found in Africa by a negro boy.

Miss Mamie Harrington: When I learned that out of flour the staff of life is made, I knew that some day I would sustain life, and thus would not live in vain."

Miss Julia Hunt: "My first memories are of my being young and green on my mother's stem."

Miss Blank was heard to say, after pouring over a mathematical problem for a long time: "Well, I never will be able to master 'the hard grained moses of the cube and square,' for it really takes brain to do this thing, and I just have not got that important article."

Motto of the English Class B:
"A little learning is a dangerous thing,
Drink deep or taste not the Pierian spring,
There shallow draughts intoxicate the brain,
But drinking largely sobers us again."

Prof. Johnston and his boys are still doing business at the old stand. The professor is keeping the intellectual mill going all the time. We trust that the boys are grinding out the golden grain. When Prof. Johnston sounds his gong at night, every boy is at the post of duty. At night and during the day you may hear at the young men's hall something like the following: Amo, amas, amat, logos, logon, logois, "you have your plus at the wrong place," "that minus is not right," "that verb should be in the plural," "look out, Prof. Johnston is coming," "you make too much noise," "this Latin lesson is tough," "I believe I busted in English and mathematics today."

The Virgil class has been very interesting this week. Prof. Burkhead has explained some popular quotations, such as the following: Fidis Achates, "Between Scylla on the one hand and Charibdis on the other." Forsan et Juacc olim meminisse juvabit.

The pupils are taking great interest in music, art and elocution, which goes to show that Mrs. Wedgworth, Mrs. Tressie, and Miss Black are inspirational in their respective work. These departments of Clarendon college, we are glad to say, are ably filled.

Prof. Johnston has secured a $35 set of "Kennedy's Improved Dissecting Mathematical Blocks." These blocks will be of great importance in explaining some perplexing problems; problems where the pupils are able to apply the rules but still they do not know the "why" of the rule.

The geometry classes are doing good work especially on the original work. After all, the originals afford the only field for independent study in the subjects.

Recently Alvah Griffith of Silverton, on his way to the medical college at Fort Worth, called to see Prof. Johnston and "other members" of the school. Chas. Woodburn of Silverton, enroute to Galveston to enter the medical department of the State University, also spent the night with Prof. Johnston. These boys were his former pupils and their visit was enjoyed.

The photos of the students, buildings and grounds, made by C. L. Swartz of Fort Worth, have arrived, and are good.

Mrs. Washington Dead.

Mrs. George W. Washington died last Friday morning after a lingering illness. For many years she has been a patient sufferer, always hoping for the best, but in spite of medical science and all that the loving hands of a devoted husband could do she succumbed to the grim destroyer and passed peacefully across the river to rest under the shade of the trees in the Master's Kingdom.

Funeral services were conducted at 3 P. M. Saturday at the Presbyterian church by Rev. E. L. Storey and the remains were laid to rest in the Odd Fellow's cemetery. To the bereaved husband the tenderest sympathy of the entire community is extended, and in these expressions the Banner-Stockman joins.

Law's work and we are glad to note he has the hearty co-operation of every denomination.

Cures Winter Cough.

J. E. Gover, 101 N. Main St., Ottawa, Kan., writes: Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got for her a bottle of Horehound Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. Whenever the cough troubles her, two or three doses stops the cough, and she is able to be up and well." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by Fleming & Maulfair.

Mrs. Marion Williams left Sunday for Galveston to attend the Grand Chapter O. E. S. as delegate from the local lodge.

Mrs. R. A. Chamberlain and little daughter, Miss Josephine, returned Wednesday from their trip to the World's Fair. Miss Bessie did not return, but went to Sioux City, Iowa, where she will spend the winter studying music.

Sorosis will meet with Miss Betts Oct. 22, at 4 p. m. Will render the program that should have been Oct. 5. All members are requested to be present.

A Plea for Prohibition in Politics.

After reading Hon. J. W. Bailey's reason for declining to enter into a friendly public discussion of the relative merits of the democratic and prohibition parties as regards their claims to the votes of the people, I am lead to enquire what is the reason that both the democratic and republican parties wish to divorce a question from politics which involves both political economy and the moral standing of this nation? Both democrats and republicans when it comes to making a spread eagle 4th of July oration, pride themselves much upon the fact that ours is pre-eminently a christain nation. Why, even our degraded silver dollar is not genuine unless it bears aloft the ensignia, "In God we trust", and yet when it comes to introducing before either of the two dominant parties an issue which is believed by large proportions of the most thoughtful citizens of our noble republic paramount to any and all others, as tending to elevate humanity and curtail human misery, degradation and crime, we find the leaders of these parties declaring, even with apparent sincerity, we should keep this question out of politics. Now if, "In God we trust", as we say we do, why in the name of common sense and decency don't we act as though we spoke the truth or thought we did? We are taught in God's word that, "We who are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak", and help them. Now some party boss is ready to say, "You can't make men moral by law." It is equally true that "You can't make men healthy by law," yet does either the democrats or republicans object to suitable quarantine laws to prevent the introduction and spread of contagious diseases, "sumptuary" though they be? Even in our noble state of Texas we have "sumptuary" laws governing the sale of morphine, cocaine and cigarettes, does any democrat or republican object? Did you ever think of that? Are not the moral interests of men of greater importance than their physical welfare? If it be the duty of the government to guard public health, is it not much more important to guard the public morals which have not only to do with this life but with that which is to come? Christ taught His disciples to pray, "Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil." Today our christain nations by licensing the manufacture and sale of this soul-destroying beverage is leading the youth of our land into temptation which is dragging them down to perdition by the hundreds of thousands every year. What is the christain citizen doing? Does he pray, "Lead us not into temptation" and continue to vote to perpetuate the evil? The prohibition party stands for the abolition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicants; all other political parties stand for the licensing of the same. Thus throwing around this accursed traffic the protecting arm of the law and this christain nation for a paltry sum of money paid by the manufacturers and saloon men actually enters into copartnership in the business of debauching her youth. It is estimated that for every dollar of revenue derived from the manufacture and sale of liquor, it requires an expenditure of sixteen dollars and fifty cents to punish the crimes and care for the paupers that are caused solely from the traffic. Where is our political economy? Leaving out of the consideration all of the moral aspects of the question. Why seek to separate from politics a question bearing so directly upon the finance of the government? Is it economy to spend more than sixteen dollar in order that one dollar may be collected? But says the objector: "We have seen prohibition tried under local option, and it does not prohibit." We grant that local prohibition labors under very grave disadvantages. The states or parts of states under prohibition are usually surrounded by license territory from which liquor can easily be smuggled in. By our present inter-state commerce laws the liquor dealers have a right to ship liquor into prohibition territory in sealed packages, when it may be sold in the original package in direct defiance of the state or county law. Again those to whom the enforcement of these local laws is intrusted are usually members of a political party whose policy is to license the evil. Is it probable that such officers will take much interest in the enforcement of a law that is at variance with the teaching of his party? Again the liquor power is financially strong in the accumulation of wealth; wrung from the hands of the laboring class, widows and orphans, and they will spend money freely in a determined effort to break down the local prohibition law by making it ineffective to exclude whisky. Then our national government, to her shame be it said, will for the trifling sum of twenty-five dollars grant a United States license for liquor selling anywhere in prohibition territory, thus rendering the blind tiger dispenser free from prosecution, yet in the face of all these disadvantages we who have seen local prohibition tried are convinced there is much benefit derived from the same. But if we would give it the best chance why not have a political party behind it with officers sworn to its enforcement and whose party pride would make them doubly diligent.

Say, what we will about keeping the question out of politics. The liquor question is in politics and strongly entrenched behind political fortifications. The liquor men took the issue into politics in 1867, when they met in the city of Chicago in national convention to devise plans for the extension of their business. This was prior to any political prohibition organization. In that convention they "Resolved (continued on last page.)

THE body gets its life from food properly digested. Healthy digestion means pure blood for the body, but stomach troubles arise from carelessness in eating and stomach disorders upset the entire system. A Plea for Prohibition In Politics.
 that we will use all means to stay the progress of this fanatical party (the temperance people) and to secure our rights as individual citizens, and that we will not sustain any candidate, of whatever party, in any election, who shall be in any way disposed toward the total abstinence cause. Does not this resolution coming from a financially strong national convention sound as though they were taking the issue into politics? Yes, gentlemen, as we stated, the whisky power is strongly entrenched politically having both the old parties as their allies, and if ever they are dislodged the work must be done by a political party vote.
 Many very exemplary christian voters in both the old parties are troubled over this matter but dislike to break away from old political environments. We frequently hear them say, "yes prohibition is right and if my influence would make it win I would vote with the prohibition party, but it is too small. I'd be throwing away my vote." All great reforms have been in the minority at the beginning, and have grown by winning the adherence of those who held different views at first. If everyone who admits that prohibition is right would cast their ballot for the right, its success would be swift and sure. There are today according to statistics about fourteen million voters in the United States, over five million of these are members of christian churches who profess to pray, "Lead us not into temptation." It is fair to suppose that the other nine millions are divided upon the question and the five million christians would, in voting as they pray, at once bring the reign of liberty from this chief of tyrants, the whisky power. Think on these things.

 J. W. Davenport, Wingo, Ky., writes, June, 14, 1902: "I want to tell you I believe Ballard's Snow Liniment saved my life. I was under the treatment of two doctors, and they told me one of my lungs was entirely gone, and the other badly affected. I also had a lump in my side. I don't think that I could have lived over two months longer. I was induced by a friend to try Ballard's Snow Liniment. The first application gave me great relief; two fifty cent bottles cured me sound and well. It is a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to suffering humanity." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Cyclone Davis came in as per advertisement and delivered his prohibition lecture Tuesday afternoon at the gospel tent. The editor was unavoidably absent from the city so did not hear him, but we hear from parties attending that he eclipsed their fondest expectations as a prohibition orator. His address was masterly and he held the attention of his large audience closely throughout the two hours time.
