TRLA workers picket for higher pay

By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN Staff Writer

Claiming they have been treated as "second-class citizens," office workers for Texas Rural Legal Aid in Hereford walked out today over a contract dispute with their executive director.

Cecilia Garza, a secretary, administrative assistant and spokesperson for the Texas Legal Services Union, said Executive Director David Hall of Weslaco has refused to acknowledge a plea for better wages from the local office.

'We have worked without a contract for a year," she claimed. Garza, who has worked at TRLA the past 18 months, was the class representative of a job discrimination complaint brought against Deaf Smith County in which U.S. District Judge Mary Lou Robinson last week ruled in favor of the plaintiffs.

"Our office's very reason for existence here in Hereford has always been to support workers in their struggle for better working conditions," read a prepared statement distributed by Garza, "and to ensure their right to be treated as something more than second-class workers in the work force.

'Just as our clients toil long hours in the fields, we too labor long hours to serve them. Just as our clients labor on Saturday and Sunday, we too work weekends.

Pleas claimed ignored

"The Reagan administration has paid. attempted yearly to make justice a commodity solely for those with money to pay for it," the complaint continued. "We believe that our country cannot afford to ignore the suffering of those traditionally excluded from the decision making process whether it is in Deaf Smith County or in legal services. Each of us as a worker has the right to dignity, respect and decent working conditions.'

The office staff of 10, including at least two attorneys, had planned to spend the day picketing the office site on West Highway 60. The workers were joined by Jesus Moya, representing the International Union of Agricultural and Industrial Workers.

The Brand spoke with Hall this morning, who said the local staff is "expressing their frustration at low

Hall said he acknowledges the fact that wages are low, "but there's nothing we can do about it."

Texas Rural Legal Aid, which has 13 offices in the state, is funded by the Legal Services Corporation (LSC). The LSC has 11 other types of legal programs in the state, and Hall said TRLA is among the lower

"This year LSC was appropriated $275 million to fund its more than 300 programs," Hall explained. "Next year it goes up to $305 million, so we expect to get a little more money."

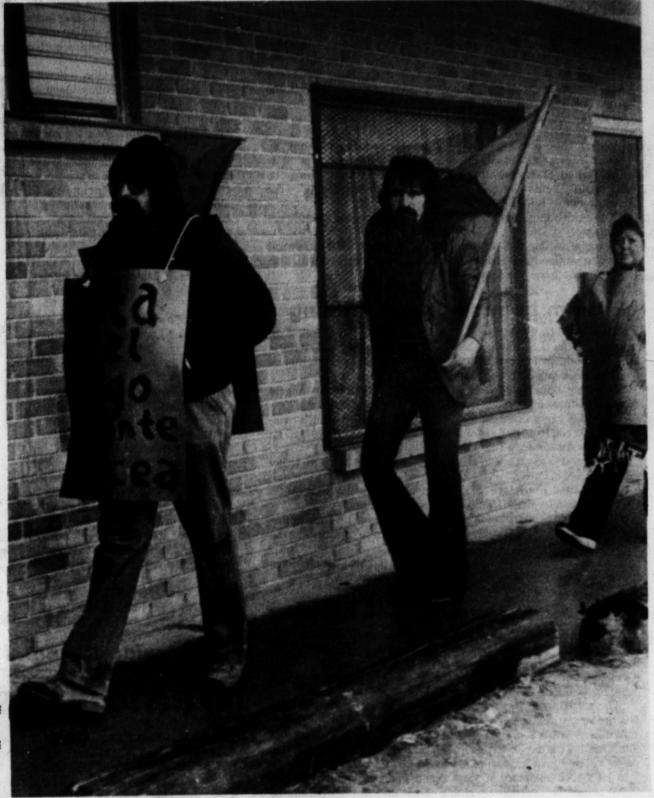

Hall said his staff has been meeting with representatives of the Texas Legal Services Union since their contract expired last Dec. 31, but no agreement has been reached. "We thought that during the course of the year more money would become available to us, but that hasn't happened."

Attorneys fees awarded TRLA lawyers go back into the general budget, Hall said, "and it takes every penny we can get." Hall said those awards have helped TRLA, which has been having budget problems for the past year and a half, keep its offices open.

Dressed in winter coats and caps and wearing placards lettered in both Spanish and English, TRLA workers were allowing no one in the "Year after year, Reagan cuts and cuts and cuts," Garza proclaimed.

"We're on a fixed budget," Hall explained. "We've been living beyond our means for the last year and a

As for Reagan, who is 73, it is his first meeting as president with a senior Kremlin official and comes just 39 days before the presidential election. Aides say he read a number of books about the Soviet Union to prepare for the meeting and had briefings from Henry Kissinger and Richard Nixon, among others.

Reagan and Gromyko were scheduled to meet for two hours in the White House Oval Office, to be followed by a 90-minute lunch in the White House State Dining Room - a total of three and one-half hours.

There was to be no arrival ceremony and no departure statements, although that could

Reagan was to be accompanied in the meetings by Secretary of State George P. Shultz and National Security Adviser Robert C. McFarlane. Shultz met for three hours with Gromyko in New York on Wednesday.

Officials cautioned against expecting any breakthroughs in relations, and said the meeting would be a success if it paved the way for improved communications with the Soviet leadership.

Larry Speakes, the White House spokesman, said the United States wasn't expecting "immediate results." He said Reagan would propose some ideas and it would take Moscow a while to react.

But officials hoped the meeting would help set the stage for a resumption of arms control talks next year, although it was too soon to expect a firm decision to be made.

Hereford denied project grant

By REED PARSELL Managing Editor

Hereford's application for a $250,000 grant from the Texas Community Development Program has been denied, the governor's office reported in a press release dated

Sept. 23: The grant was to pay for road paving work between North Street and Park Avenue west of 25 Mile Avenue. Dudley Bayne, Hereford city manager, said he was not surprised at the application's failure. "This year they concentrated on water and sewer projects," explained Bayne, who said that had been understood by city officials since the request was initiated.

Grants are to be given out the next two years, Bayne added, and Hereford's application for $250,000 will automatically carry over to next year and, if turned down again, the following year as well. Bayne said he is hopeful road work will be a priority of the TCDP in at least one of the two remaining award years.

Barber, Brannon, Traylor and Company, Inc. of Tyler is to continue handling Hereford's application, according to the city manager.

At a Hereford City Commission meeting May 7, when it was decided to pursue the grant, Bayne said about $1.2 million would be needed to put hard surfaces on all the city's unpaved streets. Dirt roads are located of town in addition to some south of North Street.

$250,000 to surface unpaved streets in the northeast and southeast parts formerly the Small Cities Communi-

The TCDP grants, according to the governor's office, were this year "for public facilities and housing projects that principally benefit persons of low and moderate income.

Throughout the state, 118 grants were awarded for a total of $29.2 million. In the northern Texas region, 20 grants averaged almost $191,000 apiece and totalled just over $3.8 million.

Knox City received $307,921, the largest of the 20 area grants. The funds are to be used for "an adequate water supply system" for fire protection and domestic use.

To make water distribution and fire protection improvements, Vega was given $166,361. Plainview was awarded $207,000 for water and sewer services.

Other area entities receiving grants included Brownfield, Childress, Crosby County, Dodson, Dickens County, Groom, Hale Center, Matador and Olton. The others were Paducah, Plains, Post, Quitaque, Shamrock, Spur, Texhoma and Vernon.

ty Development Block Grant Program, was assumed by the state last year. Awards are reportedly based on a shared scoring system between the Texas Department of Community Affairs and regional review committees appointed by the governor in each of the 24 state planning regions.

"Again this year we have demonstrated," Gov. Mark White is quoted in the press release, "by a wide range of funded activities, that state administration of this program makes sense. The selection process has resulted in projects that are responsive to priorities established by each of the regional review committees, not to priorities in Washington, D.C. or even in Austin.

"This type of open competition," White continued, "assures that the funds are used wisely across the state.

The governor added, "This year the state received 461 applications compared to 300 during the last year of adminstration by the Department of Housing and Urban Development in 1982. This increase in participation shows both the need for these activities and the outreach efforts by the state to make the program ac-Administration of the TCDP, cessible to more communities."

Tax expert discusses coming rate jump

A mini-blind salesman, an accountant and representatives of a heating and air conditioning business were among those attending a sales tax seminar Thursday morning in Deaf Smith County Courthouse.

J.D. Caproni, who works for the comptroller's office in Amarillo, spent about 45 minutes answering questions about the sales tax law that goes into effect Tuesday.

Participants learned that massage parlors, escort services and turkish baths must collect and submit a state sales tax beginning next month. "I know there are a lot of those in Hereford," Caproni joked.

While one of the biggest changes involves sales tax charges for performing repairs, a woman whose family business is fixing farm machinery learned those repairs will continue to be exempt. Also still exempt are repairs to aircraft, commercial vessels and motor vehicles.

Repairs to real property are not subject to tax, which Caproni interpreted to mean that a repairman can not charge sales tax for fixing a furnace that is a permanent part of a house or other structure.

A woman whose husband, an electrician, is doing contract work at an oilfield site learned that wiring done on permanent structures is not taxable, while work on movable buildings would be. The same is true for new construction jobs, Caproni

Among the more obscure items on the list are fees for riding helicopters and hot air balloons, hot tub concessions and fur cleaning and storage. The revenue generated from taxing such items, Caproni admitted, might not pay for the paperwork involved.

"They didn't ask for the comptrollers office before they did this,' he said good naturedly. But, he added, the State Comptroller has been asked to conduct studies to determine how much additional sales tax revenue would be generated if exemptions were lifted from items such as food and farm supplies.

The new sales tax charts which calculate the 4 and one-eighth cent rate are available in print form, Caproni said. They can be obtained by calling his office at (817) 355-9733. The office has moved to 6300 I-40 West in Amarillo.

Gromyko said at power peak

VICTORIA, Texas (AP) - Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is at the most powerful stage of his career, former British prime minister Harold Wilson says.

Wilson, speaking at Victoria College Thursday, said the Soviet representative is capable of "initiating policy or proposing it" at the top levels of Soviet government.

Gromyko, 75, has been foreign minister for 27 years and has met with nearly every American president since World War II.

"I do not expect he is sending his speeches back for checking" by Kremlin leaders, Wilson said during a news conference.

The United States' dealings with the Soviets will always be hampered by acute Kremlin embarrassment over the state of the Soviet economy, Wilson said.

"It's sticky because they don't want to admit how bad things are," Wilson said.

Wilson, lecturing at a Victoria College seminar, shared several anecdotes on Gromyko and American leaders he has met with during his 55-year career as a public official.

Gramm points out gay funding

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) - Rep. Phil Gramm, a Republican running for the U.S. Senate, says that based on a gay newsletter's advocacy, opponent Lloyd Doggett is receiving a third of his money from homosexual activists.

Doggett's campaign secretary, Bill Collier, told the San Angelo Standard Times on Thursday that the allegation was "ludicrous."

"One out of every three dollars contributed to my opponent's campaign is coming from gay and lesbian activists," Gramm said at an airport news conference Thursday.

Gramm and Doggett are to meet in College Station at 8 p.m. today for a televised debate.

Gramm cited the figure in saying that the Austin Democrat's views "are counter to the traditional values of Texans."

Gramm said his information came from an August 1984 newsletter of the Dallas Gay Alliance. He passed out copies to reporters at the press conference.

The newsletter describes a fundraising effort which "encourages gays in Texas to send $1 or more" to Doggett's campaign.

Parties get unemployment list

AUSTIN (AP) - The state has sent the names of 680,000 Texans who have filed unemployment compensation claims since January 1983 to political party officials.

One Republican official says it's a Democratic ploy but a lawyer who negotiated the mailing says it's not.

"This settlement blows my mind," said state GOP party chairman George Strake of Houston.

Assistant Texas Secretary of State Ed Davis said Wednesday his office mailed the names as partial settlement of a lawsuit that began under a state Republican administration.

In 1982, then-Secretary of State David Dean distributed a list of 28,000 people he said were possible felons and who should not be allowed to vote. A South Texas voter registration group, VOTA, filed suit against Dean's action in federal court in Brownsville. The suit has never come to trial.

Ferraro thought Senate hopeful

WASHINGTON (AP) - Before there was any talk of Geraldine Ferraro for vice president, the three-term congresswoman from Queens was considered a likely candidate to oppose New York Republican Sen. Alfonse D'Amato in his 1986 re-election bid.

Should Ms. Ferraro and Walter Mondale, the Democratic presidential nominee, upset President Reagan in the November election, the question of a 1986 Senate race would be moot; she would be the first female vice president.

But if the Democratic ticket loses this year, Ms. Ferraro will be out of a job - she's not seeking re-election to her House seat as she runs for vice president — and may be looking for elective office two years hence.

Democrats outnumber registered Republicans in New York by a million votes. D'Amato, a former Hempstead, Long Island, town supervisor, won the seat with just 45 percent of the vote in a threeway race in 1980.

The exposure, confidence and polish she is gaining with Mondale would be formidable assets for a Senate bid, say potential rivals as well as supporters.

Mine pact apparently ratified

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United Mine Workers Union says its members have ratified a new contract with the soft coal industry, sparing producers and consumers a nationwide strike and ensuring general labor peace until February 1988.

An overwhelming grass-roots coalfield vote in support of the proposed 40-month pact assures a strike-free settlement for the first time two decades and breaks a pattern of walkouts in every contract renewal since 1964.

UMW President Richard Trumka, announcing approval of the proposed pact by miners in the East, Midwest and Appalachia, said union members "demonstrated once again that they are the shock troops of the American labor movement."

Bobby R. Brown, chief industry bargainer, said ratification "should be a clear message" that unionized coal companies will be reliable producers.

In an era of wide-ranging union givebacks to management, the United Mine Workers "achieved this non-concessionary agreement with the coal operators without a nationwide strike," Trumka said in declaring victory in the contract balloting late Thursday.

June time for many marriages

WASHINGTON (AP) - Americans marched to the altar in June at the highest rate in years, new government statistics indicate.

Some 306,000 American couples tied the knot in June, according to preliminary figures collected by the National Center for Health Statistics.

That's a rate of 15.8 marriages per 1,000 Americans - the highest level for any one month since June 1978, when the rate was 16.0. But despite the surge in June - traditionally the most popular month for weddings - the national marriage rate remained relatively level on an annual basis. Barbara Wilson of the statistics center suggested two factors may have resulted in the jump in marriages this June, although she cautioned against reading too much into figures that may be revised before becoming final. There were five Saturdays this June, she pointed out, which increases the likelihood of weddings in the month because half of all weddings are held on Saturday. But, she added, the increase in the June marriage rate, without a corresponding hike in the annual rate, may also show that people are being more deliberate in their wedding plans.

Couples who plan to marry may increasingly be choosing the time when vacations are easier to schedule.

Eases recession fears

News Roundup Leading indicators show rise

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government's main gauge of future economic activity rose a moderate 0.5 percent last month, easing fears that the economy was sliding into a recession, the government reported

The August gain came following two consecutive monthly declines which had broken the longest string of advances for the index of leading economic indicators since the end of World War II.

A third decline in the index would have given ammunition to pessimists that the current pronounced slowdown in activity meant the country was heading into a recession.

Instead, the August gain, which was stronger than most analysts were predicting, seemed to confirm forecasts that the nation has entered a period of slower but sustained growth.

While showing a gain in the August index, the Commerce Department said the July performance of the index was even worse than at first thought. Instead of a 0,8 percent drop, the decline was pu cent. The June decline 1.1 percent from a pre cent.

In another report toda merce Department said the nation posted a $9.9 billion trading deficit last month. The new red ink was 30 percent below the record of $14.1 billion set in July.

However, the new red ink pushed the trade deficit for the entire year to $83.7 billion and confirmed that the nation is heading for its worst trading year ever. Last year's record deficit was $69.4 billion, but the 1985 deficit is expected to hit $110 billion.

All eight of the country's postwar recessions were preceded by at least three consecutive declines in the leading index. However, on three other occasions, three declines in a row were followed by continued economic expansion though at a

Democrats lash out at Reagan's remark

By MICHAEL PUTZEL Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former President Jimmy Carter, his spy chief, and a host of angry Democrats are accusing President Reagan of evading responsibility for the latest fatal U.S. Embassy bombing by suggesting America's intelligence network was nearly destroyed before Reagan took office.

Reagan's remark about the Beirut embassy attack, which he now says was distorted by the news media. prompted an outpouring of public rebuke by people who generally have kept quiet amidst the swirl of campaign rhetoric.

Meanwhile, the administration pressed its request in Congress for $110 million immediately and a total of $366 million in the coming year as part of a five-year, $1.5 billion plan to defend foreign posts against future attacks. Last week's suicide bombing at the new embassy annex in

Instead, Speakes blamed a decade-long "climate in Congress that resulted in inadequate funding and support for intelligence-gathering capabilities" during both the Ford and Carter administrations.

Stansfield Turner, who directed the Central Intelligence Agency during Carter's presidency, rejected that contention, saying the only personnel cutbacks were carried out during the Nixon administration to draw down after the Vietnam war and early in Carter's term to "cut some of the bureaucratic fat in the headquarters in Washington."

"And that has improved our intelligence capabilities overseas," Turner said.

The former spy chief charged that Reagan "has done more to damage the CIA than any president in history" by politicizing the agency.

"Mr. Reagan, as is so often the case, has got his facts all mixed up," close to Southern Methodist, the underdog Horned Frogs almost ended what was then the nation's longest unbeaten string in college football.

With the clock ticking down and TCU trailing 21-17, the Horned Frogs owned the football at the SMU 1 but couldn't score.

At 7 p.m. Saturday, thousands of TCU faithful will be at Texas Stadium actually expecting a victory, despite Las Vegas odds favoring the Mustangs, the nation's No. 11 team, by 11½ points.

Although unranked, TCU has backto-back 62-18 and 42-10 wins over Utah State and Kansas State and leads the nation in rushing offense, total offense and scoring offense. Kenneth Davis and Tony Jeffery stand 1-2 atop the SWC rushing list, and TCU fans are delirious.

"I can hardly wait for Saturday night to get here," said Jim Wacker, the enthusiastic coach for TCU, which would be 3-0 for the first time in 28 years if it pulls off the win over its Southwest Conference rival 30 miles away.

SMU also is 2-0 after beating Louisville 41-7 and North Texas State

All nine SWC teams are playing Saturday. In the only other game pairing league teams, Baylor (0-2) is favored by 21/2 points over Texas Tech (1-1) at 7 p.m. in Lubbock.

No. 2 Texas (1-0) and No. 4 Penn

State (3-0) clash at 11:20 a.m. CDT at East Rutherford, N.J., in a game that will be carried by approximately 80 television stations nationwide, with Texas a two-point favorite.

Arkansas (1-0-1) is favored by 14 over Navy (1-1) at 6:45 p.m. at Little Rock; Houston (1-1) is a 24-point favorite over Louisville (0-3) at 6 p.m. in the Astrodome; Rice (1-1) is a 31-point underdog to defending national champion Miami (3-2) at 6 p.m. CDT in the Orange Bowl.

Texas A&M (2-0) hosts Arkansas State (3-1) in a 11:20 a.m. game at College Station that oddsmakers gave no line on.

SMU goes into its game as the nation's winningest team since 1981 with a record of 33-3-1. The Mustangs have the league's No. 3 rusher in Reggie Dupard, averaging 116.5 yards a game, and the No. 7 rusher in Jeff Atkins, who has 80 yards a game.

Fights Brown Saturday

Herd tangles with Sandies

The return of David Parsons to the starting defensive unit for today's 7:30 p.m. football game against Amarillo is only one sign that the Hereford Whitefaces are healthy.

Hereford plays host to Amarillo in the District 3-5A matchup at Whiteface Stadium.

"I think we're pretty healthy this week," Hereford High School coach Jerry Taylor said.

Amarillo arrives in town after a loss last week at home to Coronado. The Sandies stand at 0-1 in district play while Hereford is 1-1.

Taylor said he expects Amarillo to play a ball-control offense against the Herd, relying primarily on the running of fullback Thomas Huyck. Huyck is a three-year starter for the Sandie's and is averaging six yards per carry.

Timmy Smith, a sophomore tailback for the Sandies, also should tote the ball a lot. Smith is averaging 6.4-yards per carry.

Hereford quarterback Mike Scott is expected to be about 95 percent full speed, according to Taylor. The presence of Scott in the lineup should boost the Herd statistics in total offense, for which the Whitefaces currently rank eighth. Amarillo, on the other hand, is listed as first.

Defensively, Parsons joins linebacker Lee Brockman in providing a tough defense up the middle. Brockman was credited with 15 total tackles last week. Hereford is fourth among league teams in defense, and Amarillo is sixth.

Amarillo coach Larry Dipple is making a return trip to Hereford tonight where he coached from 1971 until 1974. He also is a former high school teammate of Taylor's at Stamford High School.

The Sandies have beaten Hereford six of the last nine years.

Cooney makes return to ring

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) -'What better fight than this," says Phillip Brown. "I knew it would come.

Well, it hasn't happened yet, but Brown is scheduled to meet Gerry Cooney Saturday in what will be Cooney's first fight since he was stopped by Larry Holmes in the 13th round in a bid for the World Boxing Council heavyweight title June 11, 1982, at Las Vegas, Nev.

The fight has been postponed three times, and more than a few boxing people wondered if Cooney would fight anybody, let alone Brown.

Cooney had his doubts, too. "It got to the point where I said, Hey, maybe God don't want you to fight anymore," Cooney said Thursday. "But I had to keep trying because that's what's in my heart to

Two tied for lead at 6-under

By BOB GREEN AP Golf Writer

ABILENE, Texas (AP) - Ronnie Black and rookie Brett Upper both spoke of experience, of the maturing process necessary on the PGA Tour, after they moved into a tie for the first-round lead in the $350,000 LaJet Golf Classic.

perience in the last two years," said Black, now in his third season on the tour and a two-time winner.

"It's just experience. My game has matured. I'm a better driver, a better putter, I hit the ball better," Black said Thursday after his 6-under-par 66 had given him a tie for the lead with Upper and Jodie Mudd.

"The first half of the year I was just getting adjusted to the tour. It has been a learning experince for me. As the year went on, the more I learned, the more confidence I got, the better I played," said Upper, who has had a couple of eighth-place finishes in the last two months.

But Tom Watson, trying to nail down a record sixth Player of the Year title, spoke of a problem that has nothing to do with experience a reluctant putter.

"It's just putting — just like it was at Milwaukee," said Watson, who made a last-minute entry in this event in an effort to protect his twopoint lead on the Player of the Year

"I made a couple of no-brainers (a 35-footer for birdie and a 45-footer for eagle-3), but the putts I needed to make, I either mis-hit or misread," Watson said after his 70 in the chilly, cloudy weather.

Elita Acosta and Yvette Gamboa each scored eight points to guide the Hereford spikers to a 15-9, 15-5 District 3-5A volleyball win over Lubbock Thursday.

With the win, the varsity girls improved their league record to 2-4. Lubbock fell to 1-5.

"If we keep on playing like we are right now, we've got a chance to be on up in the standings," Hereford coach Cindy McMillan said. "We play Monterey Tuesday and could be 3-4 at the end of the first half of league play."

In the junior varsity game, Hereford won the best-of-three match 13-15, 15-9, 15-11.

Honored At Meeting

Margaret Ann Durham, center, received the Aggie Mothers Club necklace from Merle Clark, right, Hereford Aggie Moms president, while Berta Otteson, another of the original club members, looks on.

Durham honored at club meeting

Margaret Ann Durham received a surprise honor this week at what she expected to be a routine meeting of the Hereford Aggie Mothers Club.

The club honored Mrs. Durham, the only remaining active charter member, with a special reception in the home of Mary Lyles. Several former members since the club's inception in 1972 returned to welcome this faithful lady who has been diligent in attendance and moral support as well as contributions of time and finances.

Through the years, many of the younger members have expressed that they drew inspiration from Mrs. Durham's positive, loving spirit.

Merle Clark, president, presented the honoree with a corsage and a silver necklace specifically designed by James Avery for the Texas Aggie Mothers Club members. The heart shaped pendant depicts the Aggie Mother's hands cradling the letters, T, A and M. Stems of roses, signify- and Ann Armstrong.

ing the mother's love, form the outer edges of the delicate piece.

Mrs. Durham's daughter, Mary Bartlett of Hereford, was a special guest of the reception.

Centering the serving table at the reception was a large stained glass decoration created by Bill Lyles, featuring the letters T, A and M in the university's colors of maroon and white. This artpiece was flanked by silk floral arrangements in the same Bera Boyd and Betty Koelzer assisted Mrs. Lyles and Mrs. Clark in serving refreshments to Mrs. Durham, Mrs. Bartlett, Norma Hendon, Berta Otteson, Louise Witkowski, Charmayne Klett, Margie Ford, Pat Clark, Sue Sims, Diana Hoelscher and Shirley Garrison of Bovina.

Also present from Dimmitt were Linda Frye, Sandra Bagwell, Carolyn Thompson, Connie Nelson

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) -Dan Smith doesn't pretend to be a theologian. In fact, he readily admits he doesn't even understand theology

That, however, hasn't stopped him from forming and teaching a Sunday school class that boasts a larger membership than that of most of this Texas Panhandle city's 199 churches.

The secret, Smith contends, is the wide appeal of his nondenominational class - a program for singles, primarily divorced people, who need to learn that "being single is OK and a single's lifestyle is

And while the class, dubbed Singles Too, does study the Bible and Christian teachings, it also is "probably the single biggest social event in Amarillo," said Smith, a divorced father with custody of his two sons.

Parties and community projects, along with the Sunday school class at Amarillo's Paramount Terrace Christian Church, make up the program of Singles Too, which Smith started in February

"I'd feel guilty when I'd just drop my boys off at Sunday school," Smith said, "so one day about seven of us single parents met."

That small gathering, where the singles discussed the problems and perils of being among the growing number of non-married Americans, swelled to 350 because obviously the need was there," he said.

The owner of an advertising agency and a former television sportscaster, Smith, 41, was divorced 12

While adjusting to being single again after eight years of marriage, Smith said he sought understanding and advice from ministers, but could not find anyone who understood what he was feel-

"So, I quit going to church," he said recently.

"A lot of pastors and ministers just don't know how to help divorced people who are facing a difficult time in their lives," he said. "In our class, we try to show people they aren't the only ones feeling the way they do - show them they're not alone."

Too tries to avoid being a singles therapy session.' Instead, he said, the Sunday school classes focus on Biblical lessons that absolutely are directed to EASTVALE, Texas (AP) -The water trickles, the septic tanks smell, volunteer firefighters have to borrow water and the roads are so bad that police say they can't tell if drivers are drunk or just trying to avoid potholes.

This small northeast Texas town has so many problems, the city aldermen have declared it a blighted area. So has the Denton County Com-

Eastvale has got them," said County Judge Buddy Cole. who is preparing the official resolution declaring the town 'blighted.'

City leaders hope the designation will bring in federal and state financial aid, because right now the city's small tax base can't affort water, sewer or road improvements, Cole said.

"I keep thinking of the billions going to Nicaragua. said Mayor Bert Eubank. "All I need is just a couple of

To add to Eastvale's woes, businesses and residents are streaming out of this town of 600, further depressing its economy The aldermen's list of problems includes streets filled with so many potholes that the U.S. Postal Service and Lewisville school district buses have threatened to discontinue service.

Police Chief Joe A. Schreibvogel has added to the list by citing problems with police equipment and operations Items that are attached to vehicles keep falling off, and ed or repaired," the chief wrote in a letter to the city. We are unable to tell if we have an intoxicated driver because citizens have to drive on the wrong side of the road half the time so they can miss they have either been replac-

the large holes," he said. Fire Chief Tom Lemmier has a few grievances of his own, including fire trucks that slide off muddy hills and fall into potholes. The pumper truck even has to be filled up in the nearby town of Frisco because Eastvale's storage tanks can "be totally emptied in 16 minutes.

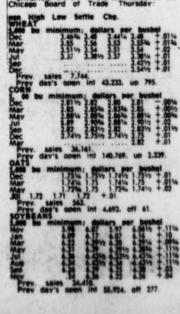

In July, the Texas Department of Health declared a state of emergency in Eastvale and rated its water system deficient in well, storage, pressure tank and service pump capacities. The Dallas Morning News reported Wednesday. Eastvale's only hope lies in state and federal aid, Eubank said. The town is counting on Rep. Tip Hall Jr. to handdeliver the county's crisis request to the Texas house. Lewis and Clark completed their expedition to explore territory west of the Mississippi River in 1806.

PRAYING HANDS

The praying hands are good to see Not just a work of art They humble the spirit of man And warm an aching heart.

They are a master piece of love That love alone could paint, They show the spirit of selfless man A mortal, and a saint.

These hands express man's love of God And the world's perfect Man Who died upon the cross for us According to God's plan.

In God's wisdom are many things We cannot understand But, we must accept the will of God And be guided by His hand.

Sometimes we must give up something We think holds happiness. At times our fondest hopes must go, Which we think holds success.

> But when we make a sacrifice To let another succeed We're showing true dicipleship Of our dear Master's creed.

For when we make a sacrifice Born in a spirit of love We're storing up the greatest riches In God's great Kingdom above.

And when we make a sacrifice Made in our dear Lord's name We may be sure we'll have a place In Heaven's hall of fame.

So, help us, Dear Lord, to take the time, To show the praying hands And help some souls, now lost in sin To see the Promised Land.
