Animal control poison charges are strengthened

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Proponents of changes in Hereford's animal control policy will appear at the Hereford city commission meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at City Hall.

Lynn Dawson, who also appeared at the July 1 city commission meeting, is on the agenda for Monday night.

Commissioners are expected to also receive a four page, handwritten letter from Hereford resident Kay Cavin concerning her complaints about the Hereford animal control program.

Dawson, in a telephone conversation with the Brand last week, claimed the city is using Sucostrin, a lethal drug, in darts used to control dangerous dogs. That refutes the statement made by Police Chief Don Brush made to the Brand last Tuesday. Brush said, in a story in Wednesday's Brand, that "we certainly don't use poison in the gun."

Brush was out of town and not available for comment on Friday, according to a police dispatcher.

Dawson claimed that animal control officers use Zylazine HCl, a sedative, and Sucostrin in darts fired in a rifle to control some dogs. She said the city uses FP3 to euthanize dogs. The FP3 is used in a syringe, with the dosage adjusted to match the dog's weight.

Dawson said she visited with Capt. Pat Michael (who was also taking a vacation day Friday and was unavailable for comment) last week, and Michael told her that the darts containing the Zylazine HCl and Sucostrin had been kept in the same box in the animal control pickup until an incident last Jan. 19 in which a dog was accidentally killed by Animal Control Officer Butch Trevino with a dart believed to have been loaded with Sucostrin.

The dog that was killed belonged to Jim and Kay Cavin of Hereford. Mrs. Cavin, in a letter addressed to Mayor Tom LeGate, explained that she had been attempting to have a Weimaraner "that had been a pest in the neighborhood for months" caught by Trevino.

Cavin said in the letter that she had called Trevino out several times and had reminded Trevino not to mistake the Cavin's Black Labrador, "Sug," for the other dog.

Cavin's letter said:
"On Jan. 19, he was slow to respond and I had forgotten about the call, with the dog in question long gone. I was standing at my back door sweeping when I heard a noise in the yard. I looked up, horrified to see Butch's upper torso hanging over my fence with a gun aimed at my dog house. Sug came running out of the dog house with a stricken look. I was shocked! I stepped out on the patio and said, 'Butch, that's my dog! You shot my dog.'"

"His exact words were, 'That dart will kill her. There's stuff in there that will kill her.'"

Mrs. Cavin said the dog, shaking, ran into the house.

"The look in her eyes will always be with me," Mrs. Cavin said. Mrs. Cavin said her husband went into their backyard, had a verbal confrontation with Trevino, and recovered the dart. She said Trevino demanded the dart be returned, but the Cavins have kept the dart and intend to have a laboratory analysis of the red-feathered dart.

The Cavins loaded up their dog to take it to Dr. Ronda Clark at Hereford Veterinary Clinic. The dog died on the way, and efforts by Clark to revive the dog failed.

Brock receives Key Club honor

Gene Brock, longtime faculty adviser of the Hereford Key Club, received the highest honor from Key Club International at the group's recent annual convention in Chicago.

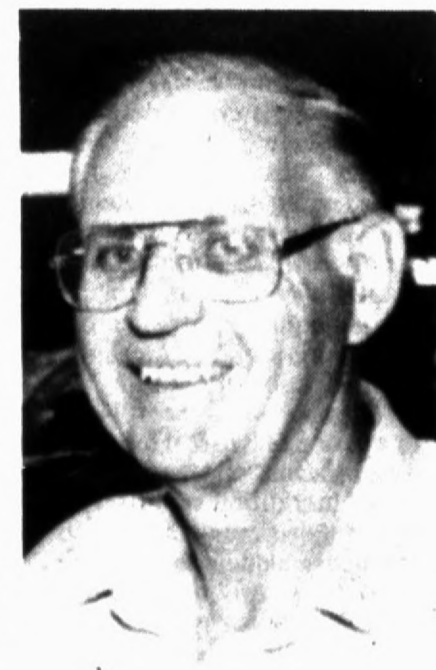

Brock earned the Key of Honor, the highest award given by the organization for contributions to the Key Club program or for youth in general.

Brock, in April, was the first inductee in the Texas-Oklahoma District Hall of Fame, honored for his years of service with Key Club in Hereford and throughout Texas and Oklahoma. Brock has also served as the top adviser to faculty advisers in the Texas-Oklahoma District, is regional counselor for the district, and serves on the Committee of Youth Services for Kiwanis International.

Brock was lauded in nomination letters from local persons including school, city and county officials, and friends and colleagues in Kiwanis and Key Club.

Many of the sentiments may have been summed up by Hereford Superintendent Charles Greenawalt in his nomination letter.

"He is a man of exceptional warmth and wisdom. Gene is an outstanding teacher and leader, a man whose natural leadership has inspired and enlivened those under his constant instruction to their finest achievements. Gene has earned the respect of every teacher, student and citizen in this community. He is a person of intelligence and integrity, always eager to help and this is reflected in the lives of the students he has instructed and guided over the years.

"As a teacher, he gives of himself, perhaps the greatest gift of all, and those students fortunate enough to fall under his guidance carry his ideals, his knowledge, and his moral principles into the world, thus making it a better place.

"Gene Brock is a gentle, strong, exemplary human being and I am a better person for having him as a friend and colleague."

PCS stresses self-help

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Individuals and families who appear at Panhandle Community Services in Hereford seeking help very often have one thing in common -- a very low self-esteem.

Once they learn that PCS is not a "welfare" program but is dedicated to "helping people help themselves," their attitude changes, observes Celia Serrano, coordinator of the Hereford PCS Center.

PCS "clients" learn early on that the primary goal is to help them find their own niche and achieve self-sufficiency.

As they achieve their own goals, there is a parallel rise in self-esteem.

Thirteen PCS centers are located in the Texas Panhandle, serving all 26 counties. Deaf Smith and Parmer Counties are yoked for administrative purposes.

PCS, formerly known as Texas Panhandle Community Action Corporation, is observing its 25th anniversary, founded in 1966, during the administration of President Lyndon Johnson.

His "Great Society" programs offered a myriad of projects. Community Services is a self-help program that has survived through the administrations of five presidents.

Defined as a "private, non-profit corporation," Panhandle Community Services administers a variety of programs funded by federal and state money. Counties join in support in some ways, also.

The PCS office in Hereford has been serving the community since 1969. At different times, PCS has offered alcoholism counseling, senior citizen activities and planned parenthood, but turned those projects over to other agencies.

Enduring through the years, though, have been programs related to nutrition and housing.

One of the better known is commodities distribution, started several years ago to make good use of overabundant production by the nation's farmers.

Last month, 3,774 persons received food items through the program. In April -- commodities are distributed in alternating months -- the number was much lower, 1,570.

The coordinator explains the large increase, "I think there were more in June because of migrant workers."

Providing transportation is a growing program in Panhandle Community Services. In Hereford, as in many other communities, there is no public transportation system, either bus or taxi.

The transportation program was initiated about five years ago, in response to this problem.

The center here has two mini-vans and a bus, operated by two fulltime drivers and a parttime driver.

Available to anyone who needs the service, transportation is provided within the area for such needed trips as doctor's appointments and to Amarillo for medical attention.

"We have 10 people who go to Amarillo three times a week for kidney dialysis," reports Serrano.

A fee of 25 cents per mile, one-way, to Amarillo is charged. Within Hereford, the cost is 50 cents per mile, one-way.

"The average for a trip to Amarillo is less than $25," Serrano points out. In a single month, the service was provided for more than 1,000 persons, she adds.

Several different programs help the homeless and provide families with more comfortable living quarters.

Through HUD, families with low income may move into housing that costs no more than 30 percent of their income. Property owners apply for HUD renters and must meet certain standards to qualify.

"There is some misunderstanding about this program," explains Serrano, "because people think the owner has to rent to anyone who shows up, but the landlord can ask for references or turn down a renter."

Grant money also is provided through Panhandle Community Services, Serrano continues, to help the "homeless," to assist with rent on a one-time basis only.

"Operation Bootstrap" is a special rent assistance program designed to assist persons seeking post-secondary education. Through the PCS project, the recipient pays no more than 30 percent of net adjusted income toward housing rent.

Weatherization is a unique project that is limited by funding but brings housing up to better energy utilization by insulating homes and, in other ways, making the house more energy efficient.

Emergency Nutrition-Temporary Relief Program helps low income persons in dire emergency situations with such needs as prescriptions, housing, food, transportation and medical expense.

When the north winds howl and the mercury drops into the freezing zone, heating bills climb -- and the Energy Crisis program is geared to help families with bonafide emergencies with their bills.

PCS depends a great deal on volunteer help, especially in commodities distribution. Serrano says 40, or more, volunteers help with that task.

The Center also maintains a roster of senior citizens willing to do volunteer work in nonprofit agencies in the community.

While no price tag could be placed on the PCS programs' value to persons needing help, there is a sizeable economic infusion in the community.

No other single county in the Panhandle reaps the benefits that accrue to Deaf Smith County. Only the (See PCS, Page 2A)

Annual Jubilee set August 4-11

Hereford's annual Town & Country Jubilee is scheduled Aug. 4-11 and a theme of "Hats Off to the Red, White & Blue" will be used for the Jubilee Parade and other events, it was announced Friday by Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

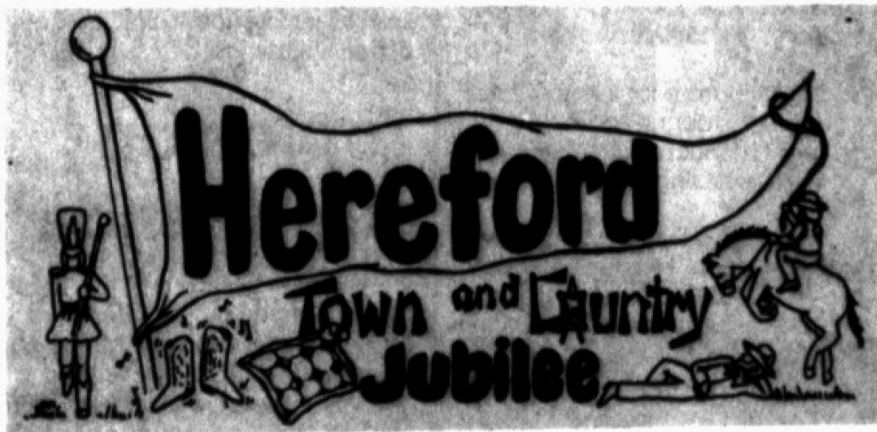

The big celebration will climax on Saturday, Aug. 10, with the parade and Jubilee Junction at Dameron Park. More than 50 food and game booths will be set up in the park, and live entertainment will be provided.

Other events include a softball tourney, style show, arts and crafts bazaar, a Beef Fajita Cookoff, the Greg Black Memorial 10K Run, 2-Mile Fun Run and 2-Mile Walk, and a Friday night dance. Several class reunions are also being planned during the special week.

The Hereford Key Club will soon be renting special red, white and blue bunting for store fronts as momentum builds for the annual celebration.

Helping to kick off the Jubilee, the Chamber's Women Division will host a style show on Aug. 6 from 11:45 to 1 p.m. at Hereford Country Club. This event will allow local merchants to show residents what they have to offer and encourage local shopping.

The doors open Friday, Aug. 9, on the Jubilee of Arts at Hereford

Community Center. Sponsored by the Pilot Club, the bazaar will display a wide variety of arts and crafts. Artists and craftsmen from throughout Texas and New Mexico will be on hand to display and sell some of the finest in original and handcrafted items. Those interested in more information may contact chairperson Linda Minchew at 364-6212 or 364-8053.

The Jubilee of Arts will be open from noon to 8 p.m. on Friday and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 9-10. The You Jour Amis Study Club will again offer ice cream crepes for those attending the bazaar.

The third annual Beef Fajita Cookoff, sponsored by the Hereford Cattlewomen, is scheduled Friday, Aug. 9, at Veterans Park. The cookoff will bring in entries from throughout the area, and it will be a "tasty" way for folks to salute the beef industry during the Jubilee, according to the Cattlewomen. Contact Pam Wagner (364-3870 or 276-5241) for information on entering the event.

The second annual Jubilee Softball Classic will be held Aug. 9-11 at the Nazarene Church. The tourney is open to all Class D players. For more information, contact Mark Andrews at 364-7792.

After the 10K Run Saturday morning, Aug. 10, the Jubilee Parade starts at 10:30 a.m. from Hereford High School, then proceed to Park Avenue, down Main Street and finish at Hereford State Bank. Whiteface Kiwanis Club will again be in charge of the parade. For more information, contact the chamber office or parade chairman Wayne Keeter (364-1322).

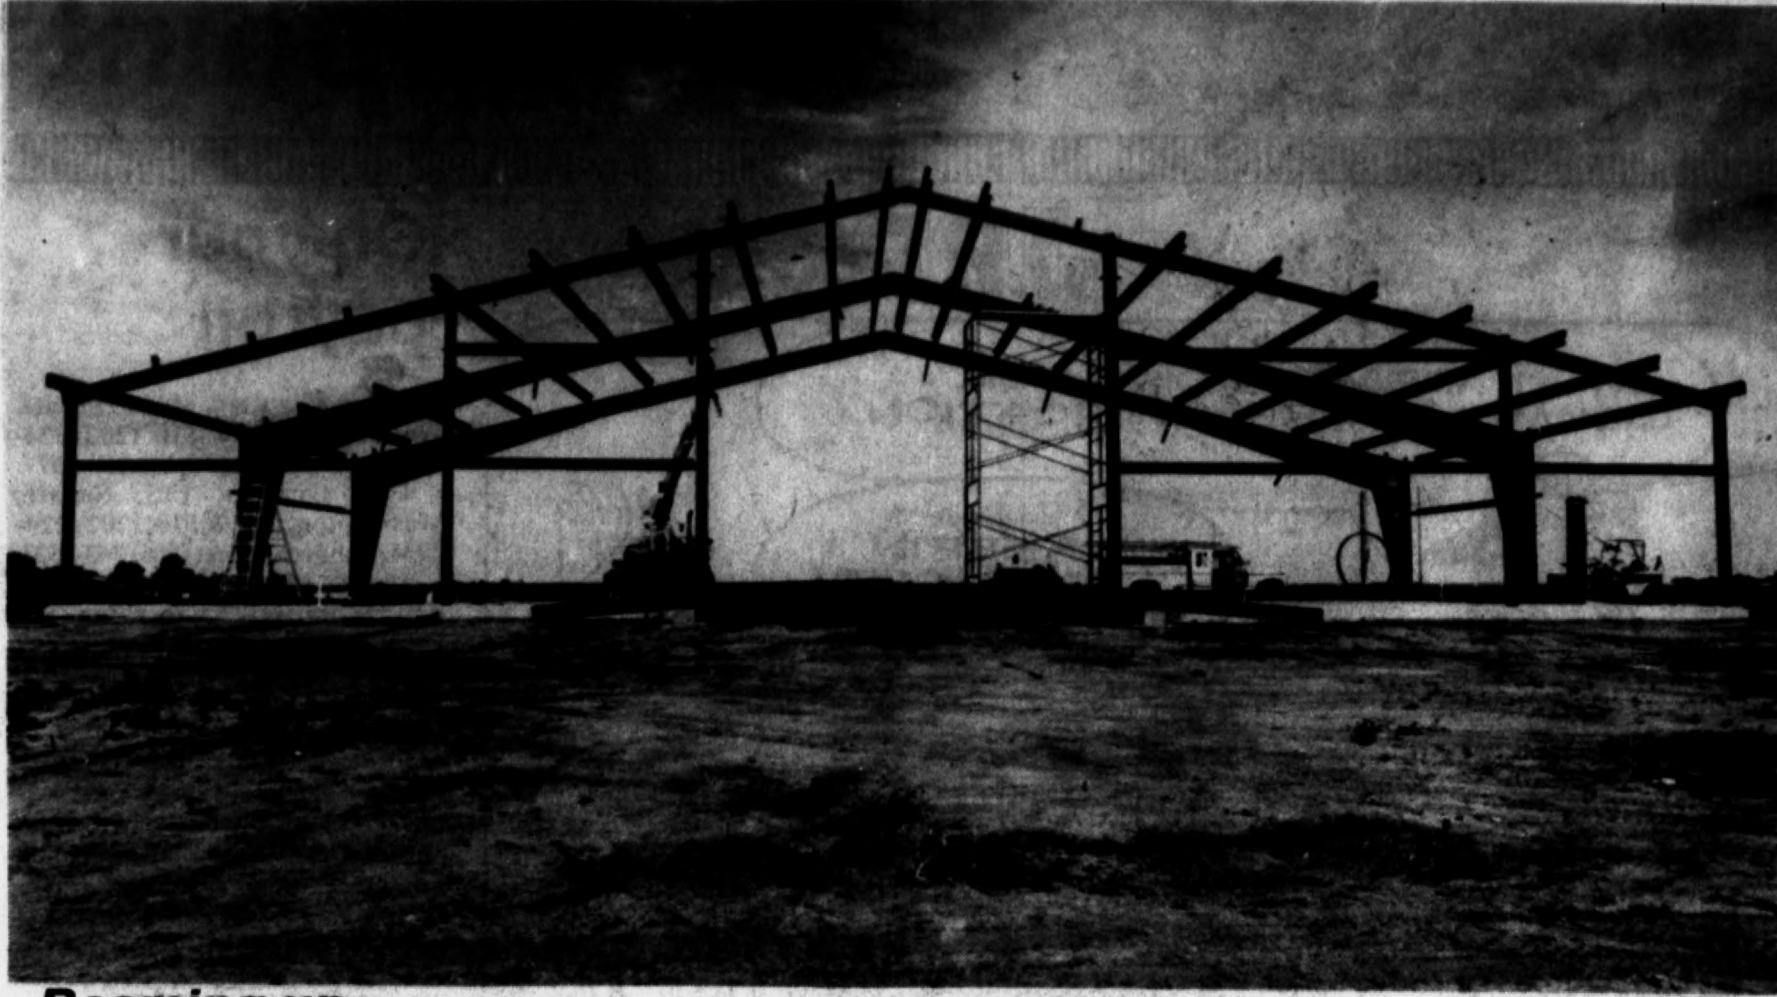

Parade entries will be judged in the following categories: Commercial, community services, religious, agricutiness, open division, and overall. Local businesses are invited to enter and have their firms represented.

At the conclusion of the parade, the action begins at Jubilee Junction in Dameron Park. The food booths will include barbecue, hamburgers, steak-on-a-stick, fajitas, cotton candy, ice cream and more.

A number of game booths will be in the park, and the YMCA will be providing volleyball matches, horseshoe competition and washer pitching. Live entertainment will be performed at the Jubilee Junction Stage through the afternoon.

Interested citizens who have questions about the Jubilee or want more information or invited to call the chamber office, 364-3333.

Amarillo Chamber delegation will visit

A delegation of key business leaders from Amarillo will be visiting Hereford Thursday as part of the "Amarillo Outreach" program of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce. The group, made up of chief executives and ranking officials of Amarillo businesses and organizations, will visit at a noon meeting with local civic leaders at the Hereford Country Club. The visit is designed to strengthen ties between Amarillo and outlying communities and to explore common goals. During visits to Panhandle, Pampa, Borger and Fritch earlier in the summer, the Amarillo Outreach group has discussed the Pantex expansion, workman's compensation, intrastate freight rates and current legislation. The Amarillo delegation will include Leon Brooks, Engergas; Doyle Moore, SPS; Don Taylor, Panhandle Small Business Center; Danny Conklin, Philcon Development; Randy McLeon, warden at Clements Unit prison; Randy Jeffers, Coldwell Banker Realtors; Pete Smith, Utility Engineering Corp.; Richard Brown, Underwood Law Firm. Tom Patterson, Amarillo C of C president, and Steve Ahlenius, director of the Amarillo Chamber's business development council, will also make the Hereford trip.

County to see maps

A first look at proposals for changes in Deaf Smith County Commissioner Precinct lines will be laid before commissioners at a special meeting Tuesday. Bob Bass of the Austin legal firm hired to prepare the county's new precinct boundaries will make a presentation at the meeting, beginning at 1 p.m., in commissioners courtroom. The commission engaged the Austin firm of Jim Allison and Associates to prepare the re-districting proposals. Bass is associated with the law firm. County Judge Tom Simons reports that the computerized projections will be unveiled for the first time for the commission. Based on figures from the 1990 U.S. Census, commissioner precinct boundaries as well as voting precincts must be in place and approved by the U. S. Justice Department before elections of 1992. Each commissioner precinct must include 25 percent of the county's population. "This will be our first look at some proposals," Simons says, adding that the law firm may present more than one proposal for consideration. Simons also says that hearings on the precinct boundaries will be conducted at a later date.

Once upon a time, there were people who elected a president who told them that the goose who laid the golden eggs, was very tired. They knew what he said was true, but they preferred picking the bird harder, rather than giving it a rest. However, the golden eggs are fairy tales, aren't they? In contrast, there are people who deal with prices, wages and the economy, knowing the basic truth, hidden in those folk tales. When we pay for a Funeral Service to someone we love, we think of what they accomplished and what they did for us. And that's the way it should be. As long as there are more people who accomplish, than beneficiaries, the goose can produce those eggs. But if too many people confuse fairy tales, with reality, the day of accountability, is not off.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says no matter how it turns out, there's always someone who knew it would.

Buy now, pay later. Isn't it frightening how soon later comes, after you buy now?

"Praises are our wages," someone said. I think it was Shakespeare. That's not entirely true, of course, but it does make a significant point. The statement also teaches a lesson that many of us know but fail to practice.

How many times have you thought to write someone a note or give them a call, then never got around to passing along that word of thanks, of praise, or encouragement? How many folks never even offer words of praise or encouragement to other family members?

"Little things mean a lot," are the words in a popular song. When we look back in our lives, we probably don't remember gifts we have received as much as someone writing a sincere note of thanks. Or someone praising us for a job well done, or encouraging us in a time of need.

There must be some people out there who have enriched your life. Why don't you call them this evening and express your love or appreciation?

Many Americans have forgotten or never learned what immigrants must know to become citizens of the United States. Here's a sampling of the questions. See how you do:

1. How many times may a senator be re-elected?
2. Who is the commander-in-chief of the U.S. military?
3. What is the most important right granted to U.S. citizens?
4. Who has the power to declare war?
5. Which countries were our enemies during World War II?
6. Who was Martin Luther King Jr.?
7. Can you name the thirteen original states?
8. What are the 49th and 50th states?
9. Who is the head of your city government?
10. Who elects the president of the United States?
11. What are the three branches of our government?
12. Can you name the two senators for your state?

13. For how long do we elect the senators?

14. For how long do we elect the representatives?

15. What is the executive branch of our government?

16. Who becomes president of the U.S. if the president and the vice president should die?

17. What holiday was celebrated for the first time by the American colonists?

18. What is the basic belief of the Declaration of Independence?

19. What are the first 10 amendments to the Constitution called?

20. Name three rights or freedoms guaranteed by the Bill of Rights?

ANSWERS

To be sure that you answered all the questions correctly, here are the answers:

1. There is no limit.
2. The president.
3. The right to vote.
4. The president.
5. Germany, Italy and Japan.
6. A civil rights leader.
7. Connecticut, New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Rhode Island and Maryland.
8. Alaska and Hawaii.
9. Mayor Tom LeGate.
10. The electoral college.
11. Legislative, executive and judicial.
12. Lloyd Bentsen and Phil Gramm.
13. Six years.
14. Two years.
15. The president, cabinet and departments under the cabinet.
16. The speaker of the House of Representatives.
17. Thanksgiving.
18. That all men are created equal.
19. The Bill of Rights.
20. The Bill of Rights protects freedom of speech, press, religion, peaceable assembly and change of government. It provides the right to bear arms. It prohibits the government from searching or taking a person's property without a warrant. A person may not be tried twice for the same crime and does not have to testify against himself. The government may not quarter, or house, soldiers in the people's homes during peacetime without the people's consent. A person charged with a crime still has some rights, such as the right to trial by jury in most cases. People are protected against excessive or unreasonable fines or cruel and inhuman punishments. People have rights other than those mentioned in the Constitution. Any power not given to the federal government by the Constitution is a power of either the state or the people.

John Brooks

Babbling Brooks

From the bizarre news of the week: four guys, including one from Lamesa and one from Childress, tried to get their hands on $33 billion belonging to one S. Hussein of Lower Baghdad, Iraq.

The four men had this official looking document saying they were representing Mr. Hussein and wanted to withdraw their funds from the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas.

The sad part: Authorities in Dallas couldn't tell if it was the real thing or not, so after they passed it around for a while they faxed a copy to Washington. It went through two agencies there before someone finally noticed that whoever signed Saddam Hussein to the document spelled Saddam as "Sadam."

The four were then nabbed by the feds, who discovered they had documents to obtain up to $133 trillion (we have a national deficit with this much money hanging around?) belonging to Idi Amin, Manuel Noriega and Fidel Castro.

Suggestion No. 1 for your next family reunion: don't umpire any of the softball games.

I may have gotten myself into an irreversible jam last weekend. I guess I'll find out in the near future how big a mess I am in.

It started off so innocently. With 159 people on hand, there were three good-sized softball teams that wanted to play some ball last Saturday. The Hereford bunch would take on the San Antonio-Dallas-Austin branch, and the winner of that game would play the California gang for family honors.

Since I'm not officially a part of the family, and since I do a goodly amount of umpiring, I "volunteered" to umpire.

First off, I don't like to umpire softball. The strike zone is in the eye of the beholder. In baseball, the strike zone is in a fairly even place, and the ball comes in fairly straight.

Not so with softball. The softball is pitched in an arc, and it is up to the umpire to determine, in less than a split second, whether the ball passed through the strike zone on its downward plunge. It's pretty subjective and is really nothing but a big can of worms.

To put things in even more of a briny bath for me, I really didn't want to do anything to offend the Hereford family that I would like to someday be an official part of, and didn't want to hurt any of our visiting family, either.

And there were "outs" and "safes" to call on the bases, of course. The double play I called will probably be remembered by the California clan for generations. Just because I was looking directly into the 100-degree sun on Saturday afternoon is no reason to think I couldn't actually see the play.

The only real argument I got into was when I called a California batter out for hitting a "fourth strike" foul. You see, that's the rule in most of the softball leagues around here. Evidently they don't use that rule in California. They knew nothing of it, they know about it now.

In fact, it's probably spreading across the West Coast as "That Crazy John Brooks Rule."

This may have been the best family reunion I have ever been to. I didn't know half of the people there, so neither I nor they had any preconceived notions. I didn't get a single chigger bite. The water was fine. The company was great, the food was delicious, and, who knows, we may all get together again in a couple of years in Austin.

I hope it's in the spring. I'm not calling any midsummer sweltering softball games in Austin.

Editorial opinion around the state

July 8
San Antonio Light on Supreme Court:

Thurgood Marshall's resignation from the U.S. Supreme Court confirms the final demise of the Warren Court, to the chagrin of liberals and the joy of conservatives. But this occasion should help activists of both persuasions finally recognize that most of this nation's problems should be dealt with by the legislatures, not in the courts.

That this point is not now accepted is illustrated by news stories about liberals scouring Clarence Thomas' past remarks for evidence to help defeat his nomination to succeed Marshall. ...

For too long, Americans have looked to the courts to settle policy issues that more properly belong in the political arena. Texas, for example, has abdicated many of its state government responsibilities to federal judges because the Legislature has been unwilling to deal with them. ...

Activists should not rely on the Supreme Court to do what they cannot persuade Congress to do. And Congress should not look to the court to settle policy issues that are the responsibility of the legislative branch.

July 7
Waco Herald-Tribune on strong governor:

Gov. Ann Richards listened to the voters during her campaign and is prepared to pass the message along to lawmakers during the special session - first, eliminate government waste and duplication.

Gov. Richards heard right. Texas voters want to make sure their government is trimmed to its optimum level of efficiency.

"They (Texas voters) believe that there is too much fat in government, that government needs to be cut," Richards said when she officially set a special legislative session on the budget for July 15. She said lawmakers will first consider spending cuts and agency consolidations.

The Legislature will be guided by Comptroller John Sharp's audit of Texas government that showed how $5.2 billion could be saved or raised over the next two years primarily by cutting out fat and duplication and consolidating services. ...

Along those lines, Richards also should be supported in her attempt to seek the power to hire and fire heads of major agencies. She wants more direct and immediate control of agencies to make them more responsive to the will of the public. ...

The idea of a weak governor has far outlived its original purpose - to foil carpetbagging governors from wielding too much influence. Richards' plan would not affect rate-making bodies such as the Public Utility Commission or the State Board of Insurance. The governor needs the authority to hire agency heads with the advice and consent of the Senate in line with a typical corporate structure.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor,

We'd like to thank Wes Klett, Henry Reid and a multitude of other people in Hereford who worked so hard to engineer the Fourth of July celebration.

The celebration easily surpassed festivities like it which we've witnessed in towns ten times the size of Hereford. The festivities not only made us proud to be Americans, but also made us proud to be citizens of Hereford. We tip our hats to all who made the celebration such a huge success.

Susan and Charlie Hennessey

Dear editor,

I really want to know why the people of Hereford and Deaf Smith County won't acquire some of the office space that's in the Sugarland Mall for the young boys and girls, and the teenager, for a nice, clean place to go for drug-free entertainment.

If we the people ever intend for the harsh dope users to get off that stuff, the time is now. So, people, what's holding you back? Is it the lack of willpower?

What if you, like me, never had any feet to walk on and had to run all of your errands in an electric shuttle? Well, that would be kinda bad, wouldn't it? I am a handicapped person, without any feet to walk on. A person never knows what life is all about until he or she doesn't have any feet to walk on and cannot wear artificial limbs, either.

Another thing, I would like for all the people that operate any and all kinds of motor vehicles to allow me enough room on the city streets here in Hereford to ride my electric tri-wheelchair without trying to run into me. So many have tried, and they still crowd me over to the curb at times. Some of the people are nice about sharing the streets with me, and that I sure do appreciate.

I hope if someone out there is interested in getting the kids and teenagers off of drugs and off the streets, it should be now.

Sincerely,
Everett Davis

Dear editor,

Thank you for this opportunity to express my appreciation to the citizens of Hereford for their participation in our community-wide July 4th celebration. I respect our purpose in making this event possible to honor the many people who have served, and are currently serving, our country in the Armed Forces.

Not only do I salute our military but I applaud those many volunteers who, under the direction of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, planned and took part in making this independence celebration the most successful in many years. City employees had the park in great shape, and it was indeed a wonderful day. The support and cooperation of those present was exceeded only by their friendliness toward one another.

Hereford, Thank You for a job well done. You have made me proud to serve as one of your elected officials.

Respectfully,
Tom LeGate
Mayor

Dallas Morning News on collider chairman's resignation:

If J. Fred Bucy had intended to help build support for the Superconducting Collider by resigning abruptly as chairman of the Texas National Research Laboratory last week, he chose the wrong time and the wrong way to do so.

Mr. Bucy's claim that the project may not be built if Japan does not commit funding appears to be premature. ... Department of Energy officials said ... that even if Japan contributes only half of the hoped-for $1.7 billion, construction on the atom smasher will continue. ...

Mr. Bucy's hasty exit - which was featured on network television newscasts and front pages across the nation - now may have created a negative impression that the project will have difficulty overcoming. ...

It is commendable that Mr. Bucy, the former president of Texas Instruments, said he planned to continue working to rally foreign support for the collider as a private citizen. But he should be careful not to create more problems for his successor, who will be named by Gov. Ann Richards. The chairman of the commission is supposed to function as a super spokesperson for the SSC, the state's premier research effort. ...

July 7
The Houston Post on Houston seceding from Lone Star State:

The Louisiana House of Representatives has approved a study of New Orleans seceding from the state. The Crescent City has long been at odds with the rest of Louisiana, and a no-fault divorce may be the solution.

If New Orleans does leave, Houston - or Harris County - might consider following suit. We send to Austin far more money than we get back, the state refuses to pay what it owes the county for housing convicts and state officials criticize us for locking up criminals in the first place.

Fine. We'll just set up toll booths at the county line and charge those who don't live here enough to cover the costs of jails. No non-resident parolees allowed.

Liberals want 25% hike in tax dollars

BY REP. DAVID SWINFORD
Dumas, 88th District

On July 15, the state Legislature will reconvene in special session in Austin to formulate a budget. We will determine not only how much revenue we have for the next biennium, but how to spend the available funds.

This simple task will become very complicated because of the fundamental difference in what the so-called conservative legislators and the so-called liberal legislators believe to be best for our state. In truth, it is more of a conservative vs. liberal issue than a Democratic or Republican issue.

The figures are clear because we know approximately what we will spend in 1990-91 and what revenues we can expect without additional taxes in 1991-93. In the 1990-91 biennium, Texas spent $47 billion. We will have available revenues of $52.3 billion without a tax increase in 1991-93. That constitutes a $5.3 billion or 11 percent increase in government spending. The Democratic leadership wants another $6 billion, which would mean government would grow 25 percent from 1990-91 through 1992-93.

Our leaders are committed to the continual out-of-control growth of government. I will be voting "no" to all tax increases. I have worked on a plan with the House Republican caucus and am confident that we can fund all essential services with our present income.

Government is out of control. Did you know that the Texas Education Agency has more than 1,100 employees? The state only has 1,058 schools. That equals over one person supervising each school, and they have the nerve to use terms like "site-based management" and "local control."

Also, while our businesses and families in the Panhandle have been cutting back, over 15,000 new state employees and over 26,000 local government employees were hired during a period from March 1, 1990 to March 1, 1991.

Did you know three of the fastest-growing budgets in Austin are those of the governor, lieutenant governor and the House speaker? Government is out of control.

Comptroller John Sharp has just determined how to save $3 billion to $4 billion. Some leaders are beginning to say, "Well, maybe we don't need an income tax." Do you know why they found these savings and why we do not need the tax? Because they have heard you say so.

State government needs to look to hard-working families for the solution. During tough economic times, the majority of families in Texas have established a budget and most importantly, have learned to live within that budget. They have learned to make their money go farther and work harder. In short, Texans have learned to be fiscally responsible, and they have every right to expect the same of their state government. It is time for the people of Texas to demand that their elected officials learn how to balance a checkbook.

We are at a turning point. We can continue with a government out of control or we can find new ways to govern Texas. In John Sharp's Texas Performance Review, he quotes an old Texas saying: "If you always do what you've always done, you'll always get what you've already got."

I hope we can be bold and do something for Texas - not for personal gain, not for political gain and not for a political party, but for Texas.

Night Was Her Terror

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully, but, when all other medicines failed, three $1 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 58 pounds." Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: When I was just 4 years old, I had my first outbreak of cold sores around my nose and lips. I'm now 24 and have occasional outbreaks. They usually appear from a bad cold, or after being sunburned.

I have read that these are herpes simplex and can be passed to the genitals. Is this true? I always thought my cold sores were just that—cold sores. Could they be herpes simplex?

How would a 4-year-old child get this? I was adopted at 6 days of age and know nothing of my medical history. Is there anything available that can help control these?

DEAR READER: You got those cold sores because you were kissed when you were 4 or sooner. Yes, you have herpes simplex. There are two types of herpes simplex viruses, type 1 and type 2. Type 1 is the usual cause for cold sores, also called fever blisters. Blood tests that measure antibodies developed after a person has been infected with the virus show that as many as 85 percent of the public has herpes simplex type 1. And the antibodies develop in early childhood.

Herpes simplex type 2, genital herpes, is also rather common, affecting at least one in five adults. Antibodies for this infection develop after puberty, reflecting when the population becomes sexually active and is commonly spread from sexual contact. However, you can have herpes simplex type 1 of the genital area and type 2 of the oral area—again spread by contact. It used to be said that type 1 was above the belt and type 2 below the belt, but changing sexual habits has made that distinction not so neat any more.

I have explained herpes simplex type 1 and type 2 in my new Special Report 116, Do You have Herpes?, and would have sent you a free copy if you had included your address on your letterhead. Those who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/116, P.O. Box 787, Gibbs-

Bradley leads hot Open

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer
FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - To hear Pat Bradley tell it, hauling cement across a hot roof would surely be more fun and less arduous than competing for a U.S. Open golf championship under the prevailing conditions.

And she's the co-leader. Bradley, the LPGA's top money winner, and little-known Joan Pitcock took a 1-shot edge into today's third round after a marathon 5-hour duel with the long, hard, dry, hot, windswept Colonial Country Club course, site of the 46th women's Open.

"I am a little surprised to be leading," said Bradley, the 1981 Open champion, who bogeyed two of the final four holes.

"Is it golf or is it pocket pool?" grumbled Pitcock of the unpredictable greens.

Bradley fired a 73 Friday after an opening 69 and her even-par 142 matched Pitcock's 70-72 and was a shot ahead of veterans Amy Alcott and Alice Ritzman. Two back at 144 was another tour regular, Debbie Massey.

"It was a long day," Bradley said of the slow play. "Five hours is a long time to be out there. I guess we all expect to deal with the heat, wind and tough putting conditions."

Pitcock was even harsher:

"The pace of play is absolutely pitiful. I don't know what's going on out there, but something has to be done. I sat on my golf bag all day long."

Pitcock, who celebrated her 24th birthday Friday, said nobody expected her to be leading except possibly herself and that "Honestly, I don't expect to win. But I am at that point in my career..."

Alcott slashed three shots from par for a 68, Ritzman matched par 71 and Massey recorded her second straight 72.

With 29 tour victories, Alcott needs only another conquest to qualify for the LPGA Hall of Fame and she could only laugh when asked how she'd like that pivotal triumph to come in a major such as this one.

"That would be exciting," she said. "Probably the most exciting thing I can think of at this moment."

Alcott said she took cart No. 68 to the driving range Friday and told her caddy Bill Kurre: "That's a good number - all those loops and curlicues. That would be a good number to shoot today."

She did, but, like Bradley, it wasn't easy or entertaining.

"This is a great golf course, but it's tough, and it takes a lot of energy to play in the United States Open anyway," she said, recalling an exchange with Kurre on the 17th hole.

"I'm not having much blanket-blank fun out here," she complained. "You're not supposed to have fun," he snapped. "This is a survival test. It always has been and it always will be."

At the green, she knocked in a 28-foot birdie putt and yelled, "Now I'm having fun!"

Her 68 was the lowest of the tournament and propelled her back into the chase for the $90,000 top prize, which suddenly was out of reach for Betsy King, who is seeking an unprecedented third straight Open trophy.

King stumbled to a 78 and at 152 barely made the cut, 10 strokes behind the leaders.

Even Clemens failing Red Sox

By DICK BRINSTER

AP Sports Writer

The Boston Red Sox always turn to Roger Clemens, their bridge over troubled water.

But someone should have posted a "Bridge Out" sign Friday night, when Clemens failed to halt a slide in which Boston has fallen 7 1/2 games behind front-running Toronto in the American League East.

"I felt strong and thought I was making good pitches," said Clemens, who blew a 4-2 lead as the Red Sox lost 5-4 to the Minnesota Twins. "I got them to hit ground balls, but every ground ball seemed to take off and pick up speed."

Clemens (11-6) is only 6-5 after Boston defeats this year, compared to 67-17 in such situations in his first seven seasons. On Friday night, he allowed 11 hits in 6 1-3 innings.

Chili Davis had a game-winning single in the seventh inning.

Chuck Knoblauch opened the inning with a double and advanced on Kirby Puckett's sacrifice. After Kent Hrbek was walked intentionally, Davis hit a hard grounder by Clemens to break a 4-4 tie.

"I thought I had a chance to field it but it took one bounce and stayed on the ground," said Clemens. "The ball hit the bottom of my glove and got past me."

Davis' single made a winner of Paul Abbott (3-0), who pitched two perfect innings in relief. Rick Aguilera, the fourth Minnesota pitcher, worked a spotless ninth, striking out two for his 23rd save.

Blue Jays 6, Rangers 2

Pat Borders had a three-run double in support of David Wells as Toronto won for the 17th time in 20 games.

Borders broke a 2-2 tie, capping a four-run seventh inning. Wells (10-4) allowed two runs on five hits in seven innings before Duane Ward came on to get his 15th save.

Roberto Alomar and Joe Carter started the seventh with singles to chase Jose Guzman (4-4).

Yankees 2, Angels 1

Surging New York reached the .500 mark (40-40) for the first time since the Yankees were 1-1, beating reeling California on a 10th-inning groundout by Steve Sax.

Bryan Harvey (1-2) walked Williams to start the inning and pinch-hitter Matt Nokes singled him to second.

Steve Howe (3-0) pitched two-thirds of an inning, and Steve Farr got the last two outs for his 13th save.

Tigers 6, Royals 3

Cecil Fielder homered twice, but two unearned runs that scored on his routine grounder led Detroit to victory.

With the score tied 3-3 in the seventh inning, Milt Cuyler walked and was bunted to second by Tony Phillips. After a walk to Lou Whitaker, Storm Davis relieved Mike Magnante (0-1) and got Alan Trammell to fly out.

Paul Gibson (4-5) went 2 1-3 innings in relief and gave up two hits before Mike Henneman got two strikeouts for his 13th save.

White Sox 8, Brewers 6

Pinch-hitter Scott Fletcher had a two-run double in the ninth inning to help lift visiting Chicago over blundering Milwaukee.

The Brewer defense committed key errors that made seven of Chicago's runs - including three of four in the ninth off Dan Plesac (0-3) - unearned. The White Sox fell behind 5-0, but scored four unearned runs - two on Dan Pasqua's ninth homer - in the sixth against Milwaukee starter Jaime Navarro.

Fletcher's hit gave the victory to reliever Melido Perez (5-4). Bob Thigpen pitched the ninth for his 19th save.

Mariners 7, Indians 0

Cleveland was shut out for the second straight game and 13th time this season, with Randy Johnson and the Seattle bullpen combining on a six-hitter.

Johnson (7-6), who beat Rod Nichols (0-8), struck out nine. Johnson gave up five hits in seven innings and walked three.

Orioles 6, Athletics 3

Both Cal Ripken and Chris Hoiles went 3-for-3 with a double and a home run, and Ben McDonald pitched a strong game for visiting Baltimore. Hoiles hit a solo homer to break a 3-3 tie in the sixth inning off reliever Curt Young (2-2).

McDonald (4-3) struck out eight, allowing four hits and walking two before giving way to Gregg Olson, who worked the ninth for his 18th save.

Bonds' HR gives Reds 4th straight loss

By The Associated Press

Well, maybe the Cincinnati Reds shouldn't have pitched to Barry Bonds with first base open.

Jack Armstrong faced Bonds with runners on second and third in the fifth inning and Bonds hit a three-run homer Friday night as Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 7-2 and sent the Reds to their fourth consecutive loss.

With Pittsburgh leading 2-1 in the fifth, Drabek and Jay Bell singled and Andy Van Slyke doubled in a run. After Bobby Bonilla popped up, Armstrong pitched to Bonds rather than walk him and face Gary Varsho.

"I indicated for Jack that there was an open base and to throw nothing good to hit," Reds manager Lou Piniella said. "I should have put him on. Next time I'll walk him."

Bonds had his second straight four-RBI night, singling in a run in the seventh. He has 59 RBIs this year.

"I'm just trying to get hits, to hit the ball to all fields," said Bonds, who also homered Thursday. "I can hit the ball everywhere. I just want to keep the defense honest."

Doug Drabek (9-8) won for the seventh time in eight decisions. He gave up two runs and seven hits in eight-plus innings, struck out seven and walked two. Bob Patterson and Bill Landrum finished.

Armstrong (6-8) allowed nine hits and six runs in five innings.

Cubs 5, Astros 2

Frank Castillo gave up three hits in 8 1-3 innings at Wrigley Field and Jose Vizcaino had four hits.

Castillo (2-0), making his fourth major league start since being recalled from Iowa on June 27, struck out a career-high eight and walked two, he held Houston hitless for the first five innings.

Mark Portugal (8-5) gave up eight hits and five runs in five innings.

Mets 6, Padres 3

New York set a club record with its ninth straight victory from the start of a month as Gregg Jefferies returned to the lineup and drove in three runs at Shea Stadium.

Frank Viola (11-5) gave up three hits in seven innings and Alejandro Pena finished with hitless relief for his fourth save.

Braves 6, Cardinals 2

Lonnie Smith homered twice at Atlanta and John Smoltz won for the first time in seven starts since May 30.

Smith hit a two-run homer in the sixth off Bryn Smith (7-6) and added a solo home run in the eighth off Cris Carpenter. Ron Gant also homered for the Braves, his 16th this year.

Smoltz (3-11) allowed seven hits in 6 1-3 innings, struck out three and walked one. Mike Stanton pitched two perfect innings and Juan Berenguer got two outs for his 14th save.

Expos 6, Dodgers 5

Delino DeShields singled home the winning run in the ninth after visiting Los Angeles had tied the score with four runs in the top of the inning.

Eric Bullock, who hit a three-run homer in the sixth, doubled with one out off Kevin Gross (4-6). Spike Owen was intentionally walked and Bret Barberie walked, loading the bases. DeShields then singled to left past the drawn-in infield.

OUR EYES

EYE PROTECTION FOR THE ACTIVE LIFE

The active outdoor life of summer seems to result in more accidents that damage the eyes - accidents that could be prevented with the use of adequate eye protection. A rapidly moving ball can cause severe damage. Better than ordinary safety goggles are those made of polycarbonate, a particularly tough space-age plastic. Youngsters who wear helmets for baseball and other games should have eye guards, too. Swimmers can get comfortable protection against the irritation of chlorine or salt water with well-designed goggles. Better yet, special goggles for underwater swimming or for scuba diving can now be ground with your prescription, adding to your pleasure while snorkeling or diving - and your safety, too. Even gardeners should wear safety glasses. These glasses stop injuries to the eye from debris thrown by a lawnmower, and also keep chemical sprays away from the eye.

Cowboys draw fans in Austin

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys drew fans to their Austin training camp last year as if they had won the NFL championship. Actually, they were the league's worst team, winning only one game in 1989. But the Cowboys were kings to the people of Travis County. The Cowboys, one of the most glamorous of NFL franchises, relocated last year to Austin after decades of training at Thousand Oaks in cool and comfortable California. Nearly 100,000 fans trekked to the St. Edward's campus in three weeks of practice. Dallas officials are expecting many more fans to turn out when they check in Sunday for the start of practice. Two-a-day workouts begin Tuesday after a day off on Monday for a big golf outing. "We should be getting some big turnouts even with the heat," said Dallas public relations director Rich Dalrymple. For one thing, the Cowboys fell just a game shy of the playoffs with a 7-9 record that was such a dramatic improvement that it earned coach Jimmy Johnson NFL Coach of the Year honors in just his second year on the job. Dallas was 1-15 in Johnson's rookie season after replacing Tom Landry. The Cowboys have worked hard in the off-season with numerous minicamps. Also, quarterback Troy Aikman has healed quickly from shoulder and elbow surgery and is throwing the football with more velocity. Johnson, who loves to work his team in a hot climate, said Dallas will have to earn its respect all over again in the NFC East. "Even though we were pleased with our progress last year, we are still not where we want to be," Johnson said. "What we did realize is that the hard work put in by our people during the off-season can pay off in wins." One of the biggest items to watch will be the progress under the offense now that the much-criticized David Shula has left the Cowboys.

Johnson hired Norval Turner, who developed the passing game of the Los Angeles Rams and has drawn praise from Aikman. "I enjoy working with Norval and I think we'll be much improved," Aikman said. It wouldn't take much. The Cowboys were 27th in passing in the NFL last year, averaging only 161 yards per game passing. They were 26th in scoring with an average of 15 points per game. Both rookies and veterans were expected to report to training camp on Sunday. The Cowboys have already signed their first three draft picks. The first Blue-White scrimmage will be on Sunday, July 21. Dallas once again will scrimmage the Houston Oilers who are working in San Antonio. There will be a Cowboys-Oilers scrimmage in Burger Stadium in Austin on July 25 and one at Alamo Stadium in San Antonio, where the Oilers are training, on Sunday July 28. Dallas has its first preseason game at Kansas City on Aug. 3. The first preseason game at Texas Stadium will be on Monday, Aug. 12.

Oilers undergo less change

By JAIME ARON
Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON (AP) - Right after Jack Pardee introduced himself a year ago as the Houston Oilers' new coach, he scrapped the existing offense for a high-powered run-and-shoot and changed the defense from a three-man line to the more traditional four-man approach. "You can't change much more than that in one year. I didn't want it to appear as a rebuilding year or a step backward. I wanted to stay good along the way," Pardee says. He and his staff are preparing for a different but equally difficult task as the Oilers open training camp this week at Trinity University in San Antonio. But rather than implement an entire system like last summer, Pardee says they must try to maintain the team's positives and improve on negatives. The Oilers finished second last year in the AFC Central at 9-7 but were eliminated in the first round of the playoffs. Looking back, Pardee says he was able to install his new defensive scheme but did not have time to teach his secondary how to react at the line to different offenses. The new offense was not a problem, except to opposing defenses. Quarterback Warren Moon set numerous records while piling up yardage to help the team become the NFL's top-ranked offense. For this season, Pardee says his goal for the offense is to sustain its high level and add a few more wrinkles. The Oilers had many memorable moments in 1991, mostly from the offense. Moon and his crew were impressive in victories over Kansas City and the AFC Champion Buffalo Bills. But the Oilers' problems came from their inconsistency. They never won more than two straight games and suffered disappointing losses to the New York Jets and the Los Angeles Rams. "We're not so overly talented that we can just show up and beat everybody," Pardee says. "We did play pretty well at times, but we didn't scratch the surface of our best ball. We played some really good games, but we've got to do it every time out." Many forecasters have named the Oilers the pre-season favorite to win their first AFC Central title and first conference crown. Some magazines even have the Oilers penciled in for a Super Bowl trip to Minnesota in late January. "The encouraging part for this year is that there's high expectations," Pardee said. "But the reality of it is that you can't wish your way into it. You have to work." The Oilers also need to avoid a repeat of last year's 0-2 start. Half of this year's games, including their first three, will be against 1990 playoff teams. "Right off the bat, we've got to be pretty darn good just to be a .500 club," Pardee said. "We've been in the upper echelon, enough to make the playoffs four or five years in a row, but we need to go beyond that now." The first chore is reaching contract agreements with 23 players. Among the unsigned are starters Lorenzo White, Cris Dishman, Sean Jones and all draft picks. Those who are signed, Pardee says, are excited. "I think most of them are ready to get started again," he says. "They realize the work ahead of them to be special and have a good team. We've just got to say our prayers and have a lot of luck."

Foreman trying out TV

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
AP Sports Writer
George Foreman finds television commercials to be too much work, but thinks doing his TV series would be interesting. Being a boxing commentator for HBO also is fun. "You're good on HBO, just being yourself and not sounding like an expert," he was told. "I'm glad to hear you say that," he replied. "I've heard too many experts myself." The preacher is at peace with himself, but the puncher still resides within. "My wife has given me a year from last May to fight," the 42-year-old Foreman said. "I'm going to be active and then retire ... unless I win the title, then I'll defend it for a year." It looked as if Big George would get a rematch with champion Evander Holyfield on Nov. 8 at Las Vegas, although he prefers fighting Mike Tyson, because of the machinations surrounding a Holyfield-Tyson fight. Foreman can picture Tyson charging in just like Joe Frazier did when Foreman won the title by knocking down Smokin' Joe six times in two rounds on Jan. 22, 1973. He still can get a chance at Tyson or a rematch with Holyfield, but he'll have to wait until Holyfield defends against Tyson on Nov. 8 at Caesars Palace. That fight was made Wednesday - and Big George played a major role in it happening. Don King, Tyson's promoter, and

Dan Duva, Holyfield's promoter, both said that if their fighters couldn't meet each other, they would fight Foreman. King couldn't make a fight with Foreman, but Duva could, and that brought about Wednesday's deal. "He (King) had to do it," said Shelly Finkel, Holyfield's manager. "Once he lost Foreman, where was he going to go? We had it (Holyfield-Foreman)." So Foreman will have to wait until 1992 to get another chance at winning the title he held in 1973 and 1974. Finkel said the Holyfield-Tyson agreement stipulates "the winner make a good-faith deal to fight Foreman." "I'm going to get down to 235 pounds," said Foreman, who weighed at least 250 for his last 13 fights, as he prepares for a Sept. 7 match on HBO for which he will get $5 million. The next opponent for Lean-and-Mean George is expected to be a ring-rusty cruiserweight (190 pounds) named Boone Pultz. The world of boxing is just one territory Big George roams. There remains his ministry based in Houston and there is the realm of television where he has appeared as a commentator and pitchman and where he could soon be employed as an actor. Foreman is going to Los Angeles later this month to talk to a producer about doing a television series. What could be the format? How about "Minister Foreman Mysteries." Or stage it at Foreman's ranch and call it, "Big George on the Prairie." A series would be time-consuming, but it would still allow Foreman to fight and it would provide exposure. As for making commercials, Foreman, who has done one for a fast-food chain and another for an athletic shoe company, said, "I don't want to do that any more. You work all day, and you're only seen for a few seconds." That could be a description of his preparation for and his fight against Pultz.

Cancer, early detection could mean life, death

By DANEE WILSON
Lifestyles Editor

One in ten women will develop breast cancer sometime during their lifetime. Statistics show that if the cancer is detected and treated early enough, many women with breast cancer can continue to lead normal productive lives.

The Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center and High Plains Baptist Hospital of Amarillo will conduct a breast cancer screening clinic in Hereford on July 15. The clinic is targeting low income women in need of financial assistance.

A clinic will be held in Hereford from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the South Plains Health Care Providers, Inc., 603 E. Park Ave. Exams are done by appointment only.

A mammogram is an X-ray of the breast. Two views of each breast are taken, one from the side and one from the top.

A mammogram is very important because it can reveal benign or malignant lumps before they are large enough to feel.

To help aid early detection, it is important that women learn and perform breast self-examination every month, have a physical examination of the breast every year and have a mammogram done according to age recommendations: 35-40, one baseline mammogram; 40-50, one mammogram every one to two years and over 50, yearly mammograms.

Although it is natural to be alarmed if a lump is found, it can be a comfort to know that 80 percent of breast lumps are benign, and no cancer is present.

If a malignant tumor is treated promptly, 85 to 95 percent of women with early breast cancer will be alive five years after diagnosis. Most of them can be rid of breast cancer for the rest of their lives.

One Hereford woman knows first hand the importance of early detection and self-examination.

Thirteen years ago, Kee Ruland was diagnosed with having breast cancer. She found the lump herself during a self-examination.

"I feel very fortunate that I went to a doctor who firmly believed in self examination," Ruland said.

"I found the lump and called the doctor. I had a history of fibrocystic disease and the doctor felt sure it was just a cyst."

"He sent me to a surgeon to do a biopsy. At that time I discussed with the surgeon 'what if' it was cancer. I told him that it was up to him. I wanted the doctor to do what he felt was best."

"When they discovered it was malignant, I had a radical mastectomy. Because we caught the cancer in its early stage, I didn't have to go through chemotherapy."

"I see television shows where these women think it is so traumatic to lose a breast, but losing a breast is not nearly as important as losing your life."

Ruland can't stress enough the importance of early detection.

"If it weren't for the education I had about breast cancer and a doctor who stressed the importance of self examination, I would probably not be here today."

According to Ruland, breast cancer is one of the cancers, when caught in early stages that can be curable.

"After ten years, you are declared cured," Ruland said with excitement. "The best celebration I ever had was the day I reached that 10 year mark. It was better than any birthday or Christmas. I felt that a huge weight had been lifted off my shoulders that day."

If the family has a history of cancer, a yearly examination is vital.

"A mammogram is real important for women over 40," Ruland said. "I have one every year."

Ruland has found that educating others has helped her cope with her own cancer.

"I do educational programs for the American Cancer Society. I am the District 15 West Educational Next, press your hands firmly on your hips and bow slightly toward your mirror as you pull your shoulders and elbows forward.

Raise your left arm. Use three or four fingers of your right hand to explore your left breast firmly, carefully and thoroughly. Beginning at the outer edge, press the flat part of your fingers in small circle, moving the circles slowly around the breast.

Gradually work toward the nipple. Be sure to cover the entire breast.

Pay special attention to the area between the breast and the underarm, including the underarm itself. Feel for any unusual lump or mass under the skin.

Gently squeeze the nipple and look for discharge. If you have any discharge during the month, whether or not it is during examination, see your doctor. Repeat steps four and five on your right breast.

Steps four and five should be repeated lying down. Lie flat on your doctor examines each breast and underarm by feeling the tissue. Although a doctor can tell a lot by the way the lump feels, no one can be certain what a lump is just by palpations.

Aspiration, also call fine needle aspiration, can help the doctor discover whether the lump is a cyst (fluid filled) or a solid mass of tissue.

A local anesthetic is used to numb the area, then the doctor inserts a needle into the lump and tries to withdraw fluid. If it is a cyst, removing the fluid will collapse it. The fluid can be sent to a laboratory for testing.

If the lump is solid, the doctor sometimes removes a sample of cells with the needle. These cells are also analyzed in the lab.

The only certain way to learn whether a breast lump or area seen on a mammogram is cancer is by a biopsy.

During a biopsy, the doctor surgically removes all or part of the lump and sends it to the laboratory for analysis.

A doctor may use a needle biopsy, incisional biopsy, excisional biopsy, and a mammographic localization with biopsy.

Inserting a needle or cutting into a breast lump will not cause cancer to spread.

By having a biopsy, the doctor can tell whether the lump is benign or malignant.

If no cancer is found, the area may be the result of a fibrocystic condition, fibrocystic disease or benign breast disease.

Even if the lump is diagnosed as being benign, the fear is not always calmed.

...one in ten women will develop breast cancer sometime during her lifetime.

Chairman for the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Educating people helps me cope with my own cancer.

"I had rapid growth and I happened to have found it at the right time. I can't stress the importance of education; if it weren't for education, I would not have found the lump."

Because of early detection and self-examination, Ruland is able to lead a full productive life. If it were not for early detection, she might not be around to enjoy her new grandbaby.

Breast self-examination should be done once a month to become familiar with the feel of the breasts.

One way to do a breast self-exam is to stand before a mirror, inspect both breasts for anything unusual such as any discharge from the nipples or puckering, dimpling or scaling of the skin.

Watching closely in the mirror, clasp your hands behind your head and press your hands forward; you should be able to feel your chest muscles tighten.

back with your left arm over your head and a pillow or folded towel under your left shoulder.

This position flattens the breast and makes it easier to examine. Use the same circular motion described earlier. Repeat the exam on your right breast.

Lumps in the breast can be confusing because the breast is made up of ducts, lobes and fat. Under the breast are muscles and ribs, which may make the breast feel "lumpy" or uneven.

Breasts sometimes change during the menstrual period, but if the lumps do not go away after the cycle, it is important to see a doctor.

If you're past menopause and a lump is found, your doctor should be advised.

Your doctor can help you feel what is a normal breast is like and how to detect an abnormal lump.

If a lump is found, it can be evaluated in a number of ways including the mammogram.

One way is palpation, which is a physical exam of the breast. The

CANCER

A benign lump can not turn cancerous, but a cancerous lump can develop near a benign lump.

Every new lump does not have to be biopsied.

A doctor should be seen if there is a spontaneous discharge from the nipple. The fluid may be clear, milky, bloody or even green. During a pregnancy, the discharge may be pregnancy related.

A benign breast change does not increase the chances of developing cancer.

At-risk women are those who are older. The older you are, the greater the chances are of getting breast cancer.

One in five women diagnosed with breast cancer has a family history of the disease.

Other factors include having your first child after 30, never being pregnant, getting your first period at an early age, or having a late menopause.

Most women diagnosed do not fall into a "high-risk" category.

For more information about the clinic or to make an appointment, call the Harrington Cancer Center at the toll free number, 1-800-274-HOPE (4673). Locally, for more information, contact the clinic at 364-7688.

For answers to questions you may have about breast lumps or breast cancer, call the following toll-free telephone number and you will be automatically connected to the Cancer Information Service serving the area: 1-800-4-CANCER. Spanish speaking CIS staff members are available.

Between the Covers

BY REBECCA WALLS

We have had a lot of fun this summer with reading, crafts, and movies. The grand finale will be July 16. On that day we will have Joey the Clown from Amarillo presenting our program. Everyone is invited to come and I am sure they will not be disappointed. Remember parents, July 19 is the last day that the reading prizes will be given out.

Number one on the new book list this week is the number one title on the New York Times bestseller list. The Kitchen God's Wife by Amy Tan introduces you to Winnie and Helen who have kept each other's worst secrets for more than 50 years. Now because she believes she is dying, Helen wants to expose everything, and that she must be the one to tell her daughter Pearl.

Winnie feels that she must even tell the terrible truth that Helen does not know. The truth takes mother and daughter back to a small island outside Shanghai in the 1920s and through China during World War II. Unaware that Pearl has her own secret to tell, Winnie confesses how she mistook love for another because she was so ignorant of herself. In telling of truth Winnie does away with social taboos, old wives' tales, wartime propaganda, American know-how, as well as regrets. In the end Winnie is able to show Pearl why it is still possible to change the past, claim the future and go beyond the fate of the Kitchen God's wife.

True Crime: a novel by Michael Menshaw is a story of murder and money, love and family that combines the authenticity and detail of nonfiction with the inventive power and range of a novel. Main character, Tom Heller, is a true crime writer whose specialty is family murders. When his poor, alcoholic father is brutally slain in his rundown Maryland home, Tom returns to make his own investigation. Then two other victims, the father and son of Tom's college girlfriend, are found murdered on their exclusive estate.

Tom immediately sees a connection that the police do not and it is this link that soon makes Tom a suspect in the murders. Now Tom must journey twenty years into the past to come face to face with the rivalry with his brother, whose help he now needs, the cynicism of his own profession, and the impossible love a boy from the "wrong side of the tracks" had for a rich and privileged woman.

Other titles of interest are: Swing Sisters by Jeane Westin is a novel about the romantic, glamorous, and sometimes lonely world of an all-girl big band touring the country in the late 1930s trying for a chance at fame.

Escape from the CIA: How the CIA Won and Lost the Most Important KGB Spy Ever To Defect to the U.S. by Ronald Kessler.

Couple united Saturday

Christy Horn, of Canyon, and Daniel Espino, of Stinnett, were united in marriage Saturday during an intimate wedding ceremony with family and friends at Stinnett United Methodist Church.

Landrum Medlock, of the church, officiated the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Joe Horn of Borger and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raman Espino of Stinnett.

The bride was given in marriage by her father in an altar setting of country blue and mauve roses and carnations accented with matching ribbons.

Delane Horn served her daughter as matron of honor and the groom's father, Ramon Espino, served as best man.

The groom's mother, Mercedes Espino, served as bridesmaid.

Eddie Horn served as groomsman and the groom's brother, Pete Espino escorted guests.

The bride's niece, Lauren Hough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hough, was flower girl. Michael Cruz, the groom's nephew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cruz, served as ring bearer and his brother, David Cruz, served as candle lighter.

The bride was attired in a formal-length gown of white satin. It was fashioned with scoop neckline, accented by pearls and embroidered lace.

The full skirt gracefully flowed into a cathedral length train edged with embroidered lace.

In her hair, the bride wore a flower arrangement with strands of ribbons and pearls.

She carried a cascading bouquet of country blue and mauve roses and carnations accented by ribbons and pearls.

MRS. DANIEL ESPINO

Bridal jewelry consisted of pearl earrings.

The attendants wore tea-length floral print dresses of country blue and mauve colors.

Mary Kanagy invited guests to register at the reception held at the church.

The table decorations and cake were prepared by Maxine Little.

Punch and coffee were poured by the groom's sisters, Rebecca Cruz, and the bride's sisters, Suzy Hough and Stacy Monden. Maxine Little served the bride's cake.

NEW YORK (AP) - Roseanne Arnold, until recently better known as Roseanne Barr, says she recalled just two years ago that she was abused as a child. As a result, she has severed ties with most of her family.

"I was very much an abused child," the comedian told Joan Rivers in an interview to be aired today. "But I didn't remember any of it until two years ago."

Leaving for a wedding trip to the Bahamas, the bride wore a floral designed dress of country blue and mauve.

The couple will make their home in Stinnett.

The bride graduated from Borger High School and is a graduate of West Texas State University. She will be teaching kindergarten in Borger.

The groom is a 1982 graduate of Stinnett High School and is employed by Santa Fe Railroad.

The star of ABC's "Roseanne," who recently took husband Tom Arnold's last name, said she has been in therapy and is on her way to getting better.

Arnold also said that she severed relationships with her whole family, except her children.

"I don't like my family," she said, adding she didn't invite them when she and her husband renewed their wedding vows last month.

MONICA FLORES, JOHNNY PENA

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We have been happily married for 55 years and never had to write for advice. But now we are troubled about something and have decided to seek your help.

We are worried about today's movies, especially those shown on TV, and the impact they might have on our six grandchildren.

As an experiment, we devoted six full weeks to watching network and cable TV films. The mindless violence of virtually every movie shown, the wanton destruction of human life and property and the glorification of brutality made us both sick. We had no idea that TV was so bloody.

Are we alone in wondering what kind of society this insidious cancer can lead to? There must be other parents and grandparents who are worried. What can be done, Ann Landers? — Grace and Harold Willens, Los Angeles

DEAR FRIENDS IN LOS ANGELES: Unfortunately, the cancer you speak of cannot be completely eradicated because there is an audience for the kind of junk you abhor. Something CAN be done, however, to get rid of a lot of it if enough people will stir themselves to complain.

The most effective blow is to the pocketbook. Write to the networks that show the bone-chilling stuff and tell them you will not tune into their stations as long as they continue to show such films. Then take note of the sponsors. Write to them and say you will not buy their products. And make good your threat.

But make sure you are on solid ground. Stick to objections about blood and guts violence as you did in your letter to me. Don't get into the sleazy sex factor, although it is plenty objectionable, or you will be accused of wanting censorship and attempting to force your standards on others.

If thousands of viewers complain and follow through with a boycott, you can be sure they will get results. Write on, folks. Remember, the consumer is king!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I, too, am a cleaning lady like "Marion, Illinois," and I resented it when a reader tried to belittle you by saying, "Who wrote that answer, Ann? Was it the cleaning lady?"

I hold a degree in elementary education and maintained a 4.0 average in my master's degree program here in Atlanta. My IQ is in the superior range.

My father and grandfather were both physicians. I am a graduate of a prestigious girls' preparatory school in Memphis and my grades were always excellent. I have made two Atlantic crossings, once to ski in France and again for a two-month tour of Great Britain and the continent after college.

I left a teaching career to clean houses. If you think I am crazy, let me explain.

If I were to go back to teaching with a master's degree, it would mean a cut in pay. I am my own boss; there is no stress in this work. I am a single parent, and my work hours are almost identical to my daughters' school hours.

Although some people would consider this menial labor, it is the perfect job for the single/working parent. I thought you might want to know there are other "dummies" out there cleaning houses. — Roswell, Ga.

DEAR GEORGIA: Thank you for a different kind of letter. You sure took the snobs down a peg or two. Well done.

Lonesome? Take charge of your life and turn it around. Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. HHS class of 1951 celebrates 40 years

The Hereford High School graduating class of 1951 gathered several times during the July 4th celebration and the following weekend for a 40th class reunion.

To start the event the group gathered to watch the parade, visited the museum and attended the events of the July 4th celebration.

On July 5th the group assembled in the home of Lois Lomenick at 416 Western for visitation and a barbecue. The following day everyone met for a brunch in the home of Claudia and Glen Wilson, 149 N.W. Drive. They enjoyed visiting with teachers and friends. Later in the evening the group gathered at the Hereford Country Club for dinner.

To conclude the reunion on Sunday, the group met in the home of Joyce Lyons to watch video tapes taken over the past few days.

Class members came from Georgia, California, Oklahoma, Arizona, Idaho and Texas.

Kirby, Graham exchange vows

Amid the glow of soft candlelight, Rebekah Ann Kirby, of Amarillo, and John D. Graham of Groton, Conn., were united in marriage Friday at the First Baptist Church in Morton. Officiating for the ceremony was the great-uncle of the bride, Rev. James Carter, a retired Methodist minister.

The bride is the daughter of Pat Wilson of Amarillo and Billy Joe Kirby of Levelland. The bridegroom is the son of Joan and Joe Graham of Amarillo.

The church altar was decorated with spiral candelabrum adorned with fresh roses.

Terri Strickland served as matron of honor and the groom's brother, Jeff Graham, served as best man.

The bride's brother, Bengy Kirby of Mounds, Okla., and Frank Sweet of Groton, Conn. served as ushers.

Cassi Tierra Strickland, daughter of Terri and Randy Strickland, served as flower girl and her brother, Trey Don Strickland served as ring bearer.

Musical selections were performed by Christine Polvado of Morton.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a designer's gown of white silk featuring a basque bodice covered with a lace top of floral design, short bouffant sleeves, dropped waistline, floorlength bouffant skirt of floral lace and an overskirt tied back in the front with silk roses on each side.

The double layer finger tip veil featured a floral halo of schiffli lace motif, white roses, and bridal pearls.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of pink silk flowers accented by a white lace fan.

Bridal attendants were attired in floral print tea-length dresses with puffed sleeves.

Justin Day and Johnny Kirby, nephews of the bride, invited guests to register at the reception held in the church fellowship hall. Others assisting were the bride's sister-in-law, Debbie Kirby.

Leaving for a wedding trip to points in California, the bride wore a white sailor dress trimmed in navy.

The couple will make their home in Hawaii.

The bride is a former Hereford resident. She is a graduate of River Road High School in Amarillo.

The groom is a former Amarillo resident and is stationed with the United States Navy in Groton, Conn.

Couple plan ceremony

Kimberly Ann Foster of Hereford will become the bride of Colton Lee Hunter of Fort Worth.

The couple plan to marry Sept. 7 in Community Church of Hereford.

Parents of the bride-elect are Leroy Foster of Hereford and Edna Jimerson of Panama City, Fla. The prospective bridegroom is the son of E.E. Hunter of Amarillo and Pearlle Owens of Fort Worth.

Miss Foster is a 1978 graduate of Hereford High School and is employed by Tip Top Oil Company of Hereford.

Hunter is a 1981 graduate of HHS and is currently employed by the Kroger Company in Fort Worth.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Arnold Schwarzenegger took a few minutes out from promoting "Terminator 2: Judgment Day" to boost support for the U.S. Olympic Festival.

"If you don't come to the opening ceremony of the Olympic Festival, you're terminated," the actor quipped at a news conference Wednesday at which he and Mayor Tom Bradley donned "Terminator" sunglasses.

"It is the elite event of the year," Schwarzenegger said of the festival, which pits athletes against one another for slots on the 1992 U.S. Olympic team.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: Having read the letter warning against the danger of children being caught in drapery cords, I would like to point out that these cords can be deadly to small pets.

Cats especially tend to play with anything that dangles. After rescuing our cat who had been caught in our blind cord, I cut every cord at the bottom loop and affixed a large bead at each end. Now there are two separate cords.

Our cat can now play with them with less danger of being strangled. — Patricia Hill, St. Petersburg, Fla. COLLEGE KIT

Dear Heloise: A son or daughter heading off to college will find a "home kit" very handy. This includes a hammer, screwdriver, tape measure, picture hooks, nails and thumbtacks. You can buy a kit already made up or customize your own.

Our daughter found this kit useful at every turn! — Debbie Vieira, Fillmore, Calif.

It certainly is useful! My mother gave me the same thing when I went off to college and I couldn't have done without it. — Heloise PET PALS

Dear Heloise: We enjoy feeding and watching wild birds, and have several feeders in our yard. We also put bread out every morning for the blue jays and feed two cats and one dog outside.

One morning, after putting out food for all these critters, I looked out and saw two woodpeckers in the cat-food pan gobbling cat food, a blue jay in the dog-food pan gobbling dog food, and the dog and cats were eating the bread left for the birds. — Stan Satterfield, Meridian, Miss.

As long as all your guests are happy, I'd say you really have a show on your hands. — Heloise EXPECTANT DAD

Dear Heloise: I thought I'd let you know what we did when I was in my last weeks of pregnancy.

My husband is a salesman and is away from a phone most of the day. We were worried I wouldn't be able to contact him when I was ready to go to the hospital.

He came up with the clever idea of renting a beeper, only to be used for my phone call. It sure came in handy because when the time came he was in his car and home in a flash! — Sara Gabriel, Norwich, Conn.

Now, a single policy with double protection.

Imagine a life insurance policy that protects your family's future in more than one way. Suppose it also protected you from the financial consequences of long term health care while you're living, without reducing the life insurance benefit.

That's the policy our independent agency recommends for many customers thinking about retirement. It's called the Total Protection Plan from the CNA Insurance Companies, one of several we represent. It's the first policy that pays the full cash value or death benefit of your life insurance even after you receive long term care benefits.

MRS. JIMMY CHANCLER JR.
...Misti Hardin

Couple united in outdoor wedding

Misti Lynn Hardin and Jimmy Chancler Jr., both of Amarillo, exchanged vows recently during an outdoor wedding set against the mountains of New Mexico.

The bride is the daughter of Jerry and Barbara Hardin of Hereford. Jimmy is the son of Jim and Harriet Chancler of Amarillo.

Large baskets of gladiola, roses and wild flowers graced the cabin, lake setting during the ceremony held at Bittercreek Ranch in Red River N.M. Doug Manning officiated the wedding.

Misti, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a full length cotton dress adorned with lace to the hips which flowed into a full satin skirt.

The bride wore a satin puffed net hat accented with pearls. She carried a bouquet of assorted flowers and asparagus fern. Her jewelry consisted of pearl and diamond earrings and necklace.

Tammy Gilmore, who served as her sister's matron of honor, wore a navy and lilac flowered, off-the-shoulder dress with cotton lace.

Mark Chancler, brother of the groom, was best man. The groom's brother, Kelly Chancler and the bride's uncle, Joe Hardin, ushered guests.

Flower girls were Tricia Chancler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Chancler and Renee Chancler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Chancler. Ring bearer was Brandon Chancler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Chancler.

Vocalist Donna Sheppard sang "Lord's Prayer," "Ode to Joy," "The Rose," and "Wind Beneath My Wings." The bride's brother-in-law, Ronnie Gilmore, ran the sound equipment.

Marsha Chancelor was seated at the registry.

A reception for the couple was held in front of the large cabin at Bittercreek.

Chad Fitzgerald, Joannie Frazer and Jimi Bohannon served cake and Julie Chancler served punch and coffee.

The bride's table was decorated with Battenburg table cloths, lilac cake with wet lace and flowers, Armani bride and groom, lilac mints, nuts and crystal and silver serving dishes. Flowers also graced the table.

The groom's cake depicted a lake and a fisherman in the mountains. It was made with yellow cake and chocolate icing.

The bride chose a silk short set to wear on her wedding trip to Ocho Rios, Jamaica.

The couple will be at home at 1932 Port Lane in Amarillo.

Jimmy attended Texas Tech University and co-owns A-1 Floor Covering in Amarillo.

The bride is a graduate of Hereford High School and attended Texas Tech. She received her bachelor of science degree in nursing and is employed at Northwest Texas Hospital in pediatric intensive care unit in Amarillo.

Guests attending the wedding had private cabins during the weekend. Friday night, guests enjoyed a barbecue. After the wedding and reception, guests picnicked and then went dancing in Red River.

HHS teachers participate in AC program

Hereford High School teachers Karen Abney and Carol Anne cook are among 25 area secondary school teachers participating in the Woodrow Wilson Institute for Secondary Math Teachers at Amarillo College.

The institute exposes participants to new directions in the content and teaching of secondary school geometry. The institute's themes are: the exploration of traditional geometry using investigative techniques; the study of non-traditional geometry using investigative techniques; the study of non-traditional topics, and the application of computers to geometry.

Sessions concentrate on activities that generate extensive amounts of material designed for immediate use in the classroom.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Try a Little "T.L.C."

To most people, the initials T.L.C. stands for tender loving care. I believe in tender loving care but, in this column, T.L.C. represents trust, loyalty and commitment.

These three personal characteristics will help assure your success in business. Whether you own the business or work for someone else, being trustworthy, loyal and committed is important.

As an entrepreneur, I was fortunate to surround myself with trustworthy people on whom I could depend. These employees worked as hard when I was on vacation as when I was standing right beside them. Day after day, they earned my trust.

Trust is a funny thing. You would not keep an employee around whom you could not trust. However, many levels of trust exist. You may trust some employees more than others.

for example, you trust most employees with company funds. For many businesses, this is not a problem. Company time is an entirely different matter. Many employees who would never take a penny from the cash register think nothing about coming a few minutes late every morning. They embezzle a few minutes during the noon hour and leave early if the boss is out of town.

These petty infractions can add up to hundreds or thousands of dollars in lost time. They also eat away at the level of trust. You may have to terminate the most skilled and qualified employee if the level trust continues to deteriorate.

Loyalty

Loyalty is another form of trust. A.P. Gouthey said, "Loyalty is the one thing a leader cannot do without." True loyalty goes beyond blind love or admiration. The loyal employee will most likely know the faults and weaknesses of the boss and the company. However, they will strive toward success in spite of those weaknesses.

Loyal employees will work hard to maintain the right direction when things are going well. When things are going poorly, you can count on them to pitch in and help right the wrongs.

If you are in business, one of your most important assets is a loyal customer base. At very best, customer loyalty is fragile. Loyalty bonds are difficult to establish but easily broken.

You must earn customer loyalty. Customers only stay loyal to businesses that provide consistent quality in their products and services. Remember the two natural laws regarding customers:

- 1) Customers always go where they receive good value, and 2) Customers always return when you treat them well.

Commitment

Most successes in life require commitment. One trait of commitment is honoring your word. The importance of keeping your verbal commitments will go far in impressing your customers, employees and bosses. If you promise to get something done, do it. If you agree to meet at a certain time and place, be there. If you pledge your support to a project, follow through.

Committed employees will consistently do more than they are paid to do. If you are an employee who agreed to work for $5 per hour, start doing $7 worth of work. It won't take you boss long to notice you and what you are accomplishing. You may not receive a pay raise immediately. However, you will have the personal satisfaction of knowing that you are worth more than you are earning.

Commitment also means "hanging in there" during the tough times. It's easy to be a team player when the team is winning. However, it's another matter when the going gets tough. Perhaps a good paraphrase would be "when the going gets tough, the committed keep going."

The trio of trust, loyalty and commitment is the business version of "T.L.C." I hope these traits will become your new goals for personal and business growth.

Don Taylor is the director of West Texas State University's Panhandle Small Business Development Center.

Recession a different animal

NEW YORK (AP)—If you feel the recovery is passing you by, you may have more company than you realize. Millions of others seem to share that feeling.

The perception, though not entirely absent in other recessions, may have an unusual and perhaps ominous significance in this one: Most of the "recession-is-over" measurements involve expectations rather than current conditions.

"Hope doesn't buy much," says Albert Sindlinger, whose staff conducts telephone interviews with hundreds of Americans every week. Most households are badly pinched, he says. They don't share the optimism of forecasts.

The reason, he says, is that families are watching prices and taxes rise while their incomes remain stagnant. Businesses, meanwhile, remain mired in a sales and profits slump. That's the real world, he says.

In contrast, the world of hope, says Sindlinger, is made up of economists, investors and some government officials with vested interests in promoting a quick end to recession. He worries that they overlook realities.

Sindlinger's thesis is worthy of attention because it takes aim at those who last summer scoffed at the prospects of recession, denied it when it came and said it was over when it wasn't. He questions their methods.

It is easy to see why Sindlinger trusts ordinary Americans. In them, he says, resides the unbiased economic truth. It is what people can or can't afford that determines economic direction - not, he says, what sages say.

"It would be wonderful if economists talked to people," he growls from his headquarters in Wallingford, Pa., where employees of Sindlinger & Co. conduct their research. But, he laments, economists talk to themselves and to their computers, and both, he says, may be programmed for the past.

He contends that the numbers produced by this recession cannot simply be measured against old recessions to produce an estimate of depth and anticipated longevity.

The people he and his researchers talk to, he says, are too deep in debt and unwilling to embark on the recovery conventional forecasters anticipate. He says it is one of the differences between this recession and others.

There are other important differences too, he says. This isn't simply a business-cycle recession, according to his view of things. There are no excess inventories to work off, after which workers are recalled to their jobs.

He claims today's jobless are different than before, when blue-collar workers were laid off and rehired as the recovery proceeded. In recent years, however, imports have caused many blue-collar jobs to be "exported," he says, reducing the blue-collar component of unemployment.

Today's jobless figures, he says, contain far more white-collar jobs than before, and "those who wear those collars aren't being recalled." Why? Because their jobs have been eliminated.

Read the newspapers, he says. He refers to job cuts at International Business Machines, Apple Computer, Wang, Citicorp. and other large companies. "Those aren't layoffs," he says. "Those jobs won't be recovered."

For such reasons he argues that the current recession is a structural one, rather than the more typical recession that corrects imbalances in supply and demand and, in the process, cuts into inflation and interest rates.

Family Reading Challenge 1991

You're the Chef

Pretend you are in charge of the family dinner one night this week. You are only allowed to prepare foods you can find in the grocery advertisements. Use as many ads as you need in order to plan a menu that you like.

Write your menu on a piece of paper, then make a shopping list of all the foods you will need to buy, along with the price of each. Total your purchases to see how much money you will need to take on your shopping trip.

We hope you enjoyed this. Don't forget to complete the entry form below as soon as you have met the requirements of the challenge.

Modern Design Emulates Old Fashioned Plan

COUNTRY HOME PLAN BOASTS WRAP-AROUND PORCH WITH WOOD RAIL

© BY W.D. FARMER, A.I.B.D.

The formal living and dining rooms of this two story plan are separated by an open rail stair to the second floor. The basement stair is incorporated into the same area affording better space utilization. A practical arrangement is also applied to the great family room, with wall space for furniture placement being plentiful and kitchen, basement, foyer and deck access being a special consideration.

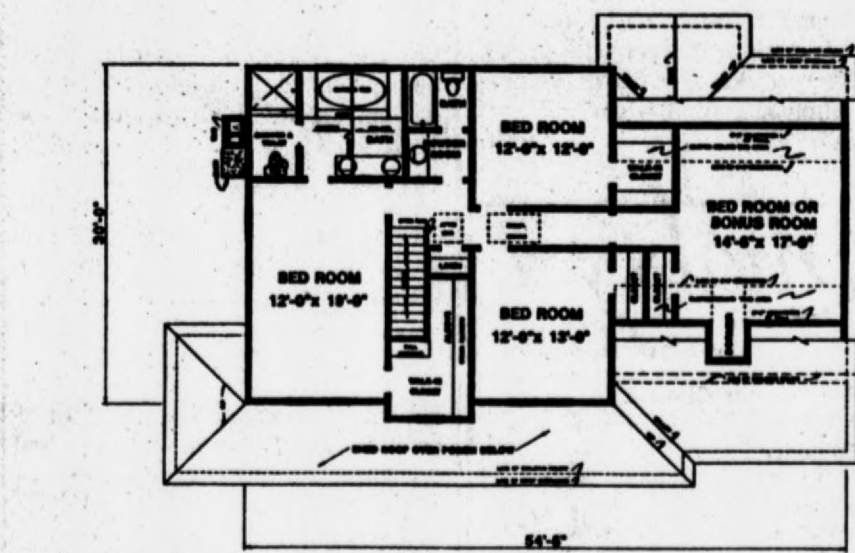

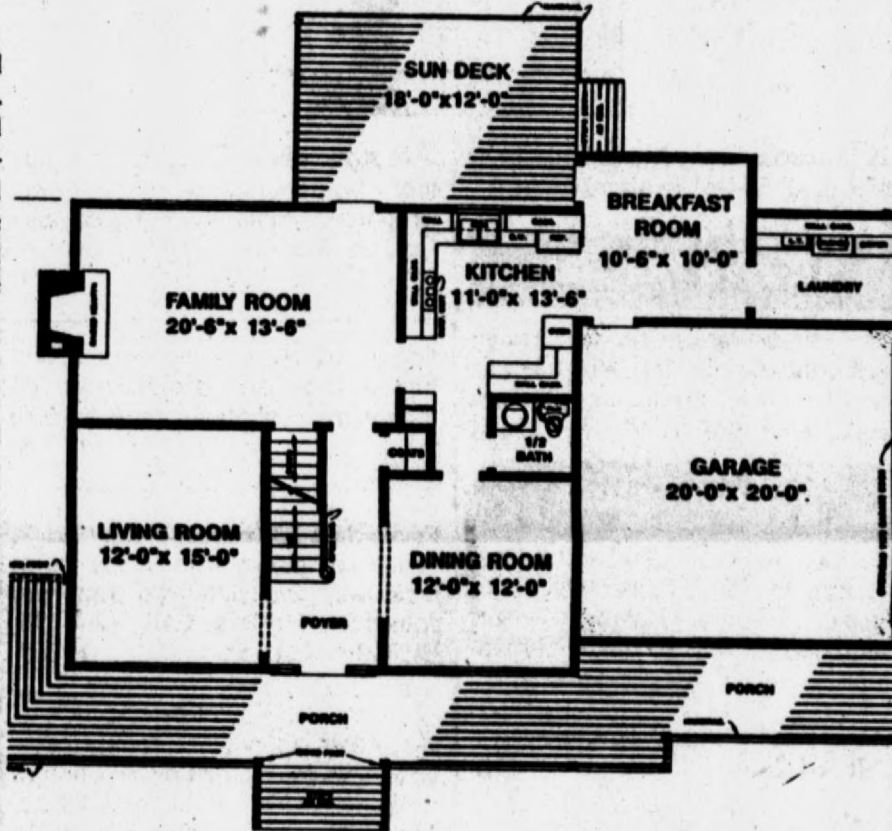

A full sized kitchen, breakfast and laundry are included and garage or deck approach is from the breakfast room. A half bath is centrally located on the first floor.

There are three bedrooms and a bonus room shown for the second floor. The master bedroom suite is endowed with a compartment garden bath and a central bath services the remainder of the second floor. Attic stairs and an attic fan are included and closets are suitable for this arrangement.

The country exterior is fashioned with old time farm living in mind. The wood rail stair leads to and around the full front porch. Windows are multi-lite and shuttered and the combination hip and gable roof, horizontal wood siding and turned wood columns complete the old fashioned look.

The plan is Number 2547. It includes 2,568 square feet of heated space and is a computer generated plan. All W. D. Farmer plans include special construction details for energy efficiency and are drawn to meet FHA and VA requirements. For further information write W. D. Farmer, P. O. Box 450025, Atlanta, GA 30345.

The last pole of the transcontinental telephone line, linking the east and west coasts was erected in 1915.

'Stephen King's Golden Years' hints of author's dotage

In Stephen King's Golden Years, Keith Szarabajka portrays an elderly janitor who experiences bizarre physical changes after contamination in the explosion of a top-secret government lab. Frances Sternhagen and Ed Lauter co-star in Tuesday's two-hour premiere on CBS; the series will air on Thursdays.

REVIEW

Stephen King, that ultra-prolific writer who seems to publish a new novel every week, has dived into the deep end of the prime-time TV pool with Golden Years, a summer series due to premiere on CBS with a two-hour first episode on Tuesday, July 16.

Touted as "the author's first original story created for network television," the first five episodes of Golden Years were penned by King, with Josef Anderson stepping in to derive the final two from King's story. King also shares the title of executive producer with Richard P. Rubinstein, whose Laurel Entertainment (Tales From the Darkside) is the series' production company.

King's work has been generally successful when adapted into motion pictures, the titles Carrie, Christine and The Shining being the better examples, but the author has not had a memorable television adaptation since the miniseries Salem's Lot. His Sometimes They Come Back, which recently debuted in prime time, would perhaps have been better received had it not been the same theme as his less-engaging It, King's only other made-for-TV project, which pre-dated the former by a matter of months.

Both thrillers involved the return of a terror from childhood, which drew the protagonists back to a dark tunnel for the exciting climax. His formulaic writing makes us well aware of the things that frightened Stephen the boy, and we may well suspect that Stephen the man has a novel-writing program on his word processor.

Keith Szarabajka and Frances Sternhagen star in Stephen King's first made-for-television series. After a freak laboratory accident, the couple become the target of government operatives.

For Golden Years, King found fresh material in the cliches of the sci-fi B-movies of the 50s. This may sound familiar: the lab of a crazed government scientist working on a secret biological regeneration project explodes and contaminates the crusty old janitor with a mysterious "green stuff," triggering a gradual transformation. The janitor (Keith Szarabajka) feels fine, but his wife (Frances Sternhagen) notices the subtle changes.

The premiere episode of Golden Years is worth checking out just for some of the set design and cinematography, but after that, well, if you're sitting around with a pot of java and a few stale donuts, tune in. ... Something interesting might happen. © TV Listing Inc.

Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda delighted audiences in 1941's The Lady Eve. Stanwyck is paid tribute in Barbara Stanwyck: Fire & Desire, debuting Monday on TNT.

TNT to celebrate Stanwyck

Vigor, versatility marked career

By Steven Alan McGaw

Born in Brooklyn in 1907, orphan Ruby Stevens had lived in 14 foster homes by age 18. Finding real escape only in movies, Ruby especially enjoyed determined heroines like indomitable Pearl White. Informal dance lessons led to chorus work and, eventually, her Broadway debut in 1926's The Noose. Critics praised the young actress, now equipped with a strong new name; Barbara Stanwyck.

On Monday, July 15, cable's TNT unveils a new documentary/tribute, Barbara Stanwyck: Fire & Desire. The program takes stock of Stanwyck's personal life and seeks to place her versatile body of work in context.

Stanwyck found lasting stardom, of course, in films, playing many of the most significant, influential women's roles in Hollywood history. Parts like Stella Dallas, the evangelist in The Miracle Woman and zany Sugarpudd O'Shea in Ball of Fire reminded producers and writers how effective a strong female character could be. Her white-hot performance in Double Indemnity helped make that film a movie milestone, and Stanwyck lent her talents to many great film noir works that followed, including The Strange Love of Martha Ivers.

Stanwyck was also a skilled comedic actress, infusing charm and vitality in movies like The Mad Miss Manton and her own favorite, The Lady Eve. Years later, she won an Emmy for her portrayal of lady rancher Victoria Barkley in TV's The Big Valley. Health problems and the scarcity of good roles made further appearances rare, but she won much acclaim for her fiery performance in the miniseries The Thorn Birds.

TNT's program is a laudable effort, and a good introduction for those unfamiliar with Stanwyck's intense, riveting work. An hour, however, scarcely does justice to a screen legacy such as this, and host Sally Field's near-hysterical gushing grates on the nerves. Nevertheless, Barbara Stanwyck: Fire & Desire is a valuable reminder of an important screen artist who should not be forgotten.

SOAP TALK

Jensen Buchanan to play twins

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: I read in your column that Anne Heche (ex- Marly/Vicky) on Another World was leaving the show. I was wondering if they were going to replace her? I like those characters, and I want them to get together with their respective guys. Thanks for your column; I look forward to hearing from you. —S.N. in Wisconsin.

Dear Reader: Actor Jensen Buchanan is supposedly taking over as the twins. Buchanan was previously on One Life to Live as Sarah Buchanan. She left the New York-based soap to pursue prime time in L.A., but it looks like she is headed back to soapdom.

Dear Candace: I watch The Young and the Restless. Why don't they catch old David Kimbell? He's been so mean to Nina. I want him caught and brought to justice. Why don't they catch him, and take him off the show? I like good people who do good things. Thanks very much. —Sarah Lewallen, High Point, NC.

Dear Reader: It wouldn't be a soap if it didn't have a bad guy. I recently spoke with Michael Corbett, who plays Kimbell. He said he felt his character was a little more sympathetic now that he is all scarred up. He also enjoys playing the new character Jim Adams. Look for a rather strange turn of events when Adams begins dating Nina's mom, Flo.

Some of you who have been in school may be a little confused by the David/Nina situation. Nina is David's wife, but she discovered that he was planning to kill her (for her money) and was fooling around with another woman, so she shot him five times in the chest. David pretended to be in a coma and then he escaped from the hospital.

He went to a plastic surgeon and ended up with a scarred face and the word "killer" across his forehead. Now he is making himself up to look like a totally different person so no one will recognize him and he can have his revenge. All this should make for an interesting summer on Y&R.

I want to hear from you! If you have a favorite soap scenario you would like to sound off about, or a question about the soaps, write to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, TX 76161-1009. © TV Listing Inc.

STAR NOTES

Ex-salesman Donahue sold on talk-shows

By Lisa Otoupal

"Guess who's here?" Phil Donahue asks his audience. He paces in front of them while he lists his guests' claim to fame, common problem or concern. As the questions start, he darts in and out of the audience, trying to get to everyone. He pauses to ask, "Is the caller there?" And then he's off and running again. Donahue's style is unorthodox, but it's prompted the press to call him "the best talker in television."

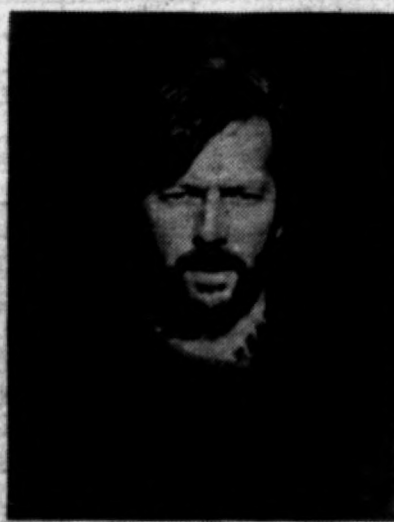

Donahue has been in television more than half of his life. He was born on December 21, 1935, in Cleveland. His broadcasting career began while he was attending Notre Dame University.

After he graduated, Donahue returned to his hometown, where he landed his first professional job. He stayed there until 1959, then did a ten-month stint at WABJ Radio in Michigan. His next move was to WHIO-TV/Radio in Dayton, Ohio. Not only did he anchor the television news, but he was also the host of a radio call-in talk show, Conversation Piece.

Donahue left broadcasting briefly to try a career as a salesman. But in 1967, WLWD-TV approached him with an offer he couldn't refuse: a television talk show of his own. The Phil Donahue Show was born on November 6, 1967.

Donahue is married to actress Mario Thomas and has five children from a previous marriage.

TIME OUT

Faldo a dark horse at British Open

By Steve Paschal

One year ago, Nick Faldo was riding on top of the golf world after winning his second British Open championship. This week, the native Englishman, who has been near the top of the PGA earnings list for the last several years, will be trying to return to top form when the oldest of all the major professional championships gets underway at Royal Lytham & St. Anne's Golf Club in Southport, England.

Faldo, who ranked just 112th on this year's earnings list going into July, could pocket more than $140,000 with a victory in the 120th British Open. However, even if he's at the top of his game, he will find repeating last year's performance tough against a field that includes former champions Mark Calcavecchia and Tom Watson.

Calcavecchia won the 1989 Open in dramatic fashion when he came from four strokes off the pace in the final round to best Australians Greg Norman and Wayne Grady in the tournament's first-ever four-hole playoff.

ABC Sports, which has been at the British Open since 1962, has expanded its live coverage, Saturday and Sunday, July 20 and 21, to four hours each day in order to follow the leaders throughout the course. ABC will have cameras at all 18 holes, with commentators Roger Twibell, former PGA champion Dave Marr and BBC golf-expert Peter Alliss providing analysis.

Persian Gulf War hurt 'Not Without My Daughter'

By Polly Vonetes

Q: All of us are wondering what happened to the movie Not Without My Daughter with Sally Field. We passed the book around to all of our friends and eagerly waited to see the movie. It was on in Peoria, Ill., and Orlando, Fla., and then suddenly it disappeared. We're guessing it had something to do with the war in the Persian Gulf. Am I right?
—Marian Millen, Kewanee, Ill.

A: Unfortunately it was just a case of bad timing. War in the Persian Gulf was declared right before the movie was released, and some of the biggest movies of this year, such as Dances With Wolves, Home Alone and Godfather Part III, were already in theaters, which caused Not Without My Daughter to get lost in the shuffle. But fortunately for you and your friends, it has been released on video.

Q: I am big fan of Richard Dean Anderson of MacGyver. I have been unsuccessful in finding his address. Could you please print his address, and could you tell me if he is married? Just out of curiosity, I saw him on the Joan Rivers Show, and she said he had just turned 40. He sure doesn't look it; he looks more like 30.
—Tracy Schultz, Rillard, Ohio

A: Richard Dean Anderson is indeed a very young 40. He was born January 23, 1950. Write to him c/o MacGyver, Paramount Television, 5555 Melrose Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90038.

Q: Could you please tell me about Ty Miller of The Young Riders? I would also like to know where I could write to him.
—Lori Davis, Trona, Calif.

A: Ty Miller was born on September 26, 1966, in Granada Hills, Calif. He attended the University of Southern California, fully intending to take over the family's retail Christmas-tree business, but started acting while in college. He soon had a string of TV commercials followed by guest appearances on prime-time series. The Young Riders is his first series as a star. You may write to him and other cast members c/o The Young Riders, MGM/UA, 10000 W. Washington Blvd., Culver City, CA 90232.

Sally Field

Q: I'm not sure you can help me, but I would like to know if you have information on where I could send movie scripts and if you have the address of the Writer's Guild. Any information you might have would be helpful.
—David Scheideman, Omaha, Texas

A: The address for the Screenwriter's Guild is: 7065 Hollywood Boulevard, Los Angeles, CA 90046. Contact them and get a list of agents and go to them. If you just send your scripts to studios, they'll just end up on the slush pile and eventually get read. A good book for you to read is Adventures in the Screen Trade by William Goldman. Good luck!

Q: For years I have been enthralled by Doc Severinsen. I am an older (almost 60) fan of his and have wanted to write him my words of praise for all these years. Could you please give me an address where I could write him?
—Joan Matula, Chadron, Neb.

A: Try this address: c/o NBC, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, NY 10112.

Editor's Note: This week, we say goodbye to Polly Vonetes, who has written the Let's Talk column for three years. Polly's almost encyclopedic knowledge of television and its people has been an invaluable resource to us and to her readers. But more than that, Polly's genuine interest in the work she did came through on the printed page.

Thanks, Polly, and best wishes from us all.

Send your questions about the world of entertainment to: Let's Talk, Features Dept., P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, Texas 76161-1009. Because of the volume of mail, only questions of general interest can be answered.

Baja to the Outback, sun shines on cable

By Dan Rice

Hollywood grande dame and all-around "swell dame" Barbara Stanwyck is profiled in Barbara Stanwyck: Fire & Desire, debuting Monday, July 15, on TNT. Sally Field narrates the retrospective, which will be followed by one of Stanwyck's best films, My Reputation. Baby Face airs Tuesday, July 16; Stella Dallas airs Saturday, July 20.

Larceny, murder and kidnapping lead to romance in the Australian Outback in the two-part movie Alice to Nowhere, debuting Thursday and Friday, July 18 and 19, on A&E. John Waters and Rosey Jones star in this drama about two hostages struggling to survive their captors, the harsh desert and that crazy thing called love.

But seriously, folks, what happens when hundreds of comics converge in Canada, all scrambling for an open mike? You've got the Just for Laughs '91: Montreal International Comedy Festival, Saturday on Showtime.

The Amazon rain forest is the subject of National Geographic's top photographers in Stalking the Moments, airing Sunday, July 14, on TBS.

If you're always wearing out the shock absorbers on your car, don't miss the Baja International. Tune in Sunday to TNN's SCORE Off-Road Racing II and see 250 motorcycles, ATVs and four-wheel vehicles pour out of Ensenada, Mexico, for a 500-mile run across some of the roughest terrain imaginable.

'Toxic Crusaders' features good guys in mutant clothing

By Sherry Jones
It's time to clean up our environment, and guess who's going to help us do it? Why, The Toxic Crusaders, of course!

This animated children's series debuts in syndication during the week of July 15th. The show stars Toxic, a good-guy mutant, and his band of hideous environmental accidents (Junkyard, Headbanger, Major Disaster and Nozone), who join forces to rid the world of crime, corruption and noxious chemicals.

As the story unfolds, we learn that Melvin Junko, a 98-pound weakling, was transformed into Toxic, a hideously deformed creature with superhuman strength and size, by falling into a bubbling vat of toxic waste. Although Toxic is an ogre in appearance, he has a kind heart and works to protect his friends and neighbors in Tromaville from environmental treachery.

Toxic's perpetual foe is Dr. Killehoff, the villainous leader of an alien race of pollutant mutants, who has just made living arrangements in the town of Tromaville. Killehoff, leading his life behind a mask that pumps noxious fumes for him to breathe, has vowed to make the Earth a more pleasant place (for him!) by creating a toxic wasteland. Killehoff's sidekicks, Psycho and Bonehead, aid the evil doctor in his dastardly schemes.

Jerry needs to get a grip! See him try each week on Seinfeld, Wednesdays on NBC.

Elvis lives! For rock'n'roll tribute from Graceland, anyway

Graceland will mark the 15th anniversary of Elvis Presley's death with a rock'n'roll tribute scheduled for the summer of 1992. Priscilla Presley is looking to sign a few big-name stars to perform Elvis' tunes in concert. A taped TV special and an album are also in the works.

Could this be the truth, or is it simply a dare? Word has it Madonna is planning a new board game based on her expose documentary Truth or Dare. The singer/actress' merchandising groups are said to be pondering two different versions: a racy version for adults and a G-rated version for kids.

Here's a short one: Woody Harrelson, on hiatus from Cheers, is currently filming White Men Can't Jump with co-star Wesley Snipes. The basketball comedy is directed by Ron Shelton (Bull Durham).

Country star Hank Williams Jr. will dance as well as sing a newly recorded ditty for ABC's Monday Night Football. The new song, "The Monday Night Football Boogie," will kick off games telecast this fall. This will be the third season Williams has performed the show's theme song.

Michele Greene has jumped on the L.A. Law jumping-off bandwagon. Greene has asked the show's producers to write her character, Abby, off of the show and release her from her contract.

If you've always wanted hair like Bart Simpson's (yikes!), now you can have it. London stylist Simon Forbes creates the hair-raising 'do, which uses extensions (fake strands) hot-sealed onto your own hair, for about $75. For those who can't afford the flight to London, a number of select salons in the U.S. can also give you the Bart look.

TERMINATOR 2: JUDGEMENT DAY: Starring Arnold Schwarzenegger. Awesome. An excellent $100 million action-filled blockbuster. Terminator 2: Judgement Day continues the saga of humankind's struggle to defeat the genocidal machines of the future. Schwarzenegger is now programmed to be man's last hope for survival, a Terminator sent back from the future this time to stop a cyborg foe out to kill a young boy destined to be the world's future leader of humans against machines. Although Mr. Schwarzenegger's name is featured prominently above the title, the true stars of Terminator 2 are the stunt coordinator, Gary Davis, and his small army of stunt people, whose credits are generally located nearer to the makeup artist's. Credit placement notwithstanding, stuntmen and women are today's headliners. The films for which audiences consistently queue up are those in which stunt people take it all on the chin, often and hard. Of the top-10 all-time moneymaking films, eight rely on stunt-making magic. Only No. 1 on the list, E.T.: The Extra-Terrestrial, and No. 3, Home Alone, are not generally recognized as stunt showcases, even though both contain a plethora of them. The stunts in 2 are amazing, overwhelming and spectacular - you will get your money's worth. Rated R. It's a bit violent.

SCIENCE-FICTION/
FANTASY VIDEOS

LOGAN'S RUN: (1976) Starring Michael York and Peter Ustinov. This was a popular (in '76) first-run sci-fi film about a futuristic society where people are only allowed to live to the age of 30. The first half of the film is dazzling - showing life of unending pleasure. Michael York plays one of the policemen charged with terminating the "older" inhabitants. As he nears the age limit he begins to desperately search for a way to avoid the mandatory extermination. The movie has excellent production values, enhanced immeasurably by outlandish sets and beautiful, imaginative miniatures. The film won a special Oscar for its visual effects.

The script is based on the best-selling novel by William F. Nolan and George Clayton Johnson. Rated PG. A nice family sci-fi.

Three Boxes

DEATH WATCH: (1980/French/West German) Starring Romy Schneider, Harvey Keitel and Max von Sydow. This film, from the French director Bertrand Tavernier, is a bizarre albeit thought-provoking look at the power and the misuse of the media in a future society. As a member of an advanced civilization, Harvey Keitel has a camera implanted in his brain. A television producer uses Keitel to film a documentary of a terminally ill woman without her knowledge. The commentary on media manipulation is biting. Death Watch has excellent direction and solid performances. Rated R for profanity and suggested sex.

Three Boxes

TIME BANDIT: (1981/British) Starring Sean Connery, Shelley Duvall, Ralph Richardson, and John Cleese. Anyone with a sense of adventure will find a lot to like about this delightful tale of a boy and six dwarves, assisted by the Supreme Being (Ralph Richardson), who travel back in time via a map that charts a course through holes in the fabric of the universe. Along the way they meet Robin Hood (John Cleese), Napoleon (Ian Holm) and King Agamemnon (Sean Connery). The script is by Gilliam and Palin, of Monty Python fame. Rated PG for violence and adult themes.

Three Boxes

BLADE RUNNER: (1982) Directed by Ridley Scott, starring Harrison Ford, Sean Young, Daryl Hannah, and Joanna Cassidy. This Ridley Scott production is a visually impressive and superbly crafted sci-fi film which invests a remarkable storyline with a distinctive noir-ish style and the seventies high-tech look.
