Fire department gets new equipment

A new baby arrived at the Hereford Fire Department Thursday, after a wait of more than nine months.

A $115,713 investment in the firefighting capability of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department, the new arrival will pump water from a hydrant at double the rate of the truck being replaced.

The new pumper will allow the department to retire a 1958 model that could dispense water from a hydrant at the rate of 750 gallons per minute.

Fire Marshal Jay Spain said Friday that the new fire engine was loaded with hoses and other necessary equipment soon after delivery.

"We'll take it out to the training field tonight to check out all the gauges and other equipment," said Spain. He observed a pump test before the truck was brought to Hereford.

The truck, with a GMC cab and chassis, was fitted out by W.A. Neel and Sons of Waco. The bid for the equipment was awarded on July 1, 1991. Cost of the truck was included in the city budget for the year that ended April 30.

Placing the new pumper in service should help in maintaining stable fire insurance rates in Hereford, said Spain.

The fire department has another pumper, a 1989 model, that pumps 1,000 gallons per minute from a hydrant connection.

With the addition of the new pumper and retirement of the 1958 engine, the department still has six firefighting units. The '58 Grumman will be sold, said Spain.

Fire engine draws crowd

A new $115,713 pumper for the Hereford Fire Department arrived Thursday and drew spectators to the parking area at the fire station. The firefighting unit replaces one that has been in service in Hereford since 1958.

The Grim Reaper

The Grim Reaper has been a visible reminder of the dangers of drinking and driving for Hereford High School students this week. The Grim Reaper is part of Project Graduation, sponsored by the HHS Student Council.

Grim Reaper gets 14 at high school

The Grim Reaper came calling for 14 Hereford High School students Thursday.

A special assembly for all HHS students was held Thursday. Sponsored by the HHS Student Council, it was designed to make students more aware of the dangers of drinking, and drinking and driving.

The Grim Reaper, portrayed by StuCo President Javier Gutierrez, led 14 "followers" down the auditorium aisles to the stage where they reenacted a party and an accident. The reenactment showed how the lives of four teenagers and a young couple celebrating their first baby were changed by a drunk driving accident.

Later, the 14 students told how their lives would be different if they were killed by a drunk driver or in an accident after they had been drinking. Some of the students were known for their partying; others for their athletic prowess. All related how their dreams, plans and lives could be shattered by an accident.

Mary Parker, a StuCo sponsor, said similar assemblies have been held in many Texas schools to bring home the dangers of drinking and driving this time of year. An average of 14 teenagers a day are killed in the United States; that average takes a huge jump during the last month of school with graduation, proms and other activities.

Besides the assembly, StuCo members have posted signs and other reminders as part of "Project Graduation" to encourage seniors, and others, to celebrate the end of their school years without alcohol.

Health Fair is Saturday at hospital

A variety of health screenings and exhibits from medical professionals and agencies from Hereford and the area will be featured at a Health Fair on Saturday at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

The health fair will be held from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the hospital. A complete schedule appeared in Thursday's Brand.

Besides health programs, the Hereford Police Department's DARE program will offer fingerprinting for children throughout the fair. The fingerprint cards may be kept by the parents in case of emergency.

Other programs include blood pressure and cholesterol screenings, presentations by the physical therapy, respiratory therapy and x-ray departments, and a special pain seminar designed for persons suffering from arthritis.

Post office records sought

An improvement project at the city-owned airport, east of Hereford, has been finished and the newly-paved runway is operational.

The project began more than two years ago when the city applied for grants from the Federal Aviation Agency and Texas Department of Transportation to upgrade the facility.

A bid of $728,715 was awarded late last summer to DePauw Construction Company to re-build the mile-long runway.

Base and sub-base work had been completed when an early cold front dropped temperatures in late October. Daytime temperatures remained too low for the contractor to lay asphalt until this spring, said Hereford City Manager Chester Nolen.

A sealer was applied in the fall to prevent deterioration of the base and work was suspended until warm weather allowed application of the two-inch layer of asphalt, said Nolen.

"The contractor finished the asphalt about two weeks ago and the runway lights have been re-installed," said the city manager.

Cost of the improvement project was financed almost entirely by federal and state grants. The city contributed approximately $17,000. Airport use was severely limited during the winter months because of delay of the work on the main runway.

The runway lighting system should be replaced, said Nolen, because of damage sustained when struck by lightning more than a year ago.

"We are applying for an emergency grant from the FAA and Texas Transportation Department to install a new system," said Nolen. He estimated cost of the lighting at $40,000.

The airport runway now may accommodate aircraft weighing up to 80,000 pounds, including a small jet, he added.

Airport project completed

WASHINGTON (AP) - A federal grand jury investigating the House Post Office is demanding office expense records of the Ways and Means Committee chairmen, two other lawmakers and the former sergeant-at-arms.

Subpoenas made public Thursday provided the first indication that the grand jury wants to scrutinize records of House members. Until now, indictments and convictions focused on embezzlement and drug sales involving House Post Office employees.

The grand jury sought six years of vouchers for goods and services submitted by Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill.; Reps. Austin J. Murphy and Joseph Kolter, both D-Pa., and former Sergeant-at-Arms Jack Russ.

The subpoenas, which covered the six years ending April 15, also sought information on stamp allotments for House members.

All told, the grand jury issued five subpoenas: one each to the three members' offices; one to House Clerk Donald K. Anderson for records of the three lawmakers and Russ; and one to Sergeant-at-Arms Werner Brandt for records of his office.

Brandt replaced Russ in mid-March. House Speaker Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., said U.S. Attorney Jay Stephens reduced the request during negotiations with House lawyers, but he did not reveal the changes.

Ex-husband nightmares basis of book

NEW YORK (AP) - It promises to be an anxious weekend for the nation's cads, one of whom will learn early next week that an ex-wife's essay on his foibles has won "The First Wives Club Consumer Contest."

The stories range from the merely annoying - the rascal who bought his wife the Sunday paper for her 21st birthday - to the truly terrifying: A doctor accused of caressing his wife's face and telling her, "I know just where to press to break every bone in your face."

All are subjects of essays submitted to Simon &amp; Schuster, publisher of "The First Wives Club" by Olivia Goldsmith, a novel about three women who are discarded by their powerful husbands for slim young "trophy wives."

The novel's jacket flap announced an essay contest on "just what a cad your ex-husband is." First prize is a $1,500 gift certificate to Cartier, the jeweler.

The publisher says it heard from almost 200 women, including one behind bars in Wisconsin for trying to hire someone to murder her ex-spouse.

Winners will be determined not by how bad their husbands were, but how literate their essays are. The prisoner, for example, wrote that she was enjoying her 14-month sentence "considerably more than my 18-year marriage."

There's apparently a lot of inspirational material out there, including a scoundrel who rented the basement apartment to his girlfriend and a boor who took back the ring he gave his first wife and presented it to his second one.

Darlene of Tucker, Ga., who raised the children and handled the details of innumerable moves as her husband completed his medical training, wrote that he would slap her on the chest at night and say, "If I'm not asleep, you're not asleep."

One man said he had some "irreconcilable architectural differences."

When she gained weight, her husband would "use his hands in a sawing motion against my thighs" and warn, "You could get diabetes and they'll cut your legs off right here."

Caroline of Raleigh, N.C., said she used cardiopulmonary resuscitation to save her husband's life one morning when he collapsed after jogging. Six weeks later, while still recovering, he announced their marriage was over. The next thing she knew, he had moved a young blonde from his office into their condo.

During the divorce, he reneged on promises of financial support.

"Had I not been able to do CPR, I would have been alone, but financially comfortable," she wrote.

Carolyn of Redwood City, Calif., related how she was sitting on the couch after an exhausting trip to Disneyland with the kids when her architect husband informed her they had "irreconcilable architectural differences."

As Carolyn told it, he left in the midst of a home renovation: "There was sheet rock stacked everywhere, dust filled every crevice. The roof was off, for God's sake!"

Carolyn, however, got her revenge, gloating about selling the now-renovated house to her husband at the peak of the market. "Oh, and one more thing," she wrote. "My ex-husband is now being laid off from his $95,000 job."

Sounds like material for the First Husbands Club Contest.

Hernandez accepting new post

David Hernandez, area manager of the Texas Employment Commission office in Hereford, has accepted a promotion as area manager of the Texas City office, it was announced this week.

Hernandez, who has served as TEC manager here since Feb. 1, 1989, will assume his new position on June 1. He and his wife, Sharon, plan to move next week.

Hernandez has been employed with TEC for five years and was employed in private industry prior to that time. A native of Amarillo, he graduated from Caprock High School in 1970 and served in the Air Force for four years, primarily as a classroom instructor.

He returned to Amarillo and graduated from Amarillo College, then earned a degree in occupational education at Wayland Baptist University and a master's degree in management.

Hernandez has been active in civic organizations here and Amarillo. He was a member of Hereford Rotary Club, a member of the Hereford Prison Task Force, and headed up the Job Services Employer Committee here. He performed in the Nazarene Christian Academy dinner theater show two years, and he and his wife sang at various churches.

"We hate to leave Hereford," said Hernandez, "but we feel this is a professional opportunity we cannot turn down. The people here welcome you with open arms, and you can get as involved as you want in community, civic and church activities."

Sharon, who formerly was employed at Hereford State Bank, will go to work at a bank in Texas City when the couple make their move.

CORPUS CHRISTI - A Nueces County grand jury has indicted two Corpus Christi-area police officers on felony assault charges in connection with the shooting of a 30-year-old man.

TULSA, Okla. - A federal judge has agreed to consider a lawsuit by Texas evangelist Robert Tilton, who claims four attorneys and two adversaries have conspired to destroy his ministry.

San Francisco article causes flap over chief

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The Police Commission early today fired Police Chief Richard Hongisto amid allegations he ordered officers to strip newsmen of a gay newspaper containing an unflattering article and graphic about him.

The commission held a marathon executive session for over eight hours, hearing testimony from Hongisto and several of the officers he allegedly ordered to remove the papers.

Commissioners said Hongisto exercised poor judgment in ordering the removal of the newspapers. Deputy Chief Thomas Murphy was named as acting chief of police.

Hongisto denied he ordered the newspapers removed. At issue was a cover graphic and article in the San Francisco Bay Times, a twice-monthly newspaper aimed at the gay and lesbian community. On the cover, Hongisto is shown in a doctored photo holding a nightstick in a lewd manner.

Mayor Frank Jordan ordered the police investigation after initial allegations surfaced. District Attorney Arlo Smith also was conducting a criminal probe.

Hongisto, who took over as chief of the force only six weeks ago, was widely held as a champion of liberal issues.

But six of the 11 city supervisors criticized their former political ally since Hongisto ordered police sweeps that resulted in more than 1,700 arrests following the Rodney King beating trial verdict in Los Angeles.

The thousands of Bay Times copies removed from racks May 8 blasted Hongisto's law-and-order approach to the demonstrations. "Dick's Cool New Tool: Martial Law," shouted the headline.

Police returned more than 2,100 copies of the free newspaper to publisher Kim Corsaro on Wednesday after investigators seized them from a police officer's basement.

Under the City Charter, only the five-member Police Commission has the power to fire Hongisto. Jordan appointed the commissioners.

Courtney Crawford and Jessica Hill received a Superior rating on their project, "The Role of Women in the History of Texas." Tyson Foerster presented "Kwahadi Indian Dancer" as an individual performance and received an Excellent rating. The students were the first to represent Hereford at the state contest. Sponsors are Don and Carolyn Waters.

Prosecutor's attempt at re-trial criticized as 'politically correct'

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A police sergeant acquitted in the beating of black motorist Rodney King decried a prosecutor's attempt to retry another officer as the "politically correct" thing to do.

District Attorney Ira Reiner was expected in court today to ask Judge Stanley Weisberg to order a new trial for Officer Laurence Powell on a charge of assault under color of authority.

A jury deliberating the case in the Los Angeles suburb of Simi Valley last month deadlocked on that charge, voting 8-4 in favor of acquittal. Powell, Sgt. Stacey Koon, and Officers Timothy Wind and Theodore Briseno were acquitted of all other charges.

Weisberg, who presided over the trial, will decide whether to allow Powell to be tried again. He was not required to rule immediately.

Koon, who was acquitted of assault and filing a false police report in the March 3, 1991, beating, attacked Reiner's decision to seek a retrial.

"It's politically expedient, politically correct for Ira Reiner to refile those charges against Officer Powell even though (the jury was) 8-to-4 for acquittal, and leave the tough decisions to Judge Weisberg, whether or not he can be retried or not," he said in an interview Thursday with CNN.

The remaining charge against Powell carries a maximum penalty of six years in prison.

Among other legal issues Reiner is likely to raise during the hearing is a request to hold the second trial in a city similar to Los Angeles. Weisberg has been criticized for picking the conservative, largely white Ventura County community for the trial.

The judge chose Simi Valley from among three possible locations after an appeals court ordered the case out of Los Angeles County because of political turmoil stirred up by the beating. That order remains in place.

The April 29 verdicts touched off riots that left 51 people dead in the Los Angeles area and caused an estimated $800 million in damage.

Minor disturbances have continued this week, including an incident Thursday in riot-torn South Central Los Angeles. Police said they arrested 13 suspected gang members who broke windows at a hamburger stand and smashed the windshield of a TV news van.

In another development, Reginald Denny, the white truck driver whose videotaped beating by angry blacks came to symbolize police paralysis at the start of the riots, was released Thursday from Daniel Freeman Memorial Hospital in good condition, said spokeswoman Mary Ellen Brown. He had been admitted in critical condition.

Three of the suspects in his beating were charged Thursday with attempted premeditated murder, torture, aggravated mayhem and robbery. The fourth was charged with robbing Denny as he lay on the ground.

Municipal Court Judge William Chidsey Jr. delayed the men's arraignment until May 21 at the request of their attorneys and ordered them held without bail.

The defense might raise the issue of whether Denny provoked the attack by shouting racial slurs, Dennis Palmieri, a lawyer for suspect Damian Monroe Williams, said in today's Los Angeles Times. Police spokesman Bill Frio said authorities had no evidence of provocation.

Company cleared of civil wrong

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - An Austin judge has ruled that El Paso Electric Co. broke no laws when it bought $70 million in annuities from a now-failed insurance company that is at the center of an insurance fraud indictment.

The ruling came in a 1988 civil lawsuit the electric company filed against First Service Life Insurance Co., which along with El Paso Electric is a defendant in a criminal indictment scheduled for trial in July.

The criminal indictment charges 11 prominent El Pasoans and several El Paso businesses with bilking investors in the insurance company's annuities of $9.6 million.

State district Judge Peter Lowry, ruling Friday on a motion from El Paso Electric attorneys in the civil case, said that the utility did not act illegally when it bought the annuities and demanded the insurance company put up collateral to guarantee the investments.

The civil case also is pending but utility spokesman Alan Bunnell said the company feels fully vindicated.

A state grand jury in El Paso charged last June that El Paso Electric, as an insider annuity holder, had engaged in illegal dealings with co-conspirators to take over stock ownership of Triangle Electric Supply Co.

Assistant District Attorney Andrew Thomas said Lowry's ruling won't affect the criminal case.

Two injured in accident

Hereford volunteer firefighter Carlos Ruiz disconnects the battery from an automobile involved in a two-car accident Thursday at the intersection of U.S. Highway 60 and Farm to Market 2943. Two persons were injured and taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital for treatment.

Beating by officer is alleged in El Paso

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - An El Paso police officer has been placed on administrative leave after a man accused him and two other officers of brutally beating him.

Sam Johnston, a black man, said in an interview with KDBC-TV on Thursday he was hit on the head seven times after he was stopped in what initially was a routine traffic stop.

"In the head, seven times, in the head seven times, I counted it. I can never forget that," Johnston said.

The allegations come after several days of riots in Los Angeles sparked by the acquittal of four officers accused of brutally beating black motorist Rodney King.

The El Paso officer placed on leave was veteran officer Ricardo Elias, who is Hispanic, police spokesman Sgt. Bill Pfeil said. Pfeil did not know how many years Elias has been on the force. The other two officers involved were black and white.

Johnston was stopped in northeast El Paso, at about 4 a.m. Thursday because his license plate light was out. He struggled with the first officer and two officers later drove up to assist.

Police later found Johnston was wanted on two felony warrants, including one accusing him of aggravated assault.

Witnesses at the scene told police Johnston resisted arrest, Pfeil said. "One of the comments made was he lowered his head and took off like a fullback," he said.

But witnesses also said police appeared to use unnecessary force.

Nick Shardsursky said he saw officers kick Johnston in the face.

"All three of them kept walking away, they had big flashlights and you could hear them half a block down the street. Ka-thud, ka-thud, ka-thud, ka-thud and he kept crying for help," witness Dave Ross told KDBC.

Hospital officials would not release details on Johnston's injuries. Johnston was being held at the El Paso County Detention Center Thursday night on three counts of aggravated assault on a police officer.

"Why would they do that here, in El Paso? Why?" Johnston asked in the television interview. "I'm very harmless, man, I didn't want them to handcuff me and beat me like that, over the head especially man and I'm laying in my own blood ... and they tried to choke me to death and I'm already down for the count. I'm already down for the count."

Pfeil said police began investigating the case Thursday morning after information came from within the department that excessive force may have been used.

"Regardless of whether the Los Angeles situation would have happened or not this still would be investigated," Pfeil said.

Pfeil said 123 complaints of police brutality were filed against the department last year, six of which were sustained.

Concert planned at Avenue Baptist Church

Thee Power and Light will be presented in concert at 7 p.m. Monday at Avenue Baptist Church. The public is invited to attend at no charge. The college-age musicians, sponsored by the college music ministry of First Baptist Church in Waco, are concluding the 23rd consecutive year of ministry with a program entitled "Be the One." The program will include a wide variety of musical styles ranging from contemporary to traditional and featuring songs from current Christian artists, hymn arrangements and gospel songs.

AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

The public is invited to attend a concert featuring "Thee Power and Light" at 7 p.m. Monday at the church. There will be no charge. The college-age musicians come from various parts of the United States and are all members of First Baptist Church in Waco. Membership in the group is by audition only, with equal emphasis placed on musical talent and leadership ability.

All junior and senior high age students are encouraged to attend a lock-in today at West Texas State University. If planning to attend, meet at the church at 8:15 p.m. today.

A brotherhood breakfast is planned at 7:30 a.m. Sunday in the fellowship hall.

During the morning worship service Sunday, the congregation will honor its graduating seniors. There will be no evening service in order for families to attend Baccalaureate Service at 7 p.m. Sunday at Whiteface Stadium.

California's redwoods are the world's tallest trees, towering more than 360 feet.

NEW YORK (AP) - "Two Trains Running," August Wilson's drama set in a Pittsburgh coffee shop in the 1960s, has been chosen the best American play of the 1991-92 season by the New York Drama Critics' Circle.

Named as best play Monday was Irish playwright Brian Friel's "Dancing at Lughnasa," about five sisters and their missionary brother.

Wilson had been honored four times previously with best play awards.

The Critics' Circle is made up of theater journalists and critics.

Golfers in five-team pack at state meet

For Hereford's girls golf team at the UIL State Class 4A Golf Tournament in Austin, the bad news after the first day was they were in seventh place. The good news: they're only 10 shots out of third. Hereford fired a 362 on Thursday at Jimmy Clay Golf Club in Austin. That was good enough for seventh in the eight-team field. Bastrop, at 323, and Andrews, at 326, were 1-2. Then, there were the teams that play golf like many of the rest of us are capable of occasionally playing.

Sulphur Springs led a five-team pack at 352, followed by Highland Park (355), Athens (356), Wharton (360) and the Herd. Hometown team Austin Westlake was last at 377.

Paula Britten, the only senior on the Hereford team, was first for the Herd with an 84. Jennifer Prater shot an 86, and Cecelia Albracht fired a 92. Brook Weatherly had a 100 and Dusty Saul finished at 101.

Hereford golf coach Stacey Bixler was pleased with the rounds. "We're in a lot better shape than we were last year," Bixler said. "We were at 387 after the first day last year, but everyone else is lower, too." Highland Park, Athens and Westlake are the only teams that weren't at state last year.

"There was a lot of rain last year, and the course was slow and soft," Bixler said. "They haven't had as much rain this year and the course is playing a little better. They put something on all the greens to kill something and it killed most of the grass on them. Everyone's scoring well despite the bad greens."

Bixler said this year's weather was more Austin-like: Hot and humid. "I think we may have a little advantage by teeing off a little earlier (8:52 a.m.) on Friday (today)," Bixler said. "It should be a little cooler, and that might help us."

"I don't think we're too far out for third. It's just 10 strokes, and if you divide that by four that's not too much. That's what we're working toward. I think whoever plays well out of the pack will take third. Everyone in the group is just real close."

Knicks kick Bulls into 7th game

NEW YORK (AP) - The New York Knicks already have achieved the unlikely - knocking the defending champion Chicago Bulls back on their heels to force a seventh game.

On Sunday, the Knicks will try to achieve what nearly everyone considered impossible - knocking the Bulls out of the playoffs.

"We got it to a seventh game and that's what a sixth game is about," Knicks coach Pat Riley said of Thursday night's 100-86 victory over the Bulls that tied the best-of-7 series 3-3. "You play one game, with no tears, no regrets."

Patrick Ewing, hobbling after spraining his left ankle in the third period, combined with Xavier McDaniel and John Starks to rout Chicago in the fourth quarter, outscoring the Bulls 32-16 in the final 12 minutes.

Ewing scored 10 of his 27 points, McDaniel 11 of his 24 points and Starks eight of his 27 points and four of his five steals in the fourth quarter as New York overcame its only deficit of the game, 70-68, at the start of the period.

While the Knicks came together in the final 12 minutes, the Bulls fell apart, hitting six of 21 shots, or 29 percent.

Michael Jordan scored 21 points, but his only points in the fourth quarter was a meaningless 3-pointer after the outcome was decided. Scottie Pippen finished with 18 points, but was scoreless in the final 12 minutes.

Elsewhere in the NBA playoffs Thursday, Utah and Portland advanced to the Western Conference finals with victories at home. The Jazz beat Seattle 111-100 and the Trail Blazers defeated Phoenix 118-106 to complete 4-1 series wins. The two teams meet Saturday in Portland in the series opener.

New York drew two technicals and two flagrant fouls in the game with Chicago, but became the first team to score 100 points in the series while holding the opposition under 90 for the ninth time in 11 postseason games.

Although they tied the score seven times, the Bulls didn't lead until two free throws by Pippen after a flagrant foul by Starks gave them a 70-68 lead with 1.9 seconds left in the third quarter.

But New York, which took a 14-game losing streak against the Bulls into the series, scored the first 13 points of the fourth quarter for an 81-70 advantage.

John Paxson broke an 0-for-6 Chicago drought with an 18-footer at the 5:51 mark, but a basket by McDaniel and two free throws by Starks gave the Knicks their largest lead, 85-72, with 4:37 left.

Craig Hodges, a three-time long-distance shooting contest winner who sees little playing time for Chicago, gave the Bulls some life offensively with consecutive 3-pointers, closing them within seven.

After a basket by Ewing, Will Perdue hit a free throw after a flagrant foul on Anthony Mason and Horace Grant dunked when the Bulls retained possession, pulling them to 87-81 with 2:54 left. But another field goal by Ewing and two more free throws by Starks rebuilt the margin to 10 with 2:12 to go, and Chicago didn't threaten again.

Trail Blazers 118, Suns 106
Portland advanced to the Western Conference finals for the third straight season, beating Phoenix behind Clyde Drexler's 34 points.

Portland's only deficit of the final game was 43-42 midway through the second quarter.

The Blazers led by as many as 16 early in the third period before Phoenix, playing its final game under retiring coach Cotton Fitzsimmons, closed to 97-94 with 10 minutes to play.

Portland scored the next eight points to pull ahead 105-94, and the Suns got no closer than nine again.

Jazz 111, SuperSonics 100
Utah advanced to the conference finals for the first time in team history by improving its home record in the playoffs to 6-0.

Karl Malone scored 37 points, 15 in the fourth quarter, to rally the Jazz from an eight-point deficit. Utah scored the game's last 10 points in the final two minutes.

Utah is now 43-4 at the Delta Center this season, including six straight playoff wins.

Frenship ends Randall's year

Frenship used a four-run sixth inning to blast Randall 8-2 in a 4A bi-district baseball game Thursday in Plainview.

Randall's season ends with the Raiders' record at 19-9. Frenship goes on to the next round, where their opponent will be the loser of tonight's Big Spring-Sweetwater district game.

Dumas (17-6 and District 1-4A's champion) will meet 2-4A runner-up Lamesa (19-6) at 4 p.m. today at Jaycee Park in Plainview.

Brain cancer claims Alzado

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - Lyle Alzado, who took anabolic steroids to build himself into a fearsome football player, has died at age 43 of brain cancer that he blamed on his steroid use.

Doctors said there was no proof that the steroids caused the rare form of brain lymphoma that turned Alzado into a whispering shell of the 6-foot-3, 270-pound football player he had been.

"As a scientist, one cannot really say it is clear the anabolic steroids led to the lymphoma," said Dr. Thomas DeLoughery, a blood cancer specialist at Oregon Health Sciences University. "I think it's unfortunately open to speculation."

Alzado died in his sleep Thursday at his home in Lake Oswego, a Portland suburb, said Lee Lewis Husk, a spokeswoman for the Oregon Health Sciences University, where Alzado had been undergoing treatment.

His wife, Kathy, was at his side. Alzado played on the defensive line for the Denver Broncos, Cleveland Browns and Los Angeles Raiders during his 14 years in the National Football League. He retired in 1985 and failed in a comeback attempt with the Raiders two years ago.

He was a member of the Raiders' 1983 Super Bowl championship team, was named the NFL's defensive player of the year in 1977 and was named All-Pro twice.

He said he began using steroids in 1969 and spent $20,000 to $30,000 a year on them. He also said he used a human growth hormone, which he believed helped destroy his immune system, during his comeback attempt.

After he was diagnosed in April 1991, he appeared on talk shows to urge youngsters to avoid steroids. He said when he was playing, 75 percent of the players took steroids or some drug to enhance performance.

The Lyle Alzado National Steroid Education Program was established as part of the Athletes and Entertainers for Kids organization.

Dr. Forest Tennant, the NFL's drug adviser from 1986 to 1990, said he believes steroids were linked to Alzado's illness.

"I don't think we've even begun to see the consequences of steroids use," he said in an earlier interview. "Alzado will be the first of a lot of big names to come down with cancers."

But there was never any proof that steroids caused the illness.

"We were unable to really substantiate any cause and effect relationship beyond mere speculation and Lyle Alzado's own contention that this somehow was related," said Dr. Gary Wadler, a steroid expert at Cornell University Medical Center-North Shore University Hospital in Manhasset, N.Y.

Alzado came to Portland in March for an innovative chemotherapy treatment at Oregon Health Sciences University. He received the therapy only once before he came down with pneumonia, a common side effect.

In addition to his wife, Alzado is survived by a 9-year-old son, Justin.

Nelson start put off

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Officials faced an unfavorable forecast in their efforts to squeeze 72 holes of golf into an already weather-disrupted Byron Nelson Classic.

"It is our goal to have a 72-hole tournament ending on Sunday," Duke Butler, the PGA Tour official in charge of this event, said Thursday.

But he admitted it may not be easy, not with the forecast of more thunderstorms similar to the series that washed out most of first-round play and threw the tournament schedule into disarray.

At best, Butler said, the tournament cannot get back on schedule until Saturday, and quite possibly not until Sunday.

"If we lose as much as an hour, we probably won't be able to complete third-round play until Sunday morning," Butler said.

And the weather forecast indicates every good chance another hour - or more - could be lost. Possible thunderstorms are forecast through Sunday.

Half the field of 156 men were hustled off the course and into shelter Thursday morning at the approach of a storm packing heavy rain and lightning.

"I thought it'd blow over, that we'd be back out there in an hour, an hour and a half," said rookie Robin Freeman, who had just completed the best nine holes of his brief career, a 6-under-par 29.

But it was not to be. The storms continued to pound the TPC at Las Colinas with rain and lightning, eventually sending the Trinity River over its banks and flooding portions of the course.

"The course was unplayable," Butler said after the storms let up enough for officials to survey the damage. "It would have taken about six hours to get it in a playable condition."

Wingo gets Royal award

Texas Tech's Matt Wingo is the 1992 recipient of the Darrell K. Royal Leadership Award.

Wingo, a linebacker from Houston who already has graduated, led the Southwest Conference in tackles the past two seasons.

Royal, a former football coach at Texas, will present the award to Wingo June 6 at the Childress-DSA Greenbelt Bowl. The trophy will also be presented before the football game between Tech and Texas in Lubbock Oct. 30.

Others nominated for the award were Oscar Rosales of SMU; Scott Baehren of Baylor; Bucky Richardson of Texas A&M; Roosevelt Collins of TCU; David Klingler of Houston; Scott Gooch of Texas; and Howard Teichelman III of Rice.

Past recipients of the award are Mitchell Glibber of SMU in 1990 and William Thomas of A&M last year.

Blue Jays out-homer Mariners

TORONTO (AP) - The slumping Seattle Mariners found out that two can be better than one, even when the one is worth three.

Devon White and Kelly Gruber clubbed two-run homers Thursday night to lead the Toronto Blue Jays to a 5-4 victory over the Mariners, whose power production came in the form of Pete O'Brien's three-run shot.

White broke an 0-for-11 slump and erased a one-run deficit with his home run off loser Calvin Jones (1-1) in the seventh inning. Gruber added a run-scoring double to his two-run homer as the Blue Jays captured their ninth win in their last 11 games and sent the Mariners to their 13th loss in 15 games, including their eighth straight road loss.

Manuel Lee chased Mariners starter Russ Swan with an infield single before White sent Jones' 2-2 pitch to right for his third home run of the season.

Both White and Gruber dedicated their homers to their birthday-celebrating daughters.

"I don't call too many homers," said White, whose daughter Davellya turned 1 on Thursday. "I called one before for my son back in Chicago in 1987.

Gruber, whose wife, Lynn, gave birth to a daughter Monday night, said he wanted to do something special for his second child, Cassie. He hit Swan's 1-1 pitch into the second deck in left for his fifth home run of the season and a 3-1 Blue Jays lead in the fourth.

"I was actually trying to mouth the words 'This one's for you Cassie.' I'm sure Lynn was watching," he said.

O'Brien, who put the Mariners up 4-3 with his eighth home run of the season, a three-run shot to right off Dave Stieb (2-3), put the loss into perspective.

"If we keep playing the way we did tonight, we'll win a few more down the road," O'Brien said.

Stieb allowed four runs on six hits over seven innings. He struck out three and walked three before David Wells pitched two innings for his first save of the season.

Harold Reynolds, batting a career .452 (14-for-31) off Stieb, put the Mariners up 1-0 with a run-scoring bloop single to center in the third before Gruber's run-scoring double to right pulled the Blue Jays even at 1-1 in the fourth.

"The two infield hits (Wednesday) helped me out," said Gruber, batting .200 in May before falling a triple short of the cycle Thursday night. "But it's only one game. And just as soon as you get out of the eye of the storm, you can find yourself right back in it."

Swan pitched effectively over 6 1-3 innings, giving up four runs on five hits. He struck out a career-high five and walked four in the American League's only game Thursday.

Franco finds it tough to wait while healing

AUSTIN (AP) - Defending American League batting champion Julio Franco has tried to avoid watching baseball on television while recovering from a knee injury, but his brother is making it impossible.

"I try not to (watch) but my brother is a baseball fanatic and he always has a game on. He says, 'Julio, look, look, look,'" the Texas Rangers second baseman said Thursday before demonstrating his rehabilitation process.

Franco's teammates have struggled in his absence, posting an 18-18 record.

"They're not hitting and they're not driving runs in. For me to be sitting in the hotel room and watching the game on TV is not a pretty sight. I want to be there," he said.

Although Franco said Thursday he is anxious to begin defending his batting title, he has learned that he cannot rush his return.

"I tried to come back too soon twice. I was anxious to help my teammates. I think that's why I aggravated the knee," said Franco, who has been on the 15-day disabled list since May 4 with bursitis in his right knee.

"That's why if it takes another week or a month (to heal), we're going to take it. We don't want to make the same mistake three or four times," he said.

Franco has played in eight games this year, collecting four hits in 16 at-bats, before returning to the sidelines. Last season, Franco led the AL in hitting with a .341 average.

He is rehabilitating his knee by being connected to a Zuni, the specially-rigged treadmill created by his physical therapist.

The machine - basically a treadmill connected to a door frame - enables Franco to perform his exercises at a reduced body weight, using a principle similar to aquatic therapy.

The amount of body weight exerted is reduced by a harness lowered from the top of the frame and strapped around his waist.

This process, developed by physical therapist Douglas Kelsey, is called "unloading" because it reduces weight, which is later added - or "loaded" - as the injured area becomes stronger.

Before Thursday, Franco had worked under Kelsey's care for 32 hours over six days. The therapist said that amount of treatment is equivalent to a month's rehabilitation for most of his clients.

"When you deal with an individual like Julio, you're talking about a base level of fitness that's significantly higher than most (people). Because of that, his tissue has responded well," Kelsey said.

Franco's injury, known as "jumper's knee," is very common for all levels of athletes, Kelsey said. Franco sat out part of spring training to let the leg heal, but rushed back too soon forcing him to begin the season on the disabled list.

Bucs edge Braves in 9th inning

ATLANTA (AP) - The Pittsburgh Pirates own the best record in the major leagues and have finally found a way to beat the Atlanta Braves: Stay close and win it in the ninth inning.

For the second night in a row, the Pirates rallied in the ninth inning to beat the Braves. On Thursday night, it was Jeff King with a two-run, bases-loaded single providing the 4-3 victory in the only National League game.

On Wednesday night, Jay Bell hit a solo homer for an 11-10 win.

Until Wednesday night, the Pirates had lost seven straight regular season games to the Braves in Atlanta, dating back to Aug. 29, 1990.

The Pirates (23-10) have won seven of their last 10 games. The Braves, meanwhile, have lost five of six as their bullpen failed to hold a lead or tie in four of the losses.

King, who had a solo home run - only his second of the season - in the eighth off starter John Smoltz (3-3), got the game-winning hit off reliever Marvin Freeman after the Pirates had loaded the bases with one out off Smoltz.

It was Smoltz' first appearance against Pittsburgh since last October when he pitched a 4-0 shutout in Game 7 of the NL playoffs to send the Braves to the World Series.

The right-hander gave up a single and intentional walk before getting Ron Gant, the league's leading RBI producer with 29, on a fly to right.

Mason protected the victory for Vicente Palacios (2-0), who pitched 1 1-3 innings and escaped a bases-loaded, two-out jam in the eighth inning.

The Braves had gone ahead 3-1 in the sixth on a two-run homer by Terry Pendleton and RBI single by Damon Berryhill off Pirates starter Zane Smith.

Pendleton, who had three hits off Smith, has a career mark of .481 off the Pirates left-hander (25-52). Pendleton also extended his hitting streak to 11 games and 22 of 23 games. In that period he has raised his average from .174 to .331, hit all six of his home runs and driven in 20 of his 25 runs.

"It's a situation we somehow have to forget," said Smoltz, who had allowed only five hits, struck out four and walked one until the ninth.

He walked Barry Bonds to open the inning, got Gary Varsho on a fly ball, then issued a double to Steve Buechele and walked Mike LaValliere intentionally to load the bases before leaving for Freeman.

"I think we're snakebit. We're doing the right things until that one point," said Smoltz. "I never thought I was going to lose this game. I don't know what the answer is: Something's missing."

So far, it's been the bullpen, which is 2-9 and has blown four saves in 11 opportunities.

"They're just going through a spell that everybody goes through during the season," said Mason. "You know they're going to come out of it. I'm just glad that it will be after we leave town."

Jumpers reaching for new heights

AUSTIN (AP) - Amy Acuff of Corpus Christi Calallen and Orangefield's Wayne Guidry are hoping to see the heights in Austin.

Shedrick Fields of Dallas South Oak Cliff is looking for distance.

Acuff and Fields each set pending national records in their district meets in the girls high jump and boys long jump and Guidry had a national best pole vault, of 17-2 in regional competition, earning a chance for his fourth straight state Class 3A pole vault title.

They'll all be performing in the University Interscholastic League's track and field championships beginning today at Memorial Stadium. State team championships will be decided tonight in Class 4A and on Saturday in classes 5A, 3A, 2A and A.

Acuff's high jump of 6-3 at the District 30-4A meet beat the national record of 6-2 3/4 shared by Lisa Berhagen of Hailey, Idaho in 1983 and Latrese Johnson of Clovis, Calif. in 1985.

Fields' 26-5 1/2 long jump at the Dist. 10-4A meet beat the national record of 26-4 3/4 by James Stallworth of Tulare, Calif. in 1989.

Meet should be one of best in U.S.

DALLAS (AP) - This weekend's UIL State Track and Field Championships in Austin will arguably be the best high school state meet in the country.

"It should be quite a meet," said Jack Shepard, editor for Track and Field News, who will attend the University Interscholastic League event.

National lists of the top high school performances are filled with Texans - and probably always will be.

Maybe it has something to do with the weather, suggests Dallas South Oak Cliff boys coach Leonard Grant, whose relay teams typically are ranked among the nation's best.

"It has to do with climate, which has to do with the type of games kids play," said Grant. "The weather is good enough here year around for kids to be playing running games, and that helps develop the speed."

However, he says, the heat and humidity is not that good for distance runners. In fact, Texans generally rank higher nationally in the sprints than in distance events.

In the May issue of Track and Field News, there are more boys from Acuff and Fields earned spots in the Olympic Trials next month in New Orleans. Their performances must be approved by the National Federation of High School Associations.

Looking at film of her record leap, Acuff was surprised she made the height.

"Actually, it was a pretty bad jump," she said. "My form was pretty awful. I've got to work on that. I watched film of it and the form was bad but I had enough speed to take me over."

"I'm looking forward to the Trials but right now I'm trying to concentrate on the state meet," Acuff said.

"The Trials will be an experience like I've never had before. I'll just go in with a healthy attitude and see what happens."

Acuff wants to use the state meet as a springboard into the Trials.

"It'll be a major factor," Acuff said. "Big competitions seem to make me better. I'd like to go 6-4."

Acuff is an honor student and an all-district basketball player. She holds the national class records for high school freshmen, sophomores and juniors.

There have been 12 high jumps of 6-2 or better by high school girls and Acuff owns four of those jumps.

Fields will also compete in the triple jump and the 400-meter relay but won't be in five events as he was in the 1991 meet. That disappointed South Oak Cliff coach Leonard Grant.

"I wanted so badly for him to have the kind of day I've seen other athletes of his caliber have," Grant said. "I wanted him to go into the state meet and win everything and go out with a bang. He deserved that as well as anybody I've ever seen."

Fields has been troubled this season by a knee injury that caused him to finish third in the 100-meter regional meet. South Oak Cliff's 1600-meter relay team, on which Fields would have run, was disqualified because a team member wore a t-shirt in a regional race.

"He won't be able to go and win all five events, which he could have done so maybe he'll do something great in the jumps to make up for not being in the other events," Grant said.

Guidry had a national best jump of 17-2 to win the District 24-3A pole vault that put him in position to win his event at the state meet four straight years.

"Ten years from now, I would like to look back on the state meet and think about winning four in a row," Guidry said. "I'm looking forward to the heights."

Guidry is an all-district punter and a drummer in the school's band. He hopes to join Needville's Anthony Ketchum and Robert Gonzales of Falfurrias as rare four-time state winners.

In sweeping the 1990 World Series against the Oakland Athletics, Cincinnati outscored the losers, 22-8.

Slugging percentage in baseball is calculated by dividing the number of at-bats into total bases.

In its four-game sweep over the Red Sox in the 1990 American League championship series, Oakland scored 20 runs to four for Boston.

The Buffalo Bills led the National Football League in touchdowns in 1990 with 53.

From 1907 to 1919, a total of 13 seasons, Ty Cobb led the American League in batting 12 times.

The Kansas City Chiefs made 34 field goals in 1990, the most in the NFL.

with Mel Phillips

Last week we discussed the need to add a safety pin style spinnerbait to your tackle box. Every pro and successful fisherman uses this dependable lure, but each will modify it in hopes of catching more fish.

Blade styles vary from the Colorado (round blade) to the Tennessee (oblong blade) and finally the willowleaf (skinny pointed blade). Every angler will develop confidence in some combination of these blades. I favor using a single blade (Tennessee style) until the water temperature reaches 65 degrees and I switch over to a tandem style--a small Colorado blade in front of a large willowleaf. During the dog days of summer, a tandem willowleaf will work wonders if you are the only angler using that combination.

Blade color can be the easiest part of the selection process. Tournament expert Billy Moore suggests every fisherman needs three colors of blades: silver, gold, and black.

When rigging tandem blades, silver in front of gold is the norm. Mixing a small silver Colorado in front of a bigger gold Tennessee (or gold willowleaf) can load the boat.

A minimum selection might include a total of six spinnerbaits: three 1/4 ounce lures--one with a #4 black Colorado blade, one with a tandem-rigged #3 silver Colorado in front of a #5 gold Tennessee and a double willowleaf #3 silver in front of a #4 gold--and three 1/2 ounce lures rigged with larger blades than the 1/4 ounce sizes. Buy several extra Colorado, Tennessee and willowleaf blades and start your search for the perfect spinnerbait.

After all that information, I now offer the best piece of advice on using a spinnerbait. No matter how it is rigged, bump something on every cast. According to experts like Gordon Cummings of Spearman, most strikes will occur after the bait is deflected off of something--a rock, tree, weed or even the bottom.

The Lake Meredith Fun Tournament was won by Berger's J.L. (SlugGo) Chatwell, who weighed in two nice smallmouths and won $250 and a trophy ring. Second place and $108 went to Pampa's Ricky Bryan, who caught a beautiful 3-pound smallmouth. Third place and $70 went to John McWilliams. The $50 Luck of the Draw was won by Hank McWilliams.

The next Fun Fishing Tournament is May 21 at Lake Greenbelt. The cost is $20 and registration starts at 4:30 a.m. at the south ramp. Fishing goes from 6-9 p.m.

Lake Baylor will be the site of a Big Bass Tournament starting at dawn May 16. Entry fee is $60 and limited to 100 anglers. Call 353-3654 for details.

UIL MEET

Texas listed among the nation's best than for any other state. As for girls, Texans trail only California.

This season alone, two Texans have performances better than the records recognized by the National High School Athletic Federation at the start of the track season.

Corpus Christi Calallen's Amy Acuff has high jumped 6 feet, 3 inches, and South Oak Cliff's Sheddric Fields has long jumped 26-5 1/2.

By Track and Field News' count, 13 of the nation's top 15 boys 400-meter relay teams are from Texas. In the boys 1,600-meter relay, Texas teams have produced 11 of the nation's top 14 teams.

Texas girls teams make up eight of the nation's top 15 teams in the 400-meter relay and seven of the top 15 teams in the 1,600-meter relay.

The reason, Grant said, is simple. Unlike many states, relay races in Texas count double in the team-point standings at the state meet, so coaches naturally spend more time refining the relay races.

"That's all there is to it," Grant said. "Our relay teams are better because we have a reason to work at it more."

While Texas seems destined to always be considered primarily a football state, many believe the culture that has allowed football to become so popular also has been beneficial to track and field.

"In Texas, they realize that track as a spring sport matches with football," Shepard said. "I see track as an adjunct to football in Texas. It seems important. All sports seem to be."

Quarterback Randall Cunningham of the Eagles averaged a league-leading eight yards per carry running the ball in 1990.

Prepare for SAT/ACT test

How should college-bound students prepare for the SAT/ACT Test? There are many books on the subject as well as audio cassettes and courses. The decision is an important one, since scores often determine which colleges students will consider, even before other considerations such as tuition and location.

Test-taking gimmicks sometime work in the short term; but students who develop critical thinking skills use them often during their lifetime in college, on the job and throughout a career, and certainly on the test. The key is to concentrate not on finding the answer but solving the problem.

Specific critical thinking skills can enable you to extract necessary information from a problem that will lead you to an answer. That information may be in the form of a pattern, or a comparison between pieces of information. Even using a few of these skills can make a significant increase in your scores.

Here are a few overall test-taking

A friend to thirsty travelers is The Traveler's Tree, which grows in Madagascar. It stores up to one pint of water inside the base of each of its long leaf stalks.

strategies that work:

*Be familiar with the directions to the question type so you don't have to read them on the actual exam.

*If you can eliminate one or more wrong choices, guess. You are penalized only a small percentage if you get the wrong answer.

*Write as much as you want in your test booklet. Extend lines to diagrams, circle key words, underline key prefixes and roots of words, label sides of figures with specific letters, etc.

*Put a check on all questions in your booklet that you think you got right, a question mark for those you're sure of and two question marks for those you don't know how to answer. This will give you a fast indication of which questions to try to answer if you have time at the end of the section.

*Do not spend too long on each question. Increase the time spent on questions as they become more difficult, but don't waste time on one problem when there are other problems you can answer.

*Be familiar with word roots, suffixes and prefixes to aid you in the vocabulary section

*Put analogies into sentence form to arrive at an answer.

*In word problems, translate words to math forms.

Rehearsing for concert

Karen Flood is serving as the production chairman of the Hereford Chamber Singers' concert "Spring Fling" planned at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Hereford High School auditorium. Flood will also be giving a humorous dramatic reading during the concert. Tickets are priced at $3 for adults and $2 for students. They may be purchased from any member of the Chamber Singers or at the door.

School of instruction reviewed

Lodge Deputy Mary Lou Weatherford reviewed a "school of instruction" when members of the Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 met Tuesday evening with 18 members present. The instruction had been given at the Rebekah Assembly of Texas in March.

Noble Grand Shirley Brown presided at the business session when reports were made of 52 visits to the sick, 65 cheer cards, 18 dishes of food and six flowers.

Plans were made to serve lunch at the Burke Inman auction.

Stella Hershey was hostess to Brown, Weatherford, Ann Werner, Susie Curtsinger, Irene Merritt, Leona Sowell, Sadie Shaw, Genevieve Lynn, Jim Loving, Erna Loving, Peggy Lemons, Ocie Bolton, Ben Conklin, Anna Conklin, Lydia Hopson, Faye Brownlow and Ursalee Jacobsen.

The pneumatic tire was invented in 1845 by Robert W. Thomson, A scottish engineer. Before that, wooden wheels and steel tires were used.

CLASSIFIED ADS
Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy charge, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS
Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS
Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

IRISH NOVENA to St. Jude.
Holy St. Jude apostle and martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need. I pray to you now, Holy Saint, that will help me in my time of need, please pray for all who invoke, please pray for all who invoke your aid, and help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known, to help others to pray to you also. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys and 3 Glory Bes. This Novena has never been known to fail. Say this Novena for 9 consecutive days. Publication must be promised. Thank You St. Jude for prayers answered.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The suicide of a child or other loved one, regardless of age, is one of life's hardest tragedies. Grieving relatives need to know that they are not being judged or blamed by others. They blame themselves enough already. It doesn't help to say, "He's probably better off." It doesn't help to say, "You have other children." Guilt is a major factor whenever there is a suicide, no matter what the cause. Everyone who loved that person wonders what he or she might have done to prevent it.

Grief-stricken survivors need to know that their friends are still there for them. Sometimes friends you thought you could count on suddenly disappear. They avoid you because they don't know what to say.

In most cases, survivors want and need to talk about their loss. It's important to keep the memory of the deceased alive. While it may be painful to discuss, it's better than trying to forget that the person ever existed.

Yes, there are support groups for survivors, but what about friends and relatives calling from time to time just to see how you're doing?—Been There in D.C.

DEAR D.C.: Your letter should be helpful to those who don't know what to say or do when tragedy strikes someone close. I hope the following letter can offer some comfort to the bereaved.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A dear friend sent me this poem. It was written by Alice Kerr of Lower Bucks, Pa. She is a member of the Compassionate Friends, an organization for parents who have lost a child. I thought your readers might benefit from its words.—Faithful Reader

NOW I KNOW
I never knew, when you lost your child,
What you were going through.
I wasn't there, I staying away,
I just deserted you.
I didn't know the words to say,
I didn't know the things to do.
I think your pain so frightened me,
I didn't know how to comfort you.
And then one day my child died.
You were the first one there.
You quietly stayed by my side,
listened,
And held me as I cried.
You didn't leave, you didn't go.
The lesson learned is...
Now I know.

DEAR FRIEND: That touching poem could have been written only by a person who has lived through the experience. I have recommended the Compassionate Friends in this space many times, but once more won't hurt. This is a splendid organization whose members are bonded by the loss of a

AXYDLBAAXR is LONG FELLOW

One letter stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN ZEHTI

A BAND OF PROPHETS

THERE WERE COMMUNITIES OF PROPHETS WHO LIVED, STUDIED, AND WORSHIPED TOGETHER. WE FIND MENTION OF IT IN FIRST SAMUEL (10:5). THESE PROPHETS LIVED IN GIBEAH AND WERE VISITED BY SAUL. IN FACT, SAUL, BEFORE HE WAS ANNOINTED KING, PROPHESIED WITH THEM ON SEVERAL OCCASIONS. THE PROPHETS SPENT ALL THEIR TIME IN STUDY AND WORSHIP. THEY FARMED A LITTLE BUT MOST OF THEIR FOOD WAS DONATED BY PEOPLE IN THE COMMUNITY ROUND ABOUT. LATER IN THE NORTHERN KINGDOM MORE PROPHETIC COMMUNITIES MADE THEIR APPEARANCE FOR A BRIEF WHILE. THEY MAY HAVE BEEN FOUNDED BY ELIJAH FROM THE MODEL OF THE EARLIER SOCIETIES FROM THE DAYS OF SAMUEL. THESE LATER MEMBERS WERE DESIGNATED "SONS OF THE PROPHETS."
