91st Year, No. 118, Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas

By JOHN BROOKS Managing Editor Deaf Smith County Hospital District joined other local governing entities Tuesday in adopting a resolution to support efforts to locate a minimum-security prison in Deaf Smith County. The Deaf Smith County Hospital District board of directors unanimously passed a resolution to support the prison efforts. A similar resolution has been adopted by Deaf Smith County and will be considered in a special noon meeting Friday of the Herefold school board. The Hereford City Commission will consider a similar resolution at its meeting on Jan. 6. Those resolutions, and others, will be included in a package to be presented to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice on Jan. 15. Deaf Smith General Hospital Administrator Ron Rives told the hospital board Tuesday that the hospital's role in a prison "could be as broad or narrow as you choose it to be." If a prison is located in the county, the hospital could provide an infirmary at the hospital and provide for acute hospital could provide an infirmary at the hospital and provide for acute care needs of inmates.

"There would not be a lot of preparation, but there could be a lot of benefits for us," Rives told the board. Contracts with other hospitals for similar prison pay hospitals about $1,200 per inmate per year, Rives said; that would mean $1.2 million revenue for the hospital.

The resolution does not bind DSGH to provide for care of inmates, if a prison is located here.

Rives said the hospital operations and financial report for November was "not real exciting." The report showed the hospital's average daily census was 10.8, compared with 12.6 in November 1990. "It's a lot like October, same song, second verse," said Rives. "It has been slow, but we have been a little busier in December."

Rives said the number of persons seen in the emergency room the past two weeks has increased significantly because of the flu outbreak in the county.

"People are coming to us with non-urgent needs because they feel they can't get in to see a doctor," Rives said. "That has brought us a few admissions, the second second second second second second but not many."

November 1991, compared to a loss of $11,918 in November 1990. Rives explained that if tax revenues are taken away, the hospital recorded a loss of $87,000 for the month.

The cash flow statement, however, painted a rosier picture, with net cash flow from operating activities for the month of $302,145. Rives said the hospital has seen an increase in cash available because

Rives told the board he is working on establishing a community committee to assist the hospital in the recruitment of new physicians to the community. "The one thing I have heard over and over is the need for more physicians," Rives said. "We want community involvement in the recruiting and retention

Rives said he wants to establish a task force including board members, hospital personnel, physicians and persons from the community. "We need community involvement in this," Rives said. "That has been very lacking in the past. We need to hear the concerns of the community

And some critics in Congress have been even more blunt, contending that Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan has been too timid in his credit-casing efforts and much more dramatic action is needed.

Greenspan was getting a chance to confront his critics directly today during testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee. Financial markets were listening closely for any hints Greenspan might give about the Fed's current thinking on interest rates and the overall economy.

They expect that before the end of the year the central bank will have lowered its discount rate, the interest the Fed charges banks, to 4 percent, its lowest level in 24 years.

Economists are also looking for another quarter-point cut in the target for the federal funds rate to 4.25 percent, marking the 15th time the Fed has nudged lower the interest that banks charge each other for overnight loans.

The administration has been leaning heavily on the Fed to cut rates further in the face of mounting cvidence that the economic recovery has stalled out.

The White House on Tuesday blamed economic anxiety for a plunge in Bush's approval rating to 47 percent, the lowest of his presidency, according to a new ABC News-Washington Post poll.

While Bush and others in the administration have for months insisted that the economy is no longer in a downturn, the White House retreated from that position Tuesday. "For all practical purposes, the recession continues," said presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater.

The Washington Post reported in today's editions that the administration was considering tax rebates of between $200 and $300. The newspaper, quoting congressional sources it did not identify, said the proposed rebates, which would cost $30 billion, were viewed as a means of encouraging consumers to help spend the nation out of the recession. Conservatives immediately blasted

On Tuesday, the Ways and Means Committee heard from economists who urged Congress not to rush into passing a big tax-cut package that could spook financial markets and end up driving interest rates higher, not lower.

"While the outlook for renewed economic recovery is far from certain, I think the chances are better than 50-50 that further vigorous action by the Fed to lower interest rates would do the job," said Charles Schultze, an economist at the Brookings Institution.

"In an election year there is grave danger that opening up the budget agreement would launch a counterproductive bidding war on tax cuts and do great harm to the nation's long-run growth prospects," said Schultze, who served as chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers in the Carter administration.

SW Bell rate hike is denied

AUSTIN (AP) - Southwestern Bell Telephone lost a bid Tuesday to raise its call-waiting rates $1.

The Public Utility Commission unanimously denied the request that . would raise monthly rates from $2.10 to $3.10.

The call-waiting feature allows a customer to place one caller on hold while answering a second call. About 2.5 million customers in Texas use the service.

The commission based its decision on a recommendation by Administrative Law Judge Steve Davis.

Davis found that Southwestern Bell failed to prove that the rate increase it sought was reasonable, based on the concept of customerperceived value. And Davis cited evidence showing the telephone company's return on investment is increasing - not decreasing - as it claimed. Also, the commission upheld the judge's recommendation allowing Bell to eliminate Speed Calling 30. That feature permits a customer to call 30 numbers by dialing a single code. The company's two rate requests would have raised annual revenues by $26.3 million.

Labor violations may become issue

Bob Kerrey's brush with child labor law violations could haunt his presidential campaign, pointing up the special scrutiny that a candidate with a background in business can face.

Democratic pollster Claibourne Darden had an even gloomier assessment, saying the labor law citations were "close to the kiss of death."

The Nebraska senator was "potentially positioned to do very well," but hasn't built up the stature to easily brush off the controversy, he said.

The government on Tuesday cited Kerrey's chain of Grandmother's and Don and Millie's restaurants for 116 violations and levied a $64,000 fine. Most of the alleged infractions involved letting youngsters work late-night shifts or too many hours. A few involved teen-agers working hazardous duty jobs such as cooking.

Kerrey's brother-in-law and business partner, Dean Rasmussen, sought to take the blame, saying the senator is not involved in day-to-day management of the restaurants.

Shooting woes hurt Herd cagers

Tuesday night but couldn't find the baskets.

The coaches for both teams--Jimmy Thomas for the boys, Dickie Faught for the girls--cited shooting woes as their teams' main problems in bad losses to the Eagles.

The girls lost 48-20. "We shot about 18 percent," Faught said. "You can't beat a mediocre team shooting 18 percent; let alone a good one."

The girls were outscored by at least five points in each quarter. Their record is now 6-11.

"Either from nervousness or intimidation, we didn't focus well on shooting," Faught said. "Maybe we second half.

Canyon's girls are now 7-6. Canyon's boys are even better at 12-1, and they beat Hereford 61-37. The Herd played evenly with Canyon in the second half, but their downfall came in the second quarter, when they shot 1-for-15.

"If you play a team that's 12-1, you better play well," Thomas said. In the first quarter, we played pretty well. The second quarter offensively was the worst we ever had."

While Hereford only scored two points in the period, Canyon scored 20. Both teams scored 29 in the "I was so proud of our kids in that win in overtime, while the girls' JV fcll 48-18.

Leo Brown led the Herd with 11 points. The boys' record is now 2-9. Faught said his team's performance included some positives.

The boys' JV trailed Canyon 28-17 at the half but scored 23 points in the third quarter and took the lead, 40-39. At the end of the fourth quarter, Canyon forced overtime by making a buzzer-beating shot to tie at 56-56. Overtime belonged to Hereford,

Cavaliers burn Heat

By The Associated Press

Miami easily has the best record of the four NBA expansion teams, so Cleveland's 20-point halfume lead over the Heat at halftime was somewhat surprising. It got worse after the third quarter as the margin climbed to 39 points. It got worse still as the Cavaliers outscored the Heat 42-13 in the final period for a 148-80 victory, the most lopsided margin in NBA history.

"I don't know what we played, but it wasn't basketball," the Heat's Glen Rice said.

The Heat, 11-12 while the other three expansion teams are at least 10 games under .500, ran into a Cleveland tcam that had blown several large leads this season and were determined not to let it happen again, especially at home.

"It's good to keep the pressure on them when you're up," Cleveland's John Battle said. "After a while, we just couldn't stop it.'

The 68-point margin eclipsed the mark of 63 set March 19, 1972, when the Los Angeles Lakers beat the Golden State Warriors 162-99.

Elsewhere on Tuesday night, it was New York 102, New Jersey 94; Boston 105, Orlando 98; Utah 122, Charlotte 102; Atlanta 117, Indiana 113; the Los Angeles Lakers 102, Chicago 89; San Antonio 98, Dallas 87; Houston 100, Washington 97; Scattle 116, the Los Angeles Clippers 99; and Golden State 119, Minnesota 105.

Michael Jordan led the Bulls with 21 points, but missed 14 of 20 shots.

Spurs 98, Mavericks 87

David Robinson had 22 points, 12 Knicks 102, Nets 94 rebounds and eight blocked shots in Dallas one day after he was married in San Antonio.

Willie Anderson had 18 points, 12 rebounds and 10 assists for the Spurs, who also got a good performance from newly acquired Vinnie Johnson, who tied the game at 72-72 before Donald Royal's layup put the Spurs ahead for good.

Derek Harper and Rolando Blackman scored 21 points each for the Mavericks.

Rockets 100, Bullets 97

Otis Thorpe's layup gave the Rockets the lead for good, 97-95, with 28 seconds remaining, and Kenny Smith's free throw with 6.6 seconds left made it 98-95.

Two free throws by Michael Adams, who scored 22 points, pulled the Bullets within one with 3.8 seconds remaining before Hakeem Olajuwon scored the final points of the game on two free throws.

Pervis Ellison led the Bullets with 27 points and 15 rebounds.

SuperSonics 116, Clippers 99

Seattle, behind 16 points apiece by point guards Nate McMillan and Gary Payton, snapped the Los Angeles Clippers' eight-game winning streak. Benoit Benjamin scored 20 points and Ricky Pierce 19 for Seattle, which took away any doubt of the outcome with a 14-2 spurt for a 113-88 cushion with less than two minutes left.

Ron Harper led Los Angeles with 18 points.

Los Angeles gradually pulled away Warriors 119, Timberwolves 105 closest Chicago could get was eight points. Tim Hardaway scored 30 points and Chris Mullin 28, including the 10,000th of his NBA career. Doug West scored 28 points for Minnesota.

New York crased a nine-point deficit with a 19-0 burst and remained the NBA's only unbeaten team at home by holding New Jersey scoreless for 7:40 in the fourth quarter.

John Starks came off the bench to lead the Knicks with 27 points.

Drazen Petrovic led the Nets with 19 points.

Celtics 105, Magic 98

Boston squandered a 16-point lead but held on to win at Orlando behind Reggie Lewis' 23 points.

The Magic, losers of eight consecutive games, closed to 81-80 by scoring the first 11 points of the fourth quarter. The Magic tied the game four times after that, but didn't pull ahead.

Scott Skiles led Orlando with 18. Hawks 117, Pacers 113

At Atlanta, Dominique Wilkins scored 39 points and Duane Ferrell a career-high 25 as the Hawks held off Indiana.

Trailing 114-104 with 3:31 remaining, the Pacers closed to 114-113 on Chuck Person's 3-pointer with 1:16 to play.

Reggie Miller led the Pacers with 28 points.

Jazz 122, Hornets 102

Jeff Malone covered for the absence of Karl Malone by scoring 22 of his season-high 34 points in the first half as Utah won at Charlotte.

Karl Malone, the NBA's No. 3 scorer, sat out because of a one-game suspension for a flagrant foul against Detroit's Isiah Thomas on Saturday night.

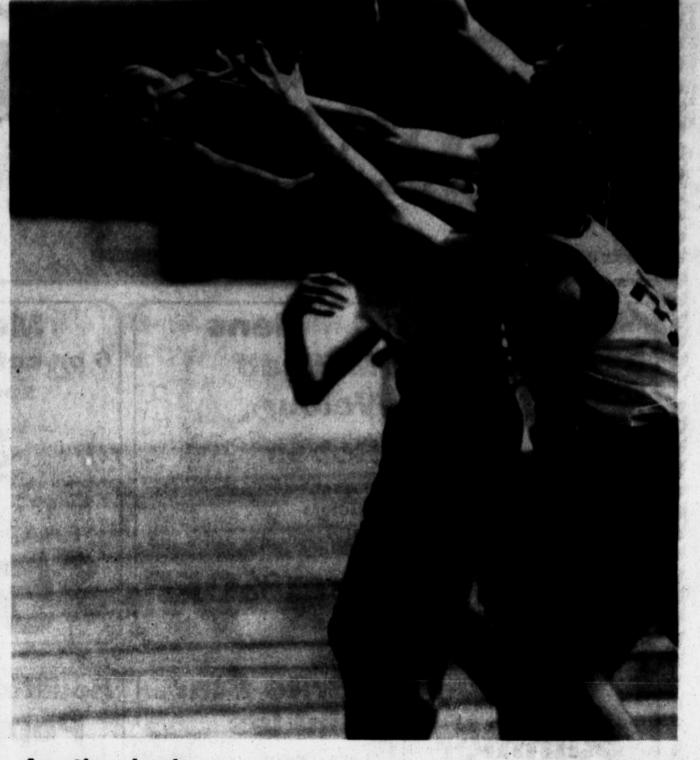

Kenny Gattison paced the Hornets with 19 points.

Lynch said a play during a 1990 playoff game against Littlefield typified Stidham's drive and ability. Sanford-Fritch led by five points in the last minute when one of its defensive backs fell down on a deep pass play. Stidham saw the play developing and raced from his position to help.

"Stidham covered I don't know how many yards," Lynch said. "He not only knocked the ball away, but he intercepted the ball and took it for a touchdown to ice the game. We expect big plays like that from him every night.

"With him in the back, we know we can put him on their best receiver and he'll shut them down."

Stidham also averaged 39 yards as the team's punter this year and caught 40 passes for 686 yards and nine touchdowns for the 4-6 Eagles.

Stidham is joined on defense by linemen Tony Brackens of Fairfield, Stonie Clark of Gladewater, Chad Ham of Vernon and Eddie Penson of Southlake Carroll.

The offensive linemen were Ervin Bennett of Navasota, Todd Keele of Burnet, Matt Lepsis of Frisco and Todd Story of Southlake Carroll. The center was Vernon's Jason Carr.

Cowboys are emotionally spent

IRVING, Texas (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys aren't going in the tank against Atlanta on Sunday but there may not be a tiger in it, either.

Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson on Tuesday described his Cowboys as doesn't see how they can go all out against the Falcons.

"I don't know that our players will have the same focus we've had," said Johnson. "We've had a lot of emotional games and there has been an emotional drain on this team."

The Cowboys clinched a wildcard playoff berth with a 25-13 victory over Philadelphia on Sunday and Dallas will be on the road in the first round of the post-season either at Chicago, Detroit or Atlanta.

If Atlanta defeats Dallas, then the starter. Falcons will clinch the NFC West division crown. A victory for Dallas Aikman to give him a good reading wouldn't improve the Cowboys situation.

Johnson said "wc will play our starters and try to win the game. We want to be 11-5. But by the same token if we have players who are injured or who are not at full speed we will not take any chances and hold them out for the start of the playoffs. up playing Atlanta two games in a

Asked about a possible pullback row. Dallas would have to play in by the Cowboys, Johnson said "We'll do whatever we have to do that's best for us."

Johnson also said he felt Troy an emotionally spent team. He Aikman might get some playing time against the Falcons. Aikman has missed the last three games and the part of a fourth with a knee injury.

"We'd like to get Troy back if he's able to go with no risk," Johnson said. "I would like Troy to have some action. We'll get Troy some practice time. Steve Beuerlein will get the majority of plays but there is a possibility Troy could play on Sunday. Troy is feeling better now than he has done in some time." Dallas is 3-0 with Beuerlein as the Johnson said he felt he could trust about the knee problems.

"I think Troy will be realistic in this situation," Johnson said. "He is such a fierce competitor he wants the team to win. I trust Troy's judgment on the knee."

Ironically, the Cowboys could end

Atlanta if it loses to the Falcons on Sunday and New Orleans defeats Phoenix. "This game counts and we can't get caught up in where we go,' Johnson said. "We want to go out and play well. It's important to improve as a team. If you los momentum in a game there is danger you might not be sharp for th playoffs."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS:

My beautiful 19-year-old son was murdered by two hoodlums who stole his car. He is buried in a cemetery in North Hollywood. I recently visited his grave.

Soon after, I wrote a letter of complaint to the cemetery about a situation I find appalling. And now I am writing to you, because I value your opinion and need to know if I have a legitimate complaint.

More and more people are using the cemetery to jog, walk, bike and learn to drive. Young children play in the water fountain. Some folks bring lunches and picnic there.

I received a response from the cemetery agreeing that people should not use the grounds to learn to drive and kids should not be playing in the fountain. But it said, "We don't believe ALL activities are inappropriate. We feel that the park is for the living, as well as the dead, and we don't think pcaceful, quict activities such as walking and jogging demcan those who are buried there."

I always thought a comotory was a place to bury loved ones, a place of beauty for quiet meditation, not a multi-purpose piece of real estate. I realize that most people feel that once a person is dead, he is dead and cemeteries aren't important. I felt that way, too, before this horrible loss. Had I known the place was like an amusement park, I would not have buried my son there.

It upsets me that I do not have the funds to move his grave to another cemetery. Please, Ann, advise your readers to check out the cemetery in advance. They should ask, "Do you allow the public to use the grounds for exercising and recreational purposes?" I feel strongly that parks are the appropriate places for jogging, bicycling and laughing children. Am I wrong?--Grieving Parent, North Hollywood, Calif.

DEAR PARENT: I can understand 60611-0562

why you are upset. Your letter points up the importance of checking out the cometery in advance.

Since there is nothing you can do about this situation, please consider using your place of worship to meditate and find peace.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It has taken me a long time to write this response to "Florida Wreck," whose husband ran off with an old flame he met at their high school reunion.

My story is similar, except we had been married 30 years when my husband developed a full-blown case of the middle-aged crazies. After I quit trying to figure out what I had done wrong, I started to heal, but my selfesteem was zero.

When my husband left me, I had never held a full-time job. Thankfully, my children were grown, so the only emotional wreck I had to deal with was myself.

After two years of counseling, two ycars of college, nine years of employment, many prayers and the support of friends and family, I am leading a productive life. I am nothing like the 47-year-old wreck I was when I thought life held nothing for me.

I'm now nearly 60 and have a good life. If I can do it, anyone can. So I want to say to "Florida Wreck" take whatever steps are necessary to work through the pain and God bless you.--Single and Happy in Missouri

DEAR MISSOURI: The most supportive letters come from survivors. Thank you for a message that is sure to help.

Annual Christmas party was held Dec. 9, in the Heritage Room at the Library. During the party, new officers were elected.

Sherrie Blackwell recited the blessing while members enjoyed a covered dish luncheon.

Council chairman Maudette Smith called the meeting to order and the council presented the library with a microwave oven.

Beverly Harder, C.E.A., held the installation of new officers using colored apples as examples of good officers.

The officers for the new year are: Sherrie Blackwell, council chairman; Jo Lee, vice chairman; Delores Brorman, recording secretary; Edith Higgins, corresponding secretary; Johnnie Messer, treasurer; Carol Odom, reporter; Mariellen Homefeld, parliamentarian; Maudette Smith, 27, 1992.

Christmas traditions exchanged

The Bud to Blossom Garden Club met Thursday in the home of Mildred Fuhrmann for the annual Christmas party and program.

Members answered roll call with explanations of Christmas traditions in their homes. President Phyllis Brown led the group in a game of identifying Christmas carols.

During the business meeting, plans were made for the new year.

Maria Escanilla presented a conservation series on how to condition poinsettia plants to last throughout the year.

BBQ SAUCE SUBSTITUTE

Dear Heloise: When you run out of barbecue sauce and are pressed for time, use ketchup instead. Brush it on chicken, hamburger meat or steaks, just as you would barbecue sauce, before placing in the oven.

The finished product may not be barbecue sauce but it smells just as appetizing and does the trick nicely. - Bridget Grimes, Jacksonville, Fla.

Sounds good to me! In a pinch, we make our own barbecue sauce with ketchup, a little mustard, seasonings and Worcestershire sauce. It's delicious! -Heloise

TRIED AND TRUE

Dear Heloise: Some time ago, while I was popping microwave popcorn, the package "popped" too close to the side of the oven and the blue coloring from the package stained the side and bottom of my microwave.

I tried soap and water and when that didn't work, I bought the commercial microwave oven cleaner. That didn't do a thing either.

I remembered one of your hints in your book "All-New Hints from Heloise" (found in major book stores -Heloise) regarding the cleaning of countertops. I poured some lemon juice on the microwave stains and for the side stain I poured some on a paper towel and "pasted" it on the side. I waited 45 minutes, sprinkled baking soda over the stains and wiped them off with a soft cloth.

Presto, a clean microwave! Thank you! - Mrs. Edward A. Meyer, Warner Robins, Ga.

Dear Heloise: When I need some crushed pecans for a favorite recipe, I simply place a few whole nuts in a rescalable plastic bag and roll over the bag with a rolling pin. I leave a little space open by the "zipper" to allow air to

Then I wash the plastic bag out and it's ready for another use. - Courtney Dixon, Houston, Texas SOUND OFF Dear Heloise: I have allergies, and one of my main gripes is people who wear tons of perfume. It's especially frustrating in small enclosed spaces, like movie theaters, the office and church.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: Two years ago my husband informed me that he had been having an affair. We worked out our marital problems, but a year later I broke out with sores on my genitals. The doctor said it was herpes. He drew blood from my husband and myself, sent them off for verification and later informed me that the tests were positive. Then he put me on Zovirax. I took the pills for about two months and the symptoms disappeared.

主要的问题上下的主要的问题的问题。

Later our family moved to another town. The change and trying to hold my marriage together was a big strain on me. I have been told that stress will cause an attack of herpes, but I did not have another flare-up.

Could the diagnosis and test results have been incorrect? My husband never did have any symptoms. Why? Will I always be a carrier and never cured?

This is constantly on my mind. I have no one to confide in but my husband, and he does not feel the diagnosis was correct in the first place and doesn't feel it is his fault. Your help in clearing up this mess will be appreciated.

DEAR READER: If the blood tests were positive that means you have herpes simplex. If I understand your did not distinguish between oral and genital herpes because the two viruses are almost interchangeable, but more recent tests are able to do this. I can't say which test was done in your case. Your doctor could also tell from studies of secretions from the active lesion when you have an outbreak.

A very high percentage of people who have genital herpes do not know it. They may have the disease and not have any sores. Since the virus can survive in a dormant state for life, a person may go through life with the infection and never know it unless a blood test shows that he has antibodies to the virus. That may explain why your husband had no symptoms. It also tells you that you have no way of knowing when either one of you got herpes. Your husband may well have had genital herpes long before his affair. If either of you were sexually active before marriage, either or both of you could have had silent genital herpes all these years. A failure to understand this point has led to marital discord in many instances.

You and your husband badly need to read my new Special Report 116, Do You Have Herpes?, which I am sending you. Others who want this

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have severe osteoporosis and take calcitonin by injection and calcium tablets (1,500 mg daily). Should I take the calcium tablets with milk or with citrus juice? One source says take them with milk at bedtime. The other source says that milk hinders absorption of calcium and you should take them with citrus juice. Which is correct?

DEAR READER: Both milk and citrus juice enhance the absorption of calcium. The lactose in milk is the factor that enhances calcium absorption. Milk and milk products are the only sources of lactose in our diet. Milk itself is the most important dietary source of calcium. It is better than calcium pills if you can use a little more than a quart a day.

Acidity enhances calcium absorption, hence citric acid as found in orange juice does enhance it. But beware of coffee, tea and colas which

Program helps rural areas medically

Rural Texas communities, challenged by the need to fill vacancies in all health care professions, can now take advantage of a unique state-supported program, the Outstanding Rural Scholar Recognition Program administered by the Center for Rural Health Initiatives.

The center is accepting applications until February 14, 1992, for the academic year beginning Sept. 1992. Under the program an organization in a rural community acts as a sponsor to a student in a health care field. The sponsor agrees to contribute financial support for the student's education and living costs. In turn, the student agrees that he or she will work for the sponsor as a health care professional upon graduation.

Students who are selected as an Outstanding Rural Scholar based on academic records and recommendations are also eligible for loans under the Outstanding Rural Scholar Recognition Program.

State funds are available through this program to match the rural sponsor's contribution. For each year that the student works for the sponsoring community organization after graduation, one year's principal and interest on the loan is forgiven.

Many rural Texas communities already subsidize educational expenses for local students pursuing health career. The Outstanding Rural Scholar Recognition Program can help a community ensure a welltrained and committed health care work force for the future.

Bring theaters home for holidays

The holidays traditionally bring "Loudspeakers for center and families together. This holiday season (and throughout the year), families will be gathering around their home theaters.

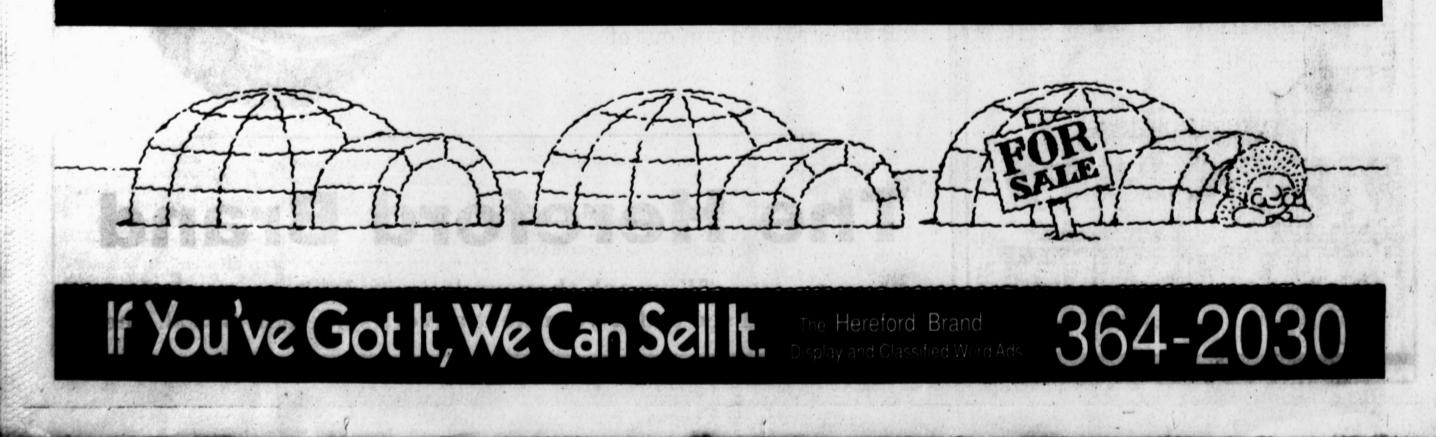

Home theater brings together stateof-the-art audio and video products so "you can create the sights and own pace and consistent with your sounds of a movie theater in your own home," said Bruce Schoenegge, vice president of an electronics firm.

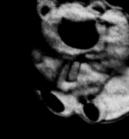

According to the Electronic Industries Association's Consumer Electronics Group, home theater is one of today's hottest new product categories.

Combining big screen television (usually 27 inches and larger), stereo and surround sound, and prerecorded video sources such as VCRs and laserdisc players, "These new home theater systems provide an experience. the entire family can enjoy together," said Tom Steckbeck, another electronics company vice president, "and thus make ideal gifts this holiday season." Beyond the big screen TV that anchors the home theater, it is the quality of the sound that distinguishes the home theater experience from previous home entertainment systems. In addition to a TV, a home theater includes at least an amplifier equipped with Dolby surround sound, a stereo VCR, a pair of front speakers, and a second set of speakers for rear audio channels to provide the surround sound effect. Home theater systems can be assembled component-style, purchased already assembled, or built around components you already have, but the fundamental point to remember is that for a relatively modest amount of money, you and your family can achieve a theaterquality combination of sight and sound. Spectacular examples of high-end home theater systems can be found in popular interior design magazines, yet you don't have to spend a lot of money to enjoy the home theater experience this holiday season. You can start with a large screen TV, an amplifier equipped with surround sound, and either a VCR or laserdisc player, as well as a set of quality speakers and a second set of speakers to achieve the surround sound effect. If your amplifier is not equipped with surround sound you can buy an adapter. "New loudspeakers can make a world of difference," said Dick James, president of a company.

surround sound channels, matched to the original speaker system, deliver an exciting new dimension to home entertainment."

own budget, you'll be ready to sit back and be dazzled by your state-ofthe-art home theater.
