Friona couple has year's first baby

Jessica Perez Salinas, daughter of Baltazar and Teresa Salinas of Friona, was the first child born in 1992 at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Jessica was born at 3:43 a.m. Wednesday at DSGH, with Dr. Howard Johnson the attending physician.

Jessica hit it lucky. This is the 100th anniversary of Johnson and Johnson baby products, and Jessica was named a Johnson's Baby of the New Year. Her parents received a certificate distinguishing Jessica as the "Baby of the New Year" and received an assortment of products from the company. She will be entered in a nationwide contest with other Baby of the New Year winners for a $1,000 CD to be used for her education.

New classroom at Northwest

Employees of Morton Buildings of Raton, N.M., and LTD Portable Buildings of Hereford help unload half of a new classroom Thursday at Northwest Primary School. The building is one of six purchased for Hereford elementary schools for new computer labs and other needs at each of the schools. Most of the $115,000 cost for the buildings will be paid with grant funds.

Applications set for crop disasters

Application for 1990 and 1991 crop disasters may be made from Feb. 3 through March 13, according to an announcement Thursday by Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan.

The applications will be administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

"President Bush has signed into law a measure providing $995 million for payments to producers who had crop losses due to natural disasters in either 1990 or 1991," Madigan said. He added that producers will select the year for filing. The payments will be in cash and computed according to the provisions of the 1990 farm bill. Payments to qualifying farmers could be made as soon as April 16.

Producers with qualifying gross revenues of less than $2 million per year may file claims on crops including sugar beets, wheat, feed grains, cotton, peanuts, soybeans, minor oilseeds and non-program crops, plus other crops not grown in the area.

Madigan said producers with crop insurance must have had losses greater than 35 percent; producers without crop insurance must have had losses greater than 40 percent.

"Producers intending to file should begin to assemble their records now, so they will be ready when the official application period opens in February," Madigan said. "A producer may not file on one crop on a farm for one year and a different crop on the same farm for the other. However, the producer may request benefits for 1990 on one farm and for 1991 on another farm."

Producers will get a more complete set of guidelines and a disaster program worksheet from the county ASCS office in the near future. The secretary said the producer must prepare the worksheet, gather supporting documents and make an appointment with the county ASCS office to apply for program benefits.

"Although the disaster loss application period will be from Feb. 3 through March 13, if further documentation is needed, the producer will be advised and given the opportunity to submit the required documentation no later than March 27," Madigan said.

Applications filed will go to ASCS central computer facility. Benefits will be summarized and the national allocation factor for limiting total payments to the $995 million will be figured.

Who cares? Lawmakers feel lack of interest in session

AUSTIN (AP) - On the first day of the Legislature's special session on redistricting, prayers were lifted for fairness and comparisons were made between the political battle and the Alamo.

But does the public really care about redrawing state House and Senate district boundaries?

"The attention span may be about two seconds on what happens down here during this special session," said House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth.

He said people are more concerned about the economy, as they should be.

But 150 House members, and 31 senators, have a lot at stake in drawing boundaries for districts from which they and future lawmakers will run.

On Thursday, legislative leaders predicted quick work on redistricting, but the special session quickly ran into problems.

A Senate redistricting plan was delayed by Republicans, forcing senators to sit tight until Saturday before considering the measure.

Meanwhile, a House committee voted 8-4 for a redistricting proposal that minority plaintiffs said would land the state back in court.

The proposal would institute a federal three-judge panel's plan for the 1992 elections, and then change for 1994 to a district map that was agreed to by the minority groups and a majority of the House.

But James Harrington, an attorney for the minority plaintiffs, said the three-judge plan for 1992 would do too much damage to Hispanics and blacks. Harrington said Hispanic groups would challenge such a proposal in state court.

The committee also approved a bill that would postpone the primaries until April 11 if a Senate redistricting plan fails to win court approval in time for the election to proceed on March 10.

It appeared that the opening prayer in the House was going unanswered. Rev. Marvin Griffin of Austin's Ebenezer Baptist Church had urged "district lines that rise above partisan politics and are fair, flawless, equitable and acceptable."

Despite the problems, Lewis, and Senate leaders said they expected to finish the session next week.

In the Senate, David Sibley, R-Waco, used his right as a senator to delay consideration of a redistricting plan that represented a settlement with minority plaintiffs and has been agreed upon by 20 Democratic senators.

Republicans claim the plan would reduce their numbers in the Senate. "The Alamo held out 13 days, I don't know if we have it in us to hold out that long or not," Sibley said.

The Baby Boom CrunchHealth care, retirement big questions for big generation

WASHINGTON (AP) - The needs of the baby boom generation threaten to engulf the nation's health care and retirement systems as the size of the elder population soars over the next 40 years, a private study said today.

The number of Americans 65 and older will hit 65 million by the year 2030, compared with 30 million senior citizens today, the Population Reference Bureau said in a report, "The Baby Boom - Entering Midlife."

Baby boomers in the next 20 years "will set the agenda for the nation's public policy choices in education, work-family policies, retirement programs and health care," said the report's authors, Leon Bouvier and Carol De Vita.

The key question will be "how do we invest in America's future" of retiring baby boomers "while meeting the social, economic and political needs of today?" they said.

Baby boomers are Americans born from 1946 to 1964, so by 2030, the oldest surviving boomer will be 84 and the youngest 65.

By 2030 there will be more Americans over the age of 65 than under the age of 18, according to demographers' estimates.

That reduces the number of younger working people available to support the growing number of retirees.

Baby boomers are trying to "provide for their children, assist their aging parents and plan for their own futures," the authors said.

Social Security will be sorely tested over the next 40 years.

"Given their size, perhaps no other generation in history has had, or will have, as much influence in determining the course of human events."

The report said: "Preserving the solvency of the Social Security system may be one of the first major tests of the baby boom generation's political cohesion and power."

Half of all people age 85 or older need assistance with such basic needs as eating, bathing and dressing. Baby boomers will encounter this problem regarding their own parents. Later, they will face the need for themselves.

Baby boomers may face a dilemma on the question of retirement. Private pension plans may encourage some to retire before age 65. Revisions in Social Security may encourage older workers to stay in the workplace to ease public costs of providing retirement income. Typically, Social Security represents the largest share of an older person's income.

More and more women of the baby boom generation will face the demands of caring for an older relative in the decades ahead.

Residents returning to flooded homes

SIMONTON, Texas (AP) - Some residents began returning to their flood-ravaged homes near the Brazos River, but water remained in others, forcing those homeowners to wait and wonder what was left of their belongings.

About two feet of water washed throughout Susan and Kyle Kubricht's home, saturating new carpeting and floating their Christmas tree. The Kubrichts and others went back to their homes Thursday in Fort Bend County to assess the damage.

"The water came up about a foot in about 35 minutes on Saturday," Kubricht said. "We had enough time to put things up and get everybody out, but that was about it."

Inside, the family's new refrigerator rested on the kitchen sink and two chairs, but an antique piano, bedroom and living room furniture all bore soggy high water marks. They had no flood insurance.

"I found myself walking around and I don't know what to do first," Kubricht said.

Flood waters spilling out of the Brazos and overflowing from two nearby lakes began receding late Wednesday. The Brazos dropped from 49.7 feet to 49.5 - still more than a foot above flood stage - at Richmond by morning, waters reached a flat crest at Rosharon and flat crests were forecast for East Columbia and the Harris Reservoir into the weekend.

"You work for something for so long and it's wiped out in a few hours. The biggest mop isn't going to help." -Eva Domatti of Sunshine Acres Llamas as she rounded up geese, ducks and a swan. She had evacuated her llamas to high ground before the flood devastated her home and two-acre wildlife ranch.

Eva Domatti spent the day at her Sunshine Acres Llamas surveying the damage to her home and two-acre wildlife ranch in the Valley Lodge subdivision. She also rounded up geese, ducks and a swan.

"You work for something for so long and it's wiped out in a few hours," Mrs. Domatti said. "The biggest mop is not going to help."

Inside Mrs. Domatti's home, a half-inch of silt coated ceramic floors, while carpets saturated with water and mud squished beneath her feet in other rooms. Water marks nearly a foot high stained walls and large furniture.

She evacuated most of the animals just before Christmas, although she did lose eight peacocks. In southern Fort Bend County, ranchers helped one another, using air boats to ferry bales of hay to feed hungry cattle isolated by the raging waters.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency on Thursday added Fort Bend and five other counties to a list of 19 Texas counties declared federal disaster areas. Others on the list include Tarrant, Bell, Walker, McLennan, Trinity, Burnet, Coleman, Fayette, Liberty, Limestone, Llano, Parker, Wharton, Travis, Brown, Bosque, Bastrop and Dallas.

More than 1,100 individuals and businesses already have sought help from the agency.

Northeast of Houston, Liberty County residents continued to watch the rising waters of the Trinity River. The National Weather Service reported the river reached 29.5 feet, or 5 1/2 feet above flood stage, at Liberty Thursday and was expected to remain at that level for a flat crest into next week.

But Jim Mitchum, emergency management coordinator for Liberty County, said he believed the river would rise another 2 to 3 inches before cresting near 30 feet sometime today. About 125 homes in the Liberty area had water in them.

Although the Brazos was receding in Fort Bend County, some homeowners still couldn't go back. High water Thursday prevented Fritz Lancon from entering his Simonton house of getting any closer than a football field. Water marks looked to be about 3 feet high outside the home where he has lived for 21 years.

"It's dropped about a foot and a half since yesterday," Lancon said. "I just hope that the driveway's still there."

Local Roundup Anti-drug efforts helped by fungus

Seven arrested on Thursday

Three persons were arrested Thursday by Hereford police, including a man, 55, for public intoxication in the 200 block of S. 25 Mile Ave.; a man, 23, for unlawful carrying of a weapon at the intersection of N. 25 Mile Ave. and 13th; and a man, 20, on a county warrant for surrender of surety at the intersection of Park and Ave. F.

Reports included burglary of a motor vehicle in the 500 block of McKinley where an item worth $250 was taken; unauthorized use of a motor vehicle in the 400 block of Ave. G, with the vehicle later recovered; reckless conduct at the intersection of 13th and Ave. H; damage to a vehicle in the 400 block of N. 25 Mile Ave.; disorderly conduct in the 500 block of Ave. H; theft of groceries; and criminal mischief to a vehicle in the 600 block of Ave. I.

A minor accident was reported Thursday in the 100 block of N. 25 Mile Ave. when a vehicle struck a building. No injuries were reported, but extensive damage was done to the building.

Police issued one citation Thursday.

Sheriff's deputies investigated an assault involving two men Thursday. Arrests included a man, 26 for violation of parole; and three persons, ages 18, 23 and 31, for violation of probation.

Chance of rain on Saturday

Tonight, partly cloudy. Low around 30. Southeast wind 5 to 15 mph. Saturday, mostly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of afternoon showers. High in the lower 50s. South wind 10 to 20 mph.

The extended forecast for Sunday through Tuesday calls for decreasing cloudiness Sunday. Partly cloudy Monday and Tuesday. Highs in the low to mid 50s. Lows in the lower 30s.

This morning's low at KPAN was 25 after a high Thursday of 58.

SANTA LUCIA, Peru (AP) - A killer root fungus is proving surprisingly effective at wiping out coca plants in the Upper Huallaga Valley, which provides much of the world's supply of cocaine, authorities say.

"It's wrecking a great amount of crops," said Diego Garcia-Sayan, director of the Andean Jurists Commission, an independent human rights group that also studies drug trafficking. "It has done much more than the eradication efforts did."

Analysts say anti-drug efforts have not had as great an impact on the Upper Huallaga's coca-growers as has the emergence of the fungus and the spread of violence by Maoist-inspired rebels into the region.

A study by the National Agrarian University identified fusarium oxysporum as the fungus responsible for killing an estimated 15,000 acres of coca plants in the Upper Huallaga, known as the world's "cocaine cradle."

About 250,000 acres of coca grow along the 150-mile-long Upper Huallaga, perhaps half the total grown throughout Peru. Fungus damage has been centered around Uchiza, a town 10 miles from Santa Lucia.

Some coca farmers blame the fungus' appearance on the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, saying they have seen helicopters with hoses spraying chemicals on their fields. A U.S. Embassy spokesman denied the reports.

Agronomists say the fungus is common in jungle and tropical highland areas where single-crop cultivation predominates. First signs of the fungus, which attacks the roots, causing the leaves to wilt and plant to die quickly, were reported two years ago.

Peru produces at least 60 percent of the world's coca leaf, with half that coming from the Upper Huallaga, which is about 250 miles northeast of Lima.

Cultivation of the leaf used to produce cocaine, however, is spreading to other areas of Peru.

Maj. Edwin Montero, the commander of a U.S.-supported police base in Santa Lucia that targets the cocaine trade, said recent raids hit two areas not previously targeted and hundreds of miles to the south.

Peruvian police and DEA agents aboard U.S.-supplied helicopters netted 372 pounds of semi-refined cocaine in a November raid on Palma Pampa, 300 miles southeast of Santa Lucia.

An airstrip and two small laboratories were destroyed during another raid in Palestina in the Cuzco region.

The presence of Shining Path rebels is strong in the Upper Huallaga, where they raise war taxes by trying to regulate the coca trade.

"The Shining Path executed some traffickers and growers who did not follow Shining Path price schedules, causing a shift away from Shining Path-dominated areas," a 1991 U.S. State Department report noted.

Coca growers also face extortion by corrupt police, who are said to pay commanders for assignments in the Upper Huallaga.

"Between the repression and the terror, the people leave for other areas," said Conrado Surber, an engineer who specializes in development projects in impoverished Andean communities.

U.S.-sponsored anti-drug raids launched by police from Santa Lucia also make the Upper Huallaga less hospitable to coca farming.

The raids netted 9,020 pounds of partially or fully-processed cocaine in 1991, authorities say.

Base officials said they destroyed coca seedlings in 1991 that would have produced nearly 40,000 acres of mature plants.

But guerrilla sniper attacks halted a manual crop eradication program in 1989 and a U.S. plan to wipe out coca with a controversial herbicide has been shelved due to political opposition.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia - Officials say a cease-fire arranged for today has a better chance of success than more than a dozen earlier short-lived truces because it calls for negotiations - not firing - in the event of a violation.

MELBOURNE, Australia - President Bush is pressing arrangements to boost the U.S. military presence in Singapore as the Pentagon loses its stronghold in the Philippines.

WASHINGTON - The Bush administration is having difficulty figuring out how to spend the $400 million Congress gave it to help dismantle and store Soviet nuclear weapons, government and private sources say.

WASHINGTON - The needs of the baby boom generation threaten to engulf the nation's health care and retirement systems as the size of the older population soars over the next 40 years, a private study says.

ACROSS THE USA - In Dallas, the 501st and final homicide of 1991 came at 15 minutes to midnight on New Year's Eve. Police said a man caught someone trying to steal his car and shot him. For Dallas, and many other cities across the country, 1991 was the deadliest year on record.

DES MOINES, Iowa - Reports of gay bashing - from verbal harassment to homicide - doubled or tripled in major U.S. cities in a year that put the homosexual community under siege, activists say.

SANTA LUCIA, Peru - A killer root fungus is proving surprisingly effective at wiping out coca plants in Peru's Upper Huallaga Valley, which provides much of the world's supply of cocaine, authorities say.

AUSTIN - On the first day of the Legislature's special session on redistricting, prayers were lifted for fairness and comparisons were made between the political battle and the Alamo. But does the public really care about redrawing state House and Senate district boundaries?

SIMONTON - Some residents began returning to their flood-ravaged homes near the Brazos River, but water remained in others, forcing those homeowners to wait and wonder what was left of their belongings.

WASHINGTON - The number of law enforcement officers killed in the line of duty fell sharply last year, the result of bullet-resistant vests as well as better training and weaponry, two police groups said Thursday. Of the 115 officers killed in 31 states, Texas lost the most, 14, followed by California, 10; Florida and Missouri, seven each, and Michigan, six. In addition, 10 officers from U.S. territories and five federal officers died.

DALLAS - The nation's largest jewelry retailer, Zale Corp., will push ahead with cost cuts despite an attempt by some bondholders to throw the company into Chapter 11, its chairman said.

WASHINGTON - The Securities and Exchange Commission has picked Walter P. Schuetz, a partner with KPMG Peat Marwick, one of the nation's largest accounting firms, to be the agency's chief accountant. A native of Comfort, Texas, Schuetz is a graduate of the University of Texas and has served on numerous professional committees and boards.

EL PASO - Authorities at the county's Juvenile Detention Center were to decide whether to keep heavy exercise equipment, which nine youths used it in a New Year's Eve escape.

MADILL, Okla. - Recent flooding at Lake Texoma hasn't been as bad as in past years, but the U.S. Corps of Engineers is still being blamed for the high water.

Richards says bingo will not be on agenda

AUSTIN (AP) - A spokesman for Gov. Ann Richards said bingo operators, hoping for a reduction in their state taxes, will have to wait until the 1993 regular legislative session.

A special session on redistricting convened Thursday as did 250 protestors wanting discussion on bingo taxes added to the Legislature's agenda.

"There are innumerable items people want to include on the agenda. A lot of them have merit but none of them need to be considered before the 1993 (regular) legislative session. And this is one of them," said Bill Cryer, the governor's press secretary. Bingo representatives contend their game will suffer after Jan. 15 if the new law remains intact.

Last summer, lawmakers increased taxes on bingo operators from 2 percent to 5 percent and instituted a 3 percent tax on bingo winnings and a similar tariff for renting a hall to play bingo.

The demonstrators say will hurt up to 1,800 charities. The taxes are expected to generate about $57 million during the present two-year budget period.

Reps. Doyle Willis, D-Fort Worth, and Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, told the crowd they would fight on the industry's behalf. Willis has authored a bill that would return the tax on gross receipts to 2 percent.

"If the only way we can gain revenue is to tax charities, we don't need to tax at all," Kubiak said.

Part of Thursday's demonstration included an executioner holding a cardboard tombstone over a fake coffin. The executioner also wielded a scythe emblazoned with the name of Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock.

"We gather here today to pay our last respect to our most precious and enjoyable companion, bingo," said Chuck Bertani of Houston, president of the Bingo Operators of Texas.

"The cause of death is the most dreaded, contagious disease of all time - legislative taxitis," said Bertani, who operates two commercial bingo halls.

Representatives of various charities which rely on bingo addressed the coffin and dropped in photocopies of bingo operator's licenses that they say will be forsaken Jan. 15.

"It's a symbolic gesture; they're gone," said Henry Garcia, executive director of the Texas Association of Bingo Licensees. "On Jan. 15, we have to pay the taxes and many of us are not going to survive."

More than 250 of Texas' roughly 1,200 bingo licenses will be given up on that date, said Jose Trevino, state legislative director for League of United Latin American Citizens.

Israeli action in occupied area blamed for Palestinian decision

JERUSALEM (AP) - Palestinian negotiators said today that they have suspended plans to go to peace talks in Washington because of Israel's decision to expel 12 alleged Arab militants from the occupied territories.

A statement read by Palestinian spokeswoman Hanan Ashrawi appealed to the United States to make the Israeli government "nullify this grave breach of international law." It said the delegation would wait for the PLO to make a decision on future participation on the peace talks.

The statement, read to reporters after the Palestinian negotiating team conferred for two hours, said:

"The Palestinian delegation views this latest development with utmost seriousness and grave alarm. We have therefore suspended our plans to travel to Washington D.C., pending the decision of the legitimate political leadership of the Palestinian people, the PLO, which is currently meeting to evaluate these developments and which will announce the appropriate decision in due time."

Answering questions, Mrs. Ashrawi said she expected a decision from the PLO later in the day.

The Israelis announced Thursday night that they plan to deport 12 Palestinians allegedly active in violent anti-Israeli activity. They cited an upsurge in violence in the occupied territories in recent months.

Since the Middle East peace talks began in October in Madrid, four Jewish settlers have been killed.

Mrs. Ashrawi's statement claimed the expulsions were "a continuation of Israel's destructive policy designed to torpedo the peace process."

It urged the United States to "fulfill its explicit responsibilities to both the peace process and its own official policies" and make the Israelis reverse the decision.

The delegation was to have left for Amman, Jordan, today en route to Washington, where talks were expected to resume next week.

In Tel Aviv, U.S. Ambassador William Brown said the expulsions, "We deplore such actions."

He told a news conference the United States also "condemns any violent action against Israelis," wherever it takes place.

The deportations are unlikely to take place for at least several days.

The 12 have the right to appeal to a military tribunal, and then to the Israeli Supreme Court. But invariably, these appeals are rejected and the Arabs are deported to a neighboring Arab state.

Zale officials continuing plans despite petition by creditors

DALLAS (AP) - The nation's largest jewelry retailer, Zale Corp., will push ahead with cost cuts despite an attempt by some bondholders to throw the company into Chapter 11, its chairman said.

"We believe this action by just a handful of our creditors is very unfortunate. This action is definitely not in the best interests of our creditors and our employees," Zale chairman Irving R. Gerstein said Thursday.

Bondholders led by the Dallas investment firm Barre & Co. filed an involuntary bankruptcy petition against Zale on Wednesday.

The petition did not affect the company's four retail chains - Zale's, Bailey Banks & Biddle, Gordon's and Corrigan's - which operated normally Thursday.

Zale was considering how to respond to the petition, Gerstein said. It has 20 days to do so.

The company could consent to the filing and restructure $850 million in debt through the formal court process, or it could ask a bankruptcy judge to throw the petition out, claiming the bondholders don't represent all its creditors.

The involuntary Chapter 11 petition was filed two days after Zale announced cost cuts designed to keep it out of bankruptcy court. They include closing 400 of its 2,000 stores and freezing all debt payments.

About 2,500 of the company's 12,500 employees nationwide would lose their jobs because of the closures. Zale also planned to cut its headquarters staff and reorganize divisions.

In his statement Thursday, Gerstein said Zale would push ahead with those plans.

Final decisions about what stores to close will take about two months while closing them could take another two months, Zale spokeswoman Lisette McSoud said Thursday.

Gerstein on Thursday repeated his view that formal court proceedings

Speaker re-election decision to come

AUSTIN (AP) - House Speaker Gib Lewis says he will decide whether to seek re-election before the current special session ends.

Lawmakers returned to the Capitol on Thursday to try again on state House and Senate redistricting plans. Officials said they hoped to wrap up that work in a week.

Lewis, who has remained silent on his political plans, said his decision is near.

"I'll let you all know before we get out of here. I guarantee you. That's a promise," he said. "I will not leave without making some decision."

Lewis, D-Fort Worth, has been the top officer in the 150-member House for an unprecedented five terms.

But since being indicted by a Travis County grand jury in December 1990 on misdemeanor ethics charges, Lewis has declined to say whether he would seek re-election to the House and a sixth term as speaker.

Lewis, who has pleaded innocent to the charges, Thursday said he still hasn't made up his mind about running.

"I'm pretty close. Everytime I have my mind made up something else happens ... I hope you understand, it's a hard decision to make," he said.

A judge has tentatively scheduled a Jan. 27 trial on charges that Lewis allegedly violated state ethics laws by receiving a gift from a powerful San Antonio law firm and then failed to report it on his public financial disclosure statement.

Fred and Linda Hill will offer an Intimacy For Couples Seminar on six consecutive Wednesdays from 7:30-9:00 p.m. beginning January 15 through Feb. 19 at the DeFalco Retreat Center. The cost is $90 per couple. For free brochures or to register, call 383-1811.

Woman of Pro-life meeting set year to be announced

A community wide Pro-Life Awareness meeting will be held Jan. 12, 1992 at the Hereford Community Center starting at 7 p.m.

A current pro-life film will be shown. Some area residents will tell their experiences with the pro-life movement including Operation Rescue in Lubbock and more recently in Wichita, Kansas. The public is invited and encouraged to attend.

The first quarterly meeting for the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division will be held Jan. 7 at 6:30 p.m. at the Hereford community Center East Banquet Room for a buffet dinner catered by Mary Beth Messer.

Women's Division members and guests are invited to attend this meeting which will be highlighted by the announcement of the Women of the Year.

Plaques will be presented to outgoing directors and Marilyn Culpepper will install new officers and directors.

The telephone committee will call members for reservations. Any non-member wishing to attend may call 364-0420 for reservations.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just attended a funeral for a close family member. This tragedy was compounded by the presence of two children, ages 2 and 6, brought by their parents, supposedly to learn about life and death.

During the eulogy, the toddler ran his toy trucks up and down the church pews, making engine noises. When it became obvious that the child's mother was not going to discipline the boy, a stranger escorted him to an adjoining room.

At the gravesite, the 6-year-old pleaded with her mother not to stand next to the coffin. The service was delayed 10 minutes while the mother insisted that the little girl obey her. It was clear that the child was petrified. Meanwhile, the 2-year-old wandered away to look at workmen who were operating a bulldozer across the road. The child had to be chased down and brought back.

After the service, the youngster ran his toy trucks up and down the sides of the hearse without a word of admonishment from his parents.

The final tribute to our loved one was ruined by the thoughtlessness of these parents.

Please, Ann, tell your readers to leave young children with a sitter on the day of a funeral.--Anytown, U.S.A.

DEAR ANYTOWN: The problem you describe is one I have dealt with several times in this space. It is disrespectful to the mourners to have the solemnity of the occasion ruined by unruly children. Thanks for saying it again.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing about the woman who was upset because her friend with epilepsy had failed to take her medicine and then died.

I've had juvenile diabetes for 14 years. I've had problems from taking too much medicine and too little medicine. I try to follow my doctor's guidelines but it is extremely difficult because my medicinal needs change as my body, emotions and activities change. I am also trying to cope with the typical roller coaster of college life--dating, studying, working, living.

My well-meaning friends have a variety of gimmicks and new ideas to make me healthier. I have news for them--except for my diabetes, I am in better health than they are. I eat vegetables and avoid fats. I see my doctor regularly. I exercise and get enough sleep. I think I would take their advice more seriously if they took better care of themselves.

As two final pieces of advice for my friends who want to help me:

1. Instead of wasting energy telling me how to control a disease you know very little about, direct that same energy to helping finance a cure.

2. Listen to me without judging, when I need to talk about my fear of blindness, kidney failure, heart disease, neuropathy and death.

3. Diabetics need emotional support. I get a lot from my brother who has ulcerative colitis. We calm each other in a way no therapist could. Thanks for letting me have my say, Ann.--Tina in Idaho

DEAR TINA: I can understand your impatience with your friends but their concern is rooted in their love for you.

Continue to take good care of yourself. It can make a tremendous difference in your health. Good luck to you, honey. Juvenile diabetes is not easy but it should make you feel good to know that researchers are making progress toward better management and hopefully a cure.

DALLAS (AP) - Christian Slater's latest movie, "Kuffs," has run afoul of Dallas officials, who believe it's too violent for children under 16 to see without their parents.

The movie, scheduled to open Jan. 10, is rated PG-13, which means parental guidance is suggested for children under 13.

But the Dallas Motion Picture Classification Board has sued to change the rating, saying children under 16 shouldn't be allowed to see the movie without their parents.

That would have virtually the same effect in local theaters as an R rating, which requires an accompanying parent for children under 17.

City administrator Marsha Cranford, who saw the movie, said drug lords kill a police officer in a church in one scene, and in another, "a lot of people came into an apartment with Uzis and shot up everyone."

Officials of Universal Pictures, the film's distributor, say the city's motion picture ordinance is unconstitutional and plan to show the film without any additional warning.

The case was transferred Tuesday from state court to U.S. District Court.

Most of the board's decisions have been upheld following a 1968 U.S. Supreme Court ruling that gave states and cities the power to limit children's access to certain books and films.

Slater's recent movies include "Mobsters" and "Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves."

MARK'S GOSPEL—OR IS IT?

ST. MARK, AUTHOR OF THE SECOND GOSPEL, BELONGED TO A GRECIAN FAMILY FROM CYPRUS, COUSIN OF THE EVANGELIST BARNABAS, HIS SURNAME WAS MARK— GIVEN NAME, JOHN. HIS MOTHER, MARY, WAS A WOMAN OF WEALTH, IN WHOSE HOME IN JERUSALEM, MARK MET ST. PETER WHO WAS A CONSTANT VISITOR. MARK ACCOMPANIED HIS COUSIN BARNABAS AND ST. PAUL ON MISSIONARY TRIPS AS AN ASSISTANT. AFTER THEIR DEATHS, HE ATTACHED HIMSELF TO PETER, FOR WHOM HE WORKED AS A LETTER WRITER AND INTERPRETER DUE TO GALILEAN-BORN PETER'S LACK OF PROFICIENCY IN GREEK AND ROMAN SPEECH.

BECAUSE MARK WROTE HIS GOSPEL WHILE AT ROME WITH PETER, MANY AUTHORITIES FELT IT WAS DONE WHOLLY UNDER PETER'S GUIDANCE—THE ANCIENT CLEMENT OF ALEXANDRIA THOUGHT SO, AS DID PAPIAS, BUT....

...WHETHER THIS IS SO OR NOT, HE WROTE WITH GREAT INDEPENDENCE! MANY THINGS CAN BE LEARNED FROM MARK THAT ARE NOT FOUND IN THE OTHER GOSPELS—FIRST, HE DID NOT WRITE HIS GOSPEL FOR THE JEWS BUT FOR THE GENTILE CONVERTS TO CHRISTIANITY....

...THIS IS EVIDENT IN HIS MANNER OF TAKING TIME TO EXPLAIN CERTAIN THINGS WHICH NEEDED NO EXPLAINING TO JEWS—SUCH AS THE FACT THE "JORDAN IS A RIVER", THE PHARISEES "USED TO FAST", THE MOUNT OF OLIVES IS "OVER AGAINST THE TEMPLE", AT PASSOVER MEN "EAT UNLEAVENED BREAD"—MARK ALSO TOOK THE TROUBLE TO POINT OUT THAT MATTHEW WAS "LEVI, SON OF ALPHEUS, PETER WAS A NAME GIVEN TO SIMON BY JESUS, THAT JESUS WAS A "CARPENTER"! ALL THESE THINGS WERE COMMON KNOWLEDGE TO JEWS OF THAT DAY BUT NOT TO GENTILES. WHENEVER MARK USED ARAMAIC WORDS, HE STOPPED TO TRANSLATE THEM FOR THE GENTILE READER. IN ALL, MARK TOOK GREAT CARE TO SHOW THE HUMAN "SIDE OF JESUS—HE COULD BE TIRED (IV:13), VERY ANGRY (VIII:5), HE COULD SIGH (VII:34, VIII:12), AND BE "GREATLY AMAZED" AND "SORE TROUBLED" (IX:13). ABOVE ALL, MARK PRESENTED JESUS AS THE MAN ON EARTH, WORKING AS GOD'S SERVANT!

'Canes, Huskies split top spots

MIAMI (AP) - This season, the Miami Hurricanes figure, it's OK for two teams to be No. 1.

The Hurricanes (12-0) responded with a shrug Thursday upon learning that they had won the national championship in one poll and Washington had finished atop another.

"I really have no doubt in my mind about who's No. 1," defensive end Rusty Medearis said. "But Washington also went 12-0, so we have to give them credit."

In years past, split champions might have triggered a flood of insults from Miami players toward the Huskies and poll voters. But these days the Hurricanes are more image-conscious, so their response was muted.

"It's fine that it's a split," quarterback Gino Torretta said. "I know I'd be real disappointed if we'd gone 12-0 and Washington won both polls, and I'm sure they'd feel the same way if we'd won both."

The Hurricanes won The Associated Press media poll in the closest vote ever for their fourth national title in nine years. Washington won the USA Today-CNN coaches poll. Each team won its bowl game easily on Wednesday.

"I had a feeling it was going to be a split," Miami coach Dennis Erickson said. "It doesn't make any difference. Really. It's not less satisfactory at all because it's split."

Miami's previous titles were in 1983, 1987 and 1989. This time, much of the Hurricanes' firepower will return next season, giving them a shot at becoming the first team to repeat as AP national champion since Alabama in 1978-79.

"Obviously it would be hard to do better than 12-0," Erickson said. "We have a tough schedule next season, but we also have a lot of players coming back."

Fifteen starters and 33 of the team's top 46 players are expected back in the fall. Torretta, two leading rushers and four top receivers all return, along with three starting offensive linemen and seven defensive starters.

"You have to like our chances next year," Medearis said.

Top losses among the seniors will be first-team All-American kicker Carlos Huerta and second-team All-American tackle Leon Searcy. Early departures for the NFL by members of a talent-laden junior class are possible, although none has indicated an intent to turn pro this year.

The NFL also is tempting

Erickson, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for nearly every vacant pro job. He reiterated Thursday that he wants to remain at Miami.

"I will be back for next year," he said. "I have no plans to interview with any NFL teams."

Erickson, 33-3 in three seasons at Miami with two national titles, is under contract through 1995 for a salary estimated at $250,000 a year. Athletic Director Dave Maggard said he wants to meet with Erickson to discuss revising terms of the contract.

If the coach and most of his stars are back, what's to keep Miami from repeating? For starters, Iowa, Penn State, Syracuse and San Diego State; the Hurricanes play them on the road next season. Then there are home games against Florida State, Arizona and West Virginia.

Another obstacle will be the pressure that comes with the preseason No. 1 ranking likely to be bestowed upon the Hurricanes.

The last time they were defending champions was also the last time they were the preseason No. 1 pick. That was in 1990, and Miami was upset in its opener at Brigham Young, 28-21.

TCU hires Auburn-ex Sullivan

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Several weeks ago, Texas Christian athletic director Frank Windegger was in New York for an awards banquet and heard Pat Sullivan of Auburn speak.

Impressed, Windegger turned to a friend and said:

"That guy is something else. Why hasn't someone snapped him up as a head coach?"

Someone did, Windegger.

He and TCU Chancellor William Tucker announced Thursday that Sullivan, the 1971 Heisman Trophy winner, had been hired to replace Jim Wacker, who resigned unexpectedly last week to accept the top job at Minnesota.

The former All-American quarterback, an assistant coach at Auburn the last six years, signed a five-year contract for an undisclosed salary.

Although he volunteered no timetable, Sullivan, 41, vowed to take the Horned Frogs to the Cotton Bowl and to win it when they get there. TCU's last Cotton Bowl appearance was 33 years ago.

"Our goal is to compete for the championship within the rules of the Southwest Conference and the NCAA," he said.

Buddy Dike, a former TCU player and a member of the search committee, said Sullivan is "young, energetic and just what our program needs."

Wacker's nine-year record of 40-58-2 at TCU included only two winning seasons but his legacy is promising: The 1991 team was 7-4 and most of the players return.

Chancellor Tucker said Sullivan was the unanimous choice of a six-man search committee which concluded that "there is not a crooked bone in that man's body."

TCU is just now recovering from NCAA sanctions imposed in 1985 for rules violations initiated under Wacker's predecessor, F.A. Dry.

Sullivan, who tutored Auburn's quarterbacks as an assistant coach the last six years, indicated he would abandon the Frogs' wide open "Triple Shoot" attack for a multiple offense.

"We'll throw the ball around and it will be exciting," he said. "You win big because of offense."

Sullivan, whose background includes coaching stints with the Atlanta Falcons and Washington Redskins, said he will assemble a "quality" staff and guaranteed it will be an "enthusiastic, fun group."

But, he smiled, "as far as running the offense, I'll do that myself."

In Alabama, Auburn coach Pat Dye praised Sullivan's contribution to the Tigers' football program, both as a player and a coach.

"We're losing a good football coach and an outstanding person," he said.

HWBA extends entry deadline

The entry deadline for the Hereford Women's Bowling Association City Tournament has been moved to Jan. 8 from Jan. 4.

The tournament will be Jan. 18-19 and 25-26.

Sophomores bow to PD

Hereford's sophomore boys' basketball team made a run at a talented Palo Duro sophomore squad Thursday in Whiteface Gym, but they just "couldn't get over the hump," coach Key Harrison said. The Hereford team ended up losing 72-51 in its first game since Dec. 29.

PD took a 21-6 lead after one quarter, but Hereford played them evenly (17-17) in the second quarter and made up ground with an 11-8 advantage in the third. The Herd pulled to within eight points with 5:30 left in the game, but PD quickly hit a three-pointer and started to pull away.

"We don't have the talent they do," Harrison said. "They had some three-pointers that were pretty crucial in the game." Justin Wright led Hereford with 17 points, and Trey Skiles added 10. The sophomores' next game is at Amarillo High at 2 p.m. Saturday. Both of Hereford's varsity teams play tonight, with the boys hosting Dunbar at 8 p.m. and the girls going to Lubbock to meet Dunbar at 7:30 p.m. Both junior varsity teams will also play, starting an hour and a half before each varsity game.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Hardaway leads Warriors past Nuggets

By The Associated Press

Tim Hardaway was more concerned with putting pressure on the Denver Nuggets than on himself.

After all, what's a 1-for-8 shooting performance after going 0-for-17?

Two games after setting an NBA record for shooting futility, Hardaway scored 19 of his 27 points in the second half as the Golden State Warriors defeated the Nuggets 125-111 Thursday night. He missed seven of his first eight field-goal attempts before going 7-for-9 in the second half.

Hardaway said he was more intent on the Warriors' pressure defense, which harassed the Nuggets into 16 turnovers in the second half and 26 overall.

"We had to put pressure on them in the second half," Hardaway said. "We were sluggish the first half and they started to pull away. We knew if we put pressure on them, they'd make mistakes."

Chris Mullin had 26 points for the Warriors, who lead the league in forcing turnovers. Golden State, which won its fourth in a row and improved to 20-8 overall, increased its lead in the Pacific Division to two games over Portland and Phoenix.

The Nuggets were led by Dikembe Mutombo with 29 points and 15 rebounds. The rookie center was 11-for-14 from the field, but turned the ball over seven times.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Cleveland 110, New York 103; the Los Angeles Clippers 109, Charlotte 102 in overtime; Atlanta 123, Phoenix 105; Milwaukee 92, Minnesota 91; Detroit 106, Houston 83; Utah 107, Portland 103; Seattle 113, Miami 109 in overtime; and Sacramento 114, Philadelphia 110.

Jazz 107, Trail Blazers 103

Utah improved its record to 11-1 at home as Karl Malone had 30 points and Tyrone Corbin scored 10 of his 15 in the fourth quarter against Portland, including six in the final minute.

Jeff Malone added 23 points for the Jazz.

The Trail Blazers got 23 points from Clyde Drexler.

Corbin made four foul shots and an 18-footer in the final minute, with the 18-footer giving the Jazz the lead for good, 105-103.

SuperSonics 113, Heat 109, OT

Ricky Pierce scored seven of his 34 points in overtime. Benoit Benjamin's basket with 2:10 left in the extra period put the Sonics ahead to stay, 106-104. Kevin Edwards led the Heat with 26 points.

Kings 114, 76ers 110

Mitch Richmond had 29 points, 10 rebounds and 10 assists for Sacramento, which blew a 22-point lead at home before holding on to defeat Philadelphia.

Philadelphia was led by Charles Barkley with 31 points and 13 rebounds.

Cavaliers 110, Knicks 103

Brad Daugherty had 23 points, Mark Price 22 and reserve guard John Battle added 11 of his season-high 19 in the fourth quarter for the Cavaliers.

Daugherty scored 13 points in the third quarter, helping the Cavaliers open their largest lead, 83-68.

Xavier McDaniel scored 27 points and Patrick Ewing 22 for the Knicks.

Clippers 109, Hornets 102, OT

Ron Harper made four of five 3-point shots, including two in overtime.

Harper scored eight of his 19 points in overtime, which the Clippers started with a 5-0 run.

Kendall Gill had 23 points and Dell Curry 22 for the Hornets, who shot 40 percent for the game and never shot better than 45 percent in any quarter.

Hawks 123, Suns 105

Dominique Wilkins had 39 points, 10 rebounds and eight assists.

Kevin Willis had 15 points and 16 rebounds for the Hawks, who limited the Suns' high-scoring guard duo, Jeff Hornacek and Kevin Johnson, to 24 points. Tom Chambers led Phoenix with 28 points and 10 rebounds.

Pistons 106, Rockets 83

Orlando Woolridge scored 12 of his 26 points during a third-quarter surge.

Dennis Rodman had 14 points on 7-for-7 shooting and 14 rebounds for the Pistons.

Hakeem Olajuwon had 16 points and 12 rebounds for the Rockets.

Leading 50-36 at the half, Detroit took charge with a 30-14 surge in the third quarter.

Bucks 92, Timberwolves 91

Jay Humphries, who missed four of his first five free throws, hit two foul shots with 6.7 seconds to play.

Moses Malone had 18 points and 14 rebounds for the Bucks.

Tony Campbell scored 24 points for the Timberwolves.

Kansas struggles by upstart Pepperdine

By The Associated Press

Instead of riding over the wave, the Kansas Jayhawks nearly got swept under by it.

Fourth-ranked Kansas was taken into overtime Thursday night before it subdued pesky Pepperdine 79-73. The Jayhawks' 24th straight home win was a struggle from the outset after they had been routing opponents by an average of 29 points in their first eight games.

"We definitely showed something as a team," Kansas forward Richard Scott said after the Waves outplayed their hosts for much of the night.

"That kind of game is going to help our team," said Jayhawks coach Roy Williams, who was called for a rare technical foul after slamming the scorers' table with his hand in the second half. "I told the team during the timeout with eight minutes left, 'It's going to be a lot of fun coming back and winning this thing. We needed this kind of game.'"

Alonzo Jamison scored six points in overtime for Kansas, which trailed Pepperdine (7-5) 58-53 with just over six minutes to go.

Jamison scored 13 points and defensively shut out Doug Christie, Pepperdine's scoring leader, in overtime. Christie finished with 22 points and 10 rebounds.

In other games among ranked teams, it was No. 1 Duke 68, Virginia 62; No. 3 Oklahoma State 85, Midwestern State 45; No. 5 Connecticut 85, Miami 62; No. 6 Arizona 82, New Orleans 64; No. 7 Ohio State 73, Penn State 63; and No. 8 North Carolina 78, Purdue 50.

Also, it was Pittsburgh over No. 12 Seton Hall 77-68; No. 15 Georgia Tech 82, Richmond 75; No. 16 Arkansas 123, Quincy 60; No. 17 Kentucky 91, Notre Dame 70; No. 18 St. John's 79, Villanova 69; No. 23 Syracuse 100, Boston College 90; and No. 24 Louisville 60, Houston 56.

No. 1 Duke 68, Virginia 62

At Charlottesville, Va., Bobby Hurley scored seven of his 11 points in the final 27 seconds. Duke (7-0) had won its previous six games by an average margin of 27.6 points. But the Blue Devils had trouble getting quality shots against the changing defenses of Virginia (4-5).

Christian Laettner led the Blue Devils with 17 points and 9 rebounds. Grant Hill added 16 points.

No. 3 Oklahoma State 85, Midwestern State 45

At Stillwater, Okla., Byron Houston had 27 points and 11 rebounds and Oklahoma State overwhelmed undermanned Midwestern, which had 25 turnovers.

Midwestern State, an NAIA school, used balanced scoring to take a 17-13 lead six minutes into the game. Then Houston scored four points and Bryant Reeves added six for a 10-0 run.

No. 5 Connecticut 85, Miami 62

At Storrs, Conn., Connecticut welcomed Miami to the Big East with an overpowering defense.

The Huskies (9-0) came up with 27 turnovers, including 12 steals. Chris Smith scored 21 points as UConn continued its best start since going 11-0 11 seasons ago. Miami (5-6) has lost five of its last six.

Jerome Scott scored 19 points to lead the Hurricanes.

No. 6 Arizona 82, New Orleans 64

At Tucson, the Wildcats broke New Orleans' six-game winning streak with its massive front line controlling matters. Six-foot-10 Sean Rooks scored 24 points, while 7-footer Ed Stokes had 14 and 6-6 Chris Mills added 11. Arizona's frontcourt also held the Privateers' 6-11 center, Ervin Johnson, to two points on 1-for-7 shooting.

Arizona (8-1) has won 69 straight home games, the nation's longest streak.

No. 7 Ohio State 73, Penn State 63

At Columbus, Ohio, Jim Jackson hit for 23 points in the Buckeyes' 25th straight home victory. Ohio State (8-1) dropped Penn State, which will join the Big Ten next season, to 8-3.

Alex Davis, Chris Jent and Jamaal Brown also scored 11 points apiece for the Buckeyes.

No. 8 North Carolina 78, Purdue 50

At Chapel Hill, Hubert Davis scored 20 points, hitting 7-for-9 from the field, including four of five 3-pointers. North Carolina hit 62.5 percent of its field goals in the first half and finished at 54.2 percent for the game to Purdue's 35.1 percent.

Pittsburgh 77, No. 12 Seton Hall 68

At Pittsburgh, Jerry McCullough had a nice Big East debut with 21 points as Pittsburgh (8-4) surged to a 14-point halftime lead, then held off Seton Hall.

McCullough, a freshman guard from New York City, scored 15 points in the second half.

Pitt, the Big East's worst foul-shooting team, made 28 of 38 free throws to withstand six 3-point field goals by the Pirates (7-2) in the second half.

Jerry Walker had 16 points and 11 rebounds for the Pirates.

No. 24 Louisville 60, Houston 56

At Louisville, James Brewer made six free throws in the final 1:22 after getting his first start of the season because of a foot injury to leading scorer Everick Sullivan. Brewer scored all 11 of his points in the second half for the Cardinals (7-1).

Sam Mack paced the Cougars, who had won eight in a row, with 18 points.

Glanville stirring up players with 'running-up-score' story

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer

Jerry Glanville always can find a hook to get his Atlanta Falcons up for a game. If he can't find one, he invents one.

This week's is "running up the score," as he claims Washington did when it beat his team 56-17 at RFK Stadium on Nov. 10.

"Let's set the record straight on that," says Joe Gibbs, whose Redskins scored 21 points in the fourth quarter of that game. "We were trying to run out the fourth quarter. I think anyone who saw the game wouldn't think we were trying to run up the score."

But Glanville spent only three minutes this week on a call with Washington reporters, then said "kiss my grits" before signing off.

"I think they definitely have the revenge factor on their side," says safety Danny Copeland of the Redskins. "Last time doesn't mean much."

All four games this weekend—Atlanta at Washington, Houston at Denver, Kansas City at Buffalo and Dallas at Detroit—are repeats of games played during the regular season. Remarkably, that's the first time all four games at this stage have been rematches since the NFL went to this format when it fully merged with the AFL in 1970.

Nor were these normal games—the winners won by an aggregate of 165-47, or 41-12 per game.

But of the big winners, only Washington is a clear-cut favorite this weekend.

Two of the losers, Buffalo and Denver, are favorites and Dallas is rated even with Detroit, to whom the Cowboys lost 34-10 in the first meeting.

Here's a look at the weekend in order of appearance:

Atlanta (10-6) at Washington (14-2) 11:30 a.m. Saturday (Ch. 10)

Perhaps the biggest danger for the Redskins is that first game, when Atlanta played without three of its best players—quarterback Chris Miller, cornerback Deion Sanders and tackle Mike Kenn.

"We grew up after that game," says Kenn.

One problem for the Falcons the first time was blitzing against an offensive line that allowed just eight sacks all season, leaving the secondary to single-cover Ricky Sanders, Gary Clark and Art Monk.

The result: six touchdown passes by Mark Rypien.

Houston (11-5) at Denver (12-4) 3 p.m. Saturday (Ch. 4)

The Oilers, who beat the New York Jets 17-10 last week, had gone downhill since their 42-14 win over the Broncos in the Astrodome on Oct. 6., when Denver's turnovers led to four Houston touchdowns. The Oilers finished the regular season 4-4 and needed mistakes by the Jets to make it even this far.

Houston's best bet is for one of those occasional spring-like midwinter days in Denver—Warren Moon and the run-and-shoot don't fit well with snow.

The last time the Oilers were in Denver was for a 1988 playoff game, when Jerry Glanville (see above) called a lateral to Mike Rozier from his 1-yard-line on their first offensive play. Rozier fumbled, Denver scored, won 34-10 and went on to one of its three dismal Super Bowls, a 42-10 loss to Washington.

Kansas City (10-6) at Buffalo (13-3) 11:30 a.m. Sunday (Ch. 4)

The Bills well remember that Monday night 33-6 thrashing in Kansas City in which the Chiefs ran up 247 yards on the ground and controlled the ball for more than 44 minutes. Buffalo now has back Bruce Smith and Jeff Wright to help control that ground game.

Still, this is the matchup for the rest of the AFC was hoping for—the ball-control Chiefs to exploit Buffalo's weakness against the run, just as the Giants did in the Super Bowl a year ago.

Dallas (11-5) at Detroit (12-4) 3 p.m. Sunday (Ch. 10)

What were the odds on these two getting this far at the start of the season, particularly the Lions, who have won six straight with Erik Kramer at quarterback for Rodney Peete, and have done it with a raft of other injuries?

Peete actually was hurt in the first meeting, won by the Lions 34-10. Detroit was outgained 415 yards to 208, but scored on a blocked field goal and an interception return.

The Cowboys also have won six straight, including last week's 17-13 win in Chicago, and have earned this year's designation as the team no one wants to play. Their winning streak started in Washington—the Redskins' first loss—after Steve Beuerlein replaced the injured Troy Aikman.

Aikman is ready now—or almost ready—but Jimmy Johnson is going with his hot quarterback.

When the Jets defeated the Raiders, 27-23, in the 1968 AFL title game, 96 passes were thrown by the two teams.

Bush wants military deal with Singapore

SINGAPORE (AP) - President Bush arrived in Singapore today to press arrangements to boost the U.S. military presence in that island state as the Pentagon goes packing from the Philippines.

Bush began the second leg of his four-nation trip to the Far East after assuring Australian business leaders that the United States would not abandon its "special responsibility" for stability in the region.

The United States is looking to Singapore to help fill the gap left by the forced U.S. pullout from Subic Bay naval base and its abandonment of Clark Air Base in the Philippines, the traditional U.S. stronghold in the Pacific.

The Bush administration wants to shift some security resources to bases and ports in this tiny tropical city-state on the southern tip of the Malay peninsula, U.S. officials said.

That would likely include the U.S. command structures currently based at Subic Bay, as well as expanded rights to use Singapore bases and make ports of call, said one official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

A November 1990 agreement signed by Vice President Dan Quayle and then-Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew already provides U.S. warships and planes wider use of the city-state's bases. Bush hopes to expand on that arrangement.

Bush also was expected to announce in Singapore that he will lift the U.S. trade embargo against Cambodia where warring factions signed a peace treaty two months ago, U.S. officials said.

The embargo dates to April 1975, when Khmer Rouge rebels forced the pro-Western government from power.

Bush, after spending the first three days of his 12-day trip in Australia, becomes the first U.S. president to visit Singapore, a republic of 3 million people crammed into the smallest nation in Southeast Asia.

Bush will meet Saturday with Prime Minister Goh Chok Tong and President Wee Kim Wee as well as Lee Kuan Yew, who ruled the island republic for 31 years before stepping down in November 1990.

On his final day in Australia, Bush vowed to resist protectionist pressures even as he sought to defend U.S. wheat subsidies that have hurt Australian farmers.

Bush said the protectionist pressures at home are mounting in this election year. "None of us are pure," he reiterated. "Not one country can say, 'We don't protect in some way or another.'"

But he pledged that as long as he remains president, "We are not going to go ... down the protection path."

Bush was accompanied to Singapore by U.S. corporate executives he brought along mostly to press the case for removal of trade barriers in South Korea and Japan, the next stops on his journey.

Unlike those countries, Singapore poses no contentious trade issues.

Singapore and the United States share what Washington describes as "excellent" economic relations, with part of the island's prosperity due to $3 billion in U.S. business investment.

The United States and Singapore enjoy a growing $21 billion bilateral trade. More than 800 U.S. companies operate in Singapore.

Singapore has a spotty human rights performance, but officials said Bush did not intend to make a public issue of that during his visit.

Quandary develops over nukes

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Bush administration is having difficulty figuring out how to spend the $400 million Congress gave it to help dismantle and store Soviet nuclear weapons, government and private sources say.

The administration didn't ask for the money to begin with, and having gotten it, several government agencies are competing for a piece of the action. A host of scientific groups and foundations are tripping over each other to give the benefit of their advice.

The result so far, according to the sources, is that nothing much is being done. A team of experts - led by Undersecretary of State Reginald Bartholomew - is supposed to travel to the republics to discuss what to do.

As of Thursday no date had been set for the trip, and the State Department declined to discuss it, saying an agenda is still being formulated.

"The combination of a very complicated issue and competing bureaucracies is not a good one," said one administration official familiar with the non-proliferation programs. "Everyone has ideas, everyone wants a piece of the pie."

Secretary of State James A. Baker III wants most of the money to help the republics dismantle some of the 15,000 short-range nuclear weapons that former Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev promised to eliminate.

But Russia, where most of the weapons are deployed, has made clear it can dismantle the weapons alone and doesn't want the United States looking over its shoulder.

Instead, the Russians want the United States to build a giant storage site for the plutonium and other radioactive components from the dismantled weapons, said the administration official, who like the other sources spoke on condition of anonymity.

The problem is compounded by disagreements and confusion within the former Soviet republics about what to do with the money, several administration officials said.

Some Russian government scientists want the money for joint projects with U.S. nuclear laboratories on peaceful uses of nuclear energy.

"They're trying to sort themselves out over there. And frankly, they've got problems that to them seem more urgent - like no food," a State Department official said.

Congress provided the $400 million five weeks ago after dire warnings from Kremlin officials that their empire's massive nuclear arsenal was facing an uncertain future with the breakup of the Soviet Union.

The lawmakers' sense of urgency was fueled by assessments from U.S. intelligence officials that extreme economic straits might force Soviet scientists to sell nuclear material - as well as expertise - to Third World nations with nuclear ambitions.

Academic and scientific groups accuse the administration of dragging its feet and lacking either willingness or ideas for dealing with the problem.

"The Bush administration has no program beyond exhorting the Soviets to be good citizens, guard their nuclear weapons carefully and destroy those they've promised to destroy," said Christopher Paine, a senior researcher with the Natural Resources Defense Council.

The private group, which promotes nuclear non-proliferation, is just back from conducting workshops in Russia and Ukraine on storage and dismantling of nuclear weapons.

The administration should undertake, in tandem with Russia, much deeper cuts of both sides' arsenals, Paine said.

Administration officials are divided on whether they should reduce the U.S. arsenals further - with some, like Baker, advocating a waiting period until events in the former Soviet republics become clear.

WHEN YOU HAVE SOMETHING TO SELL, NEWSPAPER SELLS IT BEST.

No matter what it is you're selling, newspaper can sell it best. You can show it. Describe it. Explain it. Compare it. Offer a coupon for it. And cover your entire marketplace with it. All in one day. And for a lot less than radio and TV.

And the unique thing about newspaper is that it adds credibility to your message. People believe it when they read it in the paper. Maybe that's why retailers use newspaper more than any other medium?

Newspaper. It delivers.

NEW YORK (AP) - NBC will bring back Jane Pauley on Monday to celebrate Bryant Gumbel's 10th anniversary as anchor of "Today" - which went into a slide when she left the show.

Pauley, who co-anchored with Gumbel from 1982 through 1989, will join "Today" co-anchor Katie Couric in recounting highlights of Gumbel's globetrotting career.

"Today" lost its lead to ABC's "Good Morning, America" in morning-show ratings when Pauley, who had been with the show for 13 years, was replaced by Deborah Norville in December 1989.

The news program has gradually rebounded with changes that included Couric becoming permanent co-anchor in April.

Norville now works for ABC Radio.

A single flash of lightning has been estimated to carry a charge of 100 million volts.
