Prison proposals delivered to Huntsville

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

The proposal by the Hereford Prison Task Force for a new prison in Hereford was delivered today to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice headquarters in Huntsville.

Ten copies of the proposal, each well over 100 pages thick, were delivered to TDCJ officials today by Speedy Nieman, chairman of the Hereford Prison Task Force, and Mike Hatley, HPTF coordinator.

The delivery of the proposals climaxes six weeks of work by a task force that includes 30 Deaf Smith County citizens and many other volunteers working to complete the proposal.

The proposal includes $2.8 million worth of incentives offered to TDCJ to locate a prison, probably a 1,000-person minimum-security facility, about five miles east of Hereford. The proposed site is on city-owned farmland south of U.S. Highway 60. The submission of the Hereford proposal is a day before the deadline. Over 100 other Texas cities are expected to submit proposals by the Wednesday deadline.

The TDCJ board, chaired by Selden Hale of Amarillo, will consider the proposals and make decisions on where to site several minimum/medium security, maximum security and chemical dependency treatment facilities throughout the state.

The proposals will be weighed on their financial advantages to the state, their proximity to other correctional facilities and political considerations.

The political considerations have received significant play lately. Hale, in a Jan. 7 article in the Amarillo Daily News, said efforts by State Rep. David Swinford (R-Dumas) could hurt the chances of Dalhart and Borger to land prisons.

Swinford is the prime mover behind the "Old Texas" movement. The plan calls for the Texas Panhandle to secede from the rest of the state. It is an attack against Gov. Ann Richards, who referred to a "New Texas" in her inaugural address last year.

Swinford, in a letter to Gov. Richards, is calling for the governor to clarify whether prison proposals will be judged by their merits or on political considerations.

Swinford said in his letter that Hale told Deaf Smith County residents that Hereford's prison proposal would be pushed aside because State Rep. John Smithee (R-Amarillo) had voted against the tax bill.

Hale, however, did not tell members of the Hereford Prison Task Force that Smithee's vote would preclude selection of Hereford as a prison site.

"I was at that meeting and that is not what Selden said," said Hereford Mayor Tom LeGate, a vice chairman of the Hereford group. "He did say that John's vote against the prison appropriation might hurt a little, but he didn't say anything about us not getting it for that reason."

Smithee, in a telephone interview this morning, said he had voted "against practically every appropriation and tax bill since I began serving in 1985."

"I don't think my vote against the appropriation will make any real difference," Smithee said. "I really don't think Mr. Swinford's talk about secession will make that much difference. The Texas Department of Criminal Justice board is a group of very responsible people and they will make a responsible decision. If Hereford is the best choice, then Hereford will get a prison.

Smithee said he received a copy of Swinford's letter to Richards by fax on Monday.

"I kind of cringed when I saw Deaf Smith County mentioned in there," Smithee said.

Smithee said he has an amicable relationship with Hale and has promised to help in Hereford's efforts to obtain a prison.

A letter by Smithee, dated Dec. 18, is included in Hereford's proposal. The letter is addressed to Hale as chairman of the TDCJ board.

"I fully support their (Hereford's) efforts and have offered to do anything I can to help. As you know, I have also supported Amarillo's efforts in the same regard," wrote Smithee.

"Hereford offers several unique advantages as a potential facility site. It is a medium-size city with hard working and industrious people. It has an ample qualified labor force available to staff the facility. Additionally, the area is rich in agricultural resources, which could be important in the area of inmate job training. Health care facilities are available and I believe that either Amarillo College, Texas State Technical College or West Texas State University would be amenable to assisting in educational programs.

"In summary I believe the deciding factor in favor of Hereford is the enterprising spirit of its people. I urge you and the other board members to give Hereford every consideration."

The proposal also includes a letter by State Sen. Teel Bivins, who was not available for comment this morning.

Auction adds to DSC funds

Deaf Smith County commissioner precinct budgets got a boost Saturday when surplus equipment was sold at auction.

Precinct Four Commissioner Johnny Latham, who organized the sale for the county, reported at a Commissioners' Court meeting Monday that the gross revenue for the county will amount to about $105,000.

After expenses are deducted, each precinct will be credited with the sale proceeds of items placed in the auction.

The auction at the Bull Barn also included surplus items from the City of Hereford.

Commissioners agreed to a request from the sheriff's department to install a computer in the Deaf Smith County jail to facilitate record-keeping.

Estimated cost of the computer and software is $3,499. Sheriff Joe Brown was authorized to purchase the equipment.

Precinct Three Commissioner Troy Don Moore was re-elected judge pro tem of Commissioners' Court.

County Judge Tom Simons said work is proceeding on material required by the U.S. Justice Department on re-drawing commissioner and voting precinct lines.

A request for election returns for the county and Hereford schools will take some time, County Clerk David Ruland reported.

County officials and an Austin law firm are working on information for the Justice Department since a request for preclearance, based on new precinct lines, was denied recently.

Business of the Commissioners' Court was completed in about 30 minutes Monday morning.

How many times will it snow this century?

A century plant and other cactus plants in the yard at 228 Ave. A in Hereford were decorated with light snow Monday morning. Hereford received one inch of snow, but cities just south of Hereford received up to six inches of snow from the storm.

Bush calls for end of world's farm subsidies

WASHINGTON (AP) - It's fine for President Bush to attack European farm export subsidies, but it will take more than that to cure what ails American agriculture, U.S. farm groups say.

"The subsidies of course hurt. But we're doing the same thing," says Larry Mitchell, director of federal-state relations for the American Agriculture Movement.

The real issue, however, is an overabundance of farm products, he said.

"If the Europeans and the United States had adequate supply management and didn't overproduce, we wouldn't be out there knocking the hell out of each other in the export market," Mitchell said.

In a speech Monday to the American Farm Bureau Federation in Kansas City, Mo., Bush said U.S. farmers had been pummeled by the European Community's export subsidies and called for a worldwide end to the practice.

But Bush said the administration would not agree to dismantle its own export subsidies "until other countries do the same thing."

The European Community spends about $12 billion a year on export subsidies to the United States' $1 billion. The Agriculture Department estimates the EC spent another $25 billion on internal farm subsidies in 1990, while the United States spent $8.2 billion.

The question of farm subsidies has snarled international trade talks in Geneva under the Uruguay Round of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. Bush promised the Farm Bureau leaders Monday he would not back an accord unfavorable to American farmers.

"I am not going to put our farmers at an unfair disadvantage," Bush said. "We will not let U.S. agriculture disarm unilaterally."

But Sen. Tom Daschle, D-S.D., said the president's pledge was too late.

"He may have missed it, but we've been disarming for the past five years," Daschle said. "The U.S. government has been retreating in the trade war, and we're about to declare unconditional surrender."

Since 1986, Daschle said, the United States has cut farm spending in half. The EC is now outspending the United States 10 to 1.

"As a result, hundreds of thousands of farmers have gone broke," he said.

Daschle said a GATT agreement would do little to help American grain and livestock producers, while it would hurt dairy and wool producers and others.

"If the Europeans and the United States had adequate supply management and didn't overproduce, we wouldn't be out there knocking the hell out of each other in the export market."

"It's gotten to be a bidding war between the EC and the U.S. to keep that export market. 'It keeps hammering the price lower and lower and it hurts their farmers and our farmers in the long run.'"

--Larry Mitchell, director of federal-state relations, American Agriculture Movement.

"As it looks now, an agreement will merely lock in the status quo for the EC, while many of our producers will be forced to give up their protections here," Daschle said.

Arthur Dunkel, the director-general of GATT, has proposed trimming domestic farm supports by 20 percent and export subsidies by 36 percent. He also would impose a 24 percent cut on the actual tonnage of subsidized farm produce.

Some U.S. farm groups, however, say the proposal puts the United States at a disadvantage because European exports are subsidized at a higher level.

Farm groups agree with Bush that they've been hurt by the trade war with the EC. But they say even U.S. attempts to compete have not been very successful in boosting their prices.

"What you end up with is a tit for tat trade war," said Cheryl Cook, assistant director of legislative services for the National Farmers Union.

Mitchell agreed. "It's gotten to be a bidding war between the EC and the U.S. to keep that export market," he said. "It keeps hammering the price lower and lower and it hurts their farmers and our farmers in the long run."

Lottery applications in mail

AUSTIN (AP) - Temporary licenses for businesses to sell scratch-off lottery games will be issued before criminal background checks on the ticket sellers can be completed, Comptroller John Sharp says.

But Sharp said Monday that by the time permanent licenses are issued, which will take about one year, the criminal history checks will be finished. "The alternative is to wait a year," he said.

Currently, the state is shooting for a July startup on the scratch-off games, and a January 1993 deadline to start the more expensive games.

Lottery officials started mailing about 57,000 license applications and established a toll free telephone number for businesses to contact for more information on how to get a lottery license. The number is 800-37-LOTTO.

Sharp predicted between 15,000 and 20,000 businesses would sell lottery tickets.

Lottery Director Nora Linares said most retailers selling tickets will increase their revenue because of the 5 percent sales commission and increased customer traffic.

The licenses cost $125.

Cuba had nukes ready in 1962

WASHINGTON (AP) - Cuba secretly equipped itself with Soviet short-range nuclear warheads to repel a U.S. invasion during the 1962 missile crisis, drawing the two superpowers closer to nuclear war than previously thought.

Soviet Gen. A.I. Gribkov made that revelation during a closed meeting of Soviet, U.S. and Cuban officials in Havana and indicated local commanders were prepared to use the missiles if President Kennedy ordered U.S. troops to attack.

Robert S. McNamara, Kennedy's defense secretary, said Monday he was previously unaware of the short-range missiles but was "99 percent" certain Kennedy would have ordered a retaliatory nuclear strike had the Soviet missiles been used on U.S. forces.

"We came closer to nuclear war than anyone had ever imagined," said Philip Brenner, one of several American scholars to attend the conference. "There is absolutely no question that we were right at the brink."

The crisis was precipitated by the discovery of intermediate-range nuclear missiles in Cuba, which eventually were withdrawn after days of tension. But the presence of the short-range missile was not disclosed until the conference last week.

McNamara, a participant at the meeting, was quoted in today's editions of The Washington Post as saying the revelation of the short-range missiles changed his assessment about how close the crisis came to nuclear conflict.

Another conference participant, former CIA Deputy Director Ray Cline, previously felt the danger of nuclear war had been overstated but changed his thinking after listening to Gribkov, said Brenner, a professor at American University.

As Brenner described it, Gribkov said the Soviets had given authority to the local commander in Cuba to fire the short-range missiles if Kennedy had ordered U.S. forces to the island.

Brenner said U.S. experts knew Cuba possessed tactical weapons but none believed the Soviets would arm them with nuclear warheads. All felt the Soviets would use conventional weapons, he said.

Kennedy was under heavy pressure by the joint chiefs of staff to invade

Cuba on Oct. 29 but he was spared that decision when the crisis ended the day before.

Under a compromise settlement, Soviet leader Nikita Khrushchev agreed to withdraw intermediate-range missiles from Cuba in exchange for a pledge by Kennedy not to invade the island.

The tactical weapons described by Gribkov have a range of about 40 miles. The Soviet-installed medium range missiles that precipitated the crisis have a range of up to 1,000 miles.

The U.S. attack plan advocated by the joint chiefs of staff would have targeted these medium-range missiles as well as all military airfields and military camps.

Coalition wants GM to build natural gas cars at Arlington

AUSTIN (AP) - Laws mandating that vehicles run on cleaner fuel will create a huge market in Texas that General Motors Corp. could take advantage of by converting its Arlington plant to build automobiles that use natural gas, officials said.

Clean Air Texas, a broad-based coalition, on Monday urged GM to convert the plant in the wake of the auto maker's decision to close either its Arlington facility or one in Ypsilanti, Mich.

Land Commissioner Garry Mauro said Texas is at the forefront in forming a market for alternative fuel vehicles because of more stringent air pollution laws and the state's abundance of natural gas.

"We have an extraordinary opportunity to clean up the air we breathe and help the economy at the same time," Mauro said at a news conference with labor, business,

State judge ruling takes one barrier from redistricting

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) - A state district judge's ruling approving the Legislature's redistricting plans has ended one phase of the litigation involving Texas voting boundaries.

But the struggle to win final approval for the maps is far from over. The next round pits the state against a federal judicial panel.

"There will be one less ball in the air," said Rick Gray, a private attorney representing the state in the ongoing redistricting battles. "But there are still a lot of (other) balls up in the air."

State District Judge Mario E. Ramirez, who struck down the state's redistricting maps last August, on Monday gave the nod to House and Senate plans approved during last week's special session.

He also implemented a bill that allows them to take effect immediately after they're pre-cleared by the U.S. Justice Department.

The ruling was welcomed by attorneys, although they said it wouldn't mean much as the state brings its case before the U.S. Supreme Court.

"I don't think it'll make any difference," said Assistant Attorney General Javier Guajardo.

The state Monday filed an appeal of a Senate redistricting plan imposed by a three-judge federal panel. Texas Attorney General Dan Morales also asked the U.S. Supreme Court for an emergency stay to block the plan, which replaced a map approved last week by the Legislature.

The Legislature's plan was supported by most minority members and Hispanic groups that had successfully sued the state to increase minority representation. However, the federal panel said the plan weakened minority voting strength.

Justice Antonin Scalia gave state Republicans until 1 p.m. CST today to respond to Morales' motion, according to Gray McBride, Morales' press secretary.

Minority rights attorneys said the ruling by Ramirez will help the state present a unified front when it goes before the U.S. Supreme Court.

"Hopefully they will be able to convince the Supreme Court that they ought not to impose the federal plan," said Jim Harrington, an attorney with the Texas Civil Rights Project.

Harrington, the lead attorney for plaintiffs in the lawsuit that essentially sparked the redistricting battle, argued before Ramirez that the state's plans are superior to the federal court plan.

"We think those are the only plans that fit the mandate of the (state's) equal rights amendment," Harrington said.

He said approval could help the state in its challenge of the federal plans.

But while civil rights attorneys played up the possible effects of the ruling, the state's attorneys downplayed its ultimate effect. "It straightens out what our obligations are under the state law," said Gray.

Israelis, Palestinians to begin negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP) - Israelis and Palestinians are getting down to their first-ever direct peace talks after eliminating a procedural impasse that mired the negotiations for weeks.

The talks, which began with a brief exchange Monday, will begin their first full day today. Their goal is to provide self-rule to the 1.7 million Palestinians in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

The way for the historic talks was cleared Monday when the Palestinians dropped their demand to deal with Israel without Jordanian participation and agreed to a compromise formula.

Under the agreement, Israel is meeting separately with Palestinians and Jordanians - with occasional three-way sessions to discuss procedure and issues pertaining to all three.

After clearing the procedural hurdle, the Palestinians and Israeli briefly traded lists Monday of issues to be taken up at the second round, scheduled to begin this afternoon.

Zalman Shoval, Israel's ambassador to Washington, described the atmosphere as "very friendly, very congenial."

Before meeting with the Palestinians, Israel was scheduled for its first session with the Jordanians.

Those talks are designed to achieve a peace agreement between the two countries which are technically in a state of war but whose long border is one of the calmest spots in the region.

The other set of talks that began Monday - between Israel and Syria - wasn't as calm. Syria accused Israel of giving the peace process short shrift, and Israel responded with charges that Syria was stalling.

A third set of talks, between Israel and Lebanon, failed to start because the head of the Lebanese delegation was ill.

Local 4-Hers advance in bake show compition

Deaf Smith County 4-Hers joined 150 top contestants from the 20 counties of the Texas Panhandle in competition on January 4th for the District 4-H Food Show held at Dumas High School.

Netting a top win in Senior Fruits and Vegetables and advancing to State Competition was Karon Harder. Placing alternate in Senior Main Dish competition was Cady Auckerman. Main Dish, David Kludt of Gray County in Bread & Cereal and Jennifer Brorman of Oldham County in Nutritious Snacks & Desserts.

The top ranking senior (age 14-19) contestants will advance to state competition at 4-H Roundup in June on the Texas A&M campus.

Other Senior, Intermediate and Junior Food Show competitors from Deaf Smith County were Cindy Harder in intermediate Breads & Cereals; Betsy Weaver in Jr. Fruits & Vegetables, Jessica Wuerflein in Jr. Nutritious Snacks & Desserts, Jaime Steiert in Jr. Main Dish, Macy Hill in Jr. Breads & Cereals; and Senior, Lee Harder in Breads & Cereals.

"Bite into a Healthy Lifestyle" was the theme for this year's food show that culminates the 4-H food and nutrition projects. The food and nutrition projects consists of a series of six or more lessons on food science, safety, nutrition, fitness and career opportunities. Contestants were interviewed on nutrition facts and food preparation principles. Leadership and community service was also emphasized.

The food show is sponsored annually by Morrison Milling of Denton, Texas and the Texas Extension Homemakers Association. The Dumas Chamber of Commerce provided the facilities and hosted a brunch for the judges for this event.

4-H food and nutrition projects are conducted annually by volunteer leaders. For more information, call your County Extension agent.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion.

La Madre Mia Club hears quilting program

The La Madre Mia Study Club met recently in the home of Ruth Black for a program on the origin and love of quilting.

The program was given by Mrs. Draper who encouraged club members to purchase a quilt pattern book, to date and document each quilt previously owned, and to go out and "feel the fabric" in order to start ones own project.

Following the program, members answered roll by displaying a quilt, discussing its pattern and revealing a little of its history.

The business meeting was conducted by President Nancy Paetzold.

Minutes were read by Mary Herring and Georgia Sparks gave the treasurers report in which she noted a donation to the Christmas Stocking Fund.

Betty Owen reported that the Courtesy Committee had been extremely active throughout the holidays and Marline Watson announced that the project committee, would be meeting to discuss future projects.

Club members decided to drive for Kings Manor the month of February.

After adjourning, co-hostess Gladys Merrett served refreshments. Black served as hostess for the meeting.

The next meeting is scheduled for Jan. 23 at the Hereford State Bank.

Reading president visits Delta Xi honor sorority

President of the Panhandle Reading Association and Chapter 1 reading teacher at Highland Park Schools of Amarillo, Luetta Bentley, was the guest speaker at the meeting of Delta Xi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma.

Bentley reported that the 1992 byword for Texas education is "Change!" as she told about meetings held in Austin of the Texas Education Agency with its new director, Dr. Lionel R. Meno.

She emphasized that Dr. Meno believes in academic excellence and proposes to lead Texas educators in achieving high world class standards for their students. Bentley also spoke of how local teachers will be affected at all levels by changes in policy of TEA which will take effect now and in the future.

Achievement chairman, Dorothy Brownlow, recognized Ruby Mulkey as a representative of the retired teachers who attended a reading seminar by Bera Boyd to learn how she might help improve the reading skills of HISD students.

She also commended ceremonials chairman, Eloise McDougal, and her committee for an exemplary initiation for the new society members.

Jean Beene, program chairman, stated that the Feb. 3 meeting will be held in the Lamar Garden Room at King's Manor, beginning at 3:50 p.m.

The program will feature a panel discussion entitled "A More Caring World" by retired society members and guests, followed by a snack supper and table games.

The Delta Kappa Gamma Moment, telling about society founder Anna Hiss, was related by Eleanor Hudspeth.

Hostesses for the refreshments at the Monday meeting were: Margaret Bell, Della Stagner, Betty Jo Carlson, Alta Mae Higgins, Ruby Mulkey and Mary Dzuik.

Other members in attendance were: Sue Inmon, Thelma Alexander, Billie Birdwell, Bera Boyd, Wana Brewer, Nina Brown, Doris Bryant, Brenda Campbell, Betty Jo Carlson, Ann Cummings, Francie Farr, Dolores Foster, Carol Gage, Patsy Giles, Virginia Jackson, Sidney Kerr, Joan Latham, Marylin Leasure, DeeAnn Matthews, and Carole McGilvary.

Members present also included: Julia McNaney, Betty Mercer, Lois Miller, Pat Montgomery, Sara Pesina, Audrey Powell, Fay Reeve, Rose Marry Shook, Pat Simmacher, Wanda Stanley, Murlene Streun, Maire Stringer, Dorothy Szydloski, Carolyn Waters, Karen White, Louise Witkowski, Betty Sue Worthan, Mary Sheffield, Evelyn Lyles, Judy Bullard, Kris Dollar, Kathie Kerr, Barbara Greenawalt and Dolores Dowell.

The first noticeable tendency to shorten women's skirts came in bicycling costumes back in 1895. Skirts were shortened an inch or two from the ankle and the hems weighted with lead.

Sophs second in tourney

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Both of Hereford's teams ended the Hereford Basketball Tournament with losses Saturday. The sophomores fell 51-35 to Pampa in the sophomore championship game, and the junior varsity settled for sixth place after losing 57-53 to Caprock.

The sophomores started their game with an 11-0 lead, forcing Pampa to call a timeout after four minutes of the first quarter, but Hereford turnovers helped Pampa pull to within 14-13 at the end of the quarter. Three minutes later Pampa took the lead at 18-16, and they finished the half with a 12-2 run to take a 30-18 lead.

Hereford started the second half with a run of its own and pulled to within 32-27 on Josh Tice's three-point shot, but from then on it was all Pampa. The Harvesters scored the last seven points of the third quarter to lead 39-27 and never let Hereford any closer.

Mark Kuper led Hereford with 15 points, and Josh Tice added 9.

Despite the loss, it was a good tournament for the sophomores, who won their first two games of the season after five losses.

"It's something on the plus side to win a couple of games," sophomores coach Key Harrison said. "We can use it as a confidence builder; use it as a stepping stone and go from there."

In the JV game, Hereford held a 24-22 lead at halftime, but Caprock led at the end of the third quarter 37-31. Hereford scored the first six points of the fourth, tying at 37-37 on Michael Carlson's layup, but then Caprock rolled off several baskets to take a permanent lead.

"Their press hurt us a little bit after we tied it up," Coach Oscar Rendon said. "We had different people in there who couldn't handle it. They weren't used to that."

Hereford kept the pressure on—Greg Coplen hit a pair of late three-pointers—but Caprock hit its free throws.

"We got a little closer, but then they made their free shots," Rendon said. "Every time we scored, they'd make two free shots right back so we couldn't catch up."

Michael Melendrez scored 11 for Hereford, Tim Burkhalter had 10, Coplen had 9 and Angel Oroscio had 8.

Pampa completed its sweep of the championships when the Harvesters' JV creamed Randall 85-42 in the JV finals.

Finishing third in the JV tourney was Levelland, a 40-28 winner over Estacado, and Caprock took fifth by beating Hereford. In semifinal games, Pampa beat Estacado 74-41, and Randall edged Levelland 54-52 in overtime.

Borger won consolation, 48-42 over Canyon, and in the two other losers' bracket games played Saturday, Canyon beat Dumas 40-34, and Dimmitt beat Dumas 61-46.

In the sophomore tourney, Amarillo High took third with a 58-48 win over Caprock, Tascosa won consolation by beating Borger 50-49, and Dumas beat Levelland 44-36.

Rendon said it turned out to be a good tournament. "They said it was a good turnout. We had a lot of people pay," he said. "We'd like to thank all the people who helped."

In other basketball over the weekend, the girls' JV fell to Dumas 44-37 Friday in Dumas. Hereford was behind 15-4 after one quarter, and that proved to be too much.

Katie Young led Hereford with 10 points, and Jenifer Holmes had 9.

Basketball dates moved

The boys' basketball games between Hereford and Pampa have been moved to Saturday from Friday, boys' coach Jimmy Thomas said. The girls' games also will be Saturday, making five Hereford teams playing in Pampa Saturday.

The boys' varsity will play at 8 p.m., the junior varsity will play at 4:25, and the sophomores play at 6. The girls' varsity will play at 6:30, and the girls' JV will play at 8, though girls' coach Dickie Faught said that may be changed.

The girls' varsity and JV also play Friday. They'll host Borger in Whiteface Gym: the JV at 6 p.m. and the varsity at 7:30.

Also the junior high basketball games between Hereford and Pampa have been moved to Thursday from Monday. The girls are here and the boys are there.

Opening tip

Hereford's Mark Kuper (30) wins the opening tip of Saturday's sophomore championship game of the Hereford Tournament. The Hereford sophomores lost 51-35 to Pampa. In the foreground is Hereford's Josh Tice.

Cornelius named an All-Star

Shantel Cornelius of Hereford has been chosen to play in the Girls' East-West All-Star Volleyball Game. She is one of two dozen Texas high school volleyball players to be selected for the game which will be played during the Texas Girls' Coaches Association's Summer Clinic July 8-11 in Arlington.

Cornelius, who has orally committed to play volleyball at the University of Texas after leading Hereford to consecutive trips to the Region I finals, will play on the West team. She was also chosen as the top player from Region I, said Brenda Rech, volleyball coach at Hereford.

Others who have been selected to the West team include Stefani Clement of Dumas, Hereford's rival in District 1-4A; and Teresa Vaughn of Bronte and Saresa Butler of Lamesa. Hereford played both Bronte and Lamesa in 1991.

Rounding out the West team are Jill Slapper, Hurst Bell; Ruby Vega, Alpine; Roberta Avila, San Antonio Jay; Suzy Wente, San Antonio Clark; Elizabeth Suggs, Arlington Martin; Brittany Jarvis, Arlington Sam

Houston; Michelle Dressel, Lewisville Marcus; and Jim Webb, Austin Bowie.

Making up the East team are Sammy Waldron, Cypress Creek; Jackie Bode, Katy; Tamara Stiner, Houston Lamar; Amanda Rombeau, Alief Elsik; Monica Barajaz, Spring; Karla Foots, Sugarland Kempner; Tara Westberg, Plano; Diane Owens, Jersey Village; Kristen Posey, Georgetown; Megan Labernz, Kingwood; Robin Pampillonia, Richardson Pearce; and Sabra Every Katy Taylor.

Reports heard during recent auxiliary meeting

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 192 met Jan. 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the Post Home. Six officers and ten members were present as President Clara Trowbridge called the meeting to order.

In the President's Report, Trowbridge announced that February is Americanism Month. She also stated that the Mid Winter Conference on Leadership and Education would be from Jan. 27 - Feb. 2.

The Gold Star Mothers were remembered with a Christmas card and crocheted wreath pin from Trowbridge.

Trowbridge thanked the Auxiliary and Legion members, the extension club of Dawn and the DAR of Hereford for their participation in gifts and contributions for the Amarillo Veteran's Hospital Christmas Gift Shop.

The Community Service Report was also given by Trowbridge in which she stated the bingo party at King's Manor in December had 20 residents. The next bingo party will be at 3 p.m. on Jan. 9.

The Membership Report, by Betty Jo Carlson, stated 64 members had paid and lacked seven members having 100 percent.

According to the Yearbook Report by Ruth King, the next program will be given by Joe Weaver.

Troyce Hanna reported that Lindsay Radford, one of the Girls

State Delegates of 1991, was notified by Fances Goff of Austin, that she will serve as a Junior Counselor at Girls State this summer.

The Flag Program has been given to all the extension clubs except for one and the DAR Club of Hereford on behalf of Troyce and Grant Hanna. It has been suggested that they see about presenting these programs in the Hereford Schools.

Get Well and Thinking of You cards were signed and sent to Bill and Coza Shelly and June Koelzer.

The 18th District Convention Report of Nov. 9 was given by Ruth and Clara. They met Commander Patsy Palmquist who stated this coming year will be a changing year and not too good for the Veterans. The VA Hospitals will be turning away Veterans and start seeing non-veterans. If the Veteran does not stand up for his rights--no one will.

At the Military Ball that evening, a Memorial Service was given for the fallen soldiers in the Desert Storm War.

Troyce Hanna was the hostess of the evening as the Auxiliary and Legion members joined for refreshments.

Members present: C. Trowbridge, T. Hanna, R. King, Bernice Layman, Mildred LaFever, Alta Hudson, Artie Frost, Ella Caudle, B. Carlson, and Lou Ann LaFever.

The next meeting will be 7:30 p.m., Feb. 4.

Keyes nominated for honor

The Cultural Extension Club met Jan. 10 at the Senior Citizens Center with Perry Keyes presiding.

Opening ceremonies were led by Wilma Goettsch and Naomi Hare. The opening exercise included a "Calories Counters Prayer" read by Nell Pope.

Roll Call was answered to the question "Did You Get Everything You Wanted for Christmas?" The minutes were read by Fannie Townsend and Brydie Fellers gave the Treasurer's report.

Fellers also announced that Karon Harder had won the Senior division of the 4-H Food Show in Amarillo.

The council report was given by Nell and Jewell Hargrave. They reported on a bereavement meal.

Keyes announced the stock show will be Jan. 2 - 24.

Keyes was also voted to be the clubs' candidate for Woman of the Year. Goettsch was elected the clubs delegate to the District meeting.

Hare resigned as treasurer and Fellers was elected to take her place. Hargrave was appointed by Perry to be Historian in place of Fellers.

Members present were: Vernis Parsons, S.T. Walton, Pope, Townsend, Edith Hinter, Fellers, Winnie Wiseman, Hare, Goettsch, Edna Marnell and Keyes.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently I asked if you liked seeing reruns of my favorite columns. The response was a resounding "YES! Print 'em!" So here's a honey:

DEAR ANN: During these tension-filled days, we are hearing a lot about stress. People need a good laugh.

I am sending on a stress diet that a friend dropped in my mailbox last week. It really lifted my spirits. Please share it with your readers.--Kitty L., principal, S.S.E. School, Decatur, Ill.

DEAR KITTY: Thanks for a perfectly delightful bit of foolishness. It is sure to be the laugh of the day for a great many readers.

STRESS DIET
BREAKFAST
 1/2 grapefruit
 1 slice whole-wheat bread
 8 ounces skim milk
LUNCH
 4 ounces broiled chicken breast
 1 cup steamed zucchini
 1 Oreo cookie
 1 cup herb tea
MIDAFTERNOON SNACK
 Rest of the package of Oreo cookies
 1 quart Rocky Road ice cream
 1 jar hot fudge sauce
DINNER
 2 loaves garlic bread
 Large pepperoni and mushroom pizza
 Pitcher of beer
 3 candy bars
 Entire frozen cheesecake eaten directly from the freezer

DIET TIPS

1. If no one else sees you eat it, it has no calories.
2. If you drink a diet soda with a candy bar they will cancel each other out.
3. Calories don't count if you eat with someone and you both eat the same amount.
4. Food taken for medicinal purposes does not count. This includes toast, hot chocolate, brandy and Sara Lee chocolate cake.
5. If you fatten up everyone around you, you'll look thinner.

A restaurant once warned: "Customers who consider our waitresses uncivil ought to see the manager."

6. Snacks consumed at a movie do not count as they are part of the entertainment. For example: Milk Duds, popcorn with butter, red licorice and M&Ms.

7. Pieces of cookies contain no calories. The process of breaking causes a caloric leakage.

8. Late-night snacks have no calories. The refrigerator light is not strong enough for the calories to see their way into the calorie counter.

And now, dear readers, anyone who takes the above seriously needs the following:

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: SHOULD A SINGLE DISAPPOINTED HOPE MAKE US SO HOSTILE TOWARDS THE WORLD? — LESSING

The customary Christmas Eve dish in Italy is roast eel.
Newspapers command a large share of advertising dollars in the U.S. than television, billboards and magazines combined.

If We Ran This Ad On Radio, You'd Only Have 30 Seconds To Hear It.

Now you'd only have 25 seconds, and you wouldn't be able to go back and look at the opening line or pause (19...18...17...) to consider its significance. You wouldn't be able to spend a lot of time with this advertisement and it wouldn't be able to spend a lot of time with you. In fact, if we tried to say just this much in a 30-second radio advertisement, throwing in only a brief mention that newspapers offer coupons, give you great flexibility of size, and can leave a lasting impression on your customers, we'd run out of....

Furniture can suffer from pollutants

Did you know that, like your skin, your wooden furniture can suffer from dirt, dust, irritation chemicals, pollution and sun damage?

Most people use a gentle moisturizing creme to protect and restore their skin's vital health. The same procedure is equally necessary and natural for your furniture.

This similar vulnerability to environmental damage was recognized by Natural World, a Connecticut based company best known for its non-toxic, natural and environmentally safe personal care products. Natural World used its personal skin care experience in developing an all-natural, non-toxic wood conditioner that safely nurtures, replenishes and protects wooden surfaces.

As with its other products, Natural World did not use any petroleum distillates or dangerous solvents that dull or damage wood. Nor did Natural World choose to use silicone or wax.

Instead, Wood Conditioning Creme is a totally non-toxic, concentrated blend of pure oils, natural shining agents and cleaning emulsifiers, teamed up to safely clean and polish and protect your fine furniture, woodwork, and wood paneling - whether lacquered, varnished or enameled.

When applied to the wood surface and polished gently with a dry, soft cloth, Wood Finish Conditioning Creme dissolves wax build-up, removes fingerprints, and helps to prevent drying, cracking, peeling and sun damage by sinking deep into the wood to replace lost oils and moisture. As a result, the wood keeps its natural gloss and glow.

For a Natural World catalog or information on environmentally safe products and their uses, call the company's toll-free number: 1-(800)-728-3388.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: You like, so many others, are shouting, "ASPIRIN!" But you fail to mention the trouble it can cause. I took aspirin for 35 to 40 days and then when walking down the street I passed out and was taken to the hospital in an ambulance. It seems I had lost blood through the stool. I had had no reason to check it. I also had no reason to check my stomach for ulcers. I did not know that they were there, but inactive, until the aspirin went to work on them.

Do you ever tell anyone to have his stomach checked prior to taking aspirin? No, not in your newspaper articles.

DEAR READER: Yes, aspirin can cause bleeding. And so can various related medicines often taken on a chronic basis to control arthritis pain. I have pointed this out several times and noted that many authorities now believe it may be safer to use small doses of prednisone to control rheumatoid arthritis rather than use these medicines.

And it is important that anyone who decides to take aspirin or such medicines for any reason to discuss it with his doctor. Self medication can lead to exactly the kind of problem you describe. That is also why many physicians have been reluctant to recommend to the general public the use of an aspirin every other day to prevent the first heart attack, even though studies show it may decrease the risk of a heart attack by 50 percent.

Since it is clear you have missed my comments, I am sending you Special Report 101, Aspirin, Tylenol and Related Medicines. Anyone who has any tendency to bleed, including an ulcer, should not use aspirin. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/101, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077.

The report I am sending you discusses how long aspirin can affect bleeding. It is aspirin's ability to prevent blood clotting that prevents heart attacks. Most of them occur when a clot forms in the partially obstructed artery. But it is that same action that can lead to the problem you describe.

It is not practical for everyone who wants to take an aspirin to have X-rays of the stomach. Even that would not totally prevent the problem. Some individuals will bleed from the intestines and the exact source of the bleeding may never be known. There now, are you satisfied?

DEAR DR. LAMB: Would you please comment on trichotillomania. I have a 10-year-old niece who has almost completely pulled her hair out. She had beautiful, natural wavy hair, and now she only has a little bit on the neck portion. It is beginning to come back in, but I fear she will pull it out again when it gets long enough.

She is going to a doctor who has her on medication, but I wonder if there is something else we could do to help her. I understand it is an emotional disturbance.

DEAR READER: This is an uncommon cause for hair loss, but children and older women sometimes do pull or rub their hair until it is lost. They may also pull out their eyebrows or eyelashes. You are right that it is usually because of an emotional or psychological disturbance. If the person can appreciate the cause and stop the process, the hair will regrow in about three months. But I would wonder if a consultation with a child psychiatrist would not be in order to help with the most likely underlying cause.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

AIM hears earth saving tips

The Alpha Iota Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met on Jan. 2 in the office of Stan Fry with Glenna Calaway presiding.

The meetings program was entitled "Simple Ways You Can Help Save the Earth" by Teresa Hopping.

President Calaway announced the next city council meeting would be on Jan. 13th.

Thank You's were expressed by all members present for the gifts they received from their secret sister for Christmas.

The membership committee announced the theme for the spring rush party "A Time for US". All members will be remembering their high school days at this party.

The chapter will have their candy sale in March with delivery in time for Easter.

Members were reminded of the couples bowling and pizza party scheduled later this month.

President Calaway announced that January was Good Shepard Month and that members were to bring food and clothing to be donated to Good Shepard all month long.

Jane Mciwes served as hostess for the meeting and Marrie Levrett as co-hostess.

Members attending: Glenna Calaway, Patty Frerich, Carmen Gonzales, Hopping, Wanda Huseman, Levrett, MaryBeth Messer, Pattie Urbanzyk, Mary Bob Ward and Donna Weaver.

The next meeting will be on Jan. 16 with "Kitchen Planning and Design" as the topic for the program. MaryBeth Messer will serve as co-hostess.

VFW auxiliary hosts district president

The Ladies Auxiliary To VFW Post #4818 met in regular session Jan. 6 with Betty Boggs presiding. The meeting was preceded by a fried chicken supper for VFW and Auxiliary members.

The meeting was opened according to the ritual. The charter was draped in loving memory of our member, Frances Banks, who died in December.

Roll was called, minutes read and approved, treasurer's report given, correspondence read and bills presented and paid.

District President Joy Zamora and Florene Leinen, past District President, were special guests.

President Zamora came for her official visit. She gave a report on the District 13 Convention at Childress and State President Louise Reid's official visit to District 13 in Littlefield.

A report was given that the Auxiliary delivered eight Christmas fruit baskets and three food baskets.

Members present were Boggs, Martha Bridges, Baum, Essie Martin, Ruth Morris, Erma Murphey, Terry Rhyne, Ruth Stehem, Doris Wilson, Marie Goheen and the two special guests, Zamora and Leinen. VFW members present were Bob Morris, Bob Baum, and Tom Gohhen.

The next meeting will be Feb. 3 at 6:30 p.m.

Club announces nomination

The North Hereford Club met on January 9, at the Senior Citizens Center.

Program Chairman, Martha Lueb, conducted exercises necessary for filling out programs for the coming year.

Presiding officer, Edith Higgins, announced Lueb as the clubs selection for the Woman of the Year.

Hostess for the meeting was Lueb. Members present included: Lueb, Higgins, Evelyn Croford, Marcella Hoffmon, Edna Schulte, Martha Lueb.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: To prevent theft of my tax tag sticker from my license plate, I diagonally score the sticker with several intersecting cuts with a razor blade.

The deep cuts are invisible, but the sticker can only be lifted in small pieces and will be useless to a crook. You can continue to use the slightly defaced sticker until renewal time, then repeat the procedure. — Harry Griffith, Houston, Texas

Thanks for your hint. Isn't it terrible to have to worry about auto tax tags being stolen? It's happening every day, though.

I wanted to make sure that slicing the tag is not illegal, so I contacted the Texas Motor Vehicle Department. I was told that it's a very good idea. They also recommend after slicing it to put on a coat of clear fingernail polish to protect it from the elements. — Heloise

CLEANING PRODUCTS

Dear Heloise: I think it's time for everyone to start doing something for our planet. Each one of us can help by using environmentally friendly cleaning products and being careful about how we dispose of any hazardous products.

New products are coming out that are environmentally friendly. When shopping for detergents, pick one that is phosphate-free. There are degreasers that are not hazardous — look for bacteria-based products.

Also, a wonderful cleaning product is good old baking soda. It cleans tubs and sinks and deodorizes refrigerators and carpeting. There are 101 uses for it. — Mary Ulrich, Boston, Mass.

WATER INTERRUPTIONS

If you receive notice from your Water Department that service will be interrupted due to construction, do the following:

Clean your bathtub, fill it with cold water and place a bucket next to the tub. You can use this water to fill toilet tanks and, when heated, for sponge baths.

Fill pitchers with cold water for drinking and cooking, cover and place in the refrigerator. — Kathleen Field, Des Moines, Wash.

INTERVIEW ON TAPE

Dear Heloise: While your parents are still alive, interview them separately on a tape cassette. Talk to them about their grandparents, aunts, uncles, etc.

Memories will be with you when your parents are gone, and you will have a brief history of your relatives. — Mary T. Notaro, Baltimore, Md.

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, PO Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279 or fax it to 512-HELOISE. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

Here's a tax tip: donations and medical expenses paid by credit card are deductible the year they are charged, not necessarily when they are incurred or paid off.

What You Can't See Can Hurt You.

What WE Can See Could Save Your Life.

Breast Cancer often stays hidden for several years before it can be revealed through a conventional physical exam. A mammogram is the only way to discover breast cancer in its earliest stages. The test, conducted by a trained specialist, takes just a few minutes — a few minutes that could have life-saving results. One out of nine women will develop breast cancer. This year, 38,000 will die. Those who discover the disease early have a better chance of recovery. Call today: 364-2141, ext. 248.
