Let Us Play Lottery passes easily in statewide elections

By ARNIE STAPLETON
Associated Press Writer
Now even dreams are bigger in Texas.

The lottery hit its biggest winning number yet Tuesday when Texans overwhelmingly approved a constitutional amendment to lift a 146-year-old ban on the numbers game.

Texas will join more than 30 other states with lotteries. It had been the largest without one.

Voters also adopted a $1.1 billion prison bond proposal and in Houston, ousted Mayor Kathy Whitmire, whose 10-year reign ended when wealthy developer Bob Lanier and state Rep. Sylvester Turner qualified for a Dec. 3 runoff.

In Dallas, voters elected Steve Bartlett, a five-term Republican congressman who resigned to run for mayor. He will lead a new council that gives widespread political power to the city's ethnic minorities for the first time.

Backers of the lottery hailed it as a shot in the arm for the state government, forced to raise taxes repeatedly since the devastating oil and real estate busts of 1986. Opponents said it would encourage gambling and not prevent higher taxes.

Texas approved the lottery by a 64 percent-to-36 percent margin. With all but two precincts reporting, the results were 1,331,618 in favor and 733,288 opposed.

Instant games will start by July 1, 1992, and computerized "lotto" games in January 1993. The lottery is estimated to generate $462 million for the current two-year budget cycle and $1 billion for the 1994-95 budget.

"We badly need that additional revenue to educate our young, to fight crime and to bring jobs to Texas," said Gov. Ann Richards. She had urged lawmakers to put the lottery on the ballot - something they had refused to do eight times since 1983.

In Houston, the nation's fourth-largest city will get a new mayor for the first time in a decade when Lanier and Turner face each other next month.

Lanier, 66, and Turner, 37, sent five-term incumbent Whitmire to defeat for the first time ever. Lanier cashed in on public opposition to a controversial $1 billion monorail project favored by Mrs. Whitmire.

Turner, trying to become Houston's first black mayor, drew support from black voters who accounted for much of Mrs. Whitmire's backing in her previous five successful races.

Lanier got 136,918 votes, or 44 percent, to Turner's 109,801, or 35 percent. Mrs. Whitmire had 62,608, or 20 percent.

Mrs. Whitmire, 45, had come under fire for not reacting to crime problems and for her insistence in promoting the monorail project.

Local vote favors lotto

Early voters in Deaf Smith County bucked the tide of approval of the lottery statewide, but when the last vote was counted Tuesday night, the Constitutional amendment proposal passed by a 1,085 to 896 margin.

Opposition to No. 11 on the ballot failed to overcome the drive for a new source of revenue to fund state government.

The number of ballots cast in Deaf Smith County was 2,082, with 621 recorded during the 2 1/2 weeks of early voting.

When the early vote box was counted, the lottery opposition led 337 to 287.

Although not as controversial as the lottery proposal, the No. 13 amendment had drawn attention statewide because the proposition had been defeated in the past.

That amendment will allow the issuance of state-backed bonds to fund grants to collect students. Deaf Smith voters followed the state trend, approving the proposition, 1,125-775.

On other proposals, the Deaf Smith vote was 1,584-420 in favor of No. 1; 1,208-750 against No. 2; 1,210-750 against No. 3; and 1,066-936 in favor of No. 4.

The vote was 1,257-669 against No. 5; 1,190-788 against No. 6; 1,412-478 against No. 7; 1,005-839 in favor of No. 8; 925-896 against No. 9; 1,122-713 against No. 10; and 1,073-787 against No. 12.

City gives boost to United Way

Richard Bacchus, center, of the Hereford Police Department presents pledge cards and contributions of $2,400 to Don Cumpton, campaign director for the United Way of Deaf Smith County. The city's pledges and contributions were the largest in many years by city employees. Also pictured are Bart Hurst, left, of the HPD, whose department gave the largest amount; Karen Bankston of the Water and Sewer Department, whose department gave the largest per capita to United Way; and City Manager Chester Nolen. Nolen challenged employees to give to United Way and will have to cook steaks (six) for the Water and Sewer Department employees.

UWDSC plans more events

Campaign division chairmen for the United Way of Deaf Smith County held their last report meeting of the campaign Tuesday at the Caison House in Hereford.

They were down, but definitely not out.

The campaign has picked up just over $100,000 of its goal of $150,000, and officials are planning special events during the next few months to help raise the money needed to benefit the 12 member agencies.

"With what is still out there to be picked up, I think we can get $125,000 in pledges, corporate gifts and contributions with no problem," said Kyla McDowell, UWDSC executive director. McDowell said two or three large gifts still have not been received, and most of the pledges and gifts from the agriculture division usually do not come in until after most of harvest is wrapped up.

"Our goal is still $150,000, and we will do some extra things to reach that goal," McDowell said.

Lewis McDaniel, UWDSC's president, pointed out that the campaign is $18,000 ahead of the same time last year, when the goal was $125,000. That goal, eventually, was reached.

McDowell and McDaniel urged division chairmen and volunteers to continue working on unfinished accounts.

"Even if their cards aren't ready, we need to get a commitment from them or some kind of figure on what we can expect," McDaniel said.

Games should begin by July 1

AUSTIN (AP) - Texans who win lottery games shouldn't have to drive more than 100 miles to claim their prizes, says the state official heading the enterprise that is expected to generate $1 million a day for the state Treasury.

While voters didn't approve the legalized numbers game until Tuesday, the comptroller's office has been getting ready for months.

That's because the Legislature that put Comptroller John Sharp in charge also gave him orders to move fast.

Sharp plans to hire a lottery director by Dec. 1, begin offering instant "scratch-card" games by July 1, 1992, and start big-money computerized "lotto" games by Jan. 1, 1993.

Things may move even faster, he said Tuesday night.

"Obviously, we're going to try to beat those time lines if we can, because every day we beat them means $1 million to the state Treasury. This thing's worth about a million bucks a day," Sharp said.

Sharp estimates the lottery would generate $462 million profit for the state during the current two-year budget cycle, and about $1 billion per budget after that.

Lottery preparations began shortly after lawmakers voted last August to put the question on the ballot, said Andy Welch, a comptroller's office spokesman.

"The lottery task force has been at work for the last three months. They've traveled to other states. They have looked to see how lotteries are run in other states. They have explored the different concepts of how you run it," Welch said.

While Sharp said rules haven't been finalized yet, some lottery details are known now.

Regional lottery centers will be located around the state. "Winners would have to drive no more than 100 miles" to claim their prizes, Sharp said.

"Convenience stores, gas stations and other outlets which sell tickets will be strictly regulated.

"We're going to make this warping real clear to people who sell those tickets: If they violate one single law and get caught, they're not going to sell lottery tickets again for a long, long time. There's no appeal, and we're simply going to remove their licenses," Sharp said.

"Promotional advertising will be contracted out to private firms, but there will be limits on the types of pitches that can be made.

"One of the things we want to watch out for is some advertising that we've seen in some other states that we think borders on the obscene," Sharp said, citing ads that claimed lottery could get people off welfare or make them millionaires.

"We're going to make sure whoever's doing our advertising is not involved in that kind of thing... (and make sure) certain people aren't targeted unfairly."

"Lottery drawings likely will be broadcast on statewide television hookups, as is done in several other large states.

"Lottery tickets themselves should state the odds of winning and include a toll-free phone number for help with gambling problems, Sharp said.

"One of the things we're going to put on the tickets is the 1-800 number of the (state) alcohol and drug abuse agency," he said, adding that $2 million in lottery proceeds is going to the agency each year.

"Every single lottery ticket is going to have their 1-800 number that they'll have for compulsive gambling," he said.

Local vote final results

Here are the final results from Deaf Smith County voters on the 13 issues decided on Tuesday:

- Prop 1: Home rule in favor: 1584 Against: 420
- Prop 2: Toll roads in favor: 750 Against: 1208

Ag committee will visit region

The Texas House Committee on Agriculture and Livestock will visit several sites in Deaf Smith County and the area during a tour Thursday and Friday.

Committee members will be coming to the area to get a firsthand look at the facilities and services of agencies of Texas A&M University and area agriculture and agribusiness.

The legislative committee is chaired by L.P. "Pete" Patterson, D-Brookston, a farmer-rancher. Other members include Charles Fennell, D-

Holliday; Renato Cuellar, D-Weslaco; Layton Black, D-Goldthwaite; Tom Cate, D-Lytle; Bob Glaze, D-Gilmer; Jerry Johnson, D-Nacogdoches; Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale and David Swinford, R-Dumas.

Stops in Hereford and Deaf Smith County will include Panhandle Milling, Southwest Feedyard, Arrowhead Mills and Holly Sugar.

The committee members will also visit and receive briefings by leaders of the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory, West Texas State University, the USDA Agricultural Research Service facility at Bushland and other sites around Amarillo, Plainview, Halfway and Lubbock during their tour.

Amarillo stops on Thursday include Iowa Beef Packers, the Texas Cattle Feeders Association and the American Quarterhorse Association.

Tours on Friday include the Azteca Mill at Plainview, the Halfway Center; luncheon and briefings at the TAMUS Center at Lubbock.

Raising the Olympic flag

Hereford postmaster Charles Britten, joined by employees of the United States Post Office in Hereford, added a new flag to the pole this morning in front of the post office: the Olympic flag. The USPS is an official sponsor of the U.S. Olympic team, and the flag will fly through next year's Olympic Games in Barcelona, Spain. The flag was raised at 7:45 a.m. today, as were similar flags at over 100 post offices in the region.

This morning's low at KPAN was 36 after a high Tuesday of 56.

HOUSTON (AP) - The nation's fourth-largest city will get a new mayor for the first time in a decade when wealthy developer Bob Lanier and state Rep. Sylvester Turner face each other in a runoff next month.

Lanier and Turner sent five-term incumbent Kathy Whitmire to defeat for the first time ever Tuesday, with Lanier cashing in on public opposition to a controversial $1 billion monorail project favored by Mrs. Whitmire.

Turner, meanwhile, trying to become Houston's first black mayor, drew support from black voters who accounted for much of Mrs. Whitmire's backing in her previous five successful races.

"I started this campaign with a notion that we had every ability to improve almost every walk of life in this great city of ours," Lanier said. "I expected to do well but not this well."

"I felt we could win if Houstonians could know who I am, what I stand for and where I was trying to go," Turner said. "I think over the last five months, people have gotten the opportunity. They have responded in a tremendous way."

Lanier, 66, and Turner, 37, both in their inaugural attempts for citywide office, now will face each other Dec. 3 because neither captured 50 percent of the vote.

In complete but unofficial returns from Tuesday's balloting, Lanier got 136,918 votes, or 44 percent, to Turner's 109,801, or 35 percent. Mrs. Whitmire had 62,608, or 20 percent.

Mrs. Whitmire, 45, had come under fire for not reacting to crime problems and for her insistence in promoting the monorail project. Her 10 consecutive years as mayor of Houston was a record.

"We can take special pride in the accomplishments Houston has made in these last 10 years," she said in a brief concession speech to supporters. "I want to thank each one of you for the great honor of serving as your mayor."

Mrs. Whitmire first was elected in 1982 and easily won re-election every two years since. During her tenure, she presided over a city ravaged by the oil industry bust of the mid-1980s, then took credit for Houston's subsequent economic resurgence.

She was Houston's first female mayor and broke new ground by appointing the city's first black police chief and then Houston's first female police chief.

Her most recent term, however, was marked by a rise in street crime and homicides. She also came under criticism for relentlessly pushing a monorail that many residents opposed.

"I believe she was mayor for the 80s," Turner said. "The crucial point now is which one of the two of us can build on what she has done."

The monorail issue prompted Lanier, a former Whitmire ally, to abandon his more accustomed spot as longtime political insider and seek elective office.

Lanier owns interest in about $60 million worth of Houston area property and is a former Texas Highway Commission chairman. He was named by Mrs. Whitmire to head the Houston Metropolitan Transit Authority board but quit when she continued to push for monorail over his protests.

Lanier's campaign, fueled in part by his personal wealth, centered on diverting millions of dollars in taxes collected for the monorail for other projects, most notably police.

Tuesday night Lanier continued to eye the monorail money to solve the city's ills, promising to fight "the timid souls who say don't use that cash."

"We'll say baloney to that group," he said.

He also promised to put an extra 655 police on the streets in the first 90 days of office. "My whole thing is action now," he said.

Turner won the endorsement of the city's police unions and campaigned as a consensus builder.

"I have learned that people do respond to a positive campaign," Turner said. "They want to know what I can do positively for this city and they are not interested in who I can tear down. We will continue that same thing."

Carr attends Chicago convention

Trip spurs economic prospects

Ten area economic developers, including the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, attended the 1991 International Meat Industry Convention and Exposition recently in Chicago, identifying potential prospects and promoting the region to meat processors.

The economic developers, sponsored in part by Southwestern Public Service Company, set up the SPS exhibit that explains the benefits of relocating to this area and talked with senior executives of meat processing companies.

"This show provided us with a first-hand opportunity to visit representatives of this industry," said Mike Carr, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. "We did generate some leads that are being followed up on," said Carr. "There is one in particular that would be great for the area. The long-term pay off will be great. We have to plant the seeds."

"I though overall, the AMI show was very worthwhile. It certainly added some visibility for this area to the meat packing industry."

Also attending were representatives from SPS, Clovis, Amarillo and Lubbock.

Police describe parents as 'average'

WHITE SETTLEMENT, Texas (AP) - Police describe Jay and Linda Hill as "Mr. and Mrs. Average."

They are well-educated, responsible and very religious, police say, and have no criminal record.

And they profess to love their two sons - all of which makes authorities in this Fort Worth suburb struggle to understand why 13-year-old Stephen Hill was starved for months and chained to a cabinet in his trailer home.

Stephen remained in a coma early today. He suffered cardiac arrest Sunday, the day his bruised, 55-pound body was transported to Cook-Fort Worth Children's Medical Center.

"As a person, I'm devastated about what happened," White Settlement Police Chief Richard Mills says. "Every person connected with this comes out with a sick feeling."

Mrs. Hill, a 37-year-old homemaker, and Hill, a 42-year-old engineer at General Dynamics, were being held in Tarrant County Jail. They remain there on a $100,000 bond each on charges of injury to a child.

White Settlement is a blue-collar suburb of about 16,000 people next to Fort Worth. It grew up around General Dynamics in the '40s as defense workers settled near the plant.

This closely knit town has struggled with bad news in the last year, first as defense cuts idled workers, then officials got the word that nearby Carswell Air Force Base would be closed down.

The city's spirit also took a beating a year ago when 13-year-old Stormie Jones died, ending a six-year struggle for life. Stormie was the first recipient of a heart-liver transplant, and became a national celebrity for her determination to live a normal childhood.

The mother told authorities that Stephen was a hyperactive discipline problem who scared her and Hill. They kept the teen on a plastic chain and padlock out of reach of food, Mrs. Hill said.

As she was being transferred to the Tarrant jail Tuesday, reporters asked Mrs. Hill what she would say to Stephen.

"The same thing I tell him every day, that I love him," she said as she was led in handcuffs to an awaiting police car.

Tarrant County Child Protective Services took 12-year-old Douglas Hill into custody Sunday. The younger son was reported bruised but in otherwise good condition.

"Our only explanation is that it got bigger, and they didn't know how to get out of it," Nichols said. "They started something they didn't know how to handle, and the worse it got, the more afraid they got."

Police found the starving boy after his mother called 911 about 7:40 a.m. Sunday. Mrs. Hill hung up, but a new tracing system tracked the caller's whereabouts, said police Lt. David Place.

Police called back, and the mother told them her son was having trouble breathing.

She reportedly told the dispatcher: "I'm afraid my husband and I are bad parents. We haven't been feeding the child."

Paramedics found Stephen in cardiac arrest and covered with bruises and abrasions.

Place said that Hill accounted for a large bruise on Stephen's back. The father hit his son, Place said Hill told him, because the teen occasionally would hold his breath until he passed out.

The longevity and severity of the abuse stood out from the other 30 or so abuse cases White Settlement police typically see each year, Place said.

"It was a product of time, not a fit of anger that took place overnight," Place said.

Mrs. Hill told Place that she knew ever since Stephen's birth - a difficult birth that almost cost her her life - that abusive problems existed.

She was afraid, though, to tell welfare authorities, Place said. She admitted she lacked parenting skills but did not want her sons taken away.

"As she said, 'We were ignorant by fear,'" the investigator said.

Investigators know little about the family. Police say they moved to White Settlement about three years ago and manage the well-kept Cherry Lane RV Park, where they live in a 31-foot, one-bedroom travel trailer.

Hill is from Utah; his wife is from New York. They are members of a Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints in White Settlement.

Neighbors said they didn't even realize children lived in the trailer home. The boys - taught at home by their mother - did not attend school and rarely went outside, neighbors said.

Charges against the Hills could be upgraded if Stephen dies, Mills said.

Veteran actor, McMurray, dies at 83

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Fred MacMurray, who dispensed fatherly wisdom between puffs of his pipe on television's "My Three Sons" and played lovable kooks in a string of Disney movies, has died at 83.

MacMurray died of pneumonia Tuesday at St. John's Hospital and Health Center in Santa Monica, a day after being admitted for cancer treatment.

Although light comedy was his strength, MacMurray played almost any film role with success, including Western hero, high-society figure and double-dealers of various stripes.

MacMurray played against type in 1944 when he starred opposite Barbara Stanwyck as a crooked insurance salesman recruited for murder in Billy Wilder's moody "Double Indemnity."

He worked with Wilder again in 1960, playing a philandering husband in "The Apartment." In "The Caine Mutiny" of 1954, he played a deceitful Navy lieutenant.

Wilder joked about the character switch, saying MacMurray "gives people the feeling that he's kind to dogs, children, mothers and widows."

The good-guy image served MacMurray well in "My Three Sons," in which he played widower father Steve Douglas.

The show ran from 1960 to 1972, second only to "Ozzie and Harriet" as network TV's longest-running situation comedy. It still is popular in reruns.

MacMurray's stage, film and television career spanned more than 50 years. He made more than 80 motion pictures before retiring a decade ago.

Born in Kankakee, Ill., MacMurray sang and played in orchestras to earn tuition at Carroll College in Wisconsin.

He came to Hollywood in the 1920s and worked with dance bands and as a movie extra. He then went to the East Coast, making his Broadway debut in 1930 in "Three's a Crowd."

His first hit film was the 1935 romantic comedy "The Guilded Lilly" with Claudette Colbert.

He is survived by his wife, actress June Haver, three daughters and a son. His first wife, actress Lillian Lamont, died in 1953.

Funeral services will be private.

DSGH advances with technology

Advances in technology have greatly changed the radiology department at Deaf Smith General Hospital in the last few years, according to Ron Rives, administrator. During National Radiology Week, the hospital is highlighting the many services provided by the department.

"We provide diagnostic studies here like mammograms, ultrasound, CT scans, and nuclear medicine that were only available in big hospitals just a few years ago," stated Rives. "We're very proud of the personnel in this department because they have stayed up with the rapid changes in the field."

Claudia Smith, RT, department manager, and Carrie Shirley, RT, do about 550 exams each month. On call 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, they get relief one weekend each month from Rocky Houston, a tech from Clovis, N.M.

Smith explained that radiology technicians must pass rigorous state and national exams to be licensed for duty. Smith was trained at St. Anthony's Hospital, and Shirley was trained at Amarillo College, School of Radiology. Smith has been registered for 22 year and Shirley has been registered for two years. Both are certified with the state.

Computers, scanners, and other advances allow DSGH to perform advanced diagnostic testing. A group of five radiologists from High Plains Baptist Hospital interpret the exams done at the local hospital. If the radiologist is not present and an immediate reading is needed, a device called an Ekta scanner is used to transmit x-rays over the telephone lines to High Plains Radiology Association in Amarillo for review, Smith said.

In addition to the standard x-rays and fluoroscopes, the department has several advanced pieces of equipment. "We still have people who don't know that we do mammograms," Smith said. A mammogram at DSGH costs $65, which includes the radiologist's fee for reading the test. Medicare will pay $55 of the charge.

"The American Cancer Society strongly recommends that every woman have a baseline mammogram at age 35, and then have one every other year from ages 40 to 50. Women over 50 should have a mammogram every year," Smith said.

"In the mammogram room, we have a very feminine decor with wallpaper and carpet...we try to make women feel as comfortable as possible. Women can call the hospital and schedule the exam, which takes about 15 minutes. It can be the best 15 minutes a woman spends all year," she noted.

Statistics show that one woman in 10 will have breast cancer. "A mammogram is one method used for early detection, and that's what saves lives," Smith said. According to experts in the field, a mammogram can sometimes detect a breast cancer seven years before the lump can be felt in a physical exam.

Another piece of equipment that helps Hereford doctors diagnose tumors or masses and other illnesses is the CT scan. Again, many residents are unaware that the hospital offers the service, according to Smith. The CT scanner is housed in a large white trailer at the back of the hospital.

A regular x-ray shows a flat plane, but the CT uses computerized tomography to see a cross-section of a certain part of the body. "The CT scan will detect masses or tumors that might escape notice on a regular x-ray," said Smith.

The ultrasound unit is one that many people think of in connection with pregnancy. This diagnostic test, using radio sound waves, can be used to check the development of a fetus, but is has several other uses. Ultrasound can be used to diagnose gall bladder, liver or kidney disease, and can check the blood flow in the carotid artery.

Nuclear medicine is another non-invasive diagnostic tool used in the department. The large camera is used to diagnose liver, kidney, or gall bladder disease, detect bone and thyroid disorders, heart disease, or brain disorders. The patient is given a small dose of a radioisotope, which is an agent emitting a small amount of radiation. The radiation is insignificant, because it is less than a patient is exposed to in a normal lung x-ray, Smith said. The camera follows the radioisotope to the organ being studied.

The department also has both a portable fluoroscopic unit and a portable x-ray unit. These units can be taken directly to a patient's room or to the emergency room.

"Radiology is an exciting area of medicine because there have been so many changes and advances in the last few years," Smith said. "We're very proud of the services that we provide here in Hereford for our patients."

Spikers whip Lamesa; advance to meet Pecos

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The Lady Whitefaces overcame their playoff jitters and got past the first hurdle of the state 4A volleyball playoffs, beating Lamesa 15-13, 15-8 Tuesday at Coronado Gym in Lubbock.

Hereford raises its record to 24-4 and advances to the second round of the playoffs against Pecos Saturday, probably at 2 p.m. in Seminole.

Lamesa, the District 2-4A champs at 8-0, retire with a 21-5 overall record.

The Herd took the first two points of the first game on a Jennifer Hicks kill and a Lori Sanders ace, but Lamesa came back to take a 6-2 lead, then later led 12-6, mostly because of Hereford's service errors and service receive errors.

"There were a lot of errors on our part," Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said. "We seemed really nervous. I don't know if we were or not, but I thought we'd be able to go out and play looser than Lamesa since we had more playoff experience."

Senior Jennifer Hicks said Hereford's problem was nervousness.

"I think it was a big case of the jitters," she said. "We knew how good Lamesa was going to be because we talked to some coaches. I think it was nerve more than anything else."

Sanders, also a senior, was more blunt. "We kinda choked and let them have the easy points," she said.

Down 12-6, most of the Hereford players started using softer hits to counter Lamesa's blocking. Hereford's Kyanne Lindley was one who used soft shots effectively.

"They'd been blocking me (on her hard hits)," Lindley said. "(Reeh) told me to start dinking to No. 3 (a position in the frontcourt) The Lamesa girl was back and couldn't get to it."

Hereford came back and tied it at 12-12 on Shantel Cornelius' kill off the block of 5-11 middle blocker Dina Simpson. Lamesa took back the lead at 13-12 but didn't get any more points. Sanders dinked to tie it back up, Lindley's serve went off a Lamesa player into the stands for game-point, and after a few rotations, Lamesa had another service receive error to end the game.

The second game was easier for the Herd. The teams stayed even until the score was 5-5, but then Lamesa was called in the net to give Hereford the lead, and things went sour for Lamesa.

Hereford ran up a 13-5 lead, and Lamesa looked beaten. Hereford's

12th and 13th points were awarded when Lamesa was called in the net, and after each point, the Lamesa players were walking around the court in random directions and looking at the floor instead of talking to each other.

Lamesa gained a little strength when Simpson and Saresa Butler stuffed a Brek Binder hit. Lamesa made the game go a few more rotations until a Lindley dink and a Cornelius dump set got Hereford's last two points.

Cornelius led Hereford with nine kills and three stuffs. Hicks had seven kills, and Binder had six kills plus three stuffs. Lindley and Sanders each had three kills.

From the service line, the Herd was led by Sanders with 12 good serves and eight points, including three aces. Lindley was right behind her with 11 good serves, six points and two aces, and Binder had 10 good serves, five points and one ace. Kara Sandoval had nine good serves and an ace, and had a perfect night passing.

Reeh said she was "99 percent sure" that Hereford would meet Pecos at 2 p.m. Saturday in Seminole, but she still had to clear it with the Pecos coach and the Seminole administration.

Through the block

Hereford's Shantel Cornelius hits the ball into the block of Lamesa's Kechia Mason (34) and Becky Martens (14) during Hereford's 15-13, 15-8 bi-district win Tuesday in Lubbock. Watching the action are Hereford's Kara Sandoval and Kyanne Lindley (1).

City changing golf operation

Brent Warner's contract as golf pro at the Pitman Municipal Golf Course will be terminated Dec. 31, 1991, it was announced Tuesday by Hereford City Manager Chester Nolen.

Citing a dissatisfaction with progress being made at the city course, Nolen said he felt the city "needs an overall change in the management of the golf course to accomplish the goals we have set."

In addition to being a city employee, Warner has a personal services agreement to operate the city course. He has served as the golf pro since June of 1989.

The job classification for the new pro will be changed, said Nolen, "in order to try to get closer to a break-even proposition in operation of the course." In the past, the pro has owned the concessions and the golf carts. The city will take over ownership of these under the new arrangement.

The new pro will be a fulltime salaried employee of the city with only private golf lessons providing any extra income. The job description being advertised is for a Class A golf professional with significant college course work in business or related fields. A minimum of five years experience as a pro or assistant is required.

The pro will be required to perform all the duties of a golf pro, including lessons, tournament activity, fees and money collection, budget preparation, general supervision of course maintenance and personnel, and other related tasks. Salary is listed at low to middle range of $40,000 a year.

Nolen said he was seeking "significant changes in improvements at the course," and that he would encourage the new pro to have an active junior golf program.

HJH gridders close with wins

Three Hereford eighth grade teams earned wins over Plainview on Tuesday in their season finales.

The Hereford White A 8th grade team beat Plainview 14-6, and the B squad nipped Plainview, 8-0, both in Hereford, while at Plainview, the Maroon A won 30-6.

The freshman Maroon squad was not quite so fortunate, losing to the Plainview ninth, 6-0.

In the Eighth White A game, Todd Dudley threw a 49-yard pass to Albino Garcia for a 6-0 lead with 2:41 left in the first half.

With eight second left in the first half, Dudley pitched to tailback Armando Zambrano, who pulled up and threw a 43-yard pass to Raymond Gonzales. Zambrano then ran for the two-point conversion. Plainview scored on the first play of the fourth quarter, but the Hereford eighth graders shut them down the rest of the game.

The Eighth White A team ends its season at 2-2-2.

In the B game, J.J. Ellis hit Tracy Montano on a 13-yard touchdown pass with, again, 2:41 left in the second quarter. Tailback Duane Thomas ran for the two-point conversion to give Hereford the win.

The game in Plainview turned out to be the Marquise Brown show. Brown, a tailback, had three touchdown runs of 60 yards or more and a 48-yard punt return to lead Hereford to the 30-6 win.

Two of Brown's runs, a 66-yarder and a 68-yarder, came in the first quarter, and he ran for two-points after the first score. Then in the second quarter, after Plainview had pulled to within 14-6, Brown got loose for a 60-yarder as time ran out in the half. He ran for two points after that touchdown, too.

His punt return was icing on the cake. Martin Martinez got into the act with a two-point run.

The eighth grade Maroon A team finished the year with a 7-1 record. "These kids had a heck of a year," coach James Salinas said.

Knicks get rave reviews after home romp

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

After flopping on the road, the New York Knicks polished their act and opened on Broadway to rave reviews from Coach Pat Riley.

"After what happened over the weekend, they were committed to come home and have a great home opener, and they did it," Riley said after the Knicks whipped the Milwaukee Bucks 113-85 Tuesday night.

Returning to the bench after an absence of one season, Riley watched the Knicks lose twice to recent expansionists Miami and Orlando. And for a while, it seemed that the Bucks might upstage him in his debut at Madison Square Garden.

With the Knicks leading just 42-41 at halftime, the director changed the script.

"We changed defenses at halftime, going to a pressure defense," he said of the strategy that resulted in eight

Milwaukee turnovers in the third period.

Leading the way for the Knicks was Mark Jackson, who got 14 of his 16 points, five assists and three steals as New York outscored Milwaukee 40-13 in the third period.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Philadelphia 107, Washington 106; Atlanta 98, Utah 94; Detroit 117, Charlotte 93; Boston 93, Miami 89; Golden State 118, Chicago 110; Cleveland 112, Dallas 101; Houston 106, Portland 99; Indiana 111, Phoenix 105; Seattle 98, Sacramento 87; Denver 97, San Antonio 96; and the Los Angeles Clippers 114, the Los Angeles Lakers 109 in overtime.

Xavier McDaniel, acquired from Phoenix just before training camp started, had 28 points and 13 rebounds, and Patrick Ewing scored 24 points for the Knicks.

Dale Ellis and Jay Humphries had 14 points each for Milwaukee.

Clippers 114, Lakers 109 OT

Loy Vaught scored six of his career-high 20 points in overtime.

Danny Manning scored 22 points for the Clippers, including a basket that forced overtime at 102-102. Sedale Threatt led the Lakers with 25 points and James Worthy added 22.

Nuggets 97, Spurs 96

Reggie Williams' layup with 6.7 seconds left capped Denver's 8-0 run and a rally from a 14-point deficit in the final 4:47.

Williams had 24 points and rookie Dikembe Mutombo 21 points and 13 rebounds. Antoine Carr led the Spurs with 23 points.

Warriors 118, Bulls 110

Chris Mullin scored 38 points and led a 20-2 fourth-quarter charge.

The Bulls fell to 1-2, despite 40 points from Michael Jordan.

Sarunas Marciulionis added 18 points for Golden State, while Scottie Pippen had 26 for the Bulls.

Rockets 106, Trail Blazers 99

Vernon Maxwell scored 24 points, including the go-ahead basket with 1:17 to play.

Hakeem Olajuwon led the Rockets with 27 points and 20 rebounds, and Otis Thorpe added 16 points and 17 rebounds. Clyde Drexler had 18 points to lead Portland.

Celtics 93, Heat 89

Free throws kept Miami in the game, then beat the Heat as Boston made six straight in the final 6:30 seconds.

Miami, hitting just 39 percent from the floor, made 30 of 36 free throws.

Larry Bird missed 14 of 20 shots and committed five turnovers, but scored 20 points for Boston. Reggie Lewis had 25 points for the Celtics.

Miami's Bimbo Coles had a career-high 16 points for the Heat. Cavaliers 112, Mavericks 101
Larry Nance scored 13 of his 29 points in the fourth quarter.

Craig Ehlo added 22 points and Brad Daugherty scored 20 and had 12 rebounds for Cleveland. Dallas, led by Rolando Blackman's 23 points, is winless in three starts.

Pacers 111, Suns 105

Chuck Person scored seven of his 12 points in a 69-second span early in the fourth quarter.

Indiana's Reggie Miller scored 34 points, including 12 in the final 7:29 of the third quarter.

Dan Majerle had 25 points for Phoenix.

SuperSonics 98, Kings 87

Gary Payton and Derrick McKey keyed a 16-4 second-half burst as Seattle beat Sacramento.

McKey scored 20 points and Payton 18. Mitch Richmond, playing his first game for the Kings since being acquired from Golden State, scored 18 points.

Hawks 98, Jazz 94

Blair Rasmussen hit shots from both corners in the final 1:42 and Dominique Wilkins scored nine of his 25 points in the final 6 minutes as Atlanta rallied.

Rookie Stacey Augmon added 18 points for the Hawks and Travis Mays had 15. Karl Malone led the Jazz with 23 points.

Pistons 117, Hornets 93

Mark Aguirre scored 22 points off the bench and Bill Laimbeer led a decisive second-half surge.

Laimbeer scored nine of his 16 points as the Pistons opened the second half with a 20-6 surge.

Kendall Gill and Kenny Gattison led Charlotte with 15 points each.

76ers 107, Bullets 106

Hersey Hawkins had 21 points and scored the game-winning basket with 5.7 seconds left.

Charles Barkley scored 33 points and grabbed 19 rebounds for Philadelphia.

Michael Adams had 33 points and 15 assists for Washington.

Cowboys fret over Dome noise

IRVING, Texas (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys aren't in awe of the Houston Oilers but they're worried about the Astrodome crowd noise and Warren Moon.

Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson said it will be the biggest test his team has had in the three years he has been coach.

The Oilers host the Cowboys at noon Sunday and have won their last seven games in the Astrodome.

"The crowd noise will be tremendous, they'll be fired up from the opening kickoff, they'll be a fanatical crowd," Johnson said.

"It's a severe test because of Warren Moon, their quality receivers, all the No. 1 draft picks in their offensive line, their tremendous defense and their outstanding special teams," Johnson said. "You have to consider Houston's track record when it plays in the Astrodome."

The Oilers are seven-point favorites and Johnson said that's about right.

"It's as big a challenge as our team could have," Johnson said.

Johnson said potential crowd noise for the noon kickoff has him concerned. The Cowboys recently had problems with noise in the Pontiac Silverdome, blowing several snap counts against the Detroit Lions.

"The crowd noise limits our offense some," Johnson said. "Our offense will have to concentrate on every play; we can't have any false movements, linemen jumping. It limits our audibles."

Johnson said he will advise quarterback Troy Aikman to go ahead and run the play despite the noise.

"The quarterback has to go ahead and snap the ball," Johnson said. "It (the noise) really doesn't get any better if he backs out."

Johnson said despite all of Houston's advantages the Cowboys won't back down from the Texas death match.

"We played 'em in preseason and worked against 'em in training camp and that takes away some of the possible awe of playing them," Johnson said. "It's not an easy task. But we're not in awe."

Dallas holds a 4-2 regular season edge in the series with Houston winning 25-17 in the last meeting in 1988.

Johnson has decided to start rookie defensive tackle Russell Maryland, a first round draft pick, for the first time this year to beef up the pass rush.

However, Johnson concedes it's hard to get to Moon.

"Moon has had only seven sacks this season and you really can't get to him with their offensive line," Johnson said. "All you can hope is to throw him off rhythm. If you think you can get to Warren Moon then you're definitely off base."

Johnson said being familiar with the Oilers should help the Cowboys but that street travels both ways.

"They know us pretty well, too," Johnson said.

Johnson said he didn't consider the Houston game "a rivalry" although both teams have training camp within 40 miles of each other and are in the same state.

"It's not a real rivalry," Johnson said. "There are feelings when the two teams play because the Cowboys had such success in the past while the Oilers were building."

TCU meets A&M Thursday

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Texas Christian is winning ugly, but smartly, at least in a manner of speaking.

Unranked in most polls, the Horned Frogs are No. 1 when it comes to graduating members of the senior football class, and coach Jim Wacker says the title is secure.

"Somebody may tie us but nobody's gonna beat 100 percent," Wacker said with a grin. "Notre Dame graduated 24 of 26 last year and that was the best in the nation. 'Now we're No. 1.'"

Twenty-one of the 21 TCU players who joined the program in the fall of 1986, and stuck around, have received their bachelor's degrees. And two latecomers to that freshman class will graduate in December.

Those two, defensive end Roosevelt Collins and offensive guard John Marsh, both starters, will make it 23 of 23.

So Wacker's erratic Frogs (6-2 and 3-2) enter Thursday night's nationally televised showdown with Texas A&M ranked first in smarts, fifth in Southwest Conference standings and nowhere in the Top 25.

The 12th-ranked Aggies (6-1, 4-0) are two touchdown favorites and appear on target for a New Year's Day appointment in the Cotton Bowl.

The Horned Frogs haven't beaten the Cadets since 1972, which was before freshman running back Derrick Cullors was born. And chances of an ambush are scant.

So why are these purple-hued Frogs smiling?

For one thing, TCU has locked up its first winning season since 1984 and only its fourth in 30 years.

And the Frogs did it the hard way. Nobly so, counting the scholastic coup.

But that's only part of the story, a saga of triumph over adversity for which the class of '86 was blameless. TCU was flagged by the NCAA in 1985 for recruiting violations and flogged a year later with sanctions scornfully branded the "living death penalty."

Although Wacker himself blew the whistle on an alumni slush fund - the handiwork of his predecessor - the NCAA stripped TCU of all but 10 scholarships in 1986.

That's the 100 percent class, which included walk-ons and transfers as well as scholarship athletes.

"They are really something special," Wacker said.

Cougar cagers picked in SWC

DALLAS (AP) - Houston was selected by coaches as the team to beat in the 1991-92 Southwest Conference basketball race on Tuesday.

The Cougars got 16 first place votes to 210 points for the Texas Longhorns who had 9 first place votes and 192 points.

The Rice Owls were picked third with three first-place votes and 173 points.

The other predicted order of finish included Texas Christian 133 (points, Baylor 119 (points, Southern Methodist 88 points, Texas Tech 60 points and Texas A&M last with 30 points.

The SWC coaches picked Houston's Craig Upchurch as the pre-season player of the year and Houston's Sam Mack as newcomer of the year.

Terrance Rencher of the Texas Longhorns was the pre-season freshman of the year.

The coaches picked Rice's Brent Scott, Texas' Benford Williams, TCU's Reggie Smith, Upchurch, and Baylor's David Wesley to the pre-season 1992 All-SWC team.

One play ruins Carpenter's great game

By MIKE DRAGO
Associated Press Writer
Bridge City's Frank Carpenter would have traded all his 323 yards and four touchdowns for one play on a rainy Friday night.

The 5-7, 157-pound running back carried 24 times, including touchdowns of 52, 59, 37 and 31 yards against the Nederland Bulldogs last week, but his fumble late in the fourth quarter allowed Nederland to cap a 20-point comeback for a 40-39 victory.

Nederland's Cody Robins, who completed 25 of 42 passes for 357 yards and four scores, led the furious fourth-quarter surge with a pair of touchdown passes to Eric Cammack.

For their efforts, Carpenter, Robins and Cammack earned the spotlight in The Associated Press Schoolboy Honor Roll.

Nederland coach Bob August said the game was a duel between two great players.

"It was a swordfight. It was just a night where Carpenter and Cody were fantastic," August said.

But Robins, despite three interceptions, prevailed after Nederland fell behind 39-20 with 8:47 remaining. He threw touchdown passes of 15 and 48 yards to Cammack, then led the Bulldogs to the winning points after Carpenter's fumble. Kelly Marze scored the go-ahead touchdown on a 4-yard run.

"It was a tough defeat for us, because we led throughout the ball game," Bridge City coach Terry Townzen said. "Our locker room was very quiet after that game."

The loss didn't diminish Carpenter's performance, Townzen said.

"Anytime you have a running back that rushes for 325 yards, you don't take anything away from him," Townzen said. "I think he'd trade the yards and touchdowns for the win."

Also earning mention in the honor roll was Wilmer-Hutchins' Donald Veasley, who carried 22 times for 201 yards and a touchdown as the eighth-ranked Eagles held off Lancaster, 10-9.

Forney defensive back Clay Beason saved the game twice in the final minutes of a 13-10 victory over No. 8 Mabank. Beason, who also is third-ranked Forney's quarterback, blocked a 25-yard field goal with 4:43 remaining and intercepted a pass at the Forney 22 with 3:07 to go.

Nathan Campbell ran for 302 yards and three touchdowns in No. 6 Alief Elsik's 28-23 victory over Houston Terry. Campbell carried 30 times, including scoring runs of 59 and 62 yards. His 1-yard dive in the third quarter put Elsik ahead 21-17.

In other outstanding performances: Cedric Cromer of Rockwall carried 23 times for 234 yards and three touchdowns in a 34-7 victory over West Mesquite.

Mission's Koy Detmer completed

16 of 17 passes for 304 yards and touchdowns of 43, 52, 14 and 8 yards in a 59-23 victory over McAllen Memorial. The performance gave Detmer 2,736 yards and 25 touchdowns this season.

Sweetwater's Chris Hines carried 18 times for 228 yards and two touchdowns in a 27-0 victory over San Angelo Lake View. Hines also caught a 34-yard touchdown pass.

Llano's Royce Owens had 215 yards and three touchdowns on 28 carries, leading his team past Dripping Springs, 28-0.

Ross Partlow of Sinton carried 17 times for 270 yards and three touchdowns in a 28-6 victory over Rockport-Fulton.

Michael White of Taft carried 23 times for 223 yards and three touchdowns in a 45-7 victory over Goliad.

Eddie Andrade of San Antonio East Central rushed for 223 yards and three touchdowns in a 37-6 victory over Harlandale.

Michael Hunt of SA West Campus carried 14 times for 222 yards and three scores in a 39-28 victory over Kerrville Tivy.

In a six-man game, Justin Esquell of Harper carried 16 times for 305 yards in a 51-6 victory over Brooksmith. Esquell has scored 40 touchdowns this season.

Jeff Roberts of Clyde scored on runs of 45, 26 and 5 yards and returned a kickoff 85 yards for a touchdown in a 32-7 victory over Comanche.

Johnnie Hudman of Albany managed to score two touchdowns before his team ran a single play from scrimmage against Winters. After Winters' opening possession, Hudman ran the kickoff back 77 yards for a touchdown, then returned an ensuing punt 73 yards for a score. Hudman also scored on runs of 9, 4 and 4 yards in the 40-7 victory.

Waylon McGee of Hamlin ran for 232 yards and three second-quarter touchdowns in a 27-0 victory over Hawley.

Allen Dubois of Colmesneil carried 15 times for 295 yards and five touchdowns in a 67-0 victory over High Island.

Newton's Caesario Brooks carried 29 times for 234 yards and three touchdowns in a 27-10 victory over Lumberton.

Eddie Ray Ward of West Sabine had 214 yards and three scores on 38 carries in a 27-12 victory over Hemphill.

Wellington's Wesley McKnight carried 19 times for 263 yards and three scores in a 45-26 victory over Amarillo Highland Park.

Chris Smith of Paducah carried 37 times for 235 yards and five touchdowns in a 40-28 victory over Knox City. Smith also intercepted two passes.

Red Jones of Gilmer carried 19 times for 243 yards and three touchdowns in a 55-6 victory over White Oak.

Myles Miller of Hawkins passed for 330 yards and three scores in a 28-22 victory over Bullard.

Whitehouse reserve quarterback Nathaniel Moran entered the game in the second quarter and completed 20 of 26 passes for 251 yards and two touchdowns. The effort boosted Whitehouse to a 20-18 victory over Athens.

Brandon Tarver of North Mesquite carried 26 times for 268 yards and three touchdowns in a 38-14 victory over Duncanville.

Mike Adams of Arlington Sam Houston carried 24 times for 202 yards, but the Texans lost, 31-26, to Arlingdon.

Randy Rice of Carrollton Turner carried 19 times for 207 yards and four touchdowns in a 45-3 victory over Richardson Pearce.

Friendswood quarterback Aaron Stanley accounted for 436 yards and four touchdowns in a 36-21 victory over Channelview. Stanley ran for 151 yards and two scores and passed for 285 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Corey Patterson of Houston Northbrook led his team on offense and defense during a 39-14 victory over Houston Memorial. Patterson passed for 256 yards and a touchdown and ran for two more scores. He also intercepted two passes.

Hadnot has SWC honor

AUSTIN (AP) - Big Butch is back.

Texas running back Butch Hadnot, apparently recovered from a deep foot bruise suffered in the Auburn game Sept. 21, ran for a career-high 166 yards on 24 carries and two touchdowns in the Longhorns' 23-15 victory over Texas Tech on Saturday.

For his performance, the Kirbyville sophomore was selected as The Associated Press' offensive player-of-the-week in the Southwest Conference.

Baylor safety Michael McFarland, a junior from Jasper, was named

SWC defensive player after intercepting two passes in helping the Bears beat Arkansas 9-5.

McFarland's second interception came at the Baylor 1-yard line with 3:01 left in the game. He also had six tackles, four unassisted.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm writing about "Secret Saver in Conn.," who stashed $35,000 during her 46 years of marriage and is afraid to tell her husband. You told her, "Money belongs in a bank where it is safe from fire and theft, and can generate interest."

Well, Ann, I put a pencil to this one and here's what I discovered: Had "Secret Saver" banked her money at 5 percent, she would have $124,642 today.

Say it again. It's not smart to put your money under the mattress.—R.L., Orland Park, Ill.

DEAR R.L.: Thanks for your good letter. You were close, but no cigar.

Peter R. Frye, senior vice president of LaSalle National Trust, Chicago, wrote as follows:

"Secret Saver" is an excellent example of what can be lost in compounding interest rates when money is hidden at home instead of doing something much safer and more creative.

"Alternative A: 'Secret Saver' probably added to her fund each year. Assuming she contributed $760.87 ($35,000 divided by 46 years) at the end of each year and earned a 5 percent (after-tax or tax-deferred) yield, she would have a balance today of $128,347.41.

"Alternative B: Assume 'Secret Saver' started with $35,000 in an investment 46 years ago and averaged a 5 percent (after-tax-deferred) return for 46 years. In 1991, she would have a balance of $330,199.04.

"Those who read your column will readily appreciate the value of compounding interest rates. It should also make them aware of the benefits of prudent financial guidance."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband died in 1988. Our marriage was wonderful.

Ten months ago, I started to see a nice gentleman who has since proposed. I have put off giving him an answer because I felt that I was being unfaithful to my deceased husband.

Yesterday while cleaning out a closet, I came across an old wallet that belonged to my late husband. It contained two pictures of our children and two photos of a married woman co-worker. The pictures were about 15 years old. His co-worker was married then and still is. I liked her a lot.

Why would a happily married man carry two pictures of a married co-worker? In the 35 years of our marriage, he never carried my picture in his wallet.

I am deeply hurt and have come to the conclusion that he had an affair with this woman. With this discovery came the feeling that I no longer have to be tied to my husband, and I have accepted my friend's marriage proposal.

My children think I am replacing their father and they are unhappy. Part of me feels that if their father had a secret affair, it should remain a secret. The other part of me says I should tell my children so they would not be no better about my remarrying.—Freedom Anonymous

DEAR FREEDOM: Say nothing to sully your husband's image. You need not drag your discovery into the picture to justify your remarriage.

After three years of being alone, your children should be thrilled that you have someone with whom you can share your life.

When planning a wedding, who pays for what? Who stands where? "The Ann Landers Guide For Brides" has all the answers. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562/

Shower given in honor of Debbie Gabel

Debbie Gabel, Oct. 19 bride of Chris Gabel was honored Saturday with a bridal shower at the E.B. Black House.

Guests were greeted by the honoree, Von Gallagher, mother of the bride and June Gabel, mother of the groom.

Brenda Minchew invited guests to register while the hostesses served cookies, mints, sausage balls, a fruit plate and breads.

The refreshment table was decorated in teal, dusty rose, mauve with a crystal and silver service. A wicker basket with accent colors and pink carnations with teal ribbons decorated the registry.

Snacks earn good marks for children

BALTIMORE (AP) - Some people may look down upon snacks, but when it comes to youngsters, in-between-meal-munching plays a vital role in providing the calories children need, a pediatric clinical nutritionist says.

"Kids burn up calories at an enormous rate - they're active, they don't sit down for a minute - and their bodies are getting bigger," says Amy Kovar of the Children's Center at Johns Hopkins University Hospital. "They simply need more calories than adults to compensate for their growth."

Kovar says children don't get all the calories they need at sit-down meals. "Kids have short attention spans and small stomachs," she says. "Sitting at the table for long periods of time to consume the volume of food we as adults do, that's very difficult for them. They do far better eating for shorter periods and having less food more often."

Snacks can provide about one-fourth of the calories a child needs each day, she says. "To get the calories their growing bodies need, toddlers need to snack at least two or three times per day. For school-age children, one or two snacks are probably sufficient."

Kovar suggests the following snacks: fresh fruit, unbuttered popcorn, crackers and low-fat milk, a slice of pizza. Other snack ideas: - Create a dip by combining a carton of low-fat plain yogurt with a small can of drained crushed pineapple packed in its own juice. - Spread low-fat cheese on whole-wheat crackers. - Stuff a celery stick with peanut butter.

Hints From Heloise

SUBSTITUTE COFFEE FILTER
Dear Heloise: I have a hint that I discovered by accident. One morning last week I discovered we ran out of coffee filters. I didn't know what I was going to do because I needed my morning coffee!

So, I took two napkins and folded them to fit into the filter basket and it worked. The coffee tasted fine. It works when you are in a pinch. — Margaret Calvert, Philadelphia, Pa.

DUTCH APPLE PIE
Dear Heloise: When making a Dutch apple pie, in place of the crumb mixture, sprinkle enough white cake mix (straight from the box) on top of the pie to evenly coat and bake as usual. It's quick and delicious. — Jill Nichols, Stryker, Ohio
A dash of brown sugar or cinnamon would be an added treat. — Heloise

Public Notice

On October 18, 1991, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to add a new optional service offering called SmartTrunk™ Service. The application has been assigned Tariff Control No. 10687.

SmartTrunk Service provides access between the customer's premises and the serving Southwestern Bell central office for circuit-switched voice and data communications. This communication capability is provided where facilities are available using Integrated Services Digital Network architecture. ISDN services available with SmartTrunk Service use Primary Rate Interface (PRI) technology. SmartTrunk Service requires PRI ISDN compatible Private Branch Exchange (PBX) customer provided equipment registered under FCC Part 68 Rules. SmartTrunk Service employs a 1.544 Mbps facility (denoted as SmartTrunk Interface) typically divided into twenty-three B channels and one D channel. B channels are used for voice and data communications while the D channel provides out-of-band signaling.

If approved by the Commission, the rates for each SmartTrunk Interface facility will be $1,110 per month under a 36-month service contract or $1,010 per month under a 60-month service contract. The proposed rate for the use of the central office varies from $12.25 up to $18.90 per month for each B channel depending on the rate group classification which is determined by the customer's location. Southwestern Bell estimates revenue of $2.8 million from this offering during the first year.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should file comments regarding this application with the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256. The telecommunications device for the deaf (TDD) number is (512) 458-0221.

Southwestern Bell Telephone

If the air conditioning were turned off in the Houston Astrodome, the entrance of warm humid air could cause it to rain in the stadium.

ANNOUNCING...

I will be closing my practice here in Hereford effective Dec. 13, 1991. Anyone wishing to pick up their records, please do so before the effective date.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive insertions, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN.
1 day per word	15	3.00
2 days per word	26	5.20
3 days per word	37	7.40
4 days per word	48	9.60
5 days per word	59	11.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch, $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALIS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion in case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

NEW YORK (AP) - Glamour magazine pronounced Anita Hill one of "1991's bright spots."

The law professor whose sexual harassment allegations nearly cost Clarence Thomas a seat on the Supreme Court was among 10 women the magazine honored Monday. Hill was praised for "sacrificing her privacy to speak out for women."

The magazine said it chose women who were "beacons of integrity, humor, guts and grace in an often graceless and cold-blooded world."

Also recognized: Rep. Barbara Boxer, D-Calif.; Johnnetta Cole, president of Spelman College in Atlanta; Washington Mayor Sharon Pratt Dixon; actress Jodie Foster; video producer Callie Khouri; New York Times columnist Anna Quindlen; Texas Gov. Ann Richards; broadcast correspondent Cokie Roberts; and breast-cancer video creator Lilly Tartikoff.

A special honor went to Army Maj. Marie T. Rossi, a Desert Storm pilot who died in a helicopter accident.

The women, chosen by a panel of 29 distinguished women and the editors of the magazine, will be featured in Glamour's December issue.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: Can taking medicine cause you not to have a good erection? I had a bad attack of migraine headache, so I'm now on propranolol, 120 mg a day. I also have a disk problem and take Naprosyn for it.

I cannot keep an erection for very long, so my wife gets little or no pleasure. When this problem started, I asked my doctors and all they say is "maybe."

Our sex life is good only for me and not for her. We have been married 35 years and we are in our 50s, but still enjoy sex. I feel, in time, this could ruin our marriage. We have always had a good sex life before.

I have not had any more migraines, but my doctor says I must always take the propranolol.

DEAR READER: Yes, a number of medicines may cause impotence, and propranolol (Inderal) is one of them. It is used to treat high blood pressure, certain heart problems and also migraine headaches. The larger the dose a person takes, the more likely it will cause impotence or some degree of impotence. You are taking a large dose.

There are many other causes of impotence too, so I can't tell you unequivocally that that is your problem, but it is No. 1 on my list of suspects.

You should not stop your medicine without your doctor's concurrence. But you should know that recent reports suggest that one aspirin a day may also prevent migraine headaches. There are also other medications that can be used (but avoid large doses of beta-blockers such as propranolol). Many doctors feel that if you have only an occasional attack, you should just treat the attacks when they occur. Diet is also a factor.

You have a double problem, so I'm sending you Special Report 85, Headache and Facial Pain, as well as Special Report 70, Doing Something About Impotence. Others who want either report can send $3 for each, along with a self-addressed, stamped (52 cents) envelope, to THE HEALTH LETTER/70 or 85, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077.

I don't know the condition of your back and what it might be doing, but damage to nerves that control the erection process can also cause impotence. If your doctor lets you change headache medicines, and your impotence continues, you will need an evaluation for impotence as described in the report I'm sending you.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have Raynaud's disease and have terrible trouble with my hands. My fingers turn so blue they look black when my hands get a little cold. My family doctor has prescribed Procardia and advised me to wear warm heated gloves, never let my hands get cold and massage my fingers to push blood to the ends of my fingers. I am not to drink coffee, tea and cokes — no smoking — nothing that slows blood flow. What would you recommend? I don't want to lose my fingers. My fourth finger on my left hand is already in bad condition.

DEAR READER: Raynaud's disease is caused by constriction of the arteries in response to cold. Usually, when the hands are involved, the fingers turn very white first, later blue and finally red.

Your doctor has given you good advice. You need to keep your entire body warm and avoid exposure to cold or touching cold objects. Procardia does help in about 50 percent of cases. Keep your feet warm and your head covered and warm if you are in the cold.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

- All 172 pages in full color
- Each page measures a large 15 x 11 inches
- Presents the entire state in stunning detail
- Appendices and specialty maps of many different features

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Woman's Health

Pregnancy affects your body in many ways. Not only do your size and shape change, but also your body systems adjust to support the growing fetus and your emotions may become unsteady as hormone levels increase.

Every woman's physical and emotional response to pregnancy is slightly different. But many women experience similar problems. Here are some common complaints:

Backache: Over the course of pregnancy, your uterus increases to 1,000 times its original size. Your growing abdomen along with a change in posture can put strain on your back. To help lessen back pain, wear low-heeled shoes, avoid lifting heavy objects, and sleep on your side with your lower leg bent and your upper leg supported on a pillow.

Constipation: About half of all pregnant women are bothered by constipation. Changes in hormones and pressure on the rectum from the uterus are thought to cause this problem. Hemorrhoids, or varicose (swollen) veins of the rectum may accompany constipation. Drink plenty of fluids, eat a high-fiber diet, and exercise regularly to help prevent or relieve these conditions.

Skin Changes: Changes in skin texture and pigmentation are among the visible problems of pregnancy. In some women, brownish, uneven blotches occur around the eyes and over the nose and cheekbones. These marks are called chloasma. Many women also notice a dark line running down the center of their abdomen and stretch marks on their abdomen and breasts. Most of these skin changes fade or disappear after delivery.

Varicose Veins: Pressure from the weight of your growing uterus can put extra stress on your veins, causing varicose, or swollen, veins, usually in the legs. To help prevent varicose veins or relieve the aching that often results from this condition elevate your legs whenever possible, avoid sitting or standing for long periods of time, and wear support stockings.

Breathing Problems: Often toward the end of pregnancy, the uterus has grown so large that it presses the diaphragm (the muscle that aids in breathing) up close to the lungs. This leaves less room for the lungs to expand, which may lead to a shortness of breath. Although you may feel as if you are not getting enough air, don't worry, the fetus will have plenty of oxygen.

Mood Swings: As your body produces more hormones, you may experience emotional changes. These mood swings are normal, especially during the first three months. Don't blame yourself if you suddenly become short-tempered or burst into tears, the causes of these outbreaks are beyond your control.

The average 18-month-old little girl will be just about twice as tall and five times as heavy at the age of 18.

Tips on avoiding dinning disaster

ELK GROVE VILLAGE, Ill. (AP)

- If you dread eating out with the kids, here are some tips to help avoid potential disasters from Healthy Kids magazine:

- First give some thought to where and what to eat.

- Ask the waiter if children can share a meal or if a la carte service is available.

- Hold the bread and pre-dinner munchies. Request that drinks be served with the main course. Let your child have a roll, or split one between two children. Then ask the waiter to remove the breadbasket (same for the relish tray). This eliminates the "don't eat so much bread, you'll spoil your appetite" arguments.

- Don't insist that your child try a new food when eating out.

- Request that your child's food be served in a way that he'll eat it, for example, ask for a hamburger with the garnish on the side. Ask for salads, vegetables and gravy on the side.

- Skip casseroles and combination foods unless you're sure your child likes all the ingredients. Better bets are simply prepared foods like chicken, baked potatoes and rice.

- Don't forget that eating out with the kids is fun. Children should know that when the family eats out, they can look forward to a special treat - fried chicken, soda or ice cream for dessert.

When picking a restaurant, select one that offers the greatest variety in food types and preparations: cafeterias, smorgasbords and buffets provide that variety and there's no wait. Steakhouses and fish restaurants offer a more limited variety but do have selections that are favorites of kids. Be sure to ask if "kid-sized" portions are available.

Fast-food restaurants are probably your child's first choice when the family is eating out. Expanded menus now provide healthful lean hamburger, salads, baked potatoes, chili, low-fat milk and whole-grain rolls. The playgrounds available in many are an added treat.

Pizza parlors offer a nutritious and quick dinner. Go easy on meat and anchovy toppings to keep fat and sodium low.

During the Middle Ages, the year began at various dates in different times and places. In England it was not until 1751 that January was restored to its place as first month, as it had been during the Roman era.
