2 wounded in shooting

Two men were wounded in a double shooting early Monday in Hereford police said charges are pending in the incident. The investigation has been turned over to the Deaf Smith County District Attorney's office.

The shooting occurred at about 12:11 a.m. Monday at 508 Jackson, and stemmed from an argument over a keg of beer that was alleged to have been stolen from a party at another location. Two brothers were taken by private vehicle to Deaf Smith General Hospital for treatment of wounds they sustained.

John Puente, 19, was shot in the lower right leg. He was treated at DSGH and released.

Richard Puente, 26, underwent surgery at DSGH for a wound in the left abdomen and a wound in the buttocks. He remains at DSGH.

The Puente brothers gave police a rural address in Deaf Smith County.

When officers arrived at the scene they discovered a third victim: Robert Lancon, 18, who lives at 508 Jackson. Lancon told police he had been struck by a vehicle during the altercation. He was taken by Hereford EMS to DSGH, where he was treated for minor injuries and released

Cellular One begins service in Hereford area

A second cellular telephone company has announced it will bring cellular telephone service to the Hereford area.

Cellular One of Amarillo began service to the Hereford area today, according to Danny McWhorter, vice president of Cellular One.

"We are extremely pleased to be the first to bring cellular service to the Hereford area," said McWhorter. "We were the first to bring cellular service to the Panhandle in 1987 and today we are the leader in providing cellular in the area.'

McWhorter said Cellular One had more cell sites, radio channels, telephone trunks and clearer signals than its competitors.

"Our technology is based on digital microwave transmission, which provides a much clearer signal than outdated land telephone lines," said McWhorter. "Technology is advancing at a faster and faster rate, and cellular technology is growing more rapidly than any other segment of the telecommunications industry."

Cellular One has been providing service to the Hereford area for the past two years with service from a cell near Amarillo. Cellular One's coverage in the Deaf Smith County area will expand in the near future with a cell site near Vega going on

900 jobs lost in newspaper buyout Dallas Times Herald ceases publication

Herald appeared nowhere today but some of its features arrived on breakfast tables in The Dallas Morning News.

The Morning News printed some comics and a syndicated columnist previously licensed to the Times Herald and increased its press run of 400,000 by 135,000 to reach former subscribers of the failed competitor.

The Times Herald, burdened by debt and declining advertising and circulation revenue, published its last edition Monday and sold most of its assets to the parent company of The Morning News for $55 million. About

Copies of the Times Herald, with its 3-inch high headline "Goodbye, Dallas!" were instant collector's items.

Times Herald publisher John Buzzetta blamed the recession and mounting debt for bringing an end to its 112 years.

The newspaper accrued millions in debt through two changes of ownership in the past five years. In addition, the value of the Times Herald's real estate declined nearly 35 percent in the late 1980s, county records showed.

DALLAS (AP) - The Dallas Times 900 full-time workers were laid off. said the paper should have taken more chances journalistically to fight the economic decline.

> 'When your back is against the wall, you have to take enormous risks to get people to talk about it, to raise its profile," said Burgin, who left the paper in 1988 and now edits four suburban papers in the San Francisco

The Morning News circulation department hustled to take on the additional task of serving former Times Herald subscribers. The newspaper, survivor of a 106-year rivalry, will be delivered to Times A former editor, David Burgin, Herald subscribers until their subscriptions to the failed paper would have expired.

The Morning News said it would hold its newsstand and subscription prices but increase advertising rates 15 percent. The rate change will take weeks or months to pull in more revenue because contracts with many advertisers already exist, company officials and analysts said.

In the short term, the paper will not be generating revenue to offset higher printing and paper costs, said Robert Decherd, chairman of A.H. Belo Corp., owner of The Morning News.

"1992 is likely to be a tough year from an operating point of view but the long term implications are obviously very positive," he said.

Investors apparently took a long-term view of the company Monday. Belo's stock rose $4.125 to $28.75. Nearly 175,000 shares changed hands compared to an average daily trading volume of 20,000 for Belo stock.

The company also owns small papers in suburbs of Dallas and Fort Worth and TV stations in five cities, including Dallas and Houston. The Morning News and the suburban papers accounted for 56 percent of Belo's $439 million in revenue last "Newspapers in a market by themselves can be worth easily 50 percent more than a dominant newspaper in a competitive market," said John Morton, a newspaper industry analyst.

In addition to gaining a lock on the Dallas newspaper market, Decherd said Belo's purchase of Times Herald assets will save the company future capital expenditures.

Belo bought the Times Herald's building and facilities, including presses, trucks and computer systems. Belo also has options to purchase two parking lots and a warehouse owned by the Times Herald. The company declined to buy a gas station the Times Herald owned, a spokeswoman honor to an impressive list of she wants to be a Lady Longhorn. accomplishments: a scholarship to play volleyball at the University of Texas.

Cornelius, who as a senior this past season helped the Hereford volleyball team to a second consecutive berth in the Region I-4A finals, gave UT an oral commitment during an official visit to the Austin campus this past weekend. An oral commitment is not binding, and nothing is official until she signs a letter of intent (signing

"I think the most important thing that had an impact on me was that everything in the program and the university just clicked with my personality," she said. "I always favored (playing at) Texas a little bit more than other universities just because I've always wanted to play

"When I went down there, I knew it was a prestigious university," she probably won't be an immediate star.

Shantel Cornelius added one more day is Feb. 5), but she sounds sure said. "They're known for almost every program--academically and athletically--that is available, so it was just a matter of whether or not I fit in."

> Did she fit in? "Definitely."

Texas' volleyball program is the class of the Southwest Conference and the Lady Longhorns are often one of the best teams in the nation. They also have some of the best athletes in the nation, and Cornelius knows she

"I know I probably won't see as much playing time at Texas during the first couple of years than I probably would have at the other universities that I was being recruited by," she said. "But I think I'm up to the challenge."

Cornelius had already visited Texas Tech, Louisiana State and Rice, and she canceled visits to the University of Houston and the University of Washington after deciding to go with Texas.

Varsity cagers fall Saturday

Just about every basketball team which calls Hereford home played on either Saturday or Monday.

Both of HHS' varsity squads played in consolation finals of tournaments on Saturday after winning their games Friday. Unfortunately both lost: the girls fell 59-39 to Nazareth in the Canyon Classic, and the boys dropped one to Littlefield, 61-52, in the Denver City Invitational.

Coach Jimmy Thomas summed up the boys' loss in six words: "Played hard, pressed well, shot bad." The Herd shot just 20-of-59 from the field for 33 percent, while the Wildcats shot 25-of-44 for about 55 percent.

Thomas was impressed by his team's press. "We pressed the dog out of a very quick team, we just didn't shoot the ball very well."

Hereford led the whole way, Thomas said, leading at the end of each of the first three quarters 15-10, 29-28 and 45-44, but the Herd's shooting woes hit hard in the fourth quarter, when they were outscored 17-7. Included in the miscues were three missed free throws on the front end of one-and-ones.

Leo Brown led the Herd with 19 points, and Richard Sanderson was right behind with 17.

The girls' team was without its best player, Jennifer Bullard, after the senior wing sprained her ankle against Palo Duro on Friday. Sophomore post Misty Dudley did an admirable job in Bullard's absence with 19 points and ten rebounds. having the "best game of her varsity career," coach Dickie Faught said.

Despite Dudley's effort, Nazareth's two six-foot posts, Peggy Huseman and Jill Pohlmeier were too much for the Lady Whitefaces, as Huseman had 21 points and Jill Pohlmeier 20.

Hereford was down only 21-17 at halftime and 40-30 after the third quarter, but Naz pulled away with a 19-9 spurt in the fourth led by Pohlmeier with eight points and Huseman with five.

'We didn't have the inside strength to keep up with Nazareth," Faught

"Our 22 turnovers was our major problem," he said. "Plus not having Jennifer. She does a lot of our ballhandling against a pressure defense, and without her in there, we didn't handle it as good as we need to handle it."

Faught said he is hopeful that Bullard will be able to play a little tonight when the Herd plays Frenship at 6:30 p.m. in Wolfforth.

All three of the freshman teams played Saturday, while the boys' sophomore team and all eight junior high teams played Monday.

In the second half: "We took the ball to the basket aggressively. We out-rebounded, we played aggressively, and capitalized on their mistakes.

> 'The result of arbitration, to the dismay of the small-market clubs, is it imposes large-market financial judgments on all the other clubs," Vincent said. In the category of "a really juicy rumor," the Yankees apparently brought up the name of Jose Canseco in trade talks with Oakland. But it's days in September for drug abuse, very unlikely the Yankees could come up with enough players to satisfy the A's.

Vincent warned the owners that the next national TV contract might pay each club $5 million less per season. But for now, the money is there and the teams continue to spend. The average salary in baseball in 1992 will be about $1 million.

The Angels had offered Joyner a four-year deal for $15.75 million, but there were problems with payout clauses and the deal started to fall apart about a week ago.

"It's the toughest decision I've ever made," an emotional Joyner said. "I enjoyed my time with the Angels-that's where Wally's World started."

Joyner arrived on the scene in 1986, just down the road from Disneyland, and hit 22 homers with 100 RBIs as a rookie, becoming an instant fan favorite. The next season, he hit a career-high 34 homers and drove in 117 runs.

But his numbers tailed off after that and he had some bitter arbitration battles with the Angels. Last season, Joyner made $2.1 million and hit .301 with 21 homers and 96 RBIs.

Pardee said he wasn't sure how Moon's arm would respond in practice this week.

The physical pain, however, may not have been as bad as the emotional pain suffered in the previous two weeks for Moon, who has been the target of ugly personal abuse in the form of racial slurs after the Oilers lost at Pittsburgh and then at home against Philadelphia, delaying the title clinching.

"The things people have been saying have been hard to believe," Moon said. "They have accused me of doing cocaine. They have accused me of doing crack. I've had people

Moon says the slurs and accusations have never come directly to his face, but he hears them through the media, from telephone calls to his Houston-based charity foundation. His wife, Felicia, also has been the target of some while watching games at the Astrodome, he said.

In what some health officials call a "quiet epidemic," an estimated 830,000 Texans may go blind, require amputations, need kidney dialysis-even die--because many fail to early signs of diabetes.

Dora McDonald, in the Texas Department of Health's (TDH) Chronic Disease Prevention Program, explained that t diabetes' first symptoms are so subtle, and public understanding of the disease so s cant, that perhaps only half of those afflicted with diabetes have been diagnosed as having the disease.

"Even the number of fatalities is clusive, since a death certificate may name kidney failure or other complication as the cause of death, without mention of underlying diabetes," she said. At TDH, McDonald is staff director of the Texas Diabetes Council.

Diabetes Council urge all Texans to learn more about diabetes, its symptoms and treatment.

She explained that diabetes is the most common cause of kidney disease, the leading cause of blindness and the foremost cause of non-traumatic limb amputation. The likelihood of suffering a stroke or heart disease doubles for a person who has diabetes.

Warning signs of diabetes are: abnormally request urination, unusual thirst, fatigue, sudden weight loss, blurred vision and slow-healing wounds or infections.

McDonald stresses that anyone at any age can have diabetes. However, people who are 40 or older, those who are obese, or who have family histories of diabetes are especially at risk. Some research suggests that American Indians, Hispanics and blacks have a higher tendency than whites to develop diabetes.

Anyone who suspects he or she had diabetes should ask a physician for a blood sugar test. If the test indicates diabetes, the doctor can prescribe medication, if needed, and design a diet to help control blood sugar levels.

"In most cases," McDonald said, "the patient can, by following the said. "But only about half of the otherwise active life. Failure to do

Ordinarily, anything over 50,000 IU of vitamin A on a daily basis will cause vitamin A toxicity in adults. But beta-carotene is converted to vitamin A so slowly that this does not usually happen. However, it will produce an orange-yellow discoloration

Remember you are get-ting vitamin A from other food sources as well, which makes things a bit more chancy with your pound of car-rots intake on a daily basis.

Smith takes witness stand

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)
- William Kennedy Smith took the witness stand in his own defense today, telling for the first time publicly his story of being "picked up" by a seductive woman who "sort of snapped" when he called her the wrong name during consensual sex.

"This woman's a real nut," Smith testified he had told his cousin, Patrick Kennedy, after the woman became angry March 30.

Smith, appearing pale, took the stand at 8:57 a.m. EST. He was wearing a navy blue blazer, white shirt, dark tie and beige pants.

His appearence came after Circuit Judge Mary Lupo granted a defense motion agreeing to sharply restrict any cross-examination aimed at making past sexual allegations against Smith a trial issue.

After about 45 minutes of questioning by his own attorney, Smith replied "No, I did not," when asked by prosecutor Moira Lasch if he had forcibly raped the woman.

The 30-year-old Jupiter, Fla., woman testified emotionally over two days last week that Smith, 31, abruptly tackled her, then raped her on the Kennedy estate lawn after inviting her to see his family's mansion.

Smith, giving a sharply different version of events at the estate, told the prosecutor he doesn't know why the woman would report he raped her, grilled Smith about how the woman received bruises and a rib injury, as two doctors testified for the state last week.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)
William Kennedy Smith took the tness stand in his own defense lay, telling for the first time threatening to "destroy my family, destroy my career, possibly send me to jail for 15 years. I don't know why she would do this."

Fifteen years is the maximum term under Florida law for second-degree sexual battery, but sentencing guidlines limit the sentence to 4 1/2 years for first offenders.

Smith said he "felt sorry" for his accuser, but "the issue here is I'm innocent."

He said the woman warned him March 30 that "you're the one who'd better worry. You raped me, Michael."

Smith testified while having sex on the lawn, he also used an erroneous name, saying he called the woman "Cathy." He didn't explain his mistake, but Smith's former steady girlfriend is named Cathie Aime.

"She sort of snapped," Smith testified. "She told me to get the hell off of her and she hit me with her hand." He quoted the woman as saying at another point: "And you don't even want me."

Mrs. Lasch began cross-examination by questioning Smith about his size, saying "you're a big man, aren't you?" which he agreed to. She then grilled Smith about how the woman received bruises and a rib injury, as two doctors testified for the state last

The medical school graduate offered a range of possibilities about she got the bruises and added, "I do know that she didn't get them from me"

Earlier, as Black began by asking him about his background, Smith told the jury, "I'm very nervous." He talked about his medical career and his family, including his "Uncle Teddy," Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

He testified that he met the woman at the Au Bar nightspot, bought her a drink, then danced increasingly closer with her, "when we were kissing on the dance floor and we were very close together."

"I was feeling that I had gotten picked up," Smith claimed.

Smith said the woman offered him a ride back to the estate, where she made some strange comments such as "I've been here before" and called him "Michael" and asked to see his driver's license.

But the woman readily agreed to go to the beach with him, he said. "I thought we were going to have sex," Smith said.

Anderson coming home for Christmas

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) -It was something Terry Anderson could only dream about after his kidnapping on March 16, 1985: Christmas at home with relatives and friends

After six Christmases chained inside a dark cell in Lebanon, Anderson is on his way home for the holidays.

Many of Anderson's relatives were waiting for him in New York today, ready to give their long-missing loved one a welcome he'll never forget.

"I'm coming home," an excited Anderson blurted out over the telephone from Germany when his cousin answered a surprise wake-up call at his Long Island home early Monday.

"It was beautiful to hear his voice no matter what time it was," said the cousin, Tom Anderson, a New York City police sergeant. "It felt so good to say "see ya tomorrow, Terry."

"I'm just going to give him a big, old-fashion Anderson family hug and not let go," said Tom Anderson at his home in Valley Stream, N.Y.

Tom Anderson, his wife, Susanne, and their three children, planned to join other Anderson relatives and friends in a rousing welcome.

Anderson's brother Jack, his sister Judy and the Rev. Lawrence Jenco, LOS ANGELES (AP) - Former Beatle George Harrison sued a supermarket tabloid that he claims depicted him as a Nazi sympathizer.

The libel lawsuit filed Monday in Superior Court seeks $200 million from The Globe.

An article in The Globe said Harrison paraded around his villa in England in a storm trooper's uniform and had a huge Nazi flag in his home, said his attorney, Bertram Fields.

"George deplores Nazism and Hitler and everything he stood for," Fields said.

Officials of the tabloid's parent company, Canada-based Globe Communications Corp., referred questions to the company's Chicago attorney, Paul Levy, who didn't return a telephone call Monday.

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) - a Catholic priest and former hostage, was something Terry Anderson were also expected to be on hand.

The former hostage, chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press, also was to visit AP headquarters today.

Anderson was freed by his Shiite Moslem kidnappers on Wednesday, and has spent the days since at the U.S. military hospital in Wiesbaden.

U.S. military hospital in Wiesbaden.

Doctors at the hospital say the 44-year-old ex-Marine survived his ordeal remarkably well. Anderson has jogged around the hospital grounds

Anderson says getting used to freedom has been more difficult than he expected. He has had difficulty coping with large crowds, for example, and is having to learn all over again that he has the right to make his own decisions.

The Wiesbaden hospital has been helping Anderson deal with these

Despite the occasional moments of uneasiness, Anderson says re-entering freedom has been "fantastic."

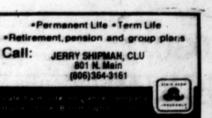

During his stay in Wiesbaden, Anderson has gotten together with old friends, made new ones and dodged the press on covert forays outside the hospital for pizza and sightseeing.

At sunset on Monday, Anderson got a festive farewell from about three dozen American schoolchildren who came to the Wiesbaden hospital to sing him Christmas carols.

The concert by the children of American' servicemen and women was a moving moment for Anderson.

Anderson listened from the hospital staircase, holding the hand of his 6-year-old daughter, Sulome. Her mother, Madeleine Bassil, held Sulome's other hand.

The three hugged, and Anderson sang along to "Silent Night."
