DSGH directors okay 2 doctors

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

Deaf Smith County Hospital District directors, in a regular monthly meeting Tuesday night, approved purchases of new equipment, called for the annual election of new board members, approved staff privileges for two new doctors, discussed formation of a strategic plan, authorized the administrator to initiate a quality systems group proposal, and heard routine reports.

The annual hospital board election is May 2, and there will be four seats up for election. The two-year terms of John Perrin, Boyd Foster, Dr. Stan Fry Jr., and Craig Smith will expire. The deadline for filing is April 2, only a week away.

On recommendation of the medical staff, the board approved credentials for Dr. Palani Subra Mani and Dr. Ranga Subra Mani. The husband-wife physician team will begin practice at South Plains Health Providers clinic April 1. He is a board certified surgeon and she is a certified pediatrician, but both will be listed as family practice physicians.

Radio/paging equipment and dictation equipment purchases were approved. A base station and one portable radio, at a cost of $13,795, will be purchased from WT Services. Pagers will be replaced as needed. The basic system is about 30 years old and parts are no longer available. The system recently failed and had to be patched up, reported Ron Rives, administrator.

New dictation equipment will cost $13,359 from Dictaphone. The present system is about 12 years old and employees were having problems with the units. This item was in the budget, while funds for the radio/paging system will come from cuts in other areas.

The operations report showed revenues of $704,313 for February and expenses of $413,373—a loss of $109,060. With tax revenues added, a profit of $18,514 was reflected. This compares to a profit of $76,571 a year ago.

A total of 131 patients were admitted for the month, compared to 119 a year ago. Inpatient days totaled 298, compared to 363 the same period last year. The average percentage of occupancy (on 40 beds) was 30.8 for the month, compared to 36.5 a year ago.

Emergency room visits were down, but increases were shown in radiology procedures, mammography and ultrasound and physical therapy treatments.

Directors held a lengthy discussion on a strategic plan proposal by Rives. Board president Raymond Schroeder said the district "needs some plan to follow and not just deal with problems and issues as they arise." Rives outlined a proposal from a firm which would help put a plan in place for about $29,000. Rives said there other options the hospital can use in developing a strategic plan which would be more cost effective. Director John Perrin suggested the board consider having a plan in place by the start of the next fiscal year in October.

The board briefly discussed a quality systems group proposal and authorized the administrator to initiate the program. A firm will be used to help implement the plan, at a cost of about $30,000 over a year's period but it is not on a contract basis. Rives would determine how much and how long the services are needed. The administrator explained that improvements are needed in the total quality management system for the benefit of the hospital, medical staff and the board. He said the current system is fragmented and there is a lack of education.

Rives told directors that the hospital's personnel handbook was being revised with major changes in the wage and salary plan and employee benefits. While days off for sick leave and holidays remain about the same, the accrual basis will be different.

The hospital will also initiate a merit-base pay system, which will be based on grade levels and performance evaluation. This would eliminate across-the-board pay hikes and each employee would be evaluated on the anniversary date of employment.

Rives also briefed the board on a recent ACLS course, the recognition of the hospital for top participation in the Lubbock Methodist MedNet program, plans for a Health Fair to be held May 16, the success of a women's forum being sponsored here, and the progress of the Physician Recruitment Task Force.

The administrator also urged directors to attend a community hearing next Monday night on the Hereford prison proposal.

All directors were present for the meeting—Schroeder, Perrin, Dr. Stan Fry Jr., Boyd Foster, Dr. Robert Bidwell, Craig Smith and Mal Manchec.

Mauro aide denies state paid while on campaign

AUSTIN (AP) - A top aide to Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro says he did not draw his state pay while working on the campaign of Democratic presidential hopeful Bill Clinton.

"I have no official role in the Clinton campaign, other than as a volunteer," aide Tucker Sutherland said in an interview Tuesday.

Sutherland is a special assistant to Mauro, who chairs Clinton's Texas campaign.

The Houston Chronicle reported in a copyright story Tuesday that the Clinton campaign paid $8,600 to Sutherland's company for organizing the candidate's South Texas tour on Nov. 25, 1991.

Sutherland said his son, Craig, did perform the Clinton campaign work on the South Texas tour, except for one event. The elder Sutherland said that he arranged for Clinton to attend a San Antonio Press Association function.

The Chronicle also reported that Sutherland used a state-owned, tax-exempt mobile telephone to call Clinton's national headquarters in Little Rock, Ark., and make other calls associated with Clinton's campaign.

Sutherland said he may have used his state phone while making arrangements for Clinton to meet the press association. He said he routinely reimburses the state for calls not related to government business.

"I've always repaid the state for my telephone calls," Sutherland said.

Mauro last week acknowledged what he said was mistaken use of state telephones to make more than 200 Clinton-related phone calls between Dec. 1, 1991 and March 11. He said he was reimbursing the state.

On Monday, Mauro also said he was reimbursing the state for flight time of a state aircraft that picked him up after a Clinton campaign event in Wichita Falls. Mauro said he had used the plane earlier for state business, and the pilot took it to Wichita Falls on his own to avoid bad weather.

Ron Calhoun, a Mauro spokesman, said today that Mauro's campaign funds had paid the State Aircraft

Pooling Board $190 for the flight. He said the office had just caught up on the paperwork and "found out the check was cut and sent on March 16."

The Texas Republican Party is calling for federal and state investigations of Mauro campaign activities.

Sutherland on Tuesday criticized a Houston Chronicle newsman over reports about Mauro's involvement with the Clinton campaign, saying the reporter "is out to smear Garry Mauro (and) Land Office employees."

Responding, Jack Loftis, Chronicle executive vice president, editor, said: "We have confidence in our reporter. The stories speak for themselves."

The Chronicle also reported Tuesday that another Land Office employee, Grace Garcia, may have worked on state government time to campaign for Clinton.

Ms. Garcia heads one of Mauro's environmental programs, but since March she has been a quarter-time employee. The rest of the time, she said, she does advance preparation work for the Clinton campaign.

On Monday, Dec. 16, 1991, the state was charged for three telephone calls to Texas Ms. Garcia made from the Ohio Democratic Party headquarters, the Chronicle reported.

Ms. Garcia said in an interview that she had taken annual leave that day, but she believed the calls were proper because she was checking on state business when calling her Austin office.

On Dec. 11, she was at work, but her state office telephone was used to make 1 1/2 hours of calls to Clinton campaign offices in Ohio, and other political offices, the Chronicle reported.

"I was surprised to see there were any calls. I was real surprised. I thought they were on my credit card," she said.

"The calls on the credit card were obviously a mistake," Ms. Garcia said, adding that she intended to repay the state.

Brown ready for New York

NEW YORK (AP) - Democrat Jerry Brown said today he would carry his Connecticut upset forward into critical New York, while a chastened Gov. Bill Clinton aimed new attacks at his lone rival and vowed to put his march toward the presidential nomination back on course.

"This is a cause, a movement, and it's picking up," Brown said on network morning shows after squeaking by with a 1-point win over Clinton in Tuesday's Connecticut primary. He again named civil rights leader Jesse Jackson as his choice as a running mate if he won the nomination.

Brown scored the narrowest of victories in Connecticut, 37 percent to 36 percent. President Bush again thrashed conservative commentator Patrick Buchanan, 67 percent to 22 percent. But when support for uncommitted and David Duke was added to Buchanan's votes, the protest vote against the president still represented one-third of the total.

"I'm pleased with the results," Bush told supporters in a telephone call. "This is a screwy year. Frankly, I'm much more optimistic now."

Clinton vowed to halt Brown's insurgency, aggressively attacking the former California governor's flat-tax proposal and promising "we'll roll up our sleeves" to regain momentum in the April 7 contests in New York, Wisconsin and Kansas.

Brown said he wanted the advice of New York Gov. Mario Cuomo, who has been on the outs with Clinton, on "how to save the cities," as the candidates focus on that state's primary.

The former California governor warned that Bush would win if Clinton became the Democratic nominee. "The only chance we have is to move Clinton aside and give our party the opportunity to challenge Bush with credibility, with honesty, with some imagination."

Despite Brown's surprising win, Clinton maintained his lead in the delegate race. Clinton won 22 delegates to Brown's 21 because of allocation rules, stretching his delegate lead over Brown.

Oklahoma authorities looking for 1,400 cattle

Oklahoma authorities are investigating the disappearance of a cowboy and 1,400 head of cattle that vanished from a pasture in southeast Oklahoma.

The cattle were owned in part by Barrett-Crofoot Cattle Company of Hereford, and companies in Tyler and Learned, Kan.

Oklahoma authorities said Ray Fox, a contract cattle feeder from Cancy, Okla., has been missing since last week. His car was found in a pasture 10 miles west of Tushka with bullet holes through the doors and blood stains inside. Officials said the foul play may have been rigged.

Tushka is about 40 miles southeast of Ada and 40 miles southwest of McAlester in southern Oklahoma.

Fox was wintering 1,900 head of cattle for Barrett-Crofoot and the others on leased pasture west of Tushka. About 1,400 head of cattle disappeared when Fox did. The cattle were to be picked up the next day.

Atoka County Sheriff Gary McCool said blood on the console, steering wheel and dash was human blood. McCool said the pattern of blood spattering and the small amount of blood in the car didn't jive with the bullet holes in the outside of the 1980 Lincoln Continental.

McCool said Fox told a Tushka banker the night before he vanished that he had received several threats. McCool said Fox gave the banker a tape and asked him to turn it over to authorities if anything happened to him. McCool said little information came from the tape.

WTRT to hold meeting Thursday

A catered barbecue dinner, drawings for more than $1,000 worth of door prizes, a "Flashback" to tunes of the past, and the election of three directors will highlight the 38th annual membership meeting of West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative, Inc., here Thursday.

The gathering will be held at the Bull Barn, beginning with registration and a barbecue beef and sausage dinner at 6 p.m. A business meeting will follow at 7 p.m.

Special entertainment will be provided by "Flashback," a quartet of instructors from the Hereford school system. Members of the Flashback include James MacLasky, Mike Bryant, Joe D. Rogers, and Don Summersgill.

Terms of three directors are expiring. Incumbent directors Carl Strauss of the Milo Center exchange, Ernest Brown, Westway, and Jimmie Cockerham of the Tharp exchange have all been nominated for reelection. Also nominated are Audie Freeman for Milo Center, Ernest Flood of Westway, and Rick Mayfield, Tharp exchange.

Director and employee service award recipients will also be recognized during the business meeting.

Today, the co-op has 3,047 connected telephones and 1,651 miles of line in operation in nine exchanges over an area of more than 3,000 square miles that also includes a portion of Bailey County.

Firemen extinguish all

Sometimes, Hereford volunteer firefighters wear heavy, special equipment and clothing. They use tools that cost thousands of dollars. And then, there's the water hose, which volunteer fireman Daniel Lemus used Tuesday to put out a burning box of Christmas ornaments at 132 Pecan.

NEW YORK - US Air Flight 405 had the correct runway speed and wing flap setting before it went down, killing 27 people, investigators said. That left unanswered the question of whether the jet's wings had been de-iced adequately.

SANTA FE, N.M. - Mom and her quadruplets are doing fine. But Julie Salazar has done more than give birth to four tiny sons struggling to survive. The 22-year-old unmarried woman, who had taken fertility drugs before getting pregnant, has stirred bitterness about a possible $1 million-plus Medicaid bill in a state trying to trim its welfare rolls.

ARLINGTON, Va. - The invitation that about 100 Washington journalists and educators got in the mail promised a speech by Miké Wallace of "60 Minutes," but that was a ruse. A door swung open and the guards stiffened, and author Salmon Rushdie walked through to make a case that the world is losing interest in protecting him from the threat of a million-dollar Iranian bounty for his death.

WASHINGTON - Nothing worries Western nuclear experts more than the safety at aging nuclear power plants in the former Soviet bloc, but they say forcing safety improvements from afar is frustrating and difficult.

SEOUL, South Korea - The humiliating defeat of President Roh Tae-woo's governing party in parliamentary elections and the rise of an upstart millionaire seem likely to permanently alter South Korea's political landscape.

BOSTON - While 72-year-old Jack Palance got to whoop it up as a cowboy in "City Slickers," 82-year-old Jessica Tandy was confined to reminiscing from a nursing home in "Fried Green Tomatoes." Two researchers point to the contrast in roles as proof of sexism and age bias in Hollywood.

Former fugitive feels real freedom

ATLANTA (AP) - For 17 years, James Sanders feared each knock on the door would be a cop waiting to take him back to the Georgia prison from which he escaped. Today he's a free man, his sentence commuted by the state's clemency board.

Embracing tearful family members Tuesday, Sanders said the decision by the state Board of Pardons and Paroles took "a big load off my shoulder."

"I feel good because I'm free. I'm going to make the best of my family, and my daughters and my grandkids - I can be with them and they can come see me, enjoy life," Sanders said.

Sanders, 42, walked away from a Louisville prison in 1975 and hopped a bus to Texas. He lived there quietly, establishing a reputation as a hard-working, law-abiding citizen, witnesses told the state Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Wayne Snow, chairman of the Board of Pardons and Paroles, said the life Sanders lived since his escape tipped the scales in his favor and persuaded the board to commute the sentence.

He could have been returned to prison or ordered to serve time on probation.

"We would be remiss not to take into account the life you have led for 17 years," Snow told Sanders.

Texas Rep. David Swinford, R-Dumas, had worked for Sanders' release and said justice was served Tuesday.

"We incarcerate criminals to try and get them to change their way - rehabilitate them," Swinford said. "...it's clear that James rehabilitated himself."

Sanders' freedom ended temporarily in January when the FBI traced a call from his home in Fritch. Without identifying himself, Sanders had called to ask how a "guy" who'd escaped from prison could clear his name.

When he escaped, Sanders had served about a year of an 11-year sentence for a series of burglaries near Augusta, in east Georgia, where he lived.

It also was a life of deception. Randy, the wife he married in Texas, said she knew little of Sanders' past and nothing about his troubles with the law until the FBI picked him up in January.

"I felt betrayed, devastated," she told reporters. But, twirling her wedding ring, she added, "It's for better or worse, and that's what we've been doing."

Bush's ax swinging on budget projects

WASHINGTON (AP) - When President Bush swung his budget axe at 68 projects he said were sheer wastes of money, it came down mostly on Democratic heads. But some Republicans got whacked too, including Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole.

Democrats claimed Bush was motivated by out-and-out partisanship, and they said they would fight. But Republicans on the hit list aren't likely to roll over easily in this election year either.

"I can't recall a president, this early in the election cycle, being this blatantly political," Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., said Tuesday. "I think it demeans the office."

"I'm not going to sit by and play dead," said Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, who saw five of his projects on the list.

White House spokeswoman Judy Smith said the list had nothing to do with partisan politics. "The president's goal was to cut wasteful government spending," she said Tuesday.

Forty-three of the 68 projects Bush proposed killing last Friday were sponsored by Democrats in the House or Senate for their home districts, according to House officials who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Nine projects were sought by Republicans, 12 were pursued jointly by Republicans and Democrats and four were either of benefit to no particular district or were initially of unknown sponsorship.

Bush said Friday that the 68 projects he proposed eliminating, worth $3.6 billion, give Americans "every right to be outraged and disgusted."

The projects run the gamut from a blackbird control project in North Dakota to manure disposal in Michigan to the promotion of arts and crafts in Hawaii.

Congress is likely to reject the proposed cuts, with House Democrats already promising to substitute projects that are favorites of Bush.

While using gentler language than their Democratic colleagues, even Republicans are refusing to rule out battling for projects they want to bring home.

"We're certainly willing to review the proposed ... (cuts) with the administration," said Dole's spokesman, Walt Riker. Dole's state, Kansas, had one project on the list.

Most of the savings would come from a plan Bush announced earlier to not spend $2.9 billion to buy two Seawolf submarines, a cut that would be a major blow to Dodd's state of Connecticut, where the craft are built.

Another big chunk would come from cutting $548 million in planned public housing construction. The president prefers to give vouchers to the poor to let them find their own homes.

A $200,000 grant to study weed, insect and disease control of lowbush blueberries in Maine was a project won by Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine and Rep. Olympia Snowe, R-Maine.

A $100,000 project to study mechanical tomato harvesting in Pennsylvania was a favorite of Rep. Joseph McDade, R-Pa., ranking Republican on the House Appropriations Committee.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, sponsored a $100,000 effort to breed improved mesquite and prickly pear.

Sanders told the board that marital problems with his first wife in Georgia left him under stress, and prompted the escape. Two or three months into the sentence, he said, his first wife sued for divorce and threatened to keep him from seeing their daughter Greta, then 3.

Sanders' daughter, now married and a mother, visited her father in Texas over Christmas for the first time since their separation. She promised to keep his new life secret.

Sanders also has an 11-year-old daughter with his second wife.

Greta Sanders attended Tuesday's hearing, as did Forrest Sanders, the brother Sanders hadn't seen since his escape.

Friends from Texas backed Sanders' bid for clemency with petitions they said were signed by 700 people.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My name is David and I have been struggling with alcoholism for quite some time. In the past few months I have come to terms with myself. I now know that I cannot drink. Not even a drop. I recently started an Alcoholics Anonymous group in Brockport, N.Y., to help myself and others with our dependency and denial problems. Two girls with whom I am friendly wrote the enclosed poem which says a great deal. I hope you think it is good enough to run in your column. These girls are 15. Thanks for all the good stuff, Ann.—David M.

DEAR DAVID: The poem is cool. I'm glad you sent it on. P.S. Please read tomorrow's column. It's a perfect example of what these girls have said so well.

An Effective Solvent

By Jennifer and Kelly
Alcohol is a product of amazing versatility. It will remove stains from designer clothes. It will also remove the clothes off your back. If by chance it is used in sufficient quantity, Alcohol will remove furniture from the home, Rugs from the floor, food from the table, Lining from the stomach, vision from the eyes, And judgment from the mind. Alcohol will also remove good reputations, Good jobs, good friends, happiness from children's hearts, Sanity, freedom, spouses, relationships, Man's ability to adjust and live with his fellow man, And even life itself. As a remover of things, alcohol has no equal.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I won't say I've had as much bad luck as "Mr. Nice Guy" who complained that he couldn't get a second date, but he's not alone.

Too often I've heard this on a first date, "I'm just coming off a bad relationship so don't be hurt if this is our only date." A month later, I see that same woman with a drunk, abusive jerk. I guess some women aren't capable of appreciating a decent, stable gentleman. Sparks may not fly on the first date, ladies, but a solid relationship can bloom, given enough love.

I don't have a steady girlfriend right now but I've developed strong friendships with some terrific women. One is a perfect companion for an evening of theater, another is great for ballgames. They are platonic friends and will probably remain so. Finally to the guy who wrote you, it's not just the wrong girls—maybe he tries too hard on the first date. If he's not a super-saver type, showing up with flowers and taking her to El Spiffio may be too much for a girl who's not used to dating Kevin Costner. A casual double date to a movie and a pizza would be just about right.—Nice Guy No. 2 in Illinois

DEAR ILLINOIS: Some nice guys DO finish last, but alas, too many nice girls sit home while the bimbos get asked out.

You're also right about overwhelming a girl on the first date. Unless you are certain she adores champagne and caviar, better start with spaghetti.

Gem of the Day: If you aren't content with what you have, be thankful for what you have escaped.

Council assembles Monday

Members of the Deaf Smith County Extension Homemakers Council met March 23 at the Deaf Smith County Library.

Me?" at 1:30 p.m. March 30 at the library. Council members were told of the new extension club which was recently formed, the Sunsetters. The club will meet at 7 p.m. April 9 at the Hereford Community Center. Beverly Harder, extension agent, will present a program on lawn care.

"Sew New" is the program planned at 7 p.m. April 28 at the Community Center.

Council members were informed of a contest sponsored by Pace Picante Sauce. Entry forms, which are available at the county extension office, must be turned in by May 30.

It was announced that members of Bippus Extension Homemakers Club are challenging all extension clubs to display craft articles at the district meeting planned in Amarillo.

The next council meeting and luncheon will be held at noon April 27. Delegate reports from the district meeting will be heard.

Family of the Year

The Ronnie Lance family has been chosen as the Deaf Smith County Library Family of the Year. This award is bestowed by the library staff in honor of the family that has most used the library. Boxers split at state Hereford boxers Jaime Ruiz (left) and Javier Buentello competed last week in the Texas Golden Gloves Tournament.

Local boxers make semis of Golden Gloves tourney

Jaime Ruiz and Javier Buentello, two boxers from the Hereford Boxing Club, lost in the semi-finals at the Texas Golden Gloves Tournament held last week in Fort Worth.

There were eight fighters in each class/bracket at the state tournament. Both Ruiz and Buentello won their first fights on Wednesday, then lost their second fights later in the week.

Buentello, a flyweight, won his first fight by retirement when his opponent, Raymondo Ortiz of Dallas, didn't come out for the third round.

"I knocked him down in the second round," Buentello said. "He got up, they gave him a standing eight count, then the bell rang. We were getting a breather, and the referee comes to the corner announcing the winner." Buentello lost to Juan DelGado of San Antonio on Thursday.

"I lost by decision, by points," he said. "The first and second round, I froze. He was a southpaw, and I couldn't figure out what to do. I caught a hook in the third round and got knocked down, but I bounced right back up."

Ruiz beat Juan Ezonba of Dallas. "I beat him with an unanimous decision," Ruiz said. "We were toe-to-toe the whole three rounds. It was back and forth."

Ruiz lost to Larry O'Shields of Houston in a split decision.

"I won the first round pretty easily. The second round could have gone either way. He got me in the third round. It was toe-to-toe, too."

It was so close a fight that O'Shields was telling people after the fight that he had lost, Buentello said. O'Shields told Ruiz in the lockerroom that he was surprised to get the decision.

Sandies blast Herd

The Hereford baseball team lost to Amarillo High 13-1 Tuesday in Amarillo.

The Sandies, now 13-2, scored three runs in the first, then broke out with six in the second. They got two more runs in both the third and fourth innings, and that was it. The game was called because of the 10-run rule after five innings.

Hereford falls to 3-9-1.

Ruben Ramos was the Herd's starting pitcher. He gave up 14 hits and 11 earned runs. Richard Rodriguez finished by getting one out in the fourth.

Jason Baskin pitched four innings for Amarillo High, and Ryan Kelly pitched the final inning. Hereford avoided the shutout when Fonzie Enriquez' single drove home Ralph Holguin, who had singled and stolen second base.

"We didn't play real well," Herd coach T.R. Sartor said. "They hit us real hard."

Hereford committed four errors. "When they're hitting the ball hard, you can't make any mistakes. We had a chance to make some plays and didn't," Sartor said.

The Herd will travel to Lubbock Saturday for a 1 p.m. doubleheader with Estacado. The Matadors were state-ranked before the season, Sartor said, but they have a 3-9 record.

JV tennis team takes 15 of 18 from Randall Hereford's junior varsity tennis team took 15 out of 18 matches from Randall High's JV Tuesday at Randall.

It was the second dual match of the year for the Herd JV. The team was swept by Amarillo High March 7, and coaches Rex Burke and Kristen Cassells were pleased with the improvement.

"At Amarillo High, we were on the menu; today, we ate at the head of the table," Burke said. He said better movement was the key to winning. "By getting to the ball earlier, we had better shots to option from."

"We improved a lot," Cassells said. "I was impressed by everybody's play--win or lose."

Hereford won six of the seven girls' singles matches: Taylor Sublett def. Chasity Mills, 6-3; Jessica Evers def. Kaisa Wilson, 6-1; Sherri Vermillion def. Nicole Swanson, 6-0; Larissa Kleuskens def. Sarah Warren, 6-3; Casie Urbanczyk def. Warren, 8-3; and Sarah Perrin def. Swanson, 6-3. Hereford's Nikki Reed lost to Kristi Mills, 6-3.

Hereford swept in girls' doubles: Reed/Evers def. C.Mills/Wilson, 8-2; Sublett/Traci Reiter def. Swanson/K.Mills, 8-2; Vermillion/Kleuskens def. C.Mills/Wilson; and Solomon/Taylor def. K.Mills/Swanson, 8-4.

Hereford's boys won four of five singles matches: Tom Jarecki def. Cory Miller, 6-1; Jay Moore def. Robert Branum, 7-5; Lupe Perez def. David Steinman, 8-3; and Israel Martinez def. Chris Warren, 6-3. Hereford's Justin McWethy lost to Jeff Scott, 6-4.

Hereford won two of three boys' doubles matches: Jarecki/Perez def. Miller/Branum, 8-2; and Martinez/McWethy def. Scott/Warren. Hereford's Moore/P.Hayes lost to Miller/Branum, 8-4.

The junior varsity will go with the varsity to Pampa April 4.

PONTE VEDRA, Fla. (AP) - If you want to play on the PGA Tour try enrolling at the University of Houston.

Houston was the numerical leader among the pros on the 1992 tour with 11 contestants. Wake Forest and Florida tied for second with 10 pros each.

There was a tie for third place between Texas and Oklahoma State, each with nine men represented.

Cornelius among nation's best

Hereford's Shantel Cornelius made the TGCA All-State team and was named to Volleyball Monthly's Fab 50 list of college recruits.

Cornelius named to Fab 50 recruiting list

Hereford volleyball star Shantel Cornelius was named to two prestigious lists recently. One is the Texas Girls' Coaches Association's all-state team, and the other is Volleyball Monthly magazine's "Fab 50"--a list of the nation's top college recruits.

Cornelius was first introduced to the Fab 50 when coaches who were recruiting her would refer to it to prove what a great recruiting classes they had signed--as in, "I've got three players from the Fab 50."

"I finally looked into it and found out what it was," Cornelius said. "I said, 'Okay, this'll be a goal of mine.'"

"It's not so much a goal, but an honor. It's an honor to be classified as a Fab 50 athlete."

Sweet 16 features several sweet reunions

By The Associated Press

The closely-knit community of college basketball will be conducting some interesting reunions this week when the NCAA tournament resumes. The Sweet 16 survivors have all kinds of ties.

In the East, No. 1 seed Duke goes against No. 4 Seton Hall at Philadelphia Thursday night, and for point guard Bobby Hurley it will be an emotional roller coaster. Hurley's brother Danny is a freshman reserve guard for Seton Hall. His high school buddies, Terry Dehere and Jerry Walker, are key players for the Pirates.

"I have a lot of feelings to put aside," said Hurley, hoping to direct Duke to the Final Four for the third year in a row.

Seton Hall knocked Duke out in the national semifinals in 1989, the year before Hurley got to Durham, N.C. The Blue Devils are 13-1 in tournament games since then, losing only to UNLV in the 1990 final.

In the other East pairing, coach Rick Pitino sends No. 2 seed Kentucky against No. 3 Massachusetts, coached by John Calipari. In 1988, when UMass was shopping for a new coach, alumnus Pitino recommended Calipari for the job.

Calipari inherited a program that had experienced 10 straight losing seasons and was known only for its most famous basketball alum, Julius Erving. After a 10-17 first year, the Minuteman improved to 17-14, then 20-13 last year and 30-4 this season.

One of the losses was a 90-69 blowout administered by Kentucky at Lexington after Calipari took his team on a 19-hour trip from the Great Alaskan Shootout to play the game. "They didn't see the real UMass," Massachusetts forward Tony Barbee said. "That's not an excuse. We're not a team that makes excuses. That's what happened."

While Kentucky is at Philadelphia for the East regionals, its home court in Lexington will be playing host to the Southeast Regional where No. 2 Oklahoma State faces No. 6 Michigan and No. 4 North Carolina takes on No. 1 Ohio State Friday night. The regional marks a return to Rupp Arena for Oklahoma State coach Eddie Sutton, who coached at Kentucky before the program went on probation.

If Sutton knows the territory at Rupp, imagine how comfortable No.

12 New Mexico State will be in the West regional against No. 1 UCLA. The game will be played Thursday in the Aggies' backyard at the Pit in Albuquerque, about 200 miles north of the State campus in Las Cruces, N.M.

"They're going to have 18,000 people there cheering their heads off against them," New Mexico State center Chris Hickman said. "Everybody in New Mexico will be on our side."

The other half of the West doubleheader sends No. 2 Indiana against No. 3 Florida State, one of four ACC teams still playing.

The unlikely survivors in the Midwest include two members of the same conference, Memphis State and Cincinnati from the Great Midwest. Memphis State, seeded No. 6, faces No. 7 Georgia Tech and No. 9 Texas-El Paso draws No. 4 Cincinnati in Friday night's doubleheader at Kansas City.

UTEP is the tournament's giant-killer so far, having knocked out Kansas last Sunday, leaving the Jayhawks as the only No. 1 seed that failed to make it past the sub-regionals. That would seem to make life easier for Cincinnati, facing a No. 9 instead of a No. 1.

"We didn't care who we were going to play," forward Erik Martin said, "as long as it isn't Duke. We're in no hurry to get to Duke."

Thursday's winners play Saturday and Friday's winners play Sunday.

Olajuwon-less Rockets slip into eighth playoff position

By The Associated Press

The Houston Rockets' troubles with center Hakeem Olajuwon have them in trouble in the Western Conference playoff race.

The Seattle SuperSonics took advantage of Olajuwon's suspension, dominating the Rockets inside Tuesday night and beating them 128-106. The loss dropped the Rockets into eighth place in the conference, just one-half game ahead of the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Sonics outbounded Houston 46-28, including 11 each by Shawn Kemp and Michael Cage, and got 32 more shots from the field.

Seattle also had 24 offensive rebounds to nine for the Rockets, who suspended Olajuwon Monday, claiming his hamstring injury isn't bad enough to keep him out of uniform.

"We were determined to raise the tempo because we knew we could get the defensive rebounds with Olajuwon out," Kemp said.

"We have to lift our play up to a different level without Olajuwon," Rockets guard Kenny Smith said.

The Rockets lifted their game last year when they went 15-10 without Olajuwon when he broke a bone around his eye. But they are 2-8 without him this season.

Derrick McKey scored 23 points, Ricky Pierce 20, Kemp 19 and Gary Payton 18 for the Sonics, who led 61-52 at halftime en route to their 10th win in 12 home games.

Seattle led 73-63 midway through the third period, then turned the game into a rout with a 94-72 lead after three quarters.

The Sonics outscored the Rockets 33-20 in the third period, with Kemp scoring 11 points and Pierce and Payton eight each.

Vernon Maxwell led the Rockets with 19 points.

Trail Blazers 109, Mavericks 83

Portland clinched a playoff berth and handed Dallas its 14th consecutive defeat and 22nd straight road loss.

Terry Porter scored 19 points for the Trail Blazers, nine of them during a 16-6 run in the third quarter that turned a 12-point lead into a 73-51 advantage late in the period.

Portland's outscored the Mavericks' bench players 50-23 while the Blazers' leading scorer, Clyde Drexler, finished with just 10 points, 15 under his average, on 5-for-14 shooting. Doug Smith scored 15 points for Dallas.

Bulls 116, Nuggets 103

Michael Jordan scored 50 points for the second time in three games as Chicago defeated Denver.

Jordan, leading the NBA with a 30-point average, scored 51 Thursday night against Washington, the high for a regulation game in the NBA this season. Against the Nuggets, he led the Bulls to their ninth victory in 10 games and 29th in 34 at home this season.

Reggie Williams led the Nuggets with 31 points.

Cavaliers 128, Pacers 113

Brad Daugherty had 32 points, 11 rebounds and 11 assists - his third career triple-double - as Cleveland beat Indiana for its ninth consecutive victory at home.

The Cavaliers made their first 11 shots, taking a 24-7 lead on Mark Price's 3-pointer with 5:34 to play in the first quarter.

Price scored 25 points for the Cavs, who had seven players in double figures. Detlef Schrempf led the Pacers with 25 points.

Knicks 126, Magic 117

At New York, the Knicks built a 23-point lead in the fourth quarter, then survived Orlando's 44-point fourth quarter to win their fourth straight game.

Patrick Ewing scored 16 of his 31 points in the first quarter and Gerald Wilkins had 11 of his 23 in the first nine minutes of the third quarter, helping the Knicks take a 93-73 lead into the fourth period. They extended the margin to 23 on John Starks' 3-pointer with 11:45 to go.

Kings 113, Bucks 102

Wayman Tisdale scored 14 of his 28 points in the decisive third quarter as Sacramento handed Milwaukee its 17th straight road loss.

Trailing 55-53 at halftime, the Kings used a 19-6 spurt to open the third quarter and outscored Milwaukee 34-20 in the period en route to an 87-75 lead entering the fourth period.

Mitch Richmond scored 26 points and Lionel Simmons 23 points for the Kings.

Alvin Robertson had 22 points for the Bucks.

CORNELIUS

An article which accompanies the list gives high marks to the University of Texas' recruiting class, of which Cornelius is a member. Two other future Lady Longhorns are also Fab 50 selections: Carrie Busch of Milwaukee, Wis., and Angie Breitenfield of Muncie, Ind.

Busch is an All-American and the younger sister of current UT star Nikki Busch. Breitenfield was a 1990 prep All-American, the article said, and "would have been one of the top recruits in the country if it wasn't for knee surgery during her junior year."

The fourth member of the class is L'Tanya Williams of Odessa Permian.

The all-state team is a slightly lesser recognition, though Cornelius said it's still a big deal even though she was also picked in 1990-91.

Of the 12 players picked for the Class 4A team, half played for schools in Hereford's region (I-4A), and five played against Hereford last season. On the list were Stephani Clement of Dumas; Andrea Werry of Saginaw Boswell; Lori Williams of Pecos; and Saresa Butler and Dina Simpson of Lamesa--all playoff opponents of the Herd.

Others on the list are Christie Clark of Granbury (also in Region I); Sabra Every of Katy Taylor; Anne Ashcraft and Nikki Northcutt of Austin Westlake; and LaShonda Mackey and April Wright of Whitehouse.

Miami fans cheering for women

By The Associated Press

The Miami Hurricanes are in the news, as they normally are this time of year, but not just for the start of football spring practice.

The sport in focus on the Florida campus at the moment is women's basketball, where coach Ferne Labati's squad has brought a 30-game win streak into the Sweet 16 of the NCAA tournament.

"The whole season has gone by like the blink of an eye," Labati said from Charlottesville, Va., where No. 6 Miami (30-1) will meet No. 13 Vanderbilt (21-8) in an East regional semifinal game Thursday night. The other contest will have top-ranked Virginia (30-1) against No. 14 West Virginia (26-3), a team the Cavaliers beat earlier in the season.

"If anybody would have told me that we weren't going to lose the rest of the way after we dropped our opener at Florida State, I would have thought they were crazy," Labati said. "As it is, people thought I was a little crazy scheduling people like Rutgers away, Purdue at home, and a few others the same season we were starting up in the Big East."

"But the kids have been absolutely great. Now, it's going to be a case of having to play our best to beat Vanderbilt. They have an inside game and an outside game," Labati said. "As I look across the board, everybody seems to be rising to the occasion in this tournament."

Vanderbilt coach Jim Foster, who took over the Commodores last spring, said Miami reminds him of Mississippi and Georgia in the Southeastern Conference.

Meanwhile, Virginia will have the benefit of a potentially sold-out arena, mostly in its favor, when it meets the Mountaineers.

The other three region semifinals will also be played Thursday.

The two games in the West semifinals at Seattle have No. 3 Stanford (26-3), the 1990 champion, meeting No. 12 Texas Tech (27-4), which won its first-ever NCAA game in the second round last Saturday, and No. 23 Southern Cal (22-7) against No. 4 Stephen F. Austin (28-2).

In the Midwest, at Purdue's Mackey Arena, the No. 11 Boiler-makers (22-6) will meet No. 8 Maryland (24-5), which was ranked No. 1 for four weeks at midseason. The other game will have second-ranked Tennessee (28-2), the defending champion, against No. 15 Western Kentucky (24-7).

In the Midwest, being held at the University of Colorado, No. 9 Penn State (24-6) will meet No. 5 Mississippi (28-2) while No. 10 Southwest Missouri State (29-2) will meet UCLA (21-9). None of the region's semifinals has ever been to an NCAA Women's Final Four.

Rangers again turn to Downing for leadoff help

By GERRY FRALEY
The Dallas Morning News
PORT CHARLOTTE, Fla. (AP) - Forget about finding pitching. Brian Downing wants the Rangers to add something else before the season starts. "I'd like to see someone step forward and take the leadoff job," Downing said.

He was kidding, but there was some significance to his mock protest. There is a precarious relationship between Downing and the leadoff spot in the Rangers' order. He has been uncomfortable in the role since Gene Mauch made him do it with California a decade ago. "I hate it, but I do it to exist," Downing said.

The Rangers have one player who fits the traditional definition of a leadoff hitter: high on-base percentage and good speed. Julio Franco dislikes batting leadoff, and that showed in his performance last season. Franco hit .186 from the leadoff spot, and the Rangers were 2-8 when he batted there.

The Rangers had five players start at least 10 games at leadoff last season. Only Downing had an on-base percentage better than .296 in the role. The American League on-base average for leadoff hitters was .349.

Rangers leadoff hitters have batted worse than .245 each of the past three seasons. It is a tribute to the offense's strength last season that the Rangers led the majors in scoring despite a league-low .240 leadoff batting average. The offense's power negates a lack of speed most noticeable in the leadoff spot.

"Downing and the others didn't statistically lead off that well, but they led off well," manager Bobby Valentine said. "There are a lot of different opinions on what a leadoff hitter is. It's a statistic when it's over and it's a feeling when it's happening."

No one, particularly Downing, 41, is certain he can handle the role again for a full season as the oldest non-pitcher in club history. The designated hitter worries about diminishing speed that could clog the bases and whether his swing can handle deep-count at-bats as well as last season.

"I have concerns about it," Downing said. "I don't know how much I have left."

Downing had four homers entering a Monday night exhibition against Minnesota, but he also has been bothered by shoulder stiffness. The Rangers hope Downing's talk is his standard lower-the-expectations pessimism seeping out. They need him for at least 350 at-bats at the leadoff spot.

There are few other candidates.

Jack Daugherty can bat leadoff, but his playing time could be limited by the increasing emergence of Kevin Reimer in the outfield. Shortstop Dickie Thon has walked more than 37 times once in 12 major league seasons. First baseman Rafael Palmeiro could be a leadoff hitter like Boston's Wade Boggs, but the Rangers want Palmeiro's extra-base power in the middle of the order.

"It's not an individual," Valentine said. "It's a blend of individuals. Our lineup is a good lineup from 1 to 9. We're not trying to get on just in front of the 3-4-5 hitters. We're trying to get on in front of all our hitters."

Without a true leadoff hitter, Valentine prefers to perform shock theater in the spot. Thus last season's appearances by Dean Palmer, because of his home-run threat; and former catcher Mike Stanley, who had success against that game's starter, California's Chuck Finley.

Downing specializes in making quick statements. His leadoff homer May 18 against Boston's Roger Clemens triggered one of the season's most invigorating victories.

"I take a feeling over a statistic," Valentine said. "The look. The feel of 'This is what you're going to have to deal with,' when that guy starts off a game."

"Obviously, if you get on base 50 percent of the time and steal 75 bases, you're setting a good tone. There aren't many people who can do that."

None play for the Rangers, to Downing's regret.

Dibble won't need surgery

By The Associated Press

Rob Dibble will not need surgery on his sore right shoulder, and that's the good part for the Cincinnati Reds.

The bad part is that their ace reliever will miss the rest of spring training because of tendinitis, and no one is sure when Dibble will pitch again.

"I'm not going to be out the whole year," Dibble said Tuesday. "I will be ready to pitch within a month, I promise you that."

Dibble, 28, underwent an MRI exam Tuesday morning and the results were evaluated in the early evening. Reds consulting physician Richard Jolson recommended a 10-day program of weight lifting to strengthen the shoulder and arm, followed by a throwing program.

"If I'm ready to pitch one week into the season, I may not have to go on the DL," Dibble said.

Dibble, who saved 31 games last season, has been ineffective this spring. He has given up 10 hits, five walks and six earned runs in 6 2-3 innings for an 8.10 earned-run average in exhibition games.

With Dibble out, the Reds will rely on lefty Norm Charlton as their main stopper.

"You're not going to find a right-handed closer down here," Reds general manager Bob Quinn said. "Everybody's looking for pitching. If we do anything with our pitching, we'll do it internally."

Avoid dangerous situations

In this age of increasing crime, it is even more important to protect yourself at home, on the street and in your car. The best way to do this is to be aware of your surroundings and environment at all times. Following are some tips to help you avoid vulnerable or dangerous situations.

These and other useful suggestions can be found in one of the latest, free Shell Answer Books, the "Driver's Security Book."

*Before entering your car, check for people hiding in the back seat and floor. If you have a two-seater, push both seats forward every time you leave your car to make it easier to see if someone is hiding inside. If you are suspicious, walk to the nearest open store or well-lit area and call for help.

*Don't hinder yourself by carrying too many packages. In some situations, a few seconds can mean the difference between being attacked and escaping, so don't limit your ability to react quickly.

*If you are walking and believe someone is following you in a car, walk in the opposite direction that the car is driving. Walk quickly, or run if necessary, to the nearest police or fire station, open store or well-lit, populated area and find help.

*Always lock your car doors, even when you are in the car and place any valuables out of sight or in your trunk.

*Always carry spare change and a list of phone numbers for emergency services, such as 24-hour towing companies, nearby hospitals and the membership card of any automobile club you may belong to. You should also keep a list in your wallet of the names and phone numbers of family members, in the event you are unable to call for help.

*If you break down on the road, turn on your flashers and raise the hood of your car. You can even purchase a "send Help" or "Please Call Police" sign and display it, or just tie a piece of white cloth to your antenna. Then, get back in your car and remain there, with the doors locked, until official help arrives. If someone offers help open the window slightly and give them a quarter and a number to call for help. Never get into a stranger's car.

*The best way to avoid car trouble on the road is to keep your car properly maintained. Last year, one out of every four drivers on the road had some form of car trouble. If you are planning a long car trip, you should have your car checked and serviced, especially if you will be traveling on unfamiliar roads. Also, make sure you pack appropriate maps with your route clearly marked a day or two before you leave.

These and other safety tips are included in shell's "Driver's Security Book," or free copies, stop by your nearest Shell station, call 1-80-331-3703 (7 a.m.-7 p.m. central time) or write to Shell Answers, Shell Oil Company, Dept. M.P.O. Box 4681, Houston, Texas 77210.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: About three months ago, during a routine physical exam, my doctor told me I had a right inguinal weakness and that if I were going to change jobs in the near future, I probably should consider having something done about it. Since then I have been experiencing some discomfort in the lower abdomen and groin area at times. I no longer sleep on my side because of the discomfort.

I consulted a surgeon to see if the weakness could be repaired. He verified the weakness and said that I probably would have a hernia in 15 to 20 years and to come back when I had a hernia.

Can something be done to strengthen the area and to alleviate the discomfort, or do you, like the surgeon, suggest that I learn to live with it?

DEAR READER: I am not convinced the symptoms you are now experiencing are related to a hernia at all. It would be interesting to know if you have discomfort while lying on your left side. That should have no effect on a loop of intestine pressing against the area on the right side that has been described as a weakness. I would look at the possibility of an intestinal complaint, such as gaseous distention or other intestinal causes for lower right side discomfort.

Unless you have an actual hernia, most surgeons would not consider doing an operation. Even then, how urgent it is depends a lot on what kind of hernia you have. There are hernias that slide down the inguinal canal along the cord to the testicle that do need to be corrected. The danger is that a loop of bowel may be trapped in the canal and require emergency surgery.

The other type of hernia protrudes directly through the lower abdominal wall and is unlikely to cause such a complication. At this point, if you do not have an actual hernia, that distinction is not important.

I know you will want to understand more about hernias, so I'm sending you a free copy of my discussion, Groin Hernias — Inguinal and Femoral. Others who want this information can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/36-03, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. Abdominal exercises will not prevent groin hernias. Staying lean, avoiding things that increase pressure within the abdomen, such as straining with heavy lifting or gaseous distention may be helpful.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I read your column where you said drinking hard water will not affect one's health. Our water is well water and is so soft that only small amounts of soap are needed in our dishwasher and washing machine.

Some years ago I was told by a friend that soft water is very injurious to arteries and many stroke victims live in soft-water areas. I would like to know if there is any validity in my friend's information.

DEAR READER: Years ago studies of water in different areas did suggest there was less heart attacks and strokes in areas where the water was hard. But further investigation showed that the real reason was that soft water in city plumbing at that time would leach out dangerous metals while standing during the night. These damaged the kidneys in time and contributed to high blood pressure.

Workshop planned in Amarillo

"EARTHSHIPS--SELF-SUFFICIENT HOUSING FOR RECYCLED MATERIALS," is the title of a workshop to be presented by Michael Reynolds, nationally recognized Taos-based architect, in which he explains his "earthship" housing concept. The workshop will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in Room A/B, at Amarillo Central Library Room A/B. The library is located at 4th and Buchanan.

Reynolds describes in the two-hour workshop how to build beautiful, energy efficient houses from $20 per square foot (for do-it-yourselfers following this how-to book, Earthship), to even more elaborate, professionally designed houses.

Approximately 70 earthship-style houses have been built in the Southwest. Reynolds' newest project is an Earthship community in Taos. The 15-house development will be located on 55 acres of rocky slope. The walls contain the primary cooling or heating source, and can be built for $65/sq. ft., using discarded tires and aluminum cans packed in earth and adobe to create thermal mass and store energy.

Reynolds has had engineers examine the "mass" walls and testify that they meet and even surpass any existing building codes. The secondary energy source is wind or passive solar power, collected through panels on the roof.

Reynolds has a bachelor of architecture degree from the University of Cincinnati. He resides in Taos, where he designs ecologically friendly homes that he calls "Earthships"—vessels rooted in the earth—for people seeking an escape from monthly utility bills and upkeep on these houses.

Among his famous fans and clients are Keith Carradine and Dennis Weaver, who owns a Reynolds-designed 10,000 square-foot earthship.

Reynolds' newer Earthships include greenhouses and catch-water recycling systems. Sewage is divided at the source into gray water and black water. Only black, or toilet, water is routed to a septic tank in the ground. Gray water—from sink, tub and laundry—is routed into holding tanks for use in greenhouse irrigation. The food particles that drain from the kitchen sink are particularly nutritious for the plants.

Among those who will find the workshop of interest are building construction and trades people, architects, artists, persons interested in recycling and the environment, and those having an interest in low-cost housing for the elderly, the homeless, and institutions like schools, hospitals and jails.

Businessmen dealing in tires and cans could also benefit since the disposal of those items have become a major environmental concern. According to the Environmental Protection Agency, approximately 240 million tires a year have to be disposed of. Tire dealers have to move them to an approved area, and most landfill operators will not accept them.

The workshop is open to the public and is sponsored free of charge by the Amarillo Chapter of American Institute of Architecture, Construction Specification Institute, Amarillo Chapter, Friends of the Amarillo Library, Independent Scholar Network and Panhandle Permaculture Group.

Promotional materials have been furnished by American Institute of Architects, Texas State Technical College and Earthships Publications.

To perform at celebration

Music evangelist, Martin Hernandez of Olton, will be one of the vocalists to perform at the Spring Gospel Celebration planned at 2 p.m. Sunday at Primera Iglesia Bautista, located on N. Hwy. 385. The public is invited to attend the afternoon's festivities which will feature gospel singing by local and out of town talent.

Examination being offered

Donald S. Boyd, Sectional Center Manager/Postmaster, Lubbock, has announced the rural carrier examination is open to the general public until March 27 for the Amarillo Area Eligibility Register.

Offices included on the Amarillo AER are Amarillo, Canyon, Groom Hereford, Fritch, and Claude.

Interested persons may apply at the Lubbock Personnel Office, 1515 Avenue G, Lubbock, TX; the Amarillo Personnel Office, 2301 Ross St., Amarillo, Texas or at one of the offices served by the register during the week of the open announcement. No applications will be accepted after March 27.

In 1843, a new word—millionaire—was coined by U.S. newspapers in their reports of the death of Pierre Lorillard, banker, landlord and tobaccoist. A fortune of a million dollars was then such a rarity that the term millionaire appeared in italics for some years to come.

Inside recycling bin

The number of Americans who recycle is on the rise, increasing by 30 percent in just three years. According to a recent survey commissioned by Aluminum Company of America, 75 percent of consumers nationwide say they recycle, compared to just 45 percent in 1988.

Fifty percent of those who recycle say their main motivation is the environment, while 44 percent recycle for cash, 19 percent for charity and 12 percent to abide government requirements.

Although nearly one-third of consumers live in municipalities that offer curbside recycling, many people still prefer to sell their materials at recycling center for cash. In fact, 79 percent of those surveyed say they drop off their recyclable, compared to 22 percent who have them picked up.

Inside America's Recycling Bin

The most recycled material in the United States is the aluminum beverage can, cited 98 percent of consumers who recycle, followed by 55 percent of who recycle glass bottles, 46 percent who recycle plastic bottles and 18 percent who recycle steel cans.

"People started recycling aluminum beverage cans 20 years ago, long before the garbage barge and the landfill crisis," says George Cobb, president, Alcoa Recycling Company. "Today, we're relying on that experience to encourage aluminum can recycling in municipal recycling programs."

The survey showed that one-third of respondents with access to curbside recycling programs do not know how their programs are being funded. "Aluminum cans play an important role in municipal programs because of their high value," Cobb says.

recycle them," he adds.

Aluminum cans are most associated with recycling by 92 percent of consumers and ranked as most valuable to recycle by 80 percent.

Environmental Impact Evaluated
Sixty-eight percent of Americans believe the aluminum can is the best container for the environment, 22 percent named glass, 8 percent named plastic and 2 percent mentioned steel.

Pets good for kids

Six-year-old Linda, a patient at Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children in Chicago, hugs Doozer, a registered pet therapy dog.

"I like it when the dogs visit because I miss my dog," says Linda.

The pet therapy program that the hospital's Recreation Therapy/Child Life staff initiated in 1991 has been a great success with children.

The therapy uses specially trained dogs in supportive roles to help meet treatment goals. For example, dogs may be used in physical therapy to encourage a child to walk a few more steps, along with the dog. It seems to be one instance where "going to the dogs" can be a good thing, indeed.

SHERBORN, Mass. (AP) - Raul Julia received a human rights award for his portrayal of Salvadoran Archbishop Oscar Romero in the film "Romero."

"Julia brought Oscar Romero into our hearts and minds and made us feel his pain and anguish, and that of the Salvadoran people," said Lewis Randa, director of the Peace Abbey, which gave the Courage of Conscience award.
