After grand jury met

Documents pertaining to criminal cases handled by Deaf Smith County District Attorney Roland Saul and his former assistant, Jerry Smith, were reportedly subpoenaed by the Deaf Smith County grand jury Tuesday.

The jury reportedly met for about seven hours with Linda Walden, an assistant attorney general from Austin. Walden has been working as a special investigator in the probe of alleged wrongdoings in the 222nd District Attorney's office. She first met with the grand jury last month at the request of the jury foreman.

As foreseen, no indictments were returned at the close of the jury session Tuesday evening. Walden had earlier been quoted as saying she expected the investigation to take some time.

District Clerk Lola Faye Veazy said she has not been told when the jury will meet again. She said the next regular grand jury session is set for Dec. 15.

Both Saul and Smith have said charges brought against them are politically motivated. Those comments followed the November meeting of the grand jury at which Hereford attorney Schalan Atkinson and Deaf Smith County Justice of the Peace O.K. Neal reportedly testified.

Drug, alcohol abuse picking up

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

"There is more drug and alcohol abuse this time of year," said Barbara Karins of Hereford Family Services Center.

Karins, a counselor on chemical abuse, agreed with a popular theory that Christmas is a magical time for us as children. When we grow up, however, we discover that holidays can create stress, financial worries and other family problems. The syndrome is now labeled as "holiday depression."

"We do not teach our children about reality," she said. "We make everything

Holidays bring out chemical spirit

as happy for them as we can, and then when they grow up we force them out into the cruel world."

Karins said that at the same time, we are teaching them by example that the way to deal with pain is by ingesting a chemical of some sort. "Headaches, stomach aches, depression, we have a pill for all of these," she explained. "We are becoming a chemical society."

Persons suffering from holiday depression often turn to alcohol or drugs as "pick-me-ups," not realizing that alcohol and many other chemicals are actually depressants.

Karins said that since most holiday drinking takes place at social events, the host or hostess can play a big role in helping to alleviate the problems caused by overindulgence. According to figures recently released by the Texas Commission on Alcoholism, 11 percent of Texans have drinking problems. For them, even one drink at a party is one too many.

The TCA claims it is important to offer choice. When someone says, "no thanks," don't push it. Have soft drinks available for that 40 percent of the Texas population that chooses not to drink at all.

"If you are going to serve dinner or an evening snack, do it before it's too late," the TCA maintained. "If the cocktail hour goes on for hours, nobody will know what they had for dinner."

Food is important because it slows down the rate at which alcohol is absorbed into the bloodstream. It also slows down the rate at which people drink.

Other tips include waiting until the glass is empty before offering refills, pacing drinks at regular intervals and closing the bar a few minutes before you plan the party to end.

"If someone drinks too much at your house," concludes the TCA, "you are responsible. See that he gets home safely, but don't let him drive. And do not think you can sober someone up in a short time with a cold shower or black coffee. Only time can sober him up."

Drive the person home yourself, ask a sober friend to drive, call a cab or let him sleep it off at your house. Operation Threshold of the Texas Commission on Alcoholism says that is what it means to be a good host this holiday season.

Pair heads for meeting

Thursday to Lubbock about indigent care

Deaf Smith County Commissioner James Voyles and Phillis Dawson, business manager at Deaf Smith General Hospital plan to attend a meeting of the State Task Force on Indigent Health Care Thursday in Lubbock.

There is also a possibility that hospital administrator Jim Bullard will be able to go to the hearings set for 2 to 7 p.m. at the Lubbock Civic Center.

Shirley Greenly, an administrative aid with the task force office in Austin, said the 71-member force is compiling information to report to state legislators on the current status of indigent health care in the state. Area members are from Amarillo, Lubbock and Happy.

Greenly said Thursday's hearings will be the first and only ones scheduled for this part of the state. This is the third such meeting to be conducted by the task force.

Commissioner Voyles said he is attending mostly to find out what has happened at the first two meetings. He said not much information has become available to him so far.

"We want to see what ideas or methods are being proposed," Dawson said. "We want to know how the findings will affect us, because we are satisfied with the methods that we have."

Voyles agreed, saying he thinks the county and the hospital district are doing a good job of providing indigent health care.

Judge out to motivate realtors

Judge John Brown Fite, a motivational speaker, is to be the featured guest Thursday at the installation banquet of the Hereford Board of Realtors.

The annual event is slated for 7:30 p.m. at the Hereford Country Club. Aside from the speaker, those attending are to witness presentation of "Realtor of the Year," which Melvin Jayroe received at last December's affair.

Also, the board is to usher out in its 1983 officers and directors while initiating the 1984 crop of leaders. Some of the new faces will be Lynn Jones, president; Clarence Betzen, vice president; and Carol Sue Gate, directors.

Bowing out of leadership posts are Pat Ferguson, president; Marn Tyler, vice president; and Charlie Hill, director. Retaining their posts are Carolyn Maupin, secretary-treasurer; along with James Gentry and Betty Lady, directors.

The new officers and directors are to be installed by Ferguson, who is also to present some special awards.

Fite, voted Dallas "Realtor of the Year" in 1970, is a member of the National Association of Realtors. He is also a past president of the NAR's Farm and Land Institute.

According to a press release, Fite lectures professionally in management techniques, salesmanship and real estate brokerage and has served as 'on campus' lecturer at many of the southwest's greatest educational institutions.

There are many factors involved in building a community, and loyalty would have to rank high on the list. In the area of loyalty, "shop at home" is more than just a slogan. If a community is to thrive and prosper, then loyalty to the local business community is a "must."

Some folks figure they don't owe any loyalty to the local firms. They'll shop where they please, where the selection and price appears better. After all, it doesn't affect them...or does it?

Once upon a time, there was this family who lived in an $80,000 home. They did all their Christmas shopping out of town and figured they saved $200 on the items. Of course, they didn't count the travel expense or time.

After five years, the family figured they had saved about $1,000 on Christmas gifts. But after a number of families had done the same thing during the period, the stores had to cut back on inventories and some of them started closing their doors because of the poor economy.

The family in the $80,000 home suddenly discovered that real estate values had dropped because of the depressed economy, and their home was now valued at $70,000.

"Shop at home" is more than a slogan.

It's a two-way street. The merchant must offer a variety of goods and services at competitive prices, and we must buy here in order for him to continue providing those products and services. Of course there are some items and services which cannot be obtained locally, but the vast majority of items are here at competitive prices.

Simply stated, nobody cares a hoot about Hereford and Deaf Smith County except folks in Hereford and Deaf Smith County. They pay the taxes, attend the schools and churches; they use the hospital, police and fire departments.

And the more goods and merchant stocks, the more taxes he pays to local governmental units. The cycle is a fact of life and one that helps keep our economy strong.

Jayroe recognized again

For the fifth year in a row, Melvin Jayroe of Hereford has been named to the National Million Dollar Real Estate Club.

Membership is limited to those who meet or exceed the standards and guidelines set annually by the national advisory committee. It is also determined by the agent's personal production during the year.

John Puff, executive director, said "membership in the national million dollar club is a true indication of a realtor's ability and dedication to the public he or she is serving."

An Amarillo native, Jayroe has lived in Hereford the past 20 years. He has been the owner of Top Properties at Highway 60 and Main Street since October 1980, and now has 11 agents working for him.

A graduate of West Texas State University, Jayroe is a member and past officer of the Texas Association of Realtors and the National Association of Realtors. He is presently serving as a Hereford City Commissioner.

A smoldering cigarette left on a living room couch apparently caused a fire Tuesday morning at 238 Ironwood, home of local banker Jim Sears.

Gary Parker, 22, a former reserve deputy in San Jacinto County and the son of former Sheriff James C. "Humpty" Parker, pleaded guilty Tuesday to one count of conspiracy to deprive the civil rights of a motorist.

James L. Browder was prepared to plead guilty to one count of being an accessory after the fact to conspiracy and Herbert R. Atwood said he would plead guilty to one count of misprison of a felony, or failure to report a felony.

The trio will be sentenced Feb. 17 by U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor.

Gutted plant will be rebuilt

HIGHLANDS, Texas (AP) — A chemical plant gutted by a series of explosions and fire that forced about 2,000 nearby residents to leave their homes will be rebuilt, a company spokesman says.

Joe Dollar, a spokesman for Hi-Port Industries Inc., estimated damage to the plant at about $20 million. Dollar said several warehouses and the company's corporate offices were destroyed in the blaze.

The firm will begin limited production within 10 days, Dollar said.

Dollar said no herbicides or jet fuel were destroyed and no determination had been made as to what caused the explosions.

The blasts started Monday night and by early Tuesday about 70 percent of the plant had been reduced to charred rubble, Baytown firefighter Gilbert Contreras said.

There were no fatalities in the blast that raged out of control for 3½ hours, but five firefighters and two police officers suffered minor injuries, officials said.

Gearing Up

A Tuesday morning house fire at 238 Ironwood, home of Jim Sears, was dealt with by several members of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department. The blaze, restricted to the residence's living room, was handled without problems, according to a department spokesman.

Something Different

By KIM THOGMARTIN

I found it tucked inside the colorful Dec. 13 issue of Woman's Day magazine. "A Christmas Morning Memory" is the kind of holiday story I had hoped to run across, a bit of nostalgia from Leo Buscaglia about a mother whose love and sense of responsibility gave her the courage to live up to a promise.

Buscaglia writes with wit and honesty about the Christmas he was seven, the same year he decided that the Santa Claus of his American friends had the Christmas Angel of his own Italian heritage beat hands down.

His dear Italian mama, who really was an Italian mama in every sense of the word, refused to depart from the traditions of her ancestors. So that winter young Leo, or Felice as he was called then, decided that the customary fruits, licorice candies and imported chestnuts left by the yuletide visitor to deserving children were just not spectacular enough for him to curb his normally boisterous and rebellious behavior.

His mother issued the annual warning that naughty little boys were always sorry, because the Christmas Angel would have no choice but to withhold the holiday treats and instead leave a peach tree branch suitable for switching in their stockings.

But the youthful Buscaglia paid no heed, and when Christmas morning dawned he emerged from his warm bed to dash for his stocking, hoping that Santa Claus had somehow found their house along with the less generous Christmas Angel.

Imagine how he must have felt when his eyes landed on the long woolen stocking, empty except for the promised twig. Sure, he deserved it, but this was Christmas morning! Surely the Angel knew it was just not fair to punish little boys on this of all days!

And think how his mother's heart must have ached that day, knowing that the entire scene could have been re-written had she and her husband been less devoted to teaching their children right from wrong.

"There was nothing else the Angel could do," Mama told the family as their tears flowed. "But for now, we can share what we have and we can all be happy again."

And so his brothers and sisters emptied their own stockings and filled his lap, experiencing for perhaps the first time the real joy that comes from giving. And Felice knew, more than ever before, that he was loved and that because there is forgiveness, next year would be different.

Perhaps we could all use a Christmas Angel in our lives, to help us remember that both good and bad behavior usually does not go unrewarded.

Because, as Buscaglia puts it, "where there is forgiveness, sharing, another chance given and unwavering love, the Christmas Angel is always present and it is always Christmas."

Israel vows to avenge bombing

By FAROUK NASSAR
Associated Press Writer

Israel vowed to avenge the PLO bombing that killed four people aboard a crowded Jerusalem bus, and government leaders in Italy and Britain were meeting today to reconsider their role in the multinational peacekeeping force in Lebanon.

In Beirut, the Lebanese army and Christian militiamen exchanged rocket and artillery fire today with Druse insurgents, and President Amin Gemayel was urged to appoint a new coalition cabinet representing the country's warring factions.

Prime Minister Shafik Wazzan said he would press for a prompt decision by Gemayel on the resignation of the nine-man cabinet to make way for a coalition government that might end the prolonged sectarian warfare.

Police in Jerusalem said today that two girls aged 12 and 14 and an elderly man were among the four victims of the bomb that blew apart a bus Tuesday. Forty-six people were injured in the worst terrorist incident in the city in five years.

A spokesman said police were holding five people for questioning.

Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir pledged an all-out effort to find those who planted the bomb and said "they shall not go unpunished." His statement raised the possibility that Israel, following its customary policy, might send aircraft on reprisal raids against Palestinian bases in Lebanon.

The Palestine Liberation Organization claimed responsibility for the bombing in a statement released by the PLO news agency Wafa. It claimed the target was a military vehicle.

"This operation comes to escalate the actions of the Palestinian revolution against the Israeli occupiers," Wafa said.

In Rome, Premier Bettino

Craxi called a special Cabinet meeting today in what appeared to be the first formal step to reconsider Italy's role as a peacekeeper in Lebanon.

The meeting was scheduled as pressures mounted to withdraw or substantially reduce Italy's 2,100-man contingent in the peacekeeping force.

Smuggling and slavery testimony continues

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Two illegal aliens testified they were fed only every other day and forced to work as slaves at a tree farm to pay for their 500-mile journey in the back of a small trailer from the border to East Texas.

Steven Crawford, 20, of Center, who ran the farm, and Randall Waggoner, 22, of Nacogdoches, were indicted by a federal grand jury in June on 24 counts of transporting illegal aliens and keeping them in involuntary servitude.

Three of the smuggling charges and two of the slavery counts were dismissed on a defense motion Tuesday, because the Mexicans named in the charges were not mentioned by government witnesses.

Each of the remaining charges carry possible prison sentences of five years and fines ranging from $2,000 to $10,000.

Prosecutors and defense attorneys finished their questioning Tuesday afternoon and were expected to begin final arguments today.

Julio Martinez-Rios and Antonio Arias-Cardosa said through an interpreter Tuesday that they were forced to plant pine seedlings, were not paid for any of their work and were fed every other day.

Crawford did not testify, but Waggoner admitted transporting 19 Mexicans from Rocksprings to Center in a 5-by-8 foot U-Haul trailer on Feb. 11. However, Waggoner denied that the Mexicans were held against their will.

"They were free to leave whenever they wanted to," Waggoner said. "I was an employee just like they were. I had sympathy for them myself."

Tuesday, Waggoner at first denied knowing that the Mexicans were illegal aliens when he drove them to Center, near the Louisiana border. But on cross-examination he admitted he had rigged the trailer doors shut so that the Mexicans would not be discovered.

Waggoner said he worked for Crawford about 45 days supervising Mexicans on the tree farm.

Arias-Cardosa testified Monday that the Mexicans were told they had to work two weeks to pay for the 500-mile trip from Rocksprings near the Mexican border.

Post says Moslems planned bomb

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Secret Service blocked White House entrances with sand-filled dump trucks after receiving reports that Shiite Moslems planned to blow up the presidential mansion. The Washington Post said in Wednesday editions.

The newspaper, quoting unidentified sources, said police in Manassas, Va., received an anonymous letter warning that Shiites planned to ram the State Department headquarters on Thanksgiving Day with a truck filled with explosives.

The Secret Service then received information, possibly from foreign sources, that the Shiites planned to blow up the White House, the Post said.

Jack Smith, a spokesman for the Secret Service, declined to comment on the Post story. "We have never discussed any of our intelligence," he said. "It doesn't do us any good to air that in public."

Congress probes involvement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, increasingly edgy over the rising death toll and intensified military activities in Lebanon, is beginning to question what exactly it approved in authorizing President Reagan to commit U.S. forces.

Sen. Gary Hart of Colorado, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, asked congressional leaders Tuesday to call a rare special session "to reopen the question of military involvement in Lebanon."

Sen. Larry Pressler, R-S.D., called for full hearings by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to determine if the recent U.S. air attack on Syrian positions "represents an escalation which goes beyond the intent of Congress."

Leaders of the Foreign Relations Committee said after a closed-door briefing by the administration Tuesday that they saw little likelihood of a special session. But one agreed the Lebanon question is increasingly occupying the minds of lawmakers.

100 die when planes hit

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Two Spanish airliners collided in heavy fog today while preparing to take off from Madrid's airport. Civil defense officials said about 100 of the 134 people aboard the planes were killed in the crash and a fiery explosion that followed.

Involved in the collision were an Iberia Air Lines Boeing 727 on its way to Rome with 84 passengers and nine crew members aboard and a DC-9 of Aviaco, a Spanish domestic airline, with 37 passengers and six crew aboard, on its way to Santander in northern Spain.

Initial reports said the only survivors aboard the Boeing were believed to be eight crew members. It was not immediately known how many passengers on the DC-9 survived.

There was no official word on the cause of the accident, but Iberia and airport sources said the collision occurred as one or both airliners were accelerating in preparation for takeoff. Sources said they believed the Boeing 727 was traveling about 100 mph.

Shultz sees meet with Gromyko

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz today predicted the allies will send foreign ministers to a disarmament conference in Stockholm next month, creating the opportunity for him to meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

"Surely if we are both there, I will be more than ready to meet with Mr. Gromyko," Shultz said at a news conference. He said he will do what he can "to make such a meeting possible."

Shultz said Tuesday he would discuss the possibility of a meeting with Gromyko when he goes to Brussels today to meet with NATO foreign ministers. He indicated he expected them to approve.

NATO defense ministers were concluding a separate, two-day meeting in Brussels today.

Thirty-five nations are scheduled to attend the European Disarmament Conference, which opens Jan. 17. Shultz said he and West German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher discussed the possibility of having foreign ministers attend the opening session.

Care urged when making credit card purchases

COLLEGE STATION — A booming business in bank credit card fraud means consumers need to be careful about credit purchases during the hectic holiday shopping season, warned home economist Nancy Granovsky.

The most common fraud is unauthorized use of a lost or stolen card, said Granovsky, a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Counterfeit cards, the theft of card blanks and card numbers obtained through telephone orders are used in more sophisticated frauds, she explains.

"In most cases, the key to fraudulent use is access to the card or the card number," noted Granovsky.

To protect credit cards she suggested that consumers take the following steps:

-When shopping, be careful about the carbons on charge slips since they can be used to change amounts on the charge slip. Make sure the sales person removes the carbon after the slip has been signed, or remove it yourself along with the customer's copy.

-Avoid giving your credit card number over the phone if at all possible.

-Keep all charge slips so you can check your statement to make sure each charge is legitimate. If some are fraudulent, call the card issuer immediately.

-Know the law. You are liable only for the first $50 charged to your account by an illegal user. You do not have to pay for any unauthorized charges made after you notify the card company of loss or theft of your card. So if you act quickly enough, you may not have any loss.

-Keep a credit card register listing all your credit cards, account numbers and the address or telephone number of who to notify in case of loss or theft. Keep this list in a safe place, such as a safety deposit box.

-Carry with you only those cards you need. For example, don't carry a department store credit card unless you intend to shop there. Leave a list of the cards you have with you at home. "Some consumers buy credit card insurance which may be unnecessary if they will take reasonable precautions," says Granovsky. With the $50 liability limit, the cost of insurance can be greater than any loss you might have from fraudulent use of your card, she adds.

Whiteface fems win, boys lose 3-5A opener

Free-throw shots plague Whitefaces

The Hereford Whitefaces opened District 3-5A basketball competition in Amarillo Tuesday night, dropping a 69-46 decision to the strong Caprock Longhorns.

Troy Fry scored 27 points to pace the Longhorns to their opening league win, and Caprock is 7-1 on the season. Lubbock Monterey beat Coronado Tuesday night, and the Plainsmen are also 7-1 on the season.

Caprock took a 15-12 lead in the first period and kept widening the margin during the contest. The Horns held a 30-21 advantage at halftime, then outscored the Herd by 20-11 in the third stanza.

Lee Brockman hit 15 points for Hereford, and Jeff Streun chipped in 11 to lead the Whiteface scoring in the losing cause. The defeat left Hereford with a 3-4 record on the season and started them off at 0-1 in district action. Caprock had two other players in double figures as Jerry Branch and Scott Brewer each tallied 14 points.

"Actually, I thought our team played well," said Coach Bobby Decker. "We had good intensity and our press caused them to make mistakes, but our inability to convert on free throws killed our chances to stay in the game."

Although Caprock's 6-7 Fry scored 27 points, Decker thought the Whitefaces defended him pretty well. "Everytime we had a chance to stay within striking distance by making free throws, we missed," said Decker.

The Hereford mentor had said previously that the team needed to be more consistent at the charity line. "We'll just have to go back to the gym and practice more at the free-throw line."

Hereford hit only 14 of 36 at the charity line. The team was 16 of 44 from the field.

The junior varsity also lost its game, 76-59. Rodney Torres was the leading scorer for Hereford with 16 points. Also in double figures were Johnny Pena with 11 and Stefan Hacker with 10.

The Herd varsity will be entered in the Amarillo Invitational Tournament Friday and Saturday. The Whitefaces see first-round action at 5:15 Friday afternoon against El Paso High. The team will play two more games Saturday in the eight-school field.

HERD — Streun 3 5-6 11, Brockman 6 3-16 15, Redus 3 4-8 12, Suarez 1 0-0 2, Scott 0 0-2 0, Rogers 2-0-0 4, Nikkel 0 2-2 2, Walterscheid 0 0-3 0, Garcia 0 0-1 0. Totals 16 14-36 46.

Sports

Women's Champs

row) Lisa McClellan, Vickie Copley, Mickie Cochran, (front row) Jayne Looper, Sharon Rectar and Donita Martin.

Girls beat Caprock, 61-43

Varsity girls from Hereford High School earned their first basketball win of the season Tuesday with a 61-43 decision at Amarillo-Caprock.

The outcome was apparently never much in doubt, as HHS jumped out to a 19-7 advantage after the first quarter and led 38-15 at halftime. The Whitefaces were paced by senior Cathy Bartels, who finished with 18 points, 17 rebounds and was credited with seven steals.

"She had probably her best individual game as a varsity player," HHS coach Larry Sowers commented. Scoring-wise, Hereford also got help from junior Stacie High (nine points) along with senior Jan Harwell and junior Kelly Mumau (eight apiece).

"We hadn't played in a week and most of the rest of them kind of looked like it," Sowers said. "We weren't really sharp overall. I hope the week off maybe contributed to that."

The win evened the girls' District 3-5A mark at 1-1 and made them 1-3 overall. Sowers believed Caprock, meanwhile, suffered its first district defeat of the season and dropped to 0-7 for all its contests.

Tuesday's game, the coach said, was hampered by erratic officiating. One of the two officials scheduled to work the tilt did not show up, so two others tried to fill in the vacancy with what Sowers felt was limited success. "It was kind of a mess," Explaining the early lead,

Sowers said, "We were using the same defense we used against Palo Duro (during a loss last week). They (Caprock) just didn't have nearly the talent Palo Duro had...They made a lot of mistakes early."

Sowers also commented, "We played everybody a lot all the way through, but in the second half we just didn't execute too well." Hereford was outscored 12-8 and 16-15 in the third and fourth quarters, respectively.

"They're not very big," Sowers said about Caprock. "But they, in the second half, really outthrust us. They didn't give up and kept coming at us. I've got to give them credit there."

The distaff Whitefaces on Friday face Lubbock, a perennially weak team which may be changing its fortunes this year, having already won twice. "I'm sure they have the ability to defeat any team in the district if it doesn't play well," Sowers said.

Tuesday, however, Lubbock came up 59-27 against visiting Amarillo.

Friday's contest is to start at 7:30 p.m.

Kings cool off hot Dallas team

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD AP Sports Writer

The Kansas City Kings got plenty of help from an unexpected source to cool off the hottest team in the National Basketball Association.

Mark Olberding, averaging only nine points per game for the Kings, got some encouragement from Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons and then scored a season-high 26 points to lead Kansas City to a 112-103 home triumph over Dallas Tuesday night, snapping the Mavericks' eight-game winning streak.

"When Cotton came to me tonight and said, 'Look for your shot, take it to the hole, and make your guy guard you,' I took it as the green light for me to go out and have a good night," Olberding said. "But if I score two points tomorrow night and we win, I'll be happy."

"Olberding was very effective and we looked to him tonight," Fitzsimmons said. "We wanted him to take a look at the basket."

The Mavericks, who have not made the playoffs in their three years in the NBA, are still 13-5 despite the loss, with a 2 1/2-game lead in the Midwest Division.

In other games, it was New Jersey 114, Cleveland 105; Denver 117, New York 112; Atlanta 95, Phoenix 88; Boston 118, Chicago 105; Washington 113, Houston 109; Golden State 108, Seattle 103 and Portland 130, San Antonio 118.

Olberding was only 7-of-18 from the field, but his extra aggressiveness in going to the basket helped him draw a lot of fouls, and he was 12 for 13 from the free-throw line.

Meanwhile, Mark Aguirre, third in the NBA in scoring with a 28.7 average, poured in 38 points to lead the Mavericks, but their next-highest scorer was Kurt Nimphius with 14. Dallas got only one point in 23 minutes from Rolando Blackman, its second-leading scorer with a 19.6 norm.

Dallas Coach Dick Motta said Kansas City is a better team than its 9-10 record.

"We beat Los Angeles the other night by 17 points, and Kansas City beat us tonight," Motta said. "I think they (the Kings) are a better ball club than their record indicates. I picked them all along to win the division."

Forward Eddie Johnson scored 25 points for the Kings, while Larry Drew added 16 points and 13 assists.

The Kings led by as many as 10 points in the third quarter, but the Mavericks cut the deficit to five on two free throws by Jay Vincent at the 8:16 mark of the fourth quarter.

Then the Kings scored the next eight points to go up 103-90, their biggest lead of the contest. The Mavericks got no closer than six points the rest of the way.

BIAZERS 130, SPURS 118
Portland handed San Antonio its 10th straight loss on the road this season behind guards Jim Paxson and Lafayette Lever.

Paxson scored 26 points and Lever had nine of his 23 in the second quarter. The Trail Blazers outscored the Spurs 33-20 in that period to take a 61-48 lead at halftime and Portland went on to lead by as many as 20 in the fourth quarter.

WARRIORS 108, SONICS 103
At Oakland, Purvis Short scored 26 points, including four free throws in the final minute to keep Golden State ahead of Seattle.

Eric Floyd added 22 points for the Warriors. His layup with 1:08 left put Golden State ahead to stay at 104-103.

La Plata boys, Stanton girls big winners in Monday action

Boys from La Plata and girls from Stanton were the big winners Monday in local junior high school basketball action.

At Stanton, the host girls began their whitewash with a 32-30 win in the seventh-grade game. Sharon Terry and Rene Mercer led the Dogies with 10 and six points, respectively.

In eighth-grade action, Stanton prevailed 33-25 behind 14 tallies by Crystal Ball. Pansie Wilson netted 26 and Bernice Ross 13 for Stanton in a 51-37 ninth-grade triumph. Roger McCracken's 11 points and eight tallies from Jason Scott vaulted the La Plata seventh graders to a 40-26 conquest of Stanton.

Also at La Plata, the host eighth graders finished on top 39-26 as Arturo Martinez (11 points) and Darrell Page (10) led the Mustangs. The final score of the ninth-grade contest was a convincing 69-45.

La Plata. Bobby Bullard hit 15 for the winners.

Young sparks Houston win

By DICK JOYCE AP Sports Writer

Michael Young, an unsung member of Houston's Phi Slama Jama fraternity last season despite being the Cougars' leading scorer, came to the rescue against ninth-ranked Louisiana State.

With 7-foot Akeem Olajuwon hampered by foul trouble, Young, a 6-foot-6 senior, took control and scored 25 points Tuesday night in giving No. 6 Houston a hard-fought 100-91 college basketball triumph at Baton Rouge, La.

"We're not a one-man ball club," said Houston coach Guy Lewis.

In the only other games involving the Top Twenty, No. 3 Georgetown romped past St. Leo 82-50 at Landover, Md.; No. 11 Maryland topped Penn State 67-58 at Hershey, Pa., and No. 13 DePaul posted an 84-60 home victory over Western Michigan.

Houston is 5-1 after suffering an opening loss to defending NCAA champion North Carolina State, and Lewis called LSU the one of the best team the Cougars will play this season, adding, "I think they're a very, very strong ball club. I'd hate to play them every night."

The second half was six minutes old when Olajuwon picked up his fourth foul. He fouled out with 6:31 remaining, finishing with 14 points, 10 rebounds and one block in 30 minutes.

John Tudor, LSU senior, said the Tigers at first were intimidated by Olajuwon.

"I say intimidated because we didn't take it to him and make him prove he can put it back down our throats," said Tudor. The Tigers decided to take it inside but "it didn't develop," according to Tudor. "It didn't work out."

LSU reduced Houston's margin to 52-50, but Young poured in 13 of his points after that. Young and Reid Gettys made 10 straight free throws to hold off the Tigers, who dropped their first game in six starts.

Alvin Franklin added 21 points and Gettys 14 for Houston, while LSU got 22 points from Derrick Taylor and 21 from Tudor.

Top Twenty
Georgetown, tuning up for its first stiff test of the season, against DePaul Saturday, ran its record to 5-0 as freshman Michael Graham scored 16 points and Patrick Ewing 15 against St. Leo, 1-3, which got 23 points from Brad McDonald.

Ewing, playing with four personal fouls much of the second half, also contributed nine rebounds and four blocks. Bill Martin scored 14 points and grabbed 12 rebounds as the Hoyas controlled the boards.

DePaul, meanwhile, led by 26 points in the first 10 minutes en route to its fourth victory in as many games. Tony Jackson's 14 points led the balanced Blue Demons' attack against Western Michigan, 1-3, which started four freshmen.

Maryland, upset by Penn State last season, slowed down the tempo and held the ball after the Nittany Lions pulled to within 49-47 with 12:02 to go. The Terrapins led only 57-51 with 1:27 remaining, but Jeff Adkins' seven free throws clinched the victory, their third against one loss.

Adkins finished with 15 points and Adrian Branch added 14. Penn State, 1-1, was led by Dick Mumma's 17 points.

Unranked Teams

At Bloomington, Ind., freshman Steve Alford scored 26 points and Uwe Blab and freshman Marty Simmons added 13 apiece as Indiana, 2-2, downed Tennessee Tech 81-66. Steve Kite scored 14 points for Tech, 1-2.

Virginia, with Ricky Stokes' 15 points leading four Cavaliers in double figures, boosted its record to 5-0 against host George Washington 65-55. It was the first loss in four games for the Colonials, who got 24 points from Mike Brown.

At Nashville, Tenn., George Montgomery scored 17 points in powering Illinois, 5-0, over Vanderbilt 69-55; at Richmond, Va., unbeaten Virginia Commonwealth was forced to rally in posting its third victory, 41-38 over William & Mary; host San Diego State got 29 points from Michael Cage in thumping Long Beach State 91-76, and Bob Lojewski scored 10 of his 27 points in the last four minutes as St. Joseph's edged Philadelphia rival La Salle 74-72.

Delaney Rudd and Kenny Green each scored 16 points as Wake Forest, 4-0, tripped Davidson 62-51 at Winston Salem, N.C.; Steve Mitchell's 23 points and 12 assists earned host, Alabama-Birmingham an 83-73 Sun Belt Conference victory over Old Dominion; David Allen's 22 points led Northern Arizona to a 71-70 upset over visiting Arizona State 71-70.

Wayman Tisdale's 29 points led Oklahoma past Arkansas State 83-61 at Norman, Okla.; host Southern Methodist hit 64 percent from the field in crushing Penn 98-66; James Williams scored 20 points and grabbed 11 rebounds as Missouri Mississippi tripped Mississippi State 55-48 in Hattiesburg, and Texas got by visiting Biscayne 51-50.

"B" Champs

Brown still top candidate for job as AL president

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Major league owners at the winter meetings find the election of a commissioner and new president for the American League the chief items on their agenda.

Dr. Bobby Brown, the noted Dallas heart surgeon and ex-New York Yankee infielder, remained the leading candidate for the AL job with a decision expected Thursday.

A new name — White House chief of staff James Baker — was mentioned as a possibility for the commissioner's post. Baker, a 53-year-old Texan has served in President Reagan's administration since 1980. He possesses the prominent Washington status which would fit the current profile for the job being discussed by the search committee, according to two sources.

But White House press aide Kim Hoggard issued a statement saying, "In the past three years, there have been several press reports of job changes for Mr. Baker and we didn't choose to comment on them then and we don't intend to start now."

Eddie Chiles, owner of the Texas Rangers and a friend of Baker's, said "I saw him at the White House six weeks ago and he didn't say anything about it to me then. I've never heard his name mentioned in connection with baseball."

"With the state of affairs of the country right now, I think maybe we need him more in the White House than we do in baseball, so I'd like to see him stay where he is."

Meanwhile, New York Yankee owner George Steinbrenner checked in Tuesday night but refused to clarify his team's managerial situation.

"Fellas, I'm not going to have anything to say," he told newsmen who had waited some three hours for his arrival.

Only one trade was announced Tuesday as Pittsburgh came away with one of the most sought-after players at the meetings, acquiring left-hander John Tudor from Boston in exchange for outfielder Mike Easler.

The Red Sox, equipped with a surplus of left-handed pitchers, came here prepared to trade Tudor to the highest bidder. And Pittsburgh won the auction by supplying the Red Sox with the left-handed hitter they were after.

Redskins' ball-stealing tactics worry Landry

DALLAS (AP) — The Washington Redskins' ball-stealing talents have Dallas Coach Tom Landry worried.

The thieving Redskins have a National Football League high of a plus 40 in turnovers.

Landry called the Washington surplus of recovered fumbles and interceptions "incredible."

Dallas is second with a plus 16 turnovers or takeaways. The National Football League history books don't list records for plus turnovers but the current edition of the Redskins would qualify as one of the best ever.

Ironically, the only two games Washington has lost this season were ones in which they didn't have plus turnovers.

Dallas beat Washington 31-30 in a season opener and the Redskins were a minus one in takeaways.

In a 48-47 loss to Green Bay, Washington was even in turnovers that night.

"Washington is on a roll and that roll basically is turnovers," Landry said. "It's incredible that the team is a plus 40 or almost three a game. That's an extra thirty yards or so each game."

Special Assistant Neill Armstrong said "I don't know any team that's ever had 40 plus turnovers at this time of the year. Normally, 15 to 16 for this part of the season is excellent."

Both teams are 12-2 and have clinched wild card spots going into Texas Stadium Sunday for their 3 p.m. National Conference Eastern Division showdown.

Dallas, which beat Washington 31-30 in the season opener, can win the title with a victory because of a big edge in tie-breaking procedures.

The Redskins would have to beat the Cowboys and the New York Giants the next week to win the championship.

Landry said a third Dallas-Washington confrontation in the playoffs would "have to be expected if things go normal."

The conference winner gets the homefield advantage throughout the playoffs and doesn't have to play until either Dec. 31 or Jan. 1.

Dallas has lost three consecutive seasons in the NFC title game on the road.

The runnerup in the NFC East will host a first round wild card game Dec. 26, but will have to play on the road the rest of the playoffs.

The Cowboys were rated a field goal favorite and Landry said "They (the oddsmakers) must be giving us credit for playing at home."

Dallas has a 9-1 record over Washington in Texas Stadium.

The lone loss to Washington in Texas Stadium was a 27-14 decision in 1976.

Dallas is seeking to win 13 games for the first time in the history of the club.

Response to 'Heartsick'

DEAR FRIENDS: A writer who signed herself "Heartsick" has a daughter who is in love with a young man she and her husband detest. She asked me how such marriages usually turn out. I went to my best source—the readers—and was inundated with emotionally charged responses. Here are as many as space permits:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My parents were dead set against my marriage to "D" because she was my first cousin. They said our children would be morons. We married anyway and produced three Phi Beta Kappas — one a Fulbright scholar.—CT Fans

DEAR CT: How lovely! And lucky, too, that there were no inheritable diseases on both sides of the family. First cousins who wish to marry should get genetic counseling and make sure such a marriage is legal in their state.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I passed up three chances to marry because my mother didn't think any man was good enough for me. At 43, I am vice president of a company and lonely as hell. Too bad I didn't follow my heart and tell my mother to butt out.—Chicago.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My parents were dead-set against Mike. He was Irish Catholic, lived on the wrong side of the tracks and had one suit of clothes to his name. My two sisters are now divorced from their fancy WASP husbands. Mike and I have five great kids, a solid marriage and my folks love him like crazy.—Pittsburgh

DEAR ANN: Mother was a widow, 19 years older than I. She was violently opposed to my marriage to Don and succeeded in breaking us up. The following year, she married him herself. If there is a God in heaven, she will burn in hell.—Bitter

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My beautiful 21-year-old daughter is following in my footsteps. SHE has fallen for a handsome, charming, no-good bum—like her father. But I shall not make the same mistake my mother made. I'm keeping my mouth shut. I'll bet she dumps him within six months—Santa Monica, Calif.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My advice to any girl whose folks have strong objections to the man of her choice—give it one year. Don't defy them to prove you are independent. Thank the Lord my minister talked me into waiting. After eight months I knew Joe wasn't right for me. Two years later I married a man who was.—Lucky In Oregon

DEAR ANN LANDERS: His folks hated me. My folks hated him. All that hate kept us together. It was us against the world. We ran off eight years ago. We now have three kids and our marriage stinks.—Birmingham

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Dad, who was 5 feet, 5 inches, loathed Tom because he was 6 feet, 6 inches. (Called him "The Gorilla.") One night the house caught fire and "The Gorilla" saved both my parents and my handicapped brother. Today, 10 years later, we all live together and get along great.—Steubenville

DEAR "HEARTSICK": Let your daughter choose her own husband. If he's the wrong one, it will be her mistake. I'm a mother who interfered and am no longer welcome in their home. There is no hell like being written off by an only child.—Utah Regrets

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Mary's father offered me $10,000 to leave town and forget about his daughter. I refused and we were married by a justice of the peace. She is a spoiled brat, a daddy's girl and a pain in the tail. I wish I had taken the money and scrambled.—San Juan, P.R.

Slentz speaks to L'Allegra members

L'Allegra Study Club met in the home of Karen Payne recently. Janice Carr, vice-president and program chairman, introduced Virgil Slentz, who spoke to the group on "Givers and Takers."

Slentz stressed the fact that those who get the most out of life are the ones who are putting the most into it. He said the givers are the ones who give of their time, devotion and energies unselfishly.

This principle applies to marriage, job, school work, club work and other areas of life, he continued. The people who are most happy and successful at all of these things are the people who are willing to give of themselves.

Following the program a short business meeting was held, conducted by President Betty Martin. Club members decided to contribute $200 to the Hereford Christmas Stocking Fund for local needy.

Ms. Payne and co-hostess, Susan Mannschreck, treated the members to spudnuts, coffee and almond tea, along with Christmas candies and nuts.

Others attending were Lynne Carlile, Margaret Carnahan, Janette Caviness, Kay Lynn Caviness, Janice Conkright, Kitty Gault, Carolyn Hays, Barbara Kerr.

Also, Joyce Lomas, Selsey Metz, Donna Parris, Brenda Reinauer, Linda Reinauer, Naomi Schroeter, Jody Skiles, Ella Marie Veigel, and Judy Wall.

Signs of optimism noted

By DON KENDALL AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — News that shoppers are flexing their pre-Christmas spending muscles could also be a promising signal for livestock producers down the road in 1984.

Agriculture Department economists and others have been saying for months that economic recovery and rising consumer demand eventually will help boost the outlook for meat and poultry producers.

However, there is a glut of meat at the present time. And it may be mid-1984 or later before demand catches up with the supply.

The latest signs of optimism came this week in business reports that consumer confidence in November rose to the highest pre-Christmas level in five years, lending weight to predictions that retailers would have their "best ever" holiday season.

Economists say with improvements in the nation's jobless rates and consumer spending, there will be some gains in demand for meat. When that happens, particularly when meat supplies decline, market prices generally rise.

Supplies of red meat and poultry are at record levels this fall due to expansions in 1982 and in early 1983. Drought, acreage cutbacks and other factors pushed up feed costs. With depressed livestock markets, producers sold animals that ordinarily would have been held longer.

"Herd reductions will result in lower meat production by mid-1984," says the USDA's Economic Research Service in its latest outlook. "However, total meat supplies during the second half of 1984 may still be the third highest on record, due to expanded poultry production."

That has put heavy pressure on livestock prices. Last week, the department reported that cattle prices as of mid-November averaged $51.40 per hundredweight. According to USDA records, that was the lowest since August 1978. Hog prices, at $36.90 per hundredweight, were the lowest since June 1980.

"Total red meat and poultry supplies are expected to remain large through early spring," the report said.

But if the winter is unusually harsh, forcing more "non-fed" cattle onto the market because of scarce forage, total meat supplies could be even larger. Another major unknown is the new dairy program signed into law last week.

Under it, dairy farmers for the first time will get direct federal payments for reducing milk output. Surplus cows will be sent to slaughter, meaning additional meat in the marketplace.

The report said the impact of the dairy program is still being studied and that current forecasts "do not take into account any increases in dairy cow slaughter that might result" as milk producers trim herds.

Meanwhile, the record supply of meat this fall has meant sharply lower prices at retail counters, the report said. Pork averaged $1.62 per pound in October, on an all-cut basis, compared to a peak of $1.91 a year earlier.

Retail beef prices averaged $2.32 per pound in October, the lowest since April 1981. The all-cut retail price of beef was a high of $2.55 per pound in July 1982.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An additional 300,000 metric tons of U.S. corn — about 11.8 million bushels — have been sold to the Soviet Union for delivery in 1983-84 under a new long-term agreement that took effect Oct. 1, the Agriculture Department says.

It was the second sale announced since the Soviets returned to the U.S. grain market last week following a two-month absence.

The sales were reported to the department by private exporters, as required by law. No prices or other terms were disclosed in Tuesday's announcement.

However, the department says the current estimated farm price of corn is $3.19 per bushel.

A metric ton is about 2,205 pounds and is equal to 39.4 bushels of corn or 36.7 bushels of wheat or soybeans.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are consuming less sugar and more of a super-sweet synthetic called aspartame, which is gaining popularity in the diet drink industry, says the Agriculture Department.

"Since last July, when the Food and Drug Administration approved aspartame — APM — for use in carbonated soft drinks, all major soft drink companies have adopted APM in varying degrees," a new outlook report said Tuesday. "By year-end, all will have at least one reformulated diet drink using APM."

Low-calorie products are estimated to comprise 15 percent to 20 percent of the soft-drink market in 1983, the report said. Next year, boosted by aspartame, the low-calorie share could rise another five percentage points.

Another development has been the popularity of high-fructose corn syrup as a sweetener by the soft-drink industry and others. This year, the report said, its use could reach 3.6 million tons, up from 3.1 million in 1982 and 2.6 million in 1981.

Meanwhile, the report said, domestic use of sugar could decline 200,000 to 400,000 tons in the fiscal year that began on Oct. 1 from an estimated 9 million tons consumed in 1982-83.

Haskell man named as 'Outstanding Farmer'

A cotton and grain farmer from Haskell County was named 1983 Texas Farm Bureau "Outstanding Young Farmer and Rancher" at the organization's 50th annual convention in the Shamrock Hilton Hotel in Houston this past week.

Steven and Phoi McGuire of Haskell farm 849 acres including 440 acres of cotton, 120 acres of wheat, 23 acres of oats and 110 acres of milo.

The other finalists in the contest were Barry and Linda Dickerson of Weslaco in Hidalgo County and Bobby McDonald, a bachelor from Sulphur Springs in Hopkins County.

The Dickersons have a 920-acre farm, including 250 acres of cotton, 400 acres of grain, 229 acres of corn and 55 acres of sugarcane. McDonald has a 329-acre dairy farm operation.

The McGuires will represent TFB at the American Farm Bureau Federation convention in Orlando, Fla., Jan. 8-12, and compete for the AFBF Young Farmer and Rancher Award. They will also receive one year's free use of a 1984 Ford pickup, courtesy of Bird-Kultgen Ford Co. of Waco.

McGuire, 27, is in partnership with his brother, Mike. They also have a cow-calf operation.

To survive in today's farming, McGuire said, one must have a "diverse operation... a farmer or rancher must also make the most of his equipment purchases."

Performances of the Nutcracker scheduled

In what has become a holiday tradition, the Lone Star Ballet of Amarillo and the Amarillo Symphony will join forces to present The Nutcracker Ballet in the Amarillo Civic Center Auditorium.

Performances are set for 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 3 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The Nutcracker is a magical story of music and dance that has long captured the imagination of young and old alike. It is about a little girl named Clara and how her dreams come true one Christmas Eve.

She encounters everything from giant mice to a handsome prince, entering a fantasyland of magic, suspense and beauty.

The Lone Star Ballet is under the direction of Neil Hess and the Amarillo Symphony will be directed by guest conductor, Jason Klein. Guest artists from the New York City Ballet will include Alexia Hess and Christopher d'Amboise.

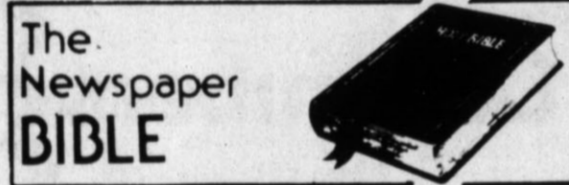

Tickets for this weekend's performances are priced at $5, $10 and $15 with a dollar discount for children under 12 and senior citizens over 65.

They may be purchased from the Lone Star Ballet office, 1000 South Polk in Amarillo, (806) 372-2463, any Amarillo Hasting's location, or from the "Texas" box office in Canyon.

Baby Buffoons

Magical creatures like these baby buffoons will appear on the stage of the Amarillo Civic Center Auditorium this weekend for four performances of the Nutcracker Ballet, presented by the Lone Star Ballet and the Amarillo Symphony.

HAPPINESS IS...

As for Philip, an angel of the Lord said to him, "Go over to the road that runs from Jerusalem through the Gaza Desert. So he did, and who should be coming down the road but the Treasurer of Ethiopia, a eunuch of great authority under Candace the queen. He had gone to Jerusalem to worship at the Temple, and was now returning in his chariot, reading aloud from the book of the prophet Isaiah."

The Holy Spirit said to Philip, "Go over and walk along beside the chariot!" Philip ran over and heard what he was reading and asked, "Do you understand it?"

"Of course not!" the man replied. "How can I when there is no one to instruct me?" And he begged Philip to come up into the chariot and sit with him! The passage of Scripture he had been reading from was this: "He was led as a sheep to the slaughter, and as a lamb is silent before the shearer, so He opened not his mouth; in his humiliation, justice was denied him; and who can express the wickedness of the people of His generation? For His life is taken from the earth."

The eunuch asked Philip, "Was Isaiah talking about himself or someone else?"

So Philip began with this same Scripture and then used many others to tell him about Jesus. As they rode along, they came to a small body of water, and the eunuch said, "Look! Water! Why can't I be baptized?"

"You can," Philip answered, "if you believe with all your heart." And the eunuch replied, "I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God."

He stopped the chariot, and they went down into the water and Philip baptized him. And when they came up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, and the eunuch never saw him again, but went on his way rejoicing.

Acts 8:26-39

Bay View Study Club holds Christmas tea

Bay View Study Club celebrated the season with a Christmas tea at the E.B. Black House Thursday afternoon. Guests were greeted in the reception hall by the hostesses, Mary Garrison, Clara Gilentine, Lois Gilliland and Maarki Hutto.

Helen Langley, president, conducted a short business meeting. She reminded club members that Bay View Study Club will celebrate its 75th anniversary in 1984 and she appointed a committee to plan for the observance.

Members of the committee are Ruth Allison, Clara Gilentine, Nancy Josseland, Ruth McBride, and Mrs. Langley, chairman.

The program was presented by Jeryl Hoover, music director at First Baptist Church, who spoke on Christmas traditions and customs.

In lieu of a gift exchange, each member made a contribution to the Christmas Stocking Fund.

Hot cranberry punch and cheese balls were served at the beautifully appointed dining room table. Mrs. Langley presided at the silver tea service.

Members present were Margaret Golden, Katherine Benefield, Amy Gilliland, Edna Gault, Jeanette Case, Helen Eades, Fern Ford, Virginia Garner, Meredith Wilcox, Nancy Hayes, Virginia Bayne, Helen Rose, and Mmes. Langley, Gillentine, Garrison, Gilliland, Josseland, Allison and Hutto.

Brain disorder cited in defense testimony

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — A brain disorder may have hampered the ability of a Conroe man accused of kidnapping another man and burying him alive for four days to determine right from wrong, a defense witness has testified.

Dr. Rudy Roden, a University of Texas Medical Branch associate professor of psychiatry, said Tuesday that Ronald Floyd White was suffering from the disorder in September 1982, when he allegedly abducted Michael Baucom, 22, of Santa Fe, and buried him alive for four days while trying to collect a $75,000 ransom.

White has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

"The fact that one is crazy doesn't mean that one is stupid," Roden replied when Assistant Galveston County District Attorney Jim James asked if the disorder would prevent a person from planning and carrying out a crime. Dr. Martin Caperton of Conroe, who treated White for high blood pressure in 1981, testified that if White suffered from the disorder, called encephalopathy, he probably would not have been able to carry out the alleged crime or some of the simplest of daily activities.

Encephalopathy, commonly called organic brain syndrome, may be caused by very high blood pressure and consequent brain hemorrhaging that can't be detected by the most sophisticated medical brain scanning devices, Caperton said.

Abundant Life

By BOB WEAR

We remember, because remembering is a built-in, ongoing process. If we just let it happen, it is likely to be hurtful; but, if we control it by rejecting the undesirable and giving preference to the desirable, remembering will serve us very well.

It is admitted that some things must be forgotten, but there are many things we must remember. For personal effectiveness, we must be constantly remembering the desirable, the helpful and the wise things and ways. Repetition is one of the basic laws of learning. Even though some folk downgrade it, we are convinced that it can be very helpful as part of the process of remembering.

In remembering, we are able to put to work, in our behavior, the preferred impressions of the past. This action will also help us to avoid making the same mistakes over and over again. Thus we can permit the pleasant happenings to continue as a source of encouragement and support for the present challenges.

We are better equipped for the best of living in the present, if we frequently and deliberately remember the guidelines and principles which have served us well in past experiences. By this action, we can continue bringing these desired influences to the place of control in our behavior.

Remembering can be painful, but it need not be. Actually, it can help us or hurt us and we do have the privilege of deciding which it shall be. Therefore we must consciously and deliberately manage it so that it will serve us well. There will be times, when it is wise to very carefully push some thoughts aside and bring the desired thoughts up front so they can be dominant.

Remembering can be very unpleasant, or it can be very pleasant; therefore we must control it and not permit it to control us.

The Greek word kryllos, or frost, is the correct name for a snowflake. A snowflake is formed when hydrogen and oxygen atoms are held together by electric charges. How large and elaborate a snowflake is, is determined by the temperature at which it is formed.

The hoatzin, a rare South American bird, has claws on its wings in addition to those on its feet. These claws help the young crawl about in trees.
