Klett receives Bull Chip Award

SW Bell showcases system

Klett wins Bull Chip

Wes Klett was the recipient of the Honorary Bull Chip Award at this morning's Chamber Fun Breakfast at the Hereford Community Center. Klett was honored for his work as general chairman of the July 4th celebration in Hereford.

Wes Klett was the recipient of the Honorary Bull Chip Award at this morning's annual "Eat Your Heart Out, Neiman-Marcus" Christmas Fun Breakfast at the Hereford Community Center.

The breakfast was sponsored by Southwestern Bell Telephone. Gary Stevens, area manager for Southwestern Bell, demonstrated the company's new digital switching system which will go on line in Hereford on Saturday. Klett received the Bull Chip from Speedy Nieman. He is the 62nd individual to receive the award since 1975.

Klett has lived in Hereford for only 11 months, but jumped into community activities with both feet. He has been active in several Chamber of Commerce activities and with the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center.

Klett served as general chairman of the July 4th Celebration in Hereford, the first such Independence Day event held in Hereford in many years. "His leadership helped make it a very successful event," Nieman said.

Klett is president of AniPro, a subsidiary of Nutrition Service Associates of Hereford. He and his wife, Lisa, have two sons and a baby daughter.

"I appreciate this," said Klett. "It's been wonderful living in Hereford and I look forward to spending the rest of my life here. Thanks for welcoming us into the community with open arms."

Stevens, with the help of Teresa Garth, Don Cumpton and Wes Fisher, demonstrated new features that will be available with the digital switching system in Hereford. Stevens said Southwestern Bell has owned the phone company here since 1911, when the system has 341 stations. The digital switch is the most major change since 1957, when the city received direct distance dialing for long-distance service.

Workers have been wiring into the old mechanical switch for several months and will cut off the old system early Saturday morning and convert to the computerized system.

The new system will allow Southwestern Bell to offer speed calling, three-way calling, call forwarding and call waiting. Stevens demonstrated the services with the help of the volunteers.

Persons attending the breakfast were treated to several piano duets of Christmas songs by Jan Walser and Dee Anne Trotter, and were entertained by a visitor from the North, Santa, and a visitor from the Northeast, Clausnick.

Twelve Southwestern Bell Freedom Phone units were given away, and Peggie Fox received $250 in Hereford Bucks.

Several announcements were made about upcoming events, including: --The Festival of Trees is underway today through Sunday at the Hereford Senior Center.

--The Red Cross is accepting donations of toys for needy children. --Entry blanks have been distributed for the Christmas lighting contest sponsored by the Women's Division of the chamber.

--The Women's Division will sponsor Coffee Memorial Blood Center from 4-7 p.m. Wednesday at the Hereford Community Center.

--La Madre Mia Study Club will sponsor the annual Tour of Homes on Dec. 8, 2-5 p.m. Tickets are available from club members for $3 per person.

--The Sharks will be in concert Friday at 7 p.m. at the Hereford High School auditorium. Tickets for the concert are $4 per person and will sponsor the Career Education Explorer post.

--The Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center in Hereford is sponsoring a Rent-a-Santa program. Santa's helpers may be reserved by calling 364-7822.

--L'Allegria Study Club is sponsoring Project Christmas Card, with canisters being distributed today. Proceeds from the community Christmas card project will benefit the purchase of new equipment at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Smoked out

Fun Breakfast co-chairmen John Stagner, left (with broken water-logged cigarette in his hand), and Charlie Bell were doused with water by Carey Black this morning at the fun breakfast. They were drenched as a reminder that today is the 15th annual Great American Smokeout, sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Smokeout underway today across the USA

By The Associated Press

Smokers wanting to kick the habit can trade their cigarettes for apples, sandwiches or even lottery tickets at the American Cancer Society celebrates its 15th annual Great American Smokeout today.

Each year the American Cancer Society asks smokers to refrain from lighting up for one day in hopes of encouraging a long-term change in lifestyle.

"Smoking remains the number one preventable cause of death in this country," Stan Tannenbaum, chairman of the American Cancer Society's Illinois Division, said Wednesday in a statement. "That's more than AIDS, crack, heroin, cocaine, alcohol, murder and car accidents combined."

In New York, "Cosby" kid Keisha Knight Pulliam, rapper D-Nice and actress Susan Anton were among the famous faces Wednesday at a countdown for the Smokeout.

"Mom, Dad and my two brothers: please stop! I love you," said Anton, one of the stars of the "Will Rogers Follies."

Appearing with the performers was Janet Sackman, a former Miss Chesterfield and Lucky Strikes model, who has throat and lung cancer.

"It couldn't happen to me: I said that every day for 33 years...." said Sackman.

In Buffalo, N.Y., administrators at the Erie County Medical Center chose today to begin a new policy banning smoking not only in the building - a policy common in many hospitals - but on the grounds.

In Illinois, the state public health department is asking smokers to trade their cigarettes for crunchy red apples and anti-smoking literature.

At one Chicago hospital, smokers who turn in a pack of cigarettes will get a state lottery ticket in return.

And in suburban Chicago, sandwich shops in Morton Grove, Northbrook, Glenview, Evanston and Highwood, part of the Subway chain, promised to give free six-inch cold turkey sandwiches to smokers who turn over their cigarettes.

Concerts planned Friday, Saturday

Who says there's nothing to do in Hereford?

Three concerts are scheduled this week: Friday night with The Sharks at 7 p.m. at the HHS Auditorium; rising country star Dude Mowrey on Saturday at 8 p.m. at Sugarland Mall; and the Moscow Balalaikas at 8 p.m. Saturday at the HHS Auditorium.

Along with these events, events will be held through Sunday at the Hereford Senior Center with the Festival of Trees.

A Shark attack will hit Hereford Friday at 7 p.m. at the Hereford High School Auditorium.

The Sharks, an Amarillo singing group, will perform the concert to benefit the Hereford High School Career Education Program sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America. Tickets, at $4 each, are available at Silver Screen Video, Hi-Tech Video and Video Escape.

"We know that a lot of people enjoyed the Sharks at the chamber banquet this year and have seen them before," said Beau Sill, local district executive for Boy Scouts. "We hope to have a large crowd to enjoy the concert and to help our program."

Up-and-coming country singer Dude Mowrey will appear live in concert Saturday at 8 p.m. at Sugarland Mall in Hereford.

Tickets are available for $10 in advance from any mall merchant or at HCR Real Estate. Tickets at the door will be $12 per person.

Henry Reid of HCR Real Estate, who also manages the mall, said the concert will be a test run to see if there is an interest in entertainment like this in Hereford.

Opening for the band will be Color Me Badd, a group from Amarillo. The group was formerly known as Prairie Fire.

Mowrey's debut album included "Honky Tonk Song," "Good Lookin'," "Cowboys Don't Cry," "Falling (Never Felt so Good)" and "We Got Love."

The Moscow Balalaikas will be featured in the second concert of the season offered by the Hereford Community Concert Association, Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Hereford High School Auditorium.

Hereford Community Concerts are for members only. Memberships are sold during their Spring membership drive. Only ticket holders are admitted.

The Moscow Balalaikas bring their rich musical heritage to a premier U.S. tour, with performances of authentic Soviet classics on traditional Russian folk instruments, and a tribute to the popular music of the peoples of the world.

Although the major artistic goal of the ensemble is to promote Russian musical heritage, its repertoire and method of playing also embrace a large variety of different styles from all over the world, accounting for a most unusual program of universal appeal.

City employees help locate ring

Grayce Gray thought she had lost her prize birthstone ring Wednesday afternoon in her dumpster.

She had emptied a load of trash and her husband, Norman, had put three bags of leaves in the dumpster when Grayce noticed her prized ring was missing.

They had rummaged around in the dumpster for about 15 minutes and had just about given up when City of Hereford employees Rick Whitehorn and Paul Kilpatrick drove up. Grayce told them what had happened.

"Rick jumped in the dumpster and began to dig in the corn in which it fell," she said. "They wouldn't give up, but Norman finally said, 'Boys, I think it's a lost cause.'

"But they didn't give up." Norman said Whitehorn had dug almost to the bottom of the dumpster by that time.

"In just a minute Rick stood up in the dumpster and asked, 'Is this it?'"

In his hand was the gold-and-gem ring.

"He climbed out of the dumpster and I gave him the biggest hug he ever had," Grayce said. "I told them I would fix them a huge steak, but they said they wouldn't take it. But they better not be surprised if I show up out there some morning with a nice fresh hot doughnut for them."

Court may have to devise fund law State senator looks at possible ruling

AUSTIN (AP) - If the Texas Supreme Court scraps the state's latest school finance system, then the justices should devise a new one, says the Senate Education Committee chairman.

"A ruling against the county education districts will, in effect, mandate massive school district consolidation, an income tax and possibly a statewide property tax. None of these three options are politically viable at this time," Sen. Carl Parker said in a Wednesday letter to Gov. Ann Richards.

"This leads me to recommend that, in the event the court overturns the Legislature's recent effort, there not be a special called (legislative) session to address this issue," he wrote. "I believe that it would be far better for the court to meet its own mandates and to make provisions for the necessary funding mechanisms."

The new law is designed to shift hundreds of millions of local property tax dollars from wealthier to poorer school districts within new education taxing regions, each made up of one or several counties.

It was enacted this year in response to a Supreme Court order to even out school districts' access to funding. The court has twice ruled previous school funding laws unconstitutional.

Parker, D-Port Arthur, referred to pointed questioning by several justices at a hearing Tuesday on the constitutionality of the new law.

Among the queries was whether the law is a back-door way of implementing a statewide property tax, which is prohibited by the state constitution. The system is being challenged by property-rich school districts and several taxpayers.

"I believe that the questions asked at the hearing yesterday are indicative of the leaning of some members of the court towards their perceived constituency. The fate of Texas children is too important for petty political agendas," Parker said.

Parker said that when lawmakers were working on the plan this year, "The one thing that appeared clear ... was that the Legislature had a court mandate to pursue tax base consolidation to the extent of superimposing one taxing authority over several school districts."

Parker was referring to a 5-4, supplementary opinion issued by the court on the subject.

Bill Cryer, Richards' press secretary, said of Parker's call for no special session, "We understand his sentiments exactly."

Cryer said that whether to call a special legislative session is something that Richards will consider if the court overturns the new law, adding, "We all fervently hope that it does not."

Lawyers for the state and a number of poor school districts have defended the new tax structure as constitutional, although some poor districts have cited concerns about other parts of the law, such as whether it includes enough state funding.

The property tax system was upheld in August by State District Judge F. Scott McCown of Austin. But he added that other challenges, such as whether the law's funding level is adequate, had yet to be considered in court.

Participants in the Hereford Satellite Center program recently were honored with awards at the Amarillo State Center's annual banquet. Receiving awards were, seated from left, Ruth Soria, Worker of the Year; Mary Brinkman, most improved attitude; Royce Legates, perfect attendance; Trudy Brown, most diligent worker; standing, Travis Johnson, "work comes before play," and Karen Shore, most improved all-around. Not pictured is Roy Zamora, most improved worker award recipient.

Affirmative action major review scheduled for federal programs

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush, in signing a major civil rights bill today, also is separately ordering a major review of government affirmative action programs and termination of any programs that encourage racial preferences, civil rights sources say.

In addition, the sources said Wednesday they understood that Bush planned to rescind federal guidelines dating to the Nixon administration that established standards for employers and the courts to use in determining whether specific hiring practices, including tests, are legal.

The president's order was separate from and appeared to go far beyond the scope of the civil rights bill. Civil rights leaders, who said they obtained purported advance copies of Bush's statement to be issued when he signs to bill into law today, voiced alarm and outrage.

"If the president does this tomorrow, the White House would be declaring war on civil rights," said Ralph Neas, head of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, an umbrella lobbying group. "Once again, the White House would be playing the race card. If they do so, they should be ashamed of themselves."

White House spokesman Doug Davidson, asked Wednesday night about what actions Bush might take simultaneously with signing the bill, said: "The written statement accompanying the signing of the bill is now being reviewed by relevant federal agencies."

"The president supports affirmative action and full compliance with the civil rights laws," Davidson said.

Bush scheduled an early-afternoon ceremony at the White House to sign the civil rights bill, which passed Congress earlier this month. His agreement to support a compromise version of the bill and to drop his assertion that it would encourage racial hiring quotas ended a two-year battle over the bill.

Supporters had sought the measure in order to negate a series of Supreme Court rulings that made it more difficult for plaintiffs to win job discrimination suits against employers.

The bill also expands the rights of women to sue and collect damages for sexual discrimination or harassment.

"He wanted to make sure this is genuinely not a quota bill," the official said, speaking on condition of anonymity. But the official said Bush in no way intended his action as "an attack on affirmative action."

Civil rights groups said they obtained copies of a Bush statement indicating he intended to go further, however, in ordering the termination of any hiring preferences or minority set-aside programs.

Bush's directive "will lead to some changes," the administration official said. "There are probably some things that the federal government is doing that are probably resulting in quotas."

But the administration source said Bush was not trying to dismantle affirmative action programs long in existence, such as minority hiring requirements for federal contractors.

Sexual discrimination laws currently allow plaintiffs to collect only back pay and attorneys' fees. But under the new law, victims will be able to collect awards as high as $50,000 to $300,000, depending on the size of the company.

Victims of racial discrimination face no monetary limits.

Teel Bivins appointed by Bullock

State Sen. Teel Bivins (R-Amarillo) has been appointed by Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock to serve on committees of the Southern Legislative Conference (SLC) and the National Conference of State Legislatures' State-Federal Assembly (NCSL).

In the SLC, Bivins will serve on the energy committee and the Agriculture and Rural Development Committee. In the NCSL, the senator will serve on the Energy Committee.

"These appointments will allow me to interact with legislators from other states and gain insight on how they are addressing their energy, agriculture and rural development concerns," Bivins said. "That experience will be valuable for the district as well as the state."

The SLC is a regional branch of the Council on State Governments, a group of state leaders from across the nation. The NCSL is a national organization of legislative leaders who study the effects of federal policies on states.

"This will be a tremendous opportunity to take our state and local concerns to the decision-makers in Washington," said Bivins. "It makes me mad that federal bureaucrats are constantly telling us Texas how to spend our money. These people in Washington need to know how their mandates are driving up state spending."

Cranston reacts angrily to rebuke

WASHINGTON (AP) - At once contrite and defiant, Sen. Alan Cranston suggested his Senate colleagues were hypocrites in a final, emotional defense against accusations that he had unethical dealings with savings and loan mogul Charles H. Keating Jr.

The angry last stand by 77-year-old California Democrat, who was formally rebuked Wednesday for his part in the "Keating Five" case, provoked an outraged response from one of his jurors on the Senate Ethics Committee, Republican Sen. Warren Rudman of New Hampshire.

Rudman called Cranston's defense - that he did nothing that other senators don't do - "arrogant ... and a smear on this institution."

"Everybody doesn't do it," Rudman said.

The exchange brought down the curtain on the Senate's two years of anguish over the Keating case.

Cranston and Rudman vowed to continue their battle. Rudman promised to issue next week a point-by-point rebuttal to Cranston's claim that he was unfairly singled out. Cranston, aided by celebrated defense lawyer Alan Dershowitz, said he'd fight back loudly.

But for the Senate, the Keating affair came to an end with two hours of debate and passive acceptance of a resolution. It said the Ethics Committee "on behalf of and in the name of the United States Senate, does hereby strongly and severely reprimand" Cranston.

By prior agreement there was no vote - a compromise between committee Republicans, who favored a vote of censure, and Democrats, who sought a lesser sanction.

The Senate floor was nearly at curtain on the Senate's two years of anguish over the Keating case.

with "improper and repugnant" dealings with Keating.

In a report summarized by Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., the ethics panel said it found Cranston "substantially linked" his official actions on behalf of Keating's failed Lincoln Savings and Loan with his fund-raising activities.

Keating and associates contributed $1.3 million to the campaigns and causes of five senators, with the bulk of it, $900,000, going to groups affiliated with Cranston.

The report accused the four-term senator of "an impermissible pattern of conduct in which fund raising and official activities were substantially linked."

"His behavior significantly deviated from the norms governing this body and from principles senators are expected to, and do, adhere to," Rudman said.

Cranston, who is ill with cancer, is leaving the Senate next year after 24 years. Rudman said those were mitigating factors in the committee's decision to let him off with a milder punishment than censure or expulsion.

Cranston began his response by reluctantly accepting the findings: "I rise with deep remorse in my heart to accept the reprimand of the committee."

But he at once turned combative and denied he was guilty of many of the committee's accusations.

The committee concluded last February that the conduct of Sens. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., and Donald W. Riegle Jr., D-Mich., in their dealings with Keating "gave the appearance of being improper."

Not smoking beneficial at any age

Cigarette smoking is the leading cause of preventable, premature death in middle-aged adults. But what if you're an older person who smokes?

For years, there's been a popular notion that older smokers "beat the odds" or that "it doesn't matter at my age."

A new study shows the hazards of such thinking - and points out the benefits of stopping, no matter what your age.

Assessing your risk

In the United States, more than 80 percent of all deaths from coronary heart disease and two-thirds of deaths from cancer occur among people who are age 65 or older.

Explains Richard D. Hurt, director of Mayo Clinic Rochester's Nicotine Dependence Center, "We've known for years that smoking helps cause these problems in middle-aged people. But it wasn't clear if this higher risk associated with smoking applies to older people."

On June 6, "The New England Journal of Medicine" reported a five-year study of 7,178 men and women from Iowa, Massachusetts and Connecticut. Each was age 65 or older and had no history of heart disease, stroke or cancer.

The study's conclusions:

*Male smokers had twice the death rates of men who'd never smoked. Female smokers had death rates 1.8 times higher than women who'd never smoked.

*In general, women are less apt than men to die of complications of smoking cigarettes. But more women are now smoking - they're smoking more and starting younger than ever before. If this trend continues, women likely will develop smoking-related complications at the same rate as men.

*The increased death rate among smokers is due to cardiovascular disease and lung cancer.

Cigarette smoke contains almost 4,000 chemicals, including trace amounts of such known poisons as DDT, arsenic and formaldehyde. Your lungs retain 70 to 90 percent of the compounds you inhale.

Smoking kills more Americans each year than cocaine, heroin, alcohol abuse, automobile accidents and suicide - combined.

Benefits of stopping

"This study shows that the dangers of smoking extend well into later life," says Dr. Hurt. "But the benefits of stopping continue, too." Your risk of developing cancer from smoking reflects your lifetime exposure to tobacco. Once you stop, your risk diminishes gradually over several years. The threat of dying from heart disease drops rapidly once you stop. In the study, former smokers had the same risk as people who'd never smoked.

Many older adults began smoking before health risks were well understood. "Nicotine is a powerful, addictive drug," says Dr. Hurt. But it's possible to break a pattern of smoking that extend even 40 years or more.

Programs in your community can help you develop the motivation and skills to stop. "Our experience shows that older adults can be as successful as younger people," says Dr. Hurt. "Stopping smoking is one of the most important things you can do to improve the quality of your life and to increase your life expectancy."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing to ask you to print a letter that could make a huge difference in the lives of a great many people. It is addressed to anyone who is considering suicide.

If you decide to end your life, that is your business. But please choose a method that does not involve anyone else. Those who do otherwise are grossly unfair. Let me explain.

My father was driving home in his 18-wheeler when an 85-year-old man deliberately ran directly in front of his truck. It took four hours to scrape that man off the truck and the pavement. The authorities had to return to the scene to find his foot, which was 70 feet from the accident. The officer in charge said he had never seen such a gruesome sight in his 18 years of service.

Over a period of 35 years, my father had driven 1 million miles without a fatality. He will never recover from that horrible experience.

It is unfair to make someone else pay such a price for an act that should be solitary. This letter is a plea for consideration in your final hour.--Theresa Dunn, Roland Heights, Calif.

DEAR THERESA: Thanks for a letter that speaks to a problem few people think about. In the same bag of mail was another letter with a similar message:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If anyone had told me that a book on how to commit suicide would become a best seller, I never would have believed it. This is a plea to those who are thinking about ending it all. If you want to leave this world, no one has the right to force you to stay, but please leave alone.

My daughter, a beautiful, bright young woman of 24, college-educated, engaged to be married, with a brilliant future ahead of her, was killed on a Saturday afternoon when a drug addict, high on cocaine, jumped to his death out of a 22-story window of a downtown office building. The man's body landed directly on my daughter, killing her instantly.

Even though that drug addict didn't mean to kill my daughter, she is just as dead as if he had taken a gun and put a bullet in her heart.--N.Y. Mother

DEAR MOTHER: My condolences on your terrible loss. Let's hope your letter prevents similar tragedies.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: After 28 years of marriage, my husband left me and moved in with a woman and her two children. She is 20 years younger than "Sam." We divorced soon after.

It is now four years later and they are still living together but not married. Sam's aunt is very upset by this. She called the bimbo's father and told him flat out that his daughter had no morals. The man replied, "I'll have you know my daughter is a highly moral person. She says grace before every meal."

I realize that a 40-year-old woman and a 60-year-old man are old enough to do as they please, but do you think a woman who lets a married man move in with her and her children, and say grace before meals is moral? Can you think of a snappy comeback if this comes up again?--Floored in Florida

DEAR FLOORED: "Snappy comebacks" are effective only when delivered spontaneously. If that bimbo isn't concerned about her own dignity she might at least give some consideration to the example she's setting for her children.

DEAR READERS: Art Buchwald, a very funny man, has put together his best book yet. It's the perfect pick-upper for those who have family problems, sex problems or money problems, which means all of us. The title: "Lighten Up, George." Published by G.P. Putnam's Sons. price $19.95 (higher in Canada).

What's the truth about pot, cocaine, LSD, PCP, crack, speed and downers? "The Lowdown on Dope" has up-to-the-minute information on drugs. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Lowdown, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

XEA met, painted shirts, heard reports

Xi Epsilon Alpha chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met recently in the home of Melinda Henson and painted a shirt for their adopted sister. Members painted hands and put them on a sweatshirt for Billie Brown, their adopted sister. This was incorporated into the program that Denise Hafliker presented.

President Holly Bixler conducted the business meeting. Thank yous were heard from Hafliker, Connie Matthews, Dalene Burns, Melinda Henson, Susan Shaw, Peggy Hyer, Susan Cardinal, Deann Harris, Bixler, Gaye Reily, Sharon Bodner and a special thank you from Linda Arellano for voting her chapter sweetheart.

Henson gave the treasurers report. Hyer made a motion to pay the bills and the second was from Donna Hendrickson. Discussion was heard on the success of the style show and suggestions were made for next year's show.

Linda Arellano, co-service chairman thanked everyone for bring toys for the American Red Cross toy drive. She also reminded us that Billie Brown's birthday is coming and not to forget to visit her. She also gave the group a quiz out of test and teasers, all monies collected go to the Christmas Stocking Fund.

Connie Matthews served as co-hostesses with Henson and served pumpkin bread, iced tea and coffee to Arellano, Bixler, Bodner, Dalene Burns, Cardinal, Hafliker, Hendrickson, Henson, Hyer, Matthews, Reily and Shaw.

Sorority celebrates rituals

Cagers ready for season early Andrews a slight favorite over Pampa in Lubbock

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

One man's misfortune is another man's gain.

Hereford football coach Danny Haney certainly isn't happy his team didn't make the playoffs, but for Herd basketball coach Jimmy Thomas, it's an opportunity to start his season out right.

All nine of the basketball players who'll comprise the initial varsity roster were also varsity football players. With the grid season ending early, all nine are in the gym playing basketball.

So, instead of seeing quarterback Richard Sanderson passing for long-gainers, we'll see point guard Richard Sanderson passing for assists. Tailback Leo Brown isn't rushing for touchdowns anymore, but forward Leo Brown is driving for dunks. And tight end Derek Mason is no longer blocking, but forward Derek Mason is blocking out.

Those three are Thomas' returning starters. Brown, a senior, was second-team all-district last season, while Sanderson was District 1-4A's sophomore of the year.

It's a good thing everybody's in camp early, because the Herd opens with 5A Coronado (5 p.m. Saturday at South Plains College), a team with a lot of height. The schedule doesn't get easy, Thomas said.

"We've probably got the toughest pre-season schedule we've had since I've been here," he said. "Our number one goal is to get prepared for district so we can make the playoffs."

"My philosophy is: you do not get better by playing weak teams, and if you lose you can get demoralized."

The Herd already has started with the tough schedule. Last week they scrimmaged against Palo Duro and Dunbar, some tough basketball teams. Herford won only one of the six scrimmage quarters, but were close enough in all of them to give the Herd confidence against the tough teams.

"Before, I thought we would get blown out," Brown said. "After, I feel good about the season coming up. Those guys have been in the gym a long time, and we did pretty good."

Hereford has been picked third and fourth in the district by various polls and publications, Thomas said. That's pretty good considering the top spot is virtually locked up by Pampa, which returns four starters off the state semi-finalist. Thomas said Pampa is ranked second or third in the state (4A) in some polls.

Getting ready

Hereford's Chad Sandoval drives around Angel Orosco, a junior varsity guard, in a workout Wednesday. The Herd basketball team is preparing for its season-opener against Coronado at 5 p.m. Saturday at South Plains College.

"I think we have as good a shot as anyone," he said.

"We have three returning starters and two all-district players. We have quality leadership, and right now, the attitudes are far and away the best they've been since I've been coaching."

"We're going to be fun to watch," he said. "We're going to take pride in our defense. We're going to be a pressing type team. I think pressing speeds the game up."

"Pressing is desire and heart. We don't have a lot of super quickness, but our kids display desire and heart."

The Herd's court general will be Sanderson, who averaged 16 points and 5 assists per district contest last season.

"Richard's probably one of the best passers I've ever coached. He sees the court very well," Thomas said.

Mason (8 rebounds, 6 points) will be at one forward spot, with Brown (14 points, 9.5 rebounds) at the other.

"Derek is a real smooth, heady type player," Thomas said. "He doesn't throw the ball away a lot, and he takes good shots."

Brown is a versatile player who may play at several positions this season. According to Thomas, Brown both handles the ball well and "plays bigger than his height," which is 6-2. Brown may even play some center, but mostly it'll be 6-5 Sean Smith or 6-1 Eric Sims.

The three top scorers on last season's junior varsity will move up. According to JV coach Oscar Rendon, Kyle Hansen averaged about 16 points per game, Chad Sandoval averaged 14 ppg, and Kevin Kelso averaged 12. Kelso, who came on strong and averaged about 16 points a game for the last 10 games, will start at shooting guard.

Rounding out the varsity will be Jason Tatarevich, who makes the jump from last year's sophomore team. He'll fill a back-up point guard role, Thomas said.

"This is the first year I've had a whole lot of bench strength," Thomas said. "That helps a whole lot."

Pampa and Andrews collide at 2 p.m. Saturday in Jones Stadium in Lubbock. According to the Harris Rating System, the second-round 4A match-up should be a good one, with Andrews (8-2) as a one-point favorite over the Harvesters (9-2).

As the playoffs progress, the number of Panhandle teams still alive dwindles. Amarillo's and Lubbock's 5A teams all are out of it, with Palo Duro, Tascosa and Coronado losing in bi-district. The teams which beat them--Midland Lee, Odessa Permian and San Angelo Central, respectively--are heavy favorites against El Paso teams in the second round: Central by 14 over EP Socorro (in Division I), Lee by 17 over EP Andrews and Permian by 28 over EP Austin (in Division II).

The other 4A game involving area teams is Sweetwater against Lubbock Estacado. Harris has Sweetwater as 6-point favorites.

In 3A, Harris picks Breckenridge by 4 over Childress and Vernon by 20 over Littlefield.

A big game in 2A has 11-0 Wellington picked by one over 10-0-1 Seagraves. Also, it's Spearman by 12 over Crosbyton.

In Class A, it's Memphis by 20 over Paducah and Wheeler by 26 over Motley County.

Bo quits football

By JOHN NADEL
AP Sports Writer

Steve Wright, who threw a lot of blocks for Bo Jackson from his right tackle position, seemed relieved at the news that his former teammate is finished with football.

"It's probably a good idea," Wright said Wednesday at the Los Angeles Raiders' practice facility in El Segundo, Calif. "He doesn't need it."

Jackson, who turns 29 on Nov. 30, said Tuesday in Chicago that he's strictly a one-sport athlete from now on, and that sport is baseball.

"As far as I'm concerned, I have to do what my doctors told me," Jackson said. "I can't argue with it." A Heisman Trophy winner at Auburn in 1985, Jackson played four seasons with the Raiders, rushing for 2,782 yards on 515 carries and catching 40 passes for 352 yards. He scored 18 touchdowns - 16 on runs and two on pass receptions.

"It was just a real joy to block for somebody who hit a hole that fast," Wright said.

Jordan doesn't miss Richmond

By The Associated Press
 The best thing about seeing Jordan this season for Michael Jordan was not seeing Mitch Richmond.
 Jordan scored 35 points, his most in Oakland since 1986, and led the Chicago Bulls past the Golden State Warriors 112-108 on Wednesday night.
 Jordan had averaged only 21.4 points in seven prior games at the Oakland Coliseum, his lowest at any NBA arena. Last season, the Warriors held him to a season-low 14 points.
 In the past, Richmond usually was the man who guarded Jordan. But with Richmond traded to Sacramento, the task fell to Chris Mullin, who had a little more trouble jamming Jordan.
 "Yeah, I got rid of it," Jordan said of his Oakland jinx. "I had to, or else you guys would keep reminding me about it."
 Jordan scored 40 points at Golden State on Nov. 29, 1986, in a loss to the Warriors. This time, he not only led the Bulls in scoring, but also helped shut down Mullin.
 Mullin shot just 7-for-18 from the field and finished with 18 points.
 "I was more happy with my defense tonight. I was able to anticipate a lot of Chris' moves,"

Jordan said.
 Jordan wasn't exactly Mr. Accurate at the start. He was only 3-for-10 in the first half, but came back in the second half to shoot 9-for-15 and add 22 points.
 Scottie Pippen scored 26 points for Chicago. His jump shot with 2:06 left as the 24-second clock was about to expire put the Bulls ahead 107-104, and they led by at least three points the rest of the way.
 Sharunas Marciulionis and Rod Higgins each scored 22 points for the Warriors.
Hawks 116, Kings 104
 Sacramento's NBA record road losing streak reached one year and 42 games when Dominique Wilkins again led Atlanta.
 Wilkins scored 11 of his 32 points in the final five minutes.
 Mitch Richmond had 31 points and Lionel Simmons 26 for the Kings.
Celtics 116, Pacers 101
 Larry Bird had 26 points and 19 rebounds.
 Reggie Lewis added 20 points and John Bagley had 18 as the Celtics made up for the injured Kevin McHale, Brian Shaw and Dee Brown.
Sonics 91, Pistons 86
 Gary Payton got seven of his 14 points in the stretch.

Payton's 3-pointer put the Sonics ahead 80-68 with 5:48 left.
76ers 114, Heat 107
 Charles Barkley scored 29 points and led a late surge.
 Hersey Hawkins had 27 points for the 76ers, and Armon Gilliam and Ron Anderson each added foul shots in the final 30 seconds to keep them ahead.
Suns 113, Nuggets 97
 Phoenix stopped its longest losing skid since 1988 at six games as Jeff Hornacek scored 14 of his 25 points in the third quarter.
 Kevin Johnson scored 17 points for the Suns.
Knicks 92, Mavericks 89
 Patrick Ewing scored the game's last six points.
 Rolando Blackman, who led Dallas with 25 points, scored eight straight points for an 89-86 lead with 1:17 left. But Ewing made a jump shot with 59 seconds to go and hit a short hook with 6.1 seconds remaining for the lead.
 John Starks then blocked Blackman's layup, Ewing was fouled and made both free throws after time expired.
Spurs 113, Timberwolves 106
 San Antonio, led by David Robinson's 22 points, won its fifth straight game and sent visiting Minnesota to its fifth consecutive loss.

 The Timberwolves closed to three points early in the fourth quarter, but could not catch up.
 Tyrone Corbin and Pooh Richardson each scored 23 points for Minnesota.
Hornets 109, Cavaliers 108
 Kenny Gattison made three foul shots in the last 23.5 seconds.
 After Gattison put the Hornets ahead 107-106 with a free throw, Brad Daugherty missed a short jumper for the Cavaliers. Gattison was fouled with 9.7 seconds to go and made both shots.
Jazz 107, Magic 102
 Karl Malone and Jeff Malone each scored 26 points.
 The Magic went on a 7-1 burst in the last two minutes to close to 105-102. But Jerry Reynolds lost the ball under his own basket with six seconds left, and Jeff Malone made two foul shots.

Olajuwon hospitalized

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Rockets star center Hakeem Olajuwon is undergoing tests today at Southwest Memorial Hospital after suffering heart palpitations, team general manager Steve Patterson said.
 Patterson said Olajuwon suffered an episode of "fast heartbeats" and checked himself into Sharpstown Hospital about 8 p.m. Wednesday. His physician, Dr. David Rothschild, later transferred him to Southwest Memorial Hospital about 10 p.m.
 Team spokesman Jay Goldberg said results of the tests were not expected until late today.
 "Until we hear from the doctors, we're just not going to say anything," Goldberg said.
 Olajuwon, who is averaging 21.7 points and 14 rebounds a game, will not play in tonight's game against the Minnesota Timberwolves at The Summit, Goldberg said.
 Olajuwon was not available for comment this morning and the 11 a.m. practice was closed to the media, Goldberg said.
 This is the third injury for Olajuwon, 28, that has required hospitalization in the past two years. In January, he suffered an eye socket injury that kept him from playing for nearly two months. He was hospitalized in July of 1989 for a blood clot in his left leg.
 The 7-foot center, who is in his eighth season with the Rockets, played collegiate basketball at the University of Houston. He was the first player selected in the 1984 National Basketball Association draft. He scored 25 points and grabbed 14 rebounds Tuesday night when the Rockets defeated the New York Knicks, 90-79.

'Skins Game approaching

IRVING, Texas (AP) - When you hear talk of the 'Skins Game' in the Dallas Cowboys locker room, they aren't engaged in conversation about golf or its annual televised exhibition over the Thanksgiving Day weekend.
 The annual visit to RFK Stadium is heavy on the players' minds.
 "It's just a tremendous feeling walking into that stadium with everyone against you," said Dallas end Jim Jeffcoat. "It's special."
 Former All-Pro Dallas safety Cliff Harris used to say it was the game he anticipated more than any on the schedule - like it was Christmas in cleats.

 "It's on grass against a great rival with everyone in the stands booing and cursing you," Harris said. "I always loved shutting them up. There was no greater feeling in the world to walk out of there a winner with the stands stone silent."
 Jeffcoat said Washington would rather beat Dallas than any other NFL team, particularly at RFK. He said the fans can be brutal.

"It's a tradition and always a hard-nosed game, and the ball always seems to take funny bounces," Jeffcoat said. "It's loud and wild."
 Jeffcoat has been involved in 17 Dallas-Washington games.
 Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson's first NFL victory was at RFK Stadium three years ago. It was his one and only victory of his rookie season.
 "It didn't take me long to discover how special this game has become," Johnson said.

Pendleton named NL MVP

ATLANTA (AP) - Manager Bobby Cox says the Atlanta Braves "wouldn't have come close" to winning the National League pennant without Terry Pendleton.

Pendleton, a free-agent acquisition who became a leader on and off the field for the Braves, won the NL Most Valuable Player Award on Wednesday.

"He absolutely deserved it," Cox said. "Terry's a special guy. They talk about team leaders, but he really is. Barry Bonds would have been a worthy recipient, but I think Terry absolutely deserved it."

Pendleton said during a news conference.

"This award is going to be and it's in my name, but my teammates, Bobby Cox and John Schuerholz and the rest of the Braves deserve a lot of credit for this," he said. "If we had finished second in the National League, I don't think I'd be standing here. I think that award probably would have gone to Barry Bonds or Bobby Bonilla or someone. The way our team played this season and the way I played this season definitely had a lot to do with it."

Bonilla, another member of the Pirates who lost the championship series to the Braves, finished third in the voting with 191 points. Will Clark of the San Francisco Giants was fourth with 118 and Howard Johnson of the New York Mets was fifth with 112.

Three other Braves received votes - Ron Gant 110, Tom Glavine 16 and David Justice 11.

Glavine was named the Cy Young Award winner last week and Cox was voted Manager of the Year earlier by The Associated Press and the BBWA.

Pendleton won by 15 points over Bonds in the closest voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America since 1979.

Pendleton had 12 first-place votes, 10 seconds and two third for 274 points in the balloting. Bonds, who won the award last year and led Pittsburgh to its second straight NL East title, had 259 points on 10 firsts, 10 seconds, one third and three fourths.

"I never dreamed about winning a National League MVP award,"

You can order your Universal Life policy exactly as you want it!

Few insurance policies give you the wide range of choices that Universal Life does. You determine the amount and frequency of your premium payments and the amount of insurance protection you want. Later, you can adjust both factors, within policy limits, to suit changing economic conditions.

The CNA Insurance Companies, one of the companies we represent as an independent agency, offers an excellent Universal Life policy. Our clients also use it to build cash values which earn competitive, tax-deferred interest at the same time.

Santa visits Fun Breakfast

Santa Claus visits with Fun Breakfast Co-chairmen John Stagner (left) and Charlie Bell this morning at the Hereford Community Center. Santa told the audience that many of his helpers are available for a Rent-a-Santa program this season sponsored by the Hereford Outreach Office of the Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center in Hereford. Persons wishing to make reservations for one of Santa's helpers may call the office at 364-7822.

Garden Club held auction at meeting

The Garden Beautiful Club met recently in the home of Dorothy Noland.

The program consisted of an auction of art and craft items. Bessie Story served as auctioneer. The proceeds from the auction will go towards later projects sponsored by the club.

During the business meeting members discussed plans for the Christmas coffee which will be held at the Cowgirl Hall of Flame on Dec. 6 from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Guests are invited.

Hostess, Noland, and co-hostess Dotter Darken served refreshments of apricot bread, cheese crisps, fresh fruit, coffee and hot spiced apple cider.

Members Vada Axe, Louise Axe, Ruby Carmichael, Margerette Cole, Jeans Dowell, Jerry Jackson, Helen Spinks, Bessie Story, Inez Witherspoon, Margaret Young, Noland and Darken were present.

Canyon club hosts bazaar Saturday

The Heritage Woman's Club, a Canyon service organization, will be hosting its annual Christmas Delights Bazaar on November 23, 1991 at the Rex Reeves Elementary All-Purpose Room, 1005 21st Street, in Canyon.

The bazaar will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and will feature booths setup by exhibitors from all over the Panhandle.

A bake sale and snack bar will offer delicious food to freeze or eat on the spot.

The funds made from this bazaar are used to help support area organizations that serve the Panhandle area.

Penguins cannot fly but are excellent swimmers.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: Christmas is coming, which means lots of toys will be bought, and batteries will be needed to operate many of them.

There is nothing worse than a little one opening up a present only to have no batteries to make it work — or worse yet Mom looking everywhere because she "knows they're somewhere." It's very easy to prevent the horror of no batteries!

Before wrapping, just open up the gift and insert the right batteries — right in the toy if possible.

My kids know that Santa really cares for them because he always includes the battery with their gifts! — Lisa Gardner, Hopkinsville, Ky.

Thanks for sharing this idea. There's nothing worse than trying to find an open store that sells batteries early Christmas morning. — Heloise

BAKE SALES

Dear Heloise: With three children in high school, I am always baking goods for bake sales for various organizations they belong to.

To make my baked goods more irresistible to the buyer, I include a note with the recipe ingredients. I have never had an item come back unsold. — Patty Morris, Schertz, Texas

CHRISTMAS TREE

Dear Heloise: I remember reading directions on making a cardboard-tissue-roll Christmas tree.

This would be a great Christmas craft idea for my Sunday school class. We have been saving the rolls for quite a while. Thanks so much for your help. — Margarita Grimsley, Marion, Texas

For each tree you make, you will need 36 tissue rolls. Wrap each roll with different (or the same) Christmas gift wrap.

Start with a base of 11 rolls, gluing each one to another. Then stack them in a pyramid shape, decreasing by one roll for each level. Glue each roll on and make as many rows as needed. This is a fun project for little ones who may get bored during the holidays! — Heloise

EXPECTANT MOTHER

Dear Heloise: When I was in my last trimester of pregnancy and unable to bend over to pick up everything I dropped, my husband came up with a brilliant idea.

He gave me the long-handled grill tongs to try and they worked great. I no longer struggled to pick up things. The tongs became my constant companion until my feet became visible again. — M. A. Mitchell, Seattle, Wash.

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, PO Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

Legend has it a Roman emperor was such a sure shot he could fire four arrows between the spread fingers of a man's hand.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have had recurring migraine headaches since I was a child, on an average of one every month. Sometimes they last two or three days at a time. I get blurred vision, nausea and a pounding pain. I've learned how to handle them pretty much by massaging my head and neck and just complete bed rest and darkness.

Recently I noticed that after I ate onions I got a really bad one. Could all this be food allergies? If so, can anything be done to help? It's hard to hold a steady job when I never know when a headache will occur.

They also come about one week before my period. During pregnancy, I never got one.

DEAR READER: Your story certainly sounds like migraine headaches. There is much more variation in the symptoms of migraine headaches than many people realize. They may be mild, and not be severely incapacitating. But they may also be quite severe and even cause changes temporarily that resemble a stroke.

Migraine headaches usually do begin in childhood as in your case. There also seems to be an inherited tendency to have them. Intolerance to light is often a feature.

It is not unusual to see them associated with a woman's period. In most women, migraine headaches stop when they undergo the menopause, but in a few they begin for the first time at the onset of the menopause. It is unusual to have them start for the first time after age 50. So readers who are past 50 and have not had a migraine headache are not likely to do so.

There must be some hormonal relationship because it is common to be free of migraine headaches during pregnancy.

Yes, food can be an important factor in migraine headaches, but I have never seen them associated with onions. I have included the list of foods that most commonly precipitate a migraine attack in Special Report 85, Headache and Facial Pain, which I am sending you. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/85, P.O. Box 5537, River-ton, NJ 08077. You might eliminate all the food items listed and see if it helps.

Recently it has been suggested that a half aspirin a day may actually prevent migraine headaches. It is worth a try.

OUR BUILDING BECOMES A CHURCH

Have you seen that new building at 245 Kingwood? It is rather plain looking but it has room for Sunday School, a Nursery for children, and space for groups to have conferences and seminars.

There is an area for fellowshiping over a cup of coffee and of course a kitchen, we know what matters.

We call it the Fellowship of Believers worship and conference center. Sunday will be our first day to worship there, and we are thrilled and grateful. The best thing about the place is that when people gather there to study & worship, the building becomes a church.

You are invited to see it happen

Hereford assistant superintendent Don Cumpton talks with former mayor Wes Fisher at this morning's fun breakfast at the Hereford Community Center. The breakfast was sponsored by Southwestern Bell Telephone, which is installing a new digital switch here. Fisher's call to Cumpton was the first on the digital system. Also involved in demonstrating the phone system were Teresa Garth, of the county tax assessor's office, and SW Bell area manager Gary Stevens. They demonstrated new custom calling features that will soon be available.

Man proposes through puzzle

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) - Leslie Hamilton and Neil Nathanson exchanged a lot of crosswords before she found the solution to their puzzling passion.

The couple, who met two years ago while doing puzzles in a cafe, agreed to marry after Nathanson proposed in a crossword published Sunday in the San Francisco Examiner.

As many as a million readers got the same puzzle, but it had special meaning for the word-crossed lovers. Answers to several clues applied to Hamilton, and the kicker was spelled out on four lines: "DEAR LESLIE, WILL YOU MARRY ME - NEIL."

"I was having trouble solving the Leslie clue, but I figured out that he was asking me to marry him when I read 'Dear blank, will you marry me,'" Hamilton said Wednesday. "I said 'yes' right away and we didn't even finish the puzzle."

The Leslie clue was "Actress Caron," and the letters "marryme" were the correct response to the clue, "a modest proposal."

Hamilton, a 24-year-old assistant city planner in San Jose, found other nuggets from her life, as well.

Answers included "Hamilton," "planner," "cello," which she plays, "Montana," where she was born, and "Stanford," the university from which she graduated in 1990 and where her fiance attends law school.

"Before I got to the proposal I remember telling Neil, 'Hey, this puzzle was meant for me,'" Hamilton said.

"I've been making crosswords for a long time and this is the first time I got a request like this," Reagle said.

All knowing, all seeing, all Clausnick

Clausnick, left, a visitor from the Northeast, ascertains an answer (having never seen the question, which was kept in a sealed envelope on a mayonnaise jar on the front porch of Mr. Lavon Nieman) before giving it to John Stagner at this morning's Chamber Fun Breakfast.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	15	3.00
2 days per word	26	5.20
3 days per word	37	7.40
4 days per word	48	9.60
5 days per word	59	11.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines: those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Gunmen got the jump on Michael Jackson's long-awaited new album, stealing about 30,000 compact discs, cassettes and records from a warehouse six days before the release of "Dangerous," police said. Three robbers tied up an air freight company employee Wednesday and used a forklift to load crates of the recordings onto a truck, police said. The heist took place near Los Angeles International Airport. Sony Music Entertainment valued the recordings at more than $400,000. "Dangerous" is the first album from the 33-year-old Jackson in four years. It is due in stores Tuesday.
