Hammond killed in Tuesday wreck

A 26-year-old Hereford man was killed Tuesday night in a two-car accident on Interstate 27 south of Amarillo.

Craig Ray Hammond, 26, of Hereford, died of injuries sustained in the accident at 8:40 p.m. Tuesday near the McCormick Road exit on Interstate 27 between Canyon and Amarillo.

According to Department of Public Safety reports, a 1986 Mercury driven by Thomas Johnson of Plainview was going north on the interstate when it went out of control while trying to pass a truck. Johnson lost control of his vehicle, which went into the center grass median and struck several safety barrels. Johnson's car went airborne and sheared the top off of Hammond's car, which was going south down I-27.

Hammond was taken to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo, where he was pronounced dead at 9:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Services for Hammond are pending with Rix Funeral Directors of Hereford.

Hammond was born Aug. 31, 1965 in San Antonio and had lived in Hereford for 24 years, moving here from Plainview. He was a 1983 honor graduate of Hereford High School. He attended one year of college at Texas A&M University-Galveston, then transferred to West Texas State University, where he graduated Aug. 21, 1991 with honors in geology. He was a member of the geology honor society at WTSU. He had been accepted at the New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology graduate program at Socorro.

He attended the Church of the Nazarene in Hereford.

Survivors include his parents, Bob and Mary Jo Hammond of Hereford; a sister, Mary Ruth Rogers of Warner Robbins, Ga.; and a nephew.

Memorials may be made to the Methodist Mission Home, 6487 Whitley Road, San Antonio 78240, Gideons International or Nazarene Church.

Government to look into Pantex, cancer

AMARILLO (AP) - Federal officials will investigate whether the Pantex Plant has been hazardous to the health of its neighbors in the Texas Panhandle.

Local action groups had raised health and environmental concerns about Pantex, where the nation's nuclear warheads are assembled and disassembled.

The Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry will begin reviewing records next month as part of a comprehensive public health assessment of the Pantex Plant, it was announced Tuesday.

Assistant Surgeon General Barry Johnson said the move to review health and environmental data related to Pantex operations was prompted by the Environmental Protection Agency's proposal to place Pantex on the "Superfund" list.

EPA officials said this summer that Pantex should be placed under Superfund because of past and present waste practices. The practices included burning chemical wastes in unlined pits, burying waste in unlined landfills and discharging plant wastes into on-site surface waters.

Local groups said Tuesday they were pleased with the inquest. Among the agencies that had called for the investigation were Serious Texans Against Nuclear Dumping (STAND), Panhandle Area Neighbors and Landowners, the Texas Nuclear Waste Task Force and the Peace Farm.

"If they identify peculiarities that they think deserve more research, they'll arrange for that research to happen," said Beverly Gattis, president of STAND Inc.

The Texas Department of Health and the national Centers for Disease Control also will examine cancer data collected by Jeri Osborne, a landowner living near Pantex, Gattis said.

For several years, Osborne has been monitoring deaths and cancer cases in Carson County.

"For the first nine months of 1991, we had 15 known cancer deaths," Osborne said. "In 1990, we had 18. That's a lot of deaths for a small population like this."

"Every one of those pins on the map has got a name. These are my neighbors," Osborne said.

Lawmaker wants special session on mental hospitals

AUSTIN (AP) - A state senator says problems at some private psychiatric hospitals are so serious, the Legislature should act immediately to solve them.

Sen. Chris Harris, R-Arlington, Tuesday urged Gov. Ann Richards to call a special legislative session to overhaul state laws governing the hospitals.

Harris said the session should be convened between Thanksgiving and Christmas to enact reforms in the wake of investigations that have uncovered a variety of alleged abuses by some private hospitals.

"If we wait for the 1993 regular Legislature to act, the reforms won't go into law until September 1993. Texas patients, their families and insurers cannot wait two more years for action," Harris said.

In recent weeks, news reports, the attorney general's office and a special

Senate committee have uncovered alleged abuses that included paying "bounties" to persons referring patients to some hospitals and bilking the state and insurance companies for treatment.

The governor's press secretary, Bill Cryer, said Richards would consider the senator's request.

However, Cryer said, "It is a difficult proposition to call a special session right now." The governor called two budget special sessions during the summer and has been reluctant to call another so quickly, he said.

Richards is "very concerned" about the problems that are being uncovered, Cryer said, adding that she plans to attend the Senate committee's Nov. 18 hearing in Houston.

Harris said the hearings have brought to light a number of serious problems that need attention.

The Hereford High School volleyball team won its regional semifinal match Tuesday at Sweetwater, defeating Saginaw Boswell in two games. The victory means it's Hereford against Dumas, for the fifth time this year, for the right to go to state. Team members include (top row, from left) Susan Rickman, Angie Jowell, Teresa Baker, Kathy Hernandez, Cassie Brooks, Jill Robinson, Erin Bullard, Shantel Cornelius, Lori Sanders and Jennifer Hicks; (bottom, from left) Kara Sandoval, Brek Binder and Kyanne Lindley. Edwards, Duke trade racial barbs

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Former Ku Klux Klan leader David Duke and ex-Gov. Edwin Edwards accused each other of using racial fears in a last-ditch effort to win Saturday's election for governor.

"That's like the skunk calling the peacock ugly. That's unreal," Edwards said Tuesday after Duke accused his campaign of planning "dirty tricks" - including bringing in bogus Klansmen - to try to stir up racial strife.

Edwards, a Democrat who has served three terms as governor, has concentrated his final days of the campaign in largely black New Orleans. About 27 percent of the state's 2.2 million voters are black.

At a rally of about 700 people in Lake Charles, Duke charged that a liberal media in concert with Edwards were stirring racial hatred. He complained that newspapers have run pictures of nooses and stories about lynchings.

"They are trying to fan racial flames and produce a bloc vote for a particular candidate," Duke said.

Duke, a former KKK grand wizard who has espoused Nazi beliefs, said he is under attack by "ultra-liberals" throughout the nation.

Speaking in Columbia, Mo., former President Jimmy Carter said Louisiana will be "a state living in disgrace, justifiably so," if Duke wins.

"I think if the people of Louisiana choose Duke, there is going to be a tremendous worldwide aversion to Louisiana," Carter told reporters.

DETROIT (AP) - The 1992 Democratic presidential candidates are promising swift action to revive the economy and provide universal health care while portraying President Bush as out of touch with average Americans.

The six major Democratic candidates held their first debate Tuesday, with the economy and health care dominating a 90-minute forum that also provided early evidence of the likely lines of division within the Democratic field.

The overwhelming audience favorite at the forum held by the national AFL-CIO was Iowa Sen. Tom Harkin, who implored labor for its support while brushing aside the potential pitfalls of such backing.

But even as they expressed support for Harkin, many of the union leaders said it was too soon for labor to rally behind one candidate. Many said they also were impressed with Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton and Nebraska Sen.

Bob Kerrey, who for now appear to be Harkin's chief rivals for the nomination.

Still others said they were waiting for the decision of New York Gov. Mario Cuomo, a longtime labor favorite who is leaning toward entering the 1992 race. He alone is seen as the candidate who might be able to win an early AFL-CIO endorsement.

Otherwise, the national federation and its major unions are likely to stay neutral while state and local labor groups choose sides.

Sharing a stage for the first time, the six major Democratic candidates voiced general agreement on several issues: the need for universal health care; improved education programs, including full funding for Head Start; targeted job training for the unemployed and underemployed; and a tougher stance against Japan and other trading partners.

And all agreed there was money to fund their programs, saying Bush simply had set the wrong priorities for the world's richest nation. All said defense spending could be pared, and Clinton, Kerrey, former Massachusetts Sen. Paul Tsongas and Virginia Gov. L. Douglas Wilder said a cost-conscious national health care plan would save millions, if not billions, of dollars.

Harkin's message was clearly tailored to his labor audience as he sought to make inroads with a group that can provide crucial organizational and financial support in the Democratic primaries.

"When I'm president of the United States every double-breasting, scab-hiring, union-busting employer in America will know that the working people of America have a friend in the White House," Harkin said.

Double-breasting refers to the business practice of having both union and non-union operations, often with the goal of replacing union workers.

Clinton told the union leaders he likely would have occasional differences with labor. But he portrayed himself as a candidate who can defeat Bush by winning back rank-and-file members who, "whether you like it or not," have voted Republican in the past three presidential elections.

The Arkansas governor said he wanted labor's support, but only if it was willing to acknowledge that it, too, needed to change if the United States is to compete with Japan and Germany.

For his part, Kerrey was less dramatic than the other candidates but repeatedly pointed out that his health care plan is closest to labor's goal for a single, government-run system.

Deal near on jobless benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Bush administration and top congressional Democrats and Republicans are very close to reaching a deal on extending unemployment benefits that would end one of the year's sharpest political fights.

The House Ways and Means Committee planned to debate the $5.1 billion package today and send it to the House floor Thursday. The plan would provide from six to 20 weeks of extra benefits to people who use up the regular 26 weeks of coverage.

Committee Chairman Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., offered the proposal to Republican leaders on Tuesday. House Minority Leader Robert Michel, R-Ill., and White House budget director Richard Darman said minor work, including an analysis by the Labor Department, was needed before they would endorse it.

"We want to make sure it passes muster down there and gets the president's signature," Michel said. "With a little more work, I think we can get there," Darman said.

The agreement could put an end to nearly five months of warfare between Bush and congressional Democrats over whether and how to help the 300,000 Americans who use up their regular unemployment benefits every month.

Democrats have used the dispute to highlight what they say is their president's indifference to domestic problems. They argued that he has focused on problems abroad while ignoring jobless Americans whose lives have been shattered by the recession.

Bush has killed two versions of the legislation since August. Initially, he argued that the bills were unneeded because he said there was no recession. But in recent weeks he has simply complained that the plan was too expensive and would boost the budget deficit.

Since signaling two weeks ago that he was ready to bargain on the issue, Bush has pressed to make the measure less expensive and to find a way to pay for it.

Rostenkowski's plan would be financed chiefly by speeding up income-tax collections from well-off people with rapidly rising incomes who estimate their taxes quarterly.

But some Senate Democrats, eager to score additional political points against the president, continue to push a different plan.

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, would give Bush the choice of paying for the benefits by cutting foreign aid spending. Bush opposes that measure, a position that allows Democrats to crow that the president would rather aid foreigners than Americans.

The Rostenkowski measure would provide people with six, 13 or 20 weeks of extra benefits, depending on the unemployment level in their particular state.

The jobless benefits would be available for an additional 6 to 20 weeks, if the deal is worked out.

The two measures Bush has killed were similar but would have provided a minimum of seven weeks of extra coverage. Republicans have long favored an alternative by Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., providing six weeks or 10 weeks of extra support for the jobless.

The new bill, like the first two, also would cover people who have exhausted their regular benefits since last March 1.

Baylor plan draws official's approval

WACO, Texas (AP) - Baylor University will maintain strong Baptist ties despite a perpetual struggle between moderates and fundamentalists within the denomination, one Texas leader predicts.

The Rev. James "Dick" Maples, the Baptist General Convention of Texas' president-elect, said Tuesday he was pleased delegates in Waco voted in favor of a plan to limit control over the school's governing board.

Monday's vote of 5,745 to 3,992, allowing the convention to elect 25 percent of Baylor's board of regents, was a decisive blow to fundamentalists who have tried for a year to maintain convention control.

The board at Baylor, which embarked last year on a quest for autonomy, would elect the remaining 75 percent.

"I don't see Baylor straying from Baptist life, not in the near future, and hopefully, not ever," said Maples. "The proposed agreement itself is one we can live with. It's one that both Baylor and Texas Baptists can go forward together with."

Maples, who takes the helm of the convention from the outgoing Rev. Phil Lineberger, pastor of Richardson Heights Baptist Church, said he believes Baylor-BGCT relations in the future will be solid.

"The agreement is a very good one, and we have guarantees that they will remain a Baptist institution and their regents will always be Baptist," he said. "If the experiences in Missouri with William Jewell College are any indication, then there's no reason why a university cannot have a perpetuating board of trustees, and yet remain strong and tightly connected in the denomination. I would hope the same thing happens between Texas Baptists and Baylor."

Trustees at the 12,000-student university voted Sept. 21, 1990, to create the Board of Regents as part of a reorganization aimed at insulating the school from fundamentalist control.

"Now I want us to put the controversy behind us and go on to accomplish our mission as Texas Baptists," said Maples, pastor of First Baptist Church in Bryan.

He said his future plans for the BGCT include starting new churches and emphasizing evangelism, ministry and Christian education.

Maples said he hopes he can be a reconciling force as president.

"I'm going to be open to listen to all of Texas Baptists and respond in whatever possible way I can," he said. "I want to be a reconciling force between folks who have strong differences of opinions."

Defendants sentenced after pleas

A 12-year sentence was imposed Tuesday on Jose Medina Mendoza of Hereford after he appeared in 22nd District Court and entered a plea of guilty to an arson charge.

Judge David Wesley Gulley sentenced the defendant to 12 years in the institutional division of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice and ordered him to make restitution of $11,419.73 for a house he allegedly burned.

Another defendant, Alfred Abrego Casarez, entered a guilty plea to felony driving while intoxicated and was handed a five-year probated sentence and a $1,500 fine.

Sentencing of Jacinto Montes Orosco, charged with possession of a controlled substance, was set for Nov. 25 after he entered a guilty plea in the District Court.

Judge Gulley also extended the probation period of Angelina Quiroz Leal, previously sentenced on a forgery charge.

Emergency food, shelter funds offered

An allocation of $10,430 for emergency food and shelter has been earmarked for Deaf Smith County as part of a total $9.2 million for the state.

Announced by the office of U.S. Senator Phil Gramm, the emergency funds will be available to local sponsoring organizations through the Emergency Food and Shelter National Board Program.

Local sponsors, both public and private agencies, must apply for the funding. The program is overseen by the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

The $9.2 million allocation in Texas will be distributed in 93 counties, the senator said.

In the Panhandle-South Plains area, allocations also were made to Potter County, $52,274; Hale County, $17,370, and Lubbock County, $109,284.

Great American Smoke Out set Thursday

The American Cancer Society's Great American Smoke Out is set for Thursday. The day is set aside to encourage smokers to stop for at least one day and hopefully forever.

Smoking is the number one preventable cause of death in the nation, according to ACS materials. Every 13 seconds, someone in the world dies from a tobacco-related illness. More people die from cigarette smoking and related illness than die from alcohol, traffic accidents, illicit drugs, murder and suicide combined.

Cigarette smoking is responsible for one out of every five American deaths.

Short term effects of smoking are rapid heart death; increased pulse rate; bad breath; stained teeth; shortness of breath; smelly clothes and hair; reduced circulation, causing cold hands and feet; increased coughing and wheezing; allergy flare-ups; more colds, flu and pneumonia; and decreased sense of taste and smell.

The drug nicotine, found in tobacco products, is more addictive than crack or alcohol...one in six who experiment with crack will become addicted; one in ten who experiment with alcohol will become addicted; nine out ten who experiment with tobacco will become addicted.

Not only is smoking harmful to the smoker, but second hand smoke is a killer as well.

Second hand smoke is considered a class "A" carcinogen, causing 3,800 lung cancer deaths in the U.S. each year. Studies show passive smoke causes ten times as much heart disease as lung disease, making passive smoke or second hand smoke the third leading cause of preventable death behind active smoking and alcohol.

Cigarettes are more than tobacco and paper. There are many poisons and undesirable ingredients blended in with the product.

Cigarette smoke is a collection of over 4,000 chemicals. Cigarettes contain nicotine which was at one time an insecticide and when taken in high doses it can be deadly. Seventy milligrams can kill an average man within a few minutes.

Most cigarettes contain between .2mg and 2.2 mg.

The smoke from a cigarette contains cyanide, formaldehyde, methanol, acetone and tar.

There is not a magic cure to help a smoker stop. The ACS recommends answering a few questions: first, "Do you want to stop smoking?" "Are you willing to make some changes in your daily routine?" "Are you willing to put up with some uneasy months after stopping?" Next, list the reasons for stopping smoking, avoid the smoking scene, best friends and buddies can help you stop and cope with the urge for a cigarette.

By not smoking, a person are save their life and the life of non-smokers around them.

Headaches heard at Wyche club

The Wyche Extension Homemakers Club met Thursday afternoon with president Carol Odum presiding over the business meeting.

The council report was given by Audrey Rusher and program chairman, Argen Draper, reported on the group's activities concerning the Festival of Trees which will be held at Hereford Senior Citizens November 21-24. The Festival will include decorations, crafts and foods.

Pet Ott presented a program titled "What a Headache." She said that 45 million Americans suffer from headaches. The pain can become so severe as to control an individual's life. Tension, Cluster, Migraine and Sinus headaches were each discussed with possible triggers discussed.

Triggers for headaches include foods such as chocolate, corn, monosodium glutamate, red wine, and alcohol or other stimulates such as the weather, lighting and noise. The meeting was held in the home of Wayne and Camellia Jones with Virgie Duncan serving as hostess.

The next meeting will be Nov. 21 with Jo Lee as hostess.

Those present included: Lee, Helen Bell, Louise Axe, Clara Trowbridge, Brenda Rusher, Mary Lou Aven, Beverly Brooke, Draper, Ott, Rusher, Duncan, Jones, Carol Odum, Coreen Odum. Barbara Sterne was a visitor.

LAE makes hospital donation

The La Afflatus Estudio Club met recently in K-Bobs restaurant with Marie Harris hosting the meeting.

Business included a statement by the Volunteer Service in the Wichita Falls State Hospital requesting assistance with holiday activities. The club will perform this service rather than have a gift exchange. More than $50 has been contributed to this fund.

The club will attend a holiday midday luncheon in the Herring home, on Dec. 3rd. Della Stagner and Mary Williamson will be responsible for the program.

Pet Ott presented a program over headaches and stated that 45 million Americans suffer from them. It was stated that the pain can reach such an extremity that it dominates an individual's daily life. The most common headaches include tension, cluster, migraine and sinus. It is not uncommon for an individual to suffer from more than one at the same time.

Those present included: Lydia Hopson, Virginia Beasley, Arleen Montgomery, Annie DeLozier, Alberta Higgins, Ott, Williamson, Stagner and Harris.

The club will meet Nov. 19 in the Kinsey home with Mary Williamson presenting the program.

According to some researchers, celery has negative calories. It takes more calories to eat a piece of celery than the celery has in it to begin with.

4-H club to meet

The Craftsman 4-H Club will meet Monday, November 18, at 4 p.m. in the Banquet Room at the Community Center to hold their November 4-H meeting.

The members will be making finger puppets to use as a community service project.

Boling's Williams romps for 517 yards

By MIKE DRAGO
Associated Press Writer
The Boling Bulldogs' offense was easy to describe Friday night against Ganado: Cleon Williams.

The senior running back carried on 51 of his team's 65 plays, rolling up 517 yards and six touchdowns in the 66-14 rout of Ganado. The effort earned Williams the spotlight in this week's Associated Press Schoolboy Honor Roll.

Williams, who finished the season with 2,049 yards and 23 touchdowns, said defenders usually get to deliver their best hit only once against him. That was the case when he carried 29 times for 229 yards in a 52-27 loss to second-ranked Tidehaven, he said.

"Against Tidehaven this dude hit me hard one time," Williams said. "I had never been hit that hard. The next time I ran over him and he was trying to get me around the ankles the rest of the time."

Boling coach Bill Almond agreed that a hard-nosed style is what makes Williams, a 5-10, 170-pounder who also has averaged 13 tackles as a defensive back, successful.

"He runs like he weighs 215," Almond said. "He comes packing a wallop. He runs low and he tackles low and he carries a load either way."

Almond said he entered the Ganado game intending to help Williams past the 2,000-yard milestone.

"Going into the ballgame, we thought he had a chance," Almond said. "I told him that if he had 200-plus yards at the half, I'd leave him in."

Despite Boling's obvious offensive strategy, Ganado failed to stop him. He ran for 286 yards in the first half alone.

Almond said Williams, a senior, has been recruited by Baylor, Texas A&M, Sam Houston State and Stephen F. Austin. Williams said he hopes to attend A&M and study radiology.

In other outstanding performances last week:

-Hereford's Leo Brown carried 30 times for 229 yards and three scores in a 43-13 victory over Borger. Brown also caught a touchdown pass.

-Dallas Kimball's Henry Cofer, facing Dallas Carter's top-ranked defense, completed 14 of 28 passes for 295 yards and two scores in the 12-6 victory. The second touchdown, a 16-yard strike to Wayland Crowder, came with nine seconds remaining.

-Nuno Rivera of Reagan County carried 25 times for 218 yards and two touchdowns in a 30-21 victory over Kermit.

-In a six-man game, Paint Rock's Armando Balderas ran for 225 yards and four touchdowns on 14 carries against Lohn. Paint Rock won the slugfest, 74-56.

-Koy Detmer of undefeated Mission completed 27 of 33 passes for 403 yards and four touchdowns in a 44-17 victory over McAllen. Rudy Servantes caught seven passes for 161 yards and a score.

-Shawn Walters of Arlington

Lamar ran for 208 yards and three touchdowns as the top-ranked Vikings crushed Cleburne 41-0.

Mark Oberholtzer booted a 50-yard field goal to help LaMarque knock off Houston C.E. King 23-13. Oberholtzer was topped later in the game by King's Remus Hines, who kicked a 52-yarder.

Alief Elsie's Kalief Muhammad carried 28 times for 243 yards and three touchdowns in a 39-7 victory over rival Hastings.

Nick Murrell of Jersey Village carried 25 times for 309 yards and six touchdowns in a 43-24 victory over Katy.

Jay Johnson of Waco ran for 221 yards and six touchdowns on 27 carries in the Lions' 46-26 rout of Temple. Temple's Damion Johnson caught seven passes for 207 yards and two scores in the losing effort.

Alamo Heights' Glenn Winship completed 21 of 27 passes for 305 yards and five touchdowns in a 35-21 victory over Uvalde. Winship finished the regular season with 2,825 yards and 39 touchdowns.

Chris Brown of San Antonio Taft carried 19 times for 201 yards and three touchdowns in a 38-14 victory over San Antonio Marshall.

John McCracken of Boerne carried 18 times for 318 yards and five touchdowns in a 42-13 victory over SA West Campus.

San Antonio Kennedy's Danny Castro carried 41 times for 211 yards and two touchdowns in a 14-7 victory over Floresville.

Derrick Grant of Hallettsville carried 21 times for 347 yards and three touchdowns in a 35-13 victory over Yoakum.

Wimberley's Carl Blackburn ran for 222 yards and three scores in a 27-0 victory over Marion.

Tony Contreras of La Villa carried 30 times for 212 yards and four touchdowns in a 48-12 whipping of Santa Rosa.

Cody Danaher of Corpus Christi

Calallen ran for 222 yards and four touchdowns in a 52-7 victory over Beeville.

Derrick Blakemore of Alto ran for 276 yards and three touchdowns in a 42-14 victory over Lovelady.

Hawkins' Tony Harris ran for 221 yards and three scores in a 69-7 rout of Big Sandy.

Carlos Berry of Quitman carried 31 times for 222 yards and both the Bulldogs' scores in a 12-7 victory over Como-Pickton.

Jacob Sanchez had 207 yards and five touchdowns rushing, leading Falls City to a 44-6 victory over Pettus.

Sid Wilson of Silsbee caught 14 passes for 209 yards and a score, but his team lost, 29-26, to Port Neches-Groves.

Joe Allen Slack of West Orange-Stark carried 12 times for 239 yards and three touchdowns in a 50-0 victory over West Hard.

Ed Ray Ward of West Sabine ran for 227 yards and two touchdowns in a 40-21 victory over Joaquin.

Tech's Carr gets SWC honor

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Defense is the best offense for Texas Tech's Steve Carr, who says he realizes he can be more help to the Red Raiders that way.

Carr, converted from a linebacker to a tight end two years ago, caught only one pass for five yards and never came close to a touchdown.

He said he probably "would have earned the nickname 'Stone Hands' if I stayed on offense much longer. I missed the other four passes that came my way."

Carr, restored to the defense this season, recovered a blocked punt in the end zone for a touchdown against Wyoming in September. The player caused a fumble last Saturday and blocked a punt to help set up two touchdowns in Tech's 38-21 rout of Arkansas.

"There's no doubt I am better offensively playing defense," he said. "I am making up for lost time."

Carr, credited with 16 solo tackles, Carr has been named Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press. He assisted on three other tackles against the Razorbacks.

Bucky Richardson, Texas A&M quarterback, earned AP SWC Offensive Player of the Week honors for leading the 13th-ranked Aggies in a 44-7 blowout of Texas Christian on Thursday.

This marks the third time this season Richardson has won player of the week honors.

Richardson threw for two touchdowns and ran for two other scores while passing for a career-high 321 yards against the Horned Frogs.

Carr said returning to defense was a welcomed relief. Harried by a complex offense and a tendency to jump offsides, he said he unquestionably prefers being the hunter rather than the prey.

"All that blocking on offense gets to be tough," said Carr. "It's much easier to just bury your helmet between someone's numbers."

He is Tech's second leading tackler with 67 solos and 35 assists.

Moreland honored with shower

Bride-elect honored with shower

Michelle D'Lee Moreland, bride-elect of James Douglas Bartlett, was honored with a bridal shower recently in the home of Cindy Fangman.

Greeting guest at the door with the honoree were Myrna Moreland, mother of the honoree from Lubbock; Mary Bartlett, mother of the prospective bridegroom; Lahoma Whitaker, grandmother of the honoree; Nell Moreland of Lubbock; grandmother of the honoree and the groom's grandmothers Margaret Ann Durham and Ruth Bartlett.

Pat confere registered guests while Ronda Fuston, Sandy Shelton and Gerrie Moreland, sister-in-law of the honoree form Borger, served refreshments.

The table was decorated with a white linen overlay cloth and was centered with large arrangement of coordinating shades of blue and mauve silk flowers.

Almond tea and coffee were served from a silver service. Quiche, sausage balls, assorted fruit breads, hot sausage and cheese on rye, fruit slices with caramel sauce, cheese and nuts were served on crystal plates.

Special out-of-town guest was Mary Weisel, aunt of the honoree from Plainview.

presented the honoree with crystal stemware.

During the afternoon, Michelle Moreland was honored with a private Christmas ornament shower.

Guests were greeted at the door by the hostess and escorted into a room appointed with holiday decorations.

Those in attendance enjoyed watching as the honoree and the prospective bridegroom open the colorful and unusual Christmas decorations. Gifts were presented to the couple in a large holiday reindeer.

Refreshments were served from a table draped with a dark green floor length cloth that was overlaid with a white cloth which depicted Christmas scenes.

Almond tea, coffee, Christmas cookies, chicken log rolled in parsley and served with crackers, fresh fruit with fruit dip and party mix were served on Christmas china. The centerpiece was a grouping of large Santas.

Hostesses were Mozelle Neill, Dorothea Prowell and Martha Layman.

Jumping rope for heart association

Fourth, Fifth and Sixth grade students at Shirley Intermediate School helped the American Heart Association by jumping rope and getting pledges to help the association. Students who earned the most in pledge money were awarded with jump ropes and t-shirts. Afterwards, students enjoyed refreshments provided by the heart association and McDonalds.

Retired employees met recently

The Hereford Retired School Employers' Association met recently for their regular meeting at the Hereford Senior Center.

Leona Schilling gave a brief report on the Fall Conference in Amarillo which was attended by retirees from across the Panhandle. Those who attended from Hereford were Schilling, Betty Jo Carlson, Eleanor Hudspeth, and Betty Messer.

The group elected a nominating committee consisting of Charles Duvall, chairman; Beryl Burelsmith; Carole McGilvary; Betty Jo Carlson and alternates: Philip Shook, Marie Stringer and Jess Robinson.

Denpsey Alexander introduced Ike Stevens who talked to the group about investment options.

Donna Brockman, director of the County Museum, was introduced and invited the members to participate in various programs of the museum.

Approximately 45 members attended along with three guests and four associate members.
