Wholesale price gain declines during 1982

By SALLY JACOBSEN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices climbed 3.5 percent last year, the smallest rise in 11 years and less than half the gain of 1981, the government reported today. Gasoline prices fell a record 8.8 percent.

In December alone, the Labor Department said, prices rose a minuscule 0.1 percent — markedly off from November's 0.6 percent and the smallest one-month change since prices fell 0.1 percent in September.

The drop in gasoline prices was the most precipitous since the department began keeping such records in 1947. The previous record fall was 8.1 percent in 1954.

Economists, assessing the year's greatly improved inflation picture, point to the worldwide oil surplus, which has held down gasoline and heating oil prices; bountiful harvests; and the lingering recession, which has driven the unemployment rate to 10.8 percent, the highest since 1940.

Supporting that view, the department's own analysis said today that energy prices actually fell 0.1 percent since December 1981. In comparison, such costs had soared 14.1 percent in the preceding 12 months.

Food prices, the department added, rose a modest 2.1 percent in 1982, up only slightly from the 1.4 percent gain of 1981.

At the White House, presidential spokesman Larry Speakes said today's report "indicates we have continued to make substantial progress in attacking the underlying rate of inflation. It is good news for the economy."

In a fresh reflection of the persistent recession, however, the Federal Reserve Board said industrial production last year fell 8.2 percent, the steepest annual decline since the 8.9 percent drop of 1974. The board did note that the 0.1 percent decline posted for December was the least negative monthly industrial production report since July's 0.1 percent gain.

Watts re-elected HVFD chief; Homer assistant

Mike Watts has been re-elected as chief of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department, it was announced this week after the annual election of officers.

Watts, who was named as "Fireman of the Year" in 1982, will be starting his second year as chief. Tim Homer is the assistant chief; Hap Caviness was elected as secretary, and Steve Bigham is the treasurer.

Ed Delozier and Paul Hamilton (3). Fire marshal Jay Spain was elected to a three-year term as representative to the Firemen's Pension Board. Ted Higgins and Paul Hamilton are representatives.

Training Capt. David Spain reported that local firemen logged, 2,704 hours of training the past year — an average of 73 hours per man. This was a record for local members. Training sessions are limited to two nights a month, along with the opportunity to attend fire training schools in Canyon, Lubbock and the Texas A&M Fire School.

Since becoming a member of the Texas Fire Fighters and Fire Marshals Association in 1976, the HVFD has logged 17,769 hours of training, Spain said.

The full-year wholesale price gain was sharply under the 7.1 percent registered for all of 1981. Wholesale prices rose 11.8 percent in 1980 and 12.8 percent in 1979.

The 1982 increase was the smallest since the 3.2 percent of 1971. Wholesale prices actually fell in four months last year, the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said. The sharpest monthly climb was a 1 percent jump in June.

For all of last year, the department said, the moderation in energy and food prices actually restrained the overall wholesale price gain for consumer goods, which, if

Legislators cool to Clements' final speech

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Constitution required Gov. Bill Clements to make a closing address to the Legislature, but nothing said legislators had to applaud — and they didn't.

Legislators stood and applauded when Clements entered and again after he finished his state of the state speech Thursday. But they failed to interrupt his address with spontaneous applause even one time.

Clements noted challenges facing Texas — such as water, education, prisons and jobs — but said there is absolutely no reason to enact a new tax bill.

He asked the Legislature to carry on his crusade of reducing the size of state government and recommended less money for public education, non-partisan election of judges, an appointed Board of Education, a limitation of two four-year terms for all statewide elected officials and a procedure for bypassing the Legislature in enacting laws.

Legislators, so to speak, sat on their hands. There was no applause during the 23-minute speech, which Clements, his voice cracking, concluded by saying, "God bless you and may you always have fair skies and a following sea."

"This is the first state of the state speech I've ever heard that was not interrupted by applause," said Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas. "I think it was a perfunctory attempt to justify the last four years, which I don't think will stand the scrutiny of history."

Two Republicans attributed the lack of applause to the seriousness of the governor's remarks and the fact that he is a lame duck.

Governor suggests raises

AUSTIN (AP) — Outgoing Gov. Bill Clements has submitted his budget proposal to the Texas Legislature, asking for a 6 percent annual pay raise for state employees and an 18 percent pay hike for schoolteachers over the next two years.

Thursday, Clements promptly recommended it be cut by $1 billion to meet reduced revenues anticipated by the state comptroller.

Clements, who leaves office Tuesday when Gov.-elect Mark White is sworn in, said his budget would mean a total of $24.6 billion in state funds for 1984-85, an increase of $4.8 billion, or 24.2 percent, over the previous two years.

Clements said his $32.9 billion recommendation included $6.1 billion in federal funds, including $976 million from the recent increase in the federal gasoline tax. Including all funds, the budget was no need for new taxes, yet submit a two-year budget that would require an extra $1 billion in tax revenue.

Hobby said there was a "certain parallel" between the governor's remarks on finances and President Reagan "submitting a budget with the largest deficit in history" and proposing a constitutional amendment prohibiting budget deficits.

"It's kind of like Will Rogers said, 'Republicans go in on promises and come out on alibis,'" said Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin. "He entered office promising $1 billion in tax relief that never came; he leaves office recommending a budget that requires $1 billion in tax increases."

New Chamber Board Members

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce installed new officers and directors at a Thursday-night dinner at Hereford Country Club. New directors, left to right, include: Olivia Denning, Women's Division president; Charlie Bell, Rosie Griffin, Gary Phipps and Steve Nieman. The four directors were elected by the membership for three-year terms on the board, while Mrs. Denning serves one year. The officers and directors will be recognized at the annual Chamber Banquet, set Feb. 3 at the Bull Barn.

Nancy to appear on tube

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Nancy Reagan, who has campaigned against drug abuse, will appear in an anti-drug comedy on the NBC comedy "Diff'rent Strokes," according to her press secretary.

The show, to be broadcast March 16, will be Mrs. Reagan's first professional role since "Hellcats of the Navy" with her husband in 1957.

Mrs. Reagan's spokeswoman, Sheila Tate, said Thursday night that the White House was approached by the "Diff'rent Strokes" producers last November with a request for a short anti-drug spot to be dropped into one episode. This was expanded to make the first lady part of the plot.

Mrs. Reagan has traveled around the country talking to youths about drugs. The publicist for "Diff'rent Strokes," Barbara Brogiotti, was not in her Burbank, Calif., office Thursday night and no one answered the telephone for the executive producer, Howard Leeds.

Small town suits new doctor well

Small world, isn't it? Dr. Nadir T. Khuri, moved his family to Hereford at the urging of Dr. David Baddour, with whom he went to medical school at the American University of Beirut.

And Dr. Baddour's wife, Maha, is from the same town in which Khuri and his wife, Sylvia, were raised. Hereford High School teacher Bill Igal is also from Ramallah, the same small town in Palestine.

The new doctor said Baddour told him about the DSGH needs and he liked the opportunity. "I like little towns anyway," Khuri said. "I can't stand big places like New York."

Teachers charged in boy's force-feeding

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston schoolteacher and a teacher's aide have been charged with injuring a child he allegedly force-fed because he could not finish his lunch.

Another teacher's role in the incident is still being investigated, police said.

Juvenile division Sgt. Paul Lindsey said three women put the 9-year-old boy through an ordeal of more than an hour Wednesday in his homeroom at John F. Kennedy Elementary School.

While one woman held his legs and another held his right arm, Lindsey said, the third fed him.

The youth told police the three were punishing him for buying two lunches, which he said is against school rules.

The boy, Calvin Charles Herring, spat up food throughout the force-feeding and later vomited, Lindsey said. He said the child was treated at a hospital for strained ligaments in his right arm Thursday morning.

Warrants were issued for the arrests of Rosemarie Barbalato, 22, and Patricia Williams, a teacher's aide. Bond was set at $800 for each woman. The maximum sentence for the offense is a year in jail and a $1,000 fine. Neither woman had been arrested late Thursday, a spokeswoman at the Harris County district attorney's office said.

AUSTIN (AP) — Police aren't sure why, and the new year is only half a month old, but the bank robbers are already back in force.

Not promising elections

White vows PUC changes

AUSTIN (AP) — Although he did not say he would support electing the Public Utility Commission, Gov.-elect Mark White promised a community group that there will be changes in the controversial agency.

About 25 members of ACORN, a nationwide "grass-roots" organization that has fought in Texas for lower utility rates, met with White Thursday specifically to ask him to help change the three PUC slots from appointive to elective jobs.

"We would like to see the PUC elected," said ACORN Chairman Ruth Martin of Fort Worth. "The only time we have any leverage with them (officials) is when we have the option of pulling that lever and putting them out of office."

White said he would "like to have time to further consider election (of the commissioners) versus appointment," but agreed with the ACORN members, who complained the PUC is too industry oriented.

"It doesn't work right now," White said of the PUC. "It has been effective really only in protecting the industry and not the people."

"You have talked around the main reason we came here," Ms. Martin pressed. "We don't expect a signed statement in blood, but close to it."

"My mind is not set on this," White said. "I have an open mind."

A slim majority of the state Sunset Advisory Commission surprised officials last month by population shifts.

— A $1.2 billion increase for 1984-85 in state and federal funds for highway construction and maintenance.

— $39.1 million in matching funds for public mass transit systems.

— $27 million to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for expansion of the state park system, fish and wildlife research and expanded law enforcement.

percent jump in December. Prices for fresh fruits tumbled 11.9 percent last year and were down 4 percent for the month of December.

Vegetable prices tumbled 12 percent for the year, compared with a sharp 12 percent gain in December. Beef and veal prices fell 2.9 percent last year, including a 0.7 percent drop in December. Pork prices, however, skyrocketed 19.7 percent in 1982, although rising 1.1 percent in December. Poultry prices rose a modest 2.2 percent for the year, even though tumbling 2.7 percent last month.

—Automobile prices rose a moderate 1.9 percent last year, compared with a 1 percent increase in December. Light truck prices were up 1.8 percent for 1982 and 0.5 percent in December.

—Capital equipment costs rose 4 percent for the year and 0.6 percent last month. Those costs are for machinery and transportation equipment used by business and industry.

All the increases are adjusted for seasonal variations.

In all, the unadjusted Producer Price Index for finished goods stood at 285.1 in December, meaning that goods costing $10 at wholesale in 1967 would have cost $28.51 last month.

If prices rose for 12 straight months at December's rate, the yearly rise would be 0.8 percent. In reporting its inflation figures, the department bases its compounded annual rate on a more precise calculation of monthly changes than the figure it makes public for the one-month change.

Cities hurt by local sales tax decrease

AUSTIN (AP) — Every major city in Texas except for Austin saw its sales tax collections drop this month, because of the state's economic problems, Comptroller Bob Bullock says.

Local sales tax collections are down 7.7 percent from last January, Bullock said Thursday.

The depression in the Texas oil industry and the repeated devaluation of the Mexican peso caused much of the decrease, Bullock said.

Bullock sent out checks totaling $32 million to the nearly 1,000 Texas cities that charge the one percent city sales tax.

Walesa returning to shipyard

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Lech Walesa is going back to work at the Lenin shipyard in Gdansk, saying he is "determined to fight with peaceful means" for the aims of the independent labor movement he led from its founding at the Baltic port yards.

"I shall return to the birthplace of Solidarity convinced that at present I belong among the people who have given me their full confidence," Walesa said in a statement read by an aide to Western reporters over the telephone Thursday.

The statement said Walesa would return to his electrician's job today.

Solidarity, the only independent trade union in the Soviet bloc until it was suspended under martial law, was banned last Oct. 8 by a new labor law that sharply restricts the growth of new unions.

Under the law, workers cannot strike for political demands and nationwide labor networks like Walesa headed are proscribed. In their place, the government has created 2,500 local unions that critics say are too tightly controlled by the military government.

So far, only a small number of workers have joined the new unions in Gdansk and other parts of Poland.

Walesa was fired from the shipyard before Solidarity was created, but won reinstatement during the 1980 strikes in which the union was formed. Officials have said he is free to return to work or join the new union in Gdansk.

Walesa was interned for 11 months under the martial law imposed Dec. 13, 1981. He was freed in November after the government decided it had vanquished Solidarity when a strike call received only lackluster popular response.

But Walesa was optimistic as he prepared to return to work at the V.I. Lenin shipyard, which was the focus of sometimes violent worker protests before and during martial law.

"I am convinced that sooner or later we will reach our goals," he said in the statement.

"I am determined to fight with peaceful means for fulfillment of the workers' aims expressed by the Gdansk, Szczecin and Jastrzbie agreements," he said, referring to agreements reached with the government to stop the strikes which swept Baltic shipyards in August, 1980.

The agreements established the principle of "trade pluralism" that was the cornerstone of Solidarity's founding charter.

In the announcement read to reporters Thursday, Walesa said, "I shall remain in solidarity with my colleagues, especially those imprisoned, suspended from their jobs, with all those who remain faithful to our ideals."

Milk scandal figure wants license back

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — One of the key figures in the so-called "milk scandal" during the 1970s says President Reagan has granted him a pardon and now he wants his law license back.

Harold Nelson, who pleaded guilty to funneling $332,000 in corporate milk funds to politicians, is scheduled for a Jan. 24 hearing in state district court on his petition to restore his law license.

Nelson, former general manager of the San Antonio-based Associated Milk Producers Inc., pleaded guilty in Washington D.C. federal court.

He was indicted for illegal campaign contributions and conspiracy to bribe then-Secretary of the Treasury John Connally with corporate funds from the nation's largest dairy cooperative. Connally was acquitted of accepting a bribe.

Nelson was sentenced to three years in prison and fined $10,000. A judge ordered him to serve four months in prison, suspended the rest of his sentence and placed him on probation for two years.

San Antonio attorneys Anthony Nicholas and Sol Casseb Jr. filed the petition contending Reagan granted Nelson a full and unconditional pardon on Dec. 23, 1982. The White House did not respond Thursday to inquiries about the reported pardon.

Nelson's law license was lifted by the State Bar of Texas in 1977.

Hays gets probation

Damon Hayes, 25, of Hereford, received a 10-year probationary sentence Thursday for rape of a child.

A jury Wednesday found Hayes of raping a 13-year-old girl in March of 1982.

Sentencing of up to 20 years and fines of up to $10,000 are allowable for such a conviction.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor, We are most certainly aware of the changing world in which we live. Some changes are to benefit our Nation, which we must all appreciate to keep our country the best in the world. Some changes are not to the general, tax paying citizen's advantage. In reading this article you will be aware what is most certainly in store for each of us, unless we ban together and reject this plan.

I want you to realize what will happen if you agree or allow the Post Office to eliminate door-to-door mail delivery and in its place require you to receive mail at neighborhood box units (NBU's). At the present time, your mail, packages, and registered mail, along with advertisements are brought to your door by the mailman. This is a service our generation accepts and enjoys and has not stopped to think what mail service would be like if we did not have this.

Nobody every likes to have any kind of service reduced, but this is really more than that. Normally, this type of reduction in service is started in low income areas or public housing projects and military installations where the Postal Service may feel that the postal customer has no voice or anyone to complain to. This is most unfortunate, Postal Service has provided because historically, the door-to-door delivery to the American public at whatever the cost.

Now, the Postal Service is trying to eliminate what you are paying for. This problem is most unfortunate for all Americans, but more especially, it will harm the elderly, ill and handicapped.

Mail service door-to-door would be a thing of the past. NBU's would be the new way to receive mail. Please do not think this is so far in the future that we do not need to concern ourselves. Friends, it is upon us. Take a look around and you will see these NBU's in use in many places. The Postal Service will tell you that NBU's are safer for your mail because you have a key to your box.

The problem is, you have to walk to the corner or the end of the block and pick up your mail. Your packages and other signature mail will have to be picked up at the post office, because the letter carrier will not be allowed to come to your door. This is surely a cut-back or reduction in mail service.

The reason you must complain while there is still time is; the Postal Service was authorized to increase first-class postage to twenty cents, then Congress has appropriated the necessary federal funds to provide six-day delivery and door-to-door delivery.

Furthermore, the Postmaster General has indicated that even though there was some loss of postal subsidy, the loss would be absorbed without reducing mail service. It is not fair to you, the postal customer, to be required to go to an area box for your mail. You should have the same quality service that you enjoy now, and that is door-to-door mail service.

If you agree to NBU's the next reduction will be worse. Voice your objection by writing or calling your postmaster now. Even more important and effective, write your Congressman and ask for his help before it is too late.

I am the National Business Agent for the National Association of Letter Carriers, AFL-CIO, representing letter carriers in Texas and New Mexico. Working in this capacity, I am very much aware of this danger to your mail service and feel strongly that I must warn you, the postal customer of the plans for the near future. There is still time for you to take action to stop this. I hope you will do so.

Ann Landers

Too easy, reckless

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please print this. I am not the only teenager who needs an answer. How come I meet a guy who thinks the world of me — until I let him have what he wants? Then he loses all interest — I mean, walks right by me without even saying hello.

This happened twice last year and it just happened again. What is the matter with these guys? They treat a girl terrific and then start saying things like, "You are driving me crazy. I am only human and I NEED You." One guy even said he would like to marry me someday and we should find out now if we are sexually compatible.

Give me some answers, Ann. I feel like a dummy. — Ellen In Colorado

DEAR ELLEN: Wake up and smell the coffee. Those guys are interested only in fun and games. They dump you after they get what they want because you were too easy.

Then there's the matter of self-respect. Some guys are ashamed of themselves when they use a girl that way. They want nothing more to do with her because she is a reminder of something they aren't proud of.

High school sex is hazardous to your health. Stop being so reckless. Talk to your school counselor and find out why you are so free and easy with your favors.

DEAR ANN: I must comment on that letter about the night shift, I, too, work the night shift. I am a nurse. Should we tuck our patients in at 10 p.m. and say, "See you in the morning" — no medication, IV's or bedpans until 6 a.m. — and shut off all the monitors because there is no one around to watch them anyway.

Night shift means Christmas Eve, New Year's Easter, your birthday. Sick people need care 365 days a year.

I don't like working nights, but someone must do it. And that goes for policemen, telephone operators and hotel clerks. Be fair and print this. — One Of Them In Long Island

DEAR ONE: Right you are. Thanks for an opportunity to accentuate the positive.

DEAR ANN: What is proper when one has the new telephone device that allows a person to receive a second call while engaged in a first? I believe it is rude to cut off the first caller just because another call comes in. A once-close friend of mine always did that. Recently she bawled me out for avoiding her, complained that I never call anymore. Just as I began to explain, her phone clicked. She told me she had to take another call.

Unless the second call is an emergency, I believe one should tell the second caller, "I have someone on the line and will return your call as soon as possible," then go back to the first call and wind it up gracefully. Right or wrong? — San Antonio

DEAR S.A.: You are right. The problem is one I've been hearing a lot about since all the high-tech telephone equipment has been popping up. Thanks for writing.

Walker gives pros, cons of generic label products

Members of Veleda Study Club met in the home of Patricia Weldon Monday night. Louise Walker, Extension Agent for Deaf Smith County, presented a program on the pros and cons of using generic label products.

Ms. Walker pointed out that many of the generic products are processed through the same plants as other nationally recognized brands. While a high percentage of savings can be realized by using generic products, the consumer must be satisfied with the product. If your family doesn't enjoy the food, it isn't really a bargain, said Ms. Walker.

One of the main problems with generic products is often the inconsistency, she added. There seems to be more variation from can to can in generic products. Often these brands in such items as detergents, fabric softeners, and garbage bags, continued Ms. Walker.

Members were cautioned to compare prices and read the labels to be sure of what they are getting. Even the generic brand products are required to list certain information on the label.

Members present were Marcella Brady, Juanita Brown, Frances Crume, Betty Gilbert, Donna Lindeman, Norma Martin, Marcella McLain, Joyce Rifter, Jean Rutherford, Norma Walden, and Carolyn Waters.

Harkins named to honor roll

Teresa Harkins of Hereford is among 479 Eastern New Mexico University students named to the 1982 fall semester Dean's Honor Roll. Ms. Harkins is a sophomore business information systems major.

Super Bowl tourney: round 2

BY LES GILES
Sports Editor

Round two of this year's Super Bowl Tournament kicks off Saturday when Minnesota meets Washington and the New York Jets take on the L.A. Raiders.

Sunday, it's San Diego vs. Miami and Green Bay against Dallas.

Reno odds, currently, favor a Dallas vs. L.A. Raider Super Bowl. The two are 8-5 choices to win the big one Jan. 30 at Pasadena.

If there's one thing the eight teams still left share it's playoff experience. Only San Diego hasn't been to a Super Bowl.

The Jets are trying to reach the Super Bowl for the first time since 1969. You remember that team, don't you?

That's the club that Joe Namath sparked in Super Bowl III. All week long, prior to the big game, Namath kept telling the writers his club would beat the Baltimore Colts.

And, that's exactly what happened ... 16-7, Jets. That game may have changed the course of pro football. Because, after that it wasn't long before the old American Football League merged with the NFL to become one league.

Well, the Jets of 1982 are different, and they've got a tough task Saturday against a team which won the Super Bowl two years ago, and has won it twice in the last six years.

If the Jets play the way they did against Cincinnati last week, they'll be hard to beat. But, the Raiders are one of the best playoff teams around, and playing at home, I'll take them in a close one.

Washington appears to have everything going for it right now, and is a solid choice against the Vikings. Both teams have been to the Super Bowl, but haven't won.

The Vikings are four-time losers in Super Bowl contests, while the Redskins were victims against Miami in the 1973 game, which capped a 17-0 season for the Dolphins.

If Green Bay plays like it did against St. Louis last week and the Cowboys play like they did against Tampa Bay, Sunday's NVC semifinal game won't be close.

You remember Green Bay, don't you?

That team that dominated the 1960s, under Vince Lombardi, winning five championships, including the first two Super Bowl games.

The Packers have been in the playoffs just once since Super Bowl II, losing to the Redskins in 1972.

Dallas, meanwhile, has been to five Super Bowls (more than any club), winning twice.

The Cowboys have looked less than sharp the past month, but I'll go with them one more time.

The San Diego-Miami game is a rematch of last year's great playoff encounter won by the Chargers, 41-38, in overtime.

Again, the game is in Miami, and again I think San Diego will win.

Miami hasn't been to the Super Bowl since beating Minnesota in 1974. The closest the Chargers have been is the AFC championship game, and they've been there the last two years — losing to the Raiders and Bengals, respectively.

Hereford's basketball teams will try to snap nagging losing streaks tonight against teams they've lost to earlier this season — Palo Duro. Game time for the girls' game is 6:15 p.m. in the high school gym. The boys' game will follow.

The girls bring a 3-5 district record into the game, compared to Palo Duro's 5-3 slate. The Don girls won, 53-44, in the district opener, Nov. 30.

The boys are 0-6 in league play, while the Dons are 4-2 and in third place in the loop standings, a game behind co-leaders Plainview and Amarillo High.

Palo Duro won the earlier meeting, 85-83, in the semifinals of the Amarillo Invitational Dec. 11.

The Hereford girls have lost their last two games, and four of the last five. The boys are on a three-game losing streak.

How about the 20-0 start by Dimmitt's boys this season?

That represents the best-ever start in a season under present coach Ken Cleveland.

The Bobcats figured to be strong this season, what with four starters off last year's Class 3A state champions club back.

Dimmitt is 10-0 this season against teams in 4A or 5A classification. The Bobcats' average margin of victory thus far has been 20.2 points.

The closest any team has played Dimmitt so far was Lubbock High, losing by one (67-66) in overtime in the semifinals of the Caprock Tournament.

Dimmitt's next-closest game was the 66-60 win over Hereford back on Nov. 26.

The Bobcats should get a tough test tonight when they travel to Abernathy for their district opener. Then, next Tuesday, they host Littlefield, the last team to beat them (in the second half of district play a season ago).

Palmer 2 shots off pace

Zoeller L.A. leader

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was a scene from another, earlier era.

There was Arnold Palmer, trailed by that vast army exulting in his move on the leader, whooping and yelling at his every success.

There was Palmer, hitching his britches with the old, familiar, nervous gesture; Palmer boldly threading trouble shot through the trees; Palmer, now 53 but again on the prowl, charging as he did so well so many years ago.

Calling on the magic he exerted before some of his current competitors were born, Palmer fought his way to a 5-under-par 66 — his best score on the PGA Tour in at least two years — Thursday in the first round of the $300,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open, a title he first won two decades ago.

He was two strokes back of leader Fuzzy Zoeller, who fired a 7-under-par 64. Gibby Gilbert and Australian Open champ Bob Shearer had 65. But it was Palmer, probably the most popular player the game has ever known, who generated the excitement on a warm, sunny day.

Zoeller, a former Masters champion, was in a mass interview, describing his four consecutive birdies and his front side of 30, when he looked up and saw Palmer.

"Come on in, 'King.' They're waiting for you,"

Zoeller said, surrendering the floor. But not before he got in a couple of parting shots.

"How old are you, anyway?" he asked.

"None of your business," responded Palmer.

"I'm playing at 7:40 in the morning. Early in the year like this, it's sometimes hard to get up that early," Zoeller said. "It must be really tough on you old guys."

"I'll give you a wake-up call at six," said Palmer.

Palmer's heroics — which included two escapes from the trees, a two-putt for par from 20 yards off the green, and a two-putt birdie-4 on his final hole which drew roaring applause from his gallery — all but overshadowed Tom Watson's spectacular finish.

inches of the flag. But he missed the eagle putt and had to settle for a birdie that finished off his 67.

"A 67 for the first round of the year. I'm satisfied with it. But I'd like to have made that last putt. That'd be some finish: eagle, eagle," said Watson, the current U.S. and British Open title-holder.

Palmer was tied at 66 with Gary Hallberg and Payne Stewart, neither of whom was born when Arnold first won the Masters.

Tied with Watson at 67 were Lee Trevino, Gary Koch, veteran Gene Littler and Mac O'Grady.

PGA champion Ray Floyd had a 70 for his first round of the year. Masters champ and 1982 leading money-winner Craig Stadler and Cal Peete, a four-time winner last season, each shot 73 and must improve Friday if they are to qualify for the final two rounds.

Oilers to enroll pair in therapy

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers plan to enroll two cornerbacks in a therapy program after the players were arrested leaving a north-side bar and one was charged with possessing a controlled substance, head coach Ed Biles says.

Greg Stemrick was charged with possession of a controlled substance Thursday and released from the city jail on $5,000 bail, said a spokesman for Harris County District Attorney John Holmes.

J.C. Wilson, 26, was charged with driving while intoxicated and driving without a valid license, the spokesman said. He was released on $1,600 bail.

The two were arrested Wednesday night by officers making a narcotics investigation at a north Houston bar.

"We have good therapy programs that are available to the people who want help," Biles said Thursday from California.

Navratilova is runner-up

Tabb top female athlete

NEW YORK (AP) — In the summer of 1982, two years before the Summer Olympic Games at Los Angeles, a television crew was in Eugene, Ore., filming a lot of footage of Mary Decker Tabb.

It was a sure indication that Tabb already had been tabbed as one of the stars of the TV special called "The Road to L.A." She had every right to be chosen for that role — even though the Olympics have become a jinx for her during her star-studded running career.

Tabb was the woman's star of the 1982 track and field season, and her series of record-shattering performances earned her The Associated Press Female Athlete of the Year Award.

In the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters, announced Thursday, Tabb received 29 votes. Tennis player Martina Navratilova was second with 21 and golfer JoAnne Carner was third with 9.

Last year, Tabb was undefeated in 14 races, indoors and outdoors, and shattered numerous records before an Achilles tendon injury prematurely ended her season in August.

Indoors, she set three world bests, with clockings of 4 minutes, 20.5 seconds for the mile, 5:53.4 for 2,000 meters and 8:47.3 for 3,000 meters. In the mile, she lowered the indoor best three times.

Outdoors, she set three world records, with clockings of 4:18.08 in the mile, 15:06.26 for 5,000 meters and 31:35.3 for 10,000 meters. The mile record later was reduced to 4:17.44 by Maricica Puica of Romania.

Tabb also set an American record of 8:29.71 for 3,000 meters.

For the year, she was ranked No. 1 in the world in the 5,000 and 10,000, and No. 1 in the United States in those events, plus the 800, 1,500 and 3,000.

No other American woman's distance runner ever has been so versatile and so good.

Still, the fact that she has yet to compete in the Olympic Games continues to haunt the 24-year-old Tabb.

In 1972, she was fast enough but too young. In 1976, she was old enough, but injuries — shin splints and stress fractures — kept her from even running in the U.S. Olympic Trials. In 1980, she won the 1,500-meter race during the Trials at Eugene, Ore., but because of the United States' boycott of the Games over the Soviet Union's military intervention in Afghanistan, the Americans didn't send a team to Moscow.

Since then, the injury-plagued Tabb has been pointing toward the 1984 Games and Los Angeles.

"This one is in my hometown, so to speak, since I started my career in Southern California," she said. "There should be a lot of friendly faces and a lot of support. If I don't get injured ..."

In tennis in 1982, Navratilova earned a single-season record $1,475,055 for winning 90 of 93 matches, including the Wimbledon, French Open and U.S. Women's Indoor Championships.

Carner also set a record for winnings on the women's golf tour, earning $310,399. She captured five titles, including the World Championship of Women's Golf.

North Star coach quits

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Coach Glen Sonmor walked into Minnesota North Stars General Manager Lou Nanne's office and told him he had seen something in the newspapers that described Sonmor perfectly.

It was a story about football Coach Dick Vermeil of the Philadelphia Eagles, who had resigned, saying he was "emotionally burned out."

"I think that's me," Nanne quoted Sonmor as saying.

"I think I've had it."

Sonmor coached one more National Hockey League game — the North Stars' 2-1 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday night. Ten minutes after the buzzer sounded, he announced his resignation at a news conference.

"I don't think I've been doing as good a job as I had been doing in the past. I think it's in everybody's best interest that I take some other assignments from the team," Sonmor said.

Sonmor said he knew he had enough when he got into a fist fight with a Pittsburgh fan at a restaurant after the North Stars beat the Penguins 7-0 Wednesday night.

"I don't usually get in arguments with people like that," said Sonmor, who sustained a blackened right eye and cut nose in the fracas. "Obviously it is getting to me."

Purdue Boilermakers upset Ohio State, 64-57

By JOHN NELSON AP Sports Writer

Purdue's Boilermakers are at the top of their game, and it couldn't have come at a better time.

Fresh off an upset of 20th-ranked Ohio State, Purdue meets fourth-ranked Indiana Saturday in a game that could well set the tone for this season's Big Ten Conference race.

"It's another Big Ten game," Purdue Coach Gene Keady said, "but I know the Purdue fans don't think of it that way."

Purdue honed its game for the meeting with cross-state rival Indiana by defeating Ohio State 64-57 Thursday night. Sophomore Jim Bullock led the way with a career-high 18 points, and the Boilermakers rallied from a five-point deficit midway through the second half by running off 13 straight points.

Ohio State led by as many as 10 points in the first half.

"Our team didn't do a good job offensively, and if you don't play well for 40 minutes, you get beat," Ohio State Coach Eldon Miller said.

Ohio State ran into foul trouble in the second half. Center Granville Waiters fouled out with about five minutes left, and 6-foot-10 freshman Keith Wesson played most of the second half with four fouls.

Center Russell Cross, who did not start because of back spasms, added 17 points for Purdue, 11-2 and 2-1 in the conference. Ohio State dropped to 9-3 and 1-1 in the Big Ten.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 4 Indiana defeated Illinois 69-55, fifth-ranked UCLA beat Oregon 97-69, No. 7 Arkansas edged Texas A&M 66-64, eighth-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas defeated Pacific 66-63 and 12th-ranked Iowa beat Northwestern 66-57.

Top Ten

Randy Wittman scored 17 of his game-high 27 points in the second half, and Indiana's front line overpowered Illinois. Forward Ted Kitchel scored 20 points, and sophomore center Uwe Blab had 13 for the Hoosiers, 12-1 and 2-1 in the Big Ten.

Indiana led 36-33 at halftime but stretched that lead to 44-35 with 16:54 to play on the shooting of Wittman.

Three UCLA players — Darrin Daye, Kenny Field and Rod Foster — scored 17 points apiece for the Bruins, who had to sidestep a second-half Oregon rally to win at home. The Bruins led 40-30 at halftime but only by 60-56 with 11 minutes to play before running off 15 straight points in this Pacific 10 Conference game. UCLA is 10-1, 3-0 in the Pac 10.

Willie Cutts hit a pair of free throws with six seconds left to give Arkansas the pad it needed to defeat Texas A&M in the Southwest Conference. Center Joe Kleine paced the Razorbacks, 12-0 with a 2-0 league mark, with 19 points.

A&M trailed by only one point, 63-62, when Cutts hit his two free throws. Arkansas led by 15 points late in the first half before the Aggies came back behind the scoring of guards Reggie Roberts and Ryren Nauulis. Roberts finished with 23.

Sidney Green scored 23 points and grabbed 14 rebounds to pace Nevada-Las Vegas over Pacific in a Pacific Coast Athletic Association contest. Jeff Collins added 17 points for the Runnin' Rebels, 13-0 and 3-0 in the PCAA.

Nevada-Las Vegas led 48-32 at the half and Pacific never got any closer.

Second Ten Iowa surged ahead of Northwestern with seven straight points by Greg Stokes early in the second half and breezed to its 10th victory in 12 games.

Top college coaches

Wacker, Paterno honored

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Wacker, who has "never been at a Division I school before in my life," has no doubts about his ability to build a winner at Texas Christian University.

The 45-year-old Wacker said he has been contacted by Division I schools before, "but I was happy and content where I was." That included places such as Concordia College in Nebraska and Augustana in South Dakota, before head coaching stints at Texas Lutheran, North Dakota State and Southwest Texas State, where a 42-8 record, including Division II national championships the last two seasons, pushed his overall mark to 104-33-1.

As a result of a 14-0 mark in 1982, Wacker was honored Thursday night by the American Football Coaches Association as College Division Coach of the Year. The University Division award went to Penn State's Joe Paterno for the third time. The Nittany Lions, 11-1, won the 1982 national championship by defeating Georgia in the Sugar Bowl, giving Paterno a 162-34-1 mark in 17 years.

"This is the first job I've been interested in," Wacker said of TCU. "They were 3-8 and we'd accomplished everything we could accomplish at Southwest Texas. I wanted a new challenge."

Wacker sounds as if he will have it licked before too long.

"It's the same game and the ball is the same size in Division I," he said. "TCU is a place you can win at — and I don't mean 6-5. In a few years, we'll be able to compete with anyone in the nation."

"The depth is not there right now. We'll only have 53 scholarship players in the spring, but the cupboard is not bare by any means. Our freshmen will have a chance to play, and two or three years down the road we have a chance to have an outstanding team."

Paterno, 56, who also won the award in 1968 and 1978, was asked what Penn State could do for an encore after its first national championship.

"I don't really have goals," he said. "Some people are goal-oriented, but I'm the type of guy who likes the preparation and putting a game plan together. I don't know where we go from here. We'll try to put a good football team together. We may lose a lot much, but we'll have a good, solid team."

Other University Division district winners were Jack Bicknell, Boston College; Bobby Ross, Maryland; George MacIntyre, Vanderbilt; Dennis Green, Northwestern; Tom Osborne, Nebraska; Billy Brewer, Louisiana Tech; Ken Hatfield, Air Force, and Jim Sweeney, Fresno State.

The College Division nominees included Andy Talley, St. Lawrence; Dennis Douds, East Stroudsburg State; Buddy Sasser, Wofford; Bobby Pate, West Georgia; Bob Reade, Augustana (Ill.); Don Morton, North Dakota State; Mike Friedman, Southern Colorado, and Jim Sochor, Cal-Davis.

Elways head Shrine game

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Several times during the Stanford football season, All-America quarterback John Elway allowed himself to look ahead to the Shrine East-West Game.

"That will be the first time I'll get to play for my father," he explained.

Jack Elway, whose San Jose State teams beat Stanford in the 1981 and 1982 seasons, is head coach of the West squad that will meet the East, coached by Hayden Fry of Iowa, Saturday in the annual all-star game for the benefit of Shriners' hospitals for crippled children.

A crowd of about 65,000 is expected at Stanford Stadium.

Coach Elway's other West quarterback is Steve Clarkson, a star of the San Jose State Spartans.

"He's like my adopted son," said the coach who will try hard to give the quarterbacks equal playing time Saturday.

But when asked which quarterback would start, the coach said that since he and Mrs. Elway were staying at a Stanford area hotel all week, "If I want to have any fun, I better start John."

The East quarterbacks are from the Big Ten, Illinois' record-breaking passer Tony Eason and Indiana's Babe Laufenberg. But both are from California. Eason went to Illinois after playing junior college ball near Sacramento, and Laufenberg transferred from Stanford to Illinois upon the arrival of Elway.

The East pass receivers include Illinois' Oliver Williams and Tennessee's Mike Miller, a world class sprinter. Targets for Elway and Clarkson will include Stanford tight end Chris Dressel and San Jose wide receiver Tim Kearse.

Falcons fire Leeman Bennett

SUWANEE, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons announced today that Leeman Bennett, the only winning coach in the team's 16-year history, has been fired after six seasons.

No replacement was named.

Bennett, at a news conference with owner Rankin Smith, said, "I came here with a smile on my face and I'm going to leave the same way."

"We just weren't good enough," he said. "I hope Mr. Smith and the Falcons' organization can reach their goals in the future."

Bennett said he was "very much surprised" by his dismissal and had "a feeling somewhat of betrayal."

Bennett said he did not know his future plans.

Gambler claims dozen NFL games were fixed

NEW YORK (AP) — An imprisoned gambler interviewed in a public television documentary says a dozen National Football League games were fixed from 1968 to 1970 by gamblers who paid off a coach, quarterback and defensive captain of at least one unidentified team.

John Piazza, makes the allegations in the first offering of the Public Television System's "Frontline," to be aired next Monday on public television stations nationwide.

The documentary, screened for the press here Thursday, also implies that Los Angeles Rams owner Carroll Rosenbloom, who drowned in April 1979, was murdered by an underwater swimmer who grabbed his legs and pulled him under. The official cause of his death was accidental drowning.

The fix allegations were made by Piazza, whose family was paid by PBS for his testimony that four games were fixed in each of the 1968, 1969 and 1970 seasons. None of the players or teams involved were identified, and Mike

Kirk, the senior producer on the show, said their names had not been given to the NFL.

"All of the variables that are associated with this have been checked out. I believe the corroborating evidence," Kirk said by phone from WGBH in Boston, which produced the show. He said Piazza had passed a lie detector test. But Kirk, who said research would continue until air time, added, "I'm not prepared to say who these people are because you're really damaging reputations. We don't want to transmit slander. We don't have enough information to name the names. We are carrying a story. We believe it enough to carry it." Don Weiss, executive director of the NFL, said the league would have no comment on the show until it viewed the entire film.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle is interviewed in the film by narrator Jessica Savitch, but is not asked directly about the Piazza allegations. Kirk said Savitch talked to Rozelle on the phone and the commissioner said he had never heard of Piazza.

The gambler, interviewed in prison, said the fix involved what he called "a consortium" of players. He said they were paid a flat fee of $300,000 plus 10 percent of what the gamblers made on the fixed game. He said the biggest payoff was $800,000.

"We had the coach and we had the quarterback, who was the offensive captain, and we had the defensive captain," he said. He said the players were constantly aware of the point spread on the game, or as he said, "the perimeters of the score we wanted to hold."

"Say the offense got close to the goal line and a touchdown would have put it above the spread," he said. "The quarterback would throw a pass away and they would only have a field goal."

Drug dealer says Cowboy star used cocaine

DALLAS (AP) — An admitted drug dealer turned government witness says that he used cocaine with Dallas Cowboys' defensive end

Harvey Martin "two or three times" and that he and Martin shared the cost of the drug.

Danny Stone, a former North Dallas barber, testified Thursday in the trial four accused cocaine dealers that he and Martin "were in on some deals together, where he would come over and we'd do some (cocaine) and he would pay for his part."

Martin, reached after practice Thursday afternoon, acknowledged knowing Stone, but denied any dealings with him in cocaine.

"It's all a lie," Martin said. "I never thought he would lie about me like that." Stone originally faced several federal drug charges, but pleaded guilty to a single charge of conspiracy and agreed to testify against his co-defendants in the case.

He testified about Martin outside the jury's presence, and Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert R. Smith successfully objected that the statements were irrelevant.

Stone said outside the courtroom that he was concerned that his testimony would hurt

Martin's career.

Stone said he was friends with Cowboys President Tex Schramm and Vice President Gil Brandt, because he cut their hair.

Schramm, reached in San Francisco, acknowledged knowing Stone. But Schramm said that "other than him being a barber in a barbershop, I wouldn't know anything else about it."

MARLIN, Texas (AP) — Gone is the old jail where Falls County Sheriff Larry Pamplin grew up, peeping through key holes to watch his father at work.

A new one with computerized security monitors and electrically locking doors replaced it in 1978.

Gone is the "old school" of law enforcement. Ever-changing and more complex laws have superseded the pistol-wielding method of maintaining law and order.

And criminals just aren't what they used to be either, says Pamplin, 34. Maybe they're smarter. Maybe they aren't. But they sure escape faster and farther away than crooks of yesteryear.

In fact, not much at all remains that Pamplin recalls from his childhood at the Falls County Jail. The son of Falls County Sheriff Brady Pamplin, he lived in the old jail nearly 18 years with his mother, father and two brothers before going to college.

There was no such thing as a jail commission in those days, he says, explaining that operating a jail was not the headache it is today, with inspectors continually peering over county officials' shoulders.

Nor were there jailers in those days, Pamplin says, explaining why the family grew up in the jail during his father's 30-year term of office.

"I was raised on the first floor of the old county jail," he said. "Started out peeping through keyholes when I was 3 or 4 years old. Then I'd stand at the door and look in.

And when I got bigger I went with (Dad)."

Pamplin says the experience "would be impossible" to describe. But many who know his father describe him as a "legend in his own time," "a lawman of the old breed" and "a fierce pursuer of those wanted by the law."

Brady Pamplin was feared, but respected. And according to one of the tales about him, he met a bank robber at the edge of the county with a machine gun and pumped the weapon empty, practically ripping the getaway car in half.

The criminal still escaped.
The Texas sheriff is said to have grieved the foiled capture for quite some time. But still he was credited with keeping crime in Falls County at perhaps the lowest level of anywhere in the state during "his reign."

Pamplin disputes the tales of his father, dubbing them exaggerations and lies. The man he knew as Falls County sheriff and the man he still knows as his father is the person others describe as "a kind man with a rough exterior."

In high school, Pamplin decided to follow in his father's footsteps, despite discouragement from his parents, who pointed to the field's low pay and long hours.

And when his father realized his mind was made up, Pamplin says his father offered only a few words of advice: "Make up your mind to treat people the way you would like to be treated. And treat them all the same."

"He told me there would be a lot of things I would like to do, but under the law would not be able to do, and that at other times, there would be a lot of things I would have to do that I would not want to do," Pamplin says. "But he said the whole trick would be to do my job without hurting anyone."

Many years have come and gone since that conversation.
And Pamplin since has encountered numerous opportunities where hurting someone while performing his duties as a law enforcement official perhaps would have been justified.

Take for example, the day in 1973 when he had to arrest a man wielding a shotgun just moments after the man gunned down two Falls County deputies.

Pamplin says the deputies,
Elbert Watkins and Dean
Humphus, were like "kin."
And the day they were killed was probably the most memorable of his career.

But still, he says, his father's advice has proved to be the most valuable he possibly could have received.

Pamplin says his father devoted his life keeping the peace in Falls County. And with 761 square miles of territory to cover, it kept him hopping.

"He was strict with his job, and I think it paid off in dividends for the citizens of this county, even though it did cripple him," Pamplin said.

Thirty years of "burning the candle at both ends," he said, has left his father confined to a wheelchair with arthritis.

Yet, Pamplin, too, desires a lifetime career as a sheriff.
The $13,333 he makes a year is not enough for someone on call 24 hours per day, seven days per week, he says, adding that his wife, Jean, must teach school for his family to get by financially.

But he says, he accepts the wages and has few regrets.

Though Pamplin says he would not encourage any young person to enter the same field, he takes pride in the job he does and says he has passed up numerous opportunities to go elsewhere for higher pay.

"This is my home," he says, tilting back in his office chair, cowboy hat propped back on his head and a cigar between his lips. "I don't particularly care to work in a place where people don't know each other.

"Here, we all pretty well know each other. And that means a whole lot to me. I like living in a clean county. I plan on staying here the rest of my life. And I think Falls County is one of the cleanest in the state."

How to dry wood

DEAR POLLY — How long should I allow freshly cut wood to cure before burning it in my woodstove? — PAUL R.

DEAR PAUL R. — According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, wood should dry out for at least nine months for the most satisfactory use as a heating fuel. Green wood is harder to start burning, takes longer to heat up and produces less heat per pound than dry wood. That's because it contains a great deal more water than dry wood. However, green (sometimes referred to as "wet") wood produces a longer lasting fire. Some experts recommend burning a combination of green and dry wood in a stove or fireplace. That way you get a hot fire that starts easily, but burns longer. For example, green wood can be useful if you need a fire to burn throughout a long night. If you cannot dry your wood for nine months before using it, try to obtain dead trees that have shed their bark.

By the way, I'm glad to hear that you have a stove. Did you know that fireplaces are the most inefficient wood-burning "furnaces"? Glass doors used in connection with some kind of heat radiator are next in efficiency and airtight stoves or furnaces are the most efficient way to extract heat from wood. If you can purchase wood inexpensively or grow or cut your own, wood heat can represent a real savings on your energy bill if you use it correctly. For more information, you can write to the Office of Governmental and Public Affairs of the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington and ask for their informational bulletins on heating with wood. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Place freshly made french fries in a brown paper bag, add salt and shake. The excess grease will be absorbed by the paper and the potatoes will be evenly salted.

Use a brown paper bag to store fresh mushrooms in the refrigerator. They won't become slimy and will stay moist enough to maintain freshness. — MRS. T.E.

FAITH WILL PREPARE YOUR CHILDREN FOR TOMORROW

Your children need to learn faith in God, as well as the basic skills of life. As the opening of the school season draws near, remember that it is also time to begin or resume their spiritual education; to fortify them for the time when you may no longer be on hand to guide and protect them. That a large segment of our young people have never learned goodness for its own sake is tragically evident in the almost daily accounts of juvenile wrongdoing. Children are not born with this knowledge; they must be taught it. Enroll your children in Sunday school, and set your own good example for them by the way you conduct your life, and by attending your Church.

"Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it."
— Proverbs 22:6

"His education forms the common mind: Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."
— Alexander Pope
