Manning wi receive honor

BY TAPRINA K. MILBURN OBU News Service

SHAWNEE, OK .-- Doug Manning of Hereford, TX., will be honored as one of Oklahoma Baptist University's Profile in Excellence Award recipients on Saturday, Nov. 9, during the university's homecoming

The award is given each year to alumni who have demonstrated excellence in their profession or life service, and is the second-highest award given by OBU's Alumni Association.

Manning, a man known for his exceptional way of dealing with life's serious side through humor and honesty, decided nine years ago to leave his 30-year career as a pastor to take on a fulltime speaking and writing career. He says he spent many years as a minister before he realized God

"I thought I was supposed to feel and think a certain way before God could love me," the 59-year-old author and speaker siad. "I never felt I was worth of his love because of the way I felt inside. And then I realized God loved me just exactly like I was. Knowing that changed me." Manning said he began to talk about what he was feeling inside--lack of self-worth, temptation, frustration, guilt--and while sharing what he was going through, he said he found his niche as a Christian minister in the secular world.

MANNING

"Hove the word 'normal' because my calling in life is letting people know they're normal," he said, "and I love the word 'understand' because we all want to be understood. I believe I help people realize they're normal by talking about my own pain and frustration. I talk about the kinds of things that we've all experienced but don't talk about. And through this we realize we're all human.

In the earlier years of his ministry, Manning focused mainly on college-age students, sharing his story of growing up with an inferiority complex and how he learned to accept himself, he said.

"I was raised to believe I was dumb and ugly--though not intentionally. My older brother was an all-state football player and my younger brother was better than he was. I was convinced that I was dumb.

Manning says he had teachers throughout high school and college who took him under their wings, helping him to find what he could do well. "I remember Rhetta May Dorland at OBU. She taught me the joy of performance," he said. "She could read aloud beautifully. She inspired me to move an audience with music and words. It takes people like that, who will pay attention to you and notice you, to help build a sense of Manning now travels throughout the United State talking to people about grief, aging and relationships. He and his wife, Barbara, became partners in In-Sight Books Inc., a company which with Harper & Row Publishers has co-published several of Manning's books.

MANNING

He wrote his first book, "Don't Take My Grief Away From Me, after the 18-month-old daughter of close friends died suddenly.

"I was out of town when the child died but the story was recounted to me and it had such an impact on my decision to study grief. When the child died, the young mother became hysterical," Manning recalled. "During this time, everyone was trying to get her to calm down, and she turned to them and said, 'Don't take my grief from me. I deserve it. I'm going to have it.'

Manning said those words stayed with him and he began studying grief. "During my research, I could find only three books written about it. So most of my research was with groups of people who were experiencing the pain of losing a loved one. I just sat and listened to them talk about their feelings and experiences. I learned that we have only just-begun to study

Manning's book gently walks a person through the grieving process, covering such topics as the funeral and family, while assuring the reader that he or she is normal for having feelings of guilt, anger and resentment during the grieving process.

During he research of the topic, Manning says he found that grief leads to several social problems. "Sometimes, couples who lose a child end up getting a divorce. The death of the child does not create a problem in the marriage, but it will bring to the surface problems that were existing before the child died," he said.

In addition, grief--if not dealt with, also can lead to alcohol and substance abuse, Manning says. He encourage people to deal with grief and to find others who understand what they are going through. "We've got to get over the concept that you're dealing well with grief when you're not grieving,"

Manning's second book, "When Love Gets Tough: The Nursing Home Decision," deals with issues a person faces when caring for elderly parents.

"When a person is caring for an elderly parent, the number one thing he or she is up against is guilt," he said. "People feel guilty when they get irritated at their elderly mother or father because he or she can't hear.

"We need to know what normal is. I'm afraid we only hear the good side of normal," he said. "We hear people say that caring for their elderly parent is a wonderful experience, but we don't hear how mad, frustrated and tired the

'So you begin to think you're the only one who feels this way, therefore, you must not love your parent. Then you begin to feel guilty. People have to understand that you can love a person' and still get mad at them. If we don't' understand this, we will feel guilt."

Although Manning no longer sees his role in life as an evangelist, he' believes there needs to be a balance between people like himself and evangelists.

"I see myself standing on the sidelines saying "Don't forget the poor and the lame. Don't forget those who are grieving and struggling with 85year-old mothers," Manning said.

His latest work is a series of books to walk families through the first year after a death. This month, "The Gift of Significance," another book dealing with grief, will be released. In January, "The Quiet Winner," his book about listening skills, will be published.

Cockroaches see the 'light'

BY JAMES ROBERTS Andrews County News If it wasn't so serious, it would be

The light went on in Washington this week and our duly elected representatives acted just like the cockroaches in your garage--they went scurrying hither and yon, helter-skelter in all directions. The politicians woke up to the fact that the national economy is dead in the water. It's going nowhere. Normally, that's not a subject that bothers many people in the nation's capital, insulated as they are from the normal worries of us people in the boonies. But next year is election year and that's a fulltime subject in Washington. A recession in the middle of an election year is about as welcome as sunshine at hog-killing time.

So suddenly, our leaders in Washington are scurrying around, dreaming up tax cuts for the middleincome segment of the population. It's a segment that is as forgotten, as ignored as the endangered species of white, male, protestant.

And that august body, the board of governors of the Federal Reserve, are thinking seriously about cutting the interest rate again. Big deal!

We've got news from the boonies for the folks in Washington.

A $300 cut in income taxes for the average worker is not gonna jumpstart the economy. Another cut in the interest rate is not gonna send consumers out enmasse on another buying spree.

The consumer is worried sick about his job. Read the headlines. Every day, major blue-ribbon companies are announcing additional layoffs. So are retailers, banks, oil companies, manufacturers, real estate firms and other businesses across the country.

The only segment of our population that isn't laying off people and trimming down are our tax-supported institutions at the local, state and national level. The private sector is laying 'em off and the public sector is hiring 'em!

And we're gonna jump-start the conomy with a $300 tax cut?

A good friend of ours gave up the ghost last week. He was an aggressive, experienced businessman with a pocketbook sufficient to expand, to enter new markets, and hire more people. But he quit! He quit because he simply no longer could cope with the ever-increasing rules and regulations of EPA, OSHA, EEOC, and the overwhelming costs of worker's comp, health insurance and business taxes.

He sold out to a firm that will probably follow the normal pattern after a merger, sale or buyout. Outlets will be closed, jobs will be eliminated, and the business will re restructured in order to service the normous debt.

If Congress really wants to get the economy moving again, we have the solution. Simply put a five-year freeze on the regulators.

The growing army of regulators seeking to enforce hairbrained, unproven, untested, unwarranted, unscientific, safeguards dreamed up by anti-establishment pointy-headed liberals sporting rubber-banded pigtails is slowly strangling the country and the economy.

A good case in point is the oil industry. By the end of this decade, the major oil companies of this nation will not be operating in the United States. They're moving out! They're moving out of Andrews, out of Texas, out of the country. And good reason!

Why should they continue to operate here with costs approaching $12 a barrel when they can move overseas and produce crude oil at roughly $2 a barrel.

Locally, we know from experience that major oil companies have operated responsibly as far as development and the environment and have been good corporte citizens. But, nationally, they've been the whipping boy for every far left, dogood, social welfare outfit in the Little wonder that they're leavingand taking needed jobs with them.

Congress ought to realize that it's hard to worry about saving the earth when the belly is empty, the rent's due, the baby's sick and last year's taxes are unpaid.

Jobs will jump-start the economy and jobs are created by businesses that not hammer-locked by regulators.

I have looked in the rule book. There is no specific rule barring Hrbek from doing what he did. There's nothing that covers the play in the interference definitions or rules. A defensive player can only "obstruct" a runner if the defensive player doesn't have the ball.

What Hrbek did certainly isn't covered in the rules. It might not have been the gentlemanly thing to do, but, hey, Gant's still out and the Twins have that weird-looking trophy with all the flags on it.

Mea Culpas rate barely a historical footnote

An AP News Analysis By WALTER R. MEARS AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) - In the annals of political confessions, the latest entries by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, admitting personal shortcomings, and Sen. Alan K. Simpson, conceding cocky arrogance, rate as no more than footnotes.

All they did was confirm the obvious and say, as both have said before, that they'll do better.

Nothing there to rank with the repentance of a congressional alcoholic promising abstinence; a House powerhouse involved with a stripteaser saying he drank too much and would stop; or the former senator who offered to take the pledge on condition that he be confirmed to a top Cabinet job.

Nor was there eloquence to match Jesse Jackson's plea for Democratic forgiveness after a divisive 1984 campaign: "I am not a perfect servant . Be patient. God is not finished with

The stakes, personal or political, didn't match those involved when Kennedy himself told Massachusetts voters 22 years ago that he had behaved indefensibly at Chappaquiddick, and asked their advice on whether he ought to quit the Senate. Five days later he said he'd way to the White House - Kennedy finally sought nomination in 1980 and failed - but he has won successive landslides at home, and says he has every intention of running for a seventh time in 1994.

A midsummer poll in Massachusetts reported that a majority of voters thought Kennedy should retire or be replaced, but soundings about an election more than two years away don't mean a lot.

Still, the glare that will go with the trial of his nephew in Palm Beach, accused of rape after a late-night bar stop with Kennedy and his son, will heighten the character issue. It is getting under way now, Kennedy will be a witness, and this case is being conducted in full televised view.

The legal side of Chappaquiddick was handled in brief court appearances, a suspended sentence and a suspended license, and a private

While Kennedy's problem involves what he has done, Simpson's stems from what he says. His reputation as a Senate wit has been overtaken by adverse ratings as a savage political infighter. He attacks and often atones, sometimes in successive sentences.

His style as on televised display Mary Jo Kopechne drowned in at the Clarence Thomas hearings, Kennedy's car, an accident he did not with Simpson a tough point man report until the following morning, challenging Anita Hill's credibility raised questions of character that and character, along with her sexual harassment accusation. That stirred The episode effectively barred the an argument with women to go with his longstanding feud with the press, which stretches from Cheyenne to Baghdad.

Visiting Iraq with a Senate delegation in April 1990, Simpson told Saddam Hussein that "your problems lie with the Western media and not with the U.S. government," a remark he later insisted was taken out of context.

Last February, he called CNN's Peter Arnett "a sympathizer" with Iraq for his reporting from Baghdad during the U.S. air war. He also said that Arnett's Pulitzer Prize-winning reporting in Vietnam was biased in favor of the Viet Cong. Simpson later apologized, in his fashion, saying he regretted the Vietnam accusation, and wished he'd called Arnett an Iraqi dupe instead of a sympathizer.

Last Saturday night in Cheyenne, Simpson told about 300 people at a Republican fund-raising dinner that the reaction to his Thomas role had been very painful, and that he was undertaking "a little honest reassessment ...

"I have been riding high, a bit too cocky, arrogant," he said. Simpson said he didn't blame his critics, the media or women's rights activists, for his problem. "The responsibility is mine, and I shall handle it and handle

It wasn't a campaign conversion. Re-elected with 64 percent of the vote, Simpson doesn't have to run again until 1996. But Senate politics could be a factor; at 60, he's the No. 2 Republican leader and the better his image, the better his chances when there's an opening for No. 1.

Kennedy's problem is more immediate. His reputation undercut him as a Thomas opponent and a Hill defender in the sexual harassment hearings; at one point a Republican senator seemed to taunt his silence. Now there's the Palm Beach trial to withstand.

At Harvard University last Friday, at the school of government named for John F. Kennedy, the senator said he was painfully aware that he had disappointed friends and many others who "rely on me to fight the good fight" for liberal causes.

"To them I say: I recognize my own shortcomings - the faults in the conduct of my private life.

"I realize that I alone am responsible for them, and I am the one who must confront them," said Kennedy, now

That's hardly a breakthrough, just ordinary, everyday wisdom for the average man.

AMENDMENTS will be decided Tuesday-

"The lottery is not mandatory, and it is my hope that those who play will feel a sense of personal enjoyment at the chance of having something returned to them as a result of their choosing to pay a 'voluntary tax,' " wrote Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, in a recent newspaper commentary.

More than 30 other states operate lotteries now. Texas is the largest without such a game.

While receiving less attention than the lottery, several other proposals also have been debated this fall.

The governor, Attorney General Dan Morales and other officials urged voters to endorse Proposition 4, to sell $1.1 billion in state bonds to build prisons, mental health-mental recommend legislators' salary hikes retardation facilities and youth to voters. corrections facilities.

Almost half the 25,000 new prison beds would be for drug and alcohol abuse treatment, something supporters said is needed to help stop repeat

Although some legislators expressed concern about the debt such a bond sale would create - nearly doubling the cost of paying cash for the prisons

- little organized opposition surfaced.
A prison reform group, Citizens
United for the Rehabilitation of Errants, did oppose the amendment. In its literature, the group said Texans 'cannot build ourselves out of crime" and called prisons "counter productive schools of crime.'

One amendment that drew considerable fire is Proposition 6, which would place the new Ethics Commission in the constitution and allow it to set daily expense pay for legislators and Legislative supporters said the proposal would give politicians guidelines to follow and require accountability.

But several groups oppose Proposition 6, including the League of Women Voters of Texas, Common Cause and Public Citizen. They said the new state ethics law empowered an ethics commission anyway; commission members would be recommended or chosen by the Legislature; and that the panel often would operate in secret.

"It's clear that all of these flaws" come back to one basic problem - the current proposal was designed to protect the powerful, not the people," said Tom Smith, director of Public Citizen.

State officials were nearly unanimous in urging passage of another amendment - Proposition 13 - to sell $300 million in bonds to

San Antonio, Valley getting new area code

AUSTIN (AP) - Reaching out and touching some South Texas residents will require a different number this time next year.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. announced Friday that phones in San Antonio and the Rio Grande Valley will be given a new area code beginning Nov. 1, 1992.

The new code - 210 - will replace 512 in that region.

The change is needed now "or we will run out of telephone numbers in the near future," said Marc West of Southwestern Bell's Austin office.

"Population growth and the rapid growth of new telecommunications services are the main reasons the telephone number supply is being exhausted," he said.

West said there will be no other change than the area code. Sevendigit telephone numbers for homes and businesses will remain the same, he said.

The 512 area code will remain in use in an area stretching from Lampasas through Austin, San Marcos, Victoria and Corpus Christi to south of Kingsville.

Besides San Antonio, other cities that will be switched to the 210 code include New Braunfels, Seguin, Eagle Pass, Laredo, Zapata, McAllen, Harlingen and Brownsville.

The change includes communities served by Southwestern Bell and other telephone companies. West said the changeover would take place in two stages. For the first six months - Nov. 1, 1992 until May 2, 1993 - callers who accidentally dial 512 to reach numbers in the new area code region will have their calls automatically forwarded to the 210 number. 'The six months will give callers more time to become adjusted to the new area code," West said.

'For a few weeks after the adjustment period ends, callers still using 512 when dialing numbers in the 210 area code will hear a recorded message instructing them to dial the new code," he said.

The tie-breaking system used in the district relies on points in the games against the persons involved in a three-or-more-team tie. Because Borger defeated Randall 25-13, the Bulldogs have plus 12. Dumas would have plus 15 because the Demons beat the Bulldogs 33-7 back on Oct. 11. (The most points you can get is 15, to keep teams from running up the score. You don't "lose" points with a loss.)

If it's a three-way tie between Hereford, Randall and Dumas, Randall would be in because it wasn't any wind.

Hereford could be a "district champion" and still not make it to the playoffs. If Hereford defeats Borger, Randall beats Dumas and Caprock (in the Mother of all Upsets) gets by Pampa, there would be four teams tied with 3-2 marks. "Borger came back on them in the fourth quarter and they intercepted a couple of passes late and that was the ball game."

Borger forced four Randall turnovers, with three interceptions and a fumble recovery. Running back Ronald Knighton scored on fourth quarter runs of 10 and 30 yards while gaining 110 yards on 21 carries. Quarterback Leroy Jones threw two touchdown passes.

In Dumas' win over Pampa, Demon defensive end Jay Grosfield recovered two fumbles, including a blocked punt in the end zone that gave Dumas an 7-0 lead in the second quarter. James Charles kicked a 31-yard field goal just before the half to give Dumas a 10-0 lead.

The Demons scored again late in the game when Paul Legg ran 78 yards for a touchdown, then passed to James Smith for two points for the 18-0 win.

Pampa had only 129 yards of offense, while Dumas piled up 264 yards.

Hoop defense has become sopl

By DAVID MOORE

The Dallas Morning News DALLAS (AP) - Hakeem Olajuwon gets the ball in the low

Rodney McCray doesn't hesitate. The Mavericks' forward leaves his man to help James Donaldson double-team the Houston center.

The Mavericks want Olajuwon to kick the ball outside. They are gambling that Buck Johnson or Vernon Maxwell is less likely to hit an 18-foot jumper than Olajuwon is to score when he has the ball down low with just one defender to beat.

The Mavericks are like every other team in the league when it comes to defense - they play the percentages. Rotation. Trap. Double-team. Switch. All are part of the defensive landscape as teams search for a way to slow down an Olajuwon or Michael Jordan or Magic Johnson.

These are not revolutionary ideas. Teams always have had those options in their defensive vernacular.

The difference is that teams have become much better at playing the percentages. If Boston and New York play on a Thursday night, the Celtics' next opponent can have a tape of that game broken down and in the office the next day. They know what Boston will run. This wealth of quick information makes for better

The days of a team being able to fast-break its way to an NBA championship are gone. Detroit made aggressive, physical, man-to-man defense fashionable again with consecutive titles. The Chicago Bulls made their own statement in June when they won the title with a trapping, pressure defense that relied on agility over brawn.

'I'm a strong believer that defense is the winning ingredient to a basketball team," Bulls coach Phil Jackson said. "It hangs the team together when the shots don't fall."

Skeptics may claim that Jordan was a more vital ingredient in the Bulls' championship run than their full-court press. But Chicago did hold the Los Angeles Lakers to the fewest points (458), rebounds (178) and field goal attempts (374) of any team to ever play five games in the Finals.

"They won it defensively," Detroit coach Chuck Daly said. 'They just kept getting better and

"Most of the top teams do get better defensively

Those teams get better because of the information explosion. As Daly said, "Any guy who plays in this league is athletically capable of being a good defensive player." Information and an emphasis on defense supply the edge.

More time, effort and money is being poured into scouting these days. It's much more sophisticated.

George Foreman was only 19

in a row from 1972-83.

has started a scouting service that reviews 41 games played by each team. Cohen then breaks down the information he gathers from those tapes into incredible detail.

Example: Cohen has found that Phoenix guard Jeff Hornacek hits 71 percent of his shots when left open. He drops to 41 percent when he's forced to shoot off the dribble. Teams that know this are less likely to have the defender assigned to Hornacek drop off him to help double-team someone else.

Example: When Kevin Johnson and Tom Chambers run their pick-and-roll on the right side, Johnson hits 56 percent of his shots. When the same play is run on the left side, Johnson hits just 28 percent.

'There is a tremendous amount of film work being done," Mavericks coach Richie Adubato said. "A team can't do anything that surprises you. That helps the defense."

The basic rules of defense have remained the same. New York coach Pat Riley breaks down defense into three parts - contain, protect and protest. Adubato said the first order of any defense is to stop the transition game. The second is to determine how to cover the opponent's star.

Do you let him get as many points as he wants and stop everyone else? Or do you contain him and force the other players to stop up and beat you?

"Those are the two philosophies," Adubato said. "It's been like that since the beginning of time. It will always be that way. Some things don't change. Others do. One of those is interior defense.

Teams used to defend a center head-up, then double-team him by dropping a guard inside. But centers are too big, too quick, too strong for that tactic these days. Defenses now use a forward to help on the double-team.

'To me, that was a revolutionary type thing," Adubato said.

Another adjustment has come in how teams defend the pick-and-roll. Defenses used to switch - which is what the play is designed to create. Now, defenses try to get over or stay behind the pick so a switch doesn't have to be made or they trap the ball.

Five years ago when Rolando Blackman and James Donaldson ran the pick-and-roll, Blackman would Now, defenses trap Blackman and force him to pass to Donaldson as he rolls to the basket. That's why the pick-and-roll between these two is rarely used.

It all has to do with personnel. Adubato said the Mavericks have eight ways to defend a pick-and-roll.

Dallas tried to force Kevin Johnson, Sacramento's Spud Webb or Charlotte's

Jordan Cohen is an example. He Muggsy Bogues away from the pick and to the baseline. The Mavericks don't try to trap those players because they are too quick. With some players, the Mavericks try to slide under the pick. With others, they try to fight over the pick. Sometimes, Dallas will trap before the team can set up a pick-and-roll.

"You try to come up with a counter for what the other team does," Adubato said. "But it's your personnel that determines how you counter.

"Teams try to come up with a counter for what the other team does," Adubato said. "But it's your personnel that determines how you counter."

Teams have different philosophies according to their personnel. Golden State uses more traps and gimmicks than any team in the league. Their lack of size forces them into this system.

It's like a team that blitzes in football. The pressure may work, but if it doesn't, the defense can be burned for a big play. In basketball, the more a defense relies on a double-team, the more often it gets burned for an easy lay up or an offensive rebound.

That's one reason the Pistons and Lakers avoid the double-team as much as possible. Detroit doesn't get beat individually that often because it has excellent one-on-one defenders out front, a shot-blocks presence on the weak side in either John Salley or Dennis Rodman and a Bill Laimbeer to clog up the middle. The Lakers are effective defensively because their starters are all quick enough and tall enough to switch on a pick and not get burned.

And then there's Chicago. The Bulls use their quickness to play the passing lanes and to come up the middle of picks to make steals.

"We're not physically strong, so we have to use different types of pressure and tactics," Jackson said. 'We can't keep a team out of the paint like Detroit or LA.

"We read the other team's offense. The second or third time we play a team, we feel we have adjusted to them. That's when we become better. In the latter part of the season, in the second half on, we turn it up a notch and become a better team.' With defense.

"I think everyone has different philosophies," Utah coach Jerry Sloan said. "Some teams do it with double-teams and gimmicks. Others play straight up. But when it comes right down to it, all we're talking about is the ability to stop the other

Tomball splits game's difference

By MIKE DRAGO Associated Press Writer Gary Porter did the splits and No.

6 Tomball took a tumble Friday. A&M Consolidated, powered by Tim Wood's 134 yards and two touchdowns, took advantage of a freak injury to Porter and pounded the Cougars 38-9 in a district 21-4A battle.

Porter, who had passed for 1,441 yards entering the game, played only briefly in the first quarter after pulling his hamstring while doing the splits during a Friday morning pep rally at school.

Paul Morgan replaced Porter and completed 14 of 20 passes for 142 yards, but he failed to throw for a touchdown and was intercepted twice. Wood scored on runs of 10 and 57 yards as Consolidated raced to a 14-0 halftime lead. The Tigers stretched their advantage to 31-7 by the fourth quarter.

Class 4A No. 3 McKinney and Mabank, the No. 8 team in 3A, were the only ranked teams to lose Friday. McKinney was thumped by Gainesville 34-13, while No. 3 Forney beat Mabank 13-10.

Forney quarterback Clay Beason made two key defensive plays, helping the Jackrabbits to the District 12-3A title. With Forney leading 13-10, Beason blocked a 25-yard field coal attempt with remaining. He then intercepted a Mabank pass at the Forney 22 with 3:07 to go. Mabank led 10-7 going into the fourth quarter when the Jackrabbits' Keith Roberts fielded a punt on one hop and returned it 43 yards for a touchdown.

In games involving the top Class 5A teams, No. 1 Arlington Lamar beat Martin 35-6. Shawn Walters led the Vikings with 112 yards and a pair of touchdowns and Lamar piled up a school-record 27 first downs.

No. 3 Odessa Permian beat San Angelo Central 21-15, and it was No. 4 Waco over Pflugerville 28-6, No. 5 Beaumont West Brook over Vidor 40-0, No. 6 Alief Elsik over Rosenberg Terry 28-23, No. 7 Jersey Village over Langham Creek 55-0, No. 9 San Antonio Marshall over Clark 22-0 and No. 10 Mission over McAllen Memorial 59-23.

In Class 4A, No. 1 Bastrop, which in the past week had two victories stripped for using an ineligible player, made strides toward a playoff berth in a 14-0 decision over Schertz Clemens.

No. 2 Houston C.E. King beat Santa Fe 27-7, No. 4 Waxahachie beat Midlothian 21-6, No. 5 Sulphur Springs beat Texas High 20-3, No. 7 Austin Westlake beat Reagan 48-22 and No. 8 LaMarque beat Dickinson

No. 9 Wilmer-Hutchins, the defending state champion, secured a chance to defend its title with a 10-9 victory over Lancaster. Donald Veasley led Wilmer-Hutchins, running for 201 yards on 22 carries. But the Eagles needed two interceptions in the fourth quarter to secure the victory.

Alamo Heights, which holds the No. 9 ranking with Wilmer-Hutchins, smashed San Antonio Southside 55-0.

Sinton, the No. 1 team in 3A, beat Rockport-Fulton 28-6, and it was Class 2A No. 1 Schulenburg whipping Somerville 60-0 and Class A No. 1 Valley Mills beating Crawford 24-22.

Emerson Allen ran for 125 yards and three touchdowns in Jersey Village's victory. Langham Creek gained just nine first downs and suffered three turnovers.

Austin Westlake continued its scoring rampage in the victory over crosstown rival Reagan. Brandon Benton ran for 140 yards and three touchdowns, pacing the Chaparrals offense that has scored 17 touchdowns in two games. Westlake beat Anderson 70-7 last week.

Westlake rolled up 370 yards, mostly on the ground, while holding/ Reagan to 178

"The last four weeks we've gone more to our rushing atack with two tight ends," said Westlake offensive coach Johnny Ringo. "We could have thrown more, but we had so much success running that we didn't need

Modkins earns running back spot

By BILL NICHOLS Dallas Times Herald FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) -TCU running back Curtis Modkins, a small guy form a small town, looked tiny in the weight room that first day at freshman orientation in

"He looked like a peanut," TCU coach Jim Wacker said. "I don't think he'd lifted a weight in his life." Modkins has since gained 30 pounds and more than 1,900 yards.

He has a tattoo on his left arm, some serious muscles and a bandage wrapped around his sprained thumb.

Now he's big time. Modkins, who had to twist Wacker's arm to play running back when he arrived from Marlin, went into last weekend's 26-9 loss to Baylor - when picked up 29 yards on 12 carries - as the sixth leading rusher in TCU history. He is fourth among the Southwest Conference rushing leaders this week.

And he's only a junior. Few would have believed Modkins would come so far.

Now 5-9, 190 pounds, Modkins suffered through two knee operations his sophomore and junior seasons at Marlin High School - 20 miles east of Waco - then spent most of his senior year hobbling on crutches.

"One time I hurt my Achilles and sprained an ankle on the same play," Modkins said. "I was on crutches all year. I still played because I had to. I knew I'd be at home if I didn't."

Such desire has been the driving force behind Modkins' success. He refused to change positions when college recruiters offered him scholarships to play defensive back. Only TCU and Houston offered him a spot on offense.

"When I came out I was only about 160 pounds, with two knee operations," Modkins said. "Most of the big schools said 'defensive back.' I said, 'No way.' (TCU) tried to make me a receiver. It just wasn't me. My head wasn't in it. Running back was all I'd ever played."

By refusing to change, Modkins placed pressure on himself. He began his first season, 1989, as the starting slotback - because Tony Darthard and Cedric Jackson were firmly established at the running back.

"I got caught up in the numbers," Modkins said. "But I never gave Darthard and Jackson were injured two games into the season. Modkins never looked back. He touchdowns, averaging 4.4 yards a he blocks like crazy and he's got carry, as a freshman. Last year he gained 893 yards on scored three touchdowns.

And through seven games this season, Modkins has rushed for 493 yards and three touchdowns, including 245 yards the past three games for the Frogs (2-2 in the Southwest Conference, 5-2 overall), who average 406.7 yards of offense

"I'm not surprised at what I've done," Modkins said. "When I came here, I knew I'd do this."

But Modkins' rise was difficult. He worked hard this summer in the weight room, pumping iron and gaining 12 pounds to 190. He awoke each morning at 5:45 to run, and his time in the 40-yard dash improved from the upper 4.5-second range into the lower 4.4s and once as low as "I could set my watch by Curtis," strength coach Kevin Yoxall said. 'We had a lot of guys who paid the price, but nobody was more dedicated to our off-season program than Curtis. He did not miss a workout.'

improve, the rest of his game did, too. 'The good thing about Curtis is he's an all-around football player,"

Not only did Modkins' strength good quickness." Perhaps Modkins felt he had something to prove.

Having been considered too small to play running back, Modkins never wavered from his belief, despite sustaining a variety of injuries in his three years at TCU. Modkins played Saturday despite a hip pointer and the sprained thumb.

"You always feel like you have something to prove," Modkins said. I just knew I'd play running back somewhere. Once I got on the offensive side of the ball, I figured I'd make it. It doesn't matter what size you are. Once you get in your mind what to do, it just happens.

In high school, Modkins recuperated from his operations with Baylor team physician Red Covington, driving from Marlin to Waco every day, then dreaming of playing college football while riding the exercise bike.

"Sometimes I would be working in there by myself and they'd be practicing and my knee would be burning, but I kept on riding that bike," Modkins said.

For Modkins, it has been a long ride. But the hard work has paid off in a big

Bucky's tough for a quarterback

An AP Sports Analysis By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Enjoy watching Bucky Richardson play his last season. There likely won't be another throwback to old-time football like him in the Southwest Conference in our lifetime.

Bucky should be in a leather helmet, sloshing around in the mud as a tailback in the single-wing.

Or, he should be lined up in black, high-top shoes as a middle linebacker in the 4-3, sending out greeting cards to centers, fullbacks and quarterbacks and pulling grass out of his face mask. Or, envision him at strong safety, whacking tight ends into the middle of next week.

Enough flashbacks, because we all know that ole Baton Rouge Bucky plays quarterback for Texas A&M University, all 6-foot-2, 222 pounds

He'd rather challenge a tackler than dodge him, deliver a blow than receive one.

This blacksmith of a quarterback isn't the world's greatest runner or passer. But he gets the job done. He can run the 40 in 4.6 and

"You always forget how good he is until you play the Aggies," said Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes.

After the Aggies defeated Baylor, coach Grant Teaff or the Bears said, "Bucky gets my vote for the Heisman Trophy award this season. With Bucky at the helm, the Aggies are a very good football team.

Perhaps if the Aggies had defeated Tulsa with a healthy Richardson at the controls, he might have had an outside shot at the Heisman. The loss cost the Aggies and Richardson a lot of national exposure.

As it stands through mid-season, Richardson certainly was the best quarterback the SWC had to offer, given the downfall of Houston's David Klingler.

Of course, when you describe brawny Bucky as a quarterback, you almost want to put quotes around the word "quarterback."

He is but he isn't.

Artist of the month

Betty Roberts have been chosen as the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division Artist of the Month. Her painting will be on display at the Atrium through November.

Roberts takes challenge, earns honor

By DANEE' WILSON Lifestyles Editor

What started as a challenge from a friend, has turned into a 15 year habit for Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division Artist of the Month Betty

"I've been painting for 15 years now," said Roberts. "I was told by Eunice Peterson that I could do it. I said that I couldn't draw a line and she said you don't have to draw to medium or theme, she just likes them

"I started oil painting with oils then watercolors and finally pastels," she said. One would have to use different techniques when painting with different mediums because some dry faster than others, she said.

Over the years, Roberts has studied under Peterson, Jean Lyles, Ben Conis and has taken lessons in East Texas.

Roberts' work has been featured November.

Roberts doesn't have a favorite at the Deaf Smith County Library and the chamber of commerce.

> "I paint for pleasure" Roberts said. "I've sold some of my paintings and have given some away.

"I get my ideas from scenes that I see. Sometimes a particular theme sticks in my head and I can't get it out until I paint it. A lot of people take pictures of a scene, like a sunset and use that as a guide.

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON -- A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutri-tionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Although other studies and scientists may not agree, researchers in Europe found that the ingredient, a natural plant colloid, actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.

While the project of National Dietary Research, aptly named Food Source One, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the formula which has since been improved with other natural colloids has been a windfall for some overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina phar-macist lost 14 pounds in 3 weeks on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One tablets are part of National Dietary Research's comprehensive plan to bring a rapid end to obesity in this country. A variety of nutritionally sound diet plans, specially prepared by NDR, accompany each bottle and provide a natural, drug free alternative for confronting the problem of obesity.

YOUR EYES

RED EYES

Almost everyone gets red or bloodshot eyes now and again. What causes the redness is usually an irritation of the conjunctiva, the membrane that lines the eyelids and covers the exposed surface of the eyeball. What causes the irritation? It could be infection, air pollutants, allergies, cosmetics, excess alcohol intake, lack of sleep or overexposure to sunlight. Or maybe contact lenses that don't fit right, or are worn too long. It's smart to avoid the irritation if you can. Wearing glasses or sunglasses on windy days can help prevent foreign substances from getting into the eyes. Eye makeup should be removed carefully. Drinking less alcohol, getting more sleep and stopping smoking also help eye health. It may be wise to stop wearing contact lenses for a few days. A thorough examination will check that the lenses fit properly. Any possible infection calls for medical diagnosis and treatment.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Good, Fast And Cheap

ecently, I overheard a discussion between several small business owners. They all agreed that their typical customer wanted everything to be good, fast and cheap. However, they debated whether these three characteristics were compatible when combined.

The more I thought about that discussion, the more interested I became. These businessmen and women had put their collective finger on the heartbeat of the American free enterprise system. We all want good quality products and services. We all want and need affordable prices. We have come to expect fast service. We live in the "I want it and I want it now" age.

Many companies who recognized and exploited the good, fast and cheap concept have prospered over the years. Ford Motor Company, Dell Computers, McDonald's and Wal-Mart are excellent examples.

Tin Lizzies and Pony Cars

In 1908, Henry Ford introduced the Model T at $850. It was the first truly affordable automobile. In subsequent years, he produced more than 15 million Model T's. Because of Ford's manufacturing genius, the "Tin Lizzies," as they were fondly called, later sold for as little as $260 each.

Almost 60 years later, Ford scored another automotive milestone with the "good, fast and cheap" approach. This time, it was the Mustang, a brainstorm of marketing dynamo, Lee Iacocca. First-year sales toped $400,000 units. The "Pony Cars" were an instant hit with the young and the young-at-heart. I was a senior in high school when the Mustang came out. I remember every detail of those little cars. Of course, I only thought about two things back then. One of them was cars; the other wasn't.

More recently, computers have taken the "good, fast and cheap" spotlight. Personal computers now do in nanoseconds what earlier models took hours to compute. Today's computers are incredibly small, fast and powerful. For example, Texas-based Dell Computer sells its Model 320SX (good) with i386 technology (fast) for under $2,000 (cheap).

Defining Good, Fast and Cheap

The concept of good has different meanings to different consumers. Through the years, retail merchandisers have diluted the idea of good by using the "good, better and best" quality differentiations. Good became fair or barely acceptable. According to the dictionary, good still means of favorable character, suitable and of intrinsic value. As consumers, we seldom buy the best of anything. We seek the best value but seldom the very best product.

We look for dependability, reasonable quality and consistency. I own a good American-made-car. I bought it used and have driven it more than 100,000 miles. It has proven dependable, cost-efficient, comfortable and attractive. Most importantly, I expect to drive it another 100,000 miles.

Fast is defined as easily accessible and readily available. McDonald's was a pioneer in the fast food industry. They provide quick service, and their restaurants are conveniently located. Wal-Mart brought the concept to rural towns in the 60's. Their stores are located close to large numbers of consumers. They carry a wide variety of readily available merchandise.

Many Soviet block citizen s would be very happy if they could simply go into their stores and find any products to purchase. Product availability (fast) is a concept Americans take for granted.

Cheap also has different meanings to different folks. Advertising experts have substituted the words inexpensive and low-priced for cheap. This has given cheap a negative connotation. I like the word cheap. To me, it means affordability, good quality at the lowest possible price and real value for the least exchange.

Good, fast and cheap are three good concepts for today's businesses. Call it quality, availability and inexpensive if you like. However, good, fast and cheap is what every customer wants.

Don Taylor is the director of West Texas University's Panhandie Small Business Development Center.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When to-1 against your point of view. Read

From Phoenix: The letter from "Baffled Parents" questioning the "current trend" of adult children to blame their parents for everything that went wrong in their lives really got to Too many children fail to appreciate me. I say it's about time parents were made accountable for the way they raise their children. I lived in a home where parents screamed obscenities and there was alcohol-fueled violence and broken furniture. Once I said to my mother, "This family isn't normal." She replied, "How do you know? Have you ever lived with any other family?" It took years of therapy to straighten out my life.

Chicago: Just because parents put told (by my parents) how lucky I was because Dad made good money and we had everything we wanted. In my early 20s, I sought help for chronic depression and learned that as far back as my preschool days, my father was an alcoholic and sadistic in the bargain. He would pull my hair, twist my arms (all in fun, he claimed) and once when he was "trying to teach me to swim" he held my head under water until I nearly drowned. Let your readers know that child abuse among the wealthy is just as painful as it is among the poor.

Albuquerque: To those adults who are now blaming their parents for the way they turned out, I say, "If you don't like what you are, change yourself." Spending a whole life being miserable and putting the blame on your parents is a cop-out.

Beverly Hills: My college sophomore son came home for the two giant leaps back to 17th century weekend and out of the blue he listed Holland with author Rosalind Laker.

all the things I had done to make him an emotional cripple. He said his therapist opened his eyes. Ann, I'm such a wreck from that kid's attack on me that I'm thinking of going into therapy myself. The Bible said it best, "Sharper than a serpent's tooth..."

Dallas: I was a co-dependent from a dysfunctional home and this is not "psychobabble." Six years of therapy helped me overcome low self-esteem, depression, suicidal thoughts and the inability to form close relationships. The first thing my therapist said was, "It's nobody's fault. It's up to you to fix it." I know now I must take charge of my life and I am doing just that.

New Orleans: S[peaking about I can't tell you how many people, suffering i snot about blaming our parents. It's about self-knowledge, compassion and forgiveness. Don't deny us this. It's the first step in healing and overcoming years of abuse, depression and anxiety.

Burlington, Vt.: When there is a lot of screaming, hitting and fighting in a family, you can be sure that one or both parents grew up in families like that. My childhood was hell because of it. I decided to break that chain and thanks to six years of counseling, I did. My kids are terrific and their kids are going to be terrific, too.

> TIPS ON -HOW TO WRITE A CLASSIFIED AD THAT SELLS

1. Use a KEYWORD. This immediately tells the reader exactly what it is you have to sell.

2. Make your description CLEAR and FACTUAL. State the year, make, model, color, size, and tell what condition the item is. Also state the special features.

5. State the PRICE. Successful Classified advertisers have learned that the price in an ad helps increase the chances for results.

4. If there's a genuine sense of URGENCY, say so. The words, "We're Moving" or "Must Sell Fast" suggests that readers respond immediately.

5. Include your PHONE NUMBER. Classifieds get results fast and often generate immediate sales. If you cannot be available to answer the phone at all times, be sure to specify special calling times such as "after 6 PM" or "Before 11 AM"

If you need assistance ask one of our friendly AD-VISORS to help you word your ad.

Question

Answer

Q. - Our new wood stove smokes up the room when we open the stove door for stoking. We have a trilevel house, and the stove uses six feet of pipe from the stove to the ceiling, then another six feet of pipe through the roof topped with a rain cap. The salesman who sold us the stove said we needed another two feet of chimney for sufficient draft to stop the problem. We did this but the problem persists.

A. - There are several angles to consider when the draft does not appear adequate. Most wood stoves have recommended drafts. You can check this with a manometer that should register .05 inches of water when placed in the flue. The location of the stove in the house is also important. If the stove is in the lower level of a trilevel, 14 feet of chimney may not be enough. Large trees can interfere with your draft causing high-pressure areas around your chimney. Also, you could have air leaks in your house, causing air to rush out various cracks creating a lower pressure around your stove. Opening a window slightly some-times helps, but it must be on the pressure side of the house. Opening and closing doors of certain rooms can sometimes affect the air pressure in a house as well.

reads, "Elaine Miles, Star." Who? Miles plays Marilyn Whirlwind, the unflappable angel of "line one" in Dr. Joel Fleishman's storefront office on Northern Exposure, airing Mondays on CBS. Her qualifications for stardom are unorthodox, and her story is charming.

Miles never set out to be Marilyn. Hollywood's most successful American Indian actress had worked at a series of minimum-wage assignments, including a McDonald's job that lasted half a day, when she accompanied her mother to a Seattle casting call for the low - budget summer - replacement

"I was so proud," she says, of that first, fast-food job. But, "to work at McDonald's, you have to be quick.

"So the lady put me on milkshakes. She said, 'That's easy for you to do.'

"That particular day, everybody wanted milkshakes. I was trying my best, you know, and she came back and said, "Elaine, can you speed it up a bit?" And I just looked at her like, 'I'm trying the best I can."

Milkshakes oozed on the counter and customers began walking out. The manager fired her, little knowing that the benign, wordless gaze she had witnessed would be the key to Miles'

A woman of few words, Marilyn Whirlwind relies on her poker-faced composure (which is known to give Dr. Fleishman fits) to achieve results. Neither defiant nor stoic nor martyrlike, Marilyn's outward calm gives her an air of good sense and, occasionally, indulgence that seem to have their source in an inner wisdom.

Miles probably wore that characteristic expression as she waited for her mother to audition for the part of

"I was just sitting there waiting for my mother and (the casting agent) talked me into auditioning for the part." Both women were called back to read for the producers, and Elaine got the part. Her mother was cast in a cameo role as Mrs. Anku, wife of the ailing medicine man.

The arrangement suited them both, says Miles, because "my mom's got other things to do."

Asked how she views the portrayal of American Indians in the series, Miles recalls some negative comments over an episode in which she appeared at a Cicely powwow in her own Cayuse-Nez Perce tribal outfit. Alaskan Indians were upset "because they do not have powwows up there.

"I had to remind them that this is TV, you know. They have things on TV that don't relate to things that Caucasian people do, and you (white) people don't complain about that."

Such is the wisdom of Marilyn Whirlwind.

Michael Sabatino's good at being bad

By Candace Havens When it comes to evildoers on soaps, good ol' Lawrence Alamain on Days of Our Lives is one of the first to come to mind. This guy is suave, sophisticated, handsome - and so very good at being bad.

Just look at the history of the character: He was responsible for killing Patch, raping Jennifer, almost killing Bo, Shane, Kayla and a few other Salemites. Lawrence did get put in iail for the crime of rape, but after only a few months, he was released.

This isn't the first time Michael Sabatino, aka Lawrence Alamain, has portrayed a bad guy. You may remember him as Chip Roberts (Knots Landing), the man who killed Ciji (Lisa Hartman). Sabatino is quick to point out that even though he often plays an evildoer, it doesn't mean he is one in real life. "When I meet people, they are surprised when I respond to them normally. They are thinking, 'This guy is what I see him doing on TV,' - and I'm not."

Actually, Sabatino's off-screen persona couldn't be more different. "By the time I get home from work I'm too tired to be mean," he says.

For the most part the actor tries to take care of himself. Along with working out and doing aerobics, he enjoys hiking, mountain biking and stair stepping.

Sabatino may be healthy, but he is also human. When asked what he would die for in the way of food, he reveals, "The other day I was in the market and I could not resist these Hagen-Dazs ice-cream bars with almonds. They were amazingly good."

As to what the actor looks for in a relationship: "Earlier in the ye through a separation, and I'm in kind of in a transitional period right now. I am seeing someone, an actress on the show, Crystal Chappel (who plays Carly). With what my situation is now, I keep reflecting on that great part in When Harry Met Sally... when (Billy Crystal) was talking about lowmaintenance and high-maintenance relationships. I am interested in the low-maintenance relationships, and I'm very comfortable in ours," he says.

I want to hear from you! Write to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, Texas, 76161-

Life's toughened up feisty Lorraine Bracco

By Lisa Otoupal

In Someone to Watch Over Me, she slugs on-screen husband Tom Berenger for sleeping with the woman he is protecting. When movie-hubby Ray Liotta takes a mistress in Goodfellas, she pulls a gun on him and tells him, "I'm a fighter." Actress Lorraine Bracco is nothing if not tough.

Raised in New York by an Italian father and a British mother, Bracco began modeling at 16. At her parents' insistence, she moved to Paris, where, by age 19, she was gracing the covers of Elle and Marie Claire.

After French actress Catherine Deneuve told her she should be an actress, Bracco enrolled in a class taught by John Strasberg, son of acting coach Lee Strasberg, hoping it would give her the confidence and skills she needed.

What ultimately gave her the needed boost was the end of her three-year marriage to a French salon owner. The divorce left her with a 3-year-old daughter and the will to survive.

Before long, Bracco met actor Harvey Keitel. Within a year, they married and moved back to the United States. She started accompanying Keitel to the Actors' Studio, and after months of watching said, "I can do that." She subsequently won a part in Goose and Tom Tom, a Lincoln Center production with Sean Penn and Madonna.

Bracco's latest film, Radio Flyer, is due out next year. O TV Listing Inc

NFC East may pass by Eagles, Giants

By Steve Paschal

Two teams that were expected to contend for the NFC East championship will instead be battling just to make the playoffs this week when the New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles clash on ABC's NFL Monday Night Football

The Giants and Eagles were expected to be the cream of the crop in what is arguably the toughest division in the NFL, but both find themselves in jeopardy of watching the playoffs on television. The Washington Redskins are almost sure bets to win the division after their best start in 50 years, and the resurgent Dallas Cowboys are making a serious bid for second place.

The defending Super Bowl champion Giants have been embroiled in a quarterback controversy all season involving last year's starter Phil Simms and his former back-up, Jeff Hostetler. Hostetler led the Giants to their third NFL Championship last year after Simms suffered a season-ending injury, but the Giants have struggled during the first half of this year and Simms is anxious to retake his old Philadelphia, on the other hand, would just be happy to have one healthy, reliable quarterback. The Eagles lost both All-Pro quarterback Randall Cunningham and back-up Jim McMahon early in the season.

If either team does make the playoffs, it will be on the strength of its O TV Listing Inc defense.

Reader wants to contact Enterprise crew member

By Taylor Michaels Q: I don't know if this would be of general interest, but it is important to me. I want to send a letter to Marina Sirtis, the woman who plays Deanna Troi on Star Trek: The Next Generation. Could you publish an address for her? —Thomas and Malinda LeBianc, Claremont, N.H.

A: You can write Sirtis c/o Paramount Domestic Television, 5555 Melrose Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.,

Q: I recently read in your column where someone was upset about the line "I'll cut your heart out and eat it" in a television show. Television shows are beginning to go down the drain.

I have a 5-year-old stepson, who, like most children his age, loves to watch cartoons. Last week we were watching some of the new cartoons for this season. At the end of the new Back to the Future cartoon, the character Biff was talking directly to the viewers and called them "buttheads."

10:30

In the movie, Biff said "butthead" quite a bit. For a PG movie, that's fine. But for a children's cartoon, it's not right. In movies and television it's easier to explain to a child that it's not right to do or say as the characters do. We've stopped him before for saying the word "butt," and when he hears it emphasized on a cartoon, he asks question

I'm not against cartoons, I just think because children are the majority of viewers, the cartoons ought to be more suited towards children. -S. Meaux, Carthage, Texas.

A: First of all, I think it's great you're taking the time to screen the shows your stepson is watching. Secondly, I agree with you. Cartoons are mainly for children (even though I know some adults who love them as well), and since they don't contain warnings like movies, their content should be harmless.

Marina Sirtis

Q: I was watching Love Connection and I saw a girl I went to school with many years ago. I have often thought of her over the years. Her date's name was Emmanuel. It would mean everything to me if you could contact the show and get her address or give her my address.

—Nick Alexander, Vivian, La.

A: I hope you're on the level ... I'm doing this in the interest of true love.

The best thing for you to do is call the station on which you saw the show and ask them what episode number was shown on that date. Then write to Warner Bros., the studio that distributes the show, and explain it all to them. The show is in syndication, so that particular episode could be a couple of years old. The address for Warner Bros. Domestic Television Distribution is 4000 Warner Blvd., Burbank, Calif., 91522. Good luck, and let me know if you ever find

Q: Could you tell me if the Arizona police have any clues as to who murdered Bob Crane, who starred in Hogan's Heroes? A few years ago I heard they were close to solving the crime. - James Wells, Osceola, Ariz.

A: The last thing I heard was that the police had uncovered some new evidence, but they didn't say what it was. They didn't go so far as to say they were close to solving the crime.

Q: Where can I write to the producers of Northern Exposure? -Elsie Crone, Chanute, Kan.

A: Write to Joshua Brand and John Falsey, producers of the CBS Mondaynight hit, c/o Pipeline Productions, 3000 Olympic Ave., Suite 2575, Santa Monica, Calif., 90404.

Send your questions about the world of entertainment to Let's Talk, c/o Features Dept., P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, Texas, 76161-1009. Because of the volume of mail, only questions of general interest can be answered.

Another trio of celebrities checks in for The Barbara Walters Special, Tuesday on ABC.

PBS allows Pueblo Indians equal post-Columbus time

PBS recently presented a lengthy documentary on explorer Christopher Columbus. Now the network is allowing equal time and funding for Surviving Columbus. The two-hour special will explore the Pueblo Indians' 450 years of contact with Europeans. The story is told in the voices and seen through the eyes of the Pueblo people, from their first encounter with the conquistadors to the Indians' revolt in 1680 and their subsequent domination by Mexico and the United States. Surviving Columbus is slated to air in the fall of 1992.

"I think in most cases an attack is a case of mistaken identity," says shark expert Al Giddings, whose latest film project, Shark Chronicles, led off the new season for ABC's World of Discovery. Using himself as bait, Giddings demonstrated how aggressive behavior fends off the predators.

"A surfer paddling with legs extended, as viewed from the bottom, looks like a sea lion laying on the surface," says Giddings. "If there's no radical response that puts them off, they'll start to feed."

Giddings has directed underwater photography scenes in several major Hollywood films, including two James Bond movies, For Your Eyes Only and Never Say Never Again.

The Supreme Court refused to hear Las Vegas entertainer Wayne Newton's appeal of a $5.2 million libel suit filed against NBC News. The original complaint was based on reports presented on NBC Nightly News in 1980 and 1981 in which reporters investigated organized-crime figures and raised questions about their relationship with Newton.

NBC News President Michael Gartner said the move represented "a sound victory for investigative journalism. ... It's unfortunate that it took the time and resources of 10 years of litigation," said Gartner.

'Fresh Prince' big break for Janet Hubert-Whitten

Actress still lives a no 'fru fru' life

By Amy Schmidt
This year, NBC's Eerie, Indiana was the darling of television critics. Last year it was Fresh Prince of Bel Air, also on NBC. The difference between the on NBC. The difference between the two shows is Fresh Prince has held up in the ratings. Good news for the network, which saw little return on its other 1990 TV entries.

Good news, too, for Janet Hubert-Whitten, who plays rapper Will Smith's uppercrust Aunt Vivian on the show. Fresh Prince, says Hubert-Whitten, was "definitely" her big

For 17 years the Illinois-born actress starred on Broadway in, among other productions, Cats, The Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat and The First. Now she's bought a home in Los Angeles and settled into a steady TV contract.

Although she says she's still astounded by the impact of a medium that reaches an audience of millions each week, Hubert-Whitten is modest and levelheaded about the whole TV affair.

It was Smith, she says, who bore the pressure of the show's initial success. Of the show's other cast members, "Nobody knew us from Adam and the ant," she says.

"He (Smith) was doing every interview and everything. I know he must have been getting worn out, but he's young and he can take it," she laughs. "Seriously, Will is a very giving, loving person. I'd rather work with 10 of him than a bunch of the divas I know."

Hubert-Whitten herself is no diva. Her new L.A. home is anything but the snow-white mansion her counterpart Vivian Banks lives in on TV. "I'm very unpretentious, and I don't need a lot of 'fru fru," she says matter-of-factly. "I just need a front yard and a backyard and I'm cool."

Off-screen, Hubert-Whitten bears little resemblance to her cosmetic character. "I look like Pebbles Flint-stone," she confesses. "I wear a little ponytail on top of my head, no makeup, no fingernail polish and blue jeans or a pair of shorts and a T-shirt." Apparently it's the no-nonsense actress' other fresh look. © TV Listing Inc.

Mondays on NBC, Juillard-trained Broadway veteran Janet Hubert-Whitten plays Vivian Banks, sunt of the irrepressible Fresh Prince of Bel Alc.

HBO salutes Groucho Marx

By Dan Rice
"Hello, I must be going." Groucho
Marx, the keeper of the "secret word" and the world's funniest man for almost seven decades, is the subject of an HBO special premiering Monday, Nov. 4. Here He Is...the One, the Only...Groucho pays tribute to the multimedia success of the lightning wit and reveals his private nature as an insecure perfectionist. Narrated by comedian David Steinberg, this fond remembrance features clips of Marx
Brothers movie madness from Duck
Soup to Animal Crackers.

You'd think they'd be more careful when they make things to destroy the world. Building Bombs, due Saturday on The Discovery Channel, chronicles the controversial mismanagement of production of U.S. nuclear weapons, particularly at the Savannah River Plant in Aiken, S.C.

Energy Department officials and former plant physicists tell of management apathy, cover-ups and the daily danger posed to workers and local residents. The program airs as part of the network's Discovery Journal

FRANKIE & JOHNNY: Starring Michelle Pfeiffer and Al Pacino. Based loosely on his Broadway hit Frankie and Johnny in the Claire de Lune, writer Terrence McNally has obviously changed his play in order to cast bankable movie stars. Only if you had seen the play would you know that the originally poignant story of "lonely people looking for love" had been made into a cozy, sweet love story.

Johnny (Al Pacino) is a short-order cook, just too cute for words, who falls in love with waitress Frankie (Michelle Pfeiffer), a battered and Casting: Kate Nelligan, the tough waitress with a heart of gold; Jane Morris, the eccentric waitress with Hector Elizondo, the push-over boss who tries to be tough.

Al Pacino, still looking like he needs a bath, a haircut and skin treatments, exudes charm from every pore. So much so that it is easy to understand when Michelle Pfeiffer's character accuses him of suffocating her. His solo scenes (no matter who is on the screen, Pacino not to his credit - appears to be doing a solo act) are too long and without dramatic resolution, while Michelle Pfeiffer is absolutely wonderful and totally believable. In short, she steals the show. Without her, Pacino would have fallen flat. The comedy/drama is about bruised victim of cupid's arrow. loneliness and vulnerability, and The supporting characters from the about how tough life can be. #### MICHELLE PFEIFFER ON VIDEO

Not everything she's done, but these three totally different Michelle Pfeiffer films will give you a better understanding of how and why she is emerging as a superb actress.

WITCHES EASTWICK: (1987) Also starring Jack Nicholson, Cher, and Susan Sarandon. A devilish comedy with Jack Nicholson hamming it up with great relish. He plays a devil who's been conjured up by three amateur witches tired of the shortage of available men.

The first half of the film is excellent. Unfortunately, the second half concentrates on special effects - at the expense of character development and story telling. None-the-less, it is great fun and Michelle holds her own in some pretty good company. Rated R for profanity and suggested sex.

soundly thrashed by some film critics as an it-doesn't-goanywhere-disappointment.

Mel Gibson and Kurt Russell are two childhood friends who end up on different sides of the law. (Heard that one before, haven't you?) Michelle is the object of their affections. This column believes that because director/screenwriter Robert Towne makes his characters seem so real, and the situations so believably low-key, that Tequila Sunrise is a fascinating and often surprising film. See it and you decide. You won't be wasting your time. Rated R for profanity, violence, suggested sex, and drug DANGEROUS LIAISONS: (1989) With Glenn Close and John Malkovich.

The film adaptation of the scandalous novel and Broadway hit about 18th-century French aristocracy. Close and Malkovich are characters who derive cruel pleasures from seducing and betraying the young and the virtuous.

While some felt Pfeiffer a little wan as the married woman on whose virtue they bet, the small screen shows her softness to be the perfect element for Close and Malkovich to play off. The movie won Oscars for: Best Screenplay, Art Direction and Costumes. Rated R for mature themes, brief nudity and sex.

And of course the comedy, Married To The Mob (Four Boxes) and The Fabulous Baker Boys (Four Boxes) in which her rendition of Makin' Whoopee atop a piano is already considered a minor classic.

Whitton has other 'Good' passion

LOS ANGELES (AP) - For Margaret Whitton, who stars in ABC's "Good and Evil," acting is her profession, but baseball and softball are her passions.

softball are her passions.

She is a die-hard New York Yankees fan, she plays softball in the Broadway Show League and she writes about baseball for various publications.

Whitton is the good sister on the new ABC Wednesday night comedy, a bizarre, off-the-wall send-up similar to an earlier Susan Harris creation, "Soap." Teri Garr also stars as the evil sister in a comedy that turns on the sibling rivalry between two heirs to a cosmetic empire.

Whitton, while talking about the show, often returns to the subject of baseball.

"When I first started writing I used a pseudonym," she says. "But the New York Times and the National (now defunct) don't allow a pseudonym. I only did that when I started because I didn't want to be condescended to, as a woman and as an actress.

This is the third series for Whitton, who previously starred in two unsuccessful shows, "Hometown" and "A Fine Romance." She has also appeared in motion pictures and on Broadway and off-Broadway. She most recently starred in Caryl Churchill's "Hot Fudge and Ice Cream" at the Public Theatre in New York.

The show has not only brought Whitton, a dedicated New Yorker, to Los Angeles, but has softened her feelings.

The comedy series is televised at 10:30 p.m. EST on Wednesdays, the late hour apparently in deference to an edgy humor that has provoked some complaints from minority groups. Whitton describes it as "an equal opportunity offender."

The reaction, however, is mild compared to that which greeted Susan Harris' "Soap" in 1977. The protests began before it even reached the air, and some ABC affiliates refused to air the comedy. The controversy faded as "Soap" ran for four years. Whitton has also taken up golf. "It's a lot like acting," she says.

"It's a lot like acting," she says.
"In acting and golf the only thing that stands between you and success is yourself. I think that's why people become so obsessed with golf. It's a very mental game."

She has one concern: "I hope it doesn't ruin my softball swing."

Friday on Entertainment Tonight, Robert Stack discusses playing Eliot Ness one more time.

'Granpa' takes kids on a loving adventure

By Chris Carpenter
The comfort and wonder of childhood unfold like a warm flannel blanket in Granpa, an animated short feature airing on Showtime in November. It is a product of the same animation group responsible for *The*Snowman, When the Wind Blows and The Yellow Submarine, all seemingly whimsical adventure stories with definite adult overtones.

In Granpa, an English lass and her grandfather share one fantasy adventure after another during her visits to his house. He is her hero, protector and mentor, and he lives to entertain her.

Even rainy days are amusing at Granpa's house. As the water rises, a menagerie of exotic animals swims to safety in Granpa's living room, except for the waterlogged bear, which Granpa must row out in a washtub to rescue. On a fishing trip where, according to the granddaughter, usually "nothing ever happens," Granpa's clever prodding of her imagination soon produces a singing whale to tow the two up and down the Thames River.

Parents should be prepared to discuss the hereafter with children who watch the ending and are puzzled by Granpa's empty chair and withered garden. Though it comes within seconds of the credits and as a bit of a shock, the conclusion is just as natural as Granpa's memory is strong.
