The Magic Is Gone*Johnson announcement shocks world, but should improve AIDS awareness

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Rock Hudson proved movie stars could get AIDS. Magic Johnson showed that a hero to young, old, black and white also is susceptible to the deadly virus.

Johnson's revelation that he is HIV positive raises awareness of the deadly disease by a "quantum level" - especially among blacks, doctors and AIDS activists agreed.

Within hours of Earvin Johnson's news conference Thursday, calls flooded the National AIDS Hotline switchboard outside Raleigh, N.C., and reporters scrambled to cover a conference in Atlanta on AIDS in the black community.

"He is one of the first prominent black persons in our society who has been willing to say, 'I have HIV,'" said Fred Kroger, director of the National AIDS Information and Education program at the federal Centers for Disease Control.

"He has said he wants to do something about it - and that will really be a step forward. That has been a missing piece."

Johnson, 32, who helped the Los Angeles Lakers win five NBA championships in 12 seasons, retired from professional basketball Thursday. He vowed to become a spokesman for the cause, especially by telling young people about the importance of safe sex.

AIDS is most often spread through sexual contact or contaminated needles shared by drug abusers. Johnson did not say how he was infected. He stressed that he does not have full-blown AIDS.

An estimated 1 million to 1.5 million Americans are HIV positive. As of Sept. 30, the CDC reported 195,718 cases of AIDS in the United States and 126,159 AIDS deaths since the epidemic began in 1981. About 88,000 of the AIDS patients are minorities.

"This will make my community take its head out of the sand and realize that this is not a white, gay, male thing," said the Rev. Carl Bean, director of the Minority AIDS Project.

Sidmel Estes-Sumter, president of the National Association of Black Journalists, said reporters scrambled to cover the National Minority Health

"I really do think it'll galvanize another quantum level of awareness by the public. This brings that disease home, everybody knows the Magic man." --Roy Schwartz, chairman of the AMA's AIDS task force.

Association's conference on AIDS in the black community on Thursday, after ignoring it the day before.

"I really do think it'll galvanize another quantum level of awareness by the public," said Roy Schwartz, chairman of the American Medical Association's AIDS task force.

"This brings that disease home, everybody knows the Magic man," he said from Chicago.

In San Francisco, Dr. Mervyn Silverman, president of the American Foundation for AIDS Research, said Johnson's announcement would encourage others to seek diagnosis and treatment.

"This tragic news is going to hopefully have an unprecedented impact on the invincibility and sense of denial felt by most Americans," Silverman said. AMFAR was co-founded by Elizabeth Taylor, who became an AIDS activist after Hudson, her friend, died of AIDS in 1985.

Gay journalist Randy Shilts, whose groundbreaking book "And The Band Played On" documents the history of the AIDS epidemic, said Johnson came forward at a time of "complete and utter apathy" about the disease.

The San Francisco Chronicle reporter said, "This is a period in which Congress has done nothing, the president has done nothing and the media has forgotten about it."

Bush foresees good economy

ROME (AP) - President Bush predicted today that lower interest rates would soon "kick in and stimulate the economy." He said he'd consider a tax cut if it could be accomplished without increasing the deficit.

At a news conference after meeting with foreign leaders, Bush said he was "not interested in higher taxes," referring to Democratic proposals which would raise taxes on the nation's wealthiest taxpayers while providing cuts for middle-income Americans.

Bush said he would take a look at the Democratic proposals to cut taxes to bring an end to the stubborn recession.

Bush also expressed sadness at professional basketball star Magic Johnson's stunning announcement Thursday that he is positive for the AIDS virus and will retire immediately. "He's a hero to me," said Bush.

The news conference came after the close of NATO meetings and a session at the Vatican with the pope. Bush was leaving Rome for The Hague, where he was meeting with leaders of the European Community.

Bush said the NATO talks had been a "landmark event" that reaffirmed the alliance as the "guarantor of the security and stability of Europe."

The president spoke one day after the chairman of the House's tax writing committee, Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, proposed a tax cut for the middle class that would be financed in part by levying new taxes on the well-to-do.

"I'd love to be in a position to pledge to every American, whatever, a tax cut," Bush said. But he said "I don't want to do that when I don't see how I can do that and keep it within the budget."

Bush is firmly on record in favor of a cut in capital gains taxes - the levied on investment profits - to stimulate the economy. Democrats say those tax cuts will benefit principally the very wealthy.

Bush said his administration wants to complete an emergency food aid deal with the Soviet Union, but it's being held up by problems in guaranteeing the credits involved.

Bush also said he thinks his administration will have a proposal to overhaul the nation's health insurance system before the 1992 elections.

"I'd like to have a comprehensive health care plan that I can vigorously take to the American people," Bush said.

The issue is expected to be one of the most visible in the presidential and congressional campaigns next year. Sen. Harris Wofford, D-Pa., scored an upset victory in a special election on Tuesday after a campaign based in large measure on a call for nationwide health insurance.

NATO wraps up summit

ROME (AP) - Western allies today wrapped up a watershed summit affirming U.S. leadership of NATO and urging strong central control of Soviet nuclear weapons.

Heralding a new era in the 42-year-old North Atlantic Treaty Organization, President Bush and the leaders of the 15 other NATO nations reached out to the Soviet Union and other old adversaries in Eastern Europe with the promise of "a new era of partnership."

Today's closing session offered closer ties with NATO - but not membership - for the members of the now disbanded Warsaw Pact and the newly independent Baltic states of Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia.

The closer ties could provide Western expertise in controlling Soviet-trained military forces and converting defense plants into civilian uses.

The summit closed by reaffirming the traditional U.S. participation in NATO. "Our alliance, which provides the essential, trans-Atlantic link as demonstrated by the significant presence of North American forces in Europe, retains its enduring value," a closing statement said.

The final declaration glossed over tensions created by French demands for a unified European defense force. In carefully worded language, the leaders said this would not diminish the role of the American led NATO but said it was up to the European nations to decide on arrangements for "a common European foreign and security policy and defense role."

The two-day summit marked a turning point in NATO, which was founded to protect a shaky Europe from the threat of surprise Soviet attack.

"We can consider the Rome summit a sort of new birthday for the alliance," proclaimed Italian Foreign Minister Gianni De Michelis.

PRESIDENT BUSH ... Will meet with Pope John Paul II, go to The Hague for more talks while in Europe

This morning Bush met with French President Francois Mitterrand and proclaimed U.S. - French relations "very good." After the summit, Bush was meeting with Pope John Paul II before traveling to The Netherlands to meet with European Community leaders at The Hague.

With the demise of the Cold War and the elimination of the Soviet military threat, the NATO leaders embraced a new strategic policy calling for fewer soldiers, more mobile forces and far fewer nuclear weapons.

The biggest risks for NATO members, the new doctrine says, come "from the adverse consequences of instabilities that may arise from the serious economic, social and political difficulties, including ethnic rivalries and territorial disputes, which are faced by many countries in central and eastern Europe."

Addressing themselves to one such conflict, the NATO leaders urged the warring Yugoslav states to cooperate with peacemaking efforts by the 12-nation European Community. Serbia, which mainly controls the military, rejected the EC's latest plan aimed at making Yugoslavia a loose association of independent states.

After two months of abortive efforts to mediate the civil war, the EC today agreed to suspend Western aid to Yugoslavia, and asked the U.N. Security Council to put an oil embargo on the war-torn nation.

Western leaders are particularly concerned about who will control the Soviet Union's massive nuclear arsenal, spread out over at least four republics, as the nation unravels.

"It would be unfortunate if political transformations in the Soviet Union resulted in the creation of many more nuclear-capable states," Secretary of State James A. Baker III told reporters.

The leaders agreed to invite the Soviet Union and its onetime allies to join with NATO countries in a new North Atlantic "cooperation council."

The council will be launched at an East-West meeting in Brussels, the NATO headquarters, on Dec. 20, marking the first time the Western allies have invited East European nations to participate in their defense affairs.

World/National

ROME - The Bush administration, mindful of the tough winter already gripping the Soviet Union, is preparing to provide up to $1 billion in food assistance and about $35 million in medical aid, U.S. officials say.

ROME - Western allies are ringing down the curtain on a watershed summit by affirming America's leadership of NATO and urging the crumbling Soviet Union to keep its nuclear weapons under a strong central command.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. - Forced to retire from the game he popularized, NBA great Magic Johnson made a poignant vow: to go on living with the AIDS virus.

LOS ANGELES - Rock Hudson proved movie stars could get AIDS. Magic Johnson showed that a hero to young and old, black and white, also is susceptible.

WASHINGTON - Congressional Democrats, laying the groundwork for a major election-year debate, are betting their middle-income tax cuts will do more for the economy - and voters - than the capital-gains tax reduction proposed by President Bush.

WASHINGTON - The battle over a new civil rights law is over, but emotions ran high even as the House provided the final, overwhelming margin that supporters have sought for two years.

ORMOC, Philippines - Fearing the spread of disease, officials use dumptrucks and digging equipment to speed mass burials of the more than 3,300 people killed in a violent storm. More than 2,000 others are still missing.

Texas

SAN DIEGO - Jesse and Aida Diaz appear to be living the Hispanic American dream. After 19 years of marriage, two children and years of struggling to make ends meet, they have a four-bedroom home, two cars and promise for the future. "We feel we have made it happen for us," Aida Diaz says.

NEW YORK - If all goes as the world's largest energy market plans, futures players will soon be able to sell millions of barrels of oil around the clock.

DALLAS - The government has stepped up efforts to sell properties from failed Texas banks and thrifts as fears in the real estate community of a weakened market have given way to eagerness for an end to business by bureaucracy.

PORT LAVACA - Bad publicity about oysters taken from Calhoun County waters have ruined the oyster season, costing shellfish harvesters in the Texas coastal county millions of dollars, a group of the harvesters told a panel of county, state and federal officials.

DALLAS - No relatives have requested custody of two boys, one one of whom was found chained and starving in his parents' mobile home, officials say.

WILLS POINT - This town of 3,000 residents showed cities 10 times its size how a lot of love and determination can raise thousands for a dying child. But the $316,000 raised by this loving community wasn't enough to save 18-year-old Amy Louise Harris, who died Tuesday night, about two months after the funds put her on a hospital donor waiting list.

SAN ANTONIO - A student faces up to $4,000 in fines because she found three starving puppies on a college campus and then rescued their mother from the city pound to keep them alive.

AUSTIN - State wildlife officials are renewing safety warnings after four hunters were killed and six more wounded during the opening weekend of hunting season.

FORT WORTH - A former county commissioner who alleged a woman's false charges of sexual harassment cost him an election has been awarded $100,000 in his slander suit.

PLANO - No longer will high school students in AIDS awareness programs at Plano's high schools be shown how to put on a condom.

WACO - The mother of a Baylor University football player who died on the football field while working out last year has not cashed a $100,000 life insurance benefit and is suing the insurance company.

LAS CRUCES, N.M. - New Mexico state Engineer Eluid Martinez is predicting that threatened cutbacks of Pecos River water won't materialize for at least two years.

Indictment returned in Spur boy's death

DICKENS, Texas (AP) - A years in prison or up to a year's confinement in the county jail, Ms. Dickens County grand jury has indicted Commissioner Vernon Wright on an involuntary manslaughter charge involving a hit-and-run accident that killed a 14-year-old boy.

Wright, 74, is accused of driving the truck that struck and killed Jesse Land of Spur Oct. 13 as the boy walked home from a homecoming dance. Spur is about 100 miles east of Lubbock.

His body was found on the side of the road at 9:30 a.m., about eight hours after the accident.

Land's neck was broken and is believed to have died instantly, according to an autopsy report.

Prosecuting attorney Becky McPherson said about eight people testified before the grand jury, but Wright did not.

The commissioner faces two to 10 years in prison and a maximum $10,000 fine for the involuntary manslaughter charge. He also was indicted for failure to stop and render aid, for which he could receive five

"An indictment is no evidence that he is guilty," Wright's lawyer, Clifford Brown of Lubbock, told the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

"He is a caring human being," Brown said. "This is a tragic accident and nothing else."

Wright refused comment on the case Thursday night.

Late last month, the boy's mother filed a $6.5 million wrongful death lawsuit against Wright. Susan D. Land, who lives in Potter County, is asking $1 million compensation, $500,000 for emotional pain, torment and suffering, and $5 million in exemplary damages.

The suit, filed in Dickens County Oct. 28, contends Wright was speeding and driving while intoxicated.

Ms. Land divorced the boy's father, Jimmie G. Land Jr., in 1987 and was managing conservator of the boy, according to the suit.

SBOE puts off adoption of books

AUSTIN (AP) - Publishers facing heat over factual errors in U.S. history books proposed for public schools have told state education officials that they want to do a better job of catching mistakes.

"Speaking for all the publishers, we'll definitely try our very best to see that this does not happen again," David Irons, of the Glencoe Division of Macmillan-McGraw-Hill School Publishing Co., told the State Board of Education.

Board members voted Thursday to delay action on the books until January.

Texas is generally the third-largest textbook purchaser in the country, behind New York and California, said Texas Education Agency spokesman Joey Lozano.

The cost of books in several subjects that were scheduled for adoption is $131.2 million, with U.S. history books accounting for about $20.2 million of that. The books are to be used beginning in the 1992-93 school year.

The board, meeting as a committee, voted to adopt books in other subjects, on the condition that publishers certify their accuracy. A final board vote on textbook matters is scheduled for Saturday.

"I don't want my children, or any children in Texas, to have these textbooks if they have these kinds of errors," said board member Jane Nelson of Lewisville at a news conference before the meeting.

Board member Will Davis of Austin warned publishers that the state is tired of finding errors.

"This is not the first hearing we've ever had like this," Davis said. "I'm going to spend some time figuring out how we can see that you guys get the message."

Davis mentioned the possibility of rejecting the books, but state textbook committee members said the proposed history books are better than ones currently approved for classroom use.

Mary Kelly, regional manager of Houghton Mifflin Co., said most of the mistakes were in teacher's editions. She said her company wants to work with TEA to improve the process, and noted that the books may have up to 800 pages.

"I don't care if it's a New York Times bestseller, you're going to find mistakes in the first printing," she said.

The mistakes were discovered after conservative textbook critics Mel and Norma Gabler of Longview this week submitted them to the Texas Education Agency. TEA staff checked their findings and came up with 249 mistakes.

The mistakes were not fixed in publishers' hand-corrected sample textbooks submitted Aug. 1, and were not found in reviews by the state textbook committee, officials said.

Textbooks approved by the State Board of Education are provided free to school districts. Districts that want to buy other books must use local money.

Among other incorrect statements in some of the books, Ms. Nelson said, are that Martin Luther King Jr. and Robert Kennedy were assassinated while Richard Nixon was president, when Lyndon Johnson actually was in office; and that George Bush defeated Michael Dukakis in 1989, rather than the correct year of 1988.

Board members did not act on Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno's recommendation that publishers be fined for uncorrected errors, and that the publishers be required to hire independent editors approved by TEA to review books.

But they directed Meno to bring them amendments to textbook adoption rules that, if adopted, would allow them to implement those suggestions in the future.

They also told Meno to work with publishers on a procedure to ensure corrections are made in the history books.

One mistake singled out for criticism by several board members was a statement that the United States settled the Korean conflict by "using the bomb." Davis said that was based in "pure ignorance."

That error was in a book published by Scott, Foresman and Co.

Barbara Flynn, editorial vice president of Scott, Foresman, called the revelation of errors "excruciating and painful." Company officials said the bomb error only was in the teachers' edition, already had been discovered, and would be corrected.

"We have scores of people who are continually reviewing the books and making corrections," Ms. Flynn said.

Other publishers with U.S. history books up for adoption include Holt, Rinehart and Winston; Houghton Mifflin Co.; and Prentice-Hall, Inc. The mistakes were found in six high school textbooks or teacher's editions. The board also delayed action on eighth-grade history books up for adoption.

The number of mistakes varied, according to TEA. Prentice-Hall's book had 22; Glencoe Division, 63; Holt, Rinehart, 43; and Houghton Mifflin, 47. Scott, Foresman was the only publisher with two high school books, with one containing 22 errors, and the other, 52.

The Association of American Publishers said in a letter to Meno that it supported delaying the official adoption until January.

"All publishers represented by the Association of American Publishers have a common goal - providing the highest quality books," said Joe Bill Watkins, representing the association.

Partners in education

Soviet food aid pegged at $1 billion

ROME (AP) - The Bush administration, mindful of the tough winter already gripping the Soviet Union, is preparing to provide up to $1 billion in food assistance and about $35 million in medical aid, U.S. officials say.

An issue that must be resolved first is whether some of the humanitarian aid will be distributed to the 12 republics, the officials said Thursday.

The aid would be in the form of loans to be repaid on easy terms.

However, the Soviets are having trouble paying off old debts, so they also may get help with their bills, said the officials, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

One approach under consideration is to work out an agreement with other wealthy creditor nations to allow Moscow to delay payment of some principal.

Another is to forgive some of the debt, as the United States has done for Egypt and several other hard-pressed countries. A third option is a bridge loan to the Soviets to give them more time to make good on their debts.

The Bush administration, in a little less than a year, already has extended $2.5 billion in food loans to Moscow.

The forecast is that the harvest this year is likely to be sharply lower. Also, there are distribution bottlenecks that the administration hopes to ease with technical advice.

The officials stressed a decision on the package is not final, but one is likely soon.

There was still no inclination within the administration to provide the Soviets with direct grants, which would not have to be repaid.

Separately, Congress has approved $1 billion in aid to the Soviet Union as part of the 1992 defense bill. But Democratic leaders said Thursday they would remove the provision from the bill next week unless the administration comes forward to back the plan.

"I don't think it is acceptable for us to take the political heat on a difficult political decision, extending aid to the Soviet Union," said Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., a senior member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

"Unless the president is willing to put himself right on the line in support of it, then I will support the withdrawing of that provision," Hamilton told a news conference.

Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, called White House support for the aid plan "tepid and ineffectual."

House and Senate negotiators working on the spending bill last week agreed to include $1 billion in humanitarian aid to combat expected food shortages in the Soviet Union this winter and widen the program to convert military industries there to

Death claims film star, Gene Tierney

HOUSTON (AP) - Silver screen star Gene Tierney, known for her exotic good looks and captivating appearance in such films as "Laura" and "Leave Her to Heaven," suffered years of personal anguish before finding contentment as a Houston socialite, sometime actress and wife of a millionaire oilman.

Tierney, who has had emphysema for the last year, died Wednesday at her home in the exclusive River Oaks neighborhood of Houston. She was 70.

The raven-haired actress with high cheekbones and blue-green almond eyes cranked out 33 feature films, three Broadway plays and two made-for-TV movies in a 25-year career. Early on, she was cast in exotic roles, variously playing a Eurasian, a Polynesian, or an Arabian beauty.

Her title role in the 1944 film noir, "Laura," was perhaps her best-known.

The 1945 film "Leave Her to Heaven," about an insanely jealous wife who drowns her husband's brother and causes her own miscarriage before committing suicide, earned Tierney a best actress nomination. It was her only Oscar nomination, but she lost to Joan Crawford, who won for her role in "Mildred Pierce."

Her parents' 25-year marriage ended abruptly in a bitter divorce. She eloped with New York designer Oleg Cassini in 1941, causing a rift with her father, who later drained Belle-Tier, a family business set up to invest her movie money.

While pregnant and visiting troops in a Hollywood canteen, she became infected with German measles from a female Marine who ducked out of quarantine to get her autograph. Her daughter, Daria, was born deaf and severely mentally retarded in 1943.

Tierney and Cassini separated for a time, but reunited and had a second daughter, Christina, in 1948. The couple divorced in 1952.

She then dated the likes of billionaire Howard Hughes, then-Navy Lt. Jack Kennedy and had a celebrated romance with Prince Aly Khan, the famous playboy once married to Rita Hayworth. When the latter friendship ended, Tierney suffered a breakdown in 1954 during rehearsals for a television performance.

She met W. Howard Lee, a Houston peaceful uses.

The idea was first proposed in September by Rep. Les Aspin, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, after the failed coup by Soviet hard-liners. But it met with Republican derision on Capitol Hill, fueled in part by a bigger-than-usual wave of anti-foreign aid sentiment.

Aspin, D-Wis., said Republicans have resorted to demagoguery, painting Democrats as too willing to funnel American tax dollars overseas. If no support comes from the administration by Tuesday, the day the compromise bill is formally filed in the House, the Soviet aid provision will be withdrawn, he said.

Democrats also have been fanning the anti-foreign aid flames. They have criticized Bush for paying too much attention to foreign policy and not enough to domestic economic worries such as unemployment and health care.

In addition to her daughters, she is survived by four grandchildren and a sister, Patricia Tierney Byrne.

Public Notice

On July 1, 1991, Southwestern Bell Telephone filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas that proposes to delete Paragraph 3.4(G) from Section 3 of Southwestern Bell's intrastate Access Service Tariff, which concerns credits where a customer uses Switched Access Service to furnish a service which has been defined to be an exchange service. The application was assigned Docket No. 10463.

Because Southwestern Bell is not aware of any customers who presently use switched access service to furnish an exchange service, Southwestern Bell does not believe its revenues will be affected. However, certain interexchange carrier customers of switched access service have made claims under the aforementioned tariff. Such customers, but only to the extent they provide an exchange service using switched access, would be affected by this application. Based on claims made for credits (assuming such credits were allowable) Southwestern Bell's revenues would be affected by no more than $1,168,982 annually, which is .037 percent of the Company's adjusted revenue for the 12-month period ending December 31, 1990. It is not possible to know how many interexchange carriers might believe themselves entitled to credits, but 189 carriers have registered with the Commission pursuant to PUC Substantive Rule 23.61.

The tariff, after suspension, is proposed to be effective May 1, 1992.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible, but no later than November 15, 1991. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256. The telecommunications device for the deaf (TDD) number is (512) 458-0221.

Plain turkey best for low fat meat

When turkey is roasted, most of the fat drains off. The white meat is especially low in fat and calories.

The AHA recommends the frozen, plain turkey as the most economical buy. The self-basting turkeys contain injections of a solution of broth, butter and or cooking oils. The basting oils add sodium and calories and make the turkey weigh more, therefore, it costs more.

A plain turkey, fresh or frozen, allows you to control the basting liquid and stuffing, thereby avoiding unnecessary fat, cholesterol and salt.

If a self-basting turkey is a must, then read the label to make sure that the basting oil contains unsaturated vegetable oils such as corn, safflower or cottonseed. Also read the label when buying a pre-stuffed turkey, for other caloric ingredients and the amount of salt.

Cost per serving, taste and the nutrients, low calories and fat, make turkey a good buy for the holidays, and year round.

If you choose carefully, your traditional holiday turkey can be more than a great feast. It can also be nutritious and a good buy.

"Turkey is ideal for most of us, even those on low-calorie diets, because it is relatively low in cholesterol and fat," says Beverly Harder, County Extension Agent, and a volunteer for the Deaf Smith County division of the American Heart Association.

Spikers meet Pecos

The Lady Whitefaces will try to climb the second rung of the playoff ladder Saturday. They meet the Pecos Lady Eagles (20-9) at 2 p.m. in the Seminole High School Gym.

Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said that Pecos will present a challenge because in many ways the Eagles are the opposites of Lamesa, which Hereford beat in bi-district. While Lamesa had height, leaping ability and power, Pecos has very little of that.

Sophia Terry, Pecos' big hitter from years past, has graduated. What Pecos has, typically, is excellent defense.

"We know they don't have a big gun, but they're always good defensively and fundamentally sound at the net," Reeh said. "We may be able to take advantage of a size difference. There's not a lot of tall kids on that team."

Pecos is likely to return most of the soft shots and dinks that Lamesa couldn't.

"We can't get frustrated when they start digging our hits. We're going to have to be patient and make sure we hit the ball in bounds," Reeh said. When hits are constantly being dug out by the other team, she said, some hitters will try to hit the ball harder, and that usually results only in hitting errors.

"We're going to have to show some discipline," she said.

Pecos players to watch, Reeh said, are setter Brenda Gallegos, who brings experience to the Lady Eagles, and middle blockers Tiawana Simms and Alice Shephard.

Herd's season closes tonight

The Hereford varsity football team will host the Borger Bulldogs for the last game of the 1991 season tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Whiteface Stadium.

A milestone is within reach for one of the Hereford players. Senior tailback Leo Brown needs 203 yards to break the single-season school rushing record of 1,550 yards, set by Matt Bromlow in 1989.

Sophs, JV mix to play game

Hereford won the last sub-varsity football game of the year.

Since the sophomore and junior varsity teams didn't have games this week, the two got together at Whiteface Stadium Thursday, chose up sides and played a friendly game of football.

"It was a blast," coach Oscar Rendon said. "We had a lot of fun."

Richard Wilbanks' two touchdowns won it for the White team, 12-6, Rendon said. Wilbanks started the scoring with a 65-yard interception return in the first quarter. Then, with about two minutes left in the game, Wilbanks hauled in a 25-yard TD pass from Elias Reyna for the winner.

The Maroon team got its score on the last play of the second half. Ronnie Gomez scored on a 54-yard pass from Chad Carlile.

Another notable play, Rendon said, came in the third quarter when Leonard Martinez of the White team blocked a Maroon field goal attempt. At the time, it kept the game tied 6-6.

4 hunters killed on opening day

AUSTIN (AP) - State wildlife officials are renewing safety warnings after four hunters were killed and six more wounded during the opening weekend of hunting season.

"Everything you see and hear in the woods should be considered a human until there's absolutely no doubt," said Steve Hall, education administrator for the Parks and Wildlife Department.

"That's before you ever raise a gun. If there's any doubt, raise the binoculars," Hall said.

While there are geographical differences, Saturday generally marked the opening of white-tailed deer, turkey, quail and pheasant seasons in much of Texas.

Officials said three hunters were trying to cross a slough in a boat with a deer stand. They overloaded the boat, it overturned, and one of the three drowned.

In one of the accidents that wounded six, a hunter in Fisher County swung his gun on some quail and shot his partner in the face.

Parks and Wildlife officials, in a report on the incidents, said the number of accidents "was surprising to some because Texas hunters have shown to have been much more careful in the past few years."

Hall said there were eight fatalities in Texas last year, the first time Texas had seen fewer than 10 in a year. The 53 hunting accidents in 1990 tied 1979 for the lowest on record.

Hall blamed part of the problem on hunter excitability and hunters not using common sense.

"By the time the season opens, psychologically you're ready to hunt. People are excited to be out there, they've waited all year for opening weekend. That's when hunters don't show enough restraint," he said.

"What it comes down to is common sense and thinking safety first," Hall said, advising hunters to always know their targets, know where their guns are aimed at all times, and treating all weapons as if they are loaded.

Blind block

Karkoska's mother sues

WACO, Texas (AP) - The mother of a Baylor University football player who died on the football field while working out last year has not cashed a $100,000 life insurance benefit and is suing the insurance company.

Dolores Karkoska of Houston contends the delay in issuing the check after the Sept. 22, 1990, death of John Karkoska increased her grief. Her lawsuit, filed in state district court, does not involve the school.

the company that insures Baylor football players.

The accidental death claim was paid Aug. 15, 1991, said Carolyn Henderson, claims administrator for the company.

Ms. Henderson said the claim was initially rejected because it was thought Karkoska's death was more attributable to illness than accident.

Karkoska, a 19-year-old sophomore offensive lineman, collapsed Sept. 13, 1990, after running a lap around the field. Trainers and doctors initially thought that he had overheated.

She is seeking unspecified damages from the National Union Fire Insurance Co. of Pennsylvania,

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

Take a look at your friends and neighbors. Are they in a good mood? Do they now laugh at jokes that last week brought only a smile? Well, you are witnessing the results of the arrival of hunting season. True hunters, both men and women, suffer through the summer doldrums waiting for the first hints of fall, knowing that soon it will be time to bundle up and go hunting.

Shooting doves hardly qualifies as real hunting because it is just too blamed hot. From my experience, the colder the weather the more the hunters enjoy their outdoor adventures. Their perfect day consists of a six-inch snow, threatening clouds and a high temperature of 20 degrees.

Why does cold weather warm the hearts of the hunters? It's really quite simple. The deer are more active, the quail will form bigger coveys, and the waterfowl will finally arrive from their northern ranges.

Yes, it's easy to spot the hunters. They have time for an extra cup of coffee and will leave a bigger tip. If you work for a hunter, it is not a bad time to ask for a pay raise. Just don't interrupt the hunting stories or you might get fired!

An Associated Press story at the end of October casts a dark shadow on the future of carefree hunting. Ask Marvin Cruse of Houston about his opening day of bow and arrow season. He was harassed by a flock of animal rights activists led by Dana Forbes, the director of Fund for Animals.

It seems that the extremists follow a hunter into the field and form a semicircle and proceed to take turns loudly "explaining why they oppose hunting." Free speech?

Mr. Cruse captured the frustration of many hunters when he proposed a "tag on my hunting license that allows me to shoot one activist."

Special thanks to Gary Carter of Pampa for the terrific job of guiding me at the recent B.A.S.S. Region 806 Team Tournament held on Lake Baylor. Meeker and Campbell of Panhandle won. My 4.49-pound bass won Big Bass and second-place team honors. Expert anglers Sam Taylor and Lonnie Cox of Canadian were third with 4.45 pounds. After hosting all the Big Bass and Fun Tournaments, it was fun to be a competitor again.

Looks like Bob Mote of Plainview will keep his official lake record for largemouth bass for Lake White River for another year. Rumor has it that bigger bass have been caught at White River but since 1976 no one has filled out the proper paperwork to beat out Bob's 8.69-pound black bass. It is one of the oldest bass lake records in Texas.

Hunters' education class set

A course in hunter education has been scheduled for Nov. 12-13 from 5-10 p.m. in Hereford.

According to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's requirements, those persons whose date of birth is during the period Sept. 2, 1971-Aug. 31, 1975 must have successfully completed a hunters' education course in order to hunt in Texas. Also, any individual of any age may take the course on a voluntary basis and is encouraged to attend.

The course will include instructions in rifle, shotgun and bow handling and safety; outdoor responsibility and ethics; laws and regulations; conservation; hunting traditions; wildlife identification; field care of game; wilderness first aid and survival.

Students 12 years of age or older who successfully complete this course will be issued a hunter education certificate from TPWD. Those less than 12 will receive a certificate of attendance, but must take the course again for proper certification.

For more information, contact Scott McLeod at 276-5584 or Don Nall at 258-7390.

Turkey shoot planned

The Hereford Gun Club will hold a turkey shoot Sunday at the Gun Club range located at the airport.

Prizes for the various events and games include hams, turkeys, brisquets and bacon. Shoots are open to everyone, so you don't have to be a member to shoot. All shoots are subject to cancellation due to bad weather.

Magic upbeat after announcing illness

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) - Magic Johnson, the basketball superstar whose skill and joy has charmed the world, shocked the nation with his announcement that he has the virus that causes AIDS and is retiring.

People shed tears, his former coach gathered his new team in prayer, and Los Angeles Lakers teammates expressed their shock and sadness.

But there were no tears from Johnson as he announced his condition Thursday at a news conference at the Forum, where the Lakers play.

Speaking calmly and flashing the incandescent, ear-to-ear grin that has charmed millions, he called his condition "another challenge."

"I'm going to beat it. And I'm going to have fun, OK?" he said.

He and his physician, Dr. Michael Mellman, said Johnson is infected with the HIV virus but has not developed AIDS.

Johnson, who married his college sweetheart, the former Cookie Kelly, two months ago, said his wife tested negative. He has a son, Andre, who lives in his hometown of Lansing, Mich.

Neither Johnson nor Mellman said how he was infected. The virus is most commonly transmitted through sex or intravenous drug use.

"I don't believe we know at this point, specifically," Mellman said.

"I think sometimes we think, well, only gay people can get it, only - it's not going to happen to me. And here I am saying that it can happen to anybody. Even me, Magic Johnson, it could happen to."

Johnson said he would become a spokesman for the fight against AIDS, especially warning people to practice safe sex.

"He wasn't cautious. His luck ran out on him," Johnson's former teammate, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, told reporters without elaborating.

Johnson said he took an AIDS test for a life insurance policy and learned the result Wednesday.

He missed the Lakers' first three games this season because of the flu, but had been cleared to resume practice.

Mellman said Johnson has no symptoms of AIDS, but he recommended that Johnson not play professional basketball, nor participate in the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona, because of the intense level of physical activity both require. Johnson had been named to the U.S. Olympic squad.

AIDS activists and medical officials said Johnson's stunning announcement would refocus attention on AIDS, which has claimed 126,159 lives in the United States since 1981. An estimated 1 million to 1.5 million Americans carry the HIV virus.

More than just a basketball star, Johnson has been a philanthropist, a prominent corporate spokesman and a role model for young people.

Johnson, whose given name is Earvin, joined the NBA in 1979 as the No. 1 draft pick after leading Michigan State University to a National Collegiate Athletic Association championship as a sophomore.

When he came to the NBA the league was struggling, but his charisma, skill and irrepressible enthusiasm helped turn it into a worldwide entertainment, marketing and sports success.

"No one has contributed more to the success of the NBA than Earvin 'Magic' Johnson, and I know his fans around the world, myself included, will miss the thrill of watching him compete," NBA commissioner David Stern said.

Named the league's most valuable player three times, Johnson has been called the consummate team player, and he holds the NBA career record for assists with 9,921.

In his first year, he led the Lakers to the league championship and became the first rookie to be named most valuable player of the championship finals. He cemented the honor with a legendary performance in the sixth and final game against the 76ers in Philadelphia.

Abdul-Jabbar, the team's center, stayed home because of injury, and Johnson, a 6-foot-9-inch point guard, played all five positions during the course of the game. He had 42 points, 15 rebounds and 17 assists and the Lakers won 123-107.

The Lakers went on to win four more championships and make the finals eight more times in his 12-year career.

"I've always said, when Earvin retires from the game, he will go down in history as the greatest guard ever to play the game," said Jud Heathcote, Johnson's coach at Michigan State.

Johnson's famous nickname was bestowed by Fred Staley Jr., a sportswriter for the Lansing State Journal, who saw Johnson as a high school sophomore score 36 points, get 18 rebounds, 16 assists and 20 steals in a game.

Players react to Magic's news

By JIM O'CONNELL
AP Basketball Writer

The shock and sadness to the news of Magic Johnson's positive test for the HIV virus was tempered by hope, the truest tribute to the basketball player with the ever-present smile.

On the day the scores of NBA games didn't matter all that much, thoughts and prayers were aimed Thursday at Los Angeles where Johnson stood and told the world he had contacted the virus and would retire from professional basketball on the advice of his doctors.

There were no tears from Johnson, just a dimmer version of the wide smile which has meant so much to serious basketball fans as well as those of a casual nature. He quickly let everyone know he would start working to educate the American public, especially youngsters, on AIDS, the disease which has claimed more than a million lives.

"If anyone, maybe Earvin is capable of carrying that kind of burden ... with all the smiles and all he has done, maybe God said he would be the only one capable of carrying the burden," Phoenix Suns guard Kevin Johnson said.

Because Magic Johnson is so visible to so many from outside the sports world, the reaction came from around the world and in the seat of government.

"All my love and support is with him," actress Elizabeth Taylor said from London, where she is making two personal visits on behalf of the AIDS Crisis Trust. "God will help him, and let us all pray to God that there will be a cure for him and everyone else soon."

Already Johnson is being used as a rallying point for AIDS awareness.

"This just points out once again to all of us that the AIDS virus is probably going to touch every single family in the country, and probably every single one of us before the decade is over is going to know somebody who has the AIDS virus or who has died of it," Rep. Dan Burton, R-Indiana, told Congress.

Burton then went on to complain that Congress so far "has not taken any real action" to fight AIDS.

Pat Riley coached the Los Angeles Lakers for four of the five NBA championships won with Johnson in the backcourt. He talked to Johnson on Thursday and found out what the world would know just hours later.

"Obviously, Magic is a gentleman who has the heart of a champion. A man who is a champion will fight, as he has done for us in pro basketball. He is alive but not very well right now," Riley said before coaching the New York Knicks against the Orlando Magic. "He has been the ultimate example. If we want to thank him for anything, thank him for that."

Johnson said he also called his friends who just happen to be the other superstars of the game.

Larry Bird, who has been linked with Magic because of their special confrontations from college and throughout the pros, left the gym right after the Boston Celtics' practice and refused comment.

Michael Jordan of the Chicago Bulls asked for time to absorb what he was told about the man who was to anchor the Olympic backcourt for the United States with him next summer.

Kevin McHale, another of the Celtics whose team seemed to always be in the NBA Finals with the Lakers as they shared eight NBA titles in 1980s, sounded like the average man when told of the news.

"I'm feeling very, very sorry for the guy," McHale said. "A situation like this just doesn't make sense. When you look at a big healthy guy like Magic Johnson, you think that this illness wouldn't attack someone like him. But it did."

"It's a tough, tough thing. It goes way beyond NBA and basketball - that stuff, man, gets into some deep things. It's really a shame."

Those who expected to play with and coach Johnson this season as the Lakers defended their Western Conference title, let the world know wins and losses took a significant backseat to other thoughts.

"This is something much bigger than basketball. This is something that's real, and it's a numbing feeling," said James Worthy, the forward with the goggles who turned magical passes into thundering dunks.

Defense works for Nuggets

By The Associated Press

Exactly a year before, the Denver Nuggets lost 161-153 to the San Antonio.

It was a system that didn't work, and the Nuggets lost 62 games in 1990-91.

On Thursday night, Denver continued its surprising start, improving its record to 3-1 by defeating the Minnesota Timberwolves.

But even more surprising than the Nuggets' record was the score - 88-77.

Although they floundered offensively, Denver coach Paul Westhead said, "We clearly defended well and allowed a minimum of second shots. The last time I coached a game when the other team had only 77 points was in high school."

Westhead, whose team set scoring records at Loyola-Marymount before he moved on to Denver last year, saw his team hold the Timberwolves to 34.6 percent shooting.

"Thank goodness, because on offense we struggled," Westhead said, referring to the Nuggets' 41.6 percent shooting. "I said in the beginning of the season that we're not an experienced offense."

double figures. He also grabbed nine rebounds.

Larry Nance led Cleveland with 20 points.

The Rockets trailed 25-22 after one quarter, but they pulled away to a 50-33 advantage with 2:47 left in the half.

Knicks 128, Magic 100

New York handed Orlando its first defeat in four games this season as reserve John Starks scored a career-high 30 points at Madison Square Garden.

Starks passed his previous career-high of 25 with a dunk with 7:51 remaining in the game, putting the Knicks ahead 99-72. His key contribution to the victory was eight points in less than two minutes of the second quarter.

Starks' two 3-pointers and a layup keyed a 12-4 burst midway through the quarter as the Knicks took a 53-35 lead. New York held a 65-47 advantage at halftime.

Dennis Scott led the Magic with 29 points.

SuperSonics 103, Jazz 95

Seattle spoiled Utah's opener in its new Delta Center behind Benoit

Benjamin's 22 points and 13 rebounds.

The SuperSonics led 90-74 with 5:51 remaining before John Stockton, who had 23 points and 16 assists for the Jazz, scored nine points during a 15-0 run, trimming Seattle's lead to a single point.

But a layup by Benjamin and a dunk by Michael Cage put the SuperSonics back in control with 1:39 left.

Karl Malone scored 19 points before being ejected with two technical fouls with 3:08 left in the third quarter.

Heat 111, Nets 89

Willie Burton scored 24 points on 9-for-12 shooting and Miami limited New Jersey to 34 percent shooting in the Nets' home opener.

Burton teamed with forward Grant Long, who scored 22 points, and center Ronny Seikaly, with 16 points and 13 rebounds, to present a formidable front line.

The starting frontcourt for the Heat also limited the Nets' front line of Chris Morris, Derrick Coleman and Sam Bowie to 37 points on 16-for-45 shooting.

Westhead got good performances from his two rookies - Mark Macon with 18 points on 7-for-13 shooting and five steals, and Dikembe Mutombo with 14 points and 18 rebounds.

Tony Campbell scored 18 points for the winless Timberwolves, who lost their third straight game.

Denver took its largest lead at 59-43 with a 20-10 burst in the first 9:34 of the second half. Minnesota closed to 65-60 with 10:08 remaining, but Denver rebuilt the margin to 79-68 with 5:29 left, and the Wolves never seriously threatened again.

Rockets 105, Cavaliers 86

At Houston, the Rockets got 22 points from Sleepy Floyd and a surprising performance from backup center Tree Rollins.

Floyd scored eight points and Rollins seven during a 28-8 run at the start of the second quarter.

Rollins finished with 13 points, the most he has scored since the 1987-88 season and the first time since the 1989-90 season that he has scored in

Bucky's arm gigs Frogs

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Don't buck Bucky Richardson and his passing arm.

Texas Christian University's Bucky Richardson threw Thursday night and he completed 16 of 25 passes for 321 yards, second highest yardage total in school history, as No. 12-ranked Texas A&M University rolled to a 44-7 Southwest Conference victory over Texas Christian.

"Bucky's gotten a reputation that he can't throw but we've had some big performances from him," said A&M coach R.C. Slocum. "His play reminded me of his performance against Brigham Young when he was the MVP in the Holiday Bowl."

Richardson ran for two touchdowns and passed for two more as the Aggies ran their overall record to 7-1 and 5-0 in SWC play.

TCU dropped to 6-3 and 3-3 in suffering its 19th consecutive loss to the Aggies.

"TCU was stacked against the run but we have confidence we can throw the ball," Richardson said. "We are improving in each game and I've got to admit the receivers made some great catches."

Richardson's passing total was short of the 376 yards by Edd Hargett against Southern Methodist in 1968. TCU lost five players to injuries in the game including quarterbacks Tim Schade and Matt Vogler.

Wide receiver Kyle McPherson suffered a broken jaw, tight end Kelly Blackwell suffered rib injuries and wide receiver Stephen Shipley had a leg injury.

"Sometimes I feel like I'm running a M-A-S-H unit instead of coaching a football team," said TCU coach Jim Wacker. "A&M is a great team and they thoroughly beat us. Next year A&M won't have Bucky then we'll have a chance."

A&M redshirt freshman running back Greg Hill rushed 19 times for 115 yards to become the first freshman in SWC history to rush for 1,000 yards in a season. He has 1,005 yards and broke the freshman running record of 938 yards by Earl Campbell of the Texas Longhorns in 1974.

"It's great to beat the record of someone like Campbell," Hill said. "My name goes in the record book but I wish they could put the names of the offensive line in the record book, too."

A&M puts itself in great position for the final three weeks of the SWC race.

The Aggies host Arkansas, Southern Methodist, and Texas in consecutive weeks at Kyle Field.

"We're one step closer but we know better than to look ahead," Richardson said. "We're not that dumb."

It was a good way for Slocum to celebrate his 47th birthday.

"It was a good day to spend the day watching Bucky play," Slocum said. "It's fun to coach somebody like him."

It was the first 300 yard passing game for an Aggie since Kevin Murray hit for 308 against Baylor in 1986.

Tech-UA game important

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - No matter how you try, you can't diminish the importance of Arkansas' game Saturday against Texas Tech at Lubbock.

Coach Jack Crowe knows it. So does quarterback Wade Hill.

For starters, there's the Southwest Conference race. Arkansas is 4-1 in the league and Texas is 3-1.

Texas A&M improved to 5-0 Thursday night with a 44-7 victory over Texas Christian University. And, the Razorbacks play the Aggies on Nov. 16 at College Station.

Then there's a bowl bid - a likely development if Arkansas gets to 6-3 with a victory at Tech. That, in itself, would be quite an accomplishment for a team that was 3-8 last year. And, then there's simply another building block of tradition - something to call on down the road. The Razorbacks won as the underdog against TCU, Houston and Texas, narrowly lost to Baylor, and are the underdogs again this week with triggerman Jason Allen on the bench.

Texas Tech will enter the game with a 3-5 record, 2-3 in the SWC.

"This game is the most important one of our season," Crowe said. "It has as much to do with our season as any others. The players know that it is important, but a Monday attitude doesn't mean a win on Saturday."

"I know the importance of this game," Hill said. "There is a bowl bid on the line."

Hill was scheduled to be redshirted this year, but was forced into action when Allen ripped up his knee late in the third quarter of last week's 9-5 loss to Baylor. Allen's backup, Doyle Preston, was also hobbled last week and his status is questionable for Saturday. Gary Adams, a quarterback moved over to defense after Allen became the starter, was back under center this week as a backup.

Hill's job is that of a caretaker. Crowe says the coaches have challenged the rest of the team to play even better to make Hill more comfortable.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A while back you printed a letter from a blind woman describing how difficult it can be when strangers approach her. I read something in a brochure recently by the National Federation of the Blind and thought your readers might find it informative. I hope you agree.--Folsom, Calif.

DEAR FOLSOM: I do, indeed. Thanks for sending it on.

The Courtesy Rules Of Blindness

When you meet me don't be ill at ease. It will help both of us if you remember these simple points of courtesy:

1. I'm an ordinary person, just blind. You don't need to raise your voice or address me as if I were a child. Don't ask my spouse if I want "cream in the coffee"--ask me.

2. I may use a long white cane or dog guide to walk independently, or I may ask to take your arm. Let me decide. And please don't grab my arm. Let me take yours. I'll keep a half-step behind to anticipate curbs and steps.

3. I want to know who's in the room with me. Speak to me when you enter. And please introduce me to the others. Include the children and tell me if there's a cat or dog.

4. A partially opened door to a room, cabinet or car can be a hazard to me. Please be considerate.

5. I have no trouble with ordinary table skills and can manage with no help.

6. Don't avoid words like "see." I use them, too. I'm always glad to see you.

7. Please don't talk about the "wonderful compensations" of blindness. My sense of smell, touch and hearing didn't improve when I became blind. I rely on them more and therefore may get more information through those senses, but that's all.

8. If I'm your house guest, show me the bathroom, closet, dresser, window and the light switch. I like to know whether the lights are on, so please tell me.

9. I'll discuss blindness with you and answer all your questions if you're curious, but it's an old story to me. I have as many other interests as you do.

10. Don't think of me as just "a blind person." I'm just a person who happens to be blind.

In all 50 states the law requires drivers to yield the right of way when they see my white cane. Only the blind may carry white canes. You see more blind persons today walking alone, not because there are more of us, but because more of us have learned to make our own way.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have a difference of opinion regarding the upbringing of our 13-month-old child. Here's the problem:

My mother, who temporarily lives with us, was born in Germany but speaks impeccable English. My husband insists that my mother will confuse our child by speaking or singing to him in German. Is he right or wrong?--Serious Disagreement in Illinois

DEAR SERIOUS: He's wrong. Children who grow up in bilingual families do not become confused. Speaking in two languages is natural for them. In today's world, the child who is bilingual or trilingual has a big advantage. Encourage it.

Gem of the Day: People worry about two things these days--one is that things may never get back to normal, the other is that they are already normal.

Is life passing you by? Want to improve your social skills? Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - Police chased actor Johnny Depp for three miles and clocked his Porsche at 93 mph before arresting him on suspicion of reckless driving, an officer said.

Depp also weaved in and out of traffic on Interstate 10 Tuesday but was "super courteous" to the officer who finally pulled him over, said Lt. Jack Lane of the Arizona Department of Public Safety.

Depp, who played an undercover cop on TV's "21 Jump Street," posted $305 bond and was released.

The actor, who starred in the movies "Edward Scissorhands" and "Cry Baby," is filming a movie in southeast Arizona.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I recently bought some new upholstered furniture. What is the best way to care for it so it will last as long as possible? Any information will be greatly appreciated. -- Jackie Harrison, New York, N.Y.

Glad you asked! This is just in from our friends at the Soap and Detergent Association.

Taking proper care of upholstered furniture can extend its life. A few simple tricks will help keep it in tiptop shape.

• Don't leave newspapers on upholstery because the ink will rub off on the fabric.

• Use only products developed specifically for upholstered furniture to clean them; household cleaning products may contain bleach or abrasive materials which can damage the fabric.

• Blot spills immediately with a clean, white cloth to avoid major stains. If you must use a spot remover, always pretest on an inconspicuous spot before treating the stain.

• Do not wash upholstered cushion covers in the washing machine. Sometimes the fabric will shrink or the dyes will fade or run, and consequently the covers may no longer match the furniture. -- Heloise

CLEANING COBWEBS

Dear Heloise: I have a perfect way to reach the cobwebs high up in the house. My husband and I are golfers, so I took our water-ball retriever, extended it with a feather duster taped on the end and voila, no more cobwebs.

This would be great for homes with cathedral ceilings. -- Victoria Sidener, Ennis, Mont.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	15	3.00
2 days per word	26	5.20
3 days per word	37	7.40
4 days per word	48	9.60
5 days per word	59	11.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I just had my cholesterol checked and it was very high. My doctor told me I had to get on a very strict diet, and I am doing this, but he didn't give me any medication. According to one or your columns, I would be considered practically a medical emergency. My HDL is 42 and my LDL is 258.

I am not including any fat in my diet, only fruits and vegetables. I am walking on my treadmill 30 minutes each day and trying to walk at least one mile a day. This is the beginning of my third week of dieting and the first week of my exercise program.

I weighed 207 pounds on my initial visit to my internist four months ago.
I now weigh 188 pounds. How long do you think it will take for me to show some results with my cholesterol?
DEAR READER: Yes, you really need to be doing something. You didn't tell me how tall you are, but unless you are taller than most women, 207 pounds is a lot of weight.

You can never be sure what a person's response to dieting will be.
That is because genes play such an important role in determining the cholesterol level in some people. But it is absolutely correct to start with a diet and lose excess weight. Initially, with a weight-loss program, some people even have a rise in cholesterol, perhaps because their body is using so much of their body fat for energy.

Reliable results from a diet usually require three months minimum — better yet, six months. That is why so many of those studies you read about are not helpful. A three-week diet is not a good evaluation of the effects of a diet on total cholesterol levels. You can say the same thing about exercise.

Your diet sounds a little severe to stay with indefinitely. As you make progress you might want to develop a balanced diet that is still low in fat and cholesterol. I'm sending you my new Special Report 117, Control Cholesterol with Diet, which you can use as a guide.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

MONEY IS THE ROOT OF ALL EVIL—WRONG!

HOW MANY TIMES HAVE WE HEARD THIS SAID AND ACCEPTED IT WITH NO FURTHER THOUGHT? HOW MANY TIMES HAVE WE SEEN IT HANGING AS A MOTTO ON A WALL OR OVERHEARD A GRANDFATHER INTONE IT SAGELY TO SOME YOUNGSTER? HUNDREDS UPON HUNDREDS OF TIMES—AFTER ALL, IT'S STRAIGHT OUT OF THE BIBLE, RIGHT? BUT FEW OF US HAVE EVER REALIZED IT'S A BLATANT MISQUOTE!

THIS SAYING IS FOUND IN ONE PLACE, AND IN ONE PLACE ONLY, IN THE ENTIRE BIBLE! PAUL THE APOSTLE WROTE IT IN HIS FIRST LETTER TO TIMOTHY THE YOUNG EVANGELIST WHO WAS A DEVOTED FOLLOWER OF PAUL. IT CAN BE FOUND IN I TIMOTHY, CHAPTER 6, VERSE 10. PAUL WROTE, FROM LAODICEA, THE FOLLOWING "...THE LOVE OF MONEY IS THE ROOT OF ALL EVIL..."

IN OTHER WORDS, PAUL WAS ADVISING YOUNG TIMOTHY THAT NOT MONEY ITSELF, BUT MAN'S INNATE GREED OR DESIRE FOR IT, WAS THE REAL TROUBLE-MAKER, THE REAL "ROOT OF ALL EVIL"—HIS FURTHER ADVICE WAS TO FOREGO THE PURSUIT OF GREAT WEALTH AND LUXURY AND RATHER BEND ALL EFFORTS TOWARDS A SEARCH FOR WISDOM AND A PURER LIFE DEDICATED TO GOD.

NEXT WEEK: BIBLES, BIBLES, AND MORE BIBLES! ALSO A BIG SURPRISE!!
