He said Holly's local plant will be obtaining another piler to help with this fall's harvest by handling all the semi-truck loads.

The plant is also moving toward additional equipment in the packing line to provide more marketable products for the grocery line. The company proposes to bag 100-pound bags of powdered sugar for commercial lines.

Association expounded on the industry's marketing and political battle against con-gressional, business, foriegn and media foes.

Part of the group's ammunition is a study to conclude there will be more need for domestic fructose. Markwart said major industrial sugar users are to release a study later this month which will conclude that by 1985 there will be no use for domestic sugar production. He said the major users will urge Congress not to support the domestic sugar industry.

press and fadists for giving consumers the idea that sugar is unhealthy and promoting sugar free products.

He refuted a government proposal to cut the 17-cent loan rate by three cents by pointing out that the loan rate was the lowest compared to any other commodity cost of production and that a threecent reduction could mean $8 a ton.

He said no big savings would go to consumers because major industry users would absorb it anyway for energy and labor. Markwart was enthused about the 15,500 American growers joining the ASBGA and setting common goals. He said the organization plans to increase profits for the whole sugar industry and thus increase the odds of maintaining that industry.

Judges refuse plea to delay special election

AUSTIN (AP) - Three federal judges said they would not take the "drastic" step of calling off Saturday's special congressional election, but left undecided whether Texas must clear all its special elections with the U.S. Justice Department.

A lawsuit filed by minority voters from the 6th Congressional District challenged the legality of the election to fill the vacancy created when U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm of Col-

Texas Rural Legal Aid, representing the complaining voters, argued Tuesday that the special election called by Republican former Gov. Bill Clements should have been cleared with the Justice Department in accordance with the 1972 federal Voting Rights Act.

Under the act, any changes in election laws must be reported to the Justice Department for its approval.

TRLA lawyer George Korbel said Clements' setting of the election for a date other than one of four standard voting days amounted to a "change" under the definition of the law.

The next standard election day is April 2.

Korbel said setting the date 39 days after Gramm resigned gave potential candidates only five days in which to file. He said that discriminated against poor people who might want to run, because they would not have enough time to gather signatures on the petitions they are allowed to file instead of paying a $500 filing fee.

Korbel said, however, that he had no evidence any potential candidates were barred from filing.

The Justice Department declined to intervene in the case. But lawyers for Gramm and the Texas Republican Party argued that when Clements declared an emergency and set the date, he was well within a Texas law that was cleared in total with the Justice Department when it was passed in 1975.

Former Assistant Attorney General Rick Gray, representing the state, said the Justice Department's unofficial position was that it would require pre-clearance of the special Anthony Pennington, 15, was so moved by "Thursday's Child," a CBS-TV movie about organ transplants, that he told his brother he wanted to donate his organs to others.

By Tuesday, his wish was realized. The high school sophomore was struck and killed by a pickup truck Sunday evening as he rode his bicycle on a highway near here.

Five organs since have been given to patients in three cities. His heart was transplanted into a patient in St. Louis, two Dallas patients received his kidneys, and his corneas were donated to patients in Tyler. "He told one of my other sons that that was what he wanted," the youth's father, Robert Pennington, recalled Tony's parents relayed his desire to doctors at Medical Center Hospital in nearby Tyler, where the boy died Mon-

Dr. Thomas Lowery, who heads the hospital's donor program, contacted the Southwest Organ Bank Inc. in Dallas, which quickly matched Tony's weight and blood group to the Missouri heart patient.

The Penningtons "kind of came to the nurses in intensive care and said, 'We want to give his organs away if he's going to die," Lowery said. "This family said, 'We want to give all the organs we

The heart was transplanted in a six-hour operation that ended about 5 a.m. Tuesday, said Dennis Wilson, spokesman for the St. Louis University Hospitals.

The patient, who was not identified, suffered from a fatal heart ailment and had been waiting for a heart for three days, Wilson said. The man was listed in critical condition Tuesday, which is normal after transplant surgery, he said. Tony's kidneys were taken to Methodist Hospital in Dallas for transplants. "They're both working very well," said Dr. Richard Dickerman, the surgeon. "One (patient) was a young lady from New Mexico and the other was a man from Dallas."

Mrs. Pennington said the transplants made her and he husband feel as if "a part of Tony was continuing."

Rig collapse started with broken porthole

WASHINGTON (AP) - A broken porthole set off a chain of events that led the Ocean Ranger drilling vessel to capsize a year ago in the North Atlantic, taking 84 people to their death, the government says.

The National Transportation Safety Board concluded Tuesday that water, pouring through the porthole, caused an electrical failure that resulted in some ballast tanks flooding. The rig then capsized.

Investigators concluded the crew of the $125 million floating rig should have been able to control the problem, but that they had not been adequately trained to use a backup valve control system after the electrical system failed.

"If they had been trained to do that I think the report reflects that the accident could have been avoided," said Jim Burnett, the safety board's chair-

The investigators said they could not determine what caused the porthole, which was in the ballast control room and 32 feet above the sea, to break. They said it should have withstood the 70-foot waves that battered the Ocean Ranger during the early hours of Feb. 15, 1982.

The Ocean Ranger was conducting exploratory drilling under a lease with the Mobil Oil of Canada Ltd., about 166 miles off the coast of Newfoundland, Canada. The safety board said the deaths resulted in part from difficulty in launching lifeboats and because workers were not supplied with thermal protection suits that would have allowed them to withstand the icy waters for hours instead of minutes.

Workers restore full water service

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) -Residents of this North Texas city faced water rationing, but expected their full service restored this morning after city workers restarted pumps at two lakes.

The city's 150,000 residents were asked to cut consumption by 80 percent to 90 percent Tuesday because of a broken pumping system.

Midwestern State University closed Tuesday, Sheppard Air Force Base stopped using city water and switched to its reserve supplies, and some industries curtailed production.

A control panel shorted out Saturday night, shutting down pumps at Lake Arrowhead, the city's major water source. Lake Kickapoo, a backup supply 25 miles to the southeast of town, had its pumps out for routine maintenance.

Lake Wichita on the city's south side has not been used for years. Jerry Gross, acting public utilities director, said the city was filling its reservoirs before taking the pumps at Lake Arrowhead down to replace the

"We want to see the system full and stable before we take Arrowhead down (for panel replacement)," Gross said. He said his plan is to bring in more than 50 million gallons of raw water within the next 24 hours, and then take down pumps at Lake Arrowhead that were restarted Tuesday

Boy dies after rare operation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A 2-month-old boy whose heart was riddled with defects died Tuesday less than three hours after a "million to one" operation to save his life, officials said.

Doctors had said Jason Leonard, of Santa Ana, Calif., had a good chance of living if he survived 12 hours after the surgery which ended at 7 p.m. But he died at about 9:45 p.m., said Lynn Teeple, a pediatrics nurse at the University of California Medical Center.

The delicate operation was directed by Dr. Paul Ebert.

The boy's heart condition was "extremely rare," said Dr. Stanley Kegel, the Garden Grove, Calif. physician who referred him for surgery.

Administration concerned about Israeli report on massacre

WASHINGTON (AP) -The Reagan administration, surprised by the force of the Israeli report on the Beirut massacre, is concerned that it could paralyze the Jerusalem government and dim prospects for action on a Mideast peace plan.

U.S. officials avoided making public statements on a special Israeli commission's report that said Defense Minister Ariel Sharon was indirectly to blame for the slayings in Palestinian refugee camps last September and should resign.

President Reagan set the course for silence by telling editorial writers Tuesday that the report was "an internal problem, and I just don't think we should be commenting or injecting ourselves into that internal problem."

One official, who insisted on anonymity, said U.S. statements could cause Israelis to "circle the wagons" around Prime and help Sharon, a hero of the concerned that the un-

1973 Yom Kippur War, "play a martyr's role."

That could rally hard-line Israeli opponents of Reagan's proposals for halting Jewish settlements and establishing Palestinian self-rule on land held by Israel since the 1967 Six Day war, the official said. Setting up Palestinian selfrule is part of the president Mideast peace package.

The report was more negative, and more specific in its criticism of the Begin government, than had been expected here. But the commission's findings dovetailed with the administration's own statements earlier about Israeli involvement in the massacre.

In the U.S. view, the judicial inquiry is likely to have a larger impact on Sharon resigns - than had been anticipated.

from the recession. Because such construction is already in the federal budget, although perhaps scheduled for upcoming years, he added that "it won't add anything to the deficit to do it."

Reagan's comments were in an interview with editorial writers Tuesday. A transcript was released by the White House today.

Reagan, who last week said he had asked aides to examine such a speed-up, told the editorial writers he has asked government departments to accelerate "their maintenance work, construction, things of that kind that are called for."

Reagan said the officials were told: "Expedite it. Accelerate it. Don't wait if you've got it on schedule some place down the line. It's already in the budget. ... Go to work on it and start doing it to help in the recovery."

But Reagan reaffirmed his opposition to creating a public-works jobs program to bring down the nation's unemployment rate, which was 10.2 percent last month.

Reagan said he would rather try to ease unemployment by retraining workers as he called for in his State of the Union message last month - than by "giving so-

That apparently was a reference to Democratic proposals to create jobs programs, which Reagan has long opposed. Reagan also reiterated his cuts in his proposed defense budget and said "maybe we should have been smart" to allow Congress to make reductions in the fiscal 1984 budget totaling $8 billion the amount eliminated from the spending proposal before it was sent to Capitol Hill.

He said Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger was cooperative in finding places to cut. "There were some things we hated," Reagan said, "but I insisted that we stay with whatever we found."

But now, he added, many members of Congress think there's room for more cuts. "I think if there was, we would have found it," he said.

He said the "steady drumbeat" from Congress about cutting the defense spending request "has created a false belief among too many people in this country that, maybe, in one or two years we have solved the problem" of beefing up the nation's defenses.

Reagan also indicated he would not be disappointed if the panel he appointed to find a basing mode for the MX missile selected something other than the so-called dense-pack system he originally proposed.

say Jamiel "Jimmy" Chagra's acquittal in the assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. could help three co-defendants win appeals, but two jurors say the three received fair trials.

A Jacksonville, Fla., jury on Monday found Chagra in-nocent of hiring a hit man to murder Wood.

obstruct justice, and Harrelson's wife, Jo Ann, was convicted of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Harrelson's lawyer, Tom Sharpe Jr. of Brownsville, said Tuesday that extensive publicity in San Antonio made a fair trial impossible.

Chagra was acquitted, Sharpe said, because "you had a forum in Florida who were not prejudging everything."

But two of the jurors in the San Antonio trial said the proceedings were fair and un-was not up to date on things," said jury foreman Kathleen Mills. "In fact, I was amazed at how little I knew."

Patricia Schultz-Ormand, who broke down in tears as the verdicts were read Dec. 14, said the defendants "got a fair trial."

Sharpe said he filed a mo-tion in federal court Friday to have the case against his client dismissed, and that more motions were forthcoming. He said he planned to meet with Harrelson today.

Chagra, who was convicted on charges of conspiracy to import marijuana and conspiracy to obstruct justice, also is scheduled for sentencing on that date, along with Mrs. Chagra and Mrs. Harrelson.

Prosecutors contended Chagra ordered Wood killed because the judge was scheduled to preside over his trial on a charge of continuing criminal enterprise. Chagra subsequently was convicted and sentenced to 30 years in prison.

Lawyers for Mrs. Harrelson and Mrs. Chagra also expressed optimism about their clients' cases.

"Speaking for my client's standpoint, I would hope that we would have a change of venue and separate trials," said Mrs. Harrelson's attorney, Charles Campion.

Mrs. Chagra's lawyer, Warren Burnett, said she also would seek a new trial.

Burnett said Chagra was acquitted because he wasn't tried in San Antonio and he was tried alone.

"He wasn't tried along with Charles Harrelson, and he didn't have Joe Chagra testify that there was indeed a conspiracy to the murder of Judge Wood," Burnett said.

Chagra's brother, Joseph, was the government's star witness at the San Antonio trial, but as part of a plea bargain did not testify against his brother. He is serving a 10-year sentence for his guilty plea to a conspiracy to murder charge.

Udall not

WASHINGTON (AP) -Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, a past presidential ing another try, will not seek the Democratic Party's presidential nomination in 1984, according to sources.

Udall, a party liberal who finished second to Jimmy Carter in five presidential primaries in 1976, was to announce his decision at a news conference today.

Several sources said Tuesday night that Udall, who has Parkinson's disease, decided against the prospects of two years of campaigning. And, they said, he "didn't want to be a spoiler" of other liberal candidates like Sens. Alan Cranston of California and Gary Hart of Colorado.

Udall himself hinted at what his decision would be in a speech to college students here Tuesday night.

Critics complain about hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) -House tax writers are ending their hearings on a $168 billion Social Security rescue plan a day early amid comlaints from some critics that the speedy deliberations have been "a mockery."

The House Ways and Means subcommittee on Social Security was completing hearings today with a marathon session that was to include nearly 50 witnessess. Staffers said the subcommittee would begin drafting legislation next week.

Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the full Ways and Means Committee, has said he wanted to keep the legislative pace moving quickly to keep opponents from mounting serious at-tacks on the bailout package, which was submitted last month by the National Commission on Social Security Reform.

Leaders of organizations representing federal workers have attacked recommendations to extend Social Security coverage to new government employees, but they are now conceding that they may be fighting a losing battle.

During Tuesday's hearing, Robert L. White, president of the National Alliance of Postal and Federal Employees, said it would be "dastardly" to force new federal workers into "an alien plan of social insecurity" next year.

Moe Biller, president of the American Postal Workers Union, claimed the reform commission exaggerated the AUSTIN—Amid amaz-ngly little fanfare, the Texas Senate approved 29-2 the confirmation of Jack Pope as Chief Justice of the Texas Supreme Court.

The lop-sided vote was a stunning victory for Pope, whose lame-duck appointment had been threatened by a bloc of senators who wanted Gov. Mark White to name his own chief justice. White, himself, chose not to take sides, even after 14 senators wrote a letter two months ago to then-Gov. Bill Clements asking him not to appoint Pope.

Of the 14 who vowed to 'bust" whomever Clements named, only Sens. Craig Washington and Chet Brooks keep their pledge, voting against Pope last Thursday.

RENO, Nev. (AP) - A Chippewa Indian activist with a flair for the dramatic is turning a federal court trial over the sale of eagle feathers into a showdown over

In the trial which began Tuesday, he is accused of selling golden eagle feathers to two U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service undercover agents posing as Indians.

Nordwall admits selling the eagle feathers and body parts to the agents. But his attorney said in opening arguments that Nordwall only did so because he believed the agents were wayward Indians who wanted to "come back to the blanket" - return to their traditional religion.

The golden eagle is not an endangered species, but is protected by federal law because it bears a strong resemblance to the bald eagle, which is endangered.

Nordwall, 54, is a successful artist who owns a gallery in Fallon, Nev., and has long fought for Indian rights.

His most famous exploit came in 1973, when he got off a plane in Rome wearing traditional dress and threw a spear into the ground to proclaim Italy as an American Indian colony.

Nordwall appeared Tuesday in U.S. District Court in a loose-fitting red shirt with rainbow designs, a beaded necklace and long, braided gray hair.

Defense attorney Lawrence Semenza said the three-day trial would be filled with testimony about Indian rites and ceremonies.

"This case is about the freedom to practice ... religion," Semenza said "Mr. Nordwall and traditional Indians worship Mother Earth and all things which come from her. It is a religion which uses eagle feathers as Geneive (Demel) Heinrich was the only member of the class of 1956 present. Gary Franklin, class of 1966, told about each classmate, and Chris Greik and Dorothea (Demel) Ferguson reported on the class of 1976. Ida Simnacher noted that the annual homecoming festivities will be held the last Saturday in January each year. Gaulbert Demel invited everyone to the dance, and free dance tickets were won by Alvin Walker and Mark Albus.

Appreciation was expressed to the cooks, Mrs. Eveyln Albus and Mrs. Ellen Franklin: to those who helped with the decorations; and the committee members, officers, and speaker. Gifts were presented to the master of ceremonies and the speaker.

The Alma Mater was sung by those present, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Mary Ann Glumpler; and the Rev. Skoczylas, pastor of St. Phillips Catholic Church, gave the benediction.

Herd drops pair to Monterey

Caporck nearing 3-5A playoff berth

Red-hot Caprock made it nine straight Tuesday night, and in the process, took a big step towards its first-ever playoff berth.

The Longhorns improved their District 3-5A boys' record to 10-4 by dropping cross-town rival Palo Duro, 73-66. The setback all but dropped the Dons (7-6 in league play) out of the playoff picture.

Plainview, meanwhile, remained atop the standings

Plainview, meanwhile, remained atop the standings with a 76-72 victory over Coronado. The Bulldogs lead Caprock by 1½ games with just over a week remaining in the regular season.

Elsewhere Tuesday in boys' action, Tascosa kept its faint playoff hopes alive with a solid 80-57 win over Amarillo High. The loss left AHS with a 7-6 district mark. Tascosa improved to 8-6, but trails Caprock by two full games with two to play for each team.

Hereford, meanwhile, lost its 10th straight game and 13th in a row in district play, falling to Monterey, 70-36. It was the third loss this season to Monterey, the other two by scores of 67-41 and 59-46.

In girls' action Tuesday, Monterey and Plainview clinched playoff berths. Monterey trimmed Hereford 79-60, while Plainview edged Coronado, 49-47. Those victories left Monterey and Plainview with 14-1 district marks. Amarillo High, a state semifinalist last year, belted Tascosa, 69-41, to improve its league record to 12-3 but was eliminated from playoff contention.

to 12-3, but was eliminated from playoff contention.

Even if Monterey and Plainview lose Friday, the Sandie girls cannot overtake the two leaders. The worst Monterey and Plainview can finish is 14-2, while AHS' best possible record is 13-3.

In other girls' games Tuesday, Palo Duro beat Caprock, 59-35.

But, back to the boys' race.

Caprock can clinch a playoff berth by winning one of its two remaining games.

However, that might not be quite so easy. The Longhorns face Lubbock High (8-5 in league play and 17-10 overall) Friday in Amarillo, then conclude the regular season Feb. 18 at Plainview.

The Monterey-Hereford boys' game was never much in doubt. The Plainsmen took a 15-10 lead after one period, then outscored the Herd, 22-8, in the second quarter to Hereford managed only 18 points in the second half—with only five coming the final period.

Steve Welch led Hereford with eight points, while Brian Taylor and Jeff Streun had seven. Paul Tarwater led the winners with 16 points.

In the girls' game, Hereford trailed 23-14 after one period, and never could catch up. The winners opened a 17-point cushion (44-27) by halftime, before the two teams battled on virtual even terms the final two periods.

Sherri Ellis, who didn't score a point in Monday's win over Tascosa, led the Whiteface gals with 27 points. Angela Phea led the winners with 16, while Jill Marshall and Sara Stiles added 13 apiece.

Hereford's girls conclude their regular season schedule Friday hosting Coronado. The game will match teams with identical 6-9 district records. Following Friday's game against Coronado, the Whiteface boys conclude the regular season next week with games against Palo Duro (Tuesday in Amarillo) and Lubbock (Friday at home).

Sooners are in trouble again

Bid Cumpton fond farewell

BY LES GILES Sports Editor It's the nature of the business.

A friend of mine, and I can't remember exactly who, because more than one said it .. "If you coach in one place too long, you'll generally wind up getting fired, or run off." Such, really wasn't the case for Don Cumpton.

Cumpton, who was an assistant football coach in Hereford back in the early 1970s, resigned the head coaching post last week to accept a similar one at Abilene

It's not easy to leave a place you've become very fond of, but like I said at the top, it's kind of the nature of the business.

Coaches are meant to move every so often ... some more often than they'd like .. unless you're a Gordon Wood-type or a Paul "Bear" Bryant. Those men became legends at their respective schools (Wood at Brownwood High School and Bryant, of course, at the University of Alabama), over a long period of time.

But, generally, coaches don't stay that long at the same school. Five, six, maybe seven or eight years, then off to face a new challenge.

Cumpton has been head coach for nine years .. the last five at Hereford. Prior to that he had two-year stints at Sanford-Fritch and Muleshoe.

His record at Hereford was 37-16-1. But, consider, 11 of those 16 losses came in the first two years after the team had won only 10 games during a span of three seasons.

The last three years here, Cumpton's teams have been 29-5, including a 13-1 slate in 1981 .. a season which saw the Herd log its first-ever 10-0 regular season mark. The 1981 campaign ended in the Class 5A semifinals .. the farthest advance by a Panhandle school in the top classification since Tascosa reached the semifinals in 1963 and '64.

But, things pass, and coaches move on .. to new, and varied challenges.

Abilene High hasn't been a big winner for years. After all, they're in the same district as powerhouse Odessa Permian, and most know about Mighty Mojo – three times a state champion, and a couple of other times a loser in the championship game.

"Well," Cumpton said, "I guess the real bottom line is enrollment.

"Abilene has nearly 1,800 kids in the top three grades, Hereford barely has 900 in the top three grades.

"I know Abilene hasn't been that big a winner in recent years, but the potential is there. Right now, they have less than 60 kids out for football. Hopefully, we can get at least that many more out.

"I just believe," Cumpton added, "if you ever get things going with that kind of enrollment, you have a chance to keep them going.

"I know one thing .. it'll be a heck of a challenge, and I'm excited about it.

"I have enjoyed the last five years here (at Hereford), and I'll always have good memories.

"You can never take away memories of the kind of season we had in '81, and I'll always remember playing at Texas Stadium (in the quarterfinals that year against Fort Worth Eastern Hills).

"Probably the one game I'll remember most, though, is the Plainview game this past season (Hereford won, 21-14, on a long TD pass from Charles McDowell to Brian Taylor in the final minute and a half). That had enough excitement to last a lifetime. I don't guess I've ever been as added.

Cumpton will begin his new job Monday (Feb. 14). He said he likely would take four assistant coaches with him.

"I've asked some to go with me. Now it's up to them to caught up with a particular game as I was that one," he make the decision. I've made mine."

In the end, you can't help but wish him every bit of success in his new job.

Don Cumpton (in this writer's opinion) was good for Hereford, and I'm sure, to an extent, Hereford was good for Don Cumpton.

AUSTIN (AP) — Former University of Oklahoma football player Willis Ray Mackey claims he earned $1,200 a week as a summertime oilfield security guard but did not have to do any work.

Oklahoma head coach Barry Switzer said Mackey's story is "pure science fiction" and termed it "completely ridiculous."

Speaking from his office at Norman, Switzer said, "It's a lie. It's just amazing that it's been created out of Texas 12 hours before signing date."

Mackey said Oklahoma assistant football coach Rex Norris arranged for the job with Frontier Drilling Co., which he said is no longer in business.

ference letter of intent with Texas but ended up going to the University of Washington.

Mackey transferred to Oklahoma in 1980, quit the team a year later and enrolled at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos. He told Austin television station KTBC he is one semester away from graduation.

Norris could not be reached Tuesday for comment. The university will not comment on the claim by Mackey, according to OU Sports Information Director Mike Treps.

"He has made the allegation and that is not the sort of thing we would comment on," Treps said.

Treps said he knew nothing about the alleged situation, but "football coaches are always getting summer jobs for players at various rates of pay. This occurs at colleges all over the country. If the kid was offered a legitimate job and the guy who hired him didn't care whether he was working or not, I don't know that that would be a violation" of NCAA rules. "I would think that it would be up to his employer on whether he worked or not."

Mackey told the Austin television station the NCAA has talked to him about his allegations. NCAA officials would not confirm a conversation with Mackey but an official told the station that

Mantle out of baseball

NEW YORK (AP) -Mickey Mantle was getting ready for the luncheon at which he would be introduced as director of sports promotions for a hotel and casino in Atlantic City, N.J., when he was handed a letter from Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

The message, Mantle said Tuesday, was clear. "I'm gone ... I'm out of baseball," said the former New York Yankees great.

Kuhn had told Mantle he would have to give up his part-time coaching position with the team if he took the $100,000-a-year promotions job with Claridge Hotel and Mantle, a member of the Hall of Fame, chose the casino job and said he understood Kuhn's order.

"I don't blame him," he said. "He did what he thinks is right or he wouldn't have done it. He set a precedent and he has to stick by it."

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led the Lakers with 30 points, while Earvin "Magic" Johnson had 26 points, 10 re-bounds and 11 assists. Jack Sikma had 27 points and 19 rebounds for Seattle, while Fred Brown hit 12 of 17 shots for a season-high 25 points.

Bullets 104, 104, Celtics 101

Greg Ballard's field goal with six seconds remaining in overtime clinched Washington's triumph over Boston.

The Bullets blew a 14-point lead in the third quarter before Robert Parish, who scored 32 points to lead Boston, sent the game into overtime at 90-90 on a basket with 12 seconds to go in regulation.

Jeff Ruland led Washington with 21 points. Spurs 147, Pistons 143

George Gervin scored 41 points, Mike Dunleavy sent the game into overtime with a three-point goal and Artis Gilmore scored seven points in the extra period to lead San Antonio past Detroit.

The Pistons, who lost for the eighth time in nine games, lost the game despite 46 points from all-star Isiah Thomas and 34 from Kelly Tripucka. Nets 115, Hawks

The Nets led by as many as 22 points late in the third quarter, and still had a 106-92 advantage with 3:21 left in the game, but a 17-4 streak by the Hawks cut the deficit to 110-109 with 24 seconds remaining. Then the Nets hit five free throws to hold on to their edge.

Wes Matthews scored 26 points to lead Atlanta. Blazers 109, Bulls 93

Jim Paxson scored 34 points and Calvin Natt 28 to carry Portland over Chicago.

Paxson and Natt combined for 21 points in a 51/2-minute span of the third period during which the Trail Blazers extended a 55-49 lead to 77-63. Orlando Woolridge led the

Bulls with 20 points. Rockets 116, Kings 115

Joe Bryant's three-point play with 34 seconds left in overtime lifted Houston over Kansas City.

Bryant broke a 113-113 tie with a basket, was fouled on the play and hit the free throw.

Elvin Hayes led the Rockets with 24 points, while Eddie Johnson had 22 for the Kings.

Mavericks 112, Suns 100

Mark Aguirre scored 28 points and Jay Vincent scored 10 of his 22 in the final four minutes when Dallas took control of its game against Phoenix. A jumper by Vincent with 3:43 left gave the Mavericks a 94-92 lead they never relinquished. The 92-92 tie had been the 27th deadlock of the game. Walter Davis led Phoenix with 21 points.

More crop reduction for 1984 seen by ag official

WASHINGTON (AP) -Despite wide farmer support for the administration's swap of surplus crops for idled land, a top Agriculture Department official says farmers probably will have to cut back production again in 1984 to end price-depressing surpluses.

Dawson Ahalt, acting USDA under secretary for commodity programs, says continuation of the paymentin-kind, or PIK, program through the 1984 growing season will depend on weather and other conditions this year. He said the decision on whether to continue the program will be made this stockpiles, "it is unlikely that we will bring them down enough not to have a similar program next year."

Under the PIK program, farmers agreeing to idle 20 percent of their acres for cash and continued price support protection can idle another 10 percent to 30 percent. In return, they receive from the government free surplus grain equal to 80 percent to 95 percent of what they would have normally harvested on the additional idled acreage.

National farm organiza-tions endorsed the PIK program during the subcommittee's hearing. But only the National Grange and the American Farm Bureau Federation gave unqualified to immediately bolster farm prices, now expected to continue at low levels for the rest of this year.

Noting a new USDA analysis projecting no significant change in 1983 net farm income from last year's depressed level, Ahalt acknowledged that farmers won't see any real financial improvements the PIK program until next year.

But he repeated the administration's contention that once grain supplies are finally brought back into balance with demand, farm prices should rebound strongly.

The American Agriculture Movement and the National Farmers Union, while endorsing PIK, urged the panel to set a floor price for the millions of bushels of payment-in-kind grain that time, forcing already depressed prices lower. But Ahalt said a floor price

Wheat council grows

WASHINGTON (AP) -The Agriculture Department has named new members of a panel to oversee government research and promotion of wheat in the nation's food system.

Agriculture Secretary John R. Block announced the appointments on Monday. The council adminsters a nationwide research and nutrition education for wheat and wheat foods. Membership is composed equally of wheat producers, processors, endproduct manufacturers and consumers.

New members of the 20-member council are: Wesley O. Tossett, Lansford, N.D., and Vivian J. Thuesen, Dagmar, Mont., representing producers; Paul A. Vermylen, A. Zerega's Sons Inc., Fairlawn, N.J., representing end-product manufacturers; and Doris Salmon, Oregon Consumer League, Pendleton, Ore.; Alice Perkins, American Dietetic Association, Chicago, Ill.; and G. This Land

By Garry Mauro Texas Land Commissioner

One of the top priorities of my administration is the immediate improvement of the Veterans Land Program. Although I have been in office less than 45 days, an emergency appropriation has already been submitted to the Texas Legislature to eliminate the waiting list for loans and inform all Texas Veterans of the benefits of the Veterans

We now have over 1.6 million veterans in the state, including over half a million Vietnam era veterans.

Land Program.

Since the program's inception at the end of World War II, over 80,000 Texas veterans have participated in this low interest loan program for purchasing land. Yet for all the successes this program has had in the past, this valuable program needs to be upgraded to meet the modern demands of all Texas veterans.

In our emergency proposal, we have asked the Texas Legislature for a $1.9 million appropriation to meet the immediate needs in the land program and for other improvements in the General Land Office. When I took office on January 3, 1983, we had 14,000 veterans on our waiting list. Our plan calls for the complete elimination of this waiting list by March I, 1983. From that point on, veterans will be able to obtain an application without being placed on any waiting list.

Veterans the have processed loans in the past through the Veterans Land accommodate a buyer under those conditions. That is why we are determined to not only eliminate the waiting list, but reduce the time it takes to close a loan to less than 90 The Veterans Land Board will also establish a Veterans Outreach Program. The Veterans Land Office will have five field representatives who will be located in all areas of the state. These trained professionals will meet with individual veterans to expedite their loan applications. They will also meet with local officials, county service officers, local veterans organizations, and other interested citizens to inform them about the Veterans Land Program.

With over 500,000 Vietnam era veterans in the state, it is essential we do everything within our means to inform them and all our Texas veterans of the benefits under this program. They benefit with the purchase of the land, but the entire state economy also gains as a result. With the next 10,000 loans approved by the Veterans Land Board, another $200 million is generated into the Texas

If the legislature grants our request for the emergency appropriation, we will be able to eliminate the backlog and place this program in a position to meet the needs of all Texas Veterans. As I promised during the campaign, we will run the Veterans Land Program in an efficient, businesslike manner.

Solons join in on movement to scuttle tax ruling on PIK

WASHINGTON (AP) -Farm Belt congressmen are being joined by the Reagan administration in trying to overturn a federal tax ruling that, if allowed to stand, will likely torpedo the president's plan to swap stockpiled crops for idled farmland.

William Lesher, Reagan's chief farm economist, says legislation like that already introduced in both the House and Senate must be enacted swiftly if producers are going to sign up for the payment-inkind, or PIK, program. Farmers have until March 11 to decide 'The Reagan administration supports a change in the tax law," Lesher told the House Appropriations agriculture subcommittee Monday. The committee had just been told that the Internal Revenue Service had ruled payment-in-kind grain will be liable for federal income taxes as soon as farmers are eligible to receive it.

"If we're going to force our farmers to borrow money to pay taxes on that grain, we're going to greatly decrease our participation and participation is the key to the success of the program," Rep.

Virginia Smith, R-Neb., said. Mrs. Smith said the IRS had decided earlier in the day that farmers must pay income taxes on the fair market value of the free surplus grain they get under the PIK program right at harvest time this year, instead of at the time they actually sell the grain as is the case with the crops they IRS spokesman Larry Batdorf said later that the agency did not issue a formal decision on the question in its weekly bulletin published each Monday. Batdorf said only that the issue remains under study.

But the Treasury Department, without citing any formal IRS ruling, issued a statement calling for legislation to insure that PIK grain is taxed the same way other grain is.

"Under current law," the statement said, "the farmer would realize gross income in the amount of the fair market value of the commodities received under the PIK program at the time they are made available to the

It said legislation must in-sure that "the farmer will realize income only at the time he sells the comsequences for PIK grain has been under review since before President Reagan announced the stock reduction scheme in mid-January, and officials had been expecting the adverse ruling.

If the IRS decisions stands, rural leaders say it could convince most farmers to avoid PIK and end any chance that it could reduce the huge grain surpluses that have depress-ed the farm economy.

They also fear that farmers participating despite the adverse ruling will want cash in hand before paying the taxes and consequently will dump their PIK grain on the The question of the tax conmarket as soon as they get it, driving low prices even

> 'Relative unfavorable tax treatment of payments in kind is not only unfair to the producer but could also pose a serious obstacle to producer participation in the Depart-ment of Agriculture's new rogram," Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., said.

To participate in PIK, farmers must have already agreed to idle 20 percent of their land under other programs that provide them with direct cash payments and continued federal price support protection.

PIK then permits those farmers to idle another 10 to 30 percent of their land in return for free surplus grain equal to 80 to 95 percent of the amount they'd normally harvest of the additional idled

Feds say volunteer program going strong

WASHINGTON (AP) -The Agriculture Department says a new federal program to use volunteers to help against soil and water erosion is firmly rooted and is growing rapidly.

The volunteer program was announced last May 11 by USDA's Soil Conservation Service and now has 324 people working full or part-time.

Leading states where the volunteers are at work include: Colorado, 17 workers; Illinois, 12; Iowa, 12; Missouri, 19; Nebraska, 13; New York, 19; Ohio, 17; Pennsylvania, 24; and Virginia, Peter C. Myers, chief of the agency, said Tuesday that nearly 600 actually volunteered to work and that more than half have been put on jobs so far. More volunteers will be needed this year, he said.

The first 24 years of a human's life is equal to the first 2 years of development in a dogs life.

Toothpaste tubes are filled from the bottom, not from the top.

Types of duties available to volunteers include: clerical, information, conservation planning, surveying conservation education, drafting, mapping, roadside seeding and re-vegetation, and contracting assistance.

Myers said that age is not a factor. For example, he said, in South Dakota a second grade Brownie troop worked 72 hours to make crop residue measuring devices for farmers to use after tillage operations. A retired person in southeast Iowa is helping coordinate a county-wide educational program.

Stock producers cut back herds to pay debts

New rules proposed for plant breeders

WASHINGTON (AP) -The Agriculture Department wants to modify rules to protect plant breeders from certain countries.

Vern F. Highley, administrator of the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, said the proposal would bring the U.S. protection regulations — which are similar to international patents - into line with rules adopted by the International Union for the Protection of New Varieties of Plants.

Highley said the United States, which became a member of the the union in 1981, must meet the treaty requirements of the organization if U.S. citizens "are to receive similar privileges in union member countries."

The member countries include: Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, West Germany, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Netherlands, New Zealand, South Africa. Sweden, Switzerland, United Kingdom and United States.

Highley said the proposed change also "would allow citizens of member nations to receive the samed protection rights in the United States as U.S. citizens" and "would give U.S. citizens protection privileges in member coun-

Move on to hike credit authority

WASHINGTON (AP) -Legislation has been proposed to add $200 million to federal farm credit authority and effectively block repayment of those loans through September 1984.

Reps. Ed Jones, D-Tenn., subcommittee chairman, and Thomas Coleman of Missouri, the ranking Republican, said their proposal Thursday for the Farmers Home Administration may be the only way government can help farmers survive the rural depression.

The administration has called for no increase in the 1983 lending authority of FmHA, which provides credit to farmers who can't get it through normal channels, and Agriculture Secretary John Block has opposed any attempt to halt repayment of outstanding loans.

Block claims such a moratorium is unfair to the vast majority of farmers who pay their bills on time and would amount in an outright gift of millions of tax dollars to farmers.

Quicksand is a deep mass of sand so mixed with water that it will not support any breeding herds have lowered the base for future red meat production," a new outlook report said Tuesday.

"Weak farm financial conditions have forced producers to lower their debt load and to eek ways other than borrowing to meet cash flow needs."

The solution for many, the report said, has been to sell part of their herds or liquidate them altogether in efforts to raise cash. The sharpest livestock reductions have been in the North Central region.

Economists noted a recent Jan. 1 inventory report which showed that after three years of expansion the nation's cattle numbers declined slightly from a year earlier.

However, the number of beef

"The calf crop declined for the second consecutive year," the report said. While the inventory of yearling feeder cattle outside feedlots actually rose, the supply of calves and the total number of feeder cattle declined."

The Jan. 1 inventory of sheep and lambs dropped after climbing for three years and now is the lowest since USDA began records in 1867.

"Poultry production continues to rise, but the rate of increase has been muted significantly," the report said. "Broiler production rose 6 percent in 1981, but it increased only 1 percent in 1982. A 2-to-3 percent rise is expected in 1963."

issue.

Governor Mark White recently told the 68th Legislature that he has been hearing voices your voices.

As he explained in his State of the State address, the voices have come from overcrowded school rooms, unemployed farmworkers and laborers, victims of crime, taxpayers and many others.

You have not been shy about telling us what you want - safe streets, quality schools, reasonable utility rates, fair and open government, decent job opportunities and a fair profit for your goods and services.

We believe your expectations are reasonable, and we are encouraged by White's positive approach to the problems at hand.

The new governor says education is his first priority. In fact, he has even declared teacher salaries an emergency issue so the Legislature will consider it first.

In the past, education has been at the end of the line, taking whatever "leftover funds" it could get. This session, it looks like education may get one of the first slices of the pie.

We think that's important when you consider that the population of Texas has increased more than 25 percent in the last decade. Experts say that the state should maintain an annual 5 percent increase in the number of new teachers to keep up with the number of students enrolling in Texas schools. Unfortunately, the state has seen a decrease of 7 percent instead, as those who might have become teachers accept higherpaying jobs in business and industry. That is disturbing news, and we are well aware that the steps we take today toward improving education may well determine the success or failure of our future. Governor White was also positive in his attitude toward agriculture. We realize that not all agriculture problems can be solved by the state. However, we can do more, and White addressed that very

The governor indicated his willingness to work with various commodity associations. He said he wants to promote on a state level more foreign markets for Texas agricultural products, as well as allocate more state money for agricultural research and development. He further supports increased emphasis on water recovery technology. That certainly sounds like good news for our district. In addition, Governor White promised to work with both the Legislature and you by maintaining an open, responsive and courteous administration.

Along those same lines, we want to be accessible to you. Please let us know what your priorities are and which state programs are most important to you. Write to Sen. Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas, 78711.

Fashion tips outlined at club meeting

Louise Walker gave a pro-gram entitled "Dress to Enhance Your Figure" when members of Wyche Exten-sion Club met recently in the lounge of the Community

She advised careful selection of design and color and said that consideration of fabric texture will be an asset in dress selection.

For opening exercise, Clara Trowbridge read a poem entitled "Smile."

President Carol Odom conducted the business meeting, during which letters were read from West Texas State University announcing the awards dinner on April 14 and from the Mormon Church asking for nominations for Family of the Year. No action was taken on either at the present time.

The leadership training meeting on using spices will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. in the Heritage Room of the library. The club voted to donate $15 to the 4-H Parent-Leaders Association. Ms. Trowbridge gave the council report, announcing that the appreciation luncheon will be held Feb. 28 in the Bull Barn. Extension Club Woman of the Year will be announced. Louise Packard is the nominee for Wyche Club.

Club projects were selected as follows: continue assisting with bingo at Westgate, provide transportation for King's Manor shoppers, and select a special person at King's Manor to receive courtesies from the club.

The council yearbook, finance, education, and recreation recommendations were approved. Jane Sizemore read "Thank God for Little Things" for recrea-

Ms. Trowbridge was hostess for the meeting. She served refreshments to Pet-Ott, Beverly Brooke, Ms. Packard, Lorena Ward, Ms. Sizemore, Mildred Lafever, and Mmes. Odom and Walker.

The next meeting will be in the home of Ms. Packard at 2:30 p.m. Feb. 17.

Today In History

By The Associated Press Today is Wednesday, Feb. 9, the 40th day of 1963. There are 325 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history:

On Feb. 9, 1825, the House of Representatives elected John Quincy Adams president after a national election that failed to give any of the candidates an electoral majority.

On this date: In 1718, French colonists arrived in Louisiana. In 1849, Rome was proclaimed a republic under Giuseppe Mazzini.

Five years ago: Canada ordered 11 Soviet diplomats and officials expelled, accusing them of a plot to penetrate the security apparatus of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

One year ago: The U.S. and the Common Market said they would refuse to continue negotiations of East-West cooperation in Madrid until martial law in Poland was ended.

Today's birthdays: Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk is 74 years old. Sportsman Bill Veeck is 69.

Thought for today: "Loneliness and the feeling of being unwanted is the most terrible poverty." - Mother Teresa, Nobel-prize winning missionary.

LOS ANGELES (AP) -"The Winds of War," ABC's 18-hour epic on the events leading to World War II, attracted a record audience estimated at 85 million for the first episode Sunday night. ABC said the opening chapter of the seven-part program drew the largest audience ever for the opening of a miniseries. The rating was slightly lower than "Roots." still television's No. 1 miniseries, but the total audience has grown since 1977.

"The Winds of War" was the No. 1 show of the week ended Feb. 6 and boosted ABC to a big victory in the network ratings.

Figures from the A.C.

Nielsen Co. showed the threehour telecast had 39.1 rating and a share of 53. This means that 39 percent of the nation's homes with television watched some part of the show and 53 percent of the homes watching television at the time were tuned to ABC.

Epic attracts 85 million

ABC estimated that 32.5 million homes and 85 million people saw some part of the $40 million miniseries. The number of viewers was higher than "Roots" because the television audience is larger. "Roots" had a firstnight rating or 40.5 and a share of 61. A ratings point represented 712,000 homes in 1977, but today it represents 833,000 homes.

The second chapter of "The Winds of War" had a drop in viewership Monday night in six cities. New York had the highest rating, 42.5, compared to 45.5 on Sunday. Audience shares in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Detroit and San Francisco all exceeded 50 percent.

ABC won the week with a rating of 21.2. The networks say this means that in an average prime-time minute. 21.2 percent of the nation's homes with TV were tuned to ABC. CBS was second with. 18.5 and NBC was third with

The second highest-rated show of the week was CBS' "Magnum, P.I."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a male in my mid-30s and have been reading your col-umn for many years. A re-cent letter about a teenage suicide struck close to home. I, too, was considered the perfect" son. I was goodlooking, an excellent student, popular, did well in athletics and was an outstanding musician. Everyone thought I must be the happiest kid in the world. I really had it Actually, I was a different person inside. Nobody knew of my fears and insecurities and the unhappy days and nights I covered up with a big smile and a lively sense of humor. More than once I considered suicide, but I couldn't bring myself to do it.

Your statement was so wise and insightful: "Sometimes the more cheerful a person appears, the more miserable he is. Facades can be so wellconstructed it is impossible to tell what is behind them."

DEAR J: Here it is. The author is Edwin Arlington Robinson (1869-1935).

Whenever Richard Cory went downtown, We people on the pavement looked at him. He was a gentleman for sole to crown,

Clean favored and imperially slim.

And he was always quietly And he was always human when he talked; But still he fluttered pulses when he said. "Good morning," and he glittered when he walked. And he was rich-yes, richer than a king-And admirably schooled in every grace. In fine, we thought that he was everything

To make us wish that we were in his place. So on we worked, and waited for the light And went without the meat, and cursed the bread.

And Richard Cory, one calm summer night, Went home and put a bullet through his head. DEAR ANN: This is for "Long-Time Prowler" who was so proud of himself because he was able to pick up a girl in a singles bar and take her home any night of the week.

The stupid jerk doesn't realize something is terribly wrong with him. He is incapable of developing an honest relationship. His opinion of himself is so poor he can't let anybody get close. Tell him, will you?-A Lady Who Has Seen Those Types A

"Yep! Marmaduke's there to greet me...don't stop the bus until I get my knee pads, elbow pads and helmet adjusted!"

Newspaper BIBLE

LISTEN TO ME! LISTEN!

Then the Spirit of God came upon Azariah, and he went out to meet King Asa as he was returning from battle.

"Listen to me, Asa! Listen, armies of Judah and Benjamin!" he shouted. "The Lord will stay with you as long as you stay with him! Whenever you look for him, you will find him. But if you forsake him, he will forsake you. For a long time now, over in Israel, the people haven't worshiped the true God, and have not had a true priest to teach them. They have lived without God's laws. But whenever they have turned again to the Lord God of Israel in their distress, and searched for him, he has helped them. In their times of rebellion against God there was no peace. Problems troubled the nation on every hand. Crime was on the increase everywhere. There were external wars, and internal fighting of city against city, for God was plaguing them with all sorts of trouble. But you men of Judah, keep up the good work and don't get discouraged, for you will be rewarded."

Then they entered into a contract to worship only the Lord God of their fathers, and agreed that anyone who refused to do this must die-whether old or young, man or woman. They shouted their oath of loyalty to God with trumpets blaring and horns sounding. All were happy for this covenant with God, for they had entered into it with all their hearts and wills, and wanted him above everything else, and they found him! And he gave them peace throughout the nation. (II Chronicles 15:1-7, 12-15)

Gavin Davis, a student in Terry Connally's VEH general construction trades class at La Plata Junior High, operates an electric miterbox saw. A major goal of the Vocational Education for the Handicapped program is to prepare students to meet requirements of today's labor force by acquainting them with the use of power equipment and domestic tools. The theme of Vocational Education Week, which the vocational department at La Plata is presently observing, is "Vocational Education .. An Investment in People."

Victim would have had 'better chance'

AUSTIN (AP) — Acting Fire Chief Brady Pool says firemen may never know exactly what caused the weekend fire that gutted parts of the Capitol, but he said the man who perished would have had a "better chance" if he had been sober.

"He was hollering 'Help me! Help me! Get me out of here," Pool said, but "all he could do was holler."

A preliminary autopsy on the body of the victim, Matt. Hansen, 23, of New Caney, Texas, showed he had a trace of marijuana plus a 0.21 blood-alcohol content when he died — more than twice the legal drunken driving standard of 0.10 percent.

standard of 0.10 percent.

Three other people staying as overnight guests in the lieutenant governor's Capitol apartment escaped safely, including Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby's 18-year-old daughter Kate.

Two twin beds in the middle bedroom where Hansen was supposed to sleep were undisturbed, and his body was found lying between them on the floor. He died of smoke inhalation.

"He might have been lying in there in that den ... lying on that couch dozing," and not in his bedroom when the fire broke out between 5 a.m. and 5:30 a.m., Pool said.

Miss Hobby has said she and the other couple staying as guests in the three-bedroom apartment had gone to bed about 2 a.m. that morning, while Hansen had stayed up alone to watch a cable television music channel. Investigators said the fire started in the den and probably was caused either by an electrical short or smoking materials.

Natural fibers fashion review is scheduled during exposition

Designer fashions made from Texas natural fibers will take over a portion of the second day, Saturday, March 5, during the Southwest Farm and Ranch Exposition.

Ann Vanderpoorten, clothing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, has announced that the Natural Fibers Fashion Review will be held Saturday afternoon at 4 p.m. in the Tarrant County Convention Center Theater.

This is the 12th year for this exciting showcase of apparel created by home designers.

There will be four divisions in the contest: mother and child; daywear; evening wear, to include formals and cocktail dresses; and a special division for former Grand Champion award win-

Each complete ensemble must be made of a minimum blend of 50 percent cotton, wool, or mohair up to 100 percent natural fiber.

"Silk and linen are not considered as natural fibers for the purpose of this contest," Vanderpoorten said.

Each ensemble entered in the contest will be designed, made and modeled by the contestant, with the exception of the child's garment. Attendance at the Natural

Fibers Fashion Review is conthr

Singles Round Up Club to meet Sunday

Members of Singles Round Up Club will meet at 3 p.m. Sunday at Westgate Nursing Home to visit residents and distribute Valentines.

The regular monthly covered dish supper is scheduled Friday, Feb. 19, at 7:30 p.m. in the banquet room of the Community Center. There will be a guest speaker and all area singles are invited.

Country Singles Square Dancers hold lessons each Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Community Center ballroom. The club will dance after lessons on Feb. 23. A special Valentine dance will be hosted by the club on Saturday, Feb. 19, in the ballroom of the Community Center. The dance begins at 8 p.m. and Scott Turner will be the caller. All square dancers are welcome.

For more information about Singles Round Up Club or Country Singles Square Dance Club, call Jackie Chapman at 364-4518 or Dorothy Ohlig at 364-3249.

The fashion review is just one of many activities held during the three days of the Southwest Farm and Ranch Exposition.

In addition there will be, on Friday, a New World of Agriculture Forum featuring top horse breeders and horse management specialists, in a program designed to update all horse enthusiasts on the latest techniques in breeding and horse management.

Also, there will be a Future Farmers of America tractor mechanics contest on Friday, with FFA chapters from schools all over the state competing for prizes in a three tier contest with finals for the event being held in the Tractor Pull Arena at 6 p.m.

The main attraction will be the Southwest Farm and Ranch Exposition, with over 200,000 square feet of the latest farm and ranch supplies needed by farmers and ranchers throughout the Southwest Southwest.

In connection with the Southwest Farm and Ranch Exposition, there will be a championship horse, truck, and tractor pull each evening of the show.

The horse pull will be a first for the Southwest and will feature Belgians ranging in teamweight from 3,600 to 4,600 pounds.

There will also be a class of four-wheel drive modified trucks pulling each evening, in addition to the classes of hot-rod tractors.

Tickets for the tractor pull may be ordered from the Southwest Championship Tractor Pull, Box 5243, Arlington, Texas 76011 or by calling Metro 265-0789.

Election centers on missiles, economy

BONN, West Germany (AP) - West Germany's election campaign has evolv-ed into a hot debate over the twin issues of U.S. nuclear missiles and the nation's worst unemployment since Both Moscow and Washington have high stakes in the March 6 election, and both superpowers have sent high-ranking emissaries to court the West German electorate.

The campaign pits incum-bent Chancellor Helmut Kohl, the leader of the center-right Christian Democrat coalition, against Hans-Jochen Vogel, heading the workeroriented Social Democrat

Party. Kohl, 52, said he wants to begin deploying 204 new Pershing II and Cruise missiles in West Germany this year unless the Soviets give in and dismantle similar weapons already in Europe:

Kohl, an affable, professional politician who has been making pro-West, anti-Communist speeches for a decade on the floor of the West German parliament, says the missiles are needed to balance the Soviet nuclear

The 53-year-old Vogel, a soft-spoken lawyer who is the former mayor of both Munich and West Berlin, says missile deployment may not be necessary and that his party will do everything possible to avoid it. He has urged the United States to reach a compromise with the Soviets on the missiles.

Leaders from both Moscow and Washington have come to West Germany in recent weeks, hoping to persuade the voters to see their respective governments as the true seekers of disarmament.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, during a visit to Bonn in January, repeated Soviet disarmament proposals and encouraged West Germany "to be guided by its own interests" in deciding whether to station the new American-built missiles here.

And U.S. Vice President George Bush was in Bonn and Berlin last week, carrying an "open letter to the people of Europe" from Ronald Reagan, who dared the Soviets to meet with him and sign a ban on all U.S. and Soviet land-based, mediumrange missiles.

Kohl leads in the polls and, in fact, engineered the election in hopes of getting a grass roots mandate to continue as chancellor. He took over as chancellor in October after former Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, a Social Democrat, lost a vote of confidence in Parliament.

But Vogel's party has moved up sharply in recent weeks, campaigning for "the German interests" and capitalizing on growing public reaction against new Kohl accused Vogel of "weakening West Germany's security" with his stand on the missiles, but it is clear the missile issue has helped the Social Democrats.

Polls by the Senus and Infratest institutes said a clear majority of West Germans prefer not to deploy the missiles this year if there is no progress in the disarmament talks between the United States and the Soviet Union at Geneva.

"We have to judge on the situation in Geneva at the end of 1983. We are not convinced that the situation demands deployment," Vogel said recently.

Anti-missile feelings may also help a small third party, the anti-nuclear, environmentalist Greens, get into the West German Parliament for the first time. They could even wind up holding the balance of power beteen the two larger parties.

The Greens have been elected to the parliaments of five of West Germany's 10 states and the Berlin Parliament since 1979 and appear likely to make it into the federal Parliament or Bundestag this year for the first time.

The Social Democrats could then join forces with the Greens to elect Vogel chancellor if no party emerges from the election with a clear majority of seats. Vogel has not said he will cooperate with the Greens, but neither has he ruled out the possibility.

The tiny Free Democrat Party, which precipitated Schmidt's downfall last fall when it deserted its coalition with him in favor of Kohl, is struggling to remain in Parliament.

West German election law requires that a party poll at least 5 percent of the vote to stay in Parliament. The latest polls show the Free Democrats hovering at 5 percent or just below.

> West Germans will be voting during the worst economic slump their country has seen since the war. Unemployment is at 10.2 percent and no economic growth is expected this year. Small business bankruptcies were up a startling 43.4 percent in the first nine months of 1982.

> > Kohl's party has made no bones about blaming the Social Democrats, who headed the governing coalition for 13 years, for these economic calamities. "Joblessness, debts, bankruptcies. Not the SPD again," proclaim the Christian Democrat campaign posters. Kohl has borrowed a chapter from early Reaganomics to remedy the situation. He says getting the West German deficit down should spur recoverycreating investment. He has made cuts in the elaborate and costly German social benefits system.

Vogel, playing to the workingman, said he would abolish tax advantages for high-income earners to restore the social benefits cut by Kohl.

"We resist the elbow society," in which different economic classes must push each other out of the way to survive, Vogel's campaign billboards declare.

Wonderful walking program

DEAR DR. LAMB - A group of women of different ages, from 25 to 40 years old, have started a walking exercise program. Some of us had stopped smoking and gained weight. The others were smarter and started walking instead of overeating. We walk from two to three hours a day in two intervals on a daily basis.

Some have expressed concern that we are walking too much and may be ruining our health. They think it is no good for us. We would like to know if walking is good for us, how long we should walk in miles or hours and what we should eat in order not to gain weight. Can you send us some information?

DEAR READER Congratulations. I wish everyone who had a problem with body fat would take up a similar walking program. Walking will help you stay lean, help clean out your arteries, lower your blood ressure, condition heart, stimulate your bone marrow, help your psyche and many other things.

As a benchmark, a person who weighs 150 pounds will use 60 calories more while walking one mile than while sitting still. At walking speeds between two and four miles an hour you will use about the same amount of calories per mile regardless of the walking speed. It is a gradual, effective, healthy way to control body fat. It is safe where many diet plans are not. It improves your health where many diet plans wreck it.

How far or how long you walk is an individual matter. You can start slow, maybe even just around the block or 10 or 15 minutes, and gradually increase the time and distance. You don't need to walk fast for calorie control. Obviously, if you walk four miles instead of one mile you will lose excess body fat quicker.

If you have arthritis it might be troublesome to walk too much. Otherwise walk to the level that you can without getting too tired. As your program progresses you can walk more without problems. Use your heart rate as a guide

DEAR DR. LAMB - My son was born in 1966 and pHisoHex was used in the hospital where he was born. It was also recommended for use by his pediatrician. I continued using this product for approximately two years after he was born. He was not a premature baby. He is very normal mentally and physically. However, I won-der if there could be any mental or physical disorders in later life.

DEAR READER - I wouldn't waste a minute worrying about it. The concern about pHisoHex came from frequent use of concentrated solutions in premature babies and from animal studies that included ingestion of hexachlorophene (pHisoHex). There changes noted in the brain and spinal cord. But none of these changes have been noted in healthy mature babies with routine use.

The cases of nerve damage that has been reported in mature babies usually included excessive use and usually in the presence of skin damage, as after a burn.

And even the changes noted in premature babies tended to decrease or disappear after the use was stopped. So your son is not going to have any future changes from its use.

Please call the Hereford Brand between 6 and 7 p.m. on days you miss your paper. HEREFORD BRAND. 364-2030.

weapons to smuggle to Northern Ireland. The acquittal came after a two-month trial and nearly a year after Flannery's arrest. The gunrunners said they thought the weapons were going to a CIA operative and therefore they were cooperating with the U.S. government. The CIA denied it had sanctioned a smuggling operation.

The statement from the Irish Consulate said the outlawed IRA "has been responsible for a majority of the killings which have occurred in Northern Ireland since the troubles began" there, and that "an attempt is being made to exploit the traditional good will felt towards the parade and to link it with support for violence in Ireland."

Flannery is the founder of the Irish Northern Aid Committee, or NORAID, which he said raised funds for relief purposes in Northern Ireland. A federal judge ruled in April 1981 that NORAID was an agent of the outlawed Provisional IRA, and the group has been ordered to register with the Justice Department as a foreign agent of the IRA.

Ireland also boycotted the parade last year, when IRA member Bobby Sands was posthumously named the parade's honorary grand marshal. Sands, who was serving a sentence for IRA activities, died after a hunger strike in a British prison in Northern Ireland.

Asked for his reaction on the Irish Consulate's boycott of the parade, Flannery said, "It's a bit of hysteria How are they going to boycott? By not appearing on the review-
