Weather plays Halloween trick

Over three inches of snow fell in the Hereford region overnight and this morning as the season's first winter-type storm ripped into the region from the west.

The weather played a cruel trick on Halloween activities, postponed schools and plagued travelers.

Because of the weather and icy conditions on area streets and highways, tonight's game between Hereford and Amarillo Caprock at Dick Bivins Stadium has been moved to 6:30 p.m. The game had originally been scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

The icy weather prompted Hereford officials not to send the Mighty Maroon Band to the game.

"We didn't feel like we needed that many buses with that many students out on the highway in conditions like this," said band director James MacLaskey.

The Amarillo Police Department said the best way to get to the stadium will be to go up the Canyon E-Way to Interstate 40; go east on I-40 to Grand; go north on Grand to 10th Street; then down 10th to the stadium. Travel on those streets, said an APD spokesman, will be less impeded by icy conditions.

Hereford public schools and classes at St. Anthony's School and Nazarene Christian Academy met at 9 a.m. today; Walcott School did not open until 10 a.m.; and Community School canceled classes today.

The popular Easter Spook House will not be open tonight or Saturday. The spook house activities will be postponed until Nov. 7 and Nov. 9 at 7 p.m. each night at the Easter Community Center.

"We didn't want kids out there on the highways like this," said Eddie Matthews of the Easter Lions Club. "We'll just hope the weather is better next weekend. If it's not, we'll just reschedule or do something else."

There were at least three accidents in the county on Wednesday, including a pickup rollover just east of Dawn. No injuries were reported in that accident. Hereford police reported four accidents in the city between 7 a.m. Wednesday and 7 a.m. today.

The slow moving low-pressure center responsible for the storm was still located over central New Mexico at sunrise today. It was expected to track across the region later today, picking up wind gusts and adding the possibility for more snow, although skies had cleared considerably this morning.

As of 7 a.m. today, Dalhart had picked up 5 inches of snow and Amarillo and Clovis checked in with 3 inches at daybreak. The storm slicked Interstate 40 in New Mexico and was blamed for the death of a California man in an accident near San Jon.

Authorities closed the interstate from the Central Ave. exchange in Albuquerque west through Gallup, and eastbound I-40 was closed through Tijeras Canyon east of Albuquerque.

No highways were closed in the Texas Panhandle, but most were snow-and-ice packed.

More than frost on the pumpkin

This jack o'lantern on the front porch of the home of Apolonio and Mary Dennett, 311 S. Jackson in Hereford, had a little more than frost on it this morning. The area's first snowstorm of the season added to the effect of the carvings on the pumpkin. The area received over three inches of snow overnight and this morning.

Early voting ends Friday on 13 issues

Friday is the last day for early voting in Tuesday's Constitutional Amendment election.

Thirteen proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution are listed on the ballot.

Early voting is open in the Deaf Smith County clerk's office in the courthouse from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Friday.

Thursday morning, County Clerk David Ruland reported a total of 407 ballots had been cast since early voting began on Oct. 16. Of the total, 134 voters marked ballots in the afternoon hours last Sunday.

The ballot has drawn attention statewide because of Proposition 11, the controversial amendment that would allow a lottery in Texas.

Persons wishing to vote prior to election day are not required to list an excuse as in the past in absentee voting.

TEA head critical of local boards

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno says local school district boards should stop hiring their friends and relatives.

Meno said Wednesday he has dealt with 30 cases over the four months he has been commissioner where "local school boards are going way beyond anything that was intended in the law in terms of influencing hirings."

As a New York deputy education commissioner for three years, he said he came across one such case.

"What has really surprised me ... is the number of governance problems in this state at the local level," he told the pro-business Texas Association of Taxpayers.

After his speech, Meno said the problem was limited to a small minority of the more than 1,000 school boards in Texas, but added, "there are enough cases of it that it is a serious concern to us."

He refused to identify which school boards he was talking about. Meno said the state education agency has talked with statewide superintendent and school board associations to try and find a solution.

The problem, he said, is "indicative ... that instead of focusing on policy issues, people are getting right down into the administration of the schools."

He said administration should be handled by the school superintendent under policy guidelines set by the school board.

In his speech to the taxpayers group, Meno said that public schools have not kept up with changes in society.

For instance, he said in the 1960s about 85 percent of public schoolchildren came from two-parent families, while 60 percent of the children currently in public school are from one-parent families.

He said student performance is improving, although the gap between what students learn and what they need to succeed in life is widening.

Half the students that graduate high school in Texas have only beginning training in algebra, he said.

He said that because of the state's diversity, there must be diverse programs.

He cited a system in Longview where local businesses advise students on what kind of education they will need to accomplish their goals. That simple strategy, he said, has helped quadruple the demand from students for difficult courses.

Conferees dispute land, future talks

MADRID, Spain (AP) - Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir today invited his Arab neighbors to talks "in each other's home" - in Israel and elsewhere in the Middle East. But the invitation threatened to inflame a dispute over venue that could scuttle the historic talks.

Jordan's foreign minister - the first of the Arab states at war with Israel to take the podium at the peace conference - expressed regret for decades of Arab hostility toward Israel.

But Kamel Abu Jaber also told the Jewish state to abandon its "self-righteous attitude" and set the stage for a full day of Arab demands for the return of captured lands.

On the second day of the landmark gathering, the gulf between the two sides was glaringly apparent despite the rhetoric of conciliation.

In his address, Shamir rejected the concept of land for peace and restated Israel's claim to Jerusalem, which the Palestinians also claim as their capital.

The Arab states have resisted coming to Israel because it would amount to de facto recognition of the Jewish state. That would be especially true if the talks were in Jerusalem.

"If we can't talk about Jerusalem, if we can't talk about withdrawal, what on earth are we doing here?" an exasperated-sounding Abu Jaber demanded at a news conference after the morning session.

The Palestinians, too, reacted negatively to Shamir's speech.

"My main reaction is one of dismay and anger. Mr. Shamir didn't have anything new to offer," said Palestinian spokeswoman Hanan Ashrawi. "He did not recognize the realities of today."

In the ornate conference room at Spain's Royal Palace, the atmosphere was solemn and attentive during the Israeli and Jordanian speeches.

No Arabs were seen applauding Shamir's 30-minute address. A few Israelis applauded the Jordanian address, but Shamir was not among them.

Abu Jaber opened his remarks with an Arabic blessing; Shamir's first word was "shalom" - the Hebrew greeting that also means "peace."

Both then went on to speak in English.

In his address, the Israeli leader challenged the Arabs to drop their resistance to holding face-to-face talks between Israel and Arab delegations - the conference's planned next phase - in the Middle East.

The site of future talks is the source of an increasingly bitter dispute.

"We invite our partners to this process to come to Israel for the first round of talks. On our part, we are ready to go to Jordan, to Lebanon and to Syria for the same purpose," Shamir said.

Abu Jaber, at his news conference, said the disagreement over venue posed "a danger of disrupting the whole momentum of the conference." He said Madrid should be the site of further talks.

In addition to disagreeing over venue, Israel is demanding that Syria meet with its delegation alone in the next phase - without the U.S. and Soviet presence that the Syrians have set as a condition.

Shamir also veered away from what the Arabs view as the central issue of the conference: the demand that Israel give back territory captured in war.

He said Arab recognition of Israel is a more important goal.

"The issue is not territory but our existence," he told the delegates. Talks focusing primarily on trading land for peace would be "the quickest way to an impasse," he said.

The Arab demand for territorial concessions was expected to be repeated in the afternoon session, with Palestinian, Lebanese and Syrian representatives due to speak.

President Bush, opening the conference on Wednesday, had urged the parties to try to reach "territorial compromise."

On Wednesday, the delegates made history just by sitting across from each other, although the atmosphere was chilly.

The talks - the first ever to bring Israel and the Arabs together - were an achievement just by virtue of having got off the ground. A 1973 Middle East peace conference in Geneva broke up after a single day.

The Arab countries, who moved before the conference to forge a united front, are demanding that Israel return the Golan Heights and create an independent state for the 1.7 million Palestinians in the West Bank and Gaza Strip. All three pieces of land were seized in the 1967 war.

"If Israel does not withdraw from occupied Arab territories and if the (Jewish) settlements are not frozen, this will just have been a ceremonial conference which President Bush opened and we will withdraw from it," chief Syrian spokesman Zohair Jannan said hours after the talks began.

Shamir's hard-line government has staked much of its political future on not surrendering the occupied territories and has refused to halt the settlement-building program.

The Palestinians are demanding that Israel withdraw from the West Bank and grant them an autonomous homeland - and only eventually an independent state.

That stance, expressed Wednesday by Ashrawi, is rejected as a sellout by hard-line PLO factions.

Killeen killer fascinated with mass murders

HOUSTON (AP) - The gunman who killed 23 people during the lunchtime rush at a Killeen cafeteria was fascinated with mass murders and serial killers and made videotapes of their crimes, police investigators say.

In a copyright story, the Houston Chronicle reported today that George Hennard's possessions included two homemade video tapes of documentaries dealing with gruesome crimes - including the June 18, 1984, massacre at the San Ysidro, Calif., McDonald's in which 18 died.

Killeen police detective Greg Holloway said police are trying to pinpoint Hennard's whereabouts on that day. They wonder if the McDonald's shooting may have served as a model for Hennard's own crime - the systematic murders two weeks ago at Killeen's Luby's Cafeteria.

"It's possible," Holloway told the Chronicle, "and that's why we're trying to put him there on that day. Maybe he saw the kind of coverage this guy (killer James Huberty) got on television."

"The guy was fascinated with serial killers ...," Holloway said. "We have statements from guys saying that."

The detective said sources told police Hennard frequently defended mass killers to acquaintances. "He'd say, 'You don't know what's going through the guy's mind or what he was thinking about.'"

Holloway said that statement regarded Ted Bundy, the charismatic law school dropout who was executed in Florida for the rape-murder of a 12-year-old girl.

Bundy also was convicted for mutilating and murdering two Florida college students, and confessed to 28 murders before his death three years ago.

Found in Hennard's room in the family's Belton home was a videotaped documentary, "Violence in America." Included in the program was a segment on Henry Lee Lucas, a one-eyed drifter who admitted to hundreds of murders before recanting all confessions except one.

Also featured were news reports of a highly-publicized murder-suicide in Boston involving Charles M. Stuart, who first told authorities a gunman shot him and his pregnant wife during a mugging in 1989. When Boston police learned Stuart had faked the robbery and shot his wife, he committed suicide.

Other videotapes contained material dealing with the Vietnam war, World War II and the merchant marines.

Authorities also are reviewing the disappearance of one of Hennard's shipmates in the merchant marines.

A radiogram dealing with the disappearance of the man was found in Hennard's Belton home.

"It was laying on a table. It was like he wanted me to find it," said Holloway, who has given the information to the U.S. Coast Guard. "I don't know if he had a part in this (disappearance), or if he felt sad about it."

The radiogram from the captain of S.S. American Aquarius reported that a seaman was lost overboard in 1985, Holloway said. National Maritime Union officials confirmed Hennard worked on the ship in 1984, and police believe he might have been on board when the other seaman vanished.

Donovan Hall, a seaman who spent four or five years working on the American Aquarius, recalled the incident: "We had a guy, he jumped or fell overboard, they don't really know. It was supposed to be a suicide deal."

Hall said the seaman, a black man, was discovered missing while the vessel was 15 to 18 miles offshore of Acapulco, Mexico.

Ship officials and seamen, though, were puzzled to find his room had been cleaned out.

Authorities have not linked Hennard to the disappearance, but they have determined that Hennard slugged and pushed a black seaman down a ship stairway in 1982. He was suspended for six months for the incident.

A former roommate, James Dunlop of Austin, said Hennard disliked blacks and Hispanics.

DALLAS - Revamped nutrition labeling will better inform grocery shoppers about the content of their food, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's commissioner says.

Court rules in favor of 'Baby Bells' Information service approved by justices

WASHINGTON (AP) - The seven regional Bell telephone companies have Supreme Court approval to provide news and other information services, but Congress and the courts could still impose restraints.

The court's action Wednesday was a major setback for the newspaper industry, which fought vigorously to keep the "Baby Bells" out of an area newspapers long have dominated.

The court denied without comment a request from the American Newspaper Publishers Association for an order blocking entry by the Bells into the information services market while an appeals court considers the case.

ANPA filed its request with Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist, who referred it to the full court. Justice Sandra Day O'Connor did not take part in the case and did not say why. The brief order suggested that new Justice Clarence Thomas did participate.

The appeals court could still impose restrictions. And a bill sponsored by Rep. Jim Cooper, D-Ky., that also would place restraints on the regional companies is pending in the House.

Ron Stowe of Pacific Telesis, a spokesman for the regional Bells, said the court's decision was "very much in the public interest" because information services now offered to large businesses and specialized consumer markets will become practical for small companies and millions of other consumers.

But ANPA President Cathleen Black said the decision "makes it imperative that Congress pass the Cooper bill to prevent the regional Bell telephone companies from strangling competition in the vital field of information services and threatening the privacy of everyone who owns a telephone."

The Bell companies could provide such information as news reports, classified ads, sports scores and stock market quotes by phone.

Newspapers and other companies already provide some of those computerized services over the Bell companies' telephone lines. But none has been in the business long enough to prove it can be successful.

Prodigy, a computer service targeted to consumers, has yet to turn a profit after three years, although the company says it was not expected to make money yet.

Analysts say International Business Machines Corp. and Sears, Roebuck and Co. spent $500 million to develop Prodigy.

Two media companies, Knight-Ridder and Times-Mirror, tried unsuccessfully to provide news and other information using phone lines and personal computers. Analysts estimate that the Knight-Ridder service, a joint venture with American Telephone & Telegraph called Viewtron, lost $50 million.

"The risk of losing money is very high here," said Michael Noll, a communications professor at the University of Southern California and a telephone industry analyst. "You could easily lose $200 million."

Noll said that if newspapers could not successfully sell information by telephone, it was doubtful that phone companies - with no expertise in the area - could do so either.

"If there were some magic in it, don't you think the newspapers would have figured it out?" Noll said.

Consumer groups say they fear the phone companies will subsidize information services ventures with money from basic phone service - where they are regulated monopolies with guaranteed profits - and crush any competition.

The phone companies have dismissed that argument, saying regulators would not allow it.

Cooper has introduced the Telecommunications Act of 1991, which would require the Bell companies to relinquish their monopolies on local phone service before being allowed to offer informational services in their own regions. They could, however, immediately begin serving other areas, provided they set up separate subsidiaries.

Officials ask approval of cells issue

AUSTIN (AP) - Law enforcement officials are urging voters to approve Proposition 4 on Tuesday's ballot, saying the state needs the new prison cells the $1.1 billion bond issue would build.

If ratified, the constitutional amendment would build 25,000 new prison beds, including 12,000 for drug and alcohol abuse treatment.

"The numbers are large because the problem is large," said Tom Vickers, chairman of the Governor's Law Enforcement Advisory Committee.

Vickers and other officials began a two-day swing to nine cities to promote Proposition 4, which also would provide funds for mental health and mental retardation and youth corrections facilities.

"Texas is in a catchup mode," said Vickers, noting that the state's prison population has grown so fast that thousands of felons are backed up in county jails and thousands more must be released from penitentiaries early to make room.

"The whole issue of early releases is going to be addressed" if voters approve the bonds, he said.

Vickers said the 12,000 substance abuse treatment beds would be unprecedented in the nation.

"The eyes of the nation are on Texas," he said. "Everyone in criminal justice has now come to the realization that unless you begin to deal - and deal very strongly - with substance abuse, you are spinning your wheels. We cannot begin to close the revolving doors in our Texas prisons until we break the cycle of drug and alcohol addiction."

Joining Vickers in urging approval of the bonds was Sam Granato, a Corpus Christi police officer and former state prison officer.

Granato said overcrowding in the prison system has made punishment for crimes almost meaningless. Burglary, for example, has almost been reduced to misdemeanor status because overcrowding means many convicted burglars serve only short sentences.

Authorities "really are powerless to put these criminals away and keep them away," Granato said.

In other election developments: - The Lone Star Lottery Committee said it will begin airing a pro-lottery TV commercial statewide on Friday, featuring Sen. John

Bullock endorses Nebraska senator

AUSTIN (AP) - Democratic presidential candidate Bob Kerrey would represent Texans very well, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock said in endorsing the Nebraska senator.

After meeting with Kerrey on Wednesday, Bullock said he was impressed both with Kerrey's record as a Medal of Honor winner in Vietnam and with his political credentials as Nebraska's governor and U.S. senator.

"He more nearly represents the interests of Texas. There's a great deal of similarity between Nebraska and Texas. I think he'll run extremely well in Texas," Bullock said.

"I'm very impressed with him. I think he's the type of individual that this country needs to lead (it)," Bullock said. "He has exhibited the Montford, D-Lubbock, who sponsored the lottery legislation.

In the ad, Montford will say: "As chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, I sponsored the lottery in the Texas Senate because it will generate millions in non-tax revenue dollars for this state, which can help keep your taxes down. If enacted, our lottery will be run fairly. You have the right to choose on lottery ..."

The pro-lottery campaign reported raising about $110,000 in filings with the secretary of state. That included about $45,000 from lottery companies. Lottery opponents reported raising about $36,000 between Sept. 27 and Oct. 26, for a total of $55,000 this year. That included $30,000 from the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Duke finished second in the Louisiana governor's balloting earlier this month and meets former Democratic Gov. Edwin Edwards in a runoff. The White House has disavowed Duke and argued that he isn't a true Republican.

After meeting with Texas Gov. Ann Richards, Kerrey said Bush can be beaten because the president has ignored average citizens and appealed to special interests.

"What I bring right now is an intense urgency that says if George Bush is president for four more years, we've got lives that are going to be squandered in America today," Kerrey said. "He looks at American and sees a coalition of people that will enable him to get beyond the next election."

The Nebraskan said he wasn't worried that New York Gov. Mario

Three hurt in shootout

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) - A shootout between two Longview High School students over a girlfriend wounded one of the suspects and two bystanders, said authorities.

It was the first known shooting at the campus, although weapons have been found there several times, said educators.

Bullets that police said ricocheted off the school's brick walls grazed the leg of Shanicki Patton, 15, and struck sophomore Jeffery Bowles, 15, in the shoulder Wednesday morning.

They and one suspect were treated at Good Shepherd Medical Center and later released, said a nursing supervisor.

Both suspects, 17 years old, were held at Longview city jail on investigative charges of unlawful carrying of a firearm.

He said the two were expected to be formally charged and arraigned later today.

Three shots were fired in the school's locker area at about 8:20 a.m. Wednesday, said Jim Walters, public information officer for Longview police.

One suspect fled and was picked up by police about an hour later at his home.

The other suspect, who was shot in the buttocks with a .25-caliber pistol, was arrested at the school.

Turkeywalk set Saturday

The Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Heart Association will host a Turkeywalk on Saturday at Sugarland Mall.

The proceeds from the second annual Turkeywalk will benefit AHA activities and research. Last year, walkers raised $1,250 in Hereford.

Margaret Perez, local volunteer, said persons interested in participating in the walk may get pledge forms at the tax assessor-collector's office at the courthouse in Hereford.

Walkers may also call, after 5 p.m., Perez at 364-2613 or Karen Fangman at 364-8545.

The walk will last from 2-5 p.m. Perez said there will be refreshments and a first aid station for walkers, and they hope to have music for participants to walk to. Perez said persons who raise over $25 will get a Turkeywalk t-shirt, and persons raising over $100 will get a t-shirt and a turkey.

The meal will include turkey and dressing, creamed potatoes and gravy, green beans, coleslaw, cranberry sauce, homemade bread, dessert, tea or coffee.

Donations will be $5 for adults and $3 for children six and under. Take-out plates will be 25 cents extra per plate.

A quilt will be raffled off at the dinner.

Serving will be at St. Ann's Parish Hall on 3rd St. in Bovina, Texas.

Ruth Newsom continues to serve on the Circle of Friends board.

Circle of Friends is the area support group of the Harrington Cancer Center.

This group of concerned volunteers provides financial support to cancer patients and their families who might otherwise have difficulty in funding some services not covered by insurance or not available through other agencies. The Circle of Friends also supports programs of the Cancer Center.

New directors to the board are Janyth Bowers, Amarillo; Dona Hindman, Borger; Cindy Shelton, Clarendon; and Peggy Southall, Amarillo.

Other board members include Janet Barrett, Amarillo; Janette Caviness, Amarillo; Joyce Courson, Perryton; Cathy Dixon, Amarillo; Paula Gibson, Dumas; Janic Hathoot, Canadian; Cynthia Hawkins, Amarillo; Glenna Henderson, Amarillo; Mary Jane Keast, Dalhart; Nancy Kritser, Amarillo; Kaye Neufeld, Perryton; Ruth Newsom, Hereford; Sharon Oeschger, Amarillo; Ginger Pittman, Perryton; Lisa Proffitt, Dumas; Charlotte Rhodes, Amarillo; Mary Lou Simms, Panhandle; and Sally Thornberry, Amarillo.

The group has two major sources of funding. The annual membership drive, with membership parties held in surrounding area towns each year and the sale of The Caring Touch Christmas cards designed by local and area school children proved the basis for the funds.

In 1991, 1,700 people have supported membership parties in Amarillo, Borger, Canadian, Clarendon, Dalhart, Dumas, Hereford, Pampa, Panhandle, Perryton, and Spearman.

Because of this response, the Circle of Friends was able to provide an $18,000 contribution to Harrington Cancer Center's patient care fund and contribute $2,000 to Harrington Cancer Center's Development Department.

The organization also made a $22,500 grant to support Harrington Cancer Center programs.

The Circle of Friends also sponsored two children at Camp

Alphie, the camp for children who have or have had cancer and their siblings and also provided lunches each day for Parents' Camp of Camp Alphie.

The Circle of Friends was the result of a merger between two support groups, The Circle of Friends and Cancer Support in 1985.

Because of the thought behind the volunteer support the Circle of Friends offers to patients, their families and services at the cancer center, the group is regarded as a moving force in keeping the mission of the cancer center alive in surrounding communities.

Public Notice

On July 1, 1991, Southwestern Bell Telephone filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas that proposes to delete Paragraph 3.4(G) from Section 3 of Southwestern Bell's intrastate Access Service Tariff, which concerns credits where a customer uses Switched Access Service to furnish a service which has been defined to be an exchange service. The application was assigned Docket No. 10463.

Because Southwestern Bell is not aware of any customers who presently use switched access service to furnish an exchange service, Southwestern Bell does not believe its revenues will be affected. However, certain interexchange carrier customers of switched access service have made claims under the aforementioned tariff. Such customers, but only to the extent they provide an exchange service using switched access, would be affected by this application. Based on claims made for credits (assuming such credits were allowable), Southwestern Bell's revenues would be affected by no more than $1,168,962 annually, which is .037 percent of the Company's adjusted revenue for the 12-month period ending December 31, 1990. It is not possible to know how many interexchange carriers might believe themselves entitled to credits, but 189 carriers have registered with the Commission pursuant to PUC Substantive Rule 23.61.

The tariff, after suspension, is proposed to be effective May 1, 1992.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible, but no later than November 15, 1991. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256. ## Herd's game-time changed; others canceled

The varsity football game between Hereford and Caprock scheduled for tonight will start at 6:30 p.m. at Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo, Herd coach Danny Haney said.

The game-time was moved up "so we don't have to travel so long in the dark," Haney said.

Two sub-varsity football games which were scheduled for today are canceled: the sophomore and freshmen Maroon teams. The varsity game is the only game involving a Hereford team which will be played today.

There are some other changes in Hereford's original football schedules concerning the last two weeks of the season, and they have nothing to do with the weather.

The junior varsity team will play at Randall Saturday at 10 a.m. The freshman White team will play at Borger, also Saturday at 10 a.m.

The JV's game against Borger originally scheduled for Nov. 7 has been canceled, and there is not a sophomore game scheduled for next week. Haney said he may still find games for those two teams.

One other change involving a high school team: the freshman Maroon team will host Plainview at 5 p.m. Nov. 5 in Whiteface Stadium. That game was originally scheduled for Nov. 7.

As for Hereford Junior High's football games, the only change will be that the games scheduled for Nov. 5 will start at 4 p.m.; instead of 5, coach James Salinas said, to avoid playing the "B" games in the dark. This move is pending availability of officials.

Other sporting events involving Hereford teams:

GOLF
Pitman Municipal Golf Course will host a fall golf tournament for boys Saturday, while the girls will play at Plainview Country Club.

Both will start at 9 a.m.

VOLLEYBALL
The Lady Whitefaces playoff match against Lamesa has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Nov. 5 in the Coronado High School gym in Lubbock.

CROSS COUNTRY
The cross country teams have their district meet Saturday. They'll run in Amarillo's Thompson Park starting at 10 a.m.

Harriers run for district

By JAY PEDEEN
Sports Editor

The Hereford girls' cross country team has been running third to Borger and Randall all season. The problem with that is that only two teams will advance to regionals from Saturday's district meet.

"I think they have a shot," Hereford coach Martha Emerson said. "If they do their best—or maybe a little bit better—we have a chance."

Emerson is close to choosing which girls will run Saturday. A cross country team runs seven girls, and Emerson has it narrowed down to eight: senior Jill Dutton; junior Veronica Hernandez; sophomore Andrea Chapa, Rita Soto, Belinda Murillo; and freshmen Ricka Williams, Gina Haschke and Nora Herrera.

Besides the top two teams, five individuals advance to the regional meet (Nov. 9 in Lubbock). Hereford's best chance is Ricka Williams, Emerson said, though Andrea Chapa also could go.

"(Williams) has beaten every girl in the district except two," Emerson said, adding that she was among the district's best finishers at the Spearman Meet two weeks ago. "She definitely has a chance."

The cold weather conditions this week are affecting training. The team's workout was canceled Wednesday, but Emerson said if they can't run by now, a few days won't make much difference. However, the cold may also affect the runners' performances Saturday.

"The weather conditions make a difference: who's tough enough to run in the cold? I hope we are."

Hereford's boys' team has not been as successful as the girls. In fact they have not even had a full team run at the last two meets. Their chances Saturday are not good.

"We're going to run a full team," Emerson said. "I'm not going to make any predictions, but we'll run a full team."

For the boys individually, the best hope is Jack Borden, who went to the regional meet last year and finished one place away from a trip to the state meet. However, this year's been hard on Borden, who has cramped up in a couple of races.

"He hasn't come along as well as I'd like," Emerson said. "He's got an outside shot of running in the top five, but he'll have to run his best race of the season. He did a pretty good job last week. He's feeling better, I think."

Saturday's meet will be at Thompson Park in Amarillo. The junior varsity teams run at 10 a.m., varsity girls run at 10:30 and boys run at 10:50.

Herd's Brown 4th on rushing list

When Hereford meets Caprock tonight at 6:30 in Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo, Herd fans will have the chance to see tailback Leo Brown plow through the snow up the charts and maybe into the record books.

Brown has the fourth-highest rushing total in Class 4A. His 1,276 yards puts him only 135 yards behind the leader, Michael Martin of Dallas White High School. Martin has 1,411 yards, Anthony Hubbard of Bastrop has 1,385 and Michael Ross of Carrizo Springs has 1,350. Pampa's Sammy Laury is tenth with 1,120 yards.

With at least two games left in the season, Brown is closing in on Hereford's single season rushing record set by Matt Bromlow in 1989. Bromlow ran for 1,550 in just nine games in 1990.

Brown already is fifth on the Hereford chart behind Bromlow, Wayne High (1,416 yards in 1981), James Harris (1,414 in 1973), Bromlow again (1,363 in 1990) and Mack Cansler (1,284 in 1961).

Brown appears to be on track to break Bromlow's record. He needs 284 yards against Caprock and Borger. If he just gets his average (159.5 yards per game) against District 1-4A's two weakest teams, he'll have it.

Brown's average over eight games is second only to Bromlow's in the 1989 season (172.2).

Johnson finds difference between college and pros

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Jimmy Johnson, who has a degree in psychology, thought he had motivation figured out when he left Miami for the NFL.

With the Hurricanes, he could give a rah-rah pep talk and get them motivated enough to win bowl games and a national championship.

Now, he believes motivation is even more important despite what he was told when he stepped up to coach the Dallas Cowboys.

"I was told you can't motivate the pros, they have to motivate themselves," Johnson said.

In three seasons, Johnson is the first to admit he originally misjudged the difference between handling college and pro players.

"In pro football, when you are dealing with fewer people," he began, "and when the difference between the bottom and the top is so much smaller than what it is in college, I think the attitude of the team in preparing for Sunday is more important here than it is in college."

Johnson said he had a lot more numbers to deal with at Miami and it helped him to quickly plug injury gaps or replace players not doing their jobs.

Johnson, last year's AP Coach of the Year, added: "Individual attention and stroking goes a long way in the NFL."

Johnson has learned the hard way in his three years in the NFL. He has a career coaching record of 13-27, including 1-15 the first year. Dallas was 7-9 last year and 5-3 this season.

"When you're deal with 120-130 players, and you can replace a slightly injured player, or one who's not playing up to par, and you can replace him just by snapping your fingers because you have a very talented team, well, they're going to have a great attitude," Johnson said. "And you're going to be able to win week after week."

Historic Win

NEW YORK (AP) - It could only happen in Brooklyn in the days when the Dodgers were the "Daffiness Boys."

In the fourth game of the 1947 World Series, at Ebbets Field, the Dodgers came to bat in the ninth inning, trailing the Yankees, 2-1. They had not made a hit but pitcher Floyd Bevens of the Yanks had dished out eight walks and one run. Nobody had ever pitched a series no-hitter.

With one out in the bottom of the ninth, Carl Furillo walked. The second out followed, and Al Giarriddo ran for Furillo. Al stole second. Pete Reiser, hobbled by a leg injury,

Not so in the NFL, Johnson was learned.

"The swings in momentum and the swings in attitude in pro football can make a team a playoff team one year and a team that has a difficult time in winning the next year," Johnson said.

Johnson said individual attention is needed in the pros.

"You try to find what turns him on," Johnson said, "or you come down hard if he doesn't prepare in the right way. Positive reinforcement seems to carry more weight than fear. I believe the combination approach is best."

came up as a pinch-batter and walked. It was intentional. Eddie Miksis ran for Reiser.

Pinch-hitter Cookie Lavagetto swung at Bevens' second pitch. A double rattled off the right field wall and two runs scored. The Dodgers won the game, 3-2, on just one hit.

Max Schmeling won the heavyweight championship in 1930, defeating Jack Sharkey on a foul in the fourth round.

Sonny Liston twice defeated Floyd Patterson in heavyweight championship bouts on first-round knockouts.

Burglars Do Windows

The advanced SX-V Security System stops burglars in their tracks. Miniaturized sensors guard doors and windows.

The system is monitored 24-hours-a-day. In case of break-in or fire, the SX-V sounds the alarm and emergency help is summoned.

It's effective, easy-to-operate and affordable.
It's also wireless, so it doesn't require costly, complicated installation.

SWC attendance on rise

DALLAS (AP) - A wild Southwest Conference football race may give Cotton Bowl executive vice-president Jim "Hoss" Brock heartburn, but it does wonders for attendance.

An SWC survey of attendance at the halfway mark through Oct. 26 shows the overall gate up 9.4 per cent compared to 1989 figures at the nine conference sites.

The conference said because of home-and-away series in alternate years, a better comparison resulted from comparing 1991 to 1989 rather than to 1990.

Rick Chryst, assistant SWC commissioner, said "We thought we'd get a more accurate barometer by using home attendance from two years ago. We've had a competitive race this year and that has helped."

Chryst said he thought the new SWC schedule helped attendance "by creating more variety. For 16 years, the schedule had been set in concrete. We think it helped by shaking things up a little."

He also said conference schools came up with a better schedule, helping the SWC to get more television dates this fall.

"We're pleased by all the extra television dates we got this year and we think the new schedule helped," Chryst said.

Chryst said he believes attendance will hold up through the rest of the season.

"We project an average of 42,000 fans per game, and that would put the year in the top five and our best since 1983," Chryst said.

Total SWC attendance through Oct. 26 was 717,745 compared to 656,020 a year ago, a change upward of 61,725.

Next year, Chryst said, he anticipates an even higher increase in attendance with a new and improved schedule minus the Arkansas Razorbacks who are opting for the Southeastern Conference. "We've got an extra week to play with next year," Chryst said. "The schedule this year was unanimously approved, but there will be some changes next year."

Baylor coach Grant Teaff complained to the SWC office about three open dates by foes before they played the Bears.

"We don't want to impact negatively on the integrity of the competition," Chryst said. "For the most part we've been pleased with the way things have gone."

Blockbuster Bowl goes for namesake

By RICK WARNER
AP Football Writer
Can the Blockbuster Bowl land the blockbuster game in college football? Probably not.

But long-shot odds may not prevent the year-old South Florida bowl from trying to get a national championship contest between Notre Dame and the Florida State-Miami winner.

"It's something we're considering, something we're exploring," said Keith Tribble, the bowl's executive director. "But it's too early to make a decision. A lot of things can happen between now and the day the bids go out."

However, Tribble said his bowl would consider boosting its payout and moving from Dec. 28 to Jan. 2 in order to get a title game at Joe Robbie Stadium.

"If we decide to enter the sweepstakes, we'll give it our best shot," he said.

For Tribble to win the sweepstakes, four things have to happen:

-The Blockbuster must increase its payout from $1.6 million per team to at least $2.5 million to compete with the Fiesta and Orange bowls, the current front-runners for a championship game. The Fiesta paid $2.3 million last year, while the Orange paid $4.2 million.

-The Blockbuster must get NCAA permission to move to Jan. 2, thus voiding the bowl overload on New Year's Day. It's the same strategy the Fiesta used to get a championship game in 1987 and 1989.

-Notre Dame must beat Navy, Tennessee and Penn State. That would give the Irish a 10-1 record and a Top 5 ranking when bowl bids are handed out on Nov. 17 - the day after No. 1 Florida State plays No. 2 Miami.

-Notre Dame and the Florida State-Miami winner must pick the Blockbuster over the Fiesta, which would be seeking the same matchup. And that's assuming that the Florida State-Miami winner wouldn't prefer to play the Big Eight champion for more money in the Orange Bowl.

That's a lot of ifs. Probably too many for the Blockbuster Bowl.

It's finally come to pass for Michigan, Penn State, Oklahoma and Georgia.

After years of sticking almost exclusively to the ground, the four traditional powers are learning to put the ball in the air.

Consider:

-Georgia's Eric Zeier threw for 302 yards against Kentucky last week. That's the highest passing total at Georgia since 1963, when Larry Rakestraw threw for 407 yards against Miami.

-Penn State is averaging more yards per game in the air (229) than on the ground (204), and Tony Sacca needs only 24 more yards to become the Lions' career leader in passing yardage.

-Michigan's Elvis Grbac set a school record for career touchdown passes (49) when he threw three against Minnesota last week. Grbac, the nation's No. 2 passer, has thrown 20 TD passes this season and is completing 67 percent of his attempts.

-Oklahoma's Cale Gundy is on track to break the school's single-season record for passing yards. If he keeps up his current pace, he will surpass the mark of 1,548 by Bob Warmack in 1968.

Ripken earns perfect ranking from Elias

NEW YORK (AP) - Cal Ripken is the perfect baseball player. Well, he is according to baseball's statistical rankings.

On Wednesday, Ripken became just the second player to achieve a perfect 100 score in the 11-year history of the Elias baseball rankings.

Ripken finished first in each of seven categories used to evaluate shortstops - plate appearances, batting average, on-base percentage, home runs, RBIs, fielding percentage and total chances - and joined Don Mattingly of the New York Yankees as the only players to achieve perfect scores.

The rankings, compiled by the Elias Sports Bureau, are based on statistics over two seasons. Mattingly got his perfect score for 1986 and 1987.

Ripken had a down year for the Baltimore Orioles in 1990, hitting .250 with 21 homers and 84 RBIs. He rebounded to hit .323 this season with 34 homers and 114 RBIs, and that was enough to give him the lead in every category among shortstops. He was sixth in the AL in batting average, third in homers and fourth in RBIs.

The rankings were created during the 1981 strike settlement in order to divide players in classes for free-agent compensation. They do not always follow perceptions.

For instance, Gregg Jefferies of the New York Mets is tied for 10th among NL second basemen, third basemen and shortstops, while teammate Howard Johnson was 15th despite leading the league with 38 homers and 117 RBIs.

Fred McGriff of the San Diego Padres, who hit .278 with 31 homers and 106 RBIs, is the NL's top first baseman while San Francisco's Will Clark was second despite a .301 average, 29 homers and 116 RBIs.

Chicago Cubs second baseman Ryne Sandberg had the second-highest ranking in baseball at 97.959. Cincinnati pitcher Jose Rijo was third at 96.667. Pittsburgh outfielder Barry Bonds was fourth at 95.714 and Boston pitcher Roger Clemens was fifth at 95.392.

Sandberg led NL second basemen for the eighth consecutive season while McGriff ended Clark's three-year reign at first. McGriff led AL first basemen last year, when he was with Toronto.

Chris Sabo of Cincinnati was the top NL third baseman, replacing Montreal's Tim Lincecum, and Barry Larkin of the Reds was first at shortstop for the second straight year.

Bonds was among the top three in the outfield for the second straight season while Pirates teammate Bobby Bonilla and Darryl Strawberry of Los Angeles replaced San Francisco's Kevin Mitchell and Atlanta's Lonnie Smith. Bonilla was the top NL third baseman in 1989.

Mike Scioscia of the Dodgers was the top NL catcher for the second straight year and Rijo replaced Pittsburgh's Doug Drabek as the NL's top starter. Rob Dibble of the Reds was the top NL reliever for the second straight year.

In the AL, Clemens replaced Oakland's Dave Stewart as the top starter while Dennis Eckersley of the Athletics was the top reliever and Carlton Fisk of the Chicago White Sox the top catcher, both for the fourth consecutive year.

Rafael Palmeiro of Texas replaced McGriff at first, while Julio Franco of the Rangers replaced Steve Sax of the New York Yankees at second. Franco was the top second baseman in 1989 and tied for first in 1988. Ripken, who replaced Detroit's Alan Trammell at shortstop, also led the position from 1984-87 and in 1989.

Boston's Wade Boggs was the top third baseman for the second straight season and the fourth time in five years.

Paul Molitor of Milwaukee was the top designated hitter. Last year, Dwight Evans of Boston and Dave Parker of Milwaukee tied as the top DH.

Three new players - Ken Griffey Jr. of Seattle, Danny Tartabull of Kansas City and Jose Canseco of Oakland - led AL outfielders. Last year, the top three were Mike Greenwell of Boston, Robin Yount of Milwaukee and Ruben Sierra of Texas. It was the third time in four years that Canseco was among the top three AL outfielders.

The top 30 percent in each grouping get an A ranking, the next 20 percent are ranked B and the group between 50 and 60 percent are ranked C. The ranking determines the draft picks given to a player's former team if he signs with a new club as a free agent.

Kelly named AL manager of year

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Even at the very end, Tom Kelly made all the right moves.

It was Kelly, the manager of Minnesota Twins, who sent Gene Larkin up as a pinch-hitter. And it was Kelly who gave Larkin the edge to drive in the biggest run of 1991 by keeping the player sharp all season.

"I got almost 300 at-bats and I wasn't an everyday player," Larkin said after his bases-loaded single beat the Atlanta Braves 1-0 in Game 7 of the World Series. "T.K. does a great job of using everybody."

For that - and for guiding the Twins from last place in 1990 to the AL West championship in 1991 - Kelly on Wednesday was named American League Manager of the Year.

The Twins' victory over the Braves enabled Kelly to join Boston's Bill Carrigan and Pittsburgh's Danny Murtaugh on the list of those who have managed in two World Series without a defeat. The Twins also won the title in 1987, Kelly's first season.

The Twins were 74-88 in 1990, last in the AL West. At Kelly's urging, they pursued free agents Jack Morris, Mike Pagliarulo and Chili Davis. After a 2-9 start that led to speculation the manager would be fired, the Twins had the majors' best record over the last 151 games.

Kelly said 1991 was more satisfying than 1987 because he was allowed to have more say about the club's makeup.

"I don't want to sound like I'm blowing my own horn, but I wanted (batting coach Terry) Crowley. I wanted Pagliarulo. I made a big push to get Chili and I campaigned for Jack," Kelly said.

"When the owner says, 'If you get Morris, you've got to guarantee me first, second or third,' what you're doing as a manager is putting your guts right up there on the table. Now, you've got to win."

Kelly's Twins responded. Their 95-67 record was the fourth-best in club history.

Kelly received 27 of a possible 28 first-place votes in balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America and finished with 138 points. Detroit manager Sparky Anderson, who received the other first-place vote, was second with 50 points. Toronto's Cito Gaston was third with 17.

Jim Lefebvre, Joe Morgan and Stump Merrill, all fired, were among a record 10 managers to receive votes. Lefebvre and Morgan tied for fourth with 16 points.

Voting is done at the end of the regular season by two baseball reporters from each AL city.

Minnesota defeated Toronto in five games in the AL playoffs before beating the Braves, who went from last to first in the NL. On Tuesday, Atlanta's Bobby Cox was named the NL's top manager by the BBWAA.

Asked before the Series what had impressed him about the Braves, Kelly cracked: "Going from last to first. That hasn't been done since we did it."

The Twins are the only team to go from worst to World Series winners.

Kelly's career record, 437-396 (.525), is second only to Sam Mele (522-431, .548) among Twins managers with more than 150 victories.

Near the end of the season general manager Andy MacPhail gave Kelly a two-year contract extension.

"First he does me with a two-bagger and he says there just ain't any threes. And he ain't lying," Kelly said. "Then, bingo-bango, he does a three for himself. Talk about pulling the wool over your eyes."

NBA openers to miss big stars

By The Associated Press

Based on his final exhibition game, Michael Jordan is ready to play. However, many of the NBA's other big names won't be when the league opens its new season on Friday night.

Magic Johnson, Bernard King and Kevin McHale will be among those missing because of illness or injury and two of the top three draft picks - Kenny Anderson and Billy Owens - remain holdouts.

Jordan, himself, may need surgery on his left knee after this season because of recurring tendinitis, according to reports. But the injured knee won't stop him as he leads the NBA champion Chicago Bulls in their season opener against Philadelphia.

"It should have no effect on his play and he probably should not even have pain when he plays," Bulls managing partner Jerry Reinsdorf said. "But there could be some pain when he doesn't play and it stiffens up. It's not major, and something Michael will deal with."

The injured knee seemed to have no effect in the final preseason game against Miami on Tuesday night, when Jordan scored 21 points in 28 minutes as the Bulls beat the Heat 124-118.

The NBA opens the 1991-92 season on Friday with 12 games involving all but three teams - New Jersey, Miami and Atlanta.

Along with the Chicago-Philadelphia game, it's Charlotte at Boston, New York at Orlando, Washington at Indiana, Milwaukee at Detroit, Utah at Minnesota, the Los Angeles Lakers at Houston, Dallas at San Antonio, Golden State at Denver, Cleveland at Portland, the Los Angeles Clippers at Sacramento and Phoenix at Seattle.

On Saturday, New Jersey opens at Charlotte, Atlanta is home to Detroit and Miami is home to New York.

Because of the flu, Johnson will probably miss the Lakers' first two games - at Houston on Friday and Dallas on Saturday.

"Magic is suffering from dehydration and fatigue caused by an influenza virus," Lakers' spokesman John Black said. "He definitely won't practice all week."

King, 34, underwent arthroscopic surgery on Sept. 6 to repair torn cartilage in his right knee and is recovering more slowly than expected. Although he's been lifting weights with his right leg, he has yet to start running on it and there is no timetable for his return to the Washington Bullets.

McHale, recovering from foot surgery, remained out of the lineup and so did point guard Brian Shaw, who has hamstring and other injuries. Then Dee Brown, Shaw's replacement, tore cartilage in his left knee in practice Tuesday and underwent arthroscopic surgery.

"It is an unfortunate setback," coach Chris Ford said of the injury to Brown, the league's slam-dunk champion. "Dee is an integral part of this team."

Meanwhile, the Celtics have a healthy Larry Bird, who also signed a contract extension, and a newly signed Kevin Gamble.

Wednesday's major developments featured a couple of signings, including the expected deal between the Charlotte Hornets and No. 1 draft pick Larry Johnson of UNLV.

Johnson's agreement with Charlotte ended one holdout, but Anderson, the second overall pick, is still at odds with the Nets and Owens, No. 3, has no contract with Sacramento. Four other top 10 picks also remained unsigned - Doug Smith of Dallas, No. 6; Luc Longley of Minnesota, No. 7; Mark Macon of Denver, No. 8, and Brian Williams of Orlando, No. 10.

Martin overcomes mother's death to lead 4A

By DWAIN PRICE
Dallas Times Herald
DALLAS (AP) - Michael Martin prefers not to discuss it. For the W.T. White tailback, the pain is as evident today as it was a decade ago.

Ten years ago, Martin's mother made a trip to Houston. She never made it back to Dallas alive.

At the time, Martin was 7 years old, and his sister, Elenora, was 5. The case went unsolved.

"The only thing we know is she got in a fight (in Houston) and she got stabbed," Martin's grandmother, Josephine Martin, said. "We don't know who did it."

"(The police) traced it for about two months trying to find out, but that was about it. They don't know who did it, they don't know why, they don't know anything." Martin and his sister are being raised by their grandmother. She keeps close tabs on them, making sure they walk the straight and narrow path.

Martin says it has been tough growing up. But his ability to carry a football unlike many others could carry him a long way.

After gaining 224 yards Saturday against Woodrow Wilson, Martin leads the state in Class 4A in rushing with 1,411 yards. He hopes to one day parlay his success on the football field into a college scholarship.

"I'm trying to make it as a success so I can give my grandmother everything she ever wanted and she can be proud of me," the 6-2, 185-pound junior said. "She told me if I don't get a scholarship she might not be able to pay my way to college."

W.T. White coach Billy Chapman said if Martin keeps his present pace, he probably will be able to name whatever school he wants to attend. In addition to his athletic prowess, he is a B student.

"He's a good young man, he's quiet and he's dependable," Chapman said. "We're not a passing team, but he's one of the best receivers I've ever had."

With two games left, Martin is 84 yards shy of the school record for yards rushing during the regular season. Darrell White set the record last year with 1,495 yards. White also owns the overall school record.

Including last season's three playoff games, he rushed for 1,965 yards.

Martin has three 200-yard games this season to his credit. Besides Woodrow Wilson, he rushed for 206 yards against Bishop Lynch and 262 against Pinkston.

"He's a good kid and a good strong running back," Pinkston coach L.T. Thomas said. "He should have a good future."

The soft-spoken Martin always takes time out to compliment the blocking he receives. Fullback Shun McCauley and the linemen - tackles Clint Rapp and Kevin Sheppard, guards Alex Harkins and Ryan Kricken, center Brian Patton - appreciate his humbleness.

"Michael is kind of a modest guy," Harkins said. "With him, it's not like you're blocking for someone who's just out looking to make a name for themselves. He's getting yards, but he's doing it for the team. He's not looking for the glory for himself."

Martin opened the season by rushing for 158 yards against Mesquite Potect. That prompted Potect coach Bill Taylor to say:

"I feel like he's one of the better running backs that we played this year. He's got pretty good strength, leg drive, good quickness and speed. We felt like he was one of the people we felt like we had to stop, but we didn't do it."

Should the Longhorns travel deep into the playoffs, Martin could compile 2,000 yards rushing. Coming into the season, his goal was to rush for 1,000 yards.

In the bigger picture, he would like to help his family.

"It's real tough (growing up)," he said. "It's just my grandmother and I and my little sister, and she has a hard time paying bills."

"But if I keep out of trouble and don't get with the wrong crowd, I'll be all right. I stay in the house most of the time to stay away from trouble."

Top 4A team Bastrop stripped of two wins

LOCKHART, Texas (AP) - Bastrop, the top-ranked football team in Class 4A, may not make the playoffs because of an ineligible player.

The executive committee of District 26-4A voted unanimously Wednesday to strip Bastrop of two victories, dropping its record to 6-2.

The top two teams in the district qualify for post-season play, and changing the two victories to losses drops the Bears to 1-2, two games behind Lockhart and Schertz Clemens, both of whom are 3-0.

Barring a reversal in the ruling, Lockhart is now assured of a berth in the playoffs, and Clemens will wrap up a spot by winning either of its last two regular-season games.

However, Clemens' last two games are its two toughest of the year. The Buffaloes are at Bastrop Friday night and at home against Lockhart on Nov. 8. If Clemens loses both and Bastrop beats New Braunfels Canyon in its final game, Bastrop and Clemens would finish with identical 3-2 district records and Bastrop would go into the playoffs because of its victory over Clemens.

B.J. Stamps, assistant to University Interscholastic League director Bailey Marshall, told committee members that a 2-day investigation by the Texas Education Agency concluded that an algebra teacher changed the player's grade from failing to passing.

Bastrop head football coach Les Johnson declined to identify the player. He said the player is a running back who substituted on alternate plays.

The player was failing an elective algebra class he did not need to graduate, said Bastrop principal James Richardson. The teacher changed the grade after it was decided that the class was too difficult for the student, he said.

"Our contention is that the teacher is in control of grades," Richardson said. "We don't try to regulate why teachers give the grades they give. It's a common practice for teachers to give students the grade they think they are worthy of. I support the teacher."

According to the state's no-pass, no-play law, any student who fails a class is ineligible for all extracurricular activities for six weeks.

"I feel like we've done nothing wrong," Bastrop coach Les Johnson said. "Our principals and our administration have done everything they feel is correct. We didn't know we were breaking any rules. I still feel there was not a rule broken."

Bastrop superintendent Paul Fleming appealed the decision to TEA Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno, who is expected to rule on the case by late next week.

"Two weeks from now the district winner must be certified," Stamps said. "This thing needs to be settled by that time. The committee settled it today by ruling that the two games were forfeited. The only thing that would change that is if the commissioner overrules his staff."

West Orange-Stark coach suspended

ORANGE, Texas (AP) - West Orange-Stark coach Dan Hooks, accused of verbally abusing two referees, will be sidelined until the playoffs.

Hooks was suspended Wednesday for the rest of the regular season, but will be allowed to conduct practices sessions and return when the 6-2 Mustangs take part in the playoffs.

Defensive coordinator Cornel Thompson will coach the team in its games against Port Arthur Lincoln and Nederland, officials said.

The University Interscholastic League Executive Committee, which reprimanded Hooks in 1989 for abusing officials during a game against Bridge City, will review the district's investigation at a Nov. 12 meeting, officials said.

West Orange Cove Consolidated School District officials were notified by the UIL last week that two referees had lodged a complaint against Hooks.

Orange-Stark's Oct. 11 game against Port Neches-Groves, said Hooks verbally abused them at halftime and after the game.

"The investigation has revealed that coach Hooks did in fact confront the officials during both the halftime and post-game period," school superintendent Glen Neswick said Wednesday in a prepared statement. "The investigation also concluded that the actions ... did constitute verbal abuse."

DPS warns drivers of winter hazards

The Texas Department of Public Safety wants to remind motorists that the winter season is fast approaching and it is once again time to repair out vehicle and especially the driver for one of the most dangerous times ahead, winter driving.

Major V.J. Cawthon, Regional Commander for the Texas Department of Public Safety in Lubbock, said, "Winter driving can be very dangerous. Drivers are faced with many more dangers than they usually have during the rest of the year, such as driving on icy or snow packed highways, freezing temperatures, freezing rain, sleet, all creating dangerous conditions for the driver."

The most important safety tip for driving in the winter time when the streets are slick is to remember to slow down. Remember, it can easily take from two to three times longer to stop compared to when the roads are dry.

When temperatures drop below the freezing point, drivers must remember to scrape the frost and ice from all windows before driving, to keep your headlights clean of mud and snow, an above all keep plenty of windshield washer anti-freeze mixture in the window washers for those unexpected "splashes" from other cars.

Major Cawthon also stated that when driving during adverse weather conditions to allow plenty of time and to start your trip a little early because there is no way to make up time on the streets and highways.

If you are driving a four-wheel drive vehicle, remember you may be able to start off better and the steering may seem little better, but it takes just as long to stop a four-wheel drive as it take to stop a two-wheel drive.

By using a little more caution and more defensive driving, you can make winter driving a lot safer.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently I received notices from two magazine companies indicating that they were sending a collection agency after me for not paying my subscription fees. In one case I had never subscribed to the magazine, and in the other I had decided not to renew my subscription. Needless to say, I was somewhat startled by these notices.

It's important to me to keep my credit record spotless and I found those collection notices nasty as well as unnerving. I wonder how many people similarly plagued decided to pay for unwanted subscriptions rather than tangle with a collection agency?

I would appreciate a comment from you on the validity of the threats. Here is what one of the notices said: "URGENT: FINAL NOTICE: Issues -5. Amount $12.95. Date Due: June 27, 1991"

"Our records indicate that you have not paid for your subscription to this magazine, despite four previous bills."

"Because of your non-payment, the Circulation Department has turned your name over to me. We want to avoid taking further action. However, your credit rating is in jeopardy. We must receive your payment within 15 days to clear your account."

"Send your payment (in U.S. funds) along with the top portion of this statement, in the enclosed envelope today. Don't delay any longer."

"Thank you for your immediate response.--D.P., Collection Officer"
What do you think, Ann?--R.A.B., Marthasville, Mo.

DEAR MO: According to Paul M. Griffo, a spokesman for the Postal Inspection Service, billing a consumer for a product or service he has not ordered is a flagrant violation of the mail fraud statute. Mr. Griffo suggested that you write and tell this company that you never ordered this magazine. Insist they notify you by mail that you owe them nothing or you will inform the Postal Inspection Service of this false billing scheme. I urge you to follow through.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you ran a letter from a mother asking people not to give her drug-addicted daughter money. These days when so many people are asking friends and family or even total strangers for help, I'd like to offer some suggestions on how to prevent rip-offs.

If the request is for bail, ask for the specifics and call the police station to check it out. If it's for money to fix a stalled or broken car, call the garage.

Of course, not all stories can be verified, but just asking for information may cause the fraudulent borrower to change his or her mind.

I've suggested, in my financial column, that in order to make sure the request is legitimate, one should always ask, "May I tape our conversation?" It works like a charm. An unscrupulous caller will hang up immediately.

This technique works even better in person. I've saved myself from having to listen to hundreds of hours of such pitches by using this simple technique. Please pass it on, Ann.--Susan Bondy, Bondy Financial Services Corp., Traverse City, Mich.

DEAR SUSAN: Thanks for some practical suggestions. Are you listening out there? Miss Bondy is right on.

Gem of the Day: When burlesque was in its heyday, a clever theater manager packed the house by posting the following sign out front:
50 Beautiful Girls
45 Gorgeous Costumes.
An Alcohol problem? How can you help yourself or someone you love? "Alcoholism: How to Recognize It, How to Deal With It, How to Conquer It" will give you the answers. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling): to: Alcohol, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. ## Group requests donations

As the time for giving approaches, the Golden Spread Foster Parents Association (G.S.F.P.A.), a non-profit organization for foster parents throughout the Deaf Smith, Castro, Oldham and Palmer counties, requests donation for the purchase of clothing, toys and other stocking stuffers.

Gifts or donations will be greatly appreciated as they bring happiness to those children separated from their families this Christmas.

An individual may also sponsor a child as foster homes are in need. Donations may be sent to G.S.F.P.A., P.O. Box 645, Hereford, TX 79045 or may be deposited directly at the Hereford State Bank.

For more information concerning the organization contact Dee Hernandez at 364-8527.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have osteoporosis and the pain is very bad. It is across my shoulder blades. A hump is starting to form. I get five injections of Calcimar a week. I wonder if there is anything that can be done to help. The pain is so bad. Are there any exercises I should be doing?

DEAR READER: If you are starting to have changes in the spine, and developing the hump between the shoulders—so common with osteoporosis, you may have pressure on spinal nerves that causes the pain. That is especially likely if any of the vertebrae have fractured. As the vertebrae degenerate from loss of calcium, the weak vertebrae fracture easily or just crumble. They have been known to fracture simply from someone stepping off the curb.

That is why I do not recommend exercises to people with osteoporosis without the help of a physical-therapy program to design a proper regimen. Lifting anything heavy may cause a fractured vertebra. But exercise is a useful part of a program to help prevent osteoporosis and also to arrest it. However, it must be designed to help and not harm.

Of course, you need a proper diet with an adequate intake of calcium. Since I have no other information about you, I can't say whether you should be on estrogen or not. But in most cases, when it is possible to use estrogen replacement, it is important.

Calcimar (calcitonin) is a useful medicine, particularly the new synthetic form. There is also a nasal spray preparation that is absorbed from the lining of the nose and may be useful. Otherwise the medicine has to be taken by injection.

There are other important considerations in preventing and treating osteoporosis which I have discussed in Special Report 98, Understanding Osteoporosis (Dissolving Bones), which I am sending you. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/98, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077.

Your doctor may want to try etidronate (Didronel), a new medicine to treat osteoporosis that is not a hormone, discussed in the report I'm sending you. You may need medicines to control pain while the status of your vertebrae is settling down, even though these do not stop the osteoporosis.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have an allergy to milk products and have little or no calcium in my diet. Since I am in my mid 20s, I am concerned about developing osteoporosis later in life and would like to take a calcium supplement. Unfortunately, I had a calcium kidney stone and X-rays revealed additional stones that may pose a problem in the future. My physician recommended that I discontinue my daily vitamin supplement—which contained only 30 percent of the RDA for calcium—and limit my milk consumption, which was nearly non-existent anyway.

Now what do I do? Is there a calcium supplement on the market I could take without any significant risk to my kidneys?

DEAR READER: Limiting your calcium intake below your RDA requirement is not likely to help prevent kidney stones. Rather, it may increase the loss of calcium from your bones to maintain your blood-calcium level. Calcium kidney stones are related to your blood-calcium level, and in turn the calcium level in your urine. You need a complete evaluation as to why you are a stone-former, whether it is related to an excess of parathyroid hormone or other factors.

No, there are no calcium supplements to solve the problem. Calcium is calcium regardless of which food or supplement it is in. If you have lactose intolerance rather than a milk allergy, you might be able to use Lactaid so you could use milk.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Hints from Heloise

HALLOWEEN

Dear Heloise: With Halloween here, I want to pass along a neat goodie idea. Last year I discovered this while inspecting the children's treats. One of my neighbors had pasted return-address labels on the treats she had given out. I then knew from whom the treat had come.

This sure helped me find peace of mind, since I at least knew those treats re safe. I think concerned treat-givers should consider doing this. — Nancy Piatkowski, Howell, N.J.

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, P.O. Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

HINTS FOR A HEALTHY PLANET

Dear Heloise: Thanks to you and your book "Hints for a Healthy Planet."

I won a first-place ribbon in recycling at the county fair. I made a beach bag from six-pack plastic rings and tied them together with the nylon newspaper ties. Thank you for the inspiration. I am thrilled! — Kathleen Larson, Garden Grove, Calif.

Congratulations on your prize! Keep recycling, and good luck. — Heloise SOUND OFF

Dear Heloise: My sound off is about those plastic soda bottles with bumps on the bottom. They're unsteady and they fall over in the refrigerator. — Janet McGuire, Arkadelphia, Ark.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.28	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO change, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

If We Ran This Ad On Radio, You'd Only Have 30 Seconds To Hear It.

Now you'd only have 25 seconds,
and you wouldn't be able to go back and look at the opening line or pause (19...18...17...) to consider its significance. You wouldn't be able to spend a lot of time with this advertisement and it wouldn't be able to spend a lot of time with you. In fact, if we tried to say just this much in a 30-second radio advertisement, throwing in only a brief mention that newspapers offer coupons, give you great flexibility of size, and can leave a lasting impression on your customers, we'd run out of....

The Hereford Brand

"We reach thousands everyday."

Come by and see us for your next advertisement at 313 N. Lee reach

2.4 million
Texans
for only $250

Now you can run your classified ad in newspapers all across Texas for $250.

That's right—a 25 word ad costs only $250 to run in 225 newspapers with a combined circulation of more than one million (that's 2.4 million readers)
throughout the Lone Star State.

One call to this newspaper, that's all.
We'll place your ad in 225 newspapers.
All you have to do is get ready for results.

This new sales opportunity is brought to

WHEN YOU HAVE SOMETHING TO SELL, NEWSPAPER SELLS IT BEST.

No matter what it is you're selling, newspaper can sell it best.
You can show it. Describe it.
Explain it. Compare it. Offer a coupon for it. And cover your entire marketplace for it. All in one day.
And for a lot less than radio and TV.

And the unique thing about newspaper is that it adds credibility to your message.
People believe it when they read it in the paper.
Maybe that's why retailers use newspaper more than any other medium?

Newspaper. It delivers.

There is a direct proof of the existence of at least 100 billion stars...and we're still counting.
