SNOW?

Freezing temperatures today prelude to precipitation tonight

The region experienced its first hard freeze of the season today, with more cold temperatures and a chance for snow expected through Friday.

A cold front came through the region late Monday. After a high Monday of 63, temperatures aren't expected to get out of the 40s before Saturday.

The front was preceded by a storm system on Sunday night that officially dropped .52 of an inch of rain in Hereford. Reports around the county ranged from a quarter-inch or less in some places to over an inch in others.

This morning's low in Hereford, recorded at KPAN, was 23 degrees, the first sub-freezing temperature of the season. More freezing temperatures can be expected the next four nights, according to the National Weather Service Forecast.

There's also a chance for snow through Friday, according to the official forecast. There is a 20 percent chance for light snow after midnight tonight, and a 30 percent chance for light snow with highs in the middle 30s on Wednesday. The extended forecast calls for chilly weather and a chance for rain and snow on Thursday and Friday.

County examines computer system

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Several Deaf Smith County officials agree that the present computer system they use is inadequate, but county commissioners made no progress Monday on a decision to remedy the situation.

Commissioners, meeting in regular session, asked County Clerk David Ruland to obtain more estimates on costs of converting from the present IBM 36 to an IBM AS400.

A lease-purchase of the computer would cost about $12,876 per year, Ruland said, not including programs for the offices using the computer system.

Several weeks ago, Ruland reported on efforts to obtain more storage in the present system. He told the court that the solution apparently would be installation of a computer with more capacity.

District Clerk Lola Faye Veazey, Justice of the Peace Johnnie Turrentine and Treasurer Vesta Mae Nunley discussed their problems with the system now in use.

The officials who enter data in the computer system agreed that the problems they have is with software. "We can't get help from Thompson Data when we need it . . . he won't return calls sometimes," said Mrs. Nunley.

The programs used by the treasurer, district clerk and justice of the peace originally were purchased from an Austin firm. Later, a Brownwood company, Thompson Data Systems, acquired rights to the programs.

If programs now in use can be converted to the new system, Ruland estimated an expense of $6,600 per year for software support.

Ruland has worked with a computer consultant, Jim Watts of Abilene, on solving the county's computer problems. Watts, according to Ruland, recommended a new system and locating a software firm or individual who could provide support on the programs. Another recommendation is to designate a system operator. A change in cabling also has been suggested by the consultant.

Commissioners asked Ruland to report on whether present programs may be maintained and on cost of new programs.

In other business, commissioners: -- Sold two items of equipment, a lathe and a drill press, to Glen Boozer who bid a total of $6,513.

-- Agreed to advertise for bids to dispose of a garage building on property purchased for juvenile department offices.

-- Authorized advertising for bids for purchase of a coin-operated copier for use at Deaf Smith County Library.

-- Voted to delete delinquent tax accounts more than 20 years old from rolls.

-- Delayed discussion of office space in the courthouse until all commissioners could be present. John Stribling, Precinct One, was unable to attend Monday's session.

Sunday balloting raises early total

Early voting in Deaf Smith County in the Nov. 5 Constitutional Amendment election got a boost when 134 voters took advantage of special Sunday hours to cast their ballots.

Total number of early voters in the office of County Clerk David Ruland stood at 339 Tuesday morning.

Ruland expressed some surprise at the turnout on Sunday, although he noted that the numbers "made it very worthwhile to be open."

Early voting in the election which gives Texans a voice on 13 proposed amendments to the state's Constitution will continue through Friday at 5 p.m.

The county clerk's office opens at 8 a.m. and staff members are on duty during the noon hour to accommodate voters.

The four-hour Sunday voting was requested in a petition filed by opponents of Proposition 11 on the ballot, the controversial state lottery issue.

On election day, polls will be open 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Pickens wins contest

Buddy Pickens missed five games and was just closer on the Hereford-Dumas tie-breaker game to win first place in last week's Hereford Brand Football Contest.

Pickens will receive $25 in Hereford Bucks for his first-place effort.

Taking second place, also missing five game, was Wayne Amstutz of Hereford. Amstutz will get $15 in Hereford Bucks.

Greg Melugin was closest to the actual score on the tie-breaker to take third place in the contest and pick up $10 in Hereford Bucks. Also missing six games were Dorothy Collier, Jill Odell, Gary Long, Donna Weaver and Michael Cano. Another 17 entrants missed seven games.

This week's contest games appear in today's Brand.

Band earns '1' at district

Hereford High School's Mighty Maroon Band earned a first division rating and qualified for regional competition at the District Marching Contest held last Saturday at Bulldog Stadium in Borger.

The HHS Band will be the last of eight Class 4A bands to compete at the regional contest. The Mighty Maroon Band will perform at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Jones Stadium in Lubbock.

Also participating in the contest will be Borger, Dumas, Snyder, Lamesa, Big Spring, Monahans and Pecos. Two other bands from District 1-4A, Pampa and Randall, qualified for the contest but opted not to participate past the district contest.

Two bands will be chosen from the field to go the State Marching Contest in Austin on Nov. 11.

Because of the small number (19) of Class 4A schools in the region, officials had determined that all bands earning a "1" would qualify for the regional contest.

The Hereford band performed next-to-last at the district contest Saturday, following Pampa, Borger, Randall and Caprock. Dumas marched after Hereford, and all but Caprock received a "1" (Caprock received a "2").

Judges were impressed with the overwhelming size of the Hereford band (the largest in any class at the district contest) and its quality sound. The band performed its show, "The Magic of Andrew Lloyd Webber," featuring music from several of Webber's musicals. The selections included "Superstar," "Memories," "Don't Cry For Me, Argentina," "Music of the Night" and "Phantom of the Opera."

Israel not deterred by attack

MADRID, Spain (AP) - Israel said a deadly ambush today of its soldiers in southern Lebanon would not deter it from talking peace in Madrid, while the Palestinians spelled out their demand for an independent state.

A bomb killed three Israeli soldiers and wounded six in Israel's self-designated "security zone." On Monday, terrorists killed two Jewish settlers and wounded six in an attack on a bus in the occupied West Bank.

Groups opposed to Arab negotiations with the Jewish state claimed responsibility for both attacks.

The peace conference opens Wednesday, and the Middle East delegations will lay out their positions the next day.

"We are still committed to talking peace with whoever has peaceful intentions toward us. These incidents are an attempt to derail prospects" for progress, Israeli government spokesman Yossi Olmert said in Madrid.

The second-largest PLO faction, the Syria-based Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, claimed responsibility for Monday's bus attack.

The Iranian-backed Shiite Muslim group Hezbollah, or Party of God, claimed responsibility for the southern Lebanon bombing in a statement issued in Lebanon's southern port of Tyre.

Gunmen also wounded five Israeli soldiers in a separate area of the security zone today, the army said. No group claimed responsibility.

Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev arrived late Monday and President Bush arrived today to lend moral and political support to the sensitive negotiations. Their countries are co-sponsoring the talks.

The leaders were to meet today for a mini-summit, whose quiet convening reflects the vast post-Cold War changes that have helped bring Israel and its Arab enemies to the bargaining table.

Traffic in the Spanish capital was chaotic as police and anti-terrorist squads, part of a 12,000-strong security deployment, blocked off streets to clear the way for VIP motorcades.

Both leaders also were to meet Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir, who arrived this morning.

Meanwhile, Faisal Husseini, leader of a group advising the Palestinian delegation, said today that they hope to secure an agreement for autonomy leading to an independent Palestinian state.

TV boycott underway today

NEW YORK (AP) - At last report, there were 14,000 U.S. homes with two kinds of Nielsen meters, 4,000 activated by viewers, the rest passive devices. Each records what viewers are watching, resulting in ratings.

But what if all the meters said nobody was watching for 24 hours?

Vicki Riley doesn't think it is likely. Neither do TV industry officials. But she's still urging a national Turn Off TV Day, a 24-hour festival of darkened screens today.

It will signal the industry, she says, that viewers are "tired of the constant bombardment" of sex chatter on talk shows, violence on TV and programs she feels go against traditional family values.

"There's a lot of good television - I want to stress that," says Riley, head of a small, two-year-old activist group, Concerned Viewers for Quality Television, based in Wilmington, Del.

"We're not urging the elimination of the television medium. Because that's not the problem. It's the misuse of the medium by program decision-makers that we're concerned with."

There are those who would disagree, notably the Network Television Association, founded last year by CBS, NBC and ABC.

It says the networks have the strictest standards in the industry for programs and that most viewers find network shows to be "widely acceptable." It has strongly urged advertisers not to give in to boycott threats.

Its president, Peter Christanthopoulos, also argues that freedom of viewer choice is important, and "that people want that decision to themselves."

The National Cable Television Association hasn't been as emphatic, but insists that cable's wares are quality goods, not schlock.

"It would be unfortunate for viewers to tune out cable for even one day, because cable consistently offers quality programming," says NCTA spokeswoman Eileen Murphy.

Riley's homegrown campaign has drawn support from several other groups who've made similar complaints about TV over the years. They include the Mississippi-based American Family Association. Its head, the Rev. Donald Wildmon, has been assailing TV content since the days of Archie Bunker.

Another ally: Americans for Responsible Television. Its president, Terry Rakolta, of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., made headlines several years ago by getting some advertisers to withdraw from programs - including Fox's "Married... With Children" - that she found offensive.

But the NTA and David Poltrack, CBS' senior research vice president, say that calls for TV boycotts generally don't have much impact.

And, Poltrack notes, "there are people who feel passionately on the other side, too. There are First Amendment advocates who believe there should not be censorship, and they're against these types of things."

Riley, a housewife who on Labor Day gave birth to her third daughter, thinks millions of viewers - she had no specific guess - will heed her call for a national day of tune-out.

Not so NTA's Christanthopoulos. Last month, at a convention in Philadelphia of public relations officials, he debated her about her campaign.

He forecast that it will have no effect on viewership levels, "that viewing will be as high as the week before (on Tuesday) or even the year before," he said. He still holds to that prediction.

Environmental job could take years

KUWAIT CITY (AP) - As the firefighters dousing Kuwait's blazing oilfields near the end of their mission, the states of the Persian Gulf face the daunting task of restoring their damaged environment. The job could take years.

Environmentalists want action while one of the worst man-made environmental disasters in history is still headline news.

"Once the well fires are extinguished, the perception of the crisis will diminish rapidly, the international memory of the incident will quickly fade," said Richard Golob, an oil pollution control expert based in Cambridge, Mass.

"The wells serve as a reminder that Kuwait and the gulf region have suffered an unprecedented environmental catastrophe."

Iraqi troops let loose the world's biggest oil slick, estimated at 4 million barrels, and set ablaze or damaged 732 oil wells before they were forced from Kuwait in February.

As of Sunday, 28 wells had yet to be brought under control as the black cloud covering Kuwait gradually thinned to reveal blue skies for the first time in months.

Twenty-seven firefighting teams from the United States, Canada, Britain, China, Iran, France and elsewhere are preparing to head home. The last well fire is expected to be snuffed in early November.

Much the fragile ecology of Kuwait's desert has been devastated, however, and a thick coating of crude smears about 400 miles of Saudi Arabia's coastline.

"Kuwait won't be back to normal for decades," said Paul Horsman, gulf coordinator of the London-Based Greenpeace environmental protection group.

The oil slick and pollution killed thousands of birds and destroyed desert vegetation, mammals and reptiles. Fishing grounds, a key part of the gulf's ecology and major food source, have been ravaged.

Thick clouds of acrid, sulphurous smoke from the oil fires, carrying large amounts of pollutants, shrouded parts of Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and Bahrain for months. The fires spewed about 2.5 billion cubic feet of smoke into the atmosphere, officials said.

"Both here and in the United States, there seems to be deliberate efforts to cover up the real environmental consequences of the war," Horsman said.

Thousands of mines and unexploded ordnance from the Persian Gulf war remain in the sand, a constant danger to environmental teams.

Saudi Arabia this month allocated $450 million to clean its polluted shores, but has not launched a major effort.

Environmentalists say the main reason for the delay is the lack of significant world or regional funding for the cleanup, which is expected to cost billions.

Golob said the International Maritime Organization has been able to collect only $6 million for a special fund for oil spill-related projects. The U.N. Environment Program was able to raise only $2.6 million for the first phase of a regional rehabilitation program.

Golob said members of the U.S.-led coalition that liberated Kuwait should reunite to help resolve its environmental crisis.

Meanwhile, thousands of birds coming from northern Asia and northern Europe to winter in the gulf have perished in the oil lakes in the spring migration, said Charles Pilcher, a Kuwait-based wildlife researcher.

Pilcher said the birds mistook oil lakes for water and were trapped when they came down to drink.

Candidates courting reform vote

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) - Dogged by a past tinged with scandal, former Gov. Edwin Edwards is openly dealing for the votes that went to defeated reform Gov. Buddy Roemer in the primary.

He's counting on compromise, as well as Republican opponent David Duke's even more controversial past as a Nazi sympathizer and Ku Klux Klan leader, to help him win.

Edwards, a Democrat, has gone so far as to promise a job to former investigative reporter Bill Lynch, installed by Roemer as an anti-corruption watchdog with the title of inspector general. As a reporter, Lynch was a thorn in Edwards' side during the 1970s and '80s.

Edwards also promised last week that he won't arbitrarily dismantle Roemer reforms such as teacher evaluation, a beefed-up environmental enforcement agency and a rule that keeps dredges from scraping layers of mineral-rich clamshells from the bottom of environmentally ailing Lake Pontchartrain.

During the primary campaign, Edwards accused the environmental department of running roughshod over business, backed away from the dredging ban and vowed to fire Lynch.

"If that doesn't convince you I want to win," Edwards said of the job offer, "nothing will convince you."

Duke, confident he has overcome the image of the swastika and the burning cross, has said no deals are necessary for him to win the votes that went to Roemer, a Democrat-turned-Republican. Duke reasons that they're his for the taking as a member of the GOP - despite his being spurned by President Bush and the national Republican Party.

In a 12-candidate primary Oct. 19, Edwards won 523,195 votes, or 34 percent, to Duke's 491,342 votes, or 32 percent. Roemer's 410,000 votes, or 26 percent, are the key to winning the Nov. 16 runoff.

"Edwin Edwards is offering everything, even the shirt off his back," to woo Roemer's supporters, said Duke, a state representative.

During three terms as governor, Edwards was acquitted of racketeering and had a reputation for womanizing and gambling. However, state Democratic Chairman Jim Brady said Edwards was also an effective leader who dealt well with the Legislature.

"Some Republicans may have to hold their noses to take the medicine, but they know I can move this state economically," Edwards said.

He has been endorsed by several key Roemer aides and financial backers, although Roemer himself has not made an endorsement.

"I've worked with Edwards and he's capable of leading this state," said Billy Rimes, deputy chief of staff for Roemer. "I think he'll keep his promises."

Duke, who is calling for welfare reform, no new taxes and an end to race-based affirmative action, said Edwards won't convince the conservative Louisiana electorate.

"How many conservative voters are going to trust a man who for years has been part of the ultra-liberal system that has created chaos in this state and this country?" Duke asked.

A new poll found Edwards slightly ahead. Among 817 likely voters polled Thursday through Saturday, 46 percent said they would vote for Edwards, 42 percent supported Duke and 12 percent were undecided.

The survey, commissioned by The (Shreveport) Times and KSLA-TV, was conducted by Mason-Dixon Opinion Research of Columbia, Md. It has a margin of error of plus or minus 3.5 percentage points.

Home tour residents named

La Madre Mia Study Club met October 24 in the home of Marlene Watson and announced the residents participating in the tour of homes.

Members were presented with their Home Tour Committees and updated the program. Elmo and Kay Hall, J.L. and Glenda Marcum, and Randy and Francie Farr will graciously allow their homes to be toured on December 8, from 2 p.m. through 5 p.m.

Mary Herring introduced Cindy Simons, the coordinator for drug free schools. P.A.L.S. (Peer Assistance and Leadership) sponsors and students, Barbara Smith, Ismael Arreyos, and Monty Smith, assisted Simons with the program.

The P.A.L.S. class is taught by Gail Binder. Each student enrolled in the program must receive peer recommendations, pass interviews by staff personnel, and participate in vigorous training programs.

P.A.L.S. class builds trust and closeness through developmental exercises, problem solving while stressing the importance of confidentiality.

The students often work in groups or "one on one" with other students who might have conflicts in their lives. They are also responsible for helping new students "learn the ropes."

The class performs skits for elementary schools and serve as friends to those in need. After each presentations, club members participate in exercises to develop closeness, common bonds and discuss emotions that may surface as a result of the program.

Concluding the program, Nancy Pactzold presided over the business meeting with Mary Herring reading the minutes and each member answering roll call with "peer pressure" experiences.

Georgia Sparks announced that the clubs silent auction netted $496.85.

Concluding the meeting, Susan Robbins served dessert to Francyne Bromlow, Merle Clark, Mary Herring, Betty Lady, Carolyn McDonald, Gladys Merrit, Lavon Nieman, Pactzold, Robbins, Lucy Rogers, Janet Schroeder, Tricia Sims, Mysedia Smith, Georgia Sparks, Betty Taylor, Marlene Watson, Nicky Walser and Mary Beth White.

The next meeting will be November 14 at the Hereford State Bank.

Spikers clout Caprock

The Lady Whitefaces continued to tune up for the state playoffs with a 15-5, 15-13 victory over Caprock Saturday in Amarillo.

"Caprock upped their level of play," Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said. The second game was very close, and Reeh said it was because Caprock was playing well and because Hereford was making mistakes.

"We lost two or three points by not closing off our blocks, then we had a few hitting errors," she said. "We gave away some quick points—and Caprock did earn several points, too."

Caprock pulled to a 13-13 tie in the second game on four Hereford hitting errors in a row, Reeh said, so she called a time out. When they came back, Shantel Cornelius had a stuff block for a sideout. Next, Caprock dug Kyanne Lindley's hit, but the ball went over the net and into Cornelius' sights for an overset kill and the 14th point. Kara Sandoval's ace ended the game and match.

Cornelius finished with 10 kills and six stuffs, followed by Lindley with five kills, Erin Bullard and Jennifer Hicks with four each and Brek Binder with three. Bullard also had two stuffs.

Teresa Baker led servers with 16 good serves, 12 service points and two aces. Binder and Jill Robinson also had two aces each.

Hereford's junior varsity also won Saturday, beating Caprock 15-8, 15-5. Coach Jill Harrison said they were "somewhat flat" in the first game with 13 missed serves, but they improved in the second game.

"We had to refocus after the first game," Harrison said. "We were able to come back and play a much better second game."

A stuff block by Traci Deckard, then another stuff by Jenny Davis with an assist from Heather Kleuskens helped Hereford gain momentum, Harrison said.

The JV got nine service points each from Traci Deckard and Michelle Brock. Deckard had five aces and Brock had three.

The Lady Whitefaces will probably find out who their playoff opponent is tonight after District 2-4A leaders Snyder and Lamesa meet. Lamesa is undefeated in district play, while Snyder's one league loss is to Lamesa. If Snyder wins in an upset, the two will play a one-match playoff this weekend. However, Reeh expects Lamesa to win the match, the district and the right to meet Hereford in the first round either Nov. 4 or 5.

If the two meet, Reeh said she thinks it's likely that they'll play in the Coronado High School Gym, where they met last year.

Hereford will try to close out District 1-4A play tonight with a perfect non-Dumas record. If the Lady Whitefaces beat Randall tonight, they'll be 8-2 in district, with the two losses coming against the state-champion Demonettes.

"We sure would like to go into the playoffs after a good match," Reeh said. "We know Randall is capable of beating us, so we have to make sure we don't put undue hardships on ourselves—such as lots of errors."

The action in Whiteface Gym starts at 6:30 p.m. with the JV teams, and the varsities follow.

Basketball practices start

Chasity Rickman tries to dribble around Amber Griffith in one-on-one drills during the first official practice of the 1991-92 basketball season Monday in Whiteface Gym.

New NCAA Dive OVERLAND PARK, Kan. (AP) - Divers will have a new event to challenge in men's and women's NCAA swimming competition. A rules committee approved the dive at a meeting last spring. The dive is a reverse two and one-half somersault in the pike position from the one-meter board. It will have a 3.2 degree of difficulty.

King: netters got tough draw

The Hereford tennis team just had a little bad luck in drawing Wichita Falls as their first match in the Region 1-4A tournament Thursday in Lubbock, coach Kim King said today.

"They were the team not to draw," King said.

Hereford lost to the heavy favorites Thursday, winning one match before Wichita Falls won the required 10 matches. After Wichita Falls won the necessary matches, they forfeited the rest to make the official score 10-8. However, King said that it probably wouldn't have been a 17-1 massacre if it had gone on, as a few of the singles matches were being led by Hereford at the time.

"They're a really good team," King said of Wichita Falls. "I've never seen better girls' doubles in high school."

"It was just luck of the draw," she said. They knew going in that since Hereford wasn't seeded No. 1, they might get a tough draw, she added.

King said that Hereford's one win—by Torey Sellers and Jamie Kapka in boys doubles—was a "great win" for them because one of their opponents is ranked in the state.

The Hereford team stayed in Lubbock Friday and played against the team from Brownwood. King said that they played for fun and didn't even use the regular lineup.

On a related note, there was news out of Lubbock Thursday that members of the team were involved in a traffic accident. King said that it was only a "fender-bender," and that no one was hurt.

Boy golfers rout Randall, PD

The Hereford boys' golf team stomped two other teams in fall golf action Saturday, while the girls were beaten by Amarillo High.

The boys, playing at the Plainview Country Club, totaled 319 to beat Randall at 360 and Palo Duro at 383.

"The boys played really consistently on a tight golf course with small, fast greens," Hereford golf coach Stacey Bixler. "We played smart, staying away from trouble and not having any penalty strokes. Cory Newton played especially well, shooting a 76—low for the fall season."

Following Newton were Clay Cantrell with a 79, Jayson Mines with a 80, David Bone with a 84 and D.J. Wagner with a 101.

The girls played at Phillips Country Club in Borger. They totaled 365 to the Sandies' 342.

"The girls hit the ball well from tee to green," Bixler said, "but they had some trouble chipping and putting on the fast greens."

The Hereford girls were paced by Paula Britten, who shot an 84, followed by Jennifer Prater at 90, Dusty Saul at 92, Kelly Kelso at 99 and Cecelia Albracht at 100.

Pitman Municipal Golf Course will host boys from Hereford and several other area high schools this Saturday in the fall golf season finale. The girls will play in Plainview. Both start at 9 a.m.

Canyon-Hereford tourney set

Hereford golfers can play against golfers from Canyon Country Club in interclub matches Nov. 9-10. Play will start in Canyon Nov. 9 and finish at Pitman Municipal Golf Course in Hereford Nov. 10. Tee times for both days start at 9:30 a.m.

Players will be matched according to handicap, said Brent Warner, the pro at Pitman. Winners will be determined by points system, and golfers will play match play.

The cost will be cart and green fees plus a $10 entry fee. For Hereford golfers, the cost at the Canyon Country Club will be the same as the cost at Pitman, instead of the higher green fee charged in Canyon, Warner said. Included in the fee is a steak dinner Saturday night in Canyon.

There will be gross skins and net skins available to amateurs for $5. All money (minus cost of food) will be returned as gift certificate money.

This tournament is available to the first 25 golfers who sign up, and they can do so by calling Warner at the Pitman pro shop.

HJH spikers take district titles

Hereford Junior High's volleyball teams finished the season Monday by sweeping three Canyon Junior High teams in the HJH Gym.

Hereford's two seventh grade teams combined since Canyon only had one seventh-grade team, and Hereford won 15-12, 7-15, 16-14.

J.J. Hill served for eight points in the match to lead the team, while Jaime Harrison served for six points in the second game. In the close third game, Joni Beltran served the 15th and 16th points.

Both teams finish with perfect district records (6-0). The Maroon team's overall record is 12-0, while the White's is 10-2.

"Both seventh grade teams have been clearly outstanding in our district this year—not only because of their records but also because of their ability to consistently set the ball up right and play it aggressively," said Kathryn Hatla, who along with Maria Eck coached the seventh-graders. "Most of the teams we've played would just pass it back in one pass."

Both eighth grade teams got to play. First, the White team dispatched their opponents 15-5, 15-8. Jami Bell and Julie Cole monopolized the scoring in the first game, with Bell serving the first seven points, Cole serving the next five and Bell coming back for the final three. Paige Robbins served up six points in the second game.

The White hitters were led by Bell with three kills and Cole and Deanna McCracken with two each. The White team finished with a 5-1 district record, 13-2 overall, and took the district title since Dumas lost Monday.

The eighth grade Maroon team needed to beat Canyon for the district title, and they did, 15-4, 10-15, 15-5. They finished 5-1 in district and 14-1 overall.

Mindy Davis led the Maroons with five kills, followed by Tarabeth Holmes with four and Krista Beville. Holmes also served for nine points, and Ajmee Alley added seven. Eighth grade coach Jane Radford for her setters Brittney Binder and Carlotta Riuz.

"Brittney and Carlotta are the finest junior high setters I've seen in a long time. They have quick hands, quick feet," she said. "They seldom get credit for playing such an important role."

She also praised the team in general.

"In all the years I've coached, I've never had the opportunity to coach two such fine, competitive teams, and I really would expect them to go to state."

HJH's volleyball teams also played Saturday in the Pampa Tournament. Both Maroon teams won their divisions, while the eighth grade White team finished second and the seventh White won the consolation bracket.

The eighth grade Maroon team beat Perryton 8-15, 15-13, 15-4 in the first round; beat Canyon 15-7, 15-10 in the second round; and beat Pampa in the finals 15-10, 15-8.

The eighth grade White team beat Perryton 15-6, 15-8 in the first match; beat Valleyview 15-6, 15-5 in the second round; but then fell to Dumas 15-12, 15-13 in the finals.

The seventh grade Maroon needed three games in each match, but managed to win each match. They beat Perryton 15-5, 12-13, 15-11 in the first round; beat Dumas 4-15, 15-10, 15-1 in the second; then beat Pampa 15-6, 4-15, 15-10 in the championship match.

Finally, the seventh grade White team opened with a loss to Valleyview, 11-15, 15-6, 15-13; won over Pampa 15-6, 15-9 in the second round; and beat Perryton 15-8, 15-12 in the consolation finals.

Rickman gets all-around

Chasity Rickman shared best all-around girl honors Saturday at the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association rodeo at River Road. She and Kimberly Cloud of Wheeler each had 13 points.

Rickman, who lives near Hereford but rodeos for the Adrian team, finished second in pole-bending with a time of 21.240 seconds and third in barrel racing in 17.52.

Jennifer Smith of Hereford was second in breakaway roping with a time of 3.662. Samantha Winters, also of Hereford, was eighth in goat tying in 13.295 seconds.

This was the last TSHSRA rodeo of the fall.

Harriers 4th at South Plains

The Hereford girls' cross country team finished fourth out of 22 teams Saturday at the South Plains College Invitational Meet, while the Hereford boys' team did not have enough to compete.

The girls' team had 190 points, while District 1-4A rival Borger had 65 to win the meet. Also ahead of Hereford was Odessa High with 140 points and Coronado with 157. Close behind Hereford was Lubbock Cooper in fifth with 202 points and Springlake-Earth with 204.

Individually, Hereford's best finisher was Andrea Chapa, who was 22nd with a time of 13 minutes and 40 seconds. She was followed closely by Gina Haschke, who was 28th in 13:48. The other three varsity runners were Rita Soto, 35th in 14:03; Belinda Murillo, 42nd in 14:11; and Veronica Hernandez, 69th in 14:36.

Hereford's junior varsity girls won the JV division, which also included varsity girls from Class A schools. Hereford's JV scored 64 points to nip Frenship's 67. Floydada was third with 88 points.

Hereford had three girls in the top 10. Jill Dutton finished fourth with a time of 14:19; Nora Herrera was fifth in 14:21; and Karon Harder was sixth in 14:22. They were followed by Isabel Chapa, 23rd in 15:04; Linda Martinez, 26th in 15:13; and Laura Rangel, 112th in 18:26.

Two junior high girls from Hereford ran in the JV race: Cady Auckerman finished 60th in 16:15, and Bethany Townsend was 74th in 16:41.

The Hereford boys' team had only four runners since two of the boys missed the bus. Coach Martha Emerson said. The boys who did run were led by Jack Borden, who finished 40th with a time of 17:22. The other three were Pedro Dominguez, 72nd in 17:53; Chris Hart, 78th in 18:06; and Chancy Bainum, 131st in 19:37. Hereford had one boy in the JV race: Leon Garcia finished 31st in 19:33.

The cross country teams will run the District 1-4A meet Saturday at Thompson Park in Amarillo.

Chiefs come back for win

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - The Los Angeles Raiders couldn't get into the end zone when they had the chance, then couldn't put the game away when they had the opportunity. The Kansas City Chiefs made them pay.

Steve DeBerg capped a rally from an 18-7 deficit with a 6-yard touchdown pass to Tim Barnett with 51 seconds to play as Kansas City overtook the Raiders 24-21 on Monday night.

With only two home games left, the Chiefs (6-3) moved within a half-game of first-place Denver in the AFC West by winning a game could not afford to lose. Kansas City has home games with Denver and San Diego, and plays on the road at the Los Angeles Rams, Cleveland, Seattle, San Francisco and ends the season with a road game against the Raiders.

The Raiders, who like Kansas City have next week off, play their next game at Denver against the division-leading Broncos.

"I don't think any game is more crucial than any other," Raiders coach Art Shell said in downplaying the loss. "In two weeks we have to go down and play Denver. In two

9th spikers finish season

Hereford's ninth grade volleyball teams finished their season Saturday in the Pampa Tournament. Both teams' finales were a little disappointing, as the "A" team lost to Dumas 15-10, 15-6 in the finals of its division, and the "B" team fell 15-7, 15-10 to River Road in the consolation finals.

Coach Brett Steagall said some of the team members were distracted by the marching band contest that night. Besides that, the teams left Hereford at 6 a.m.

"It was just a long day," Steagall said.

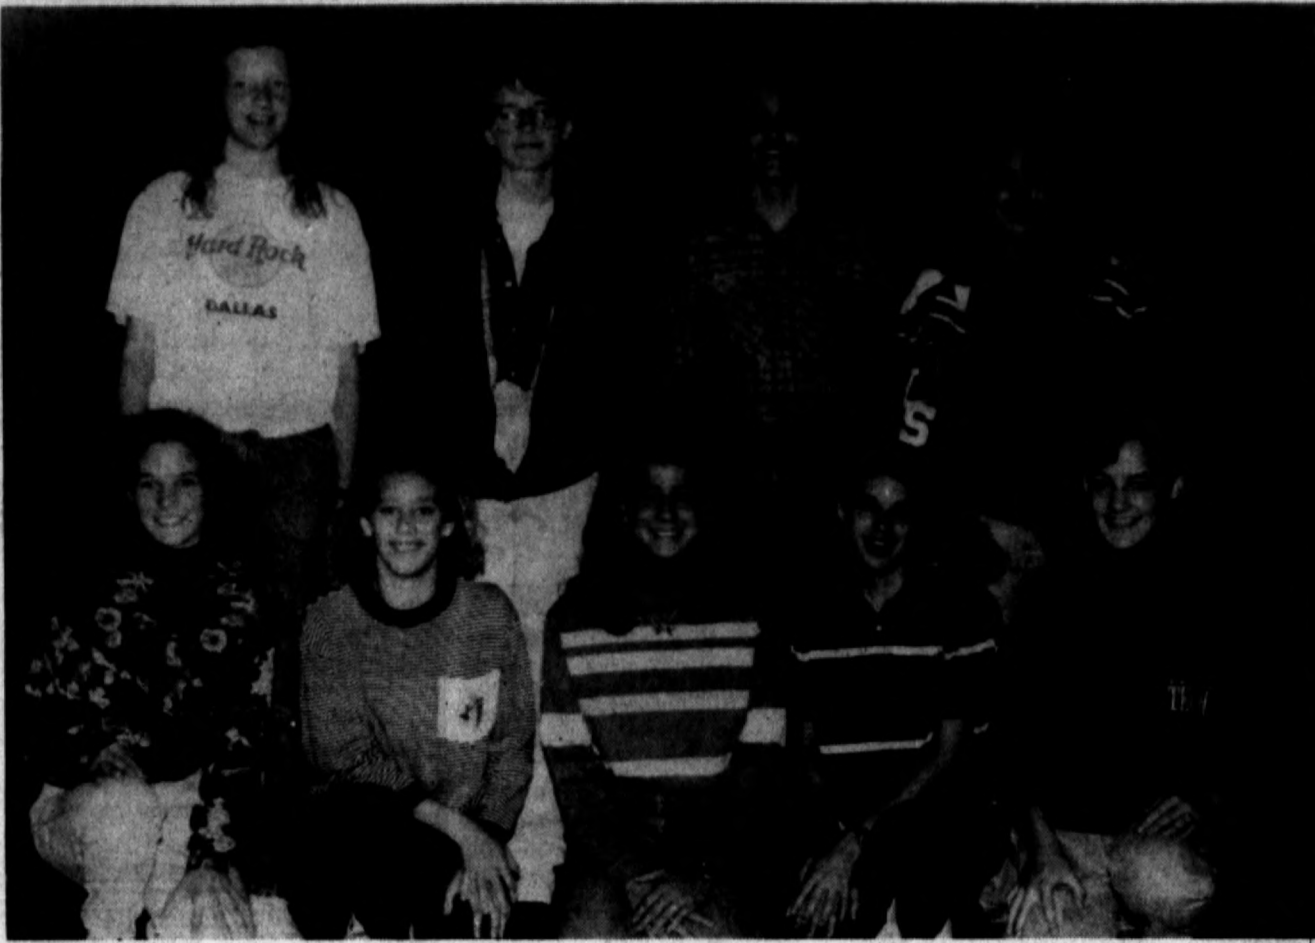

In the earlier round games, the "A" team beat River Road 15-5, 15-11, then edged Randall 15-4, 13-15, 15-10 in the second round.

The "B" team was beaten by Dumas 15-4, 15-8 in the first round, but then Hereford beat Randall 15-9, 15-13 in the second round.

weeks we've got another crucial game." Los Angeles led 21-10 and was closing in on a potential game-clinching score in the fourth quarter when Lloyd Burruss intercepted Jay Schroeder's pass near the goal line and returned it 83 yards to set up Christian Okoye's 1-yard touchdown midway through the fourth quarter.

It was the last in a series of missed opportunities for the Raiders, who had a chance to take command early and couldn't do it.

On the game's first series, Greg Townsend tipped DeBerg's pass, grabbed it and took off for the end zone. Officials originally called it a touchdown, but instant replay showed Townsend's knee was down before the goal line.

That cost the Raiders four points, because they were unable to punch it in, settling for Jeff Jaeger's 18-yard field goal and a 3-0 lead.

On the next series, DeBerg fumbled when he was sacked. The ball squirted into the end zone, where Townsend missed a chance to recover it for a touchdown. Instead, Barnett fell on it for a safety.

The Raiders took the free kick and drove for 1-yard touchdown run by Nick Bell—the only time in four trips inside the Chiefs' 20 that Los Angeles got into the end zone. But the extra point was blocked, giving LA an 11-0 lead when the margin could have been 21.

The Chiefs finally scored in the second quarter on an 8-yard pass from DeBerg to Fred Jones, but Schroeder answered by throwing a 37-yard touchdown pass to Steve Smith for an 18-7 halftime lead.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 20 years old and a sophomore in college. Compared to many of my peers, I've had it awfully good. In high school, I was well liked and involved in everything--cheerleading, drill team, student council and sports. I was elected to the homecoming court. My home life is fine. I have two successful, loving parents. Outside of school, I was involved with a church youth group, taught Sunday School, and have done some professional dancing. I entered my freshman year majoring in biology/pre-medicine, and later that year pledged a sorority. I've never been short of fun or friends, and am the most cheerful, friendly, outgoing person you could know. Because of my bright smile and love of making people laugh, you'd never guess that I want to die. I don't know when I first became obsessed with dying, but every night I lay awake in my bed and beg God for cancer or some other terminal illness. The way I see it, I've had the best of everything and I want to die young with all the chips in my corner. Please understand that I'm not suicidal. I would NEVER kill myself. I just wish something would kill ME. I've mentioned this to a couple of close friends and they can't understand why I feel this way. What's wrong with me, Ann? Why is it that I want more than anything to die, when I have had it all? I know very well that if I put my name and city on this letter, my phone will be ringing off the hook, so I'll just sign myself.--Death Wish Sophomore Who Needs Some Answers.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is for the woman who suggested that the word "step" (as in stepmother, stepsister, etc.) be stricken from the language. As a stepmother, I question the universal acceptance of her well-meaning proposal to drop the "ugliest four-letter word" in our language. I love my stepchildren and we have a wonderful relationship. It gets better as the years go by, but they are not my children. They are the children of my husband and his former wife. When they introduce me as their stepmother there is never a hint of putting me down, disowning me or disengaging from me. If the word "step" were dropped, can you imagine a child saying, in front of company, "I'm NOT your daughter," or "You're NOT my mother?" How embarrassing and hurtful that would be. The role of the stepparent is challenging enough without inviting trouble, so let's leave well enough alone and bear with a smile the honorary (and honorable) title of "step." It's perfectly OK.--Chapel Hill, N.C.

DEAR N.C.: A great many "steps" (mothers, fathers, daughters, sons, etc.) wrote to say the same thing. They have convinced me that the designation need not be a pejorative and should not be abolished. My thanks to all who wrote. Your letters proved once again that those who have been there are best qualified to pass judgment. Do you have questions about sex, but no one to talk to? Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teen-Ager," is frank and to the point. Caring Touch cards at travel center

The Circle of Friends of the Harrington Cancer Center again has the Caring Touch Collection of Christmas cards. The cards are locally available at Hereford Travel Center on East Fourth Street.

Proceeds from the sale of the Caring Touch Cards are used to assist needy patients with nonmedical needs such as gas and electrical bills, insurance premium payments, medical travel expenses—even child care for parents who feel too ill to care for their children.

The Circle of Friends meets critically important needs for cancer patients and their families.

Few families have not been touched by a grandparent, brother, sister, mother or father with cancer and each of us is vulnerable.

Further, cancer patients are often troubled by the double whammy of the expense of treating the illness and, at a time when income is critical, not feeling well enough to work.

To date the Circle of Friends has in some way met every request however, as costs skyrocket and insurance coverage declines, our organization is going to be called upon to meet greater and greater demands which makes the success of the card sales critically important.

For more information contact the Harrington Cancer Center at 1-800-274-HOPE.

Caring Touch cards available

Joan Coupe of the Hereford Travel Center displays some of the Caring Touch cards that are available at the center. The cards are part of the Circle of Friends of the Harrington Cancer Center with proceeds going to assist needy patients.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) - Sir Edmund Hillary, who conquered Mount Everest 38 years ago, says he's pleased at being chosen to grace the nation's new five-dollar bill but thinks it should happen instead after he dies.

"I pointed out I was not quite in that condition yet," said Hillary, 72. "The only trouble I feel about it is that I will have to be respectable for the rest of my life."

Hillary and Tenzing Norgay of Nepal in 1953 became the first climbers to reach the summit of the 29,000-foot Himalayan mountain.

Reserve Bank Governor Don Brash said Hillary is the closest thing New Zealand has to a "living folk hero."
