County puts autopsies on hold, for now

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

A contract with Potter County for autopsy services was approved conditionally, a resolution in opposition to proposals for a new state Constitution was adopted and a decision on re-arranging offices in the courthouse was delayed temporarily during a meeting Monday of Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court.

And, commissioners agreed to ask for further information from the Texas Department of Highways and Transportation before acquiring right-of-way for widening parts of FM 809 between Dawn and Wildorado.

Commissioners also voted to support an application from Hereford Outreach Office of the Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center of Amarillo seeking a state grant of $17,836. Entities in Deaf Smith, Oldham, Parker and Castro counties will provide $26,754.

A resignation from Wade Shackelford, assistant county agricultural agent, was accepted. He plans to move to Tahoka where he will serve as agricultural agent for Lynn County.

County Judge Tom Simons was asked to obtain clarification of some parts of an agreement with Potter County for autopsy services. Cost to Deaf Smith County will be $200 per month retainer, plus $800 for each autopsy.

Commissioner John Stribling of Precinct Three questioned whether the agreement "is timely now, since they don't have a pathologist."

The agreement was approved unanimously by the court, subject to Simons obtaining clarification.

County Clerk David Ruland presented commissioners with a resolution prepared by the state county and district clerks' association about proposals for a new state constitution.

State Senator John Montford of Lubbock is working on a new constitution, Ruland said, that is vague on whether certain officials will be elected or appointed.

The resolution passed by commissioners calls for continued election of officials.

A proposal to lease space in a building purchased last year by the Deaf Smith County Appraisal District for county offices was discussed but action was delayed until more information is available.

Commissioners asked for estimates of costs for changes in the area now occupied by the county tax assessor-collector, Margaret Perez, and her staff if the justice of the peace offices moved to the space.

The proposal is to re-locate the tax collector in the leased space and remodel an area for a courtroom and offices for Justice of the Peace Johnnie Turentine.

Action on right-of-way needs if the state decides to widen parts of FM 809 was delayed until more information comes from the state. Initial estimates place the cost at approximately $39,000 for moving utilities that are located in the present right-of-way.

County Agricultural Agent Dennis Newton requested that commissioners keep extension office funding at its present level, despite the resignation of Shackelford.

"We don't know when the position may be filled, but I'd like to be able to hire part-time help, to keep the 4-H program going through the summer," Newton said. He added that the resignation occurred too late for the next listing of Texas Agricultural Extension Service positions.

"It probably will be December before there is another list," said Newton.

County Auditor Alex Schroeter reviewed briefly some budget figures for the next fiscal year, reporting that all departments had not submitted their requests. More complete figures will be available later.

Prison group announces hearing rules

A public hearing, a requirement of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice prison application process, will be held here next Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Hereford Community Center.

Hereford's Prison Task Force has received hearing guidelines and is making plans for the public hearing, at which time persons both for or against the location of prison may speak.

A representative of TDCJ will be present to monitor the meeting, but he will not participate.

The guidelines state that the entity hosting the hearing is responsible for adequate public notice, organizing the hearing according to guidelines, appointing a moderator and providing for a full and fair hearing. Hereford Industrial Foundation, Inc., is the official applicant for the prison site.

County Judge Tom Simons has agreed to serve as moderator for the hearing. According to the guidelines, all persons attending the meeting must register at the door, noting whether they are for, against, or have no opinion regarding the proposal.

Persons wishing to speak during the public comment portion of the hearing must fill out a card noting their name, address and whether they wish to speak for or against the proposal.

"Evidence of community support is the important factor for this hearing," said Speedy Nieman, task force chairman. "Support has been great all through the process. From time to time, we've been asked by individuals what they can do to help," he said. "They can help by attending this meeting and showing support for Hereford's prison project."

The TDCJ guidelines call for the hearing to start with the moderator explaining the agenda and hearing process, along with time limits. Comments from elected officials is next and each will be limited to two minutes.

A brief overview of the proposal submitted to TDCJ is then presented. Persons representing those in support of the site proposal may present a formal presentation. Persons representing those in opposition may also make a formal presentation. Each will have 15 minutes.

The last item is public input, with those wishing to speak for or against the proposal being limited to two minutes each. Information cards from persons wishing to express an opinion will be collected at the door. The cards will be divided into two stacks, those for and those against.

Speakers will be asked to come forward on an alternating basis until the supply of cards is exhausted, or the time allocated for the hearing has expired. A timekeeper is required and must keep strict control of the time limitations, according to the department's guidelines.

The meeting will be recorded and the tape, along with copies of public notices, sign-in registers, information cards and any written material provided in the formal presentations must also be provided to the TDCJ representative attending the hearing.

In previous prison selection rounds, public hearings were conducted in Austin on the day of the final site selection meeting. The final TDCJ board meeting this time is set for April 10, and no public hearing is planned there.

Lawn care meeting planned Wednesday

A home lawn care and maintenance program will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

The program, free and open to all persons, will focus on the "Don't Bag It" lawn care program developed by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The program allows lawn care without the hassle of catching clippings when mowing.

The program will cover aspects of home lawn care including grass selection, fertilizer, insect control, disease prevention and control, weed control and watering. Dr. Richard Duple, TAEX turfgrass specialist from Texas A&M University, will present the program. Duple is recognized nationwide for his expertise in turfgrass management.

The program will be held in the east banquet room. It is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Deaf Smith County Extension Program Council.

Ice may have caused crash

NEW YORK (AP) - Federal investigators are looking into why a USAir jet that crashed on a runway and slid into a frigid bay, killing 27 people, was not de-iced a third time after waiting a half-hour in a snowstorm to take off.

John Lauber, an investigator with the National Transportation Safety Board, said that in addition to looking into the plane's vulnerability to ice on the wings, officials are studying whether its flaps were lowered for takeoff.

Witnesses said Flight 405 to Cleveland had just climbed into the air at La Guardia Airport Sunday night when it crashed in flames and skidded into Flushing Bay. Besides the 27 killed, 24 others were injured.

Some people were burned, others were trapped under water and upside down, belted into their seats. "I was amazed so many people survived," said Fire Capt. John Kurtz. "There were bodies burnt to a crisp and bodies cut in half, and then there were people walking around."

Among the evidence the NTSB will examine are a 110-foot skid mark, debris on the runway, damage to the plane and the pattern of deaths, Lauber said.

The NTSB also asked Canadian officials for a recent report that concludes that the type of plane - the twin-engine Fokker F28 - is susceptible to ice forming on the wings, Lauber said.

A plane is de-iced by spraying it with a mixture of water and an alcohol-based liquid. Ice on a plane's wings can prevent it from getting the lift needed to take off.

A light snow was falling and the runway was slushy as the plane took off at 9:30 p.m. It was de-iced twice, at 8:26 p.m. and at 8:59 p.m., USAir President Seth Schofield said. Flight 405 left the gate a minute later, but had to wait in line 30 minutes to take off, the airline said.

The flight was running two hours behind schedule when it was cleared for takeoff.

Russians investigate reactor foul-up Shuttle blasts off on mission

MOSCOW (AP) - Radioactive gas escaped into the atmosphere today from a nuclear power plant outside St. Petersburg. The reactor was reported shut down and authorities said there was no danger to the public.

The leak at the plant 50 miles from Russia's second-largest city occurred at 2:17 a.m. when a sudden drop in pressure caused radioactive gases and iodine to escape into the hall of reactor No. 3 at the Leningradskaya nuclear plant, the ITAR-Tass news agency said.

The gases were subsequently released through filters into the atmosphere.

Soviet reactors lack containment structures, which are mandatory in the United States. Western experts had recently urged that the Leningradskaya plant be closed for safety reasons.

Officials did not say how much radiation was released, but Finnish officials said they did not detect increased levels at monitoring stations less than 120 miles from the station.

The Chernobyl-style RBMK reactor was shut down after the gases escaped from graphite tubing in the hall of the reactor, one of four at the Leningradskaya plant, ITAR-Tass said.

Yelena Miryushenko, spokeswoman for Russia's Ministry of Atomic Energy, said there was no danger to the public because the filters rendered the gases harmless.

She said the leak was a "third-class incident" on the seven-point international scale. The 1986 Chernobyl disaster rated seven, Miryushenko said.

The Interfax news agency said radiation levels inside the reactor hall

"In principle, there are no grounds for panic." --City official were 10 times above normal but within "allowable limits." There is considerable debate among scientists, however, over what constitutes a safe radiation dose.

In Vienna, International Atomic Energy Agency spokesman Hans Friedrich Meyer said a level three classification "means a serious incident." He said the leak could represent a major problem "inside but not outside" the plant.

The release caused anxiety across Europe, much of which was affected by the radioactive cloud released by the Chernobyl incident.

In Germany, a spokesman for the left-leaning Bundnis 90-Greens party, Heinz Suhr, said today's incident "shows once again that atomic energy is the energy source with the highest risk for millions of people."

In St. Petersburg, a city of 4.5 million people, a security department spokesman said there did not appear to be any immediate threat to residents.

"In principle, there are no grounds for panic," said Yevgeny Lukin, Mayoral spokeswoman Larisa Khudiokova said preliminary tests indicated radiation levels in Sosnovy Bor, where the plant is located, were within allowable norms.

Anatoly Kuznetsov, the duty officer at the plant, said leaks in the graphite tubes in the reactor hall happen "from time to time" and are not dangerous. He said repairs would take about four days.

Shuttle blasts off on mission

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) - Space shuttle Atlantis blasted into orbit with seven astronauts today on a mission to study the environment of our planet.

Atlantis roared off its seaside pad at 7:14 a.m. CST. The spaceship rose on a 700-foot pillar of flame and headed out over the Atlantic Ocean and up along the East Coast.

Low clouds over the emergency landing site at Kennedy Space Center caused a 14-minute delay in the launch. Other weather problems, including a worrisome storm off the coast, had dissipated earlier.

Atlantis' twin solid rocket boosters dropped into the ocean two minutes into the flight as planned, resembling a falling star from the launch site.

Law requires business disclosures

Legislator-lobbyist dealings revealed

AUSTIN (AP) - Legislators and lobbyists may share more than meals, entertainment or even vacations. Sometimes, they become partners in business ventures.

For the first time, the state's new ethics law requires legislators to disclose business dealings with lobbyists. Lawmakers who are lawyers also must reveal the fees they receive in broad categories for practicing before state agencies.

The reports, for business conducted in 1991, underscore a debate between part-time legislators trying to make a living and government watchdogs looking for conflicts of interest.

"You must either be super rich or you get in the real world and make a living," Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, told the Austin American-Statesman. "We'd be far better off with a full-time Legislature and prohibit any outside employment."

Legislators are paid $7,200 a year, plus $85 a day when in Austin for legislative sessions and, with limits, for legislative business between sessions.

According to a report by the American-Statesman, the business ventures between legislators and lobbyists run the gamut:

- Rep. Pete Laney, D-Hale Center, is a House speaker candidate and was a co-author of last year's ethics legislation. He owns a 300-acre farm and vineyard in West Texas with three business lobbyists - Galt Graydon, Barry Miller and Bradley Bryan. All said the venture does not affect their political relationship.

- Rep. Tom Craddick, R-Midland, has invested in land and several oil and gas ventures with former legislators who now are full-time lobbyists: former Sen. Ed Howard and former Reps. Hilary Doran and Nub Donaldson. Craddick said the investments were made when the three were in the Legislature.

The newspaper also reported that Austin lobbyist Kraege Polan got a loan on his house from Craddick. "I got better financing with him than I could through a bank," said Polan, who also said that Craddick deals with legislative issues on merit.

Craddick calls the loan simply an investment, which Polan paid off in January.

On another front, several lawyers in the Legislature reported receiving hefty fees to appear before state agencies for their clients, the newspaper reported. Among them are:

- Sen. Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville, a co-author of ethics legislation. In the broad categories on the disclosure forms, Glasgow reported making $45,000 to $105,000 in 10 cases before state agencies. Most involved commercial dairies with cases pending at the state air and water boards, the newspaper reported. Glasgow said the dairies were longtime clients dealing with new regulations, and that he saw nothing wrong in representing them.

- Parker, who disclosed fees in excess of $25,000 from Legal Security Life Insurance, a financially struggling firm brought under the supervision of the State Board of Insurance. He reported a second $25,000-plus fee from Oscar Wyatt's Coastal Corp., a natural gas supplier, because that firm employs lobbyists. Parker said the case he worked on did not involve a state agency.

- Rep. David Cain, a Democratic speaker candidate from Dallas, and Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, reported income from several workers' compensation cases. Cain reported making $45,000 to $205,000 in 1991. Lyon reported making $70,000 to $215,000 from those cases last year.

Lyon said he does not appear in contested cases before state agencies, and that another lawyer in his firm represented the people in the cases in question.

- State Rep. Jim Rudd, D-Brownfield, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and a speaker candidate. He reported making as much as $30,000 representing various clients from near his West Texas district.

"If I was an Austin representative and practiced in front of one or two agencies, that would be a conflict," Rudd said. "In a small-town practice, a client has a problem with the state once every 10 years."

- Sen. Don Henderson, R-Houston, who reported receiving $25,000 for practicing in front of a state agency. Henderson said that at the request of lawyers for Houston and Harris County, he joined the fight against a proposed waste dump before the Texas Water Commission and got a legislative postponement of the case. He said a lawsuit then was filed against him and his client. Henderson said that a substantial part of the $25,000 was attorneys' fees in that lawsuit, which was settled.

- Sen. Ike Harris, R-Dallas, who reported making $20,000 to $60,000 on six appearances before state agencies. That amount does not include two cases before the State Board of Insurance that were delayed with a legislative continuance.

Harris disagreed with criticism that state employees may be reluctant to oppose lawmakers appearing before them.

"My experience has been that a fair number of state agencies jack you around because of who you are," he said.

Trailer wins first in contest

A trailer built by the General Mechanical Repair classes at Hereford High School won first place and best of show at the District GMR Contest held recently at Tulia. The trailer will be entered in the state contest next month in Arlington. Class members working on the project included (back, from left) Anastacio Mendez, Robert Rodriguez, Alfredo Perez, Brandon TeBeest, John Gonce and Jaime Valdez; (front, from left) Peté Mendoza, Alex Valle, Pablo Sanchez, Oscar Jimenez and James Davis. Their teacher is Joe Cabezuella. Perez, Mendez and Davis finished first, second and third, respectively, in tool identification.

Check-cashing stopped at Treasury

AUSTIN (AP) - State lawmakers soon will lose check-cashing privileges at the Texas Treasury, which has announced its decision following disclosures that some legislators wrote bad checks without paying penalties.

Arrangements instead have been made with Texas Commerce

Bank-Austin for it to cash the personal checks of state legislators and statewide elected officials, Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison said Monday.

Details of the service are being determined and will be outlined in a letter to officeholders in the next two weeks, the Treasury said.

"Because many legislators and state elected officials do not have Austin bank accounts, a check-cashing service has been provided by the Treasury since before 1980," said Ms. Hutchison, who was elected in 1990. "I believe the service can just as well be provided by a bank ..."

Mark Toohey, a spokesman for Ms. Hutchison, said the Treasury "for all intents and purposes" will no longer provide the service.

However, he added that if a lawmaker was in town and hadn't heard about the Treasury's decision, "I'm sure we would cash their personal check" until the new service is up and running.

State Treasury officials took a look at the practice "in light of everything that's going on in Washington," Toohey said.

However, he has emphasized that the state's check-cashing service was not like the operations of the House bank in Washington, which was closed after revelations that members of Congress had written hundreds of bad checks.

That bank covered overdrafts with money from other congressmen's accounts. The congressmen often were not informed of them. Instead, the checks were treated as a salary advance.

In Texas, the checks were processed for the Treasury by First City Texas in Austin. When a check bounced, either the bank or the Treasury notified the lawmaker, who had time to cover it before the bank processed the check again.

The bank charges ordinary customers $20 for an overdraft. But Toohey has said it did not charge that fee to the Treasury, and that the Treasury did not charge lawmakers for bad checks.

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Comic-turned-diet guru Dick Gregory spent six hours in jail for cursing at police after a grocery clerk accused him of stealing a $10 jar of bee-pollen capsules.

Gregory, 59, said he was the victim of harassment because he is black.

Police said the clerk identified Gregory as a shoplifter but reconsidered after Gregory called the clerk closer and asked, "Do you know who I am?"

Gregory berated the officers even after being told he was free to go, police said. "We had no choice but to arrest him," Lt. Russell Smith said.

Mother-Daughter Tea planned

Linda Daniel, co-chairman of the 20th Annual Miss Hereford Scholarship Pageant planned June 6, is discussing the pageant's Mother-Daughter Tea, set for 2 p.m. Sunday, March 29, with Misty Dudley, a prospective pageant contestant. The tea will be held at 202 Northwest Drive and is being hosted by the pageant committee. Committee members will be available to answer any questions concerning this year's event sponsored by the Women's Division. Young ladies, ages 16-21, may pick up pageant applications at the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office, 701 N. Main. Forms must be returned by 4:30 p.m. Friday, April 10.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am still upset about something I read in the papers several weeks ago. At a charity basketball game featuring celebrity rap stars at City College in New York, young people stampeded into the gymnasium, crushing each other. Several people, trapped at the bottom of a stairwell, suffocated to death. Insensitive to the dead and dying, fans made a mad rush to get autographs from celebrities. Later they robbed the dead. Eight people were killed and 29 were injured. Mayor Dinkins has ordered an investigation.

Tonight I sat down to enjoy a good TV program, and what was I offered? "Murder Without Motive," "Lynch Town," "Bad Influence," "Hostile Takeover" and "Last Days of John Dillinger". There was nothing beautiful, nothing uplifting, nothing wholesome or educational--just violence and junk.

Do you see a connection here? What is supposed to be entertainment ends up as headline news in the paper. Where are the censors? Are they US? If so, what is wrong? We are deep into nutrition, fighting a war against junk food. Why shouldn't we also fight against garbage for the mind?--

Heartsick in Alabama

DEAR ALABAMA: We've gone over this territory before, but I'm game to go again. The majority of people must want garbage because we're getting a lot of it. Teen-agers who grow up watching TV knifings, shootings and rapes can become immune to violence. They don't care who they have to kill or crush to get what they want.

The ratings are king. I've said it before and I'll say it again. People who want high-level, no-smut TV can get it on public broadcasting.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm caught in the middle of a family dispute. I think I'm the innocent victim but everyone else acts as if it's all my fault.

My mother noticed my 5-year-old raincoat was looking a bit shabby and I said I was looking for a new one. She went on a senior citizens' bus trip to one of those big discount malls, spotted what she thought was the most beautiful raincoat she'd ever seen and bought it, assuming that I would reimburse her for the $200.

The coat is burnt orange and incredibly ugly--I hate it. Also, it is the wrong style for me. My mother cried and said she meant well. She's on a limited budget and can't afford to throw away $200. My husband and I have a much higher income and I think we should give Mom the $200 and try to sell the coat. My husband is very thrifty and says I have to wear the coat if we pay for it. He claims the color is irrelevant and that the coat will keep the rain off.

The whole family is taking sides. What do you think? They will listen to you. Please help--Crying in the Rain, Rochester, N.Y.

DEAR CRYING: Tell The Last of the Big Spenders that you are going to give your mother the $200, donate the coat to charity and take a tax deduction. Then do it. It sounds to me as if you have a bigger problem than an ugly raincoat.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Something has been bothering me for years and I have decided to unload it on you. My birthday is on Christmas. Every year I get Christmas cards and gifts from friends and relatives with a message added--"Happy Birthday." I know you have a twin and must always share your special day with someone else, but to share it with the whole world is another matter. What can I do about this minor annoyance?--Long Beach, Calif.

DEAR L.B.: Be thankful you don't have anything more important to write about. A gift is what people want to give you. End of sermon.

Alpha Iota Mu members meet at West Park Drug

Kay Williams presented a program on "Table Equipment: China, Glass, Cloth and Silver" when members of Alpha Iota Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met recently at West Park Drug.

Following the program, members conducted their business meeting at the office of Dr. Stan Fry. President Glenna Calaway presided.

Calaway reported on correspondence from International. Also, it was noted that Marrie Leverett was contacted by Deaf Smith General Hospital about the new educational programs it is offering for individuals or groups.

The chapter's representatives were reminded of the next City Council meeting and appreciation was expressed by several members to their secret sisters.

Each committee chairman gave a memento of her committee, along with a summary of what her committee does, to guests. Also, it was announced that there would be a family night skating party.

Candy sales for the Texas Tech Children's Research Center were turned in at the meeting and members were reminded of the American Cancer Society's Annual Crusade Drive set April 12.

Election of next year's officers will be held at the next meeting.

Refreshments of coffee, sodas, hot chocolate and sweet cookies were served by hostess, Mary Bob Ward, and co-hostess, Janice Betzen.

Kim Leonard was welcomed as a guest by those present. They included Betzen, Jaimie Brorman, Calaway, Patty Frerich, Wanda Huseman, Leverett, Janie Meiwes, MaryBeth Messer, Ward, Donna Weaver, Jill Alexander, Carmen Gonzales and Pattie Urbanczyk.

The traveler tree, which grows in Madagascar, stores up to one pint of water inside the base of each of its long leaf stalks.

A public hearing will be held by the Hereford Industrial Foundation, Inc., for the purpose of obtaining citizen input regarding a proposal to site a Texas Department of Criminal Justice facility. The hearing will be held on Monday, March 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the Hereford Community Center. All persons interested in voicing their support or opposition to the proposal are invited.

Persons in support of and persons in opposition to the proposal will be afforded an equal opportunity to present their opinion. Due to the overall time limitations, it is suggested that persons with similar viewpoints coordinate their presentations prior to the meeting. A representative(s) of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice will be in attendance to observe and report citizen input to the Board of Criminal Justice.

The hearing agenda will include a brief presentation of the hearing rules; comments from elected officials; a summary of the proposal and formal presentation of those in support; formal presentation of those persons in opposition to the proposal; and a public input session consisting of alternating testimony for and against.

For further information or a copy of the Public Hearing Guidelines, please contact O.G. Nieman, Hereford Task Force Chairman, at The Hereford Brand offices, 313 N. Lee St., Hereford.

IT'S A GIRL!

Jerry & Virginia Skaggs have a new granddaughter and want to share the news with their friends. She is Molly Virginia Ellis. She resides at Pleasanton, Texas and is the daughter of Randy and Sharon Ellis and sister of Connor Ellis.

Faught resigns as girls' hoops coach

Dickie Faught has resigned his position as girls' basketball coach and assistant athletic director, effective in May, according to a release from the Hereford Independent School District Athletic Department.

Faught, reached today in his office at Hereford Junior High, had no comment.

He will continue his teaching duties at Hereford High School, the release said.

The Lady Whitefaces compiled a 9-23 record this past season, giving Faught a 37-55 record in three years as head coach in Hereford. He came to Hereford two years after winning a state championship with Class 3A Brownfield.

Rice coach resigns; takes Wichita St. job

HOUSTON (AP) - Grey Giovanine wants to help Rice athletic director Bobby May find a new basketball coach to replace Scott Thompson.

Thompson resigned Monday to become head coach at Wichita State and Giovanine, Thompson's top assistant the past five years, says he's ready to keep the program moving forward.

"If the right guy comes into place and keeps the continuity, they've just scratched the surface of what's been done at Rice," Giovanine said.

Can you be that person?

"Absolutely, without question," he said. "If you like what's transpired over the past five years, you've got to look within and realize that one of the driving forces in making this happen was myself."

Giovanine said it would not take him long to apply for Thompson's job.

HMGA to meet Thursday

The Hereford Men's Golf Association will hold a meeting Thursday, beginning at 7 p.m., at Hereford Country Club.

Members of the association and all interested golfers are welcome to attend the meeting, said president Bill Brown. Dues for the organization are $10 a year.

Mines wins playoff for third to highlight golf tournament

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Jayson Mines birdied the first hole of a sudden-death playoff for third place among boys in the Hereford Invitational Golf Tournament finished Saturday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

The playoff highlighted a day which saw the Hereford boys' team finish second and the girls' team finish third.

In the playoff, Mines birdied Pitman's No. 1, edging Neal Ray Davis of Kelton out of the last available medal. Davis was playing as an individual since Kelton does not field a golf team.

Mines' tee shot covered most of the 400 yards of the hole. He then chipped to within about four feet of the hole. Davis' drive was 15-20 yards shorter than Mines', and Davis needed two shots to get on the green. He two-putted from about four feet for a bogey.

Mines could have two-putted from four feet and still won the playoff, but he went for the birdie.

"You don't know how fast my heart was beating on that putt," Mines said.

Mines' shot 77 Friday and 78 Saturday for a two-day total of 155. Tulia's Chris Mahaney won the boys' medal with a 74-73-147. Pampa's Jay Earp went 80-74-154 for second.

The Hereford boys' team finished six strokes behind tourney champ Pampa and 50 strokes ahead of third-place Tulia. Pampa's two day performance was 310-317-627, edging Hereford's 315-318-633. Tulia totaled 335-348-683.

Hereford's girls' team finished third behind defending state champion Andrews and Pampa. Hereford went 370-351-721; Andrews, 357-343-700; Pampa, 371-343-714. Borger was fourth at 375-362-737.

Hereford's girls were led by Paula Britten, who shot 82-83-165 and claimed the third-place medal. Lisa McQuatters of Andrews took the top spot with a 80-81-161. She was followed by Borger's Leslie Reed at 82-82-164.

Britten was backed up on the Hereford team by Jennifer Prater, 92-89-181; Dusty Saul, 100-91-191;

Hereford blows away Palo Duro, 15-5

The Herd used a two-out three-run rally to save an inning and beat Palo Duro 15-5 in six innings Saturday at Whiteface Field.

The Herd went into the bottom of the sixth inning leading 12-5 and needing three runs to end the game on the 10-run rule. With two outs, Chris Brummett and Kyle Hansen walked to start the rally. Tab Hathaway singled home Brummett, then Richard Wilbanks was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded, driving in a second run. Finally, Michael Campos' double to center brought home Ralph Holguin for the 15th run.

Hereford improves its record to 3-8-1.

Hereford got off to a great start with six runs in the first inning. With one out, Richard Rodriguez and Ruben Ramos drew walks. Rodriguez moved over to third on a wild pitch, and Jason Tatarevich, Ramos' courtesy-runner, stole second. They both scored on Tab Hathaway's single up the middle.

Jake Head walked, and Jerry Rincon followed with a towering shot over the right fielder's head that bounced over the fence for a ground-rule double. Hathaway scored, but Head had to hold at third.

The shot apparently rattled Palo Duro starter Jerry Ringo, because he walked three of the next four batters and threw several wild pitches. Rincon and Fonzie Enriquez scored on two of the wild pitches.

Hereford scored in every inning, plating two in the second and one in the third, fourth and fifth.

Sammy Casarez was the starting pitcher and winner for Hereford. He faced one more than the minimum in the first three innings.

He gave up two in the fourth on a single, Deeter Prater's triple and a ground-out. In the fifth, Palo Duro loaded the bases with a walk and two singles. Casarez walked in two runs before Ramos moved from catcher to pitcher. Ramos closed out the inning with a grounder for a force at home and a strikeout.

The Dons got one more run in the sixth, but that was it. Ramos got a save for pitching the last three innings.

The varsity game was the first of a double header Saturday. The Hereford freshmen followed with a 9-1 pounding of the PD JV. Gregg Kalka pitched the complete game for Hereford, and he got good defense behind him. Hereford committed only one error, and they got the Dons out in order in four of the innings.

Michael Marquez, Gabriel Guerrero and Chris Castro each scored twice for Hereford.

The freshmen also won two games in Dimmitt on Friday. The first game, an 18-3 win was highlighted by Chris Castro's grand slam. The second game was closer, 10-9, and Kalka came in and saved the game for starter Wade Backus and reliever Marquez.

Finally, Hereford's junior varsity beat Borger's JV 8-4 Monday at Whiteface Field. Hereford got started with four runs in the first inning. Stacey Sanders, Chris Vallejo and Ray Hastings walked to load the bases. Shama Hernandez' single scored two runs, and Hastings came home and Hernandez went to third on the center fielder's error. Hernandez scored on Andrew Tijerina's single.

Sanders scored again in the second. He walked, stole second, went to third when the catcher's throw went into center field, and came home on a wild pitch.

Hereford got three more in the third. Hastings walked, then Hernandez singled, and they each took an extra base when the center fielder bobbled the ball. Both runs came home on Tijerina's triple to right field, and Tijerina scored on John Nava's single.

Hastings pitched the complete game for Hereford. He gave up four runs, all earned.

Yerrr out!

Hereford shortstop Richard Sanderson applies the tag to Palo Duro's Augustin Torres to ruin Torres' bid for a double. Hereford right fielder Jake Head made the throw to nail Torres.

Winfield leads Jays past Cards

By The Associated Press
Dave Winfield is starting to warm up for the season.

This year, Winfield has moved on to Toronto to perhaps finish a career that will land him in the Hall of Fame someday.

At Dunedin, Fla., on Monday, Winfield drove in a pair of runs, including a homer, and Todd Stottlemire became the first Toronto starter to go six innings this spring as the Blue Jays outlasted the St. Louis Cardinals 11-10.

Winfield, 40, enters his 19th major league season with 406 home runs and 2,697 hits. Playing in the SkyDome should help him to add to those numbers.

"I'm looking forward to this year," Winfield said. "I think this team has a great chance to go all the way."

Last year, Winfield hit .262 with 28 homers and 86 RBIs in 150 games for the last-place California Angels.

Winfield, Devon White and Roberto Alomar hit home runs for the Blue Jays, while Stottlemire blanked the Cardinals on five hits. St. Louis made things close with 10 runs in the final three innings off left-handers Ken Dayley and Bob MacDonald.

Tracy Woodson drove in three runs with a double and a homer for the Cardinals, who outhit Toronto 15-13, but made four errors.

Rangers 4, Twins 3
At Fort Myers, Fla., Kevin Reimer hit a two-run homer in the ninth inning to cap a four-run rally, lifting Texas past Minnesota.

GOLF

JoJo Lytal, 103-88--191; and Stephanie Walls, 96-97--193.

The boys' varsity was rounded out by Cory Newton, 77-82--159; Mikel Walser, 83-78--161; and Kevin Kelso, 84-80--164. Clay Cantrell shot 78 Friday, but had to withdraw because of a knee injury during Saturday's round.

Coach Stacey Bixler said the tournament worked out well for both the Hereford boys and girls.

The boys had "the lowest scores we've had all year. We broke 320 both days," Bixler said. "For the girls, we didn't think 370 was the best they could shoot, but they came back and shot 351 the second day."

"We got to see a lot of our players play," he said. "Our girls' (junior varsity) finished fifth out of 10 teams, and our boys' JV finished sixth out of 11 teams. That was encouraging, too."

The girls' JV totaled 404-383--

787. That was 50 strokes behind Borger's varsity. The boys' JV went 350-352--702.

The girls' JV was buoyed by Brooke Weatherly's 88 on Friday and Cecelia Albracht's 86 on Saturday. Weatherly totaled 180, and Albracht totaled 182. The other JV girls were Kelly Kelso, 103-91--194; Jennifer Rampley, 117-114--231; and Barbara Smith, 131-118--249.

The boys' JV was led by Tim Burkhalter at 82-86--168. He was followed by David Bone, 92-84--176; Santry Hacker, 88-90--178; Drew Radford, 88-95--183; and Chris Hodges, 94-92--186. Two Hereford golfers played as individuals: D.J. Wagner, 88-92--180; and Cameron Bell, 115-106--221.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

- All 172 pages in full color
- Each page measures a large 15 x 11 inches
- Presents the entire state in stunning detail
- Appendices and specialty maps of many different features

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

What they're saying about "The Roads of Texas"

Purdue knocks Horned Frogs from NIT field

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) - Purdue got its wake up call in time to reach the quarterfinals of the National Invitation Tournament.

"I think we wore them down a little bit," said Purdue coach Gene Keady after his Boilermakers defeated Texas Christian 67-51 Monday night. "We had hoped that our depth would get to them and I think the reason we shot so well the second half is they got a little tired."

Purdue (18-14) pulled away as it hit 19 of 25 free throws in the second half. Texas Christian (23-11), meanwhile, shot only three free throws in the final period, when it was whistled for 17 fouls compared to three for the Boilermakers.

The Boilermakers also connected on 11 of 17 shots in the second half, while the Horned Frogs hit on just 11 of 30 attempts and went scoreless for 4 minutes, 33 seconds as Purdue took command.

The Boilermakers trailed 10-2 early and were down 19-12 as the Horned Frogs made six of their first nine shots, including three 3-pointers by Al Thomas. But, a defensive switch matching him with Cuonzo Martin paid off and he scored only two points in game's final 30 minutes to finish with 13.

"He's really taken a lot of pride in his defense and once we switched him over... It kind of curtailed their activities," Keady said. "I thought the first five minutes we were playing lackadaisical and when they came out of the box and knocked down those 3-pointers, we were in trouble."

"His players agreed. "We came out a little bit soft. We were kind of relaxed because we were at home again," said Matt Waddell, who came off the bench to score 13 points. "We thought being at home, they weren't going to come out hard and they came out with a great start. The first half was like a wake up call for us."

"We came out dead," said Woody Austin, who had an off-night shooting with 14 points on a 5-of-14 effort but added seven assists. "We didn't show no emotion."

The Boilermakers were unable to convince the NCAA to allow them to play a quarterfinal game on their home court Wednesday since the school has a contract to host the NCAA's Midwest Regional this week. But, the NIT committee decided Purdue could host the quarterfinal game in Indianapolis at Market Square Arena. Purdue will meet Florida (18-12) with the winner moving on to New York's Madison Square Garden for the semifinal.

Craig Riley scored 12 of his 18 points in the second half to lead Purdue.

"The second half they really did a good job of getting it to me where I could really do something," Riley said. "I felt confident with my shot."

Riley was matched with 6-foot-11, 250-pound Reggie Smith at both ends of the court. Smith finished with 21 points and 13 rebounds. His 21st double-double of the season gave the senior career totals of a school-best 966 rebounds and 1,630 points - the fourth highest total in TCU history.

"He's very athletic and if he doesn't go to the pros, I don't know who will," Riley said of Smith. "He's very aggressive inside, he's an excellent jumper and he can really take it to the hole well."

TCU coach Moe Iba did not attend a post-game news conference or make any players available.

Purdue outrebounded Texas Christian 18-8 in the second half.

"We said the rebounding would determine the game, and thank goodness we came back in the second half and really out-rebounded them," Keady said. "I never like to say one thing will win or lose the ball game for us, but we knew rebounding would be the big factor."

Purdue scored eight consecutive points to take the lead for good. Brandon Brantley began the spurt by muscling in for a layup to give the Boilermakers a 43-41 edge. Waddell had three points in the streak as Purdue opened a 49-41 lead.

The Horned Frogs cut the deficit to 51-47 with 5:10 remaining but the Boilermakers pulled away by scoring 13 of their final 18 points on free throws.

Rockets suspend Olajuwon over injury

HOUSTON (AP) - Hakeem Olajuwon insists he has a hamstring injury that's keeping him out of his Houston Rockets uniform.

"I can't even run on it, you can't put pressure on it, you just have to let nature take its course," Olajuwon said.

Rockets owner Charlie Thomas decided he couldn't wait on Mother Nature Monday and placed Olajuwon on indefinite suspension without pay that will cost the six-time NBA all-star $46,900 beginning with tonight's game at Seattle.

The Rockets say Olajuwon has been given medical clearance to play and suggested Olajuwon was faking an injury as a ploy to get his contract renegotiated.

"He says he can't play, therefore he's suspended," Rockets general manager Steve Patterson said. "If he gets out on the court and plays, then the suspension is lifted."

Olajuwon's agent, Leonard Armato, planned to take the next step in the escalating feud by filing a grievance with the NBA Players Association.

"We've agreed that we're going to file the grievance," Armato said. "It's like when Saddam went into Kuwait, they've been lobbing in those scud missiles and we've been trying to duck. Now we have to respond."

Patterson said the Rockets had to rely on their medical advice.

"We're in a situation where we have to rely on what the doctors say and Hakeem's pattern of all the time wanting to renegotiate," Patterson said. "I think we can leave the facts out there for people to draw their own conclusions."

Olajuwon said the ordeal has left him wondering if he wants to be a Rocket any longer.

"I don't really know to tell you the truth," he said. "They've attempted to ruin my reputation and blame me. I think there's something more than what we've seen. Their action is very radical."

"They are saying I'm making demands. That's not true. This has been going on for 2 1/2 years. It's nothing new."

Olajuwon told Rockets trainer Ray Melchiorre in the fourth quarter of a game March 17 that something felt wrong with his left hamstring. The next day, Olajuwon said the leg had stiffened and he couldn't play.

Patterson said there was no point in the taped replay of the game where Olajuwon appeared to be injured.

Team physician Dr. Charles Baker cleared Olajuwon to play in Saturday night's game against Sacramento, but the center refused to suit up, saying his hamstring was still tender.

Olajuwon scoffed at the Rockets' contention he was faking an injury for contract purposes.

"If I'd wanted to use injury as a vehicle, I had a lot of opportunities," Olajuwon said. "When I was in the hospital, how come I didn't stay out?"

"There are so many ways I could use injuries so that's out of the question. For them attempting to use injury ... that's what upsets me."

Olajuwon missed six games late last season because of an irregular heart beat.

Olajuwon has averaged 21.4 points, 12.1 rebounds and 4.2 blocked shots this season.

Rockets guard Kenny Smith said Olajuwon still had the support of his teammates.

"Knowing from my relationship with him, which is closer than the management, I feel that he's a competitive person and if he could play he'd be out there," Smith said. "He realizes the importance of what we're trying to do and I don't think he'd take that as an advantage for him and not for us."

Smith didn't want to speculate about losing Olajuwon in a trade.

"We have to deal with what's right now," he said. "He's here, we're here and we have to do the best we can. We're anxiously awaiting his return."

Volkov gets chance with Hawks

By The Associated Press

Alexander Volkov, virtually a man without a country since the breakup of the Soviet Union, was a man without a role on the Atlanta Hawks until an injury to Dominique Wilkins gave him a chance to play.

The Hawks have fallen in the standings since the loss of their All-Star forward on Jan. 28, but Volkov has helped keep them in the Eastern Conference playoff race, averaging 11.9 points since the injury and 5.9 before it.

On Monday night, Volkov scored 16 points, including the game-winning layup at the buzzer, as Atlanta defeated the Golden State Warriors 126-125, snapping the Hawks' five-game losing streak in overtime games this season.

Tim Hardaway, who joined with Chris Mullin to score 25 points apiece for the Warriors, gave Golden State a 125-124 lead on a 10-foot bank shot with six seconds left.

With two seconds to go, Rumeal Robinson's 22-foot shot missed everything, but Duane Ferrell tipped the ball to Volkov, who got off the game-winning in time.

Elsewhere in the NBA, New Jersey edged Charlotte 123-120, Philadelphia defeated San Antonio 105-92 and Denver tripped Minnesota 100-95.

76ers 105, Spurs 92

At Philadelphia, the 76ers snapped a five-game losing streak, defeating San Antonio as Johnny Dawkins scored 11 of his 19 points in the fourth quarter.

The Spurs, who won six of their seven previous games, fell three games behind first-place Utah in the Midwest Division despite 30 points and 15 rebounds by David Robinson.

Usual powers missing from Midwest region

By The Associated Press

Kansas, Southern California and Arkansas were supposed to find a home in the Midwest Regional finals in Kansas City.

Instead, they're at home, and underdogs Cincinnati, Georgia Tech, Memphis State and Texas-El Paso are still in the chase for the Final Four.

Ninth-seeded UTEP, which upset top-seeded Kansas Sunday, spoiling the Jayhawks' anticipated trip to Kansas City, will try to duplicate the feat of the school's 1966 team that won the national championship in an upset of Kentucky. In winning the Midwest Regional that year, UTEP beat Kansas and Cincinnati, Friday's opponent at Kemper Arena.

"We're playing the same teams as they did to get there, and that's like a sign, so I guess if that's a sign we might go to the championship," said the Miners' Johnny Melvin, who had 18 points and eight rebounds in the victory over Kansas.

"I'm not trying to be cocky, but we deserve the national attention after beating the No. 2 team in the nation," Melvin said.

The fourth-seeded Bearcats' 77-65 victory over Michigan State put Cincinnati among the final 16 teams in the NCAA tournament for the first time since 1975. It also enabled the Bearcats (27-4) to prove they could beat Michigan State after losing to the Spartans twice in the past two years despite holding 18-point leads in both games.

"We've got all the tools this year, so we don't see why we can't get to the Final Four and get some exposure," junior forward Erik Martin said.

Georgia Tech, the region's seventh seed, beat second-seeded Southern Cal 79-78 Saturday on freshman James Forrest's desperation 3-pointer at the buzzer.

Coach Bobby Cremins said Monday he never expected to go this far after a 7-7 season in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

"It's been a bumpy season, a season of ups and downs," the Georgia Tech coach said. "But the one nice thing is that we're going to have a Final Four team come out of our region that was not expected to do so. It's nice that there's going to be at least one Cinderella team."

Georgia Tech's opponent Friday is sixth-seeded Memphis State, which upset third-seeded Arkansas. Memphis State, like Cincinnati and Texas-El Paso, is making a return to national contention.

The Tigers briefly enjoyed a No. 1 ranking in 1983 and went to the Final Four in 1985, losing to Villanova in the national semifinals.

"We're trying to give Memphis State a national name again," junior Billy Smith said.

Relying heavily on hometown talent, Memphis State's players remember the 1980s as the glory years for the school.

"I remember when Keith Lee, 'Doom' Haynes and those guys would win big NCAA games for Memphis State, then arrive home to big crowds," Smith said of the big reception for the team Sunday Memphis International Airport.

In contrast to the Midwest, the East Regional in Philadelphia, starting Thursday, pairs the top four seeds - No. 1 Duke against No. 4 Seton Hall and third-seeded Massachusetts against No. 2 Kentucky.

Three of the four are secure for Thursday's games in the West Regional at Albuquerque, where No. 1 UCLA faces the tournament's biggest surprise, No. 12 New Mexico State, and No. 2 Indiana faces No. 3 Florida State advanced.

The Southeast Regional at Lexington, Ky., on Friday also is three-quarters chalk, with No. 1 Ohio State meeting No. 4 North Carolina and No. 2 Oklahoma State faces sixth-seeded Michigan.

None of those teams was as long a shot, however, as No. 12 New Mexico State, which surfaced in the West. In the tournament as the Big West representative instead of perennial UNLV, the Aggies earned a date with top-seeded UCLA by dispatching No. 5 DePaul and No. 13 Southwestern Louisiana.

WHEN YOU HAVE SOMETHING TO SELL, NEWSPAPER SELLS IT BEST.

No matter what it is you're selling, newspaper can sell it best. You can show it. Describe it. Explain it. Compare it. Offer a coupon for it. And cover your entire marketplace with it. All in one day. And for a lot less than radio and TV.

And the unique thing about newspaper is that it adds credibility to your message. People believe it when they read it in the paper. Maybe that's why retailers use newspaper more than any other medium?

Artist of the month

The Women's Division's artist of the month is Priscilla Ham. Ham has her collection of pottery plates on exhibit at The Atrium. She began her hobby over 20 years ago.

Porcelain dolls topic of Bay View program

Sue Kester, co-owner of Mom & Me Photography & Frames, presented a program on porcelain dolls when the Bay View Study Club met March 19 in the home of Mrs. Juston McBride.

Kester, who was introduced by Mrs. Wesley Fisher, told how she constructs the dolls, many of which resemble members of her family. She exhibited several dolls that were made with different molds, hair, eyes and clothing. She also showed magazine pictures of other molds she uses at her store.

Following the program, several members displayed their own dolls and gave a brief history of their acquisitions.

President McBride called the meeting to order and led members in reading the club collect. The minutes of the March 5 meeting were read and approved.

The project committee reported that work has begun on the bookcase for the rare book collection in the Bay View Room of the Deaf Smith County Library. Those who have not contributed to this project were encouraged to assist.

A report was also heard on the recent open house at the Deaf Smith County Museum. The celebration was held in observance of the museum's 25th anniversary. Bay View members were thanked for their continuing support of the museum and its work.

Officers for the 1992-93 club year were elected. McBride will serve as president; Fisher, first vice president; Mrs. Paul Scott, recording secretary; Mrs. Carroll Newsom, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Dudley Bayne, treasurer.

Mrs. Robert Josserand asked members to obtain memberships in the Friends of the Library Association. Membership dues may be paid to Bayne or at the library.

Scott called the roll and a special guest was introduced, Meg Darden, granddaughter of Earnest and Helen Langley.

Refreshments were served to 18 members and guests.

Perez elected president

Richard A. Perez II, son of Richard and Nora Perez of Hereford, was recently elected as the 1992-93 study body president at West Texas State University.

Perez, who is majoring in marketing and pre-law, is a 1990 Hereford High School graduate. While at HHS, he served as the 1989-90 president of the National Honor Society and was a member of Key Club, National Forensic League and Hereford High School Debate Team. He played football offensive line and was named in Who's Who at HHS.

While attending WTSU, Perez has served as president of Jones Hall and president of Phi Alpha Delta Pre-law Fraternity.

History of library given to Wyche club

Rebecca Walls, Deaf Smith County librarian, gave a history of the local library for members of Wyche Extension Homemakers Club when it met recently in the home of Coreen Odom.

Walls told the group that civic minded individuals established the library in 1904 at a location on Main St. As the book collection grew, the library was moved to the Deaf Smith County courthouse. During the early 1950s, civic clubs petitioned the commissioners for the library to be made part of the county membership in the Texas Panhandle library system. The membership is determined by the county population, the amount of hours the library is opened, the number of hard back books available and the number of staff members.

Walls earned her masters degree in library science by attending classes every Saturday for two years at the University of North Texas. She started working for the library in 1979 and began to develop library services for the county by presenting children's programs. Walls stated that she also tried conducting a craft workshop for adults but only three attended.

The librarian reported that last year, there were 1,010 children enrolled in the children's reading program with 600 completing it.

Videos are available at the library which also subscribes to over 150 magazines. There are currently 17 tutors for the adult reading program but more volunteers are needed. The library also has a collection of large print books that rotate from 27 area libraries. These books are kept at the local library for three months.

The library hosts a family film night every third Thursday of each month. The films are obtained with proceeds received from the library's annual book sale.

For the opening exercise, Coreen Odom read the poem, "Friendship." President Jo Lee conducted the business meeting and asked Clara Trowbridge to lead the pledges to the United States and Texas flags and to lead the T.E.H.A. prayer.

Roll call was answered by members relating "the last book I have read." Those present included Helen Bell, Beverly Brooke, Shirley Brown, Argen Draper, Virgie Duncan, Lee, Carol Odom, Careen Odom, Dorothy Lundry, Marie Maxwell, Pet Ott, Camelia Jones, Barbara Stern and Trowbridge.

The next meeting will be a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. April 2 at the home of Helen Bell, 123 N. Texas.

Hints from Heloise

Q. Our house has sprayed-on textured ceilings and we live in the country, where cobwebs are a big problem. Even though I vacuum regularly, the cobwebs on the ceiling are incredible.

A. I'm never able to remove them completely and I'm unhappy about the way my ceiling looks. Any suggestions? — Vianna Thompson, Baltimore, Md.

A. A cobweb-busting hint is to tie a piece of nylon net around the end of a yardstick and gently brush the cobwebs down. Press lightly because the textured ceiling will "molt."

Of course, spiders are the culprits and it may be necessary to have your home exterminated.

Since these ceilings are quite popular, perhaps my readers will send in their suggestions as well. For those of you who would like to fax your solution, my fax number is 512-HELOISE (435-6473). I'd love to hear from you. — Heloise

FAST FACTS

Five handy uses for an old phone book:

- Use pages as packing material.
- Place one under a desk as a foot rest.
- Save for friends or relatives who live in small towns.
- Tape together and use as a child's booster seat.
- Keep one in the car trunk to check addresses or phone numbers.

SOUND OFF

Dear Heloise: My pet peeve is boxes of rice and other staples that can't be resealed.

Some companies have gone to multi-use plastic storage jars and I applaud them, but the other manufacturers need to do the same! — J.M., Gulfport, Fla.

Free health screenings offered

Free health screenings are being offered from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Friday at the Community Center.

Outreach Health Services is offering free "Vial of Life's" in addition to free cholesterol screening, blood sugar screening and blood pressure checks. In addition, Health Star Durable Medical Equipment Co. will offer free oximeter readings, Life Line will offer free information, He-Plains Hearing will offer free hearing tests and Lions Club Eye Bank will offer free glaucoma screening.

NEW YORK (AP) - Lindsay Wagner, who starred in TV's "The Bionic Woman," says she won't let her two young sons watch it in reruns.

"It's not fantasy for them. They're looking at their mother with a gun to her head. I don't think that is very healthy," Wagner said Monday on "Geraldo."

Her sons are 5 and 9. The series ran from 1976 to 1978.
