

General election campaigns start

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Jim Mattox and his Republican challenger, San Antonio Judge Roy Barrera Jr., weren't mincing words on the first day of their general election campaigns.

Barrera said voters need to bring integrity to the attorney general's office, and Mattox said Barrera doesn't know what he's talking about.

"The issues in the fall campaign are going to concern the record of Mr. Mattox, his weakness as a leader, the loss of confidence and respect in and for the office as a direct result of his conduct," Barrera said.

Mattox said his office has "broken virtually all performance records" and that Barrera wasn't qualified to replace him.

"If the Republicans had nominated Roy Barrera Sr., I would have been concerned about it. He's a very well-qualified lawyer... But this is Junior they nominated. He's just not his daddy," Mattox said.

"Here's a man who wants to be the attorney general of Texas and they're still calling him 'Little Roy.' He's never had anything to do with consumer protection, environment, oil and gas, all the many kinds of cases we handle," he added.

Barrera easily defeated former Williamson County district attorney Ed Walsh in Saturday's runoff.

That victory makes him one of two candidates in a position to become the first Hispanic elected to statewide office. The second is

Supreme Court Justice Raul Gonzalez, an appointee of Gov. Mark White who won the Democratic nomination Saturday over former state Rep. Jay Gibson of Odessa.

Barrera received 102,352 votes, or 68.44 percent, to easily top Walsh's 47,184 votes, or 31.55 percent.

Walsh, who switched parties last year, was the prosecutor who sent confessed serial killer Henry Lee Lucas to death row.

Texas Republicans also settled three other runoffs.

— David Davidson, a former Gonzales preacher, will be the lieutenant governor nominee, having defeated Aaron Bullock of Kingwood. Davidson received 88,888 votes, or 69.6 percent, to Bullock's 38,842, or 30.4 percent.

Davidson faces a formidable task in challenging Democrat Bill Hobby, lieutenant governor since 1973, but said he is ready.

"I really think it's time. 1986 is a year of change, and I want to be there and be part of that change. I think in '86 the Republican Party will start becoming dominant in the state of Texas," Davidson said.

— M.D. Anderson Jr., a contractor and Seven Points dance hall operator, received 79,180 votes, or 63.1 percent, to become the GOP nominee for land commissioner.

He defeated Tyler high school teacher Grady Yarbrough, who got 46,310 votes, or 36.9 percent.

Twister hits Memphis; coastal areas flooded

By The Associated Press

Warm humid air from the Gulf of Mexico triggered thunderstorms today along Texas coastal sections, forcing evacuations of about 100 residents from low-lying areas, while a twister caused damage in a Panhandle community, authorities said.

Residents living near Peach Creek at Splendora were evacuated from their flooded homes in boats late Monday, a police dispatcher said.

A tornado that touched down 3 miles west of Memphis on Monday then skirted the northwest portion of the community, heavily damaging a General Telephone Co. district office and two restaurants, said Charles Waller, police dispatcher.

He said no injuries were reported. But Jerry Hatley, Texas Department of Public Safety dispatcher in Amarillo, said the twister caused about $1 million in damage to telephone company computer equipment and the building.

The National Weather Service said rain fell from the Texas-Louisiana border to near Palacios. Drier air prevailed from West Texas through the Big Bend with generally clear skies.

Fog shrouded the Texarkana area, the weather service said.

Early-morning temperatures were generally in the 70s across the state, except some 80 degree readings in the lower Rio Grande valley and some 60 degree readings in the Panhandle and far West Texas.

Extreme readings ranged from 81 degrees at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station to 55 degrees at Marfa.

Winds were generally from the south or southeast at 5 to 15 mph statewide, and light and variable in far West Texas and the Big Bend.

The weather service said scattered thunderstorms were expected statewide in the next 24 hours, with highs generally in the upper 80s to lower 90s.

High humidity should continue over most of the state except the far west, Trans-Pecos and Big Bend area.

Two secure posts, one faces November challenge

Two Deaf Smith County races were decided in Saturday's local Democratic primary runoff, while one nominee faces a November election against a Republican contender. According to the county clerk's records, a total of 2,268 votes were cast Saturday.

Tom Simons won the County Judge bid against Dempsey Alexander by a margin of 94 votes. Simons received 1,177 votes to Alexander's 1,083. In the May 3 election Alexander won with 1,589 votes to Simons' 1,516. Joe Zepeda was excluded from the race with 504 votes.

Johnnie Turrentine netted 1,724 votes to secure the Justice of the Peace seat from incumbent O.K. Neal, who resigned from his post last month but could have resumed the job in January had he won the runoff. Turrentine has been approved by the county commission to assume duties as an interim JP beginning July 1.

Saturday's election brought Neal 451 votes. Facing a November challenge by Republican Ronnie Hathaway is Johnny Latham, who squeaked past incumbent Prec. 4 Commissioner James Voyles by 11 votes in Saturday's election. Latham drew 318 votes to Voyles' 307.

State wins 'unqualified' victory

Pesticide regulations approved

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' new pesticide standards to protect workers in the fields and nearby residents from chemical sprays are now being enforced, the Texas Department of Agriculture announced.

TDA officials and Attorney General Jim Mattox said Monday that the state had won a "complete and unqualified victory" in a challenge to the controversial regulations approved by the 1985 Legislature.

The regulations were contested in court by Tommy Helle, a vegetable grower from Mission, with the assistance of Othal Brand Jr. of McAllen, who claimed they were unconstitutional and did not apply equally to all growers.

According to Mattox, State District Judge Paul Davis of Austin upheld the rules in a June 5 opinion letter, which was received Monday. The trial was held in November 1985.

Davis wrote in his letter, "There is sufficient evidence that long-term, chronic, low-level exposure of unprotected workers to pesticides presents an unreasonable risk of harm."

"We are extremely pleased that these much-needed safety rules were upheld," Mattox said. "All they require is that people using pesticides be good neighbors and good employers."

"We knew all along that our pesticide health and safety standards were a good, commonsense approach to a difficult issue, and we're pleased the district court has given its approval of our work," Assistant Agriculture Commissioner Rick Lowerre told a news conference.

The first comprehensive pesticide standards ever approved for the state generally provide that individuals living immediately adjacent to a field to be sprayed by an airplane must be notified at least one day before the spraying.

In addition, the standards provide re-entry intervals for farmworkers with a minimum of 24 hours unless the manufacturer of the chemical can prove the interval may be shorter.

"TDA has said all along that we were simply putting into writing the 'good neighbor' practices that most Texas farmers and ranchers now follow," TDA general counsel Sam Biscoe told the news conference.

"Since implementation of the regulations, Texas farmers and ranchers have had very few problems with, or complaints about the standards," said Biscoe. "Indeed, most of them have indicated that the regulations have caused little or no concern, cost or inconvenience."

Lowerre said enforcement of the new regulations began this spring. He said a number of complaints have been received, but no charges have been filed.

Budget hearing to continue, commission mulls tax increase

The Deaf Smith County Commission held the second of three public hearings on the 1986-87 county budget Monday during a regular meeting of the commission held at the courthouse.

Commissioners discussed a possible 7 percent increase in taxes or a cut in services. Commissioners stated that there has not been a tax increase in over six years and that each year they are having to borrow from other county funds in order to reach a balanced budget at the end of the year.

"I personally feel that we are just fooling ourselves and I don't see how we can get by without at least a 7 percent tax increase," said commissioner Bill Bradley.

If taxes were raised 7 percent, the county would wind up with a $75,000 surplus the first year. The proposed county budget has a $57,000 increase over last year. Commissioners discussed a possible 7 percent increase this year, and another 7 percent increase next year.

"I don't want to raise taxes even three percent," said commissioner Troy Don Moore. "But if that is what we need to do in order to keep from cutting services, then we must do it."

Commissioners elected to recess the budget hearing until Wednesday morning at 9.

In other business the commission elected to allow Justice of the Peace O.K. Neal to use over $300 to attend a state convention. Neal, who is leaving his post at the end of June, told the commission that he will attend the meeting and return with information on new laws and changes in the laws.

In the first vote, commissioners elected to not give Neal the money. But Neal appealed the commission to reconsider the vote. Neal said that the money had already been budgeted for the convention and that

Fields need to dry for harvesting, planting

Slow, soaking rains during the weekend were welcomed by the water table, but now some sun is needed to dry out soggy fields for wheat harvest and milo planting.

John Fuston, director of the ASCS, office said three to four days of sun are needed so that farmers can get back into fields. He said the wheat is doing okay, but some serious weed problems may develop if it isn't harvested soon because moisture is making the weeds exceed the grain.

Al Lee, district technician of the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation District, said for the most part the rain has been slow and easy and erosion was "nil." A few spots where rains were heavy had erosion occur, such as the Reinauer ranch in the far west part of the county where about 4 inches fell during the weekend, Lee said.

In the far northwest part of the county, the gauge at the Clint Hornfeld residence recorded two inches during the weekend.

Bootleg reported an inch, split evenly over Saturday and Sunday.

Westway received 1.2 inches on Saturday and .4 of an inch on Sunday.

Easter Grain reported .9 of an inch on Saturday and .25 of an inch on Sunday.

Two miles north of Dawn .7 of an inch was reported during the weekend.

Teachers' recommendations declared

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The Texas education reforms of two years ago would be improved if teachers had less paperwork and a better system for rewarding superior performance, witnesses told an education panel.

First Lady Linda Gale White is head of the four-person committee, which is to present recommendations to the governor at the end of July.

"This is the first time all aspects of House Bill 72 are in operation," said Mrs. White. "Now is the time to sit back and see what fine-tuning needs to be done."

Teachers are overwhelmed by the amount of paperwork involved in monitoring the quality of instruction, said Anne Bradshaw, principal of the junior high school in Presidio.

"Our teachers are working late at night and coming to school tired" trying to keep up with paperwork, said Ms. Bradshaw. "I don't feel the reduction of paperwork will reduce our quality."

Holly Braden, a Socorro first-grade teacher, agreed. "I spend more time doing paperwork than preparing for my classes," she said.

The committee is scheduled to hold its second public hearing today in Fort Worth. The panel kicked off a series of 16 statewide meetings Monday in El Paso, when 16 witnesses offered suggestions on how to improve HB 72, the education reform legislation passed in June 1984.

Commissioner of Education Bill Kirby; Maria Elena Flood, a member of the state board of education, and Larry Yawn, an aide to Gov. Mark White, are committee members.

Kirby agreed with some witnesses, who criticized the way teachers are evaluated to determine whether they are eligible for money rewards from the Career Ladder program within HB72.

800 evacuated because of fire

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — While cleanup crews battle the persistent blaze from a tank-car derailment, as many as 800 people were still evacuated early today because of the danger of a second explosion, officials say.

The likelihood of another explosion is increasing because of heat generated by a fire still raging at the derailment site — a trestle over Salado Creek — John Bromley, Union Pacific Railroad spokesman, said Monday.

Seven tank cars filled with hazardous chemicals were among 32 railroad cars that derailed from the 80-car train at about 12:50 p.m. on Sunday.

The resulting fire and explosion forced the evacuation of as many as 2,000 people, although only between 700 and 800 people were still staying away, deputy police chief Robert Heuck said.

As long as the possibility of another explosion exists, people living closest to the train derailment site will not be allowed to go home, Mayor Henry Cisneros said.

The mayor also said that inspectors from the Environmental Protection Agency concluded Monday that smoke from the accident is not toxic. But he added that "the possibility of an explosion is still real."

The mayor asked people displaced by the explosion "to put up with this for a little while longer" and to keep receipts for hotel rooms and other expenses so that reimbursement claims can be filed with the Union Pacific Railroad.

Unpaid-for prison to be built

TENNESSEE COLONY, Texas (AP) — Gov. Mark White is promising a quick resolution to the dilemma facing state officials who are preparing to build a new maximum security state prison but legally don't have the money to pay for it.

"We are exploring other ways to finance the construction of this prison," White said Monday at ceremonies dedicating the site of the new Mark Michael Unit about 15 miles west of Palestine.

Asked when a satisfactory financial proposal would be reached, he replied: "Hopefully, in a matter of days."

Attorney General Jim Mattox threw the finances into turmoil last week when he ruled a proposed bond issue to raise money for construction was illegal.

That sent prison officials scrambling because the Monday event at the Michael Unit site originally was planned as a groundbreaking. Instead, several hundred people gathered in a cleared field near the existing Coffield Unit for what was billed as a "site dedication."

The proposal Mattox ruled invalid would have allowed the Texas Board of Corrections to use $78 million in private money to build the prison, which would then be leased to the state. The bonds would have been issued under the state Health Facilities Development Act.

Federal role limited for handicapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rebuffed by the Supreme Court, the Reagan administration and handicapped rights groups say they will continue efforts to regulate the medical establishment's role in life-and-death decisions involving severely handicapped infants.

The court ruled 5-3 Monday that parents — not the federal government — have the authority over such troubling decisions. The court struck down the administration's "Baby Doe" regulations that gave federal officials important responsibility in such cases.

Justice Department spokesman Terry Eastland said, "We wished the decision had gone otherwise." But he said the administration, with "a note of optimism," believes new "regulations in this area have not been foreclosed."

Thomas J. Marzen of the National Legal Center for the Medically Dependent and Disabled said, "I think you can anticipate there will be some attempt to amend the federal law."

The high court said the administration improperly attempted to override parental wishes and pressure hospitals and doctors to provide medical care that might extend the lives of deformed or gravely ill babies.

Value of peso strengthened

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican currency markets reopened nervously Monday after plunging more than 30 percent last week in a stunning dive that analysts blamed on the economy's uncertain outlook.

The peso's value held steady during the morning, began slipping at midday but then strengthened at some commercial banks.

Private exchange houses in Mexico City opened their windows to offer 715 pesos to customers who wanted to trade a U.S. dollar on the free market. For those wanting to buy a dollar, the cost was as much as 745 pesos. A week ago, the rate was 554 and 559.

The national Banco de Mexico paid a closing price of 730 pesos to buy a dollar and sold them for 725. At private exchange houses at the end of the day, the dollar was bought at 705 pesos and sold at 720.

ferent religions but just calls himself "nothing" now, "I just belong to Jesus' church which I believe consists of all different denominations." Parker also added that he "didn't believe that a denomination gets you into heaven, but that a true, pure heart will."

Problem developed at launch

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential Challenger commission's report, which blamed the loss of the space shuttle on a faulty booster rocket seal, said the spacecraft was in trouble right from the moment of launch on Jan. 28.

The report said the first indication of a problem came a scant 0.678 seconds into the flight, when a strong puff of gray smoke spurted from the vicinity of a seal in the right booster rocket.

"Eight more distinctive puffs of increasingly blacker smoke were recorded" between 0.836 seconds and 2.5 seconds, the report said.

It said the black color and dense composition of the smoke "suggest that the grease, joint insulation and rubber O-rings in the joint seal were being burned and eroded by the hot propellant gases."

At 37 seconds, the shuttle flew through the first of several high-altitude wind shear conditions, lasting until about 64 seconds, but the shuttle's guidance, navigation and control system "immediately sensed and countered" the forces, the report said.

Sharp said he was pleased by the Republicans' choice.

"Milton Fox is the person I wanted to run against the whole time. Ed Emmett (defeated in the primary) had the ability to raise money and had party support. (Fox) has almost no support and a lackluster legislative career," Sharp said. Fox was unphased by the criticism.

Johnson all-around

Hereford's Jana Johnson took the all-around cowgirl honor last weekend in the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association finals in Amarillo and Michelle McCormick placed in breakaway roping.

Johnson collected three saddles, five buckles and several other gifts as trophies for her efforts. She finished top in the league for the season in barrel racing and goat tying and was fourth in year-end placings in breakaway roping.

In the finals performances she was first in two go-rounds of the barrels to win first in average for the contest with two times of 13.9. In goat tying her two scores of 8.3 and 8.1 netted her a second place average in the finals.

She also was fourth in breakaway roping in a go-round, and fifth in pole bending.

McCormick won first in one go-round of breakaway roping with a time of 3.7, then won fourth in another go to take a fifth place average in the event.

Dusty Wells also participated in the rodeo.

Brown said two employees in his department were doing extra work to prevent hiring another person. The commission denied Brown's request because there was not enough money in the budget.

"I hope he sleeps on it," he said. "I think he'd be interested to see the Democratic officeholders who will be working to help me. Mr. Sharp and his well-paid professional staff can dream on as far as I'm concerned."

Ervin had been accused by Sharp of trying to cause voter confusion by making his name sound similar to that of the late U.S. Sen. Sam Ervin, who headed the Senate Watergate investigation.

Two Democratic Supreme Court justices — Gonzalez and Robert Campbell — each won nomination in the runoff. In a third Supreme Court race, state Sen. Oscar Mauzy easily bested San Antonio District Judge Shirley Butts.

In the Democratic race for the Court of Criminal Appeals, meanwhile, Denton lawyer Rusty Duncan won with a comfortable margin over George Martinez.

In the sprawling 21st Congressional District, former state Rep. Lamar Smith of San Antonio defeated Van Archer of San Antonio for the Republican nomination to replace Rep. Tom Loeffler, who made an unsuccessful bid for governor.

Ann Landers

Take precautions

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As a neurosurgeon, I treat many spinal cord injuries, but none as serious or disturbing as those sustained by young people who, through carelessness or ignorance, permanently paralyze themselves in diving accidents.

Most of these victims were in excellent physical condition and had promising futures. Now they are destined to spend the rest of their lives in wheelchairs.

Diving accidents have become the fourth most frequent cause of spinal cord injuries, surpassed only by auto accidents, falls and gunshot wounds.

Diving-related spinal cord injuries ran as high as 2,000 each year. Nearly 90 percent of the victims are young males between 15 and 29. Nearly all these injuries result in permanent incapacitation of the arms and legs.

Most of the accidents are the results of plunging headfirst into unknown lakes, ponds and rivers that are too shallow or contain concrete slabs or fallen trees. In almost all instances, too much alcohol has been a factor.

Please print the most important considerations for save diving:

1. Know the depth of the water and realize that depth can vary at different locations within the same pond, lake or river.

2. Always jump feet first on the initial plunge even if you believe it's safe to dive there.

3. Never drink and dive or swim.

4. Remember — attitude is important. Though diving is recreational, it should still be taken seriously.

Ann, if young people would only realize that spinal cord injuries are forever, they would surely be more careful.—FLETCHER EYSTER, M.D., DIRECTOR OF SPINAL CORD INJURY SERVICES, WEST FLORIDA REGIONAL MEDICAL CENTER, PENSACOLA, FLA.

DEAR DR. EYSTER: Thanks for a letter that could have a major impact on the lives of countless readers.

As a longtime board member of the Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago, I can tell you there is nothing so tragic as a once-energetic, buoyant young person who must spend the rest of his or her life in a wheelchair because the water wasn't as deep as it looked.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I plan to have a formal wedding in a few months and would like very much for my three brothers to be ushers (ages 12, 15 and 18).

The 18-year-old has very long hair (below the shoulders) and it is unkempt most of the time. Is it fair for me to ask him to cut his hair for my wedding? My fiancé, who is a conservative person, doesn't want him in the wedding party if he refuses to cut his hair.—TRUSTING YOUR JUDGMENT (NO NAME PLEASE)

DEAR TRUSTING: I hope by the time this letter appears in print your brother will have wised up to the fact that long hair has been out for quite some time. If not, you should ask him nicely if he would mind having his hair "shaped" by a professional—and offer to pay for it.

CONFIDENTIAL to Doubting Thomas in Garden City: Stop doubting, Tom. The evidence is mounting. Swedish and American scientists are finding clues that suggest alcoholism and anti-social behavior may indeed have a genetic component.

Can drugs be a friend in time of stress? If you keep your head together can they be of help? Ann Landers' all-new booklet, "The Low down on Dope," separates the fact from the fiction. Get it today. For each booklet ordered, send $2.00, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995 Chicago, Illinois 60611.

HOW TO ASK FOR MONEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Everyone has tough letters to write during his lifetime — apologies, thank you's and condolences. But the hardest by far is the letter asking for money.

To do so can be a very difficult experience because it compromises the asker's pride, according to Family Circle magazine. And, believe it or not, it is almost as painful to be asked.

Here are some rules for a good loan-request letter that can ease the pain at both ends.

—Even though it's personal, make it business like.

—Include a plan for repayment.

—Offer to pay interest.

—Pick your prospect carefully.

Response to solicitation from Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Hereford has been "fair" but not as good as hoped for by BB-BS director Alva Lee Peeler.

The agency will run out of money sometime in the fall if donations do not increase, Peeler said. Since the United Way Drive in 1985 fell under its goal, the BB-BS has cut its annual budget of $22,000 by $3,500. Although BB-BS is not in the red, it has drawn its quarterly United Way allotment—its only guaranteed source of income—ahead of time.

Peeler said one reason the agency is so dependent on United Way and other donations is that it is the only local United Way agency which does not collect fees from participants. Currently, 57 youths form single-parent homes are being served. Since April of 1985, 43 new matches have been made.

The agency is asking for 100 Friendship Sponsors to donate $10 each. An Associate Friendship Sponsor may give $50; Silver Friendship Sponsor, $100; and a Gold Friendship Sponsor, $365.

PREVENTING INFANT DEATH

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A University of Rochester team of specialists in caring for newborn infants says it has found a way to mitigate, and perhaps prevent, respiratory distress syndrome (RDS), a major killer of prematurely born babies.

RDS is caused by a lack of surfactant (a mixture of natural chemicals that line the air sacs of the lungs.) The new treatment, developed by Drs. Donald Shapiro, Robert Notter, and Frederick Morin, working with colleagues from the University of Buffalo, supplements deficient surfactant at birth with a replacement mixture derived from calf lungs.

To the voters in Saturday's runoff election:

By your votes you have helped to set the course of our county government. Each vote carried more impact since the turnout was so low. The future of our county rests in the hands of the elected officials. They will need your help in shaping the future of Deaf Smith County.

A big THANK YOU goes to each of my supporters. Long hours, hard work, and financial support has made my campaign personally rewarding. Your confidence in me will be remembered as I make my next decisions for the future.

My congratulations to the voters' choices.

YMCA summer adventures program started

The YMCA summer adventures program started this week, and will continue through the summer.

A variety of games and activities are planned each day for youth ages five to 15, reports Jerry Brock, YMCA program director.

Weekly registration fees are $35 for YMCA members and $45 for non-members of the YMCA. Daily registration fees are $10 for YMCA members and $15 for non-members of the YMCA.

Youth must sign up for a day's activities 24 hours in advance, Brock said.

"Our summer adventures program is ideal for kids of working parents," he adds.

Activities are scheduled on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays.

The activities include games, crafts, working out in the weight room, nature hikes, races, swimming, Wonderland Park, zoo, basketball, and movies.

For more information on the summer adventures program, call the YMCA at 364-6990.

NBC's new television magazine debuts tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — With stars and red lines shooting through video space, the opening of NBC News' new magazine, "1986," looks like the introduction to "Monday Night Football." But, when the show gets down to business, it drops the flash for more of a "60 Minutes" edginess and seriousness of purpose.

It's clear that "1986," which tonight becomes NBC's 14th attempt to dent prime time with a weekly news program, took to heart the criticism of NBC's news executives who said that "American Almanac," the predecessor of "1986," was too featurey in content and too leisurely in style.

But that broadcast, which was on monthly the second half of 1985, better suited venerable anchor Roger Mudd, who seems out of place in his new "1986" digs.

On "American Almanac," Mudd, in a rumpled suit, sat behind a quaint desk and said he was searching for Americana. On "1986," the cut of his suit hasn't changed, but he seems to be uncomfortable sharing a modernistic V-shaped bench with co-anchor Connie Chung in a studio that resembles the school cafeteria before the dance decorations have gone up.

In the future, more can be expected from Mudd journalistically, but the man who helped derail Sen. Edward Kennedy's presidential ambitions in a famous, probing interview in 1979 does tonight's only soft piece — a lackluster, gushy profile of the 73-year-old stage star Mary Martin.

The other stories take a tougher stance, involving the viewer in tales of the exploited or the vulnerable.

The best comes first. It's from correspondent Ed Rabel, who like Chung, Mudd, Executive Producer Ed Fouhy and Managing Editor Bob Chandler all made their early journalistic marks at CBS, home of "60 Minutes."

Rabel looks at the door-to-door sales industry and finds that some of the itinerant youths peddling household cleaners and magazines are physically and psychologically brutalized by their bosses. In "Sell or Else," Rabel says the dream of money, travel and independence has turned into a nightmare of broken promises, violence on the road and virtual slavery.

The second story, "Safety Lost" reported by Chung, says that light trucks, which include pick-ups, vans and utility vehicles, may be dangerous to your health because they are not covered by the same federal safety standards that apply to passenger cars.

In tonight's third segment, Mudd guffaws his way through the Mary Martin interview, then, in the concluding piece, correspondent Peter Kent reports how America's borders around Florida are open, and suggests that if they're vulnerable to drug shipments they're vulnerable to future terrorist invasions.

Researchers find baby-boomers diversified

NEW YORK (AP) — The "baby boom" generation is more diverse than many marketers may have suspected, a leading advertising agency says.

N.W. Ayer Inc. says in a new report it has been sharing with its clients that there are four distinct cliques important to marketers in the 25- to 44-year-old age group. It said those who fail to recognize the distinctions risk falling victim to a costly deception.

"Baby boomers as a single uniform group moving steadily through the U.S. life cycle ... exist only in the minds of demographers," said Fred Posner, a senior vice president at Ayer, which spent a year developing the report.

The baby boom generation is a population group that has been courted by advertisers for decades and will likely command their attention for decades to come. It includes people born between 1946 and 1964 and is expected to number about 80 million in 1990, comprising 33 percent of the country's population and controlling nearly half of its income, Ayer said.

In an effort to examine the group more closely, Ayer persuaded 632 baby boomers from across the country to complete a 700-question survey that asked them about their attitudes toward life, personal relationships and self-image, what they buy or hope to buy and what they watch on television.

The agency said the responses indicated the group is divided like this:

—Satisfied selves, comprising about 34 percent of the group. The report described these people as well-educated, optimistic, innovative, open to new ideas and ready to take risks.

—Contented traditionalists, which make up about 31 percent of the group. They are self-assured, conservative and home-oriented and favor traditional values while resisting change.

—Worried traditionalists, which account for about 23 percent of the group. They embrace traditional values but anticipate disaster on all fronts, worrying about being mugged or losing their jobs. They have a poorly defined self-image, emulate trends and use brands as a way of communicating who they are.

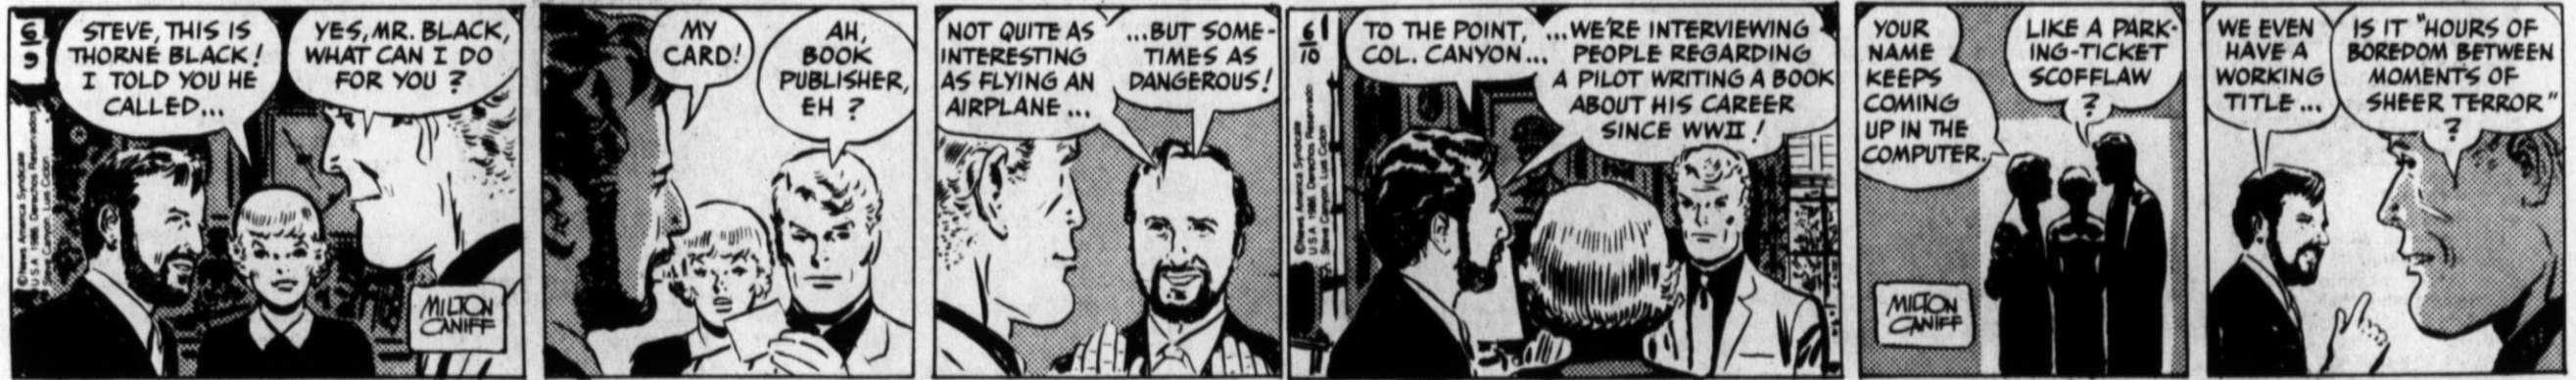

—The '60s in the '80s, who make up about 10 percent of the group. They are the "flower children" of the 1960s, aimless and unfulfilled and unable to find the job they want or a direction in life.

Rig count continues to drop

HOUSTON (AP) — Oil drilling activity in the United States continues to sag as the weekly rig count plunged to another post-World War II low.

Dale Steffes, a Houston-based energy analyst, predicted that the number of oil rigs will continue to drop in the weeks ahead because of the uncertainty of oil prices.

But eventually, the oil rig count will rise as prices steady at $14 to $15 a barrel, Steffes said.

The number of active rigs fell 37 to 686 in the week ended Monday, according to the Hughes Tool Co. rig count, the industry yardstick for drilling activity in the United States.

Since May, the rig count has dipped below the World War II low of 805 rigs in April 1943.

More than 1,000 rigs have been idled since December, a month after oil prices began plummeting from $32 a barrel and bottomed out at about $11. At the peak of the oil boom in December 1981, the Hughes count stood at 4,530.

Steffes said both large and small oil companies are holding back oil exploration because of the continued low prices of oil.

Oil prices have averaged $13 to $14 a barrel recently after hitting just over $17 a barrel last month, he said.

Foreign competition is part of the U.S. slowdown in oil drilling, he said.

Steffes said it is cheaper to drill oil in Saudi Arabia and Third World countries than in the United States, prompting U.S. companies to import rather than produce oil in the United States.

Costs range from $5 to $20 a barrel to produce oil in Texas — compared to $1 in Saudi Arabia, he said.

Much of the future U.S. oil production rests in the upcoming OPEC meeting in Yugoslavia, he said.

An agreement on prices among OPEC members will help U.S. drilling, he said.

And he predicted the number of U.S. oil rigs will go up as the market steadies and oil company officials become confident oil prices won't drop further.

He said many oilmen are frightened now that oil prices will drop to $10 a barrel — although they say publicly that the prices will rise in the fall.

Meanwhile, American consumers continue to conserve because they believe the prices will rise, Steffes said.

The current Hughes tallies showed that in Texas the number of rigs working is just over 30 percent of the year-ago level.

Offshore drilling also fell again after a one-week pause. The utilization rate in the Gulf of Mexico is down to 30.5 percent, while the worldwide figure dropped to 58.8 percent.
