

'Realities of Resentment' Pushed at Reagan

By CLIFF HAAS Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders are trying to make sure President Reagan "understands the realities" of the growing Capitol Hill resentment of his deficit-ridden 1983 budget proposal.

But Reagan made it clear he was in no mood to compromise prior to a White House meeting today with Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., House Republican leader Robert H. Michel and Sen. Paul Laxalt, the president's closest friend in the Senate.

The object of their concern: Reagan's $757.6 billion 1983 spending plan and its projected $91.5 billion deficit.

Baker and the Senate's No. 2 Republican, Sen. Ted Stevens of Alaska, both said Wednesday that they found merit in a Democratic senator's alternative plan that calls for a virtual freeze on Pentagon spending while trimming by half the administration's three-year tax cut.

But Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan dismissed the Democratic plan as "absolutely ridiculous" and the president himself declared he will stick by his plans for big increases in military spending and deep cuts in outlays for social programs.

Mike Johnson, an aide to Illinois' Rep. Michel, said that although the White House arranged today's meeting Wednesday, telling a group of women appointed to administration jobs: "We come to government at a time of economic crisis, and we've only begun to sort out the mess that had been building for 40 years. But the dificulties that we face today only prove the failure of the programs that came before."

Baker, in his first major detour from Reagan's strategy, has said that a pro-

Allen Voices Support Of Defense Spending

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Former U.S. National Security Adviser Richard V. Allen expressed solid support for the Reagan administration's big defense spending plans, which have been drawing heavy fire since being unveiled last weekend.

Allen said that unless Congress passes President Reagan's defense requests, the United States could become militarily inferior to the Soviet Union for the "first time in the history of our Republic."

Allen spoke Wednesday to about 400 students at Texas A&M University in a wide-ranging address on Soviet foreign policy, the first session of a four-day conference entitled "Perspectives on Soviet Foreign Policy."

He said the U.S. policy of detente toward the Soviet Union "simply does not work" and he proceeded to give his own bleak assessment of Russian foreign policy motives.

He said that Russia aimed to split up NATO, encourage pacifism in Western Europe, obstruct the peace process in the Middle East and, of most immediate concern, import communism to the Western Hemisphere — specifically, El Salvador.

"The prospect of a communist regime on the land mass of Central America, much less Latin America, is intolerable to the United States," Allen said.

"But that is what we are faced with in the growth of communism fanning out from Cuba into Central America, causing instability in places like El Salvador where I believe our policy is on the right track, and in Nicaragua, where we are faced with an increasingly important challenge of military significance."

Allen also declared that Poland should be declared in default on the $27 billion debt it owes to the United States

Michel intended "once more to make sure the president understands the realities down here (in Congress.)"

Baker, of Tennessee, and Laxalt, of Nevada, were expected to deliver a similar message.

Meanwhile, Senate Democratic leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia sent Reagan a letter asking him to withdraw the administration's proposed budget.

"I am looking for a document we in Congress can work with; one based on realistic assumptions; one which shows a much clearer trend toward a balanced budget," Byrd wrote.

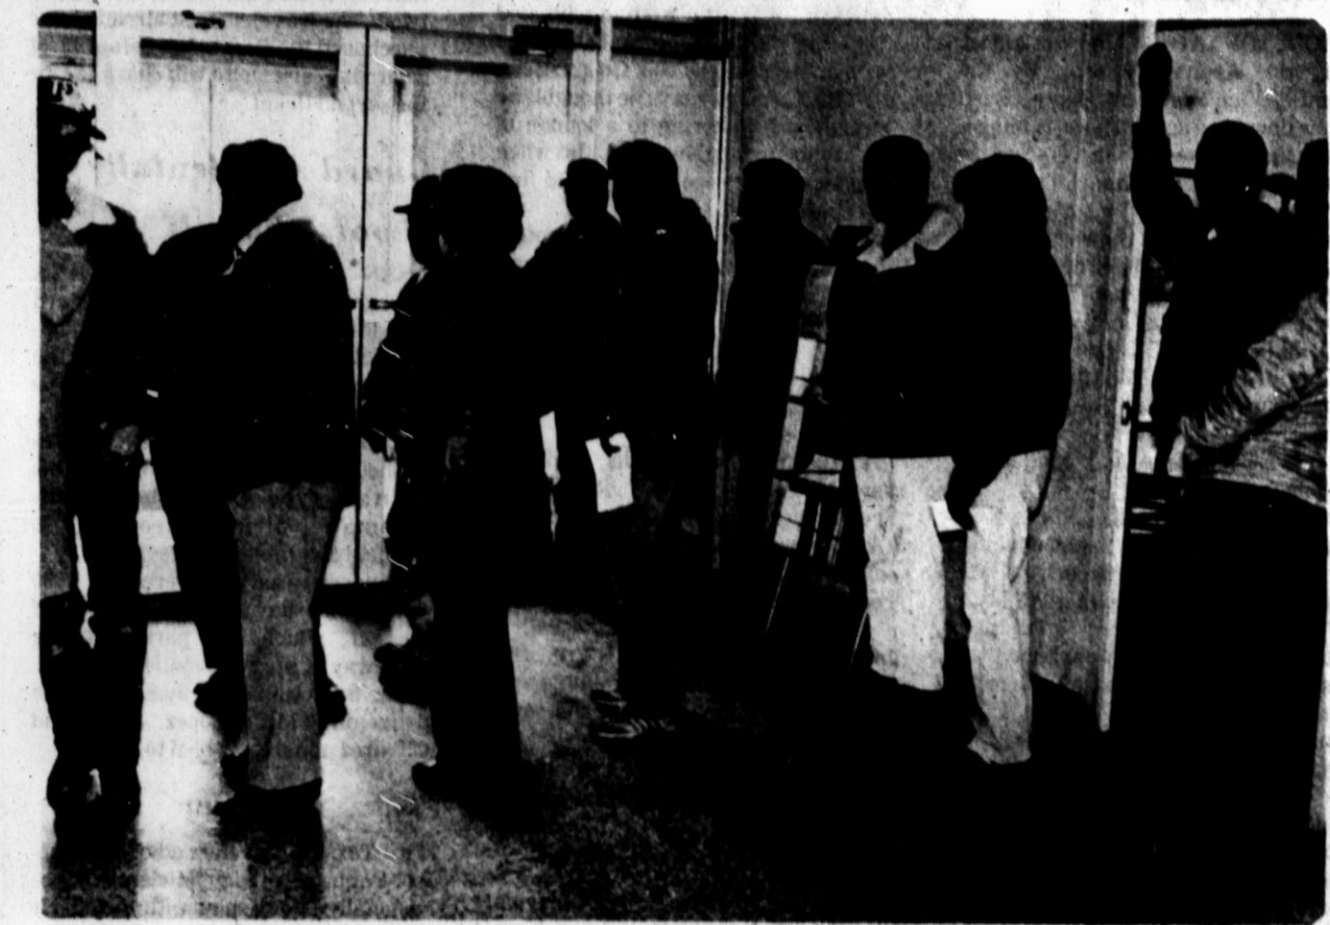

Byrd urged the president to take a "courageous step" like the one President Carter took in 1980 when he withdrew his original budget and submitted a new one.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., also kept up his harsh criticism of the president Wednesday, saying it was Reagan who should "put up or shut up."

"The product of the Reagan economic sales pitch has been a disaster and all the roadshows in the world are not going to change that fact," O'Neill said.

O'Neill referred to a two-day trip to the Midwest earlier this week in which the president challenged his budget critics to "put up or shut up."

 The first floor of the courthouse has been cramped the past two Mondays as local persons had to pick up unemployment checks there after the recent closing of the TEC office. A decision by President Reagan to restore funding for unemployment and job-finding services may result in the reopening of the local office, which was one of 66 offices closed across the state. ## $600 Million Available Farm Loan Program Tapped

By CHARLES RICHARDS Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — New money for farm ownership and operation loans in Texas and other states has been opened up by an Agriculture Department decision to tap a $600 million emergency loan program. The Associated Press has learned.

The decision by Agriculture Secretary John Block greatly reduces the fear of thousands of farmers that the Farmers Home Administration would foreclose on them because they had fallen behind on existing loans.

The money also will be available for new loans to farmers unable to borrow from conventional private sources.

Under Secretary Frank Naylor and FmHA administrator Charles Shuman came under repeated assault in the past week from congressmen on an agriculture subcommittee who couldn't fathom why funds from the emergency program hadn't been made available.

Naylor told of Block's decision during a meeting Wednesday morning with Reps. Charlie Stenholm, Kent Hance and Jack Hightower — Democrats who represent farming districts in western Texas.

Aides to Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, also attended the meeting in Naylor's office.

A third straight year of low commodity prices left farmers across the nation unable to make payments on FmHA loans, which was set up as a lender of last resort.

"If there ever was an emergency, this is it," Bentsen said Wednesday morning.

"I don't think it's fully understood how serious the problem is with the farmers. They're in the worst shape they've been in since the great depression. The rest of the country is having a recession; they're having a real depression," said Bentsen.

Naylor said Block has asked him and Shuman to brief him on how the funds should be released.

"The regulations probably will be on the secretary's desk by the middle of next week as to who will be eligible to receive the funds, and the details probably will be

Rape Awaiting Word On Office Reopening

By BOB NIGH MANAGING EDITOR
 Lester Rape, former manager of the recently-closed Texas Employment Commission office here is crossing his fingers today in hopes that he receives news that the local office may be reopened due to emergency funding which may be provided by the federal government.

President Reagan has asked Congress to restore his own cuts into unemployment benefits and job-finding services after an unexpectedly high rise in joblessness across the country.

The U.S. House passed the additional $2.3 billion in funding earlier this week, and the Senate unanimously approved it Wednesday.

State TEC Administrator Ernie Tullis said the additional funding would mean that 500 TEC employees wouldn't lose their jobs, and that the TEC also hopes to reopen up to 50 of the 66 offices which were closed as of Feb. 1 across the state. The Hereford office was one of those.

Rape, who is on leave presently, said that the reopening of the office here would pose no major problems. "We still have the building leased, all the furniture is still there, and the utilities are still on," Rape said. "We also still have the telecommunications equipment there, so it would just be basically a matter of just unpacking some things to get going again."

For the past two weeks local persons qualified for unemployment compensation have had to line up at the county courthouse to receive those benefits as the Amarillo TEC office has had representatives here.

County Social Services Office director Earlene Cook met with the county commissioners just last Monday to discuss the problems being caused by the closing of the TEC office here. Mrs. Cook said that her workload had increased considerably with people seeking job placement.

The TEC had laid off about 800 employees after funding cuts last October, and planned to lay off 500 more Feb. 1 because of further cutbacks handed down in December. The latest staff reduction had not yet taken place because of controversy over how the agency would choose which employees to let go.

If President Reagan signs the funding resolution, "we can keep the staff we currently have on hand and reopen some of the offices we

Weinberger Courts Hussein To Stop Soviet Arms Sale

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger met with King Hussein and top Jordanian military officers today and later headed to an air show.

Weinberger, on a tour of moderate Arab states, visited Saudi Arabia and Oman before traveling to Jordan where American defense officials said he hopes to persuade Hussein not to buy weapons from the Soviet Union.

The secretary attended a military briefing this morning conducted by Jordan's chief of staff, Gen. Fathi Abu Taleb, and the commander-in-chief of the armed forces, Gen. Zeid Bin Shaker.

The air display, in which Jordanian pilots were to show off their handling of American-made F-5 fighter-bombers, was scheduled at a base near Amman, about 60 miles north of Amman.

Weinberger has established a joint military committee with the leaders of Saudi Arabia and finalized the sale of the American AWACS reconnaissance planes that Congress approved last year.

The committee will deal with military matters involving the two countries, according to Weinberger and the Saudi defense minister, Prince Sultan Bin Abdel Aziz.

Weinberger said soon after arriving in Jordan that he was willing to ask Congress to approve the sale of a mobile air defense system if Hussein would scrap plans to buy an anti-aircraft system from the Soviet Union.

Jordan's military is equipped almost entirely with Western arms.

The Israelis have said they don't want Jordan to have a mobile missile system because the Jordanians could then roll the batteries into the Jordan Valley and knock down Israeli spy planes.

Weinberger, who is on a tour of pro-Western Arab states to rally support against Soviet influence in the Middle East, said Wednesday he was ready to go before Congress and argue for a mobile Hawk system for Jordan.

"We expect to discuss with the Jordanians their need for improvements in their air defense system," Weinberger told reporters. "We expect

600 Expected For Banquet

The announcement of the Citizen of the Year and a feature address by Eddy Nicholson, America's rocking chair philosopher, will highlight the program tonight at the annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet.

The event, set for the Bull Barn at 7 p.m., is expected to attract more than 600 people. Bill Johnson, the 1982 president, will introduce new officers and directors. Tickets are $10 each.

Nicholson, the featured speaker, is from Chattanooga, Tenn., and most of his home-spun stories, music and back-to-basics philosophy is drawn from the Tennessee mountains.

A graduate of Carson-Newman College in Tennessee, Nicholson did graduate work at Baylor University. Mike Carr, executive vice president of the chamber, says Nicholson comes "highly recommended for a delightful, humorous and meaningful presentation to banquet audiences."

The 1982 officers and directors of the chamber have already been installed, but this will mark the first appearance of the local leaders at a public event. Tom Burdett, retiring president, is chairman of the banquet arrangements. A Women's Division committee will prepare the decorations.

The coveted Citizen of the Year award is sponsored by the Hereford Lions Club and has been presented each year since 1945. The recipient is selected by a committee of past presidents of the Lions Club.

Last year's award went to Doug Manning, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Other recipients have been: Jim Conkright, Mrs. Austin Rose Jr., Dr. A.T. Mills, Carl McCaslin, Jimmie Allred, Raymond White, A.J. Schroeter, Jewel Smith, Russell Winger, Hugh Clearman, Ernest Langley, Ray Cowart, John D. Pizman, Ed Skypala, Rev. Don Davidson, Clint Formby.

Also, Mrs. Earl Springer, Dr. Leo Edwards, Harold Witherspoon, Faye Plank, Wayne Lawrence, Don Zimmerman, Argen Draper, Dallas Blagoev, D.C. Kinney, Earl Phillips, S.O. Wilson, Father Raymond Giles, Henry Sears, Lyle Blanton, L.S. Barnett, W.E. Dameron, Dub Reeves and Wayne Evans.

Red Cross Hands Out Cheese Friday

Low income or needy families will be able to supplement their food supply tomorrow as the local Red Cross unit distributes surplus cheese through the Commodity Credit Corporation Surplus Cheese Program.

The cheese was made available by presidential order last December. At least 30 million pounds of processed cheese is being distributed by participating states.

The dairy product will be distributed at the Red Cross office at 101 Ave. E from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow. Those wishing to receive the cheese will be required to sign a statement of need and provide some sort of identification such as a driver's license or a food stamp card.

Transportation is available for those who need it tomorrow. Those wishing a ride need to make arrangements by calling the Red Cross Office at 364-3761.

Betty Henson is the local Red Cross supervisor.

FCA Will Honor 'Faces'

The Hereford Whiteface football team will be honored at the regional Fellowship of Christian Athletes banquet in Amarillo on Feb. 25.

Roger Staubach, former Dallas Cowboys quarterback and active FCA member, will be the key speaker at the banquet.

The event begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Amarillo Civic Center and tickets are $10.

For reservations call Danny Haney; 364-0617, or Ted Taylor, 364-8303.

Weather Causes Sales Drop

By The Associated Press
 Severe weather in much of the nation contributed to a 1.1 percent drop last month in retail sales, the government said in a new economic report.

The decline was the fourth in the past seven months. Adding more evidence of the recession's strength were layoff announcements Wednesday by two major companies.

The Commerce Department said a 4.6 percent drop in car sales led the overall decline in retail sales. The department also changed its earlier estimate of a 0.4 percent increase in December retail sales to a drop of 0.2 percent.

Allen's Saddle Home Again

WILLCOX, Ariz. (AP) — Rex Allen's stolen $30,000 saddle is home again, thanks to two Willcox police officers who used it as a pillow all across Texas to insure its safe keeping.

"It's not going to get stolen the second time, I'll tell you that," said police investigator Ron Hazlewood.

He and Police Chief Bill Morales spent the past four days in Texas, where the silver-plated and gold-inlaid saddle was discovered about a month after it was stolen from the Cochise Visitor's Center Dec. 27.

From Temple, Texas, where the saddle was found in a motel lounge, to Austin, to Giddings, to Wichita Falls, to Odessa, the two lawmen hauled the saddle with them as they traced the route of a man accused in the theft.

"I really felt like an old-time sheriff tracking," Morales said. "Just like the Rex Allen movies."

But with front-page headlines about the valuable saddle following them across the Lone Star state, the officers said they were worried that someone else might try to steal it from the trunk of their unmarked police car. So they slept with it in their motel rooms, rarely leaving it even to have coffee.

"Everywhere we went it was on the front page," Hazlewood said of news of the saddle.

Leon Crosely was arrested over the weekend, after riding into Willcox on a motorcycle and telling authorities he had seen the saddle in the employee lounge of a Temple motel.

The saddle was found at a motel, but the Willcox lawmen were unsuccessful in trying to find Allen's silverpurs and nickel-plated pearl-handle .45-caliber 6-shooter, which were stolen along with the saddle.

Joyous town officials were poised to give Crosely a $500 reward for letting them know where the saddle could be found, but Morales said discrepancies in Crosely's story convinced authorities to put him up in a jail cell rather than a motel suite.

Crosely was ordered held in the Cochise County Jail in

Network Finds

Bush's Remark

HOUSTON (AP) — A network news program Wednesday took up the gauntlet Vice President George Bush threw down in a speech here, finding a film clip in which Bush referred to President Reagan's financial plans as "voodoo economics."

NBC Nightly News showed the April 10, 1980, clip after Bush denied ever making the remark in a news conference here Tuesday.

"I didn't say it... I didn't find that out until recently," The Houston Post quoted Bush as saying. Bush also said none of the television networks had the phrase on tape and challenged anyone to find it.

"Challenge accepted," NBC's Ken Bode said Wednesday in introducing the tape of a campaign speech at Pittsburgh's Carnegie Mellon University.

Vice presidential press secretary Peter Teeley said Bush explained he was "only kidding the press corps along."

But The Post reported there was no laughter at the remark and that the vice president did not smile when he made it.

Deputy press secretary Shirley Green said she "flinched" when she heard Bush's denial and that she hoped none of the reporters present had grasped its significance.

Bush said Tuesday he criticized Reagan's proposals during the campaign because the plan was to cut taxes sharply "and nothing else... what we have now is very different."

The "voodoo economics" phrase generated numerous political cartoons and has been frequently quoted by Democrats challenging Republican "supply-side" economics.

Detective Stumped By Soap Opera Clues

HOUSTON (AP) — Homicide Detective John Donovan admits he's had some tough cases to solve, but anonymous tips from callers across the country about the deaths of Bo Baker and Alex Wheeler had him stumped.

Donovan received a long-distance call from a frantic woman who said "The body's in the trunk behind the barn at the chicken coop. Go get it."

At first Donovan says he thought the woman was referring to a lounge in the Montrose neighborhood. But when he checked the records, he could find no reports of foul play.

It finally dawned on a fellow detective that the woman had been watching the NBC television soap opera, "Texas" and that his partner actually had been mistaken for a fictitious detective by the same name.

The real Donovan says last week's call was not the first.

In the past five months, Donovan says he has received a dozen calls from viewers in California, Oklahoma, Alabama and Georgia giving tips on murders that have occurred in the day-time drama.

"The first time we got the call it took us two hours to check the records to see if someone had been killed and finally a detective snapped and said, 'That's the soap opera.'"

Braniff, American

Offer Two For One

DALLAS (AP) — Braniff International and American Airlines have kicked off a promotional gimmick that allows travelers to buy any ticket on a domestic flight and get a second ticket for $1 or less.

Debt-riddled Braniff initiated the gimmick, starting radio advertisements early Wednesday. American then announced it would match the "ill-advised" plan.

Both airlines want to combat record-low passenger traffic.

Braniff will sell a second ticket of equal or lesser value for $1 for every ticket purchased at the already reduced Texas Class fares — including tickets to Hawaii.

American instituted a similar plan, but does not charge for the second ticket. Hawaii also is included.

Both airlines said the tickets must be purchased between 12:01 a.m. Thursday and 11:59 p.m. Friday.

Delta Airlines announced that it will match the airlines' offer, but with a twist. The traveler must already have purchased the first ticket before 12:01 Thursday, and Delta will charge $1 for the second ticket.

Guard Accidentally

Shoots Himself

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A 24-year-old Bexar County jail guard found shot to death in his car apparently accidentally inflicted the fatal wound himself after unholstering his gun, investigators say.

Arturo Cuellar Olivarez accidentally shot himself in the left leg with his military-type .45-caliber semi-automatic pistol, according to Medical Examiner Carrie L. May.

Olivarez was discovered at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the driver's seat of his car, which was parked in the driveway of a service station.

The body was found by San Antonio policeman M.C. Lopez, who said Olivarez apparently bled to death.

You've Heard The Domino Theory

The administration, sending more military hardware to El Salvador and asking Congress to triple military assistance, is repeating a familiar argument:

"If El Salvador falls to communism, all Central America may fall..." You've heard that domino theory before.

But Vietnam fell without "tumbling the dominoes all the way to the Philippines."

Indeed, Soviet Communism is having quite enough trouble seeking dominion right next door in Poland and Afghanistan.

Moscow is debilitated, not strengthened, by such involvements.

As we can be.

President Reagan is sending $55 million to try to rescue the military government of El Salvador. The President has special authority to do so when he believes "United States national security is threatened."

I don't know how we get suckered by the same salt again and again.

Any pipsqueak principality can get anything it wants from us just by hollering, "Help-send money-or we'll go communist!"

If Latin America is so menaced by communism, why don't El Salvador's neighbor nations send help? The question answers itself:

There is little difference anymore between one kind of military dictatorship and another kind of military dictatorship—so little that frequently Uncle Sam ends up helping the wrong side!

The Salvadoran troops we are arming have carried out some hideous massacres of civilians. Never mind that.

As is frequently the case, our involvement in El Salvador reflects our frustration with a totally different situation. We are embarrassed by Castro.

Our pride is pricked by this bush-league dictator's presence 90 miles from Florida and when he funnels guns into El Salvador or Guatemala or Africa or it's embarrassing.

It is we who used to throw our weight around all over the world—until we got our wings clipped in Korea and Vietnam.

Now he—who has not yet learned better—is fomenting subversion and fueling resistance to established governments hopeful he can be their hero.

Castro does indeed have "military advisers" in Guatemala and El Salvador and, probably, Honduras.

But history says Latin America will chew up and spit out communism as surely as Africa has.

"But latin Americans will lose respect for us!" our State Department insists.

Latin Americans generally have had little or no respect for us since the dawn of our Good Neighbor Policy 45 years ago.

Until then we led by example; were respected and appreciated.

Since then we've tried to play mother hen to a litter of porcupines.

First Time Buyers Spend 40 Percent On Mortgage

Record high mortgage interest rates and housing costs meant that those buying a home for the first time in 1981 needed to spend almost $4 of every $10 earned to meet their monthly mortgage payments.

This is reported by the Family Housing Bureau, a public information service of Chicago Title Insurance Co. that has studied home buying trends over the past six years.

Based on an annual survey conducted in 11 representative markets nationwide, the Family Housing Bureau found that the average monthly mortgage payment as a percentage of income rose to 38.4 percent for first-time home buyers in 1981, up from 35.6 percent the previous year.

Repeat or second-time home buyers also spent a greater percentage of their monthly income on mortgage payments in 1981, with the percentage rising to 33.4 percent from 30.3 percent in 1980.

In 1976 first-time buyers spent only 23 percent of their monthly income on housing while repeat buyers spent 24.9 percent. Since then, the percentage has risen steadily each year as housing costs have soared and mortgage rates have hit record highs.

Between 1976 and 1981, the average monthly mortgage payment, which includes principal, interest, taxes and insurance, rose to $694 from $329, a gain of 110 percent. Average monthly mortgage payments for first-time buyers rose to $665 from $313 during the same period, while the average payment for repeat buyers went to $725 from $342.

The survey revealed that home prices continued to rise faster than median household income in 1981. The median price of a home purchased in 1981 was $78,200, up 13.8 percent from $68,714 in 1980. But median household income rose only 8.2 percent, from $29,670 in 1980 to $32,130 in 1981.

Since 1976 the median price of a home purchased has risen from $43,340, a gain of 80.4 percent. During this same period median household income has risen 54.1 percent, from $20,840 to $32,130.

However, the study showed that the median cost of a home purchased by first-time buyers slowed appreciably in 1981, rising to $63,180 from $61,450 in 1980, a gain of only 2.8 percent. In 1980, the median price of a home purchased by first-time buyers was up 20.9 percent from $50,800 in 1979.

The rate of increase also slowed for repeat or second-time home buyers in 1981. The median price of a home purchased rose to $82,200 from $75,750 in 1980, an 8.5 percent gain. This compares to an increase of 17.2 percent between 1979 and 1980 when the median price rose from $64,600 to $75,750.

Median household income for first-time buyers rose to $30,470 in 1981 from $27,430 in 1980, an 11 percent increase. For repeat buyers median household income rose to $33,490 from $31,820 in 1980, a gain of 5.2 percent.

Air Force Adding 100 Warheads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is adding 100 nuclear warheads to its current land-based missile force, officials say, as the effort to develop a permanent basing system for the new MX missile continues.

The increase in the number of warheads on existing intercontinental ballistic missiles, Wednesday's Air Force announcement said, "demonstrates our resolve to redress the imbalance in U.S. and Soviet nuclear capabilities."

To achieve the increase, the Air Force will replace 50 single-warhead Minuteman II missiles with an equal number of triple-warhead Minuteman III.

When the replacement is completed, officials said, the Air Force will have 600 Minuteman III missiles carrying 1,800 warheads in firing positions, and 400 Minuteman IIs. The Air Force did not say where the 50 replacements will be installed, nor when, although it indicated the action will come either this year or next.

Regarding the MX situation, Air Force officials said Wednesday night that the first 40 of the giant new missiles will not go in "superhardened" silos as planned because Congress prohibited use of funds for that purpose.

Missile silos are called "hardened" if they are reinforced against nuclear blasts. "Superhardening" refers to a strengthening to the point where the structure can withstand a blast pressure of 5,000 pounds per square inch, believed about double the present strength.

The officials, who requested anonymity, said the prohibition against "superhardening" the silos was a little-noticed provision of the 1982 defense appropriations bill approved late last year.

The Air Force has said it plans to place the first 40 of the new missiles — each of which can carry 10 nuclear warheads — on one of six bases in the West now housing Minuteman missiles in hardened silos.

This is an interim step pending a decision by the Reagan administration on a permanent basing plan for the MX.

Meanwhile Wednesday, Air Force officials said the projected number of air-launched cruise missiles planned for eventual deployment is being raised by about 600 to a total of more than 4,000.

The number of nuclear weapons in the U.S. inventory is not disclosed exactly, but the figure is in the thousands. Officials have said there are about 6,000 in Europe alone.

During Divorce Trial Actress Admits Dating O'Neal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Farrah Fawcett says her dates with Ryan O'Neal upset her husband, Lee Majors, very much, but Majors wanted to salvage the marriage and proposed a second wedding ceremony on the couple's anniversary.

The actress, who rocketed to fame on ABC's "Charlie's Angels" TV series, balked at some of the questions put to her Wednesday during a property-settlement hearing in her divorce case.

"You are not to argue with the lawyer," Superior Court Judge Harry Shafer told Miss Fawcett as she was being questioned by Majors' lawyer. Real trials, the judge said, are "not like what you've seen on TV."

O'Neal has been linked romantically with Miss Fawcett since her marriage to Majors hit the rocks in mid-1979.

The property-settlement issue is the final hurdle in the estranged couple's divorce case.

The key dispute at the trial is who owns the $2.5 million house the couple lived in during their marriage. They disagree as to when they stopped living there as husband and wife.

Miss Fawcett acknowledged that as late as the fall of 1979, she and Majors gave a party together at their home. But she insisted the actor wasn't living with her at that time.

that they will be interested in a mobile air defense missile. If appropriate, I would be willing to go to Congress to discuss such a sale."

Congress authorized a hawk system for Jordan but, after strenuous protests from Israel several years ago, decreed that they be fixed batteries located so that they would not threaten Israel's air defenses.

Weinberger's statement indicated the Reagan administration is willing to risk another battle in Congress over arms sales to a moderate Arab state despite the narrow victory for the $8.5-billion AWACS radar plane sale to Saudi Arabia last year.

Hussein on a visit to the Soviet Union last year agreed to buy $200 million worth of mobile SAM-6 missiles. Iraq is to pay the bill. Reagan tried and failed to dissuade the king when he visited Washington last November, but U.S. defense officials said it was not too late to discuss an American substitute.

Weinberger met for several hours with Hussein at his palace Wednesday night, but there was no indication of the king's reaction.

Relations between Hussein and the Carter administration were soured by the unsuccessful U.S. efforts to enlist him in the U.S.-sponsored Palestinian autonomy talks, and Hussein began to turn elsewhere for weapons. The king bought British tanks, French jets and Soviet missiles.

Jordanian officials said privately that relations with the Reagan administration were much better than with President Carter's.

"It is felt here," said one high-ranking Jordanian, "that the Reagan administration is more responsive to Jordan's position, and this is felt in more than one tangible way, both militarily and politically."

Hollings, ranking Democrat on the Senate Budget Committee, said his alternative could cut Reagan's projected deficit of $91.5 billion for 1983 to $42 billion and produce a surplus in 1985 — the year Reagan forecasts a deficit of $82 billion.

The Hollings plan calls for a one-year freeze on defense spending at current levels, elimination of one year's cost-of-living increases for Social Security and government pension recipients and major reductions in the three-year tax cut plan Congress approved last summer.

Hollings and several Republicans said details of the plan were not as important as the fact that it could form a debate framework for those unhappy with the large deficits projected in Reagan's budget.

Sen. Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, said Hollings' proposal "has merit and ought to be looked at." Domenici, who has refrained from public comment since the president released his budget, said, "There's a great deal of difficulty up here in accepting the president's proposal as and other Western powers. "I would favor those who are on the side of default," Allen told reporters after his speech.

He said permitting Poland to defer payment of its overdue debt while under repressive regime would be "throwing more good money after bad."

The former aide to Reagan resigned under pressure after investigations of his conduct cleared him of any criminal wrongdoing in his acceptance of gifts from Japanese journalists and associates.

anger over the role he said the press played in spreading "in some cases, outright lies" about his accepting the gifts and cash from Japanese businessmen while in public office.

Despite his fall from power, Allen told newsmen that he continued to make his views known on foreign policy, "not only to the president's advisers, but also to others who participate in national security process at high levels. But not with the president himself," he added. "That's now somebody else's job."

Bisbee in lieu of $55,000 bond pending a hearing Friday. He was also named in a Texas warrant issued in connection with the theft of a motorcycle.

The 60-pound saddle, was also locked up, in the Wilcox Police Department's evidence room, but Hazlewood said the city probably would try to have it released so it can be put back on display.

City Manager Ted Wolverson said the saddle, which is still the property of Rex Allen, will go back on public display at the visitor's center if Allen agrees.

Other Allen memorabilia, including a cowboy suit and boots, had been removed from display until security could be heightened.

A second alarm system already has been furnished, and steel bars on the windows will be installed by Saturday, Wolverson said.

"It's a great pleasure to get that saddle back," Hazlewood said.

"You don't tug on Superman's cape," Morales added.

"You don't spit in the wind, and you don't steal Rex Allen's saddle."

By LINDA CAUDLE
Family News Editor

According to Mrs. Carolyn Johnson, being a volunteer at West Central Elementary School is one of the most interesting and rewarding things she is involved in. Having been a volunteer for about three years, Carolyn encourages others to get involved in the volunteer program, which she explains as a type of "enrichment program, freeing the teacher to offer the children things which she would not have time for otherwise."

Carolyn is in charge of the volunteer program at West Central, which presently has five volunteers. She helps out four afternoons a week. "We are always looking for volunteers who are willing to give some of their time to assist the teachers," she says, adding that she has learned a lot about teaching through this program. "I especially admire the support of our principal, Robert Ray," says Carolyn.

She taught high school English in Oklahoma City for two years, but said that after doing this volunteer work, she would rather teach in the elementary grades if she went back to teaching. Carolyn was born and raised in Oklahoma City and received her BA degree in English from Oklahoma City University after attending the University of Oklahoma and Oklahoma Baptist University.

Her husband, Howard, who is a medical doctor at the Hereford Medical Surgical Clinic, did his pre-med work at Tulsa University before going to medical school at the University of Oklahoma and doing his internship at St. Anthony's Hospital in Oklahoma City.

The Johnsons moved here in 1965 from Oklahoma City. "We really enjoy living in Hereford," says Carolyn. "I like the lack of pressure and the slower pace of a smaller town, and the fact that Howard is more accessible to the family here than he was in a large city."

They moved into their present home on 318 Centre two years after coming to Hereford, and three years ago, they added on and remodeled. "Ruth McBride did all the decorating, and we've really enjoyed it," comments Carolyn, adding that "she makes your house your home, using what you already have."

Recently appointed to the Child Welfare Board, Carolyn will be meeting once a month with the other members of a group which oversees the financial support of welfare workers in Deaf Smith County and works with children in need of foster homes.

Carolyn is also involved with teaching a second grade Sunday school class at First Baptist Church, something she has done for eight years. "It is one of the delights of my life," states Carolyn, "watching these young minds grow in the knowledge of Jesus Christ and seeing the Lord's influence in their lives as we teach them straight from the Bible."

Through her involvement in the Hereford Medical Auxiliary, Carolyn served as chairman of the Project Christmas Card campaign this past December. Next year she will serve as co-chairman with another auxiliary members.

Carolyn also belongs to the Bay View and La Plata Study Clubs, and enjoys reading and cooking.

The Johnsons have two children, Jennifer, who is in the fifth grade at West Central Elementary School, and Chris, who is a seventh grader at La Plata Junior High School. They both take piano lessons and enjoy playing with their cocker spaniel, Ginger.

Jennifer likes to cook and enjoys helping her mother in the kitchen. Chris is involved in all types of athletics, including baseball, football, tennis, and track, and is especially enjoying the new gym at the Church of the Nazarene. Both Jennifer and Chris, along with their parents, enjoy snow skiing, and the whole family plans to go skiing at Wolf Creek in the near future.

The following are family recipes which Carolyn's mother made up. They are both family favorites.

Cookin' Together

Mrs. Carolyn Johnson and her daughter, Jennifer, a fifth grader at West Central Elementary School, enjoy cooking together.

EGG CUSTARD

For each egg, add 1/4 c. sugar, 1/2 c. milk or half and half, a dash of salt, and vanilla to taste. Beat with hand mixer and strain into individual custard cups. Sprinkle nutmeg on top of each.

Cook in pan of water in oven at 350 degrees. Start testing at about 40 minutes by sticking stainless steel table knife into custard. They are done when knife comes out clean.

Use one egg per serving.

HOT ROLLS

1 pkg. dry yeast
1 c. warm (not hot) water

1 t. salt
6 T. sugar
One-third c. melted Crisco, cooled
3-4 cups sifted flour

Dissolve yeast in warm water and let stand until foamy. Add salt and sugar, then alternate adding flour and crisco, ending with flour. Turn out on floured board and knead until smooth.

Place in greased bowl and grease top of dough with Crisco. Let rise in warm place until doubled in size, about 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Punch down and use now or keep in refrigerator up to two weeks.

Pinch off dough into rolls and place in greased muffin tin (or make into loaves) and let rise again in warm place, about the same amount of time. If dough has been refrigerated, rising will take longer.

Bake at 400 degrees for about 10 minutes or until done.

Simple household objects can make stimulating playthings for toddlers: plastic bowls and pots, bottles, mugs and measuring cups, wooden spoons and saucepan lids.

FAME

By Steve K. Walt

Karen Allen stars in "Shoot the Moon."

FILM SCOOPS — New York actress Karen Allen, who shot to "fame" in "Raiders of the Lost Ark," has two new projects that are sure to attract attention. She is now being seen opposite Albert Finney in "Shoot the Moon," an MGM Films release. In the spring, Karen will be featured in "Captured," a yarn about mind control that Filmways Productions will distribute.

EARTHLY ADVENTURE — William Shatner, who just completed "Star Trek II," is getting another shot at prime time "fame" with "Hooker," a police series for ABC. The Spelling-Goldberg production casts Shatner as a divorced policeman, who the other cops see as a relic of another era because of his belief that the law is the law.

William Katt flies south.

FLYING HIGH — Maverick TV producer Stephen J. Cannell intends to take William Katt and the rest of "The Greatest American Hero" cast to exotic locations. The producer recently won a court victory against Warner Bros., who claimed that Cannell's idea for "The Greatest American Hero" had been stolen from "Superman." Two shows, "Devil and the Deep Blue Sea," and "A Chicken in Every Pot" will be shot in and around the U.S. Virgin Islands.

NBC is looking for a Crystal performance.

TV BLIPS — NBC's decision to put "The Billy Crystal Show" in a late Saturday night time slot is risky. NBC's ratings aren't strong on Saturday to begin with, but the network needed to fill that slot after "The Devlin Connection" was postponed until Rock Hudson recuperated from his bypass operation. ... Alan King, one of those responsible for New York's film-TV renaissance, has opened a small office at MGM in California. Alan and partner Rupert Hitzig have several comedy pilots in the works that need to be sold to the network brass. One is a bio-pic on the life of Judy Holiday, the late stage and film actress. Madeline Kahn is said to be in contention for the role.

STARLET — Concerned that "General Hospital's" ratings would plummet after Genie Francis' departure, ABC is actively pursuing nubile young ladies for the show. Demi Moore, a native of New Mexico, was just added to the show, playing the role of Jackie Templeton.

Can Demi add Moore to "General Hospital"?

TEASERS — Next week, American and European stars team up in an Israeli movie production with a Japanese martial arts theme.

Three New Members Inducted Into Lodge

Hereford Rebekah Lodge No. 228 met in regular session Tuesday evening at IOOF Temple with 23 members present. Noble Grand Roberta Combs presided at the business meeting. Forty visits to the sick and 23 cheer cards were reported for the week.

Under the direction of Team Captain Ben Conklin, three new members were inducted into the lodge. Welcomed into the membership were Billy Sims, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ruland.

The chili supper planned for Feb. 20 at the Odd Fellows Hall was the main topic of business. Tickets are now available from any member of the lodge. They are $2 each for chili and coffee. Pie will be sold at extra cost. The supper will be served from 5:30 to 9 p.m.

Glissie Shelton served as hostess Tuesday evening to Karroll Rettman, Faye Brownlow, Ms. Curtsinger, Peggy Lemons, Edna Mathes, Conklin, Nellie Beauford, Ada Hollabaugh, Sadie Shaw, Mary Belle Manning, Bessie Lawrence, Anna Conklin, Helen Sowell, David Rettman, Guy Lawrence, Lydia Hopson, Beth Hall, Leona Sowell, Elmer Combs, Lavita Fitzgerald, Verna Sowell, Ms. Combs, and the three new members.

Dettmann Shares Hints With Study Club Members

A program given by Bertha Dettmann highlighting a variety of "Hints" from Heloise" was given at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Lone Star Study Club. Members met in the home of Margaret Ann Durham, with Bibby Morgan as co-hostess. Roll call was answered by each member giving a household hint.

Introduced by Oneita Davidson, Ms. Dettmann stressed that you should do things when you are in the mood. Several of the hints which she gave were: use charcoal in the refrigerator to kill odors, clean a blender by running it with soap and hot water for several minutes, freeze leftovers for soup starter, and store a block of camphor with silver to prevent it from tarnishing.

During the business meeting, presided over by President Ruby Stevenson, the club voted to amend the constitution pertaining to active and sustaining members. The selecting of a nominee for the Distinguished Service Award was postponed until the next meeting, which will be in the home of Grace Tinnen.

Refreshments were served to Opal Bookout, Jessie Mae Dodson, Mildred Elliot, Wilma Gotch, Hilda Haven, Lucille Naylor, Ms. Tinnen, Zoe Williams, Faye Williams, Winnie Wiseman, Ruth Womble, Alice Thompson, Emma Suit, and Leona Dunnivan.

Garden Club Welcomes New Member

Bud to Blossom Garden Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Lew Bowman. A regular business meeting was conducted, followed by a film, entitled "This World of Creativity." A new member, Janet Crawford, was welcomed.

Included in the discussion were plans to beautify two areas on the new Cowgirl Hall of Fame grounds.

Those present included Naoma Spann, Jane White, Wilma Bryant, Paula Hamby, and Mrs. Bowman.

The club cordially invites anyone interested in joining to contact Sue Bowman at 364-5055.

Ann Landers Marriage Based On Deception Doomed

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Five years ago, when I was 24, I had a wonderful relationship with a man who had come to this country as a student. His religion demands that his bride be a virgin. Although we were in love, he made it clear there would be no consummation of the sex act until we were married. Suddenly, we had a disagreement and stopped seeing one another.

Now, five years later, he has reentered my life. Sorry to say, I am no longer a virgin. He wants to marry me and I want to marry him, but if he knew that I am not the untouched girl of five years ago, he would be very upset, and probably drop me for good.

Should I go to a gynecologist and have my hymen reconstructed and act inexperienced? Would it work? Please advise.—Lost It At The Hilton

DEAR LOST: Forget about the reconstruction project. A marriage based on deception is doomed from the start. Tell him the truth at once. (No need to list the names and numbers of the players.) If he still feels he must marry a virgin, tell him goodbye and good luck.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How does one go about telling an adult to please speak in a normal conversational tone? This man I work with is so noisy he should be declared a public nuisance. His constant yelling is more offensive to me than chain smokers or non-bathers. I have considered earmuffs or a "QUIET PLEASE" sign to hold up in front of his face when my nerves become frayed. Any other suggestions?—Battered Eardrums In Seattle

DEAR BAT: Have you considered the possibility that the man might be hard of hearing? Many shouters are. Why don't you ask him? He might appreciate being told in this rather considerate manner. And then again, he might not. But what do you have to lose? As things stand, you're ready to give him a klop in the chops.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This subject is not one people care to talk about in polite company, but the truth of the matter is, it can happen to anybody. I am referring to old-fashioned head lice.

My eight-year-old child came home from school last week loaded with the pesky stuff. I telephoned my doctor immediately and he told me to calm down and stop hyperventilating—that head lice have nothing to do with how clean a person is. He explained that the most immaculate person in the world can get lice from somebody's scarf or coat, hat comb, or brush. Head lice, it seems are hearty and agile creatures. If you embrace someone who has them, just one small louse can leap to your hair and start a family of its own.

My doctor then instructed me to go to the nearest pharmacy and buy one of a number of anti-lice shampoos that are on the market. He emphasized the treatment should be repeated in 10 days to make sure the newly-hatched lice are destroyed. I am happy to say all the lice disappeared after one washing.

I have never seen anything in your column on this subject and decided to write in return for the pleasure and information you have given me and my family over the years.—Iowa Mother

Whatever Happened to the Libyan Hit Team?

By TERENCE HUNT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever happened to the Libyan hit team, variously reported to have slipped into the United States, to be hiding in Mexico, or to have flown to Paris en route to Boston? Was the plot called off? And was there one hit team or two? Or was there any?

It was late last year — high drama at the White House: a team of assassins trained in Libya was said to be stalking President Reagan. Security was tightened. Presidential appearances were curtailed. U.S. borders were watched. Sketches of potential assassins were distributed. And nothing happened. No attacks. No arrests. Nothing.

More than 2½ months after the fears first surfaced, publicity about the purported plot has faded. Yet, the vigilance around Reagan and top government officials has not been relaxed. So what's happened?

With rare exceptions, government officials refuse to speak on the record about the sensitive subject.

"We consider the threat as active as it once was," said a senior administration official, who refused to be identified. "We haven't let down our guard."

Indeed, a high-ranking law enforcement official said Libyan strongman Moammar Khadafi might have planted stories the plot had been canceled. "That's what you would do if you were still planning to make an attempt."

As the story slipped off the front pages, there were fewer tips for law enforcement officials to follow.

"There is much less information coming into the bureau than there was a month ago," said FBI spokesman Roger Young. "Thus far we haven't established the presence in the United States of a Libyan hit team. It's been a lot of extra work without finding a Libyan hit team."

"As the leads dwindle," Young added, "there will be less manpower spent on it." He said the investigation remains a high priority — part of an across-the-board effort against terrorism.

Opinions vary. "We believed at one time there was (a hit team)," said one administration official, speaking anonymously. "Maybe it's disbanded." The official said he never saw anything that pinpointed the location of any team.

Another administration official, who also refused to be identified, said, "I have an idea the United States still thinks they're somewhere on the North American continent."

On Capitol Hill, the purported plot once was the subject of briefings for the congressional leadership and members of the House and Senate intelligence committees. No more, though. There haven't been any briefings since before Christmas.

Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker retains the round-the-clock protection he was assigned when the threat against Reagan became public. Overall security in the Capitol also remains at a higher level.

Reagan's top three White House aides — James A. Baker III, Edwin Meese and Michael K. Deaver — also remain under Secret Service protection that began in early December.

A review is planned soon about whether Sen. Baker still needs protection, according to a congressional source. A recent review of the need for security around Meese, Deaver and James Baker concluded that it should continue, according to the source.

Sen. Baker has said the threat to Reagan has diminished. Likewise, Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, ranking Democrat on the Senate intelligence committee, said as far back as December that, "Now that their cover is blown, the action is known...you will probably see the disappearance of the group involved."

White House aides speculate that interest in the hit team was diverted by the military crackdown in Poland and the Christmas holidays.

Reagan helped fuel the story by publicly denouncing Khadafi. But White House officials insist the story first leaked from the FBI and Secret Service.

The leaks triggered suspicions the White House was laying the groundwork to retaliate against Khadafi — a charge denied by chief of staff Baker.

As the leaks turned into torment, Reagan became upset, a White House source said, "and let his anger be known."

Officers Acquitted In Brutality Case

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Months of anguish vanished in a burst of tears as Tom Carter heard jurors pronounce him innocent of police brutality charges.

The heavy-set, baby-faced former McAllen police investigator sobbed as U.S. Magistrate William Mallet told him and two other former officers Wednesday they were free to go.

"It's been hell for all of my family," Carter said afterward. His mother and pregnant wife broke into tears at the verdict.

After Carter, Jaime Contreras and Alfredo Saldana thanked jurors with handshakes, nods and words, the former colleagues on the late night shift huddled together like a winning team.

They had won acquittal in what many thought was the strongest of the government's police brutality cases against five former McAllen officers. Two others indicted in separate incidents have pleaded guilty.

In the misdemeanor case, Special Prosecutor Ross Connealy argued the three violated Pedro Dennett's civil rights when they slapped, kicked and punched the drunk prisoner at the police station on Oct. 23, 1978.

Evidence included a nationally aired videotape of the incident, recorded on police monitoring cameras installed over the booking desk.

Defense lawyers contended the policemen were fated with a potentially violent situation and had to subdue the unruly and uncooperative prisoner.

"I'm convinced that this was nothing but a scuffle and if we are going to indict officers every time there's a scuffle with a drunk, we have problems," Juan Hinojosa,

Inmate Sobs During Account of Struggle

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — An inmate on trial for the capital murder of Prison Warden Wallace Pack cried on the stand as he recounted a fierce struggle with the warden, whom he contended had a reputation for brutality with prisoners.

"I begged with him and I pleaded with him, but he kept on wanting to fight," Eroy Brown said Wednesday, recalling Ellis Unit Warden Pack's death. He then burst into tears.

Brown, 31, is accused of drowning Pack in a prison farm drainage ditch April 4, 1981. He also is accused of killing prison farm manager Billy Max Moore.

Brown's trial was to resume today after lawyers for both sides questioned several Texas Department of Corrections inmates in U.S. District Judge Henry Dalehite's chamber Wednesday.

Brown, who is serving a 10-year sentence for aggravated robbery committed in Tarrant County, testified that after a disturbance in a prison farm shed, Moore handcuffed him while Pack pointed a gun at the inmate's head and cocked it.

"He believed in brutality, I knew that," Brown said of Moore. Moore had taken several prisoners to an area known as "the bottoms" and returned "with blood on the back of his truck that he made me clean up," Brown said.

Pack, who had been at the maximum security Ellis Unit for about two weeks when he was killed, "liked to put handcuffs on people ... he liked to torture people," Brown said. "I heard he liked to point pistols at people."

'Hobbled' LSU Upsets Tide, 73-68

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Although LSU is tied for the Southeastern Conference lead, the Tigers are not the basketball powerhouse they have been in recent years. Maybe that's why Coach Dale Brown was so ecstatic about the Tigers 73-68 victory over 10th-ranked Alabama Wednesday night.

"This may be the proudest I've ever been in my 10 years at LSU," Brown exulted after his hobbled Bengals used a second-half delay game to upset the Crimson Tide and retain a share of the SEC lead with Tennessee. "It may be the most gallant performance of any team I've coached."

With Leonard Mitchell scoring 18 points, LSU raced to a 40-20 lead with 4:15 left in the first half. But an ankle injury one minute later put Mitchell out of the game after he hit on nine of 13 shots and grabbed eight rebounds.

In the second half, LSU went to a delay offense, going without a field goal in the final 4:09. But the Tigers hit 10 of 14 free throws, four by Howard Carter, who scored a game-high 20 points.

Alabama was the only member of The Associated Press Top Twenty to lose, but two others had close calls. Top-rated Virginia needed two free throws by Ralph Sampson with three seconds left to ensure a 39-36 Atlantic Coast Conference victory over North Carolina State, while third-ranked DePaul nipped Evansville 59-58. In the Second Ten, 12th-ranked Kentucky turned back Mississippi 56-49 and No. 16 Wake Forest flattened Clemson 94-76, but Oklahoma knocked off No. 15 Kansas State 68-58.

Top Ten
LSU's victory was its 23rd straight at home and knocked Alabama out of a three-way tie atop the SEC. LSU and Tennessee are 10-3, Alabama is 9-4. Ennis Whatley led the losers, 17-4 overall, with 18 points.

Brown said LSU's triumph ranked with the Tigers' 1978 victory over eventual national champion Kentucky, which was accomplished in overtime with five reserves on the floor.

"We beat them (Alabama) in the spread and we are in first place in the SEC because of our defense," he said. "We beat the leading rebounding team with five guards in the second half. I've never been prouder. I could hug every one of them, which I did."

"You go ahead and make 'em or you miss 'em," Sampson said after his two clutch free throws gave Virginia some breathing room and also put him in double figures with 11 points. N.C. State surrounded him with two and sometimes three defenders throughout the contest.

"They put quite a few people around Ralph tonight and they were big people," Virginia Coach Terry Holland said. "N.C. State is the biggest team we've faced. I just hope we don't face anyone bigger." Coach Jim Valvano of the losers refused to call it a moral victory.

"You play No. 1 and come that close, it really means nothing," he said. "A play here or a play there and it's our game."

Virginia took the lead for good 37-36 when Craig Robinson was credited with a basket on a goal-tending call. The Cavaliers raised their record to 23-1 and 8-1 in the ACC, while the Wolfpack is 17-6 and 5-5.

Bernard Randolph scored 18 points, including the last basket of the game with almost six minutes remaining, to lift DePaul over upset-minded Evansville, 17-4. The Blue Demons, 21-1, took their first lead, 34-32, when Skip Dillard hit a spinning jumper at the halftime buzzer.

"I think there had to be an easier way," sighed 67-year-old Coach Ray Meyer. "I think the players are deciding they want to age me." Second Ten

Derrick Hord and Melvin Turpin combined for 29 points, including all but five of Kentucky's points in the second half, as the Wildcats held off Ole Miss and became the first school to win 1,300 games.

Hord and Turpin were held to two points apiece in the first half but finished with 15 and 14 points, respectively, negating a 30-point effort by Mississippi's Carlos Clark, who scored all but five of his team's points in the first half and 12 of its 26 after the intermission.

David Little and Chuck Barnett, the leading scorers in the Big Eight, scored 20 points apiece as Oklahoma defeated 15th-ranked Kansas State. Little and Barnett combined for 12 straight first-half points to help Oklahoma break open a close game.

Guy Morgan scored 25 points, 18 in the second half, as Wake Forest rolled over Clemson. Morgan hit seven of 12 shots from the field, 11 of 15 from the free throw line and grabbed eight rebounds. "If I knew what it was, I'd buy a box or I'd package it," said Morgan, who has repeatedly haunted Clemson over the past two seasons. Twelve of his points came in a 3:10 span with seven minutes to play, icing the game. In other games:

—Dale Ellis, the SEC scoring leader, scored 25 points and Willie Burton added 16 as Tennessee romped past Florida 90-75. After leading 39-31 at the intermission, the Vols reeled off 12 unanswered points in the first two minutes of the second half.

—Jack Moore scored a season-high 25 points, including 15-of-15 from the foul line, as Nebraska downed Oklahoma State 75-63 in Big Eight action. The Cornhuskers scored 12 of the last 16 points in the first half to take a 31-24 lead. A 10-2 burst made it 57-42 with 6:24 remaining.

Tom Watson Has Sparkle in Eye

By BOB GREEN AP Golf Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — Tom Watson is getting closer.

There's a sparkle in the eye that has been missing for months. The confidence is returning. And the swing, he said, is getting better.

"The rust is starting to come off," an obviously pleased Watson said before teeing off today in the first round of the $325,000 Hawaiian Open tournament.

"Maybe it's not all the way back, but it's getting closer," said the man who has been in an eight-month slump, a slump that deprived him of his long-time position as the game's No. 1 performer.

He scored an unprecedented four-year sweep, 1977-80, of Player of the Year and leading money-winning honors. But last season he missed on both counts.

"Over the last half of the year, from the U.S. Open on, I just didn't play well enough. I didn't play well enough to deserve it," Watson said.

He won three times during the 1981 season, including the Masters. But his last victory came in the Atlanta Classic early in June. And he didn't have another Top 10 finish until the San Diego Open two weeks ago.

He followed that with a 12th-place performance in last week's Bing Crosby and shot a 2-under-par 70 in Wednesday's pro-am on the flat, palm-studded, 6,881-yard Waialae Country Club course that was raked by gusty winds.

"I'm playing okay, not great, but okay," Watson said. "I'm still hitting some bad shots, but I'm hitting a lot of good ones, too."

Although he's had his problems over the past several months, Watson ranked as one of the chief contenders for the $58,500 first prize.

When you were 20, love made your head swim. After 40, you take a dramamine and hope it will pass quickly.

Texas Reaps Bumper Crop

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

The University of Texas can turn an excellent football recruiting crop into one of its best ever if either holdout running back Marcus DuPree of Philadelphia, Mississippi or Anthony Byerly of Newton, Texas decide to sign with the Longhorns.

Both passed on indicating the school of their choice on national of letter intent day Wednesday.

Oklahoma and Texas were reported at the top of DuPree's list while Byerly was pondering Texas and Nebraska.

"Anthony is just hanging back and not getting in any big hurry," said Newton High School Coach Curtis Barbay. "He told me he would probably decide something Friday."

Texas Coach Fred Akers made new Longhorns out of such bluechippers as Gene Chilton, Houston Memorial offensive lineman, James McKinney, Austin Johnson linebacker, Johnny Cooper, Port Arthur Jefferson defensive lineman, center Todd Parks of Ennis and lineman Terry Steelhammer of El Paso Eastwood.

The Texas Aggies did well considering new Coach, Jackie Sherrill only had a few weeks to recruit.

"I think our recruiting went very well," said Sherrill, who replaced Tom Wilson as Aggie coach only three weeks ago for an estimated $280,000 a year. "I'm pleased...we got great response for recruiting over such a short time period."

Bluechippers signing with Sherrill included wide receiver Jeff Bolton of South Garland, running back Jimmy Hawkins of San Antonio Holmes, defensive end Gary Rogers of Dallas Roosevelt, and placekicker Todd Tschantz of Richardson Lake Highlands. He also signed highly rated quarterback Kevin Murray of North Dallas.

New SMU Coach Bobby

Collins got bluechip running back Arthur Allen of Dallas Kimball, and offensive lineman Craig Kennington of Highland Park.

Collins, who had a month to recruit after Ron Meyer left for New England in the National Football League, said "We're pleased at this point...we feel we have a good nucleus...some good athletes that are going to help this program."

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff

pulled off an amazing double, convincing the top two quarterbacks in the state, Tom Muecke of Angleton and Cody Carlson of San Antonio Churchill to join the Bears. "I'm delighted," said Teaff. "It's shocking to think that we could get both quarterbacks."

Teaff also was pleased with the signing of LaMarque running back Ron Francis, "who is something really special." TCU Coach F.A. Dry pulled off a big double, signing Dallas South Oak Cliff's Egypt Allen, a defensive back, and linebacker Gerald Taylor, both Parade Magazine All-Americans.

TCU brought in 18 junior college transfers.

"This is the best overall crop we've had," said Dry, who also landed wide receiver Keith Burnett and quarterback Tom Ledet, both highly ranked by Texas Football Magazine.

Foster Joins Mets; Contract $10 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Armed with the second biggest contract in baseball history, a $10 million deal that could grow even larger, slugger George Foster has joined the New York Mets, determined to help the perennial also-rans become contenders in the National League.

"I'm used to winning and I'm hoping to make the Mets used to winning, too," said Foster.

The Mets acquired Foster, baseball's leading run producer for the last six years, from Cincinnati for catcher Alex Trevino and pitchers Jim Kern and Greg Harris and then signed the veteran outfielder to a five-year contract which guarantees the $10 million. The agreement is second only to the 10-year, $23 million deal Dave Winfield received from the New York Yankees.

"There is a sizable signing bonus and meaningful incentives based on most valuable player and substantial attendance bonuses," said General Manager Frank Cashen, who negotiated the contract with Foster's agent, Tom Reich. "It could go higher than $10 million."

The contract also includes a two-year option beyond the five guaranteed seasons.

Cashen said he was convinced throughout the negotiations with Reich that a deal would be completed.

"At no point didn't I feel we could complete it as long as I came up with the dollars," he said. "The numbers were a little stronger than I expected but not beyond what I was willing to go."

Foster introduced himself at a packed news conference in Shea Stadium, saying, "I'm not changing what I do or how I do it, just where it's going to be done."

His 671 runs batted in are tops in the majors for the last six seasons and he has pounded 198 homers over that period, second only to Mike Schmidt's 221. Foster batted .295 with 22 homers and 90 RBIs in 108 games last season.

Despite that production, the Reds felt they could not satisfy Foster's projected demands after his 1982 contract expired and asked Reich to supply a list of teams he would accept in a trade.

"At first, we gave them two teams and the Mets were one of them," Reich said. "That list was later expanded."

The Mets, who have never had a slugger of Foster's dimensions in their lineup, pursued the trade vigorously. A year ago, they went after Winfield with the same kind of determination and lost out to the Yankees. This time, they brought the prize home.

Did Foster think that having baseball's two highest-paid players both playing left field in New York would create a rivalry between himself and Winfield?

"There was no rivalry between us when he was in the National League," he said. "Why should there be one with him in the American League."

Steelers' Joe Greene Decides to Retire

PITTSBURGH (AP) — After 13 years of waging war in the pits, defensive tackle Joe Greene of the Pittsburgh Steelers is looking forward to a peaceful life of retirement.

"My plans are to live, to enjoy the easy life. I'm a non-combatant now," Greene said Wednesday at a luncheon called to say he was quitting.

"I came here as a boy. I leave here as a man. I tend to think of this time as a graduation," he added.

Greene, 35, was the first draft choice that Coach Chuck Noll made in building a football dynasty that produced four Super Bowl titles in six years.

Greene, the pillar of the "Steel Curtain" front four, has played in 10 Pro Bowls since coming here in 1969 out of North Texas State, and Noll believes he was the best defensive lineman ever.

"He set the standard for us. Physically, he had quickness, speed, agility, strength, the ability to find the ball. But he also set the standard for attitude. There will never be another Joe Greene. Joe will always be something special," Noll said.

Greene's eyes glistened under the glare of television lights as he made the announcement, but he remained unemotional and brushed off eulogies just as he cast aside blockers in his prime.

"I wanted this to be a happy occasion," he said. And when asked how he would like to be remembered, "Mean Joe" laughed.

"What is this? A wake? Just remember Joe as being a good football player, and not really mean, as a man who loved the game, loved the camaraderie, loved participating as a team player."

Greene, who plans to pursue his interests in a Dallas restaurant, has been in the limelight off the field as well. He has won a Clio award for his acting in a soft drink commercial, and he played himself in a television movie broadcast last year.

The 6-foot-4, 260-pound lineman said he had made the decision to retire following the 1980 season when the Steelers failed to make the playoffs after eight straight appearances.

Greene decided to try once more last year, but he became a part-time player, while the Steelers failed to rekindle their old spark.

"I wasn't able to do the things I felt I should do. That was probably the bottom line.

It is time for me to do something else. I've punched my time clock," said Greene.

"I really have loved it. I enjoyed the whole trip, the whole journey. But it's come to an end," he said.

Greene's wife, Agnes, joined him at a head table that included Steeler owner Art Rooney, club president Dan Rooney and Noll.

He thanked the Rooneys and Noll one last time. "They allowed a country boy from Texas to come up here and be himself. For that I am eternally grateful."

Big Red Machine Glory Revisited

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

George Foster has signed an $10 million contract with the New York Mets. Former teammates Ken Griffey and Dave Collins have been measured for Yankee pinstripes. And Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium is echoing with an old and nostalgic refrain:

"Trading (wedding) bells are breaking up that old gang of mine."

"It was a unique team, a character and style all its own — I never expect to see another like it," said Sparky Anderson, the man who guided the Cincinnati Reds in the decade of '70s, piling up 953 regular season victories, six division crowns, four National League pennants and two world championships.

They called it the Big Red Machine. It was both classy and murderous, beating Boston in the World Series in 1975 and sweeping the Yankees in 1976.

Now only three of the original major cogs remain — Johnny Bench, the bull-shouldered, indestructible catcher, now 34; slick shortstop Dave Concepcion, 33, and first baseman Dan Driessen, 30.

"In every one's life there is a pinnacle to which nothing else can ever compare," said Bench, now completing 1982 segments of his Emmy-winning TV series, "The Baseball Bunch" in Arizona.

"To me, it was our great team of the 1970s."

Analyzing the club, critics gave credit to Anderson for developing what they called a perfect chemistry, using Bench, Pete Rose, Joe Morgan and Tony Perez as bellwethers and models for the younger players. Bench was leader of the whites on the team, these observers contended, Morgan overseer of the blacks and Perez the Latins.

"Not so," argues Anderson, now a resident of Thousand Oaks, Calif., and manager of the Detroit Tigers, who was fired by the Reds and replaced by John McNamara in 1979.

"This was a team that drew no ethnic lines. It was a unit. There was no thought of who was white, black or tan. They were people of different colors, beliefs and religions. But, on the ball field, they were a unit.

"Their greatest attribute was that they tolerated each other. There were recognized leaders on the team — Bench, Rose, Perez, Morgan — but no stars. The older guys always helped the younger guys. There was never any mention of salary, no jealousies. Nobody cared what another guy made.

"I told them that under the concrete we were one, with responsibility to ourselves and the club. We could forget the outside world. It was sick."

The first baseman, Perez, was the first to go, traded to Montreal in 1977 to make room for Driessen. A $3.2 million dollar contract lured Rose to the Phillies in 1979. Morgan was next, going to the Houston Astros, then outfielder Cesar Geronimo to the Kansas City Royals last year. This was followed by the exodus of Collins, Griffey and now Foster to New York.

Disintegration of the Big Red Machine, sighed baseball sentimentalists.

"Not disintegration, transition," quickly corrected Dick Wagner, president and chief executive officer of the Reds.

"We felt we could not tie ourselves up by giving older players longterm contracts. We have to keep making room for new talent."

More Dark Days Ahead for Housing Industry

Please call the Hereford Brand between 6 and 7 p.m. on days you miss your paper. HEREFORD BRAND, 364-2030.

Additions, remodeling, cabinet work. Free estimates. Call Bill McDowell, 364-8447 after 5 p.m.

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Reports over the past few days foretell more dark days for housing.

budget deficits just released are viewed by economists as putting more upward pressure on interest rates, and thus on home mortgage costs and availability.

Housing, it is widely agreed, needs help from all three areas — the government, the Federal Reserve, and the savings associations — and it isn't likely to get it.

In 1981, borrowing by the federal government and agencies jumped to $131 billion, almost 28 percent of the $476 billion total. Mortgages, however, fell to $103 billion, less than 22 percent of the total.

bluechip corporation, various lesser businesses, and local government.

About two-thirds of the money on deposit in the associations is in the form of six-month money market certificates and 30-month small saver certificates, according to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. Some of those certificates pay depositors about 14 percent or even a bit more.

That situation, which generally results in higher interest rates also, leaves housing's financiers in bad shape. They too are low in the pecking order. They find it difficult to compete for money to relend.

At the same time, according to the U.S. League, nearly 13 percent of mortgages held by the associations pay them less than 8 percent, and 80 percent of their mortgages pay under 12 percent. No profit there.

This is the condition and the direct impact on housing of the three institutions:

In 1979 the credit demands of the federal government and agencies totaled about $86 billion, or roughly 18 percent of total credit demand of $477 billion. Mortgages totaled $156 billion, or almost 33 percent.

The Fed's impact on housing — or at least the impact attributed to it — is well known. When the Fed seeks to limit the money supply it risks a confrontation with demand. And when that happens, housing is left very low in the pecking order — behind the federal government, the ### Attention Voters!

Attention, voters! In the 1980 presidential election, 62 percent of people age 65 and older voted, says Judith L. Warren, a family life education specialist-aging.

This turnout was significantly higher than that of any other age group, she says.

Warren is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.
