WDIC trip called 'essential first step'

Deaf Smith County's Waste Deposit Impact Committee (WDIC) returned from a week-long trip to Washington, D.C., this weekend and WDIC Chairman Troy Don Moore called the effort "an essential first step for the local community to get noticed—to get recognized—for having a significant role in this process."

The trip was sponsored by WDIC and was prompted by an invitation to

Moore, a county commissioner, to testify before the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee. Following is a review of the trip as reported by Phillip Niedzielski-Eichner, executive director of the WDIC:

In addition to providing testimony, those efforts included appointments with Congressmen Combust and Boulter and Senator Bentsen's staff, key nuclear waste program legislators and committee staff members, a consultant for the Nuclear Waste Task Force and Ben Rusche, Director of the DOE Office of Radioactive Waste Management. The delegation was also able to meet with Steve Frishman of the Governor's Nuclear Waste Program Office who was in town to testify at the same hearing.

The delegation members were Moore and WDIC members, Dennis Brown, Tom LeGate and Frank Zinser and executive director, Phil Niedzielski-Eichner. Steve Coneway represented the Hereford Independent School District for member John Fuston who was unable to attend. County Judge Tom Simons and Vega Independent School District President, Wayne Richardson, also made the trip.

The invitation from the Senate Committee requested that Moore address 5-839, proposed legislation often referred to as the $100 million Incentive Plan, and socioeconomic issues surrounding the project. His testimony emphasized the community's agricultural heritage and values; that technical and scientific merit must be the fundamental consideration in the siting process; and that the state and local governments must have unprecedented authority in carrying out their oversight responsibilities.

It pointed out that DOE has narrowly interpreted the provisions of the Nuclear Waste Policy Act, ruling out payments equal to taxes and impact assistance during site characterization, if it proceeds; yet the agency has continued moving ahead with its office relocation activity. Finally, the testimony called

Governor says no deal yet to solve budget

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says there's no deal yet to solve the budget standoff between him and the Legislature.

"We are continuing to explore various options," Clements said during a brief interview in Houston Tuesday, following news reports that agreement had been reached.

"The negotiations are going on. All three sides are being flexible. There is some progress. There's some give and take going on. There is no deal," added Jay Rosser, Clements' deputy press secretary.

While saying no deal has yet been reached, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby voiced optimism that an end to the state budget dilemma may be in sight.

Hobby, who presides over the Senate, said he hopes the Legislature may be able to solve the months-long deadlock and wrap up all work — including a 1988-89 budget — by its scheduled June 1 adjournment date.

"I think there is progress being made on the budgetary front ... I'm extremely hopeful, extremely optimistic. Certainly more optimistic than I have been at any time during this session," Hobby said.

"I'm very encouraged and hope that the various problems before the Legislature can be resolved by June 1," Hobby added.

The House and Senate have passed budgets in excess of $39 billion. A conference committee will work out differences in the two plans.

Gov. Bill Clements had proposed a $36.9 billion budget that would require $2.9 billion to be raised by extending sales and motor fuel tax hikes scheduled to expire Aug. 31. He repeatedly has vowed to veto any larger tax increase.

But on Tuesday, the Dallas Times Herald reported that a "tenuous agreement" had been negotiated to avoid sharp cuts in vital state services by revamping the sales tax to raise extra money.

Secord portrays administration's large role in Iran-Contra scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A retired Air Force general is laying before the nation new hints of the depth of Reagan administration involvement in the Iran-Contra scandal, ranging from backstage encouragement by CIA chief William Casey to payments to federal drug agents working to free U.S. hostages.

Retired Air Force Maj. Gen. Richard V. Secord, telling his story Tuesday at the opening of joint hearings of the House and Senate investigating committees, said he had been recruited by fired National Security Council aide Oliver North.

Using bank records furnished to investigators by Albert Hakim, an Iranian-born businessman who is Secord's business partner, the retired general identified some $3.5 million in proceeds from the secret sale of U.S. arms to Iran that went to help the Nicaraguan Contras, together with another $2 million in money raised from private contributions.

Secord said he met three times with Casey and dealt routinely with CIA and diplomatic officials in Central America while running a "private" resupply operation for the Contras fighting Nicaragua's leftist government.

"We believed very much in the significance of what we were doing and that our conduct was in furtherance of the president's policies," Secord told the committees.

"I also understood that this administration knew of my conduct and approved it," he said.

Secord described for three hours his role in the administration's clandestine efforts to keep aid flowing to the Contras in 1985 and 1986, a time when Congress had prohibited "direct or indirect" U.S. military assistance, and told of his efforts to help in sales of weapons to Iran to free U.S. hostages in Lebanon.

The questioning is by John Nields, chief counsel for the House investigating panel. Secord is to be followed to the witness table, perhaps as early as Thursday, by former National Security Adviser Robert McFarlane.

Battered Hart marches on

NEW YORK (AP) — Saying "I may bend, but I don't break," Gary Hart is fighting to get his presidential campaign back on track even as he concedes the controversy about his weekend activities with a Miami woman is not over.

The former Colorado senator, in a speech Tuesday before the nation's newspaper publishers, denounced as "false and misleading" a Miami Herald report that a young woman spent Friday night with him at his Capitol Hill home.

"Did I make a mistake by putting myself in circumstances that could be misconstrued? Of course I did. That goes without saying," the Democrat said. "Did I do anything immoral? I absolutely did not."

Hart's afternoon speech at the annual meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers Association had been scheduled before the Herald story was published Sunday and was his first public appearance since then.

On Tuesday night, Hart began rallying his supporters with a speech at a fund-raiser in which he vowed to continue fighting through "these hard days."

"Anyone who wants to test my character is in for a surprise: I may bend, but I don't break," Hart told an enthusiastic crowd. "I can be bruised and I can be battered but I will

School seeks community input

Teachers, administrators and representatives from community organizations have been invited to meetings Thursday and Friday to offer input for a profile on the new superintendent for Hereford Independent School District.

Representatives at the sessions will be meeting with Dr. John Townley, a consultant hired by the school district to aid in the search for a new superintendent. Dr. Townley is from the office of field services at North Texas State University. The board employed Dr. Townley for $6,500 plus expenses. Dr. Harrell Holder's contract as superintendent has been terminated, effective the end of May, and he will receive $50,000 for one year remaining on the contract per a settlement agreement with the board.

The school board will have a special meeting Friday at 3:30 p.m. with Dr. Townley for the purpose of formulating a profile on the new superintendent.

NHS sponsoring blood drive

The National Honor Society at Hereford High School will sponsor a blood drive Thursday from 2 to 7 p.m. in the high school auditorium. The NHS hopes to draw more than 200 blood donors for its main community service project of the year. All eligible and interested citizens are urged to participate, and free tee-shirts will be given.

County gets bingo taxes

Deaf Smith County has been mailed a check for $1,348.10 as the first-quarter payment on the two-percent tax on the gross receipts of legalized charity bingo. The state mailed out checks totaling $1.4 million to 90 cities and 61 counties that levy the tax.

Deaf Smith's payment was just $178 more than the amount received for the first quarter of 1986. The county had received a check in January for $1,435.78 for the last quarter of 1986.

Officials detail domestic violence problem

By DEBE GRAVES
Staff Writer

In Texas, 85,000 women are abused by their husbands on a weekly basis according to a recent publication. In Hereford the problem is growing at an alarming rate. Don Brush, chief of police, provides statistics which show the police department received 343 calls in 1986, they are now investigating an average of 19 calls a month in which assault is involved.

Adult Probation Officer Cindy Simons sees at least one case per week and notes one death recently which could have been avoided had help been available.

Carolyn Andrews, assistant director of nursing at Deaf Smith General Hospital notes that many injuries related to domestic violence are being seen in the emergency room of the local hospital.

These and other professionals who are involved in picking up the pieces after domestic violence has occurred are concerned about the growing problem and they have decided to do something about it.

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Executive Director, Mike

Carr has been instrumental in starting action to provide assistance for families living with violence. In February he and JoAn Dwyer of the Rape Crisis-Domestic Violence Center of Amarillo met with a group of concerned professionals to determine the scope of the problem in Hereford and to plan action to provide help. As a direct result of that meeting and the volunteer action of those present Dwyer's organization opened an outreach office in Hereford this week.

The office is located in room 301 of the Deaf Smith County Courthouse and will be directed by Juliann Thompson a former employee of the Amarillo organization.

Carr states, "The Chamber is pleased to see a project such as this becoming a reality. We are fortunate to be associated with people such as JoAn Dwyer who has worked so hard on this endeavor."

The outreach office will provide counseling and assistance for victims of domestic violence. Thompson states, "We will counsel the women and provide transportation to relatives or shelters. We will help her wade through the legal system for protective orders or divorce if she desires. And we will provide referrals to agencies which can assist."

The outreach office telephone number is 384-7822 and will operate a 24 hour crisis intervention line. Thompson will carry a pager and Quality Answering Service, a division of West Texas Rural Telephone, has donated a year's worth of services so that help for victims will be just a phone call away at anytime.

Thompson will begin training volunteers in crisis intervention and will also seek volunteer staff to work as interpreters and to help with secretarial type duties, but her biggest challenge will be in the work she does in providing community education concerning domestic violence.

"A lot of times the women just don't understand that the man beating her is wrong," says Thompson. "She may have a low self-esteem or because of upbringing may accept this as what she deserves."

Thompson says traditional roles for men and women and societal values often play a part in the Texas areas vie for 'plum'

AUSTIN (AP) — All corners of the state — and cities large and small — were represented as more than a dozen groups presented their final pitches to state officials looking for a place to promote for a multibillion-dollar "super collider" project.

"They all believe they have quality sites and I believe that is true. Texas is very fortunate ... that we have a number of sites that are very high quality," said Edward Bingler, executive director of the Texas National Research Laboratory Commission, which will select a Texas site to propose to federal officials.

He said Tuesday that the commission could decide to recommend more than one Texas site. The panel's decision will be announced Aug. 3. Federal officials are scheduled to pick the site July 1988.

The super collider will include a 52-mile tunnel that will be used for high-energy physics research. The project could create 4,500 construction jobs in the region that gets it.

As the final proposals were filed the Texas House approved a proposed constitutional amendment allowing the sale of $500 million in general obligation bonds to cover expenses that would be related to the project. The proposed amendment now goes to the Senate, where approval would put it on the November general election ballot.

"I think that this bonding authority is going to be the backbone of the proposal that Texas submits to the Department of Energy," said Rep. Al Luna, D-Houston.

Fourteen proposals were submitted to the Texas National Research Laboratory Commission shortly before the deadline.

Senate eyes tort reform debate

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas senators have been told the tort reform package offered them was a good compromise but not perfect.

"This is a very far-reaching piece of legislation, done carefully and deliberately," Houston attorney Joe Jamail told a Senate briefing session Tuesday. "It is a compromise, but it is not perfect."

Numerous proposed amendments were expected for the scheduled debate today.

The package of measures to make changes in civil justice and insurance laws was negotiated by Sens. John Montford, Kent Caperton and O.H. "Ike" Harris, with the help of several prominent lawyers.

Mike Gallagher of Houston represented plaintiff attorneys in the compromise talks, and Morris Atlas of McAllen represented defense attorneys.

"This is a very reasonable bill, and I highly recommend it to you," said Harris, D-Dallas, chairman of the Senate Economic Development Committee, which held hearings on the measure.

Negotiations began after a year-long study by a Senate-House committee of the so-called crisis in liability insurance. Some blame inflated premiums on big court settlements in personal injury cases, while others claim insurance firms are greedy.

Also to be considered is a measure by Sen. Grant Jones, D-Temple, that would put tighter regulations on liability insurance companies.

Montford, D-Lubbock, said highlights of the compromise bill include:

— New court rules that would allow judges to punish people for filing frivolous damage suits or those brought for harassment or in bad faith. Attorneys who repeatedly file such suits would be reported to the State Bar.

— Allowing a claimant to recover damages for personal injuries only if not found to be more than 50 percent responsible for the injury or damage. In a case involving product liability, the claimant must not be more than 60 percent responsible.

— Allowing a defendant to be held jointly responsible for damages assessed all defendants only if the defendant was found to be no more than 20 percent responsible. Under current law, a person who is 90 percent responsible for an injury could recover up to 10 percent of the damages assessed.

Montford has led the movement in the Senate to revise civil justice reforms that would make it more difficult for plaintiffs to collect large judgments in personal injury cases.

Caperton has negotiated in defense of current laws.

Former CIA director Casey dies

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP) — William J. Casey, the former wartime spymaster who as CIA director restored the agency's vigor following a period of eroding morale and sharp criticism of its activities worldwide, died today at a hospital here. He was 74.

Casey died at 1:15 a.m. of pneumonia, said his son-in-law, Owen T. Smith. A secondary cause was a brain tumor, Smith said.

Casey had resigned as director of the CIA on Feb. 2, seven weeks after he was struck by brain seizures and rushed to the hospital.

He underwent surgery Dec. 18 at Georgetown University Hospital for removal of the tumor, which proved to be malignant.

He was released from the hospital Feb. 28, but was readmitted for re-evaluation March 13 and discharged again March 28. Casey, who had a home near here, was hospitalized at Glen Cove Community Hospital on April 25 for aspiration pneumonia, or fluid in the lungs.

come back because this fight must go on.

"These are hard days, but we will prevail for one single reason: the truth will prevail. ... Fight on and march on."

Hart, whose campaign has been dogged by rumors of womanizing, added, "I expect, since I am realistic, that this race will continue to focus on me and my character. And as uncomfortable as I have always been with the personal side of politics, I now welcome that."

"To me, character is what is left after all the charges and innuendoes, sensationalism and unfairness have been thrown and disappeared. Character is really about saying no to PACs even when you have a debt to pay. It's about standing up to Gramm-Rudman and Reaganomics and unfair tax cuts, MX missiles and covert wars. It's really about doing what's right even when its unpopular."

Hart was traveling to New Hampshire today. However, he canceled scheduled appearances Thursday night and Friday to fly home Thursday to Denver, "where he will spend time with his family," said an announcement issued by his campaign staff.

The story linking Hart to 29-year-old Donna Rice of Miami "deserves a big yawn" and probably will get that from New Hampshire voters, said

George Bruno of Manchester, N.H., immediate past chairman of the state Democratic Party.

"I get the sense that not too many people here are paying much attention to 1988 yet," he said.

The Herald story said the 50-year-old candidate and Rice, an actress, model and pharmaceutical saleswoman, spent Friday night and most of Saturday together at his townhouse while his wife, Lee, was in Denver.

The Herald had assigned reporters to stake out Hart's house Friday and Saturday after an anonymous tip, but admitted Monday that entrances were unwatched for up to five hours.

Rice and Hart's aides said the woman did not spend the night at Hart's townhouse, but at the nearby home of Hart's friend, William Broadhurst. Rice, in an interview Monday, also denied that she had sex with him.

Hart told the publishers that the Herald story was plain wrong: "Last weekend, a newspaper published a misleading and false story that hurt my family and other innocent people and reflected badly on my character."

"This story was written by reporters who by their own admission undertook a spotty surveillance, reached inaccurate conclusions based on incomplete facts, who after publishing a false story now concede they may have gotten it wrong."

for special considerations for landowners within and around the nine square mile site.

Moore was accompanied in his testimony by the other repository situs local governments—Nye County, Nevada and the Hanford, Washington area. Once the formal testimonies were completed, Senator Bennett Johnston, chairman of the Senate Committee and sponsor of the incentive plan, pushed for support of his approach, warning that his bill may be the last opportunity to secure a compensation package comparable to that being offered.

Johnston expressed surprise that Deaf Smith County is Texas' highest producing agricultural county. He acknowledged the limitations of the Nuclear Waste Policy Act in addressing the needs of situs local governments and committed to address that issue in any future Congressional action.

Senator Daniel Evans of Washington State asked each local government in turn to answer a hypothetical question: If the technical and scientific concerns were addressed and public safety were assured, would the local government be willing to accept the incentive plan? Moore responded, "I can't commit to that. I don't think we are ready to assume that the repository is acceptable or palatable nor has our experience with DOE given us the confidence that the agency can do it right." Senator Evans responded that he was disappointed that Texas was not willing to accept the responsibility for a national problem. Moore then reaffirmed his previously stated position.

Later, the delegation learned from Congressman Combest that he had co-sponsored legislation that called for a moratorium of the repository program for sufficient time to bring it back on the right track. Additionally, specific details about the way in which DOE has been addressing the relocation process of offices from Columbus, Ohio to Hereford were discussed. Combest joined the delegation in a breakfast meeting the next morning with DOE, including Rusche, Ed Kay, a Deputy Director, and Jeff Neff, the Salt Repository Project Office Manager.

The meeting focused on concerns surrounding the movement of the DOE and its contractor offices into the Hereford area. Better communication with the community was called for, as was continued effort toward resolving the problems with getting financial assistance to the community to address current and future impacts. Combest emphasized the importance of following through on commitments made to the community.

Meetings during the remainder of the week were also held with Congressman Beau Boulter, who represents the Amarillo, Vega, Oldham County area; Congressman Morris Udall, Interior and Insular Affairs Chairman; Congressman Manuel Lujan, Science, Space and Technology Ranking Minority Member; Senator Pete Domenici, Budget Banking Minority Member; and staff members from the Senate Budget and Energy and Natural Resources Committees; and staff from the House Energy and Commerce and Interior and Insular Affairs Committees.

The WDIC also reported that discussions took place with other situs local jurisdictions concerning the potential for associating to better influence the legislative direction on impact assistance and payments equal to taxes. Tom LeGate commented that, "there are clearly areas of common interest, like the need to address impact assistance—but differences exist too—particularly where potential acceptance of a repository is concerned. It may be that an association would have to be limited to sharing information—we'll just have to see."

When asked to summarize the attitudes on Capitol Hill, Phil Niedzielski-Eichner expressed the belief that change is in the making, but that it will take one to two years for sufficient consensus to build for a major program adjustment to be passed by Congress. Meanwhile, the appropriation process appears to be where action will be attempted in the short term. He added, "Apparently enough concerns have been raised to cause Congress to re-think the direction defined in 1982."

Frank Esser added, "Whatever form it evolves into, we have made it plain on this trip that local situs communities can no longer be bystanders, watching others define our future for us, with limited ability to get even program imposed site characterization impacts addressed."

woman accepting beatings as the norm. Bennie Barrick of the Hereford Police Department explains, "A lot of these men believe it is their personal right to abuse their wife and they are real surprised when they find out the law is going to do something about it."

Though many women stay in a violent home situation because they feel isolated and that they have no economic means of supporting their children Barrick and other professionals agree that the violence perpetuates itself. Statistics show that men raised in a home where the father was abusive are more likely to act violently in their own home. Women raised in a home where the mother was beaten tend to marry men who beat them, and so violence begets violence and offers future generations a seemingly endless cycle of pain.

Society has tended to offer simplistic solutions to battered wives. "It is very easy to tell the wife to move out but it is very hard for her to do that," states Thompson. Fear of increased levels of violence, economic dependence, non-supportive family members, official attitudes, shame, and hope for change are all factors in various instances where wives stay with men who beat them according to Thompson.

"She believes he will change or somehow she will do better and keep him from hitting her. She takes responsibility for his violent actions," Thompson explains.

The man who is a batterer is very good at placing blame for his behavior on others according to Thompson. "Many times these men are pillars of the community and no one knows they go home and beat their wives," she states.

The characteristic profile of the batterer is a man who blames others for his actions, pathologically jealous, has poor communication skills regarding his feelings, considers violence an acceptable method of communicating, abuses alcohol or drugs, minimizes seriousness of violence, has few close friends and a poor ability to cope with stress.

Thompson says not all men fit all of the descriptive patterns but most of the batterers will display several of the characteristics.

Thompson advises women watch for signs of a potential abuser by noting if a man comes on too strong, too soon. She also says watch out if -A child reported missing from the 200 block of Ironwood was found by a family friend on West Park Ave. A runaway was reported from the 200 block of Catalpa.

-A report of making false statement to obtain property is being investigated.

-Charges are pending in a reported case of indecency with a child which was made through the Child Protective Services of the Department of Human Resources.

-The driver of a vehicle reported for exhibition of acceleration has been contacted about the situation.

-A pit bull dog has been placed under 10 days observation as a result of a dog bite report on the 100 block of La Villa Drive.

-Officers found an open door at Ralston Purina offices, nothing was found missing.

he is unreasonably jealous, self-centered, displays extreme highs and lows, blames others when things don't work out, behaves badly to others, thinks poorly of himself or is the product of a violent family.

Women who are living in a violent home situation are encouraged to call Thompson for a confidential consultation concerning alternatives including counseling and other services available to assist victims of domestic violence.

In previous decades domestic violence was considered a family matter and society didn't interfere with how a man chose to treat his wife and children. Today that attitude is changing laws protecting victims have improved as has the training officers receive.

With 85 percent of men imprisoned for violent crimes reporting they grew up in a violent home it is important that we continue to seek better means of dealing with the problem of domestic violence. The first step is in recognizing the problem according to Hereford professionals who say that domestic violence occurs in all areas of the city. Sue Lynn Whitfill a registered nurse with DSGH and emergency room supervisor sums up, "I think there are a lot of domestic violence cases going on that people need to be aware of, this isn't New York City but it isn't Pleasant Valley either."

Dr. Tim Revell agrees, "I think the domestic violence outreach center is going to have a lot more business than they suspect."

Ann Landers

Accept, leave past behind

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am engaged to a wonderful man. We are very much in love and I don't want to do anything that might destroy his trust in me. The problem is a secret that I have been withholding.

"John" knows he was not my "first." I told him so at the very beginning. He was upset and let me know he was deeply disappointed, but he thanked me for being honest.

The problem is, I wasn't completely truthful. I told John there was only one other before him when in fact there were three. I meant to tell him the whole truth eventually, but as time went on I felt it might create a lot of trouble and I didn't think it was worth the risk.

Now with the wedding not far away, it is starting to bother me like crazy. I am scared to death that he will find out somehow and hate me. I can't sleep at night because of this fear.

Do you think it is really important? Should I tell him? If so, how? Or should I leave the past in the past? I hope you will print this letter for my sake and for the sake of others who share this dilemma.—Nervous in North America

DEAR NERVOUS: You've told him the important part and that should be sufficient. When a couple marries they should accept one another as they are. Men who insist on knowing the names and numbers of all the previous players invariably use the information as a club later. I hope you will get some counseling. You need to unload the guilt and quell the fear that is keeping you up nights.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I attended a party a few weeks ago and one of the guests, a man of about 30, had an epileptic seizure. Everyone panicked. Nobody knew what to do. Someone made the mistake of trying to hold him down and dislocated his shoulder.

I am concerned about the general ignorance of people when it comes to seizures because my 4-year-old son has epilepsy.

Please tell your readers to remain calm. Most seizures last only a few minutes. Move away any furniture or object that might cause injury. If possible turn the person on his or her side. Do NOT put anything in the person's mouth. There is no validity to the often-reported tale that this will prevent the victim from swallowing his tongue.

Some folks believe epilepsy is related to retardation. It isn't. My son's seizures are under control with medication. He leads the life of a normal 4-year-old and is an active and healthy child. Thanks for the great job you do of educating the public.—P.M. in Omaha.

DEAR OMAHA: Readers like you help me a lot. Millions of people learned something of value today because you wrote. You can be sure that the families of epileptics everywhere are especially grateful.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a Catholic who receives communion regularly. Some priests actually touch my tongue when I receive the Host. I am sure they touch other people's tongues as well.

With so much being written about AIDS I am beginning to worry. Are my fears unfounded or is there cause for alarm? Please print something in your column about this. People need the facts.—Chicago

DEAR CHIC: According to Father James Roache, vicar general of the Archdiocese of Chicago, communicants have the option of accepting the Host in the hand.

I have never read anything in the medical literature that suggests it is possible to get AIDS from receiving the Host at Communion. Your fears are groundless. No authority that I know of has said its possible for the AIDS virus to survive on the priest's fingers.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? Ann Landers' "New Bride's Guide" will relieve your anxiety. To receive a copy, send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

New officers elected by Veleda members

New officers were elected by members of Veleda Study Club when the group met recently in the home of Marcella Brady.

Suzanne Stevens will serve as president; Ruth Fish, vice president; Betty Gilbert, secretary; Audry Martin, treasurer; Norma Martin, historian; and Marjorie Lasiter, parliamentarian.

The business meeting was conducted by Lasiter, current president. The minutes were read and approved and the roll call was answered with "a wildflower encounter." Also, Stevens and Brady reported on the April 13 meeting which was a trip to the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum in Canyon.

A letter of resignation was read from Sylvia Khuri and was accepted with regrets. Also, Donna Lindeman requested that she be placed on the associate membership list for the next year.

Members voted to make a donation to Big Brothers Big Sisters in the amount of $20.

It was presented to be voted on at the May meeting to make a change in the by-laws. This change would be to make the meeting time 7:30 p.m. instead of 8 p.m. The next meeting will be a salad supper at the home of Betty Gilbert.

Suzanne Stevens presented a slide show which she had filmed and taped herself on the wildflowers of Texas. She told of more than 5,000 species in the state. Many of the flowering plants serve as food for wildlife and have proven to be very nutritious to the soil.

The hostess served dessert, coffee and tea to those present. They included Stevens, Juanita Brown, Joyce Ritter, Margaret Zinser, Francis Crume, Norma Martin, Gilbert, Lasiter and Lindeman.

Only 17 major-league pitchers won more than 300 games in their careers.

Special Recognition

The Pilot Club of Hereford received special recognition at the Awards Luncheon held recently during the Texas District Convention of Pilot International in Houston. The local club sponsored an adopt-a-cop program in September of 1986 in conjunction with Safety Program Month. For their innovative program, President Donna West, at left, accepts a third place ribbon and a $50 check for future safety projects from Texas District Governor Juanita Jenkins of Sour Lake, Texas.

Four Hereford women attend convention

The Pilot Club of Hereford, under the direction of President Donna West, was among 69 clubs represented at the Texas District Convention of Pilot International held recently at the Hobby Airport Holiday Inn in Houston.

"In Touch With Tomorrow Today" was the theme of the event which attracted 206 delegates and 282 other members and guests from across the state, according to Texas District Governor Juanita Jenkins of Sour Lake, Texas.

A highlight of the convention was the naming of the Texas District Handicapped Professional Woman of the Year who will go on to compete for the International title at the Pilot International Convention in Dallas in July. Recipient of this Texas honor was Harriet Marmon, a certified public accountant stricken with a degenerative bone disease, sponsored by the Pilot Club of San Antonio. This program is co-sponsored by Pilot International, the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped and Sears, Roebuck and Co. The nominee from the local Pilot Club of Hereford was Wanda Saul.

In attendance at the convention was one of the organization's international officers, Pilot International Director Nancy Lee Bowen of Manhattan, Kan. She addressed the convention body with an official report from the executive committee at the banquet which featured installation of 1987-88 district officers. Wanda Cobb was installed as a new member of the District Awards Jury.

Members of the local club attending the convention included President West, President-elect Trish Workman, Director Linda Minchew and Cobb.

Pilot International is a classified, civic-service organization of executive and professional women with 21,000 members in more than 600 clubs in nine countries. It was founded in Macon, Ga., in 1921.

The first Presidential news conference to be televised was held by President Eisenhower on Jan. 19, 1955.

Supper set for Friday

The public is invited to a Mexican stack supper from 5-8 p.m. Friday in the Hereford High School cafeteria.

Now you're cooking

By GAYE B. REILY
Staff Writer

While baking sugar cookies is no big deal to most people, one local homemaker specializes in the tasty treats and bakes hundreds of dozens during the busy Christmas season.

"This sugar cookie recipe won first place in one division of the 1982 Texas State Fair," said Beckie Fry. "In addition to the cookies, Carol Kelley and I made candies and 300 Santa suckers last Christmas and sold out. We plan to make 1,000 Santa suckers this year."

"We are usually overworked during the Christmas season, but we soon made some ground rules for our yuletide venture," Fry continued. "We now work in the afternoon and must be finished in time for dinner, instead of baking from 1 till 11 p.m. daily. Also, we stop all baking activities four-to-five days before Christmas so we can spend time with our families."

Family means a great deal to Fry, as does churchwork. "We are members of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, where I am co-editor of their newsletter, coordinator of vacation bible school, and once taught in their school. I believe you should put church first and then the rest of your life fits into place."

When Fry isn't baking holiday treats or serving her church, she has big responsibilities at home. She and her husband, Stan Fry, Jr., are the parents of three daughters: Emily, age six, Katherine, age four, and Rebecca, age 19 months. Also making her home with the Frys is a cocker spaniel named Ginger Fred.

"I like working with my hands; I enjoy decorating cakes and cookies, sewing, needlepoint, and making special occasion outfits, such as Easter dresses for the girls," said Fry. "I am a member of the Sweet and Fancy Decorating Club where I have learned to make a moist, good-tasting cake for use in mine and Carol's 8-year-old catering activities. I also enjoy redoing the interior of my home."

Stan, a local dentist, has helped Fry make their home at 117 Fir Street quite individualized. "Stan is very good with carpentry skills and has built a fireplace and utility room while I've wallpapered, painted, paneled. I learned in college alot about interior design and have found that the main rule of decorating a house is "don't make rash decisions—take your time."

A home computer also keeps Fry busy when she is not working on home improvements. "I could not understand why Stan wanted a computer so badly; I thought it would be useless to us," said Fry, "but now we argue over who gets to use it!" Information pertaining to Fry's and Kelley's catering business, vacation bible school records, youth newsletter, and Christmas list are only some of the uses the busy ex-teacher has found for the computer.

"I really miss teaching," adds Fry. "I was a vocational home economics teacher while Stan was in dental school in Dallas. I had 20 students ages 13-15 who were ready to drop out of school. These economically deprived, underprivileged kids were in my food service class, which I operated like a business, hoping to give them some work skills."

"I learned and copied several basic recipes from a successful Dallas caterer and used them in my class. Thousands of dollars worth of commercial equipment were added to my classroom so the students could have their own catering business. They catered banquets for the Chamber of Commerce and other events for various dignitaries.

"I treated these students like employees. They got tips when they waited on tables. For every 40 dozen cookies baked, they could eat the broken ones. Finally, I realized that far too many were being broken purposely, so I set a limit of five broken cookies per 40 dozen which could be eaten!" Fry laughed.

After growing up and teaching in the Dallas area, the East Texas State University graduate and her husband moved to Stan's hometown of Hereford. "We love it here; the community is so open and eager to get you involved in several activities," she said. Fry is a past vice-president of the Newcomers Club and was recently elected extension officer of Alpha Iota Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority. She was also named Girl of the Year by that chapter recently during their Founder's Day banquet.

"The trick to being active is to be well organized, which my home economics degree taught me," Fry said. "I try to find quick, easy-to-make recipes that are tasty." Following are three of Fry's favorite recipes:

Chocolate pie

Cream together:
3 ozs. cream cheese
½ c. sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
Alternately add:
¼ C. cocoa
½ c. milk

Fold in:
1-8 oz. container Cool Whip
Pour mixture into a graham cracker crust, freeze until ready to serve. This is a delicious and super cool summer dessert.

Cheddar Hot Dip

1½ c. sour cream
4 oz. (1 c.) cheddar cheese, grated
¼ c. minced onion
3 Tbsp. minced green pepper
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. red pepper sauce
1 Tbsp. milk

Mix, chill one hour. Serve with vegetables such as carrot sticks, celery sticks, bell pepper sticks, cauliflower, or variety of snack crackers. Yields two cups.

Rolls Tortillas
3-8 oz. pkgs. cream cheese
1 pint sour cream

1 small onion, grated
5 jalapeno peppers, finely chopped
Juice of one lime
Hot sauce to taste
20 flour tortillas

Mix all ingredients together except tortillas. Steam tortillas or place in microwave to soften (three tortillas-20-30 seconds). Spread cheese mixture on tortillas. Roll and chill. Cut into bite size pieces, about 6-8. Serve with toothpicks. Dip into picante sauce.

The nominating committee reported the following slate of officers for 1987-1988: Mary Lou Spinhirne, president; Grace Covington, vice president; Helen Brown, secretary; Baxter London, treasurer; and Irene Reinart, reporter.

Kuwait

The Middle Eastern country of Kuwait, which is smaller than New Jersey, is ruled by the Al-Sabah dynasty. It was founded in 1759, and Great Britain handled its foreign relations and provided its defense from 1899 until its independence in 1961. The majority of the population is non-Kuwaiti — mostly Palestinian — and cannot vote.

Final district game is Saturday

Herd suffers first 1-4A loss

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces, who won the District 1-4A baseball championship last weekend, saw an undefeated district season thwarted by Lubbock Estacado Tuesday in Hereford, 4-2.

The loss broke a 13-game winning streak by Hereford, dating back to a 17-3 victory over Caprock on March 20. The Whitefaces had won 19 of its last 20 games before Tuesday's defeat.

Hereford closes out the district season Saturday at Dumas at 1 p.m., and then will play in the bi-district playoffs.

After six innings of play Tuesday, Lubbock Estacado held a 2-1 lead, with both Matador runs coming on bases-empty home runs over the right field fence. One of the home runs was hit in the second inning, and the other was hit in the fourth inning.

Hereford loaded the bases. Bobby Medina walked, courtesy runner Glenn Parker stole second base, Michael Phibbs walked, and Kyle Streun reached base on an error.

Keith Anderson drove in Parker with an RBI groundout. Estacado had the bases loaded in the top of the sixth inning on an error, a double, and an intentional walk. Hereford ended the inning with a double play turned by second baseman Keith Herrera, shortstop Paul Maes, and first baseman Streun.

In the bottom of the sixth, Streun singled, and Kyle Andrews was brought in as a pinchrunner. Andrews then stole second base.

Anderson hit a hard line drive that was barely caught by the Estacado first baseman, and Estacado turned a double play.

The Estacado seventh inning began with two Hereford errors that first allowed a batter to reach base and then to advance to second base. A sacrifice bunt moved the runner to third base.

Later, with two outs, an RBI double made Estacado's lead 3-1, and then an RBI single gave the Matadors a 4-1 lead. Hereford's Robby Collier walked to open the bottom of the seventh inning, and pinch-hitter Keith Brown also walked. Estacado then decided on a pitching change.

Herrera singled to load the bases. Collier scored on a balk by the Estacado relief pitcher.

Medina then lined the ball deep into right field for what may have been at least a two-RBI hit, but a leaping catch by the outfielder left Hereford still two runs behind and now with two outs.

A pop fly in front of the Estacado dugout was caught for the final out of the game. The game ended on a sour note when the Estacado relief pitcher knocked down batter Michael Phibbs who was running out the foul ball.

The knockdown occurred while the catcher and first baseman were settling under the pop fly. Then after the ball was caught, the Estacado pitcher went after Phibbs, nearly starting a fight if a couple of his Matador teammates had not held him back.

Tuesday's loss was the first of the season for Hereford pitcher Medina, who was 8-0 going into the game. Medina had three strikeouts, allowed eight hits and walked one batter. Hereford committed four errors in the game.

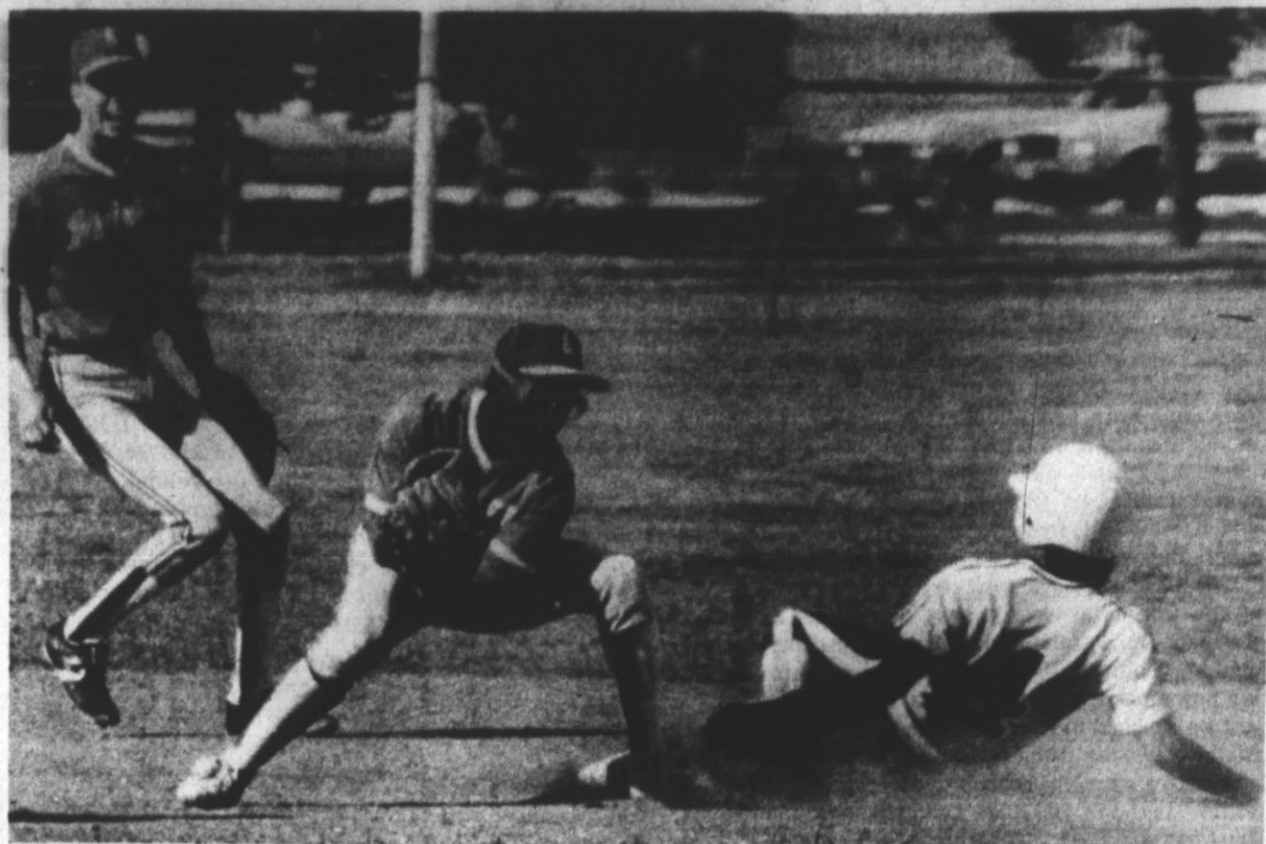

The Whitefaces had two hits in the game.

More than 500 elementary school boys, girls to compete

Kiwanis track meet scheduled Thursday

The annual Kiwanis Elementary Track Meet begins at 12:30 p.m. on Thursday.

More than 500 boys and girls in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades will compete in the meet at Whiteface Stadium.

The boys and girls are from the Bluebonnet, St. Anthony's, Shirley, Walcott, and West Central schools.

The Hereford Noon Kiwanis Club sponsors the meet each year, with more than 50 volunteers from the club working. Every student receives at least one ribbon for participating in the track meet.

Parents and others interested are invited to watch the meet. There will be no charge at the gate.

"Time schedules may vary according to whether the track meet is running ahead or behind schedule," said Steve Nieman, chairman of the Kiwanis Elementary Track Meet. Nieman adds that parents, relatives and other spectators, who plan to arrive at a certain time for a particular event, should allow some extra time to avoid missing the event.

Darwin pitches, hits Astros to 5-1 win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — That Danny Darwin scattered five hits in seven innings as the Houston Astros defeated Philadelphia is not surprising — that Darwin hit a tie-breaking two-run triple plus a double and a single is big news.

Prior to Tuesday night's 5-1 win over the Phillies, Darwin had two hits in 26 appearances in the major leagues. He struck out 20 times, and in every one of his last seven at-bats.

"I was a pretty good hitter in high school," said Darwin, who came to Houston from Texas in the American League last August. "I had gone about 11 years without an at-bat before I came to the National League. The first time up last season the ball seemed like it was going a hundred miles an hour."

Darwin, 2-1, struck out three and walked two. He had relief help from Larry Andersen and Dave Smith, but did not mind being taken out after the seventh inning.

"I was starting to get a little tired, probably from running the bases," Darwin said. "I had real good plays behind me and that made me dig a little deeper."

Darwin's two-run triple in the seventh inning snapped a 1-1 tie, and he collected his first major-league game-winning RBI.

"He (Shane Rawley) probably threw it where I was swinging the bat," Darwin said.

"Darwin really pitched a strong game," said Houston Manager Hal Lanier. Lanier was asked about Darwin's past hitting problems. "He's had trouble making contact," Lanier said. "I never would have bet on him getting three hits in a game."

The Phillies took a 1-0 lead in the fifth on a sacrifice fly by Juan Samuel. Houston tied the score in the sixth when Billy Hatcher drove home Darwin with a sacrifice fly. The Astros added two more runs in the ninth on Alan Ashby's two-run double.

For the second straight game, the opposing pitcher garnered three hits against the Phillies which upset Manager John Felske. Bill Gullickson went 3-3 for Cincinnati on Sunday.

Rangers rally to defeat Indians in 10 innings, 6-5

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Texas Rangers shortstop Curtis Wilkerson has made as many public appearances this season as Howard Hughes did in his declining years.

But when Curtis does get a shot at the spotlight, he grabs center stage.

He went to the plate Tuesday night for only the 11th time in 23 games, and for the first time in nine days, and delivered the game-winning hit as the Rangers rallied for a 10-inning, 6-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Wilkerson went into the game in the ninth as a pinch-runner and scored the tying run in a 4-run rally that tied it a 5-5.

"Last year was a frustrating one for me," said Wilkerson, who lost his starting job to Scott Fletcher early in the 1986 season. "But I'm not frustrated anymore. I accept my role."

"I try to stay ready. I take extra batting practice, try to keep my head in the game and do the best I can when I get the chance."

His game winner came off Indians reliever Frank Wills, 0-1, who issued a one-out walk to Pete Incaviglia and a two-out walk to Larry Parrish before surrendering Wilkerson's game-ending single.

"He (Wills) was the one who was in trouble, not me," said Wilkerson, who in his last appearance on April 26 against the Red Sox had three hits and scored three runs against Cy Young Award winner Roger Clemens.

Wilkerson's hit made a winner of Ranger reliever Mitch Williams, 3-2, one of three Texas hurlers to see action in the Indians' ninth when Cleveland scored three runs to take a 5-1 lead.

Williams came in with the bases loaded and one out and got out of the jam on two popups.

"Mitch was great, spectacular," said Texas manager Bobby Valentine. "He shut the door and gave us a chance to come back."

The Rangers went into the top of the ninth trailing 2-1 against Cleveland starter Greg Swindell, who had allowed five hits, walked two and struck out a career high 10.

After his mates hiked the lead to 5-1 in their half of the ninth, Swindell walked Incaviglia with one out and manager Pat Corrales pulled him. Ernie Comacho and Steve Carlton then allowed the Rangers to knot it at 5-5.

"Swindell was outstanding," said Corrales. "But he'd thrown a lot of pitches (118), and I'm not going to let him hurt his arm and ruin his career over one game."

Carmen Castillo homered for the Indians, his second, and Parrish hit his fifth for the Rangers, who broke a 3-game losing streak.

Several events planned in conjunction with observance

The employees of St. Anthony's Hospital demonstrate a commitment to Amarillo and area residents each day by helping to make people in the hospital feel better. In celebration of National Hospital Week, May 10-16, and its theme "We Feel Good Helping You Feel Better," St. Anthony's Hospital is sponsoring several events for patients, employees, volunteers, physicians and the community.

Saturday, May 16, the hospital is conducting a Senior's Health Day at Western Plaza from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. Screenings including blood pressure, diabetes, pulmonary function and cholesterol will be offered. The screenings, with the exception of the cholesterol check which costs $5, are free.

St. Anthony's will also provide information on hospital services which are particularly helpful for senior citizens such as the Extended Care Unit, the Hospice and Life Enrichment Center and St. Anthony's Auxiliary.

Computerized cancer risk conducted by the Bi City-County Health Department, and nutrition counseling will also be offered.

Internal activities at St. Anthony's during National Hospital week will include an Employee of the Year luncheon, a scavenger hunt on Wednesday, and an appreciation tea for Auxiliaries on Friday.

On Monday, visitors will be treated to refreshments in the waiting areas. They will also be able to take advantage of free blood pressure checks in the main lobby from 11 a.m. - 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. - 8 p.m. On Tuesday, physicians making morning rounds will be treated to fresh coffee and bouillon cubes delivered by the nursing staff. Patients in St. Anthony's on Thursday will receive tray cards and tote bags distributed by St. Anthony's employees.

"National Hospital Week is a time when we stop to consider the support the hospital receives from our different publics - physicians, employees, volunteers, patients and the community. It's a good opportunity to express our appreciation and strengthen communication," said Mike Callahan, chief operating officer.

National Hospital Week is sponsored each year by the American Hospital Association and its 6,000 member hospitals.

Farmers with FmHA loans Bankruptcies rise under new chapter

WASHINGTON (AP) — More farmers with loans from the Farmers Home Administration are declaring bankruptcy, just as the agency is intensifying efforts to collect overdue loans.

A spokesman said the rise in bankruptcies is partly due to the protection offered by the new Chapter 12 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code, which took effect last November.

Bankruptcy filings among agency borrowers rose 50.8 percent to 3,713 from Oct. 1 through March 31 from 2,461 a year earlier. Those included 883 filed in March, compared with 591 in March 1986.

Producing beef that is acceptable to the consuming public today and in the future will be the thrust of a Beef Cattle Short Course at Texas A&M University, Aug. 10-12.

Theme of the two-day educational activity will be "Beef: Gearing Up for the '90s," notes a meats specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Short course subjects should be of interest to a broad audience of beef producers, feeders, packers, retailers, health professionals and consumers.

Results of a nationwide study reveal that 4-H, the "learning-by-doing" program for youth between the ages of 9 and 19, has made a positive impact on the life skills needed by adults to become self-directing and productive members of society.

According to poet Emily Dickinson, "Truth is such a rare thing, it is delightful to tell it."

In addition, 650 farmers quit as the result of bankruptcy action from Oct. 1 through March 31, up 30.5 percent from 498 a year earlier.

The agency also disclosed in a report provided Monday upon request that in the first six months of the fiscal year that began last Oct. 1, FmHA foreclosures rose to 139 from 34 a year earlier. As of March 31, the agency had 2,039 foreclosure cases pending, up from 386 in the same period of 1985-86.

Ron Ence, the FmHA spokesman, said the surge in foreclosures was partly the result of "sort of a moratorium" as the result of a court order in late 1983 in which FmHA was directed to revise its rules and procedures. The court order effectively barred new foreclosure actions by FmHA for about two years, although those in progress were allowed to proceed.

"We had all of these potential liquidations backing up," Ence said in an interview.

Ence said the "liquidation" phase, which includes negotiated decisions for a farmer to sell out, and forced sales, may go on for some time. Last year the FmHA sent out "notices of intent to take adverse action" to 62,400 borrowers to resolve their delinquencies. But only about 36,000 of those were resolved, he said.

"So the balance of those are potential liquidations, and we are seeing some of that now," Ence said.

The rise in bankruptcies reflects "a pretty substantial rush" to the new Chapter 12 federal bankruptcy protection, Ence said, although he said no figures were available to indicate how many of the bankruptcies have been due to the new law.

Texas has 'B' classification on brucellosis

COLLEGE STATION — Texas was approved for a Class B brucellosis classification on April 1 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, notes Dr. F.C. "Buddy" Faries, Jr., veterinarian with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Texas has been classified as both a Class C and Class B state since 1980. With the Class B status, the B-C line will be eliminated, and the B designation will mean less restriction on interstate movement of cattle for Texas producers, Faries explains.

Increased efforts will be needed in the future, however, to reach the state's eradication goal, the veterinarian says.

Currently, six states now have Class B status, 19 others have Class A status and 23 have a designated Free status. In addition, one has a B-C status and one is designated as a C state.

"The next step for Texas is to meet the Class A status as mandated by the USDA," said Faries. The target date for this is Oct. 1, 1990. He also notes that other states are putting pressure on Texas producers to increase efforts to control and eradicate brucellosis.

Combest urges farmers to oppose regulations

WASHINGTON — Calling the new immigration regulations for agricultural employers "unfair, unworkable and unacceptable," Congressman Larry Combest (R-Texas) today urged 19th District farmers to voice their opposition to the regulations to the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) in Washington, D.C.

"These immigration regulations will be devastating for producers and agricultural communities. It has the potential to drastically alter farming in West Texas," said Combest, who recently met with Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng about the agricultural workers provisions.

"After stressing my strong opposition to the regulations to both Secretary Lyng and Labor Secretary William Brock, I believe it is necessary for 19th District farmers to express their concern during USDA's public comment period," the Lubbock Congressman said.

The public comment period ends May 13 at which time the Agriculture Department will evaluate the comments and issue final immigration regulations. Written comments should be submitted to Room 227-E, U.S. Department of Agriculture, 14th & Independence Avenue SW, Washington, DC 20250.

In the regulations, USDA revised the definition of a "perishable crop" to exclude such commodities as cotton, livestock, poultry, dairy products, soybeans, sugar cane and hay. Perishable crops will include Christmas trees, fruits, vegetables, cut flowers, herbs, spices, sugar beets and tobacco.

Due to USDA's perishable definition, agricultural employers in the cotton and livestock industries will not be permitted to legalize seasonal workers and must rely on domestic laborers or workers obtained through the H-2 program.

"It makes absolutely no sense for USDA to say that a Christmas tree is more perishable than a cotton crop," said Combest. "Their definition of perishable crops must be redefined or we are headed for some critical times in agriculture."

Combest noted that the new regulations are only further evidence of the serious flaws in the Immigration Reform Act. "This is one of the worst pieces of legislation I have ever seen. I remain strongly opposed to this program, and hope we can mount a strong campaign to make the immigration bill workable," said Combest.

The Newspaper BIBLE

LAST WORDS OF JESUS: "I'LL BE BACK"

"See, I am coming soon, and My reward is with Me, to repay everyone according to the deeds he has done. I am the A and the Z, the Beginning and the End, the First and Last. Blessed forever are all who are washing their robes, to have the right to enter in through the gates of the city, and to eat the fruit from the Tree of Life. Outside the city are those who have strayed away from God, and the sorcerers and the immoral and murderers and idolaters, and all who love to lie, and do so.

I, Jesus, have sent My angel to you to tell the churches all these things. I am both David's Root and his Descendant. I am the bright Morning Star.

The Spirit and the bride say, 'Come.' Let each one who hears them say the same, 'Come.' Let the thirsty one come--anyone who wants to; let him come and drink the Water of Life without charge.

And I solemnly declare to everyone who reads this book: If anyone adds anything to what is written here, God shall add to him the plagues described in this book. And if anyone subtracts any part of these prophecies, God shall take away his share in the Tree of Life, and in the Holy City just described. He who has said all these things declares: Yes, I am coming soon! Amen! Come, Lord Jesus!

The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen! (Revelation 22:12-21)
