Wagon Train headed for Hereford

The Texas Wagon Train will roll into Hereford at approximately 2 p.m. Thursday, according to members of the Deaf Smith County Sesquicentennial Committee.

Residents are invited to view the wagon train along the route that afternoon and join for a celebration that night in the Bull Barn.

The train will leave Dimmitt at 8 a.m. Thursday and in Hereford will follow this route to avoid crossing the railroad tracks:

- Enter from the south on U.S. 385.
- Turn to travel east on Country Club Drive.
- Go north on Main.
- Turn east on New York Street and proceed to the Bull Barn.

Arrangements have been made by the committee to greet the wagon train participants with a spaghetti supper at 5 p.m., provide them shower facilities and help tend horses with water and hay.

A proposed mini-parade the precede the wagon train was cancelled.

Thursday evening's welcome celebration will include bluegrass music, square-dancing and clogging, with the Chamber Singers kicking it off at 7 p.m. in the Bull Barn.

The Chamber Singers have prepared a repertoire of Texas music for the program. They will be followed by presentations to the Texas Wagon Trainway Mayor Wes Fisher, announcement of the look-alike contest winners and introduction of dignitaries.

From 8 p.m. until 10 p.m., three bluegrass bands will be on the agenda - Tri-State, Hyde Park Sheriff's Posse, and the Good Times Band. The local Merry Mixers Square Dancers will perform and a group of cloggers from Amarillo are scheduled.

Concessions will be open at the Bull Barn by the Sheriff's Deputy Reserve. Other groups who desire may set up a concession stand along the route, but the committee asks for a 10 percent commission.

A sales booth with Sesquicentennial paraphernalia will be opened by the Deaf Smith County Historical Society.

Coming Soon!

The history making Texas Wagon Train is headed for Hereford as part of its Texas Sesquicentennial commemoration. It's arrival is to be around 2 p.m. Thursday, according to the local celebration committee. A welcoming celebration is planned for Thursday evening at 7 p.m. in the Bull Barn.

Cattlemen, USDA reach agreement on buyout

Ending 6-week battle

the cattle industry complained.

Department officials will ask dairy producers who have signed up for the program and are marketing their cattle between now and September to voluntarily shift to one of the later two periods, said Don Butler, president of the cattlemen's association.

John McClung, a department spokesman, confirmed the agreement, saying it would "be in the interest of all parties involved - the government, the beef producers and the dairy producers."

"It is in no small part a good-faith agreement that we will minimize their discomfort by trying to market equitably over those three periods. We gave a little and they gave a little," he said.

Judge Halbert O. Woodward had given the two sides until June 1 to solve problems stemming from the so-called whole herd buyout being undertaken by the government to turn down the flow of surplus milk.

Butler said the agreement essentially satisfies the industry's three concerns: that dairy cows being slaughtered go to market in an orderly fashion; that the department step up its reporting of slaughter data; and that the government purchase enough beef to offset the additional cows being slaughtered.

The department also will impose penalties on dairymen who do not meet their marketing schedules, he said.

In addition, the department will survey program participants by May 15 to find out how many cows already have been slaughtered and exported, and to get a more precise picture of when the remaining cattle will go to market.

The department will publish weekly reports on the numbers of cattle slaughtered and exported, as well as the amounts of red meat purchased by the government to offset the increased slaughter, he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's cattlemen have won a concession from the Agriculture Department that the industry says will help it withstand the effects of the government's subsidized reduction of the nation's dairy herd.

The National Cattlemen's Association announced Friday that the Agriculture Department had agreed to ask dairy farmers to delay the slaughter of their herds.

The association called the agreement a victory in the six-week long battle prompted in a lawsuit it had filed in U.S. District Court in Lubbock, Texas.

Under the 18-month, $1.8 billion program, the government is paying farmers to sell 1.5 million cows, heifers and calves for slaughter or export. But about two-thirds of the herd liquidation had been planned for the first of three slaughter periods, which would have created surpluses and depressed beef prices,

Career ladder, contract on agenda

Career ladder concerns take up three items on the agenda and consideration of Dr. Harrell Holder's contract is planned when the Hereford Schools board of trustees convenes at 6 p.m. in the administration building.

The board is to consider a committee recommendation on career ladder assignments for librarians, approval of the career ladder plan for 1985-86, and transfers to the second level.

The superintendent's contract is slated for a closed executive session.

Other items include approvals of dyslexia training, shortened class schedules, summer school, reports cards and federal program applications.

Considerations for retaining a bond counsel and financial advisor is on the agenda, too.

Reports are to be made by the assistant superintendent for instruction and the curriculum committee.

Committee solicits farm comments

The Texas Senate Agriculture Subcommittee will solicit public comment on agriculture finance and marketing and will conduct a hearing in Amarillo on Tuesday, according to Sen. Bill Sarpalius, subcommittee chairman.

The hearing will be a daylong event starting at 9 a.m. in the Texas Tech Health Science Center Auditorium. Anyone may speak on the issues.

Amarillo's hearing is one of three planned for the summer. Other meetings are set for June 13 in McAllen and July 1 in Austin.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says people who think time heals everything haven't tried sitting in a doctor's office.

There is no right way to do a wrong thing.

Man to friend: "It's tough when you make a mistake, but it's tougher still to find out you're so unimportant nobody noticed it."

Sunday is Mother's Day. In tribute to all Moms, we'd like to reprint this prayer by Peter Marshall:

"On this day of sacred memories, our Father, we would thank Thee for our mothers who give us life, who surrounded us early and late with love and care, whose prayers on our behalf still cling around the Throne of Grace, a haunting perfume of love's petitions.

"Help us, their children, to be more worthy of their love. We know that no sentimentality on this day, no material gifts, no flowers or boxes of candy can atone for our neglect during the rest of the year. So in the days ahead, may our love speak to the hearts who know love best-by kindness, by compassion, by simple courtesy and daily thoughtfulness.

"Bless her whose name we whisper before Thee, and keep her in Thy perfect peace, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen"

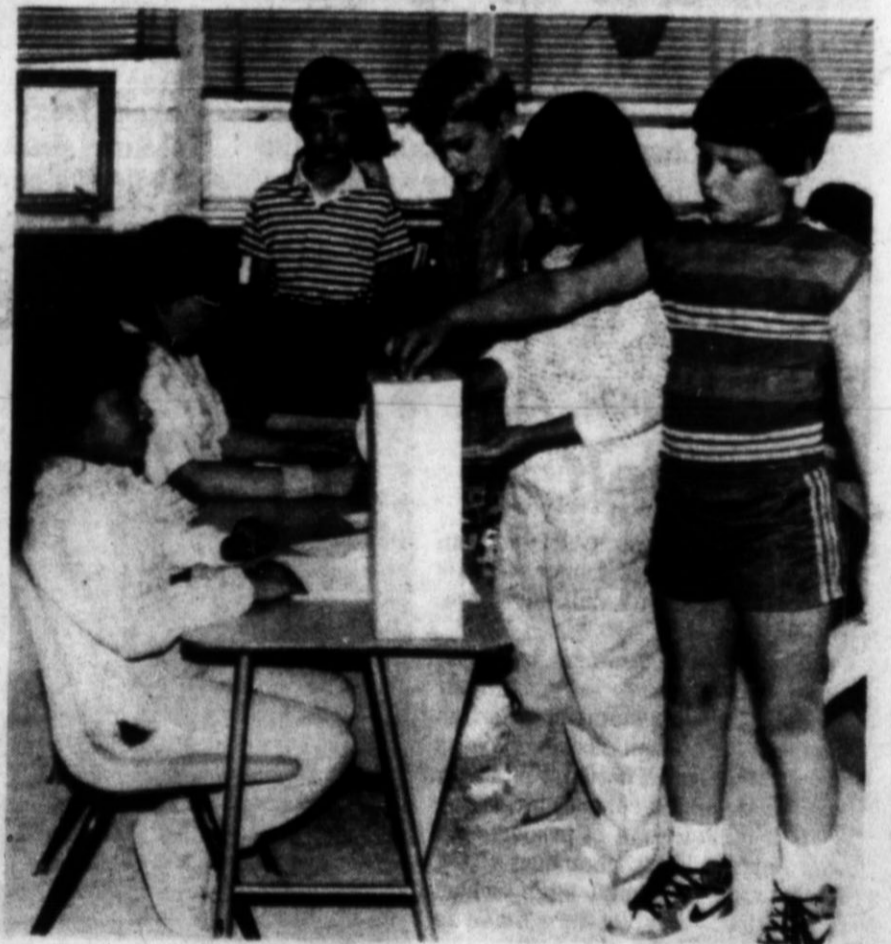

The turnout for the primary elections was not as good as hoped in Deaf Smith County, with less than half of the registered voters making an effort to cast a ballot. It could be much less in the runoff election June 7.

In many election years here, the absentee vote total serves as an indicator-usually with about 10 percent of the election-day total. The absentee total for the primaries was relatively heavy and this led to speculation that about two-thirds of the voters might turn out. Such was not the case, however, as the percentage was close to 47.

Two important county officials will be determined in the June 7 runoff election-county judge and justice of the peace. They have no Republican opponents, so the Demo nomination is tantamount to election in November.

The third runoff position is for county commissioner, precinct 4, but the winner will have a Republican foe in November. Of course, there are a number of state and district posts which won't be decided until November.

It must be discouraging for the candidates who work so hard to have their fate determined by less than half the registered voters. If voters cannot be motivated to cast a ballot in an election year like this, when interest is high, then what will it take?

Election Fever

Kids voted recently, too, in Mrs. Alice Lockmiller's second grade class at Northwest School. Casting ballots are, in line at right, John Stevens, who was elected as a commissioner; Becky Murio, commissioner; Charlie Hays, mayor; and Todd Dudley, commissioner. Election judges were, seated, Veronica Mendoza and Brenda Nunley. Mayor Wes Fisher also spoke to the class on Thursday as part of the week long study of local government.

Outbreak of Parvo reported in area

By CINDY SMITH
Staff Writer

There has been a severe outbreak of Parvo disease in Hereford. Dr. Aaron Hutto has personally treated 40-50 dogs in the last month and said "there have been a lot that were too far gone that we went ahead and euthanized."

Parvo is an interesting and new disease, it was first reported in 1978. "Parvo is a virus that attacks the stomach and intestinal system," said Hutto. "If you could look inside of the dog, it looks like someone took a knife and scraped the dog's stomach out."

Dr. Hutto said the classical symptom is that the dog will be eating one afternoon and the next morning he'll be laying around depressed with little or no appetite. His advice: bring them in as soon as possible.

"The first 24 hours is critical. It is also when they start the vomiting," said Hutto. "They may or may not develop a bloody diarrhea and you'll see a rapid dehydration and weight loss."

"Sometimes they will show some abdominal pain and will have a very characteristic odor to them that makes the feedyards smell like Chanel No. 5," described Hutto.

If symptoms appear, time is crucial.

Summertime brings extra pet care, responsibilities

By CINDY SMITH
Staff Writer

Since the beginning of man, pets have been an important part of people's lives. And today they seem to be more important family members than ever before. Consideration of one's pet means taking care of it properly. When a family member gets sick, one takes them to the doctor, what about the same consideration for one's pet?

According to Dr. Aaron Hutto of Hutto Veterinarian Clinic, a whole new field is opening up where animals are being used for therapy to help the mentally disturbed and elderly.

Good veterinary care and companionship on people's part seem to be the key for having an everfaithful pet. The pet benefits from the owner and the owner benefits from the pet, probably without realizing it.

Dr. Hutto chuckled as he mentioned that some people think it is funny to have their dog's teeth cleaned. But, doesn't a family member visit the dentist to maintain healthy teeth?

The same is required for one's pet. The dog's teeth get tartar buildup just as humans do. Hutto said it doesn't take very long but it is necessary to have them cleaned because the dog can get periodontal diseases just as humans do.

Hutto also noted that dogs even have root canals, but it's not necessarily as expensive as the dentist.

If one's dog has bad breath it's also because he needs his teeth cleaned. Hutto noted that uncleaned teeth on a dog also aggravates heart, chronic kidney, and arthritic problems.

"If you can save a dog's teeth he can eat a little better when he gets older," he added.

Taking care of a pet isn't just feeding and watering it once a day, especially in hot weather.

"Primarily, the main thing is to have fresh water," said Dr. Hutto. In the summer season the water should be changed twice a day. "During hot weather, say 85 degrees and up, the water must be changed at least twice a day and if it hits 100 degrees, you need to put ice in the water."

Dr. Hutto explained that animals, especially dogs, need cold water to keep their body temperature down. "This is because dogs sweat very little, off of their tongue which they use to keep cool with, and they sweat between the pads on their feet," said Hutto. "So, you see they don't have a lot of area to cool down with like we do." He said shade for the animal should also be provided.

"The most critical thing in summer is when people taking their dogs to town leave the window barely cracked in 90 to 100 degree weather,"

'Animals need cold water to keep their body temp's down' said Hutto. He explained that windows radiate heat and raise the degree outside by 25-30 percent. "When it's 90 degrees outside it's not unusual for it to be 110 degrees inside the car, easy."

He also reminded that if the window isn't cracked very much, there won't even be a breeze through the car.

For people who always think the dog should be given a burr haircut because it is hot, Hutto said the average shaggy dog should be trimmed once for the summer season. "But watch out for sunburn," he added.

"We also get a lot of that 'my dog's not eating,'" said Hutto. Dogs cut back on eating in hot weather and he said it's not anything to be alarmed about unless they just quit eating completely.

Other pet owners want to know about birth control at the start of summer when animals are more likely to be active.

Hutto explained that animals have different estrus cycles. "A dog only comes in heat every six months whereas a cat comes in heat every two weeks in the spring and again, every two weeks in the fall," he said.

Dr. Hutto said the best way to have birth control is to have the animal neutered which is an ovarian hysterectomy for the female and castration of males.

"The best time do females is before six months of its age. The reason is that after this time the dog runs a high risk of developing mammary cysts and tumors," Hutto said.

What if the pet owner just wants to delay raising a few pups?

"Then there is a birth control tablet for dogs given the first eight days of the heat cycle," he said. There is also a product called Cheque drops that is given daily and the dog does not come in heat.

In the long run it is cheaper to go ahead and the surgery done rather than worrying from month to month when to start the birth control method," said Dr. Hutto.

The veterinarian said one can also have pet rabbits or ferrets neutered but that most people just keep them separated. "We don't vaccinate them for rabies or distemper," said Hutto.

He said it is a state law to have dogs and cats vaccinated for rabies, and the vaccination must be administered by a licensed veterinarian.

For every dog's well-being, they should have a vaccination for distemper, hepatitis, leptospirosis (a disease of the kidney's that can be transmitted to humans and is carried by rats and cattle), para influenza or PI3 which is an upper respiratory flu, Parvo, and carona.

The dog is given only three injections—not an injection for every vaccine—because the liquid can be mixed.

"People think dog diseases and cat diseases are the same but they are not," said Dr. Hutto. Cats are vaccinated for rabies, Panleukopenia or distemper of cats, and calici and FVR, which is for upper respiratory infection in felines.

He said there also is a new vaccine for cats who get leukemia. The vaccine not only prevents leukemia of the blood but also prevents tumor formations.

One other thing to remember about animals is their obesity. "Obesity can be a problem on the heart and arthritic conditions and we put them on diets just like we do people," Hutto says.

Established hierarchy feared

NEW YORK (AP) — Recent criticism by Lutheran Church in America leaders of a plan to unite it with two other Lutheran denominations represents "fears of the established hierarchy," says the head of a joint commission planning the merger.

William Kinnison, president of Wittenberg University in Springfield, Ohio, says the criticism may be "poisoning the mind of some people," but was to be expected as the merger planning moved into its final stages.

"We're coming down to the crunch period," says Presiding Bishop David W. Preus of the American Lutheran Church, one of the three bodies involved. "But we're expecting a favorable response to the merger."

Bishop Will L. Herzfeld of the third denomination, the Association of Evangelical Lutheran Churches, also said he was "quite confident" the three denominations in August will approve the plan for constituting the unified church next year.

"I think it's God's will and the will of the people," he said.

Annual Pet Show taking free registrations

In giving one's pet the best of care, one might want to show off their "family member" at the Women's Division Annual Pet Show.

The show, which is free of charge, will be held next Saturday, May 17, at the Bull Barn and registrations will be taken until 9:30 a.m.

Judging will be in eight categories: largest animal, smallest animal, shaggiest animal, longest ears, longest tail, shortest tail, and most unusual.

Judges this year will be one of Hereford's veterinarians, Billie Sonnenberg, and Tommie Savage. First, second, and third places in each category will receive ribbons, and the best of the show and people's choice will receive trophies.

There is only one rule for entering — all contestants should be leashed. Jane White is chairman of the pet show and she will be assisted by Margaret Formby, Linda Shipp, and Debbie Gonzales, all of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Patti Duncan is giving Radar Fields a trim for the summer. Radar is owned by Coach Mike Fields of Hereford High School.

New slogan announced

ASTI, Calif. (AP) — Comedian Pat Paulsen, a perennial presidential candidate, has taken a cue from Clint Eastwood and is planning to become mayor of a California town.

Eastwood was elected mayor of Carmel-by-the-Sea last month, but Paulsen is skipping an election, instead declaring himself mayor of this unincorporated town with a population of five.

"I can't get elected president, I might as well name myself mayor," he said, denying he was inspired by Eastwood's example.

"That had nothing to do with it. He's an entertainer. I'm a real politician... My slogan's going to be,

"Make my hour."

Paulsen, 56, actually owns the village 80 miles north of San Francisco, and its inhabitants are either relatives, employees or tenants. It's the location of the Sonoma Valley winery he established in 1960.

Boring books put back on the shelf

KINGSTON, Mass. (AP) — "Tom Sawyer" is boring no longer. "A Tale of Two Cities" isn't dull any more. Officially.

School board members have put those classics back on a summer reading list for students after an earlier vote to ban "boring" books drew the glare of national publicity and the anger of local book lovers.

"It was blown out of proportion," said Samuel Erbe, chairman of the Silver Lake Regional High School Committee. "People were made to feel like ignoramuses and that's certainly not the case."

But unrepentant board member Gayla Troup, one of two who voted Thursday night to keep the ban on the books, said, "It does no good to cram books down kids' throats. ... I think making them read is not going to work."

The controversy arose after the board voted April 28 to put the summer reading program on hold until teachers could figure out how to expand it to all students, not just bright ones.

Parents had complained that some books were too easy for their children and others too hard. One mother, JoAnne DeClercq, of Pembroke, described some books on the list as "boring" during the April 28 debate.

She said in an interview Thursday that she has regretted it ever since.

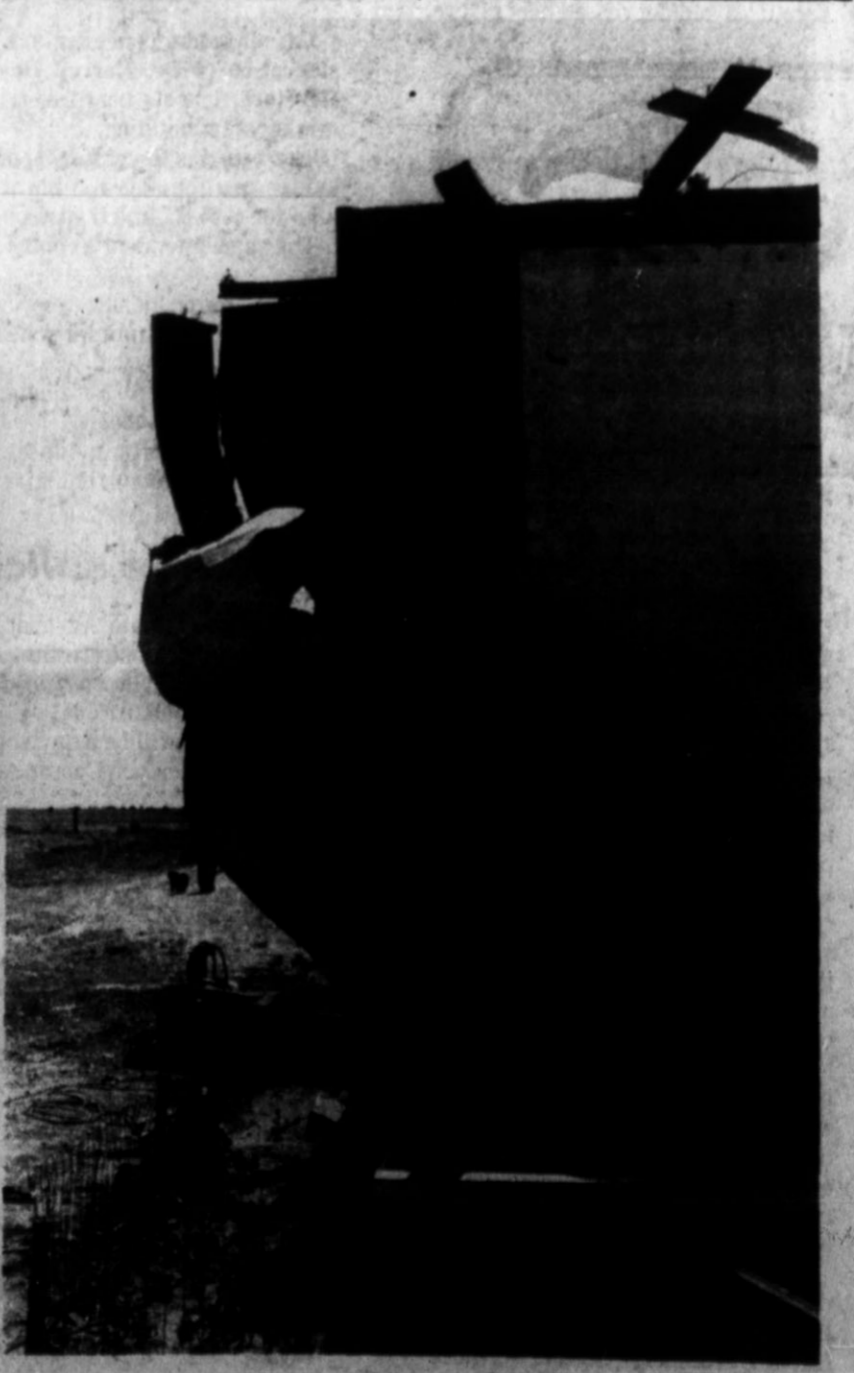

"I was portrayed as a whiny mother trying to protect her child from books," she said.

Mrs. DeClercq had complained at the earlier meeting that her son was just leaving the eighth grade when he was told to read "A Tale of Two Cities" last summer. She said he had not even studied the French Revolution at that time.

Pump Installations and Repairs are a Job for Certified Pump Installers

Looking for a pump for a new or existing water well? Or do you just need some repair work on your present one? If the answer is yes to either one, your next move should be to call a certified pump installer. Each certified installer has been tested by the National Water Well Association on his ability and knowledge to install, troubleshoot and repair water pumps. Only those who have successfully completed the examination are permitted to display the symbol of a certified drilling contractor. Look for the emblem of confidence. Call this certified pump installer.

To Our Customers

For the past 24 years, Martha and I have operated the Whites Home & Auto Store in Hereford. We have enjoyed having you as our customer and serving our community, so we are especially proud to share our good news! To offer you a better assortment of name brand products at fair prices we have decided to change our affiliation to OTASCO. We are excited about this change and know that you will be pleased with our "new" store.

Many of you are familiar with OTASCO and the quality lines of merchandise they carry. OTASCO has been in business for 68 years, with stores located in many communities just like ours, throughout the south.

During the next few weeks, we will be busy making changes in our store to make room for all the exciting new lines of merchandise we will carry. Lines such as General Electric, Philco, Uniroyal, Skil, Stanley, Speed Queen, Lawn Boy and Sanyo to name just a few that will supplement the lines you are used to.

Our store will remain open during our conversion. We apologize for any inconvenience our conversion to OTASCO may cause you, but we do hope you'll come by and visit with us. (You just might find a bargain to take home with you.)

Remember, our name will change but you'll still see the same friendly faces you've come to know and trust. So, come on by! We would like to welcome you and show you our NEW store.

Bright side

Is Texas in dire straits because of the tumble in world oil prices? One would think so judging from the national news coverage that has zeroed in on the devastation of the state's energy industry.

The Wall Street Journal last week shed some brighter light on the economic situation in Texas and gives us Texans something to think about in a time when gloom and doom pervades the land.

Texas is in a recession, to be sure. Drilling rigs are stacked and oil production is down and jobs have been lost.

Texas has not been hit as hard as Louisiana and Oklahoma, however, because this state does not depend solely upon the oil industry for its economic health.

The population of Texas is growing at twice the national average. Retail sales last year were the second highest of any state, behind California. Texas defense contractors won $10.5 billion in prime contracts in the last fiscal year, again trailing only California.

The state's big electronic industry is regaining momentum after a major slump.

State unemployment hit 8.1 percent in March but this still below the national average. Oil prices actually started sliding in 1981 and since then Texas has added 787,000 new jobs.

Texas has the largest highway system in the nation and the second largest number of vehicles. The oil slump, while damaging to producers, saves Texas motorists and tourists $1.5 billion this year in lower gasoline prices.

According to the Journal, what hits Texas and the rest of the oil producing states most is the continuing fluctuation in oil prices, a condition that makes drilling programs and oil and gas financing difficult.

But Texas is not dead economically, by a long way. Given any kind of a boost in agricultural prices and a stable oil price, Texas will be hard to beat as a land of opportunity.

Bootleg Philosopher

Leaders should use technology

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his johnsongrass farm on Tierra Blanca Creek thinks the world leaders ought to come into the 20th century.

Dear editor:

When leaders of seven of the major countries of the world all operating on borrowed money get together for an economic summit you shouldn't expect any immediate increase in your income, unless you're a policeman drawing over-time for guarding the leaders.

According to an article I read, 30,000 policemen were hired to safeguard the leaders and their assistants at the economic summit in Tokyo, at a cost of $42 million. What it cost to fly the dignitaries there along with their staffs, bullet-proof limousines and personal security forces, is hard to estimate, but I figure it's be more than the combined net profit of loss, whichever is greater, of all the farmers in this county this year.

I got to thinking about this while watching a TV interview program.

David Brinkley and his fellow reporters, sitting in a studio in Washington, talked to one dignitary in Chicago, one in New York, one in London and one in Berlin. They all appeared on my TV screen, as though they all were in the same room.

Somebody ought to tell the leaders at the economic summit about this new invention.

In the days of sailing ships, sure, Benjamin Franklin had to take three or four weeks, if the wind was right, to get from Washington to London for a face-to-face conference, but with the miracle of television, he could now do it from his home in Washington Sunday morning and still not be late for church.

With a 7-nation TV hookup, with the signals scrambled so the outside world couldn't listen in, the leaders could have all stayed at home for their economic summit, saving millions of dollars which, if any of them thought of it, could be applied on their debts.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

U.S. Chamber

'Workfare' results are positive

By Richard L. Leshner
President

WASHINGTON — "My father taught me to work," Abraham Lincoln said. "He did not teach me to love it."

Honest Abe was neither the first nor the last to complain about work. At one time or another, we have all griped about the same thing.

Still, there are few of us who do not recognize a moral and social obligation to perform useful work, even if we are not financially obliged to. To regard idleness with contempt is one of the most distinctive, and attractive, aspects of the American character.

Thus, it isn't surprising that we agonize a great deal about welfare. We accept an obligation to provide for those who, for one reason or another, are unable to provide for themselves. But how can we make such provision without discouraging recipients from seeking gainful employment?

We are currently embarked upon a great national experiment to resolve this dilemma called "workfare." Through it comes in various forms, it is to place able-bodied welfare recipients in productive welfare recipients with practical work experience, and reduce the stigma attached to welfare programs.

In 1977, Congress authorized workfare in the food stamp program. Seven demonstration workfare programs were launched in 1979, a number since increased to 39.

By most accounts, the results have been positive. Costs have been reduced and many people once considered hard-core unemployed have gained their first experience as productive members of society.

In my view, that latter item is even more important than saving taxpayer dollars. Critics of workfare insist it is degrading and cruel to force the poor to work for their daily bread. But though we all complain at times about work, and even Abe Lincoln was less than fond of it, the fact remains that work is an essential part of every human life. It represents much more than a means for paying bills. It is the source of our pride, character and sense of self-worth.

It is through what we do, not what we have, that we obtain self-esteem as useful, productive members of society. If workfare enables even a few welfare recipients to experience

As the Years Turn

10 YEARS AGO

Things got exciting locally weatherwise Wednesday afternoon as tornado funnels were dipping in and out of the clouds on several sides of Hereford. Tornadoes were reported at the Black Community between Summerfield and Friona, near the Tom Carter farm northwest of the city, southeast of Friona and west of Dimmitt.

Ferro Corporation of Jackson, Miss., Tuesday was awarded a $282,494 contract by the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission for road stripping work in the Panhandle that included U.S. Highway 60 in Randall and Deaf Smith counties, and other highways in Potter, Moore, Carson and Gray counties.

25 YEARS AGO

For the first time in seven years, a Hereford-Camp Fire Girl has passed the rank of Torch Bearer Craftsman. Susan Stapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stapp, was awarded this rank in special ceremonies conducted recently.

A D-Week is being planned for Hereford. It will focus attention of all residents on the obnoxious dandelion during an all-out effort to get rid of them. Dates have been set for May 27-June 3. The scheduled D-Week is just one of several plans discussed during a meeting of the Beautification Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Residents of the Panhandle face an opportunity of tremendous proportions in the proposal to establish an opera summer theatre program in Palo Duro Canyon.

50 YEARS AGO

The new farm program, based on soil conservation and improvement, will be started simultaneously over the entire county Monday, County Agent Alex R. Bateman announced Tuesday.

One of the most interesting attractions of the Centennial Day celebration here last Friday was the series of show window displays of old-time relics, clothing, furniture and other relics.

75 YEARS AGO

There will be plenty to drink and plenty to eat at the water carnival and barbecue. Pure, sparkling water, a million gallons and more if needed, will be poured out for the benefit of our visitors June 15-17. And to close the event, on Saturday a free for all barbecue, the kind that the cowboys used to give, will be given.

Hereford theatre goers are assured a rare theatrical treat tonight in "Reaping the Harvest," which Mr. Edward Young is offering.

COLOR MY WORLD

Colorblind people may not be discriminated against but the whole world is set up around color.

I have spent my life listening to people ooh and aah about a rainbow. All I can see is a streak of yellow and a streak of blue. Maybe God doesn't like colorblind either.

I have been in Niagra Falls, Canada this week. A friend there was expressing how much better their money was because each dollar amount was a different color while all of ours is green. If I lived there I would never get it straight.

They took me to see the Falls at night. I was overwhelmed when the lights came on. We stood in the cold mist for 20 minutes waiting for the periodic change in the color of the lights. I did not have the heart to tell them white was good enough. Red just looked as if someone hit the dimmer switch.

When the world was set up, no one gave much thought to us colorblind people. Red is a warning light. Red is one of the first colors lost in colorblindness. In the daytime I can't tell if the railroad crossing lights are on. My car has to have gauges instead of warning lights or I could burn up the motor and never notice. (Of course, I don't notice the gauges either.)

Green means go. Green is the other color we lose. I can tell traffic lights if the green is light green. It then looks white to me. If it is dark green I watch the traffic for clues. If there is no traffic I go.

The worst thing of all is that the rest of the world can't make up their minds about color. I sometimes think we who are colorblind have it right and you guys are the ones who are messed up.

Nothing clashes to us. You can't decide what clashes and what goes together. When I was a kid brown and blue did not match. Neither did green and blue, red and orange, or black and brown. They looked fine to me but I bought the idea and colored my world accordingly. Now you wear all of these colors together. Make up your mind, O.K.?

I got even more confused the other day. My wife said a shirt did not go with some pants because one was an up color and the other was not. She also said there were different families in each color.

I got disgusted and said, "Me and Johnny Cash will just wear black from now on." She asked, "Which family of black?"

Cinco de Mayo, cable system, band salute, Odd Fellows

Dear editor:

The Hereford Board of Realtors held a concession stand at the park during the Cinco De Mayo celebration last Sunday. It was a very pleasant experience for those of us who participated in this event and we enjoyed it very much. We could not have been treated with more courtesy. The Mexican American people were very mannerly and appreciative of us taking the opportunity to come out and join them for this celebration.

This shows us if we all work together we can do great things for our town and our state. Like Mary Lyles said, "Let's put Hereford on the map and in the papers for all the good reasons."

We as Realtors appreciate the Mexican American business, so if we can help you sell a house or buy one, please give one of us a call.

I would also like to add that they cleaned up the park and left it perfectly clean after the celebration.

On behalf of the Hereford Board of Realtors, I would like to Thank Southwestern Public Service, Security Federal, Kelly Tyler, Jim Culpepper, Patrick Phibbs and Nocky Tyler for their assistance and cooperation in helping with this event.

Marn Tyler, President of Hereford Board of Realtors
Glenn Phibbs, Committee Chairman

Dear editor,

I wish to add my support to Mr. Johnson on behalf of other spectrum users. The problem in the cable system is one that is prevalent in the U.S. A cable system is supposed to be a sealed system with a very limited ingress and an almost non-existent ingress of extraneous signals. While difficult to achieve, it is not impossible.

The problem usually is one of maintenance, but this may or may not be the case with this system. Many other users have suffered harassment from this problem. The local amateurs (hams) have a repeater on 146.10/.81 Mhz which for some strange reason eliminates A&E network. We have had problems with our high frequency transmissions ingressing into the cable system. At one point we had a mutual problem with KPAN and, with mutual cooperation, the problem was solved (thanks KPAN).

The Federal Communications Commission deals harshly with abuse of the spectrum and all users need to be responsible in their use of this valuable, non-renewable resource. The cable feed that affects most people is at or near 155 Mhz, and our input (ham) is near the 145.25 input of A&E. The other users of the high frequency and very high frequency spectrum are rather tired of the abuse leveled upon us through the apparent, nation-wide, irresponsibility of CATV.

Now is the time for Hereford Cablevision to come to the forefront, with a few other notable local CATV systems, and work with the community to solve the problems. The actions by the F.C.C. have not been favorable to the cable systems so it would be in their best interest to comply. Any further comments by me and others should be addressed to:

The Engineer in charge
Federal Communications Commission
9330 LBJ Freeway
Suite 1170
Dallas, Tx. 75243
Phone 214/767/5990

I hope this can be resolved in a civilized manner, but I also am tired of the uninvited radio traffic in my living room. Keep in mind that local law enforcement and others are operating legally in their portion of the spectrum. If all else fails, the above address is certain to get results even if they may not be the ones you expect.

Respectfully,
H. Wayne White

Dear editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the many businesses and individuals who helped us in making the Panhandle Association of Odd Fellows & Rebekahs meeting a great success.

Visitors were very appreciative of the many deeds done to make them feel welcome and at home.

Space will not allow us to name everyone who contributed but we especially thank Mike Carr & the Chamber of Commerce for a special welcome to our visitors and the Hereford Brand for publicizing this special event.

We invite the public to know more about the Odd Fellows & Rebekahs Of Hereford and join us in our program in helping our fellow man.

Dear editor:

I would like to thank all the band directors for working such long hard hours with our kids! I feel like we have had a good year. I think there are also some very hard working band students as well.

Congratulations on making our '85-'86 school year a good one. Wouldn't we all have a big empty spot in our hearts without our super Big Red Band? Each and every person in that organization makes it what it is.

We as parents have a big responsibility to teach these kids respect for their teachers and sponsors. If they do not have that respect it will eventually show in their organization and performance.

I had the privilege of going to Dallas with our band as a sponsor. I am proud to say that most of our students were well behaved and were a good asset to Hereford Texas. Here's hoping next year is even better. We love you.

Sincerely
Cecelia Fuller

WTSU grid coach to speak here Tuesday

West Texas State University head football coach Bill Kelly will speak about the Buffaloes' football program in Hereford on Tuesday.

Kelly will discuss recruiting accomplishments, spring practice, and the team's 1986 schedule. He will speak at Hereford State Bank at 212 E. Third Street from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The public is invited to attend Kelly's talk, and no admission will be charged.

The 1985 Missouri Valley Conference Coach of the Year, Kelly has a collegiate coaching record of 36-16.3 in five seasons.

West Texas State set numerous school and conference records last season en route to a 6-3-1 season record. Several Buffalo individuals were ranked among the leaders in the nation in passing, receiving and total offense.

Happiness Is ... Long Jumping

ENJOY THE NATIONAL TREASURES AND HISTORY OF THE REPUBLIC OF TEXAS

THE GONZALES FLAG

The Mexicans loaned the Texans a cannon to keep the Indians away, but then thought better of the idea and asked for the cannon back. This flag was the Texan's answer as the first shots of the war for independence were fired on October 2nd, 1835.

THE TROUTMAN FLAG

One of the most inspirational symbols during the dark days between the fall of the Alamo and the victory at San Jacinto.

THE ALAMO FLAG

The banner that flew from the walls of the Alamo for 13 days as less than 200 Texans held off a Mexican army of over 5,000 men.

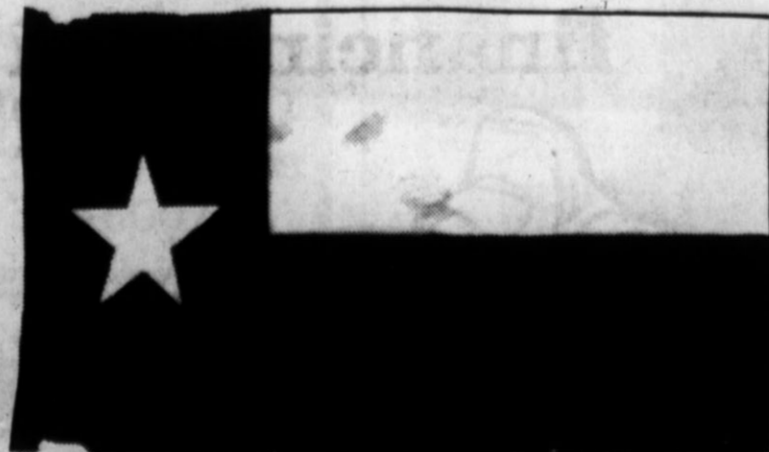

FLAG OF THE TEXAS NAVY

If the Texas Navy had not been able to keep the crucial supply lines to New Orleans and America open, the Texas revolution would have failed.

CAPTAIN SCOTT'S FLAG

A flag of one of the many independent groups who reported to Stephen F. Austin at San Felipe to fight for a free and sovereign Texas.

THIRD FLAG OF THE REPUBLIC

Texas' flag during the last seven years as an independent country. Under this banner, Texas was recognized by France and England. In 1846, this last flag of the Republic became the official state flag.

You Are Invited!

Hereford State Bank cordially invites you to "Remember the Alamo" as well as other great events that forged the history of our great Lone Star State as it went from an independent country to the 28th state of the union!

May 12th through May 16th, we will be exhibiting replicas of eleven historic Texas flags representing Texas through its earliest beginnings. It's our way of commemorating the Texas Sesquicentennial.

The flags are limited edition museum replicas containing the historic emblems of Texas. They were replicated from eyewitness accounts written by men and women in Texas 150 years ago.

Please plan to help us relive Texas' vibrant past.

Stop by to see these beautiful specimens of "Once Upon a Time"!

Sesquicentennial Fair planned in Kerrville

KERRVILLE, TEXAS — Bright splashes of color, intricately designed patterns and shades of regional accents all comprise the simple, timeless beauty of arts and crafts created to immortalize the spirit and essence of Texas for the 15th Annual Texas State Arts & Crafts Fair. As in past years, the fair will be held on 16 acres of the tree-covered Schreiner College campus in Kerrville.

Slated for May 24-25 and May 31-June 1, the 1986 Sesquicentennial Fair will be bigger and better than ever, complete with a number of specially planned activities commemorating Texas' 150th anniversary.

More than 200 artisans from across the state will "show and sell" unique works such as kaleidoscopes, water and oil paintings, hand puppets, custom-made wooden toys, porcelain dolls, and papier-mache masks.

In honor of the Sesquicentennial, a special "Artists of the Decade Exhibit" will feature the works of Texas' most accomplished artists. In 1972, the state legislature began recognizing one outstanding visual artist as the official Texas State Artist and has continued to do so each year. Some of the award-winning artists will show their works daily in the Pavilion.

Visitors can also take in a showing of historic period costumes from the 1830s to the present, including styles worn by flappers and pioneer women and children. Lionel Johnston, former star of the NBC daytime serial "Another World", will serve as master of ceremonies for the fashion show which is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. daily at Stage One.

Fair-goers will also be treated to a larger, more diverse array of traditional Fair entertainment than ever before. The sounds of bluegrass and country and western music performed by the ever-popular Poverty Playboys will be heard intermittently with jazz tunes from the Roaring '20s performed by Pinnacle Brass.

Another entertainment attraction is the musical rendition "Workin' Texas" performed by Project InterAct, an Austin-based theatre troupe. Written especially for children, "Workin' Texas" illuminates the faith, humor and courage of the generation of Texans that witnessed the Dustbowl and the Great Depression.

Children are also sure to enjoy petting and feeding the gentle barnyard animals at the Fair's petting zoo. Or they can take part in the plays, songs and story-telling of fair-favorites Don Sandes and Bill Olivervin the children's area. The friendly Kerr Clowns will do their part to keep the mood festive as they make their way around the fairgrounds, stopping to talk with young and old alike.

And when fair-goers get a Texas-size appetite, they can indulge in some of the Lone Star State's favorite festival food, including fajitas, barbeque, skewered shrimp, strawberry shortcake, and ice cream. Plenty of ice-cold beer and soft drinks will also be available.

Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for children ages 6-12. Children under six are admitted free. Fair hours are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. For further information, contact Audie Hamilton, Texas Arts & Crafts Foundation, P.O. Box 1527, Kerrville, Texas 7028, 1+800+292-0069.

Fashions Of Era

Visitors at the Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair can take in a showing of historic period costumes from the 1830s to the present, including styles worn by flappers and pioneer women and children. Fashion shows are scheduled daily at 2:30 p.m. during the fair, May 24-25 and May 31-June 1 at the Schreiner College campus in Kerrville.

Class of '36 schedules reunion

The 1936 Hereford High School graduating class will be having its 50-year reunion and dinner at 7 p.m. May 23 at the Caison House. This will be dutch treat.

During the Mid-Plains Pioneer Day Celebration, May 24 at the Bull Barn, the class will have a designated table. All members are invited to attend.

There are several former students who cannot be located. They include Joyce Davis, Marie Miller, Jessie Marie Schulz, Sybil Wynona Weckesser, J.W. Cockrell, Meredith Fred Montgomery, Byron George and Gladys Czerner.

Anyone having information about these people is ask to call 364-1778.

Crops shrinking in 1986.

Spring wheat is expected to be planted at a rate of 3/4 less than 1985 and will be the smallest crop since 1964. The U.S. Department of Agriculture has released findings of a survey of farmers' planting intentions for the rest of this year. Corn will have the fewest acres since 1983 with a 1/2 reduction from 1985. Reducing planted acreage is required to qualify for crop subsidies this year. Soybeans are also on the same side of the planting scale with the smallest number of acres to be planted since 1977. There will be some increase of soybean planting in the Midwest while the South cuts back. Last year's grain sorghum plantings will be cut by 12% in 1986 with the South again leading the way with the most number of acres cut out of those actively planted.

Times changed for fitness classes at Y

The Hereford and Vicinity YMCA will be changing times for the fitness and exercise classes to accommodate summer scheduling. Classes will continue to meet on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, according to Susan Marnell, fitness director.

Included in the new schedule are two "Bodyworks" sessions which start on Monday, May 12, at 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. The session will combine hydraulic weight machines, an aerobic workout, and stretching. Class enrollment will be limited and is restricted to those 18 and older.

It is a co-ed class which will last six weeks. Babysitting will be available, also.

Summer's fitness classes at the Y will start with a 6:15 a.m. Early Bird Start-Out, for the beginner level.

At 9 a.m. is Start-Out Fitness, a low level and low impact class for burning calories.

Also at 9 a.m. is Watercise. Bouyancy of water makes possible movements that are difficult on land, thus enabling persons of any physical condition to participate.

Two more Start-Out Fitness classes are at 5 p.m. and 6 p.m.

For the person who wants a little more vigorous session ther is Fitness Plus at 7 p.m. The class will be in the Y fitness area. It will include jumping, jogging, and skipping to music.

Another Watercise class is set for 7:30 p.m.

Safe, fun exercise for the pregnant woman is included in Pre-Natal Exercise set for 8 p.m. No jumping or hard movements are involved. Each participant must have a physician's approval to take the class.

New program initiated for low back problems

The Hereford & Vicinity YMCA has announced the beginning of a new program entitled, "The Y's Way To A Healthy Back", designed for people who suffer from low back discomfort.

Susan Marnell, physical director, has just received her certification as a trained instructor in this program.

The six-week program will begin at 6 p.m. June 4 and will meet once weekly on Wednesdays at the YMCA. There will be a pre-registration period May 12-14.

Marnell reports that a number of YMCA's across the country are using the program with good results. The program is also geared for people who are regular exercisers and yet suffer back discomfort. Long distance runners have also been helped by this program, she reported. Call the YMCA for more information at 364-6990.

Gililand to play lead role

Opening May 10, Adventure Theatre presents "Tom Sawyer", Mark Twain's unforgettable story of Tom's adventures growing up on the banks of the Mississippi River in the mid 1800's. With Tom, Huck and the rest of the cast portrayed by local talent this show promises to speak to children of all ages.

Tom is played by Greg Franklin, a sophomore at Amarillo High; his side-kick Huck Finn by Matt Gililand of Hereford; Becky Thatcher, Tom's romantic interest is played by Heather Howard, also a sophomore at AHS. Rounding out the cast of family and friends is James Van Bibber as Joe Harper, a student at Sam Houston Jr. High; Robbie Burd as Alford Temple, Chris Branigan as Sid Sawyer, Tom's brother, and Lori Branigan as Amy Lawrence, all of Valleyview Jr. High. Tom's Aunt Polly is played by Carrie Ambo of Amarillo.

Starring in Amarillo

Making his debut on stage, Matt Gililand, son of John and Amy Gililand, will be starring as Huck Finn in the play "Tom Sawyer" at the Adventure Theatre in Amarillo. Gililand, left, is snoozing under his hat and Greg Franklin, right, of Amarillo will be playing Tom Sawyer. The play will run from May 10 through June 14.

"Tom Sawyer" will be presented each Saturday afternoon from May 10 through June 14 onstage at the Country Square Dinner Theatre at 135 Sunset Marketown. A hot dog lunch is served before the show starting at 12:30, tickets are $5.00 for children and $7.00 for adults. Call for reservations at 358-7486.

NAVY BLUE

SAN DIEGO (AP) — In 1745, British officers petitioned the admiralty for the adoption of new uniforms for naval officers.

The first lord of the admiralty had several officers model the uniforms under consideration so he could select the best. He chose several uniforms of various styles and colors to present to King George II for a final decision.

National Nursing Week

he signs the proclamation. National Nursing Week will be observed May 11-17 by both care centers in Hereford.

Observance begins today

National Nursing Home Week, May 11-17, is being observed by King's Manor Nursing Home and Golden Plains Care Center.

Residents at Golden Plains will have a cookout on Monday and an honorary luncheon on Tuesday. Wednesday will be Western Day and barbeque with all the trimmings will be catered by Savage's Hickory Pit. Various games will be offered for game day on Thursday and an afternoon ice cream party is planned for Friday.

Both nursing facilities provide 24 hour care, maintain a licensed nursing staff and offer nutritional meals and activity programs.

Aside from sweetness and bitterness, children aren't really attuned to odors and flavors until they're 4 or 5 years old.

POLLY'S POINTERS

DEAR POLLY — I have a beautiful linen banquet-size tablecloth that was given to me as a wedding gift in 1931. It has a four-inch hem-stitched hem and a monogram hand-embroidered in two corners.

Would it be possible to have the cloth cut down to fit an oval table or should I try to sell it, monogram with-standing? I hate to see such a beautiful piece of linen wrapped in plastic and not being used. Do you have any suggestions? — MRS. R.E.

DEAR MRS. R.E. — Whether you sell the cloth or not is really your decision. If you do want to keep it, however, it would be easy to make a usable cloth out of it.

I'm sure any professional seamstress would be able to cut down the cloth and finish it as an oval to fit your present table. If you're at all handy at sewing, you could do it yourself.

To get the rounded corners even, you can draw them with a homemade compass: Pin a long piece of string to the exact center of the cloth and tie a pencil at the correct distance from the center with which to draw the curved corners.

Another way to use the linen would be to cut it down into table mats and a matching runner or matching napkins. This would be a simple project and you might even be able to salvage the monograms as part of the runner or on two of the mats. If you wanted something more than plain mats, you could trim the edges with some lovely crocheted lace edging purchased at your local fabric store.

Bring tablecloth out of mothballs

I think it could be a beautiful set. Although some might think it a shame to cut up a beautiful large cloth like this, far better to make it into something you'll be using than to leave it stored away forever.

I'm sending you a copy of my newsletter "Recycling Clothes and Linens" which may give you some additional ideas for reusing this cloth. Others who would like this issue should send $1 for each copy to POLLY'S POINTERS, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1216, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to include the title. — POLLY

Polly will send you a Polly Dollar ($1) if she uses your favorite Pointer. Peeve or Problem in her column. Write POLLY'S POINTERS in care of this newspaper.

Board to meet at WT May 20

The quarterly meeting of the West Texas State University Board of Regents will be held at 9 a.m. Tuesday, May 20, in room 211 of the Henson Activities Center.

A decision regarding implementation of the new strategic plan will highlight the agenda. The plan includes enhancement of certain programs, elimination of others, and general restructuring of the university both in its academic and administrative offices.

The giant planets, Saturn and Jupiter, composed of much the same material as the sun, emit more energy than they receive from the sun.

KIMBERLY BOOKER, ALLEN LEONARD

Marriage planned

Mr. and Mrs. Al E. Malone of 905 E. 15th St. announce the engagement of their daughter, Kimberly Kay Booker, to Chris Allen Leonard.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Leonard of Pampa.

The couple plans to be wed Aug. 9 at St. Vincent's Catholic Church in Pampa.

The bride-elect graduated from Dimmitt High School in 1984 and is now attending West Texas State University. She is majoring in secretarial studies and will graduate in May.

Leonard graduated from Pampa High School in Pampa and is now attending WTSU majoring in accounting. He will graduate this month.

Vasek serves as installing officer

St. Anthony's Women's Organization officers for 1986-87 were elected recently at a meeting held in the Antonian Room.

Karla Vasek installed Pat Simnacher as president; Grace Paschel, first vice-president; Georgia Auckerman, second vice-president; Connie Backus, secretary; Olga Harris, treasurer; Adeline Loerwald, reporter; and Martha Paetzold, parliamentarian.

Vasek used the prophets and Biblical writers and their virtues as the attributes of each officer in an impressive ceremony. Each officer was presented a crocheted cross bookmark.

Members convened for Mass and a reception into the Confraternity of Christian Mothers. Enrolled in the Confraternity were Barbara Frank, Donna Weaver, Wanda Jesko, Elizabeth Jesko, Mary Palmer and Elizabeth Vogel.

Also, during the business meeting with Martha Paetzold presiding, a report was heard on the recent meeting of the Hereford Deanery Council of Catholic Women held in Nazareth.

RESTORATION GRANT
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minneapolis Institute of Art says it has been awarded a $30,000 National Endowment for the Arts grant.

The grant is to be used for a restoration of six of the museum's nine historic period rooms. The yearlong project will restore the rooms to their original appearance.

Mother's Day

A MOTHER'S BEAUTITUDE

Blessed is the mother who understands her child, for she shall inherit a kingdom of memories.

Blessed is the mother who knows how to comfort, for she shall possess a child's devotion.

Blessed is the mother who guides by the path of righteousness, for she shall be proud of her offspring.

Blessed is the mother who is never shocked for she shall receive confidences.

Blessed is the mother who teaches respect, for she shall be respected.

Blessed is the mother who emphasizes the good and minimizes the bad, for in like manner the child shall make evaluations.

Blessed is the mother who treats her child as she would be treated, for her home shall be filled with happiness.

Blessed is the mother who answers simply the startling questions, for she shall always be trusted.

Blessed is the mother who has character strong enough to withstand the thoughtless remarks and resentments of the growing child, for again, in due time she shall be honored.

Luncheon, business meeting held by Draper members

Draper Extension Homemakers Club members met Wednesday in the home of Vickie Higgins for a luncheon and business meeting.

The meeting was opened with the T.E.H.A. prayer followed by the Texas Pledge.

Secretary Brenda Pagett presided over the business session with the hostess giving the opening exercise.

The group is collecting pennies for friendship to be given to Girlstown.

It was announced that the council has spices for sale and that the Texas Sesquicentennial cookbooks have arrived. If interested in purchasing the books contact Johnnie Messer, council chairman, at 364-2765 or 364-0150.

Tonie Vaughn was the Draper nominee for state delegate.

Messer presented a Texas sesquicentennial program.

Sandie Tarbett was recognized by the group as a new member and the next meeting was planned at noon Sept. 3 in her home.

Those present were Pagett, Higgins, Messer and Vaughn.

Blinderman to speak

Mary Blinderman, home economist with Southwestern Public Service, will be here on Tuesday. She will be giving a program on garnishing foods for all 4-H'ers and friends.

The program will be at 4 p.m. in the Reddy Room at Southwestern Public Service Building.

Any young person interested in learning to serve dishes more attractively and have a good time are encouraged to come. It is not necessary but helpful if you would call the Extension office at 364-3573 if you plan to attend. Four-H'ers this will help you in displaying your foods at the food shows.

The first bowling tournament for women was held in St. Louis, Missouri in 1917.

Celebration Observed

row) Eleanor Hudspeth, parliamentarian; Rose Mary Shook, second vice-president; and Carole McGilvary, president. Not pictured is Adelle Clements, treasurer. Charter members of the chapter were also recognized. Honorees included in bottom photo, from left, Margaret Ann Durham, Della Stagner, Eloise McDougal and Eleanor Hudspeth.

New Mexico top vacation spot

New Mexico has recently been listed as one of the world's 10 best vacation spots to visit this summer. It has never been a secret to New Mexicans.

New Mexico's newest attraction is the Caprock Amphitheatre in Eastern New Mexico and is the only outdoor theatre in the state devoted to historical drama. The premier performance of "Dream On A Blue Horse," opens Friday, June 13, and runs through Aug. 16, each night except Monday.

"Dream On A Blue Horse", written by native New Mexican Rebekah Gossett, honors the lifestyle of the people of the land and the heritage of New Mexico. The musical's theme centers around the myth of an American hero, the cowboy the myth of the man and the man himself.

The two-act play, commencing at 8 p.m. each evening, unfolds against the panorama of the Eastern New Mexico sky. The Caprock Amphitheatre, built by the New Mexico State Parks Division, seats 1,000 people, and is located 11 miles south of San Jon. The site can be reached by exiting at Exit 356, off I-40 at San Jon, for those coming from the north, east, or west. For those coming from the south the amphitheatre is 50 miles north of Clovis, New Mexico on Highway 18 with the last 15 miles on Highway 39 north out of Grady, N.M. The amphitheatre, operated by the nonprofit New Mexico Outdoor Drama Association, is recessed atop the natural rimrock formation known locally as the "Caprock" and overlooks the beautiful San Jon Valley some 600 feet below.

Those coming to the area for the first time might also enjoy three fine fishing and recreational lakes within 30 minutes to an hours drive of the amphitheatre. The grave of the infamous Billy The Kid, located at Fort Sumner, is only 90 miles away. Billy is part of "Dream On A Blue Horse", as is the legendary Pecos Bill and his gal Bluefoot Sue. The show is designed for all ages, from two to 102.

An evening meal will be available starting at 6. Reservations, tickets, or information, can be obtained by calling 1(505)576-2455 (San Jon) or by writing "Dream On A Blue Horse", P.O. Box 337, San Jon, New Mexico 88434.

John Tyler, 10th president of the United States, was born in 1790.

Chamber Singers to perform

The Hereford Chamber Singers are currently preparing music to be presented at the Wagon Train festivities in Hereford Tuesday.

The group will also perform at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 18, at the Texas Sesquicentennial Concert to be held in the Hereford High School auditorium. Tickets are priced at $2 per person.

Other performances scheduled will be at the FunFest activities in Amarillo Sunday, May 25. Also, Hereford night will be featured at the "Texas" production in Palo Duro Canyon and the choir will sing for the barbecue prior to the opening on June 20.

Jan Walser is director of the group for the upcoming appearances. Piano accompanist is Elva Devers; guitarists, Steve Gilbert and David Burns; and bass, Jay Thompson. Devers is founder/director of the group and Amy Gililand serves as its president.

The Hereford Chamber Singers is a choir of select adult voices of people from all walks of life in the community. Its motto, "Human Relations Through Music," has been demonstrated throughout the state of Texas and even behind the Iron Curtain as it has traveled to represent Hereford and the Panhandle.

Founded in 1974, the group performed for the Texas Choral Directors Convention in San Antonio in 1975 and was honored with a standing ovation from the directors following the performance.

In 1985, the group was again invited to perform for T.C.D.A. to help celebrate its 30th anniversary and again was received with enthusiastic acclaim.

Travel to the Communist country of Romania in 1977 was a unique experience for the group of West Texas singers. Friendship Ambassadors sponsored the choir for a two-week tour of spreading friendship through music throughout this country comprised of the Transylvanian Alps, the Danube River and the Black Sea. Performances included one in a richly decorated opera house near the Black Sea and also one in a peasant village outdoors with chickens feeding all around.

The music performed by the Chamber Singers has been varied. Special concerts which have been given including one featuring music of composer/arranger, Houston Bright, a country-western concert, a potpourri of solo/ensemble numbers from members of the group, a religious music concert and a celebration of music from Walt Disney movies.

One particular concert featured noted composer Eugene Butler who was commissioned to compose an original number just for the Chamber Singers and who served as guest conductor for the concert.

The latest effort by the group is a compilation of music about people of Texas to help celebrate this year's Texas Sesquicentennial.

Major concerts are given two or three times yearly, and performances are given to various community groups upon request.

WRITING AWARD

PARIS (AP) — "The Lover," written by French novelist Marguerite Duras, was recently selected to receive the $50,000 Ritz Paris Hemingway Award.

The international award is for the best novel of the year. The award was inaugurated in 1965. The winner of the first award was Mario Vargas Llosa for "The War of the End of the World."

Piano students to audition this week

Fifty-five local piano students have enrolled in the National Piano Playing Auditions to be held at First Christian Church Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Bobbie Lee Farmer, owner and director of the Fine Arts Center in Plainview, will hear the piano students of Carolyn Evers, Francis Parker, Evelyn Hacker, Thelma McMinn and Jo Ella Cansler.

The auditions, which are sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers, are held in 736 audition centers with nearly 126,000 piano teachers and students participating.

Farmer, who has taught piano, organ, theory, violin, guitar, and art at the center for 13 years, has two degrees. She holds a masters degree in music education with emphasis on piano and organ, and a bachelor of music degree with emphasis on piano.

She has attended workshops in England with the British Music Teachers Association and British Piano Teachers Association and also in Copenhagen, Paris, Geneva and at the Mozarteum in Salzburg.

Farmer, who is a member of numerous organizations, has taught privately for more than 25 years following four years classroom teaching in public schools. She has served as church organist and is now performing as a member of a two-piano team with Inell Reed.

Ott reports on recreational party held at King's Manor

The American Legion Auxiliary met Tuesday evening in the Legion Hall for its regular monthly meeting with President Gene Holden presiding.

Community service chairman, Pet Ott, reported having a successful recreational party for residents of King's Manor Retirement Home. Ott, who also serves as poppy chairman, reported that assistance is needed for the distribution of the memorial poppies for donations on May 21. Headquarters will be located at the Hereford State Bank. Those wishing to assist are asked to contact Ott.

Hospital representative, Beverly Jesko, reported that Jimmy Jesko and George and Lela Kemerer helped with the recreational party at the V.A. Medical Center in Amarillo last month. Money collected from the memorial poppies pay for these parties for patients in the center each month.

Legion members joined the Auxiliary for refreshments served by hostesses, Gene Holden and Clara Trowbridge.

Other members attending were June Koelzer and Ethel Logan.

NEW YORK (AP) — Poet Brenda Hillman has been named the seventh recipient of the $1,000 Delmore Schwartz Memorial Poetry Award.

The award is "presented periodically either to a young poet of exceptional promise or to a more mature poet, who, in the opinion of the selection committee, has received insufficient national acclaim."

DR. GOTT Which aspirin is best bet?

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have to take aspirin for my rheumatoid arthritis. Would an enteric or coated aspirin be safer to use than ones like Ascriptin or Bufferin, which are buffered with aluminum?

DEAR READER — Despite the presence of antacid, buffered aspirin can still cause heartburn and stomach upset in patients who are required to take large doses. Enteric-coated aspirin (aspirin coated with an acid-resistant shell) is a logical alternative in such cases because it dissolves in the intestine instead of in the stomach. The two formulations have about the same safety. If you are tolerating buffered aspirin, I suggest you continue with it.

To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my new Health Report, UNDERSTANDING OSTEOARTHRITIS. Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — When I was 15 I used a hormone cream to increase the size of my breasts. It contained 20,000 units of estrogenic hormones. My breasts did increase slightly. Now, at 18, I'm thinking of using it again. Can this hormone cream have any harmful effects?

DEAR READER — The hormones are probably not absorbed in sufficient quantity through the skin of your breasts to make much difference. However, I am always leery of treatments like this because side effects are unpredictable. Plastic surgery can enlarge your breasts, but I think that, at 18, your best approach is to seek a gynecologist's opinion about hormone treatment.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I took my brother to the hospital six weeks ago. He had been drinking heavily for years. His mind was very good, but now it's completely gone and he is tied to the bed with restraints all the time. What would cause his mind to go so suddenly?

DEAR READER — It sounds as though he is suffering the consequences of alcohol withdrawal. This is called delirium tremens (DTs) and can usually be treated by large doses of tranquilizers, such as Librium or Valium. There is a rarer form of alcohol-induced brain disease, called encephalopathy, which usually requires extensive neurological evaluation.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Two of my friends have vertigo. What is this condition?

DEAR READER — Vertigo is a loss of balance or a sensation of whirling — a spinning unsteadiness. It is usually due to a malfunction of the vestibular (balance) mechanisms in the inner ears. Vertigo is often related to body position. Because its causes are varied, a thorough examination by an ear, nose and throat specialist is mandatory. Special X-rays and other tests may be necessary. The condition can usually be controlled with medication.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have been getting dilations of the urethra three times a year for two years because of recurring cystitis. My urine culture is negative now and I have no more problems. Is there any reason for continued treatment? How does dilation help cystitis?

DEAR READER — When a narrowing of the urethra causes difficulty voiding, the bladder may not completely empty and infection can set in. Mechanical dilation of the bladder opening may permit a freer flow of urine.

Auxiliary officers elected at meeting

New officers were elected when members of The Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 4618 met in regular session Monday evening with Betty Boggs presiding.

Marie Goheen will serve as president; Vicki Yocum, senior vice-president; Martha Bridges, junior vice-president; Doris Coffin, chaplain; Essie Martin, conductor; Doris Wilson, guard; Boggs, three-year trustee; Doris Wilson, two-year trustee; Helen Bishop, one-year trustee; Erma Murphey, treasurer; and Frances Green, secretary.

Also, during the business session, minutes were read and approved and the Voice of Democracy chairman announced that the subject for next year's scriptwriting contest is "The Challenge of American Citizenship."

The meeting was preceded by a salad and casserole supper for VFW and Auxiliary members.

New officers will be installed by Florene Leinen, District 13 president of Dimmitt, at 8 p.m. May 19.

Members present were Boggs, Bridges, Leone Buckley, Coffin, Green, Maisie Heath, Dora Lee Howell, Murphey, Wilson, Yocum and Marie Goheen.

A Flair for Design

When planning a space, it's use is the first consideration. Once this has been decided, you can move ahead with placement of intended furnishings. For instance, in the lobby of an office, reception area, secretarial space, seating for visitors, storage and possibly desk space for office workers may be some requirements. These needs then, must be met with adequate traffic patterns and space for all the various tasks to be performed and at the same time, be attractive and gracious, since this is the first impression for new clients and visitors.

FINISHING TOUCHES, at 501 East Park, will be more than happy to help you achieve function for your home or office. Call 364-8870.

Novels of love and adventure are featured this week at the Deaf Smith County Library. "High Hearts" by Rita Mae Brown and "City of Fading Light" by Jon Cleary will be available this week.

"High Hearts" is a grand, sweeping novel that brings to scintillating life a wonderful story of true love and mistaken identity. Rich with all the color of history and characters that burst off the page and into our lives, "High Hearts" reveals one of our most outrageous and delightful storytellers weaving her most ambitious and entertaining novel yet.

On April 12, 1861, Geneva Chatfield marries Nash Hart in Albemarle County, Va. Five days later, Virginia secedes from the Union and Nash joins the hastily organized Confederate Army. Geneva is too tall to be pretty, but at eighteen she is attractive and bright as a cigar band. She is also the best rider since Light Horse Harry Lee and as headstrong as Andrew Jackson. So when Fort Sumter's guns fire the signal for every able-bodied Southern man to enlist, Geneva stares fate dead in the eye.

Geneva cuts her hair, dons a uniform, changes her name to Jimmy, then enlists in the Confederate cavalry to be with her beloved. This works out fine, until Nash, with his poet's sensitivities, recoils from the horrors of war, while Geneva is invigorated by the chase and the fight. If Nash isn't going to be a man, she'll show him how. But there are complications. Dramatic and delightful, "High Hearts" is Rita Mae Brown at her very best—brimming with her sharp wit, penetrating insights, and deep love for the people and the ways, of the South.

"The City of Fading Light" is by Jon Cleary author of "Spearfield's Daughter." The time is the last two weeks of peace in the summer of 1939. The place is Berlin, the most brilliantly lit capital in Europe, whose sophisticated decadence is surpassed only by the all-pervasive evil of the Nazi party. The characters are a rising Hollywood star, a rugged Australian newspaperman and a dazzling combination of historical figures and fictional creations based on real personalities.

No one can understand why beautiful, red-haired Cathleen O'Dea has sacrificed a promising Hollywood career to come to Germany to make a movie for Minister of Propaganda Josef Goebbels. Outrage is so great that Louis B. Mayer himself has vowed that Cathleen will never again work in Hollywood. What he does not know—what no one must know—is that despite Cathleen's Irish name her mother is Jewish and has disappeared in Berlin while searching for her own family. Accepting the film offer has provided Cathleen with the only means she could find of trying to rescue her mother.

While in Berlin, Cathy falls in love with Sea Carmody, a young man from the Australian outback, who is a foreign correspondent reporting on the events that are about to plunge Europe into WWII. When Cathleen confides her secret to Sean, he agrees to help her; and soon the two lovers are pitting their wits against the entire Nazi hierarchy.

nutri-facts and updating the new research being conducted by the B.I.C. Planning the event are from left Charmayne Klett, parliamentarian; Loraine Anthony, second vice-president; Kay Hall, first vice-president; Dee Anne Trotter, president; and Darlene Fields, beef for Father's Day chairman.

ELLINGTON OPERA TO BE PREMIERED

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Queenie Pie," an opera by Duke Ellington, will have its first performances here during the American Music Theater Festival's Sept. 11-Oct. 12 season.

Ellington composed all the music for "Queenie Pie," which he had started as an opera for TV. His son, Mercer Ellington, completed music for Ellington's tone poem, "The Three Kings," after his father's death in 1974.

The story, with book and lyrics by Duke Ellington and George David Weiras, tells of a flamboyant Harlem beauty queen and her journey to an exotic island in search of ultimate happiness. The Ellington Band will be in the pit.

It will run Sept. 18-28 at the Zellerbach Theater and be presented in association with the Annenberg Center of the University of Pennsylvania.

Abundant Life

OUR ENDURANCE
By Bob Wear

OUR ENDURANCE is the one essential to personal success, and it may just be one of our greatest assets. Of course, it is a potential that we must develop. In the process of developing it, we will experience some weariness and perhaps there will be times when we are inclined to think that it is not worth the effort. For most of us, these times will pass; if we will permit them to do so.

WE DEVELOP this beneficial life quality by the precise decision of the mind, and the wise action that will harmonize with the decision. We just decide that we will permit no circumstance and no person to turn us aside from our on-going movement. Of course, some of our days will be better than others. Relatively speaking, there will be good days and not so good days; but, since we are moving along in the 'good way'; the total life is the best that it can be for us, and we are happy with the results. This is personal success.

WITH THIS SPIRIT, there is no defeat; an occasional set-back perhaps, but no defeat; because the general on-going process guarantees personal success. Too many of us are inclined to begin to count the score before the game is completed, and it is a mistake to do this. We are not trying to say that everything will turn out alright, or that it is possible to have everything as we wish; however, personal success does not require such. It has been said, "the chief difference between success and failure lies in the single element of staying power."

THE MORE WE LEARN about the elements of a stable life structure, and the more effectively we are able to tie all of these together, the easier it is to maintain the quality of 'endurance' which will see us through.

THE MESSAGE IS, 'don't give up'. There will be times when this will be the inclination, but it can be overcome, there is no reason to 'give up'; because the spirit of endurance can be renewed each day.

The first portable electric typewriter, a 19-pound Smith-Corona, went on sale in 1956 in Syracuse, N.Y.

Donor organs badly needed

Transplant centers across the nation are in short supply of the donor organs they need to help save lives.

But efforts can be made to close the gap through a combination of public education, more hospital affiliations with transplant centers and legislation already passed on the sale of transplant organs, a transplant surgeon says.

The American Council on Transplantation estimates that about 23,000 people suffer brain death each year, and their donated organs could fill all transplant needs. However, only 2,000 actually become organ donors.

A recent Texas Medical Association survey shows that between January and June 1965, 469 people were waiting for kidneys, but only 78 were donated.

Too often, donors and their families never think about or are never asked about donation procedures, said Neal R. Glass, M.D., of Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center (TTUHSC). And, many family members forbid organs to be retrieved when a relative dies because they do not know the person's wishes.

Their uncertainties and the failure of people to sign organ donor cards ahead of time are causing many people who could use the organs to do without, he said.

"Families can make the choice, but they are being asked at a time when they are under stress," he said. "People are more likely to become organ donors now by signing a card than if the decision has to be made after they're gone."

Persons who want to donate organs can sign cards from transplant centers or, in some states, sign the backs of their drivers licenses.

"Most people just don't think about it, but everyone who dies is a potential donor of something," Glass said. "The fact that people weren't asked about organ donation is a problem of the community and the medical profession."

Glass noted that hospitals in New York and Rhode Island are working to pass legislation that would fine physicians who do not document their request of patients' families to consider organ donation.

Once-organ donors are found, Glass said, hospital affiliations with transplant centers are needed to channel organs to recipients as quickly as possible.

But, the same Texas Medical Association survey shows that only 53 percent of hospitals which responded have a link with an organ transplant center. The survey was taken of the 198 hospitals in the state with 100 or more beds.

Only 56 percent of the respondents had established brain death criteria, and only 34 percent had bylaws that permit transplant teams to enter and work in the hospital.

The medical association followed the survey with a letter urging hospitals to associate themselves with a transplant center.

A transplant center can develop a list of potential recipients when an organ becomes available. The matching process begins in the tissue-typing laboratory, which determines the most compatible match.

Glass, who serves as transplant surgeon for Lubbock General Hospital, the TTUHSC teaching hospital, said that in the case of kidney transplants, less urgency exists to find donors than with other types of organs.

With heart and liver transplants, he said, the recipient is limited to the most ideal donor. Kidney transplants are not as restrictive, and patients can still be kept alive on dialysis machines until a suitable organ is found.

Priorities for transplant are given to children first because of physical and psychosocial factors of remaining on dialysis.

"They don't adapt well to being different," Glass said.

Next in line are patients who are at high risk or do poorly if they stay on dialysis, such as diabetics and persons suffering problems with vascular access or depression.

The list of recipients obtained from the tissue-typing laboratory is aimed at being random and unbiased, Glass said.

"It later gets shuffled based on medical urgency."

After the appropriate match is determined, he said, the transplant surgeon then notifies the patient's physician.

"I call to see if a transplant can be performed on a particular patient, but I also call to see if one shouldn't be done," he said.

Although talk of legislation in transplant procedures sometimes surfaces, Glass believes that decision is best left to the transplant surgeon.

"Who knows better than the surgeon whether the transplant is possible?" Glass said.

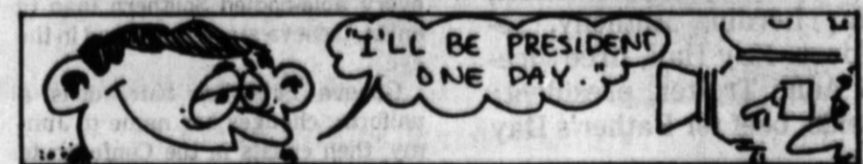

A decision by a committee, for example, would take too much time when immediacy is a critical factor, he said. In addition, questions would have to be resolved on who serves on the committee, and that committee would have to be on call 24 hours a day.

Ann Landers

DEAR READERS: I am often asked if life is more difficult today than it was when I was growing up. People want to know if there is more anxiety, more stress, more guilt.

What has happened to the rose-covered cottage and the white picket fence? To motherhood and brotherhood? Neighbors don't know each other. Relatives can't be counted on in time of trouble. More people are getting divorced than married. Women have demanded equal rights—and they are getting them. But at what cost?

We are told America doesn't value its children or we wouldn't be putting them in day care centers. Twelve-year-olds are smoking pot. Fourteen-year-olds are tootin' coke. Every 90 minutes a teenager somewhere in this country, commits suicide. Parental guilt is so thick you can cut it with a knife.

At this writing, 18,576 cases of AIDS have been diagnosed. Fifty-three percent of the victims have died. There is no known cure. When I said in my column several months ago that AIDS was a medical problem and not a punishment from God, more than 10,000 people wrote to say, "How do YOU know? Did God tell you?"

I cite this as an example of how terrified and stressed we are becoming.

No life is totally free of anxiety and tension. This is part of the human condition. Too many of us suffer from stress that could be managed, if only we knew how. The same can be said of guilt. Much of the guilt I hear about from my readers is unjustified—unearned. People blame themselves for things that are not their fault. They suffer the tortures of the damned, recounting the "what if's," and the "if only's," when in reality, nothing they did or failed to do could have changed a thing.

For a long time I have been on the lookout for a really good book that would tell people, in plain, down-to-earth language, how to deal with these twin monsters—stress and guilt. At last I have found it. Here are some excerpts:

On guilt: "And if parental guilt can exist in the minds of happily married couples, it positively thrives among the divorced and separated. So much has been written about the horrendous effects of broken homes on children, one wonders, would the results have been different if a child was raised in a strained and hostile environment."

On stress: "A most effective coping device to say to yourself, 'I saw this coming. I've been through this before and everything came out fine.' Take a few deep breaths and repeat these words: 'I can handle it. It's no big deal.'"

"We now know it is not stress itself that does us in but the prolonged effect it has on our bodies. Just let it nibble away and eventually it will eat you up, at which time you will go off to the doctor or to the hospital and be treated, if possible, for a specific disorder. Stress does this to millions of people and they never know what hit them."

I hope, dear readers, that you will treat yourself and someone you love to "Coping in the '80s: Eliminating Needless Stress and Guilt" by Joel Wells.

Danny Gaither to perform Thursday

The public is invited to hear popular gospel singers, Danny Gaither and his daughter, Trina, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the First Church of the Nazarene, Ironwood and La Plata St.

Gaither, who has been in gospel music for over 30 years, resides with his wife, Toni, in Alexandria, Ind. They have three children.

For over 25 years, he has traveled with the award winning Bill Gaither Trio to every part of the United States and Canada. To their credit, the trio received a Dove Award for the album, "Let's Just Praise the Lord," and again in 1975 for "Jesus We Just Want To Thank You", along with several nominations.

In 1979, Gaither started a solo career and since has performed in over 1,000 concerts. He combines quiet gospel and favorite hymns with contemporary up-tempo songs. In 1983, he was joined in concert by his daughter, Trina.

Recent additions to the group are Jay Rouse and Mark Clark. Both are music majors at Anderson College. Rouse plays keyboards and sings back-up vocal and Clark sings back-up.

Through reading laboratory

Lab to offer tutoring

Children and adults with reading problems can receive tutoring this summer through the Texas Tech University College of Education's Reading Laboratory.

Established in 1970, the lab offers individual tutoring and assessments of reading difficulties. Reading Lab director Lester G. Butler said the program is being expanded this summer so that up to 50 individuals could be tutored.

Tutoring sessions will be offered Mondays through Thursdays June 9 through July 9. Sessions are 9-9:50 a.m., 10-10:50 a.m., 1-1:50 p.m. and 2-2:50 p.m.

The fee for new clients is $230 for sessions four days a week for the month-long period or $125 for sessions two days a week on Monday and Wednesday or Tuesday and Thursday. The fee includes cost for diagnosis and a final report.

Tutors for the sessions are graduate students or advanced undergraduate students in reading education, Butler said.

Dr. Butler said participants in last summer's program increased their reading levels on standardized reading tests an average of one year and four months.

"Parents report that their children's grades and attitudes are better after tutoring," Dr. Butler said. "Our goal is reading improvement by better language processing and enhanced vocabulary development and comprehension."

Entering clients are given a test battery to define the reading problem, strengths and weaknesses and learning style. Based on that, an individual tutoring plan is developed. Suggestions are also made for the child's regular reading education.

"There are many techniques to teach reading. We try to use the one which is best suited to the individual's particular learning style and we think that is why we've been so successful," Butler said.

Some techniques used are sight word emphasis, phonics, multisensory approach and the language experience approach in which students take a field trip of interest to them and then dictate a story to their tutor. The tutor develops reading material which will improve the student's phonics and vocabulary.

Butler said some tutoring will also be offered during the second summer session July 14 through Aug. 14. Those sessions will be set up on an individual basis, Butler said.

The Reading lab, located in Administration/Education Building, Room 233, also provides consultation to school districts and referrals to specialists as well as tutoring sessions during the regular school year.

For more information about the program or to enroll, call (806)742-2397.

Flood gives program to sorority chapter

Using her design for a proposed restaurant as a guide, Carmen Flood, owner of Finishing Touches, led members of Xi Epsilon Alpha Chapter through the processes of structural and color design, when the group met Tuesday evening.

Integrated into the program were suggestions for window treatments and the use of fabric and color in the home.

Rose Marie Robinson and Kay Williams served as hostesses for the meeting held in the Reddy Room of Southwestern Public Service.

A thank you was read by Margie Waddell, president, from Deaf Smith General Hospital for the purchase last year of two life-line units by the chapter. Other thank yous included two for anniversary gifts extended by Mary Brinkman and Cindy Forrest, and one from Ronna Howell for food prepared while she was ill.

Connie Matthews, service chairman, collected bags of canned goods from members for the Good Shepherd Food Pantry and toiletries for the young ladies at Girls Town.

All new representatives to City Council will meet on May 12 at the Reddy Room for election of officers. On May 20 all three chapters of Beta Sigma Phi will meet for a salad supper and silent auction sponsored by City Council.

The annual birthday party and last meeting of the year, will be held on May 27 in the home of Mary Herring. Herring and Lois Lemons will prepare the meal. Secret Sisters will be revealed during a gift exchange and the new officers for 1986-87 will be installed.

Members present for the program and evening's meeting were Susan Shaw, Brenda Thomas, Jody Blackwell, Debe Graves, Lynda Brown, Rose Marie Robinson, Margie Waddell, Connie Matthews, Mary Brinkman, Peggy Hyer, Donna Grady, Charla Edwards, Cindy Forrest, Kay Williams and Sharon Bodner.

Town mourns death of teenager

HAWKINS, Texas (AP) — Still shocked and grieving, more than 800 Hawkins residents gathered to mourn the death of one of the city's brightest young people.

Suzanne Denise Harrison, an 18-year-old Hawkins senior, had been slain and two of her companions, Gena Turner and Bryan Boone, are still missing.

Somber relatives, classmates and friends filed quietly into Hawkins High School Auditorium Thursday afternoon to pay respects to Miss Harrison, a young woman whose bright smile left its mark on all who knew her.

"Even those who didn't really know Suzanne remembered her as the smiling girl at the drugstore or the smiling cheerleader on crutches," said the Rev. Bob Layman, pastor of Hawkins First Baptist Church. "They always identified Suzanne by her smile."

As mourners held hands and wept, Layman and the Rev. Dan Nuzum of Big Sandy's New Hope Baptist Church recalled Miss Harrison as a young woman who led by Christian example, and in doing so, touched the lives of those around her.

Opening Miss Harrison's Bible, Layman read underlined verses from Ephesians 4:31-32 that he said typified her life: "Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice: And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you."

"As I read those verses," Layman said, "I knew how they had been pressed upon her heart."

Though Miss Harrison's life ended at a young age, "it was 18 full and packed years," he said. "She was that kind of person. It was a good one, the sermon this precious one preached. But it was a short one. Now she has passed it on to you to finish."

Nuzum told those gathered to take solace in the Scriptures and look to the Lord for guidance in times of tragedy.

Comforting the bereaved, Nuzum said, "He wouldn't think of taking her home until He had readied her a place. And may I say this to you, Mom and Dad, don't ever forget the memories that you have (of Suzanne)."

Most importantly, Miss Harrison was prepared to meet her Savior because of the exemplary life she led, said Layman, who baptized her.

"She's with her Father, the one she designed her life after," he said.

The victim's mother, Mary Ann

Harrison, was overcome with grief and wept openly with others during the memorial service.

The reactions of Miss Harrison's fellow students were particularly telling, with many weeping at the loss of their friend.

Classes at Hawkins schools were dismissed at 1 p.m. Thursday so the students could attend the service.

Several downtown businesses were closed in mourning.

Authorities continued searching Thursday for the two companions of the cheerleader and model student who was killed after going to Lake Hawkins.

A Turkish airliner crashed in a forest near Paris in 1974, and 374 persons were killed.

Hands Across America Plans

Hereford High student council member Julie Allison, right, and HHS assistant principal Marylin Leasure discuss plans for a Hands Across America sign-up booth at the school. The student council is taking applications for the event which anticipates having a human chain across the nation on May 25 at 2 p.m. along I-40 in Deaf Smith and Oldham Counties. Participants donate money to the hungry and homeless to insure a spot in line. Pop star Kenny Rogers is slated to be somewhere along the Hereford section of the chain. For information, contact the school or 364-0056.

Training session planned

A training session for volunteers desiring to work with the State Department of Human Services will be held Thursday from 1:30 until 4 p.m. at the Energas Flame Room.

The session is for all persons who already have signed up for the program and for those who would like a review of the volunteer work. Volunteers will be trained for their particular job in order to help free caseworkers for more professional work. In Hereford, the program will begin with community care for ages and disabled and income assistance areas of DHS.

Activities in community care would include helping with updating client conditions, determining eligibility, household management and generally acting as a liaison.

In the income assistance program, volunteers will be trained to use computers in order to collect, prepare and review information on determining income assistance eligibility.

Persons interested may contact Mary Lynn Brown, (806)376-7214.

Homemade ice cream a favorite

The hand-cranked ice cream freezer, first invented by Nancy Johnson in 1846, is the predecessor of a series of easy-to-use ice cream makers available today. Ice, once cut in blocks from frozen ponds and rivers and stored for summer use, has been replaced by ice cubes from the freezer or a frozen insert. Table salt or no salt at all have replaced rock salt, formerly needed to make the mixture freeze faster.

So today it is easy to make your own ice cream to be enjoyed immediately or after a few hours of ripening. This recipe for French vanilla ice cream will be a favorite. French vanilla, by definition, includes eggs in the mix. This recipe also requires light cream (half and half can be used when light cream is not available), sugar and vanilla. The mix is cooked and cooled in advance. You'll have five cups of mixture; be sure to check the capacity of the ice cream maker to determine how much to freeze at a time.

Isn't it great to be able to make ice cream whenever you want it without having to recruit a series of crankers for the freezer? Try these recipes next time you hunger for homemade ice cream.

FRENCH VANILLA ICE CREAM

Yield: approx. 5 cups

3 eggs whites
1 cup sugar
3 egg yolks
4 cups light cream OR half and half
1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
Beat egg whites in a large mixing bowl until foamy; gradually add ½ cup sugar and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Beat egg yolks in small mixing bowl until thick and lemon colored. Add remaining ½ cup sugar and beat until sugar is dissolved. Fold egg yolks into egg whites; gradually stir in cream. Place mixture in a large saucepan.

Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 12 minutes. Do not boil. Stir in vanilla. Chill thoroughly. Freeze in ice cream freezer according to manufacturer's directions.

MOCHA WHIPPED CREAM

Yield: 2 cups

1 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon cocoa
1 teaspoon instant coffee
Beat together cream, sugar, cocoa and coffee in a small, chilled mixing bowl until stiff.

ORANGE-ALMOND SAUCE

Yield: 1½ cups

¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 cup orange juice
¼ orange marmalade
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup toasted slivered almonds
Combine sugar and cornstarch in a 1-quart saucepan; gradually mix in orange juice, then marmalade. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook 2 additional minutes. Remove from heat; add butter and stir until melted. Chill. Just before serving add almonds.

BRANDY HUT SAUCE

Yield: Approx. 1 cup

¼ cup (½ stick) butter
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
Dash salt
½ cup evaporated milk
½ cup chopped dry roasted peanuts
1 tablespoon brandy
Melt butter in a small saucepan; add sugar and salt. Heat over medium heat until sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat and gradually add milk. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Add nuts and brandy. Serve cold.

Accent on Health

Choosing the right nursing home for an aged or disabled relative may be one of the most difficult choices a family has to face, according to the Texas Department of Health (TDH). And more families each year are seeking help in making that choice, since the number of persons needing residential care is growing.

About 100,000, or 5 percent of persons 65 and older in Texas, require residential care away from their own homes.

The TDH Bureau of Long Term Care is responsible for licensing about 1,000 nursing homes in Texas, certifying those which provide services for Medicaid or Medicare recipients, and investigating all complaints. The bureau continually monitors the quality of care in all nursing homes by conducting routine, unannounced inspections.

The bureau also operates a toll-free information phone in Austin

(1-800-252-9106) for anyone who needs detailed information about nursing home standards, types of care, lists of homes in given areas, and inspection records of specific homes. Also, anyone wishing to lodge a complaint about a nursing home may do so by calling the information number.

Persons trying to choose a nursing home are advised to take the following steps:

-Get a list of licensed facilities, either from the nearest local health department office or by calling the statewide toll-free number.

-Examine the list to find the homes offering the types and level of care needed.

-Note the homes which are most convenient to family members.

-Ask if the family doctor will continue to provide care in any given nursing home, or select an attending physician from lists provided by the nursing homes.

-Ask questions when calling an individual nursing home. Find out: (a) if it has any openings; (b) what levels of care it offers; (c) whether it accepts Medicare or Medicaid patients; (d) what restrictions there are on the types of patients admitted; (e) what the daily rates pay for; (f) what services cost extra; and (g) if there is a volunteer program.

"Visit several homes and look for the following: (a) good visible resident care; (b) friendly, competent staff; (c) healthy, appetizing meals; and (d) clean, odor-free environment.

These and other tips are discussed in a booklet entitled "Choosing a Nursing Home in Texas". The booklet is available from local offices or from the Bureau of Long Term Care by phoning (1-800-252-9106).

Geosciences professor deciphering records

Deep within the interior of the earth, molten rock is slowly crystallizing into minerals for the future, leaving behind a geological scrapbook of the process.

Changes in magma bodies—hot pools of liquid rock or magma which feed lava to volcanoes—leave distinctive marks on the underground geology as the bodies cool. These marks provide telltale clues about conditions which cause volcanic eruptions and ore deposits.

Texas Tech University geosciences Professor Calvin G. Barnes is deciphering such geological records in the Klamath Mountain Province in northern California.

Valuable elements such as gold, silver, copper, lead, zinc, molybdenum, mercury and tin are typically found in or above magma bodies which fed ancient volcanoes. Ore deposits are commonly linked directly or indirectly to igneous or volcanic activity, he said.

"The way these ores are deposited in the magmatic process is important to mineral exploration," Dr. Barnes said. Knowing what geological features indicate mineral deposits and understanding the relationship between magmas and mineral deposits will help exploration geologists.

"If we can work out the timing of volcanic activity, we can better understand how particular elements are enriched or depleted in magma bodies."

The scrapbook for any particular volcano can go back millions of years, Barnes said, and can reflect continental drift, heating and cooling in magma bodies, the influx of new molten materials from the interior of the earth and contamination of the magma caused by partial collapse of magma bodies' walls and roof.

The crust of the earth, which is egg-shell thin in comparison to the entire thickness of the earth, is divided into plates, some of which contain the continents. The plates drift two to four centimeters a year, causing subduction zones when plates collide and one plate is pushed into the earth's mantle by an overriding plate.

"Water released from the descending plate causes partial melting of mantle rocks," Barnes said. "Magma and water from the melting rise to the crust and sometimes forge a column which becomes a volcanic opening at the surface of the earth."

As the magma and water rise, they strip ores from surrounding rocks.

The rising mass cools and deposits its collection of minerals. The quality of the deposit depends on minerals in the buried plate and in the rocks in the area, Barnes said.

Temperatures vary within the elongated magma bodies, with hotter temperatures at lower levels where new molten material is coming into the system.

"When magma cools it changes composition and becomes crystallized," he said. "Eventually you have a layer of crystals on the walls of the magma chamber and even more crystals at upper levels where it is cooler. We're looking at the chemical variations in the levels of magma bodies and trying to figure out the mechanisms which cause variations."

Most of the crystals do not absorb water, Barnes explained, so water begins to collect.

"The build-up of water in the magma is like carbonate in soda. If you shake the soda and then release the pressure, you're going to get an eruption, of sorts. If the water in the magma chamber begins to boil and froth, it will push the magma to the surface and cause an eruption."

Active magma bodies are continually being heated by an influx of new molten material from the interior of the earth. The new magma sometimes contains substances not previously introduced into the magma chamber, resulting in changes in the composition of crystals and lava.

Another source of magmatic change is when the top of the magma chamber caves in because of the collection of crystals at upper levels, Barnes said.

The study of volcanoes, he said, can be done by looking at composition of lava layers or by drilling into the magma body. Both are complicated by the centuries of lava deposits which cover some of the evidence and, by the expense of drilling.

But, in one of the ancient volcanoes in Barnes' California study, the magma body and the overlying volcanic rocks were tilted after their formation.

"Erosion has planed off the lava and the cooled magma body is showing," Barnes said. "Because the magma body is tilted, we can see both shallow and deep levels of the magma and can decipher centuries of magmatic history."

Barnes said much of the work, such as charting geological maps and collecting rock specimens, is done in the field. In the laboratory, the mineral and chemical compositions of the rocks are determined.

The research is funded by the National Science Foundation and Texas Tech's State Organized Research Funds.

Car Wash Announced

Workers at the Hereford Satellite Work Training Center announced they are going to have a car wash on May 17 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Worker, Mary Ann Brown, above, puts up a sign at the Sugarland Mall. The car wash will be held at the center, located at 218 N. 25 Mile Avenue and donations will be appreciated. Leaving for Austin, May 27, workers will be competing in the Texas Special Olympics and proceeds from the car wash will help get them there.

Support group to meet

Hereford Chapter of Texas Special Olympics support group will meet the second Tuesday of every month at the Hereford Satellite Work Training Center.

Their next meeting will be May 13 at 7 p.m. Fund-raising ideas will be discussed and volunteers are needed.

to help train the workers for the special olympics.

Workers will hold practice games of basketball at 9 a.m. at the YMCA on Saturdays with Jerry Brock supervising. The public is invited to support the workers and watch their games.

Fees donated to family

The Hereford Riders Club Junior Riders held a playday last week and reported this week that $350 from the registration fees had been donated to an anonymous family to help with medical expenses.

Winners in the contests were Misty Davis, mini-pee-wee; Carey Smith, pee-wee; Stephanie Majors, junior; Chris Burrus, intermediate; and Marvin Finley, senior.

Instructors attend clinic

Three Hereford YMCA fitness instructors attended an instructors clinic Saturday in Dumas.

Dee Dee Washington, Regina Kester and Lorraine Sandoval learned proper exercise techniques, and basic components of physical fitness which will be implemented in the Y's summer fitness programs.

The instructors were certified through the national YMCA's "Y's Way to Physical Fitness" program.

One Year Ago WE MADE THE MOVE.

TO KEEP GROWING WITH HEREFORD

Last May, Security Federal re-located to its current new office at 501 West Park Avenue as part of our growing commitment to a growing Hereford.

In addition to making our financial institution more accessible, we added a new service to our existing Security Checking and home and personal loan departments by introducing Security Pulse...a more convenient way to make deposits and withdrawals - 24 hours a day.

Yet, even though we have grown and implemented new services, we still haven't lost sight of the basic philosophy that made us one of the largest Panhandle-based savings and loan associations...to provide dependable, professional and friendly service.

If you aren't a current Security Federal customer, we invite you to come by our office today and say hello. Who knows, maybe we can grow together in the future!

 (Exception: Real Estate)
 Location: 124 Gough Street - Hereford, Texas
 Inspection: Equipment & Inventory may be inspected 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. Day prior to sale. Real Property can be inspected any time by appointment with the auctioneers.

REAL ESTATE
 (Sells at 1:00 P.M. Subject to owners acceptance of Bid)
 Legal Description: All of lots 10, 11 and 12, Block No. 24, Whitehead Addition to the Town of Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas.

Common Description: A combination Straight Wall and Quonset Type Building measuring approximately 40' x 100' (4,000 square feet). The front portion of the building is the metal quonset building and it has a brick face fronting Gough Street. This portion of the building has a 12' x 14' exterior overhead door and an additional 12' x 12' overhead door between the two building sections. This portion of the building contains a 10' x 12' office, a bathroom, a 10' x 20' parts room, a 20' x 40' upstairs storage loft, with the balance of this portion being shop service area. The rear building addition is constructed of cement blocks with a metal covered gabled roof. This building is utilized as shop area and is serviced by 8' x 10' swingout doors. The entire building has a concrete floor and is serviced by all utilities. The parking lot on the South is cobbled with a base of approximately 18". This property comprises approximately 1/4 City Block and Gough Street is a paved street with curb and gutter.

Terms: The above described building sells at 1:00 P.M. subject to Sellers acceptance of the bid. The Seller requires all cash in excess of the existing loan balance of approximately $23,000. (Exact figure will be available from the auctioneers prior to the sale). It is believed that this note is assumable, but not guaranteed. Purchaser will be required to escrow twenty percent (20%) of the total purchase price (unless total of equity is less) with the auctioneers at the time of sale. The remainder of the equity due Seller to be payable at closing, which shall be within 30 days unless delayed by title problems. Buyer will be required to enter a Standard Earnest Money Contract at the time of the sale reflecting the advertised terms and conditions. Seller will furnish at his option, either an abstract of title to be examined by Buyer's attorney or a policy of title insurance. Seller will pre-rate taxes and insurance to date of closing. Possession to be at closing. Survey, if required, to be at Buyer's expense.

TWO YEARS WITH US CAN MAKE YOU A LOT MORE THAN PROUD.

You'll be experienced in a skill, better prepared for college, and a bit richer than before. Not to mention having more adventures and meeting more people than most others do in ten years.

The U.S. Army offers over thirty varied and interesting skills to women for two-year training. Skills like Radio Operator, Cargo Specialist, or Air Defense. They're all covered under The New GI Bill plus The New Army College Fund. Which means that up to $17,000 for college could be yours in just two years of service.

As a soldier, you'll also receive good pay, food, lodging, and medical coverage. In the end, you'll feel great about yourself, and your country. It's called pride. Call your local Army Recruiter today to find out more.

The Newspaper BIBLE

$10,000 BONFIRE!

God gave Paul the power to do unusual miracles, so that even when his handkerchiefs or parts of his clothing were placed upon sick people, they were healed, and many demons within them came out. A team of itinerant Jews who were traveling from town to town casting out demons planned to experiment by using the name of the Lord Jesus. The incantation they decided on was this: "I adjure you by Jesus, whom Paul preaches, to come out!" Seven sons of Sceva, a Jewish priest, were doing this. But when they tried it on a man possessed by a demon, the demon replied, "I know Jesus and I know Paul, but who are you?" And he leaped on two of them and beat them up, so that they fled out of his house naked and badly injured. The story of what happened spread quickly all through Ephesus, to Jews and Greeks alike; and solemn fear descended on the city, and the name of the Lord Jesus was greatly honored. Many of the believers who had been practicing black magic confessed their deeds and brought their incantation books and charms and burned them at a public bonfire. (Someone estimated the value of the books at $10,000.) This indicates how deeply the whole area was stirred by God's message. Acts 19:11-20

Do you take freshness for granted? Do you assume that a piece of fruit or a cut of meat that looks OK is really fresh? Sadly enough, that's not always the case with many of the foods you find in supermarkets. The final test for freshness is taste & but you just can't go about nibbling on everything you buy. What to do? Shop Save'n'Gain! At The Freshness Giant, we GUARANTEE the freshness of our products. In fact, many of our great foods are made fresh daily right in the store. Our Bakery, Deli and Tortilleria turn out fresh delights right in front of your very nose! (Your nose is another good indicator of freshness!) We didn't get the name "The Freshness Giant" for nuthin'! So come on out today and see what real freshness looks, smells and tastes like!
