Ski weekend allowed

Classes begin September 1

By JERI SHIRE
Managing Editor

After one alteration for allowing a long ski weekend in February, the 1987-88 calendar was adopted by the Hereford Schools trustees Monday night in a regular business meeting.

And, the board announced that a meeting would be held at 9 a.m. Saturday to "consider and act on hiring a superintendent."

Since the Texas legislature did not pass a law allowing classes to begin in August, a calendar was adopted to start school on that earliest day, Sept. 1. Teachers begin in-service work Aug. 24 through Aug. 31. Labor Day, Sept. 7 is a holiday.

October has no holidays, but at Thanksgiving school is out Nov. 26-27.

Christmas break is where the amendment was made. The first two days of the break that were originally proposed, Dec. 21-22, were made school days, making the break begin on Dec. 23 and run through Jan. 1. Classes will resume Jan. 4. Teachers have a Saturday work day on Jan. 16.

The two days out, taken from the Christmas holiday, were moved to Feb. 12 and 15 to make a long weekend for ski trips.

Spring break is March 14-18, with the first two days in limbo for snow make-up days.

Friday, April 1 is a holiday.

School ends May 27, Memorial Day on May 30 is a free day and teachers have their last day on May 31.

Board members approved contracts with the Region 16 Service Center in Amarillo for media services, some computer services, curriculum and staff development programs, the talented and gifted program and Head start. The center will charge about $23,500 for the jobs, but much of that will come through federal grants through the district.

Consideration of what classes are "advanced" enough for the extra 10 points in grade averaging will go into the Policy and Personnel Committee since it needs to be a policy change. Assistant Superintendent Marc Williamson said that some classes are titled advanced, but should be judged by difficulty for the extra 10 points.

Board member Kathy Moore suggested that the board make all correspondence with Battelle and the Department of Energy through the Waste Deposit Impact Committee. Battelle had requested a report on school capacity and had been given some answers by phone, then followed up with a letter. Moore said the letter was not specific enough on what information was received and advised that for the district protection, WDIC do all documentation.

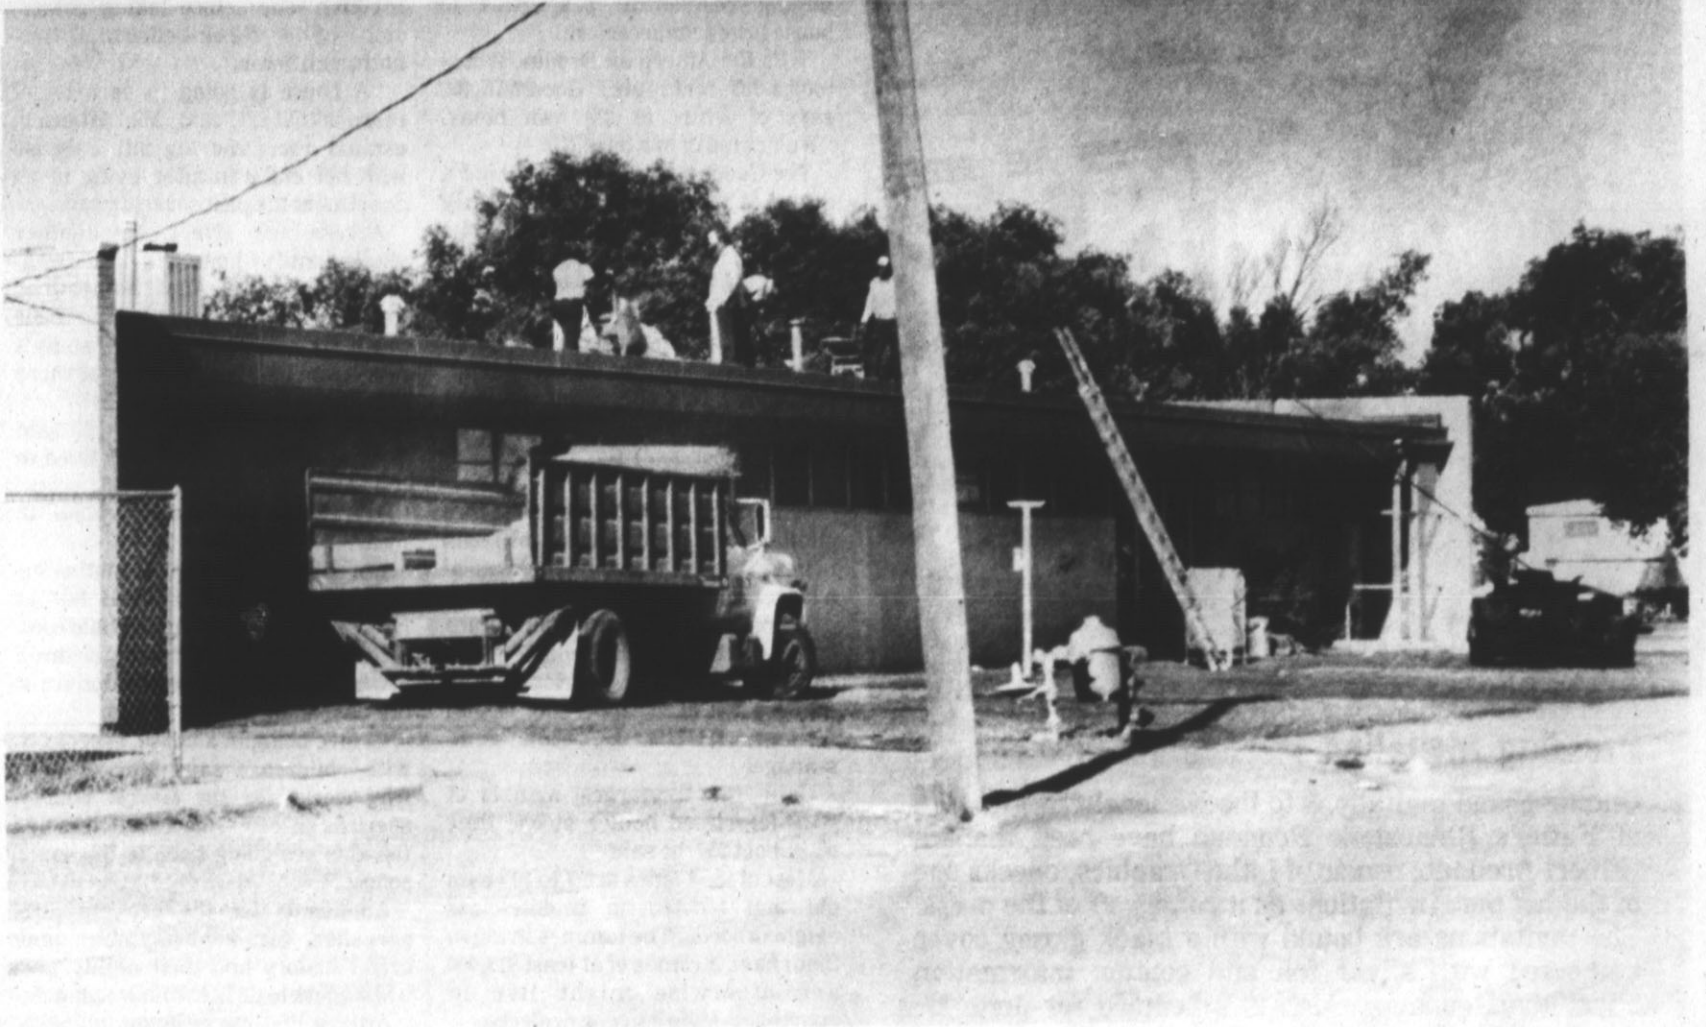

Williamson reported that of four students who took advanced placement tests, two who passed now weren't sure if they wanted the placement.

He also offered the board a Sex Respect book and video to consider for curriculum in prevention of teen pregnancy. Williamson said teachers who had read the book gave good reviews.

Interim Superintendent Larry Wartes said a letter from the Texas Education Agency said that all discrepancies from an audit last fall were now in compliance.

John Fuston and Bud Patterson were appointed to the Texas Association of School Boards' delegate assembly next September.

Johnny Rumph was granted a leave of absence and two persons were hired, Tammy Stanford and Bill Spies. Resignations were accepted from Sharon Gordon, Lisa Hilton, Tomasita Chapa, Sara Cook, Ed McCreary, Gracie Shaw, Larry Sowers, Ellie Bost, Joyce Burford, Peggy Barrow, Virginia Malone, Susan Bodkin and Renea Novak. All board members were present.

Eight-year delay set in search for second nuclear repository

By DEBE GRAVES
Staff Writer

Positions open with the local Department of Energy Nuclear Waste Repository Site Characterization process and the Mission Plan DOE presented in Congress on Tuesday were among the topics discussed at the weekly Deputy Manager's Meeting this morning in the Community Center.

DOE spokesperson Linda McClain said the amended mission plan requests an eight-year delay in the search for a second nuclear repository site, includes a budget request of $725 million, seeks approval of the Monitored Retrieval System (MRS) plan and advises of the "slippage" in time schedules for the site characterization studies.

Deputy Manager Robert Wunderlich told the small group in attendance that the Waste Deposit Impact Committee has approached the DOE office about a possible cooperation agreement which would provide for automatic sharing of information and better communication between the agencies. Wunderlich stated his office will be working with the WDIC to develop an agreement to handle interaction.

A contract which will provide for overseeing the entire DOE project was discussed. The plan would involve a contract for Systems Engineering Development. The Nuclear Regulatory Commission will also have a full-time on site representative to oversee the project.

It was announced that Deaf Smith County will be the final of the three sites to see a Site Characterization Plan Schedule released. The first schedule for one of the sites will be released this summer but the local site characterization plan is not scheduled to be released until March of 1988.

In a continued effort to assist local businesses procure government contracts, DOE officials are to meet today to plan procurement training sessions. "Between mid-February, 1987, and June 8, 1987, the Salt Repository Project has committed more than $1.2 million in procurement actions," Wunderlich stated.

Procurement expenditures in Amarillo top the list with $710,200, Hereford is second with $341,500, other areas in Texas have garnered $123,500, $44,500 has been spent in Vega and $3,200 in non-Texas areas.

Due to two major procurements, related to permanent office space for Battelle and to the purchase of two high-speed Xerox copiers, Hereford will be the largest source of procurement commitments for the Texas Salt Repository Project, according to Wunderlich.

He also announced the due date for proposals for the Battelle office space has been extended to June 10 to accommodate three requests for additional time.

DOE will be advertising some positions which have been turned down by potential transferees. The positions are open to those already employed by the federal government or those who are registered for employment with the federal government. The jobs include specialists in performance assessment, quality control, contracts and computers.

As of Monday, there are 81 project personnel in Texas. According to Wunderlich, the breakdown is 15 for DOE, 41 for Battelle, 18 for Parsons-Redpath, four for CER, one for SMS and two for Maxima.

With a total of 51 percent of the project staff in Texas to their credit, Battelle is the biggest employer, to date, for the project. "The full complement of the BPMD staff is about 300. The transfer of the remaining staff is dependent on obtaining permanent office space," Wunderlich said.

Of the project totals, 42 are transfers with eight choosing to reside in Hereford. Local hires total 35 with 15 who are from Hereford. The total of the project personnel living in Hereford is 23, or 28 percent.

Amarillo houses 41 percent of the staff with a total of 33 in residence. Twenty of the staff members remain undecided about residence.

Projections for the transitioning staff for the next two months are 45 for the remainder of June and 30 for the month of July, according to Wunderlich.

An invitation was issued, by Wunderlich and other DOE staff members present, for the public to attend an open house on the morning of Saturday, June 20.

The next Deputy Manager's Meeting will be on Wednesday, June 17, at 7 a.m. in the Community Center. The meetings are open to the public and any issues which an individual wants to be addressed will be researched and discussed.

If everything goes according to plans, the Hereford School Board will name a new superintendent Saturday morning. A special meeting has been set for 9 a.m. with one item on the agenda: "To consider and act on employing a superintendent."

The man selected for the post will not be here Saturday, according to one of the trustees, but a press conference may be called for Monday afternoon to introduce the new superintendent. The trustee said the board visited the man's current city of residence and "we feel very confident that he is the man to lead our school district to a new level of excellence for our students." He added that a public reception will probably be scheduled soon for the new superintendent.

Someone once wrote that there are no new problems—just different applied situations. And the problems in Hereford and other West Texas cities have a similar ring. We receive exchange papers from a number of other cities, and we noticed this column by Roy McQueen, publisher down at Snyder: "The other morning we asked a group of coffee drinkers if this community would respond if it had the opportunity of landing a new industry that provided 68 to 100 new jobs.

"As expected, the group was enthusiastic and optimistic that the community would respond positively to attract that kind of work force. It was even agreed that money could be raised, if necessary.

"The industry we have in mind really won't cost anything. It will just take a conscious effort to practice an important ingredient of community growth—loyalty.

"We've already mentioned that about 50 cents of every dollar earned in Scurry County leaves for purchases made elsewhere. That means not only the loss of revenue and help with an increasing tax burden, but it also means the loss of jobs and a declining retail base.

"The new industry we had in mind was loyalty with regard to the medical community.

"Since Jan. 1, 1984, utilization of the 72-bed Cogdell Hospital has declined to an average census of below 20 patients per day.

"Hospital management has done an yeoman's job of reducing expenses in keeping with declining revenues. The results have been increased need for tax money and a loss of jobs at the hospital.

"Since 1984, the fulltime staff at Cogdell has been trimmed by 35 persons and the number of part-time employees has been reduced by 80. This is an equivalent of 68 full-time job losses—folks who no longer have money to spend in the community.

"Utilization of the facility—loyalty—would reverse this trend and provide the equivalent of a new industry for Scurry County. Think about it!"

TEAMS shows district pitfalls, improvement

Summaries of the Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills, known better as TEAMS, showed the Hereford School district at average or below average national percentile ranking overall with some grade and school breakdowns set in the lower third of the schools.

Mal Manchee, director of program development for the district, presented the TEAMS review, highlighting the gains of students and spotlighting some trouble areas.

In third grade, the first to take the test, 70 percent of the students mastered math skills and 60 percent mastered reading objectives. Both are down from the 1986 scores of third graders by one and 9 percent, respectively. Percentile rankings put the class at 63 in math and 34 in reading.

(A percentile ranking of 50 is average, meaning that about as many tested scored higher and about as many scored lower. A percentile of 90 would mean the score was better than 90 percent of others who tested, but that 10 percent scored higher. It is not a percentage of scoring, but a placement among peers - in this case a national selection of schools. Percent mastering refers to the percentage of students tested who did master the skills.)

Fifth graders' math percentile rankings went from 36 last year to 43 this year, but reading went from 40 to 37 percentile. But, percentage of the children mastering the skills rose from last year by five percent in math and two percent in reading.

College graduates in tough competition for available jobs

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — This year's college graduates are having a harder time finding jobs and won't make much more money than last year's graduating class, according to a pair of nationwide surveys. "Right now it's a pretty tight labor market for this year's graduates," said Warren Kauffman, acting executive director of the national College Placement Council.

For public housing Houston agency buying empty homes

HOUSTON (AP) — Samuel Goodman and his family live in public housing, but you'd never know it by looking at the three-bedroom, single-family home with its well-kept lawn and shrubbery. Taking advantage of the thousands of foreclosed houses left vacant in Houston after the oil boom went bust, the city housing authority has been buying residential properties to house low-income renters.

While it's too early to determine what kind of long-term reception the new neighbors may get, initial opposition in most neighborhoods eased after city officials spoke with residents who were mostly concerned about their property values. "Our response has been: your property value would go down even further if the houses remained empty," Ms. Finn says.

She says the Houston Housing Authority is working to screen and place applicants in the other homes it has acquired, and hopes to have all the homes filled by the end of the year. The agency also wants to buy 86 more houses using money from another housing project that also was scuttled by community opposition.

So far, however, there's no timetable for turning over the homes permanently to the renters. For the ambitious Goodman, having his own home means a headstart on a cherished dream. "I feel happy to see my wife and kids be happy," he says. "It may not have come in the way I wanted, but I'll take it."

Counselor says broad education valuable

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Students shouldn't forget the value of a broad education in their quest for marketable job skills, says one top college career adviser. While it's important to start thinking about a potential career early in college, that shouldn't be an overriding concern, says Charles Sundberg, director of placement and career planning at the University of California, Los Angeles.

A broad liberal education, Sundberg says, not only steeps a student in the foundations of his or her culture, but it teaches such important skills as critical analysis, communication and persuasion. Thus educated, a graduate is ready for the specific "training" of the business or professional world, he says.

mand is increasing, according to the College Placement Council. Job offers for humanities and social science graduates have doubled from 3 percent of the total last year to 6 percent, said Dawn Gulick of the College Placement Council's salary survey. Kauffman said, "There are more small employers — service-type employers — recruiting. This seems to be giving interest in humanities graduates."

But like I said the paragraphs above were only "what ifs". Perhaps the Hereford Riding Club and the softball team which was playing will take the "What If's" to heart and make it "No way could it have happened."

Preparing For Sale

The Deaf Smith County chapter of the Red Cross is seeking donations of items for their garage sale set Friday and Saturday from 9-6 p.m. in the Flame Room of Southwestern Public Service Co. Items may be donated at the Red Cross Office from 9-5 p.m. each weekday or the Flame Room on Thursday afternoon. Ruth King, assistant chairman of the Uniformed Volunteers, pictured at right, helps Olivia Brown, staff member, price several items as Betty Henson, director, right, helps with the unpacking. Proceeds from the sale will benefit disaster relief projects.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In a recent column you mentioned that you were born with two teeth and your twin sister, Dear Abby, was born with one.

My daughter was also born with a tooth. The doctor who delivered her said many famous people were born with teeth and that it is a sign of greatness.

Has anyone ever done a study on this subject? How rare is it? What famous people were born with teeth? Does their "greatness" tend to center on a particular field? I'd appreciate any information you could give me on this subject.—G.C., Astoria, N.Y.

DEAR ASTORIA: I know of only three people who were born with teeth—my sister, myself and now your daughter. I'm sure there are others, but nobody has ever mentioned it. This is not exactly the kind of thing that comes up in ordinary conversation and I wouldn't ask. (Sample: "How do you do? Were you born with teeth?")

Now that you've raised the issue it would be interesting to find out if this sort of thing is rare. Will readers who were born with teeth send me a post card (Ann Landers, Chicago Tribune, 435 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611). Simply write down your name or initials and how many teeth you were born with. Also, are you famous?

I do not need to know the name of your doctor, who delivered you, how long your mother was in labor or how much you weighed.

Please give me a few weeks to get the numbers tabulated and I'll report the results in this space. Thank you for taking the time.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a diabetic who thought it would be OK to cheat a little on my diet. Well, I almost died the other night.

We were out for supper with friends and when the waiter asked about after-dinner drinks I decided to have a small glass of peach brandy. (I also had a piece of cake for dessert, but I didn't eat the frosting.)

I went into shock right there in the restaurant. My blood sugar was 400 when the paramedics took me to the hospital.

Please print this letter for every diabetic who reads your column. (I'll bet there are millions.) Let them know they can't fool their bodies. Anyone who thinks he (or she) can get away with cheating just a little is flirting with death.—Sugar Blues (Chicago)

DEAR SUGAR: Here's your letter. I can't add a thing. You've said it all—and in a way that should have real meaning to those who share your problem. Good luck.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The tragic battle for Baby M is one that we all read about for days. I sympathized with the surrogate mother, the parents who were awarded the baby (after the bitterly fought trial), and everyone connected with it.

There are a million teenage pregnancies in this country every year, and half of them end in abortion. There are at least twice that number of women who would give anything to have a baby, but for some reason or another they can't get pregnant.

There is an alternative for couples who have lots of love to give a child and there are so many children of all ages who need a home. Please tell your readers to call their local county welfare office and ask about the foster parent plan. I did and it changed our lives.—Toledo

Well worth the phone call. Do it today, folks.

What's the story on pot, cocaine, LSD, PCP, downers, speed? Can you handle them if you're careful? Send for Ann Landers' all-new booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope." For each booklet ordered, send $2, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Honey

The famed heather honey of Europe is so thick it will not flow out of a turned-upside-down jar. If the jar is shaken, however, the honey will pour easily. The phenomenon has a name — thixotropy — and is common to jellylike substances.

Men will have a chance to show-off their legs in the Knobby Knee Contest that will be judged by local women.

A dance will climax the evening and will be held in conjunction with games such as bridge and dominoes.

Texas would fit five times into the Brazilian part of the Amazon Basin.

Wheat farmers harvesting a whopper

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wheat farmers are turning out another whopper harvest this year, so big that Agriculture Department experts say rising exports will not make much of a dent in the overall supply. The department said Tuesday the harvest is expected to produce 1.58 billion bushels, 4 percent more than last year despite a sharp cutback in acreage. Moreover, the new forecast is up 2 percent from indications a month ago. The 1986 winter wheat output was 1.52 billion bushels. Officials said the average yield was estimated at 40.6 bushels per acre, up from 35.2 bushels last year and a May forecast of 39.9 bushels per acre.

"As of May 31, heading had advanced to 86 percent in the major producing states," the department's Agricultural Statistics Board said in its report. "Wheat was turning color (ripening) as far north as Illinois, Kansas and Nebraska. Harvest progressed as far north as Arkansas and stretched to California."

Another report said that by Sunday the U.S. winter wheat harvest was about 4 percent completed and that test cutting was under way in southern Kansas, the leading producer.

Farmers are expected to have about 38.9 million acres for harvest this year, down 10 percent from 43.2 million in 1986. Much of the cutback was due to larger participation in this year's federal acreage programs.

To qualify for federal price supports, farmers who produce wheat, corn, cotton and some other crops are required to idle part of their base acreage. In all, 54.4 million acres of cropland are being idled under the various 1987 crop programs.

Winter wheat is planted in the fall and harvested the following summer. It makes up about three-fourths of total U.S. wheat production.

No 1987 production estimates for spring wheat, corn and other spring-planted crops were included. Those will be issued by USDA later in the growing season.

In a related supply-and-demand report, the USDA projected total wheat production this year, based on historical trends, at 2.14 billion bushels, up from the 2.11 billion indicated in May and the 1986 harvest of about 2.09 billion. That would include winter wheat and the other kinds planted in the spring for harvest later the same year.

Although wheat exports are improving, total wheat production this year continues to be almost as large as total use, which includes exports plus domestic consumption, the analysis showed.

In all, the U.S. wheat stockpile on June 1 was estimated at about 1.85 billion bushels. That was grain left over from previous harvests. The new crop, projected at 2.14 billion bushels, would be slightly less than total wheat use of less than 2.2 billion in the 1987-88 marketing year.

Thus, according to the projected figures, the U.S. wheat stockpile could decline to about 1.81 billion by the end of the season, May 31, 1988 — a shrinkage of only about 42 million bushels from this June 1.

Wheat market prices were projected for 1987-88 at an average range of $2.30 to $2.60 per bushel, unchanged from the May report. Last season's price average was $2.40 per bushel.

No change was made in projections for 1987 corn production, indicated tentatively at 7.2 billion bushels, down from last year's 8.25 billion. The soybean harvest projection also was unchanged from May at 1.825 billion bushels, down from 2.007 billion in 1986.

Cotton production was projected again at 12 million bales, up from 9.73 million bales last year.

Production estimates based on field surveys of corn, soybeans, cotton and other major spring-planted crops will not be reported by USDA until August.

The indicated production of winter wheat, based on June 1 prospects, are listed below. The first numbers show the total production in thousands of bushels. The second numbers are the average yields per acre for the major wheat-growing states.

Russia appears headed for bumper grain harvest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although a late spring reduced plantings of some spring crops, the Soviet Union still appears to be headed for a bumper grain harvest this year, according to a new analysis by the Agriculture Department.

Grain production overall was estimated Tuesday at 195 million metric tons, unchanged from USDA's initial forecast made a month ago. Although that would be down from last year's bumper harvest of 210.1 million tons, the 1987 harvest would still be one of the largest on record.

However, the report said the lateness of spring this year reduced total grain plantings to 115 million hectares, down from 116.5 million last year and the smallest Soviet grain area since 1959. Smaller plantings of corn and spring barley accounted for the decline.

A hectare is about 2.47 acres, and a metric ton of about 2,205 pounds is equal to 36.7 bushels of wheat or 39.4 bushels of corn.

The Soviet Union's grain import needs in the 1987-88 year that will begin July 1 was put at 36 million tons, unchanged from last month. However, grain imports in the current year were increased to 30.5 million tons, up half a million tons from the previous estimate.

The report showed that as of June 9 the Soviet Union had bought more than 8 million tons of U.S. grain for delivery through Sept. 30 under the long-term supply agreement between the two countries.

Included are 4 million tons of wheat sold at subsidized prices under the USDA's Export Enhancement Program, and more than 4 million tons of corn.

Now trail Los Angeles 3-1

Celtics need the leprechaun

By HOWARD ULMAN
 AP Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Larry Bird may have missed the game's final shot, but he was right on target afterward.

"We have our backs completely against the wall," the Boston Celtics star said.

Most of the time, the Celtics do all the right things to pull out close games. But this time, they made the mistakes and the Los Angeles Lakers made the shots.

And now time is running out on Boston's struggle to become the first NBA team since the 1969 Celtics to repeat as champions.

"We have to beat the Lakers three times in a row, two on their home court," Boston guard Danny Ainge said. "We have a tough road ahead of us, but I know nobody will give up."

Los Angeles, which is 79-19 in the regular season and playoffs, didn't give up Tuesday night when the Lakers trailed by 16 points with 4:54 left in the third quarter and eight with 3:20 left in the game. The determination paid off as Magic Johnson hit a 12-foot hook shot in the lane with two seconds left.

When Larry Bird's shot at the buzzer from the left corner hit the back of the rim and bounced away, the Lakers had a 107-106 victory and a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven championship series.

"We haven't been a good road team all year," Bird said. "I thought we had to win all three at home. Now we really have our work cut out for us."

The Lakers can wrap up their 10th NBA title and foil the Celtics' bid for their 17th by winning Thursday night at Boston Garden. If the Celtics survive that, they must go back to Inglewood, Calif., for Game 6 Sunday and, if necessary, Game 7 Tuesday night. Boston has lost its last six road games by an average of 15.7 points.

"If any team is capable of beating us three straight, it's the Celtics," Los Angeles center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar said. "We have to continue to work hard."

Boston has been an exceptional home team. It is 85-3 in its last 88 games at the Garden. But two of those losses have been to the Lakers, who stopped the Celtics' 48-game Garden winning streak last Dec. 12.

"This was big because we never really won the close games here," Johnson said.

"Legend has it we can't do that here," Abdul-Jabbar said. "I think the leprechauns will have a headache tomorrow."

The Celtics' heads could be throbbing if they think too much about how they let the game slip away. They had three turnovers and just one

Rockets' Sampson decides to test free agent market

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Rockets forward Ralph Sampson says since the team has not offered him a contract similar to that of teammate Akeem Olajuwon, he will see what he can get as a free agent.

Sampson, completing a 4-year $5.5 million contract, said Tuesday he expected a deal similar to the 12-year, $2.5 million per year, contract that Olajuwon received last November.

"They agreed to give me the same thing as Akeem," Sampson told KRIV-TV. "We went in and tried to do what was best for Ralph Sampson and the Houston Rockets."

"But they didn't come up to what they said they would, so we'll hit the market with free agency and see

Tacoma gains 1-0 lead over Dallas in MISL championship

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Preki says the opening game of the Major Indoor Soccer League championship series was better than his dreams.

The 23-year-old Yugoslavian scored four goals and assisted on four others to lead the Tacoma Stars to a 10-4 win over the Dallas Sidekicks Tuesday night.

"Tonight was my night," Preki said. "I felt very strong and everything came my way."

"I had a couple of good moves but I didn't dream about a night like this."

The Stars scored seven unanswered goals in the second, third and fourth quarters, breaking a 2-2 tie, before a crowd of 11,496 in the Tacoma Dome. Game 2 of the best-of-seven title series will be played in Tacoma Thursday night.

"Even though they scored 10 goals tonight, it means just one game, it doesn't mean two," said Preki, the Sidekicks' MISL scoring champ who didn't find the net in Game 1. "We surprised everybody the way we played, especially ourselves."

"We deserved the loss, but it's only one game, and this is going seven."

"Ten goals doesn't happen to us

In Rangers' 3-0 win over Seattle

Guzman pitches five shutout innings

By The Associated Press

Texas Ranger Jose Guzman has been nagged by a back problem all season and had been in the bullpen for 10 days, but none of that seemed to matter as he pitched two-hit ball over five innings to lead his team to a 3-0 shutout of the Seattle Mariners.

The 24-year-old righthander's Tuesday night performance was limited to five innings because of recurring stiffness in his back, but he was happy.

"I wanted to get this win bad," said Guzman, whose control problems had demoted him to the bullpen. "It helped me a lot in the bullpen. I was struggling and getting behind hitters before that. But I got a lot of first strikes tonight and was able to use my curveball more."

Paul Kilgus and Dale Mahorcic, who picked up his fifth save, shut down the Mariners after Guzman's departure, allowing just three more hits as the Rangers recorded their first shutout of the season.

Rangers Manager Bobby Valentine, whose pitching staff had accumulated an earned run average of 6.20 over their past nine games, wasn't surprised by Guzman's performance.

"Jose's been throwing the ball great his past three times (in the bullpen)," Valentine said. "He can win a lot of games throwing like that if he stays healthy."

The Rangers' bats, who had only two hits Monday night against Seattle's Mark Langston, pounded out three home runs Tuesday to give them 76 on the year. That's second in the American League and places them on their way to breaking their team record of 186 last year.

"I think we're expected to hit home runs," said Ranger Pete O'Brien. "We've got power all through our lineup."

O'Brien hit his 14th homer of the year in the second inning off Mariners' starter and loser Mike Morgan, 5-7, to give the Rangers a 1-0 lead in the second inning.

Ruben Sierra and Steve Buechele also had solo home runs to account for the Rangers' only scoring.

Morgan, who had won four of his past six starts, pitched well despite giving up 11 hits. He went the distance, striking out six and walking just one.

In other American League games Tuesday, it was Oakland 8, Chicago 3; Toronto 7, New York 2; Boston 2, Baltimore 1; Detroit 8, Milwaukee 5; Minnesota 5, Kansas City 2; and California 6, Cleveland 5.

Athletics 8, White Sox 3
 With his second near miss in as many years, Oakland's Curt Young keeps getting closer to a no-hitter.

Last year, Young pitched a no-hitter for 6 2-3 innings before allowing an infield single in a one-hit, 6-0 victory over Kansas City. Tuesday night, he went one inning further before Ken Williams broke up his bid with a two-run homer in the eighth.

"I'm kind of amazed," Young said after the second one-hitter of his career, an 8-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox. "I like to believe I have the same stuff every game. Sometime they hit it and sometime they don't."

Williams was 0-for-16 before he hit a 2-2 pitch for the homer that landed just inside the left field foul pole.

"I got lucky," Williams said. "We haven't been playing well and I haven't been swinging the bat well. I don't even know what I hit. I wasn't looking for any special pitch, just looking for the baseball."

Young, 8-3, was hoping to throw the fifth no-hitter by Oakland pitchers, and the first since rookie Mike Warren defeated the White Sox 3-0 on Sept. 29, 1983.

Blue Jays 7, Yankees 2
 Jesse Barfield drove in three runs on two hits and John Cerutti pitched a three-hitter over 5 2-3 shutout innings as Toronto won its seventh straight.

Manny Lee hit a two-run triple and George Bell had two doubles as the Blue Jays pounded Ron Guidry, who allowed four runs and six hits in four innings, and Cecilio Guante. Guidry, 0-2, was making his first start of the season.

Cerutti, 3-2, went five innings.

Twins 5, Royals 2
 Joe Niekro beat Kansas City for the first time since 1971, giving up two runs on nine hits in 6 1-3 innings, helping Minnesota win its fourth straight and move within .001 of the West Division-leading Royals.

Tim Laudner hit a two-run homer for the Twins in the fifth inning.

Niekro, 4-4, allowed nine hits, struck out six and walked three in his first start since being acquired from the New York Yankees.

Tigers 8, Brewers 5
 Jack Morris won his seventh straight game, pitching an eight-hitter over 8 1-3 innings, and Bill

Madlock had four hits and drove in two runs as Detroit won its fourth straight and 18th in its last 24 games.

Morris, 8-2, struck out six and walked one before Mark Thurmond pitched the final two outs.

Ted Higuera, 5-6, suffered his sixth loss in his last seven decisions.

Red Sox 2, Orioles 1
 Ellis Burks' two-out single in the eighth inning scored Dwight Evans from third, breaking a 1-1 tie and sending Baltimore to its sixth consecutive loss and 10th in its last 11 games.

Bruce Hurst, 7-4, pitched a six-hitter for his major league-leading eighth complete game. He struck out six and walked three.

Ken Dixon, 3-6, allowed the tying run in the seventh and winning run in the eighth after Dave Schmidt, making a rare start, had shut out the Red Sox over six innings.

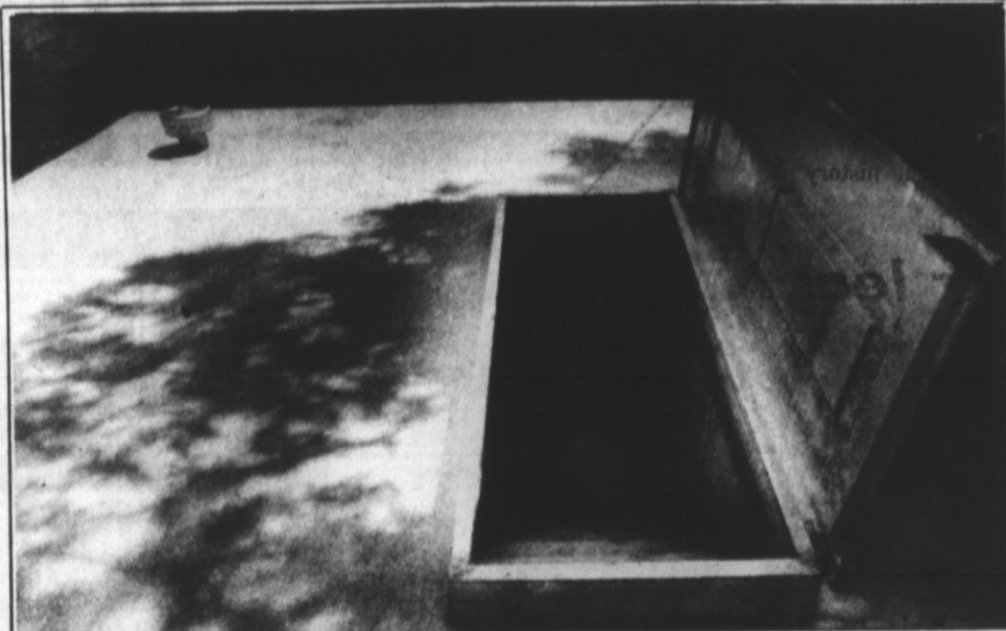

Angels 6, Indians 5
 Mark McLemore's infield single scored two runs and capped a four-run seventh inning as California rallied past Cleveland.

Trailing 4-2, Wally Joyner tied the game with a two-run single and later shortstop Cory Snyder committed his second error of the inning, throwing McLemore's hit wildly over home to allow the final run to score.
