City closes street for church project

By SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

The City of Hereford approved the abandonment of the 400 block of Juniper Street Monday night, paving the way for a $250,000 addition to the Nazarene Church.

The church is purchasing land west of the present facilities and needed Juiper Street and the adjacent alley to complete the tract for an educational wing and future expansion plans. Mark Andrews presented the request on behalf of the church. Commissioners approved a motion for the city attorney to draw up ordinance abandoning the undeveloped street.

In other business during a regular meeting Monday night, commissioners approved the third and final reading of an extended franchise ordinance for Hereford Cablevision, authorized bids for repair of the incinerator, and made appointments to the Board of Adjustments.

Commissioners also discussed the possibility of starting an industrial park on the airport property, agreed that the Cowgirl Hall of Fame could pursue plans for a private road from the property eastward to Avenue C.

City Manager Darwin McGill told commissioners that a local businessman had asked about leasing 12 acres of land and building new facilities on the airport property. The property, which contains more than 500 acres, is east of the airport and fronts on U.S.60.

City commissioners discussed the possibility of designating the land for an industrial park and trying to attract new industrial prospects to the city. McGill told the commission that a number of legal matters would need to be settled for the protection of the city. A token lease was mentioned with the land and any property reverting to the city after a period of years. The issue was tabled for further study.

Bartley Dowell and Ed Copen were appointed to the Board of Adjustments for two years, and John Stagner was re-appointed. Dowell and Copen will replace Charlie Bell and Marvin Coffey—two members who had served since 1968. Mayor Wes Fisher commended Bell and Coffey for their many years of service.

Bill Davis and Garth Thomas appeared at the commission meeting to discuss the road from the Cowgirl Hall of Fame to Ave. C. The Hall of Fame board wanted to know if the project was possible before presenting specific plans, said Davis. Commissioners agreed that the board could pursue the idea and present definite plans to the commission.

Imports hurting ranchers

By The Associated Press

Mexican cattle exports to the United States were beefed up last year, and while cost-conscious American consumers may welcome lower meat prices ranchers aren't as happy with the unwanted competition.

Ranchers south of the border, where the peso has been devalued greatly, are increasingly attracted to selling their herds for strong U.S. dollars, said Ed Avalos, a marketing specialist with the New Mexico Agriculture Department.

Mexico's dismal economy has also meant a drop in consumer buying power there, reduced the demand for meat and resulted in lower prices for beef cattle, Avalos said. Also, the United States imposes no quota on Mexican cattle imports while the Mexican government sets its own limits on cattle exports.

"We know Mexico is having a tough time, but our producing livestock industry is in about as bad

Also appearing at the meeting to address the commission was Daria Hale of 431 Paloma Lane. She asked the commission for help in getting Hereford Cablevision to respond to her complaints of poor cable television reception. The city manager said he would write a letter to the company on her behalf.

Mayor Wes Fisher and commissioners Tom LeGate, Bud Eades and Emory Brownlow were present at the meeting. Commissioner Loran Nixon was absent. Also present were McGill and city secretary Bonnie Duke.

Hereford group will present program for DOE employees

With more than 300 people scheduled to move to this area for the site characterization on a proposed nuclear waste repository, a group of Hereford citizens will be going to Columbus, Ohio, this month to invite Department of Energy and Battelle employees and families to make their home in Hereford.

Mike Carr, executive vice president of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, said DOE and Battelle contacted him and requested assistance in presenting a program to their employees in Columbus.

Carr added that Doug Manning helped organize the group last week and a planning session was held Monday night at Hereford State Bank. The group will send 18 community representatives to Columbus for a program on Feb. 19.

"The chamber does not endorse the nuclear waste repository program, and our membership is split on how we should respond to various aspects of the project," pointed out Carr. "Since a number of families will be moving to this area, we feel the chamber should assist in providing information to help attract people to the community," added Carr.

Carr added that the chamber provides information on community education, health, social activities and other factors for many industrial prospects. "We recently did this for Save 'N' Gain and Smith Food," said Carr. He added that the chamber is not helping fund the local citizen's group.

Manning reported that the citizen's group will be presenting a short video presentation at Columbus and will set up information booths for the interested families. "All information presented will be of a generic nature and each representative making the trip will be selling Hereford and Deaf Smith County, not a specific business," said Manning.

Two committees have been formed within the group—one for planning the program to be presented and one for funding. The financial committee is calling on local businesses and institutions to contribute to the expense of the presentation.

The 18 Hereford representatives—not yet named—will present a cross-section of community life, ranging from health and education to recreation and housing. Committee funding will take care of expenses for the group and the transportation of booths and materials.

Manning also reported that Amarillo will be sending a group to Columbus on Feb. 10 to present a program on their city and to invite the DOE and Battelle families to move to Amarillo.

DOE had previously announced that it will soon be moving 10 people to temporary offices near Vega. The new Vega office is expected to be open on a daily basis by March 2. These personnel are in the first group of more than 300 people who will eventually move from Columbus to work on site characterization, the $1 billion study that will determine whether a 9-square-mile area of Deaf Smith County is suitable for a nuclear waste repository.

Dropping In

Cranes easily drop in the roof frame for the Sirlain Stockade restaurant going up at U.S. 385 and 15th. Construction is to be complete in 90 to 120 days. Mason Design and Construction, Inc., of Amarillo is in charge of the $300,000 project.

Israel, Reagan offer to cooperate to avoid clashes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan and the state of Israel, seeking to head off potentially explosive clashes with Congress, are making new but limited offers of cooperation with investigators looking into the Iran-Contra scandal.

But the Capitol Hill investigation is itself having trouble getting started: a March 1 target date for the start of public hearings might slip into later that month or even early April, congressional aides say, citing delays in getting full security clearances for newly-hired investigators and lawyers. Without clearances, the aides can't see top secret documents.

Meanwhile, Fred C. Ikle, the Defense Department's undersecretary for policy, contended that lawmakers who seize upon the arms controversy as a reason to cut off aid to Nicaraguan rebels risk creating another Cuba or Vietnam.

In a speech in Seattle, Wash., on Monday night, Ikle, the Pentagon's top foreign policy spokesman, asserted: "The president's policy is to help the Nicaraguans to bring democracy to that country. It is precisely those who ask that the United States cut off the aid to the Contras who risk leading us to a 'second Vietnam.'"

Diplomatic sources here, speaking on condition they not be identified, discussed Israel's participation in forthcoming congressional investigations into the affair. They told The Associated Press that Israel is prepared to offer written statements from top officials to investigating panels.

The Israelis evidently hoped that providing written testimony would head off demands that Israeli officials be summoned to Washington to give personal accounts of their country's role in the affair.

In Jerusalem, a parliamentary committee announced it will conduct its own hearings on whether Israel promoted American arms sales to Iran and had a role in diverting profits to rebels in Nicaragua.

In another development, the White House reversed itself Monday and said congressional investigators would be given access to at least "relevant excerpts" from the handwritten personal notes that President Reagan jots down in his White House quarters at the end of the work day, intended to help him write his memoirs.

Unsure of Reagan's feelings, White House officials initially suggested the president may refuse to share his notes.

They argued that investigators did not need the material and could obtain comprehensive information from other sources.

"These are very personal in nature ... there is a concern for invasion of the president's privacy," said Marlin Fitzwater, tackling a difficult issue in his first day on the job as White House spokesman.

Several hours later, however, Fitzwater announced Reagan had decided he was "willing to make available relevant excerpts from his personal notes" if they are deemed necessary.

Gates may have to answer arms question

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before CIA veteran Robert M. Gates can win Senate confirmation as head of the spy agency, he may have to explain his failure to tell Congress about the use of Iran arms money to help Nicaraguan rebels.

But despite his involvement in the Iran-Contra affair, his political skills and reputation for innovation could make Gates what one lawmaker called "a breath of fresh air" between the White House and Capitol Hill.

And his hard-line views give him the ideological credentials to succeed William J. Casey, who echoed President Reagan's anti-communist rhetoric and dramatically expanded the agency's budget and its covert operations.

Senate hearings on the nomination begin Feb. 17. If confirmed, Gates, 43, will become the first intelligence professional to head the American spy agency since William E. Colby stepped down in 1976.

Gates' selection came after former Republican Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee reportedly turned down the job.

"Better known political figures may not be interested in getting involved in the trauma of the last two years of the Reagan administration," said Adm. Stansfield Turner, who headed the CIA under President Carter.

Car explosion claims life

TEXARKANA, Texas (AP) — An explosion ripped through a luxury automobile, killing the president of a drug company and injuring his wife and 10-year-old daughter, police said.

Police spokesman Earl Cox said the explosion occurred Monday evening in the parking lot of Walsh Lumpkin Drug Co.

Federal bomb experts and local authorities today were going through the wreckage in attempt to determine the cause of the blast that killed Daryl Crouch, 36. Injured were Rebecca Jan Crouch, 35, and their 10-year-old daughter, Sandra.

The late-model Mercedes exploded shortly before 7 p.m. Monday in front of the drug company, located on State Line Avenue, which divides Texas and Arkansas, Cox said.

"We have evidence technicians going through the car right now looking for any evidence of foul play," Cox said.

State property taxes not needed

AUSTIN (AP) — The Legislature has the power to force school districts to raise local taxes to better support their schools, a state district court was told.

"I don't really think we have to have a state property tax," Craig Foster, executive director of Equity Center, testified Monday before state District Judge Harley Clark.

Foster was a witness for the 67 school districts that contend state school funds are not being distributed equitably. The trial began Jan. 20 and is expected to last more than a month.

The state property tax was repealed in 1982 by voters, leaving taxation of property to local governments. State school funds come from other sources, largely sales and gasoline taxes.

Suit filed in electrocution death

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — The family of an oilfield worker who died after picking up a live wire uncovered by a tractor blade is suing Exxon Inc. for $2.5 million.

Exxon employees failed to cut the power or to tell the man where the underground cable was buried, the family's attorney Frank Guinta said as the trial began Monday.

Guinta said the 440-volt cable was buried only four inches deep when it should have been at least 18 inches below ground.

However, a company attorney said the man should have checked to see if the power was off before touching the wire.

James P. Cox of Miles was accidentally electrocuted Nov. 7, 1983 at the Spraberry Oil Gathering System, Battery No. 1.

55 MPH speed limit may go up

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate bill to spend tens of billions of dollars on the nation's roads and mass transit systems is being used for two other cautes: raising the federal speed limit to 65 mph and focusing attention on the budget deficit.

The Senate planned to resume debate today on a $52.4 billion, four-year program that would provide aid to the states for roads and bridges. A $10.8 billion measure that would provide assistance to the nation's mass transit systems was expected to be attached to the highway measure.

An amendment was offered Monday by Sen. Steven Symms, R-Idaho, that would allow states to raise speed limits to 65 mph on portions of rural interstates. There was no vote on the amendment Monday.

Symms, whose measure was supported by 17 senators from Western states, countered opponents' arguments that the higher speed limit would result in more traffic deaths.

Choice possible in W-4 form

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you haven't had the courage to tackle the new W-4 tax-withholding form, wait a few days. You may get your choice of two different versions.

The Internal Revenue Service, under pressure from lawmakers who are fielding complaints from taxpayers, is considering replacing the month-old form with two options: one simpler and one more complicated.

Announcement of the agency's proposals was made Monday by Sen. David Pryor, D-Ark., head of a Senate Finance subcommittee that oversees the IRS, after conferring with IRS Commissioner Lawrence Gibbs. Pryor said Gibbs had assured him the IRS would not merely "go through the motions" in trying to respond to taxpayer complaints.

Workers use a W-4 form to notify employers how much federal income tax should be withheld from each paycheck. Because the big tax overhaul plan enacted last year reduces deductions, raises exemptions and lowers tax rates, every worker is required to file a new W-4 by Oct. 1.

Most of those who fail to submit a new form are likely to find they have been underwithheld during the year and could be subject to a penalty a year from now. Others could be overwithheld, giving the government interest-free use of their money for part of the year.

Kidnappers relocate hostages

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Moslem kidnappers of three Americans and an Indian said they moved the captives because they believe the United States plans to attack Lebanon in an effort to free hostages.

The Islamic Jihad for the Liberation of Palestine announced the move Monday in a statement accompanied by a photograph of American Alann Steen, one of the four teachers kidnapped Jan. 24 from Beirut University College.

The group renewed its threat to kill the hostages unless Israel releases 400 Arab prisoners. Israel refuses. The group also has threatened to kill the teachers if the United States attacks Lebanon.

Its latest statement, handwritten in Arabic and delivered to a Western news agency and the independent newspaper, An Nahar, said the hostages were moved to "different secure areas" because of a U.S. "intention to wage a military aggression under the pretext of fighting terrorism to liberate the hostages."

Another group of kidnappers, the pro-Iranian Islamic Jihad, said Monday it would kill the Americans it holds, Terry Anderson and Thomas Sutherland, if the United States attacks Lebanon.

Aquino opposition concedes defeat

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Former Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile, a leader in the fight against President Corason Aquino's new constitution, conceded defeat today as returns pointed to a huge win for the government.

"I take great pride as a Filipino in the triumph of the democratic processes in our country," Enrile said. "We accept the verdict of the people."

He was the first major opposition figure to concede. Opponents on the left refused to concede and repeated calls for Mrs. Aquino's 11-month-old government to shake up the military and make good on land reform promises.

Final, official returns from Monday's vote were not expected for several days.

The National Movement For Free Elections (NAMFREL) said its unofficial count from 28,000 of the 86,700 precincts showed 6,339,337 votes for the constitution and 1,673,000 against, giving Mrs. Aquino 78.8 percent of the vote counted.

New Jewelry, Repair Shop

Hereford's Hustlers held a ribbon-cutting for Jim's Jewelry, Watch & Clock Repair shop Monday at 407 N. 25 Mile Ave., located just north of Jerry's Exxon station. Jim and Jan Klepac, center, cut the ribbon while members of the C o C Hustler group welcomed the new business. Klepac has been in Hereford seven years and was formerly associated with a local jeweler.

Geter's story

Movie chronicles mistaken imprisonment

DALLAS (AP) — Lenell Geter will watch dumbfounded as police officers surround him, and he'll live through the same agonizing trial and hear the prison doors clang shut again.

But when the ordeal begins anew Tuesday night, the aerospace engineer will be watching actor Dorian Harewood in the CBS television movie, "Guilty of Innocence: The Lenell Geter Story."

"Just remembering some of the painful events, remembering my arrest and how life-threatening and scary it was ..." Geter's voice trails off.

Geter, a black engineer for E-Systems, was arrested Aug. 24, 1982, in connection with the robbery of a Taco Bell. He later was convicted of robbing a Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant the day before his arrest.

His co-workers and family, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, a "60 Minutes" segment and other stories of his plight helped turn up discrepancies in the case, and he was exonerated after 16 months in prison.

Five eyewitnesses had identified him as the robber, but Geter's supporters argued he was arrested only because he was a black man in a small, white Texas town.

"I'll be emotionally up and down roller coaster-style," the 29-year-old Geter said of the movie in a recent telephone interview. "If I didn't have to live with the bad memories of a bad experience, I wouldn't have too much of a problem seeing it again."

Police said they had arrested another man in the case, and Dallas County District Attorney Henry Wade dropped the charge against Geter on March 24, 1984, after the nationwide publicity.

No one else ever was brought to trial, said Geter attorney Ed Sigel, who is portrayed by Dabney Coleman in the Embassy Communications production.

Geter — who still lives in the city of Greenville, about 50 miles northeast of Dallas — has filed an $18 million civil suit against almost all the officials and institutions who had anything to do with what he called his "racially motivated incarceration."

Wade says of the case only that "the press proved him innocent whether he was innocent or not. I still in my own heart feel like he was guilty."

After his December 1983 release from prison, Geter went back to work at E-Systems.

"I'm able to express myself better as I get this stuff out of my system," he said. "You begin to unbottle yourself, and I especially want to talk about the case because there's much to learn about our legal system."

"I had always felt our judicial system would never treat anyone like this," he said. "The mechanism to unjustly incarcerate people is still intact, and I hope this movie gets that point across to people."

Although closely involved with the script-writing process, Geter came to the Dallas movie set only once, to watch himself get married. He and his wife, Marcia, tied the knot June 30, 1984, and now have a 10-month-old girl.

'Don't Waste Texas' benefit to be held Saturday

A "Don't Waste Texas" benefit for the Nuclear Waste Task Force, Inc. will be held Saturday at 6:30 p.m. at the Castro County Expo Building in Dimmitt.

Panhandle Agri Partners, the Dimmitt chapter of Women Involved in Farm Economics (WIFE) is sponsoring the benefit, which includes a hamburger supper and entertainment provided by area bluegrass musicians.

Among scheduled performers are the Flatland Bluegrass Band, Hart's Singing Farmers, Terri Louder and Zelda Ellison.

Special doorprizes, including boxed beef and a pewter sculpture by noted Tulsa artist Kenneth Wyatt, will be presented.

The Wyatt sculpture, entitled

Geter has started the Geter Justice for All Foundation, which provides names of attorneys, civil rights agencies, Justice Department officials and others who can aid people facing criminal charges. It also offers spiritual literature.

Geter says his best prison experience was teaching Bible classes — and the worst was "everything else."

"I was somewhere I wasn't supposed to be," he said. "I felt like a hostage. I had nothing to do with it happening."

"From Texas," depicts a Texas Longhorn.

Admission to the fundraiser will be by donation to the Nuclear Waste Task Force, Inc. Proceeds from the event will be used to aid the Task Force in its efforts to keep a nuclear waste repository out of Texas.

Task Force members represent a myriad of local and state interests. Among Task Force members are Texas Corn Producers Association, Texas Wheat Producers Association, Texas Sugarbeet Growers Association, WIFE, Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, the Northwest Texas Conference of United Methodist Women, the Tulsa and Amarillo chapters of STAND, POWER of Hereford, and the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas.

CATTLE

a shape as theirs," said cattle grower Bob Jones of Otero County, N.M.

The number of feeder cattle shipped to the United States from Mexico along the four border states — Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California — more than doubled from 1985 to 1986, according to figures from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

In 1985, the total was 452,550 head of feeder cattle from Mexico, while last year it was nearly 1.2 million, USDA figures show.

Feeder cattle are young cattle that still need fattening before they are ready for market. After grazing, cattle are transferred to feed lots. They are then sold to slaughterhouses or packing companies, from where beef products are bought for outlets such as supermarkets.

"This is going to hurt the cow-calf producer in New Mexico," said Frank DuBois, assistant director of the New Mexico Agriculture Department. "What we don't know is the extent."

Unprofitable livestock markets already have wiped out many ranchers, leaving only "a few of us survivors," said Jones, a past president of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association.

The "survivors" of the past 14 years have reduced cattle herds so that supply dips enough to cause demand and prices to rise, he said. With last year's doubling of Mexican imports, the situation has taken a turn for the worse again, said Avalos.

In a recent news release, U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., said he has asked U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng to explore ways to help U.S. cattle growers. Lyng, however, has no legal authority to impose limits on cattle imports, Domenici said.

Jones said he is seeking Mexican import restrictions, particularly during the peak market months of September through November.

Avalos predicted that Mexican cattle will continue flooding U.S. markets. "Their economy is a disaster," he said.

Ann Landers Defending New York

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've read enough (in fact too much) about how rude New Yorkers are, and now I am writing my first letter to a newspaper.

I admit there are some clods in the Big Apple, but we don't have any more, percentage-wise, than any other large city.

For every rude New Yorker there are a hundred who are just plain, ordinary people trying to get to work every day. For every horror story about impoliteness, I can tell you of an incident where, in the face of disaster, someone did something wonderfully generous and kind.

I've been stuck in blackouts, blizzards, you name it, and have seen strangers digging out other people's cars. I've seen folks who had been hit by taxis attended to by men in business suits and women who took off their Gucci scarves to make a tounguet for a bleeding stranger.

Because New York is the ultimate melting pot it has everything. So let's not label it "Rude City" without acknowledging the fact that an awful lot of people who live here come from somewhere else. Please use my name. I'm proud to be a New Yorker.—Kathleen Roseingrave

DEAR KATHLEEN: Many people wrote to defend New York, but you did it best.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A while back you printed an essay called, "What is a Farmer?" I ran across the perfect companion piece in "Mid-

American Dairyman" and am asking you to share it with your readers. I heard you are an Iowa girl and am hoping you will say yes.—Des Moines

DEAR D.: I am indeed. Here it is: WHAT IS A FARMER'S WIFE?

A farmer's wife can be found sitting on a tractor, cooking up a favorite dish, setting out plants, looking for lost items and waiting on her husband.

Beauty inspires her, children interrupt here, mud perturbs her, machinery puzzles her, phone calls delay her, but it takes her husband to stop her.

When he calls, "Come help me ... put the cows in, get the tractor started, bale the hay or fetch a part," a farmer's wife knows it's her duty to leave dishes in the sink, the kitchen floor half-scrubbed, and go to his aid.

But it is also her privilege to work with her man, to share in his labor and dreams and disappointments, problems and plans, and pride in a job well done. She usually knows where he is and what he's doing, and tries to guess when he'll be in for dinner.

A farmer's wife is a seamstress, secretary, hired man, social chairman, teacher, nutritionist, errand girl, interior decorator, housekeeper, nurse, cook, dishwasher and always wife and mother.

In spite of the trials that come to a farm family, sickness and injury, storms and crop failures, debt and discouragement, a farmer's wife is thankful, too, for the many blessings of life on a farm, the variety of changing seasons, the closeness of her family, the sight of a wobbly, newborn calf, the helpfulness of a neighbor, the dazzling whiteness of acres of snow, the smell of new-mown hay.

And when it's been one of those days and she has run all over the back four acres helping her husband get the cattle out of the corn, the farmer's wife feels it's worth it all when he says, "Thanks, honey...I don't know what I'd do without you."

Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," explains every aspect of sexual behavior - where to draw the line, how to say no, the various methods of contraception, the dangers of VD, the symptoms and where to get help. For a copy, send $2 and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

monthly while pursuing an undergraduate degree.

A - As of Jan. 19, 1987, the home loan interest rate is 8 1/2 percent.

Flag confusion

The true history of the Stars and Stripes has become so cluttered by myth and tradition that the facts are difficult, and in some cases impossible, to establish. It is not certain who really designed the Stars and Stripes, who made the first such flag or even whether it flew in any sea fight or land battle of the American Revolution.

DR. GOTT

Leukemia takes many forms

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT - My wife, now 71, was found to have early-stage leukemia nearly two years ago. Her blood count is now 21,500 and increasing by 1,000 every month. The doctors say nothing can be done until it reaches 50,000. Why can't she get treatment now? This waiting is anguish.

DEAR READER - Leukemia, cancer of the blood cells, can take many forms. Some are acute and extremely dangerous; others seem to be more indolent and less severe.

Your wife probably has chronic lymphocytic leukemia (CLL), an abnormality of the blood cells called lymphocytes, which help to fight infection. This type of leukemia often doesn't behave like leukemia at all; it appears to be an uncontrolled production of certain blood cells that doesn't affect health. As the lymphocytes grow in number, the blood becomes heavier and stickier. When the count reaches 50,000 to 100,000, the blood needs thinning. This usually is done easily with medicine that turns off the production of lymphocytes.

Patients with CLL can live long and productive lives as long as their blood counts are monitored and periodic treatment is given when necessary.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I have to wear an athletic supporter because my testicles swell and get painful. This has been going on for six years, and my sex life is zero. Several doctors have been unable to find the cause of my problem. Can you give me a clue?

DEAR READER - You seem to have recurring inflammation of the testicles or the tissues in that very sensitive area. This should be a treatable infection. Ask for a referral to a urologist or the urology clinic at a large hospital.

For third straight time

Dallas Mavericks beat Lakers

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — The Dallas Mavericks could have made excuses, but instead chose to fight it out to the end.

The Mavericks had to hold off a late Los Angeles rally Monday night to score a 103-99 victory, defeating the Lakers for the third straight time this season.

"It was our fourth game in five nights and we had every reason to quit," Dallas Coach Dick Motta. "We knew they were rested and we knew they would come out and try to fast break it down our throats. I told my players not to get discouraged if they're coming at us at a thousand miles an hour, because that's the way they were set up to play us."

The Lakers cut a 13-point, fourth-quarter deficit to just two with 1:10 to play, but the equalizer would not fall as a 15-foot shot by Earvin "Magic" Johnson bounded away.

"They know from years back that we're going to fight back and not quit," said Dallas forward Mark Aguirre, who scored 27 points to lead the Mavericks.

One key to the Mavericks' victory was their 62-46 edge in rebounds. The Lakers have been outrebounded in seven of their last eight games.

"We are playing defense well enough to win, but we have got to do a better job on the boards," Laker Coach Pat Riley said. "We couldn't make the plays tonight and they made a lot of key plays when they needed them."

Byron Scott scored 21 points to lead Los Angeles, and Johnson added 18 as the Lakers had a 13-game home winning streak snapped. It was only their third loss in their last 35 home games.

The Lakers led 55-50 at halftime and had been undefeated in the 26 previous games this season in which they led at intermission.

"We weren't concerned," said Derek Harper, who scored four of his 15 points during a late fourth-quarter run. "We had control of the game, even though they were ahead. We knew that if we stuck to our own thing and slow down their fast break, we'd be in good shape."

The Lakers won't meet the Mavericks again this season, but they'll have to be prepared to meet them at some point during the playoffs.

"Now they're going to go back to the drawing board and get their Xs and Os together and see how they can improve," Aguirre said.

In other games, it was Washington 104, New York 98; Denver 140, the Los Angeles Clippers 112; and Seattle 100, New Jersey 100.

Sonics 106, Nets 100
Seattle handed New Jersey its sixth consecutive loss and 22nd defeat in 24 road games this season as Xavier McDaniel had 35 points and 14 rebounds.

McDaniel and Dale Ellis scored six points each during a 20-4 spurt in the first quarter that gave the Super-

Sonics a 29-20 lead with 1:49 remaining in the period. New Jersey never got closer than nine points the rest of the game until Leon Wood hit a shot at the buzzer.

Dwayne "Pearl" Washington led the Nets with 21 points and Mike Gminski added 18.

Nuggets 140, Clippers 112

Denver outscored Los Angeles 47-22 in the third period en route to beating the visiting Clippers, 7-38, for the first time in three tries this season.

Lafayette Lever scored 16 of his 23 points and Alex English 14 of his 28 in the third quarter as the Nuggets tied an NBA season-high for points in a period. Denver extended a 64-55 halftime lead to 111-77 going into the fourth quarter.

Quintin Dailey and Larry Drew each had 16 points for the Clippers.

Bullets 104, Knicks 98

Washington got key contributions from reserves Jay Vincent, Manute Bol and Darwin Cook in the victory over visiting New York.

Vincent led the Bullets with 19 points, Bol had nine points, seven rebounds and eight blocked shots and Cook hit four consecutive baskets to highlight an 18-4 streak that turned a 78-66 deficit into an 84-80 Washington lead.

Bill Cartwright scored 21 points to lead the Knicks, who have lost seven in a row and are 3-21 on the road after losing six straight away from home.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Actor Michael J. Fox and rock star Joan Jett walked down a red carpet for the premiere of "Light of Day," a movie about rock 'n' roll and blue-collar life in Cleveland.

"Light of Day" opens nationally Friday and capitalizes on the popularity of rock 'n' roll in Cleveland, the future site of the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum. "People here take their music seriously," Ms. Jett said.

About 1,000 people packed the Ohio Theater on Monday. Tickets were $25 to $225, with proceeds going to the Spina Bifida Foundation, a cause of Fox's.

"Thanks very much for supporting Spina Bifida, and thanks for your support of rock 'n' roll, and thanks for being the kind of city that people want to make movies about," Fox told the audience.

Fox, star of Steven Spielberg's "Back to the Future" and a regular on NBC's "Family Ties," plays a factory worker who after hours performs as a rock guitarist with his older sister, played by Ms. Jett.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan greeted Penn State football Coach Joe Paterno and members of his national champion team at a White House reception.

Reagan entered the East Room on Monday wearing a "Nittany Lions" cap and was met by laughter and applause from Paterno and the team.

"You showed all the pundits and oddsmakers who said that at last you had met your match that they were just plain dead wrong. You know that so inspires me that the next time I go to see Congress I might just wear that Nittany Lions hat," Reagan said.

Paterno gave Reagan a plain blue jersey bearing the numeral "1" and said, "We don't put any name on the back because we're team players. We're conservative."

NEW YORK (AP) — John Travolta and Tom Conti will star in a production of "The Dumb Waiter" on ABC, a network spokesman says.

Robert Altman will begin production in Montreal this month on the one-hour dramatic special for this television season, Gary L. Pudney, an ABC Entertainment vice president, said Monday.

Harold Pinter's "The Dumb Waiter" is a two-character play that opened in New York in 1962. It portrays two hit men who begin getting demanding messages in the dumb-waiter while waiting in a basement for their victim.

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Cartoonist Johnny Hart has enlisted the king from "The Wizard of Id" and other of his comic strip characters in a campaign against teen-age suicide and drug abuse.

"We're happy to do this. Rarely can you take a laugh-a-day-type thing and turn it into a message," Hart, whose characters appear in about 2,000 newspapers in almost a dozen countries, said recently.

One drawing shows the king carrying a sign with the message "Start Your Own Revolution, Take A Friend

Off Drugs."

In a pamphlet dealing with suicide, "B.C." characters carry off a smoking volcano above the heading "Together, You Can Move Mountains."

Hart's works are included in a New York State Police campaign of posters, leaflets and pamphlets. Similar fliers and pamphlets are in use in Colorado, Utah, Texas, California and Washington state.

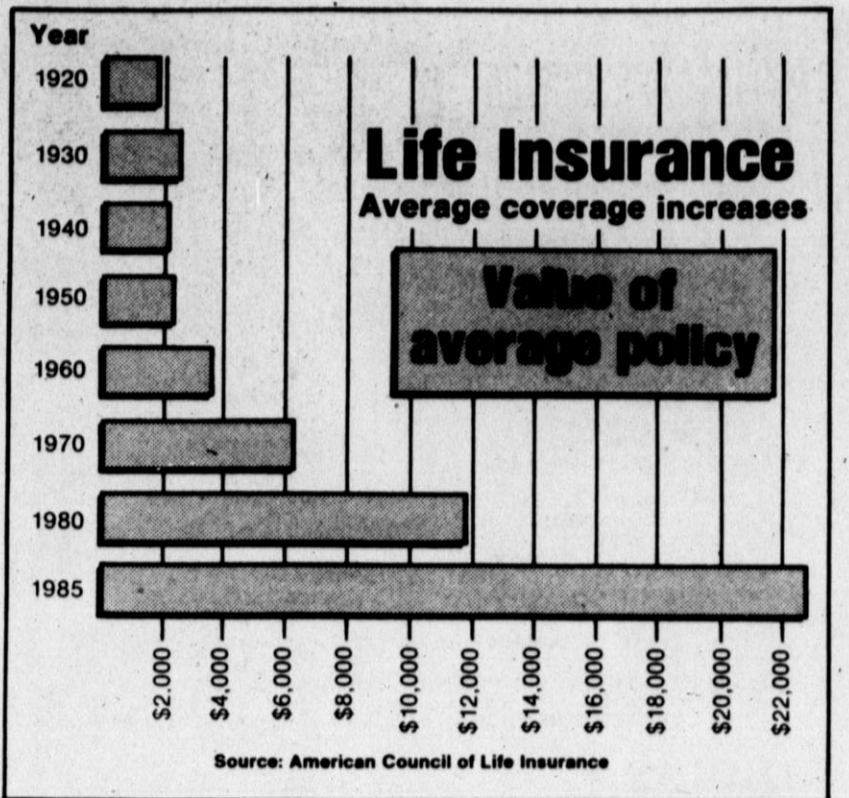

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Former Gov. Anthony Earl suffered only an "adrenaline rush" when an engine failed and a private plane he was flying in plunged, Earl's onetime news secretary says.

"Earl had a close brush with death in a plane accident in 1984 but kept it quiet for fear there would be pressure to restrict his movement," Ron McCrea said Monday in the first of three articles in The Capital Times about his former boss.

"Luckily, the pilot was able to pull the plane out of its dive and land," McCrea wrote. "After sipping a few beers on the ground, Earl got into another plane and resumed the trip."

Earl's only comment on the incident, according to McCrea: "It was an adrenaline rush."

The parrot is the only bird that yawns.

Since 1920, the average size of an ordinary life insurance policy in force in the United States has gone up almost tenfold, from $1,990 to $22,780. The size of group policies has gone up even more — from $960 to $19,720.

Legal Notices

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR WASTE DISPOSAL PERMIT AMENDMENT

CAVINESS PACKING COMPANY, P.O. Box 790, Hereford, Texas 79045 has applied to the Texas Water Commission for an amendment to permit No. 01261 which authorizes the disposal of wastewater from a slaughterhouse operation by natural evaporation and irrigation at an average rate of 40,000 gallons per day. The proposed amendment would add three wastewater retention ponds in addition to the three that are presently authorized. The combined capacity of the six retention ponds is approximately 48 acre-feet. Wastewater in the retention ponds is disposed of by natural evaporation and irrigation of 20 acres of grassland. The proposed amendment permit also includes a remedial investigation plan for surface impoundments at the site to insure that the impoundments do not leak into groundwater. No discharge of pollutants into the waters of the State is authorized by this permit.

The slaughterhouse operation is approximately 2.0 miles west of the City of Hereford, on the south side of U.S. Highway 60, in Deaf Smith County, Texas. This location is within the watershed of Tierra Blanca Creek, which flows into the Prairie Dog Town Fork of the Red River in Segment No. 0207 of the Red River Basin.

The Executive Director of the Texas Water Commission has prepared a draft permit based on the information submitted by the applicant and other information presently available.

Legal Authority: Section 26.028 of the Texas Water Code, as amended, and 31 TAC Chapter 305 of the Rules of the Texas Water Commission.

No public hearing will be held on this application unless an affected person who has received notice of the application has requested a public hearing. Any such request for a public hearing shall be in writing and contain (1) the name, mailing address and phone number of the person making the request; and (2) a brief description of how the requester, or persons represented by the requester, would be adversely affected by the granting of the application. If the Commission determines that the request sets out an issue which is relevant to the permit decision, or that a public hearing would serve the public interest, the Commission shall conduct a public hearing, after the issuance of proper and timely notice of the hearing. If no sufficient request for hearing is received within 30 days of the date of publication of the notice concerning the application, the permit will be submitted to the Commission for final decision on the application.

Requests for a public hearing and/or requests for further information concerning any aspect of the application should be submitted in writing to Michael E. Field, Assistant Chief Hearings Examiner, Texas Water Commission, P.O. Box 13087, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711, Telephone (512)463-7905.

Issued this 23rd day of January, 1987.

Doctor accused of falsifying certificates

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A Mexican doctor studying at the Academy of Health Sciences at Fort Sam Houston was arrested on federal charges of falsifying birth certificates for infants born in Mexico.

José Luis Arana-Castelan, 35, a U.S. Army private and registered midwife, was arrested Monday in San Antonio.

He was charged with procurement of citizenship by alleging the infants born on the Mexican side of the border area near Laredo were born on the U.S. side.

The soldier is a midwife registered with the Bureau of Vital Statistics. Immigration and Naturalization Service agents said he used the same Laredo address as a person previously convicted on the same charge.

"That sent up a flag right away that he was operating out of the same address as the convicted midwife," said Gary Renick, assistant director of INS investigations.

He said Arana-Castelan received from $400 to $600 for each of three birth certificates.

The documents were filed out in October and December of 1985 and April of 1986.

Renick said more people are involved in the case, but declined to elaborate.

Arana-Castelan officially is charged with conspiring to violate the alien registry act by unlawful procurement of citizenship or naturalization.

He was held on $10,000 bond and later was sent to Laredo in custody of the U.S. marshal's office.

Breath analyzer ignition proposed

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislation is being proposed that would allow Texas judges to require convicted drunk drivers to take a breath test each time they try to start their autos.

Rep. Betty Denton, D-Waco, said she believes such a device — already used in four states — could reduce the number of repeat offenders.

"I think the carnage on our highways has cost us untold millions of dollars in property damage ... and a dollar amount really can't be put on the loss of human lives and the loss to family members," Ms. Denton said Monday.

Ms. Denton said her bill would give judges the option of requiring that the breath-analyzing device be installed in the cars of convicted drunk drivers as a condition of probation.

The device is connected to the auto's ignition. Before the car is started, the driver must breathe into the device to prove sobriety. The probationer also must enter a complicated code into the machine before it can be started, which officials said helps prevent a third party from starting the car for a drunk.

"I think it is a very innovative measure. It's aimed at getting the drunk driver off the road. It's a protection for the public against the drunk driver and a protection for the drunk driver himself," she said.

She noted that studies repeatedly have shown drinking to be a significant factor in traffic accidents. More than 100,000 Texans were convicted of drunk driving in each of the past two years, she said.

However, overcrowded state prisons and jammed county jails make it impractical to imprison every drunk driver, she said.

"It's easy to say lock them up. But ... our prisons are at capacity and our county jails are feeling the same pressures. We have to look at realistic alternatives," Ms. Denton said.

Nancy Nogg, an official of Guardian Interlock Systems Inc., a Colorado-based manufacturer of the devices, said Maryland, Michigan, Ohio and Colorado currently use the system.

Ms. Denton said the bill would allow a convicted drunk driver to only get behind the wheel of a car equipped with the breath analyzer device.

Failing to drive the equipped vehicle or tampering with the device would be a misdemeanor, she said.

When James "Bonecrusher" Smith knocked out Tim Witherspoon recently to win the WBA heavyweight title, he became the first heavyweight champion with a college diploma.
