

Who was it said Hereford is about to get its first gin? Cotton gin, we mean! That rosy glow in the neighborhood of 321 North Main isn't the sunrise.

Anyway our operatives have been at work dusting off the files and inquiring around in the odd corners of town, and have come up with the following information which we hope is more or less correct: The first cotton gin was built in Hereford about 1905 by John Jacobsen and a man named Tucker. It was located west of the present freight depot on the Santa Fe railroad right-of-way, and was later moved to the present site of Jacobsen's blacksmith shop.

And in the early 20's, a group of local business men, headed by F. H. Oberthier and G. A. F. Parker, built a cotton gin near the present site of Fraser Mill. The following year, an Oklahoma man came in and built a first-class gin west of the present Pitman Elevators, and operated it for about five years.

The 1947 model which the McGeehes are installing in East Hereford is No. 4... not No. 1. Cotton has been grown in the Hereford area at various times since the town was first founded but this year marks the first large-scale attempt to grow cotton under irrigation in this immediate area. You'll hear more about this later... and if the cotton farmers make a bumper crop this year, which they might, you may hear so much about it that you'll want a pound or so of the stuff for your ears.

Rex Tynes is back in town. The former Hereford druggist is on the job as pharmacist for Harold Close, after several months absence in Lubbock, and might take time-out from rolling pills to say hello to old friends around town.

The Story-of-the-Week is contributed by John Kelly, Hereford Jaycee prexy, who apparently has his weather eye out for signs of civic virtue these days. According to Kelly, the driver of an old model International truck whose name we regret we don't know, ran over and broke a glass bottle at the corner of 4th and Main the other afternoon, and... here's the truth-is-stranger-than-fiction note... stopped his truck, got out and, without being urged, ordered, or calmed, cleaned up the broken glass and cleared the street. Two More Drunk Driving Charges Filed in County

Two more drunk driving cases were filed in Deaf Smith County court this week... the first in nearly two months... to bring the total for the year to fifteen. Jesus Costello, of Hereford, plead guilty in county court on Monday morning to the drunk driving charge, and was fined $200 and costs.

Jack Samuel, arrested Friday afternoon on the Highway near Hereford by Deputy Sheriff Neal Young and Worth Covington, made bond and will face trial later on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Samuel, whose home is in New Mexico, was arrested on his way in to Hereford after a passing motorist had telephoned the local Sheriff's office that a drunk was on the highway between Hereford and Dawn, heading this way.

O. T. (Swede) Johnson was charged with driving while license was suspended, and paid a fine of $300 and costs. Brook Shankle, charged with aggravated assault, plead guilty and was fined $75 and costs. E. B. Hones and Charles Moore each were charged on two counts of selling intoxicating liquor in dry territory, as a result of vanilla extract sales uncovered by a Texas Liquor Control Board undercover investigator here last week, paid fines of $100 and costs on each charge.

REA To Start Construction on 216-Mile "N" Section Monday

TALL TOWER

Here's the way the new Hereford water tower will look when completed. A 100-foot, 200,000 gallon overhead storage tank like the one pictured above will be built north of the city limits on Avenue F.

Construction on 216 miles of REA line in the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative's new Section "N" will be started next Monday morning, Leo Forrest, project manager, announced this week.

"We believe that we can save $100 per mile, on the average, by using our local crews to construct this line," Forrest said.

A carload of wire which was ordered in November of 1945 arrived this week. All other material for the construction project is on hand, and 167 miles of the line have already been staked and some poles set.

Unless a shortage of wire develops, Forrest said, the project should be pushed through without a hitch. Another carload of wire, ordered in February of 1946, should arrive before the current supply is exhausted.

The $350,000 project includes, in addition to the 216 miles of line, a new 6,000 KVA substation which will be located northwest of Hereford near the Fred Inman place.

The substation, however, will not be installed for probably two years. A 24-month delay on delivery of the necessary equipment has been quoted by manufacturers.

The 216 miles of line in the "N" section will be put into service as rapidly as it can be installed, Forrest said, and the Cooperative will be able to offer service to more irrigation wells in the fall, with the exception of wells in the extreme northwest section of the irrigation belt. Service cannot be offered in this section until the new substation is in operation.

The "N" section is scattered over 16 areas, Forrest said, and is made up largely of short extensions. Longest single addition is in the area north from Hereford to the Ford school house. Short sections are scattered over Deaf Smith, Castro, and Parmer counties.

The $350,000 appropriation, which has been received by the local cooperative for building the new section also includes the new substation and improvements to the old substation located east of Hereford.

Work on 239 miles of line, and two sub-stations, included in the "D" and "M" sections, which are being built for the Deaf Smith Cooperative under contract by Walco Construction Company. (Continued on Page 8)

Last Rites For Pioneer Hereford Woman Held

Last rites for Mrs. Rose Conklin, Hereford resident for 41 years, were held Sunday afternoon, August 10, at the Methodist Church. She died Friday, August 8, at the Deaf Smith County Hospital.

Mrs. Conklin who was 76 years old, was the third Hereford pioneer to die within the week. J. H. Harris, 91, and Mrs. Lizzie Cogdell, 72, died earlier.

Rose Fullerton was born August 14, 1870, near Osceola, Iowa. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Fullerton.

She moved to Kellerton, Iowa, at an early age, and it was there she married George R. Conklin in March, 1892.

The Conklins, with their four children, came to Deaf Smith County from Missouri in 1906. Both were active for many years in civic affairs.

"Mother Conklin," as the deceased was known to her friends, was at one time an active member of the local Quilting Club.

She was a member of the local Methodist Church. In charge of the funeral was the Rev. O. B. Herring, Methodist pastor. Burial was in West Park cemetery.

Surviving are three sons, one daughter, 19 grandchildren and (Continued on Page 8)

Legion Extends Deadline For Entries in $25 Name Contest

Deadline for entries in the $25 cash prize contest sponsored by the Hereford American Legion to select a name for the new Hereford Riding Club has been extended to August 25, Bill Smith, Legion Commander, announced this week.

Entries should be submitted in writing to Dr. C. D. Kelton on or before that date. The address is 506 Jackson Street, Hereford, Texas.

Entrants may submit as many entries as they wish, Smith said. In event that the winning name is submitted by more than one person the prize money will be divided equally.

Only a handful of entries had been submitted in the contest by the August 4 deadline, and the committee decided to extend the time limit on the contest in the hope of attracting more entries.

CITY GETS PARKING METERS—MAYOR GETS HEADACHES—AND STREETS GET WASH JOB

Bottom left, Main Street at 8 a. m. Center: Mrs. O. G. Hill shows her ticket to Mayor Dameron... she didn't park between the lines. Parking Meters Go to Work--And So Do City Police; 150 Tickets But No Fines Saturday - Visitors to Get Break

Parking meters went to work at 8 a. m. last Saturday morning... and so did the city police.

More than 150 traffic court summonses were issued Saturday for parking violations, City Marshal Bruce Wooddell, reported. Most were for parking over the lines marking parking stalls. Few people failed to feed the meters, though some failed to feed them enough and received tickets for over-parking.

First-offenders, however, on making their appearance in traffic court, received some friendly advice and explanations of the new traffic ordinances from Mayor W. E. Dameron... but no fines.

Wooddell reports that cooperation on the part of the public is excellent, and the number of tickets being issued is steadily dwindling. No fines have been assessed to date.

A record is being kept, however, of all violations, and the chronic violators are promised sterner action.

Corporation Court sessions are being scheduled by Mayor Dameron from 9 until 10 a. m. on Monday and Thursday morning.

Two sets of traffic tickets are being prepared for use of local officers. The standard summons will be issued to local drivers, showing nature of the violation and the time set for appearance in corporation court.

A special gold ticket is being prepared, however, to issue to out-of-area visitors who are found violating local traffic rules. It bears a brief "welcome to our city," points out the violations and solicits the cooperation of the visitor in observing local regulations... and makes no summons.

Several changes in Main Street appearances were noticeable immediately after the meters went into effect: plenty of parking space has been available and the flow of traffic sharply reduced. Streets are less congested, Wooddell reports, because the long lines of cars which endlessly circled Main looking for parking places have been eliminated. Other results: fewer U-turns, and wider traffic lanes.

At nine o'clock Saturday morning, only three cars were parked in the Main Street block between second and third... formerly one of the most congested. (Continued on Page 8)

Westway School Closed; Students Come to Hereford

Westway grade school students will attend school at Hereford's Central School this fall, the board of trustees of the Hereford Rural High School district has decided.

"In accordance with wishes of a majority of the patrons of the Westway school," Leo Forrest, president of the board, said this week, "the decision has been made to transport Westway students to Hereford to school instead of maintaining a grade school at Westway this year."

The Board's decision was the result of a poll of patrons in the Westway district. At a meeting two weeks ago called for that purpose, only a small percentage of Westway patrons were present, and the question, when put to a vote, ended in a 10-10 tie. A personal poll, conducted among members who were not in attendance at the meeting, however, indicated that majority opinion favored sending the students to Hereford.

Only three grade schools will be operated in the Rural High School District this fall. Opening on September 8, the grade schools will be in operation at Summerfield, Dawn, and at Hereford Central School.

Students from Daniel School will be transferred to Dawn.

All Junior High School students in the district will be transported to Hereford High School.

All schools in the district are anticipating crowded conditions this fall, as the scholastic census has increased over last year. More than 1500 scholastics have been enumerated in the district this year.

Sixteen busses will be operated by the district. Six new busses have been purchased, and a seventh has been re-built. Other busses are getting a complete overhaul.

Demonstration Clubs; Lions Plan Project

A program to provide home-canned food from Deaf Smith County farms for Boys' Ranch, hailed by Cal Farley as "the greatest thing ever thought of," will be launched next week by the Deaf Smith County Home Demonstration Club Council and the Hereford Lions Club, with other local organizations cooperating.

A temporary canning factory will be set up, opening next Tuesday morning, at Central School Cafeteria to can all manner of fresh vegetables provided by farms in the Hereford area to stock the larder for Boy's Ranch.

Mrs. Argen Draper, county Home Demonstration agent, will be in charge of the improvised "cannery." Assisting her will be members of county home demonstration clubs, and volunteers will be welcomed.

Mrs. W. J. (Bill) Smith will act as coordinator for the project. Any one who has fresh vegetables of any kind suitable for canning is asked to call Mrs. Smith at Telephone 748 and report what is available, where it is, when it will be ready for picking, and whether or not pickers are wanted.

Boys from the Ranch will come to Hereford when they are needed, to staff harvest crews to bring in the vegetables for canning.

"People who can be asked to gather vegetables and bring them in," Mrs. Draper said. "Boys will be available to pick vegetables for those who need them, however. Please notify us in advance if you plan to bring vegetables in to be canned, so that we can schedule our work here," she added.

Corn, peas, beans, cucumbers, vegetables for soup mixture, peewee potatoes, and any other vegetables suitable for canning are needed. There will be a telephone at the cafeteria after Tuesday morning. The telephone number (Continued on Page 8)

Subsidy of $45,000 Is Demanded

A drive to raise $45,000 in cash to subsidize the building of Hereford's proposed new 64-room Hotel Deaf Smith, was launched Tuesday afternoon by the Hereford Chamber of Commerce, following a meeting of members at the District Courtroom at one o'clock.

The cash, plus title to lots at the corner of 3rd and Sampson in downtown Hereford, costing $17,500, will be turned over Morris Thomson, who proposes to build and operate the hotel, when the project is definitely contracted.

Thomson has already deposited, as a forfeit, $20,000 in the First National Bank of Hereford as a guarantee of good faith that he will complete the structure if the Chamber of Commerce succeeds in raising its part of the fund.

Twenty-two members of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce who attended the session Tuesday afternoon, voted unanimous agreement with the terms of the deal as outlined by Chamber of Commerce Secretary Pete Cowart and Hotel Committeemen J. A. Pitman, and set out to raise the required funds.

Cowart said a number of other members who were unable to attend the meeting had agreed in advance to take part in the fund-raising drive.

A number of cards, bearing the names of prospective subscribers were issued to the individual members, and a whirlwind campaign was called for to complete the fund within as short a time as possible.

"We're going to have to raise this amount of money if we get this hotel in Hereford," Pitman frankly told the business men present, briefly outlining the results of negotiations by the Chamber of Commerce and the hotel committee with hotel operators and chains all over the United States. No hotel chain had been found willing to build a hotel here in return for the site, which was the offer originally made by the Chamber of Commerce, although several had expressed an interest in leasing and operating a hotel if a building were provided.

Thomson, young Hereford business man, until recently the owner of the Johnston Pump & Supply Company, was the first to make a definite offer to build and operate a hotel according to Chamber of Commerce committee specifications.

Thomson, however, asked for a guarantee of $45,000 in cash, plus the lots, instead of $25,000 (Continued on page 8)

Former Hereford Graduate Is Named Women's Dean at Baylor

WACO, August 7—Miss Gladys Hicks, dean of women at Howard Payne College at Brownwood since 1937, has been elected dean of women at Baylor university and will take office on Sept. 1. Born in Henrietta, Texas, Miss Hicks, daughter of Mrs. W. E. (USDA)—Many farm products gained ground on southwest markets last week, and others held their own fairly well, according to the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

New crop corn started moving from South Texas farms last week, and white corn prices declined several cents per bushel. Yellow corn advanced, however; as dry weather in the corn belt threatened damage to the crop. Oats, barley and grain sorghum strengthened some, too. Decreased marketing of winter wheat sold firm and Midwest and Great Plains growers had about completed the record harvest.

Some early new crop rice sold in Texas and Louisiana last week at $10 to $10.50 per barrel. Most feeds held about steady to firm but gray shorts and bran dropped $3.50 to $5 per ton. Dry weather improved hay demand, and priced advanced $1.50 to $2 per ton. South Texas helped growing peanuts, but North Texas and southern Oklahoma became very dry. Wool saw active trading in advance of the reinstated government purchase program which began August 6 under the new wool act.

Newly ginned cotton from South Texas found good demand and most offerings graded strict middling or better. However, spot prices netted losses of $1 to $2. Southwest peaches sold lower last week as demand slowed, especially for the smaller sizes. Hot weather held watermelons firm at most markets. Colorado peas and cauliflower weakened, but beans and lettuce sold firm. Potatoes, onions, and tomatoes from southwestern producing areas strengthened slightly toward the end.

With hotter weather, top quality eggs became ever more scarce, and markets held firm. Prices stayed up fairly well on liberal offerings of medium to lower grade eggs. Demand for poultry slowed some, but prices remained generally firm on moderate receipts. Heavy hens was bringing most 22 to 26 cents, and fryers 32 to 37.

Hog markets generally overcame early-week losses to close most 25 to 50 cents higher. Closing bulk of good and choice medium weight butchers sold at $27 at San Antonio, $27.50 at Fort Worth, $27.75 at Oklahoma City, and $28.50 to $27.25 at Wichita. Week's top at Denver was $30, within 25 cents of all-time high.

Sheep prices remained largely steady for the week, and most spring lambs went a little higher. Medium to good spring lambs brought mostly $18 to $21 at San Antonio, and closed at $19 to $22 at Fort Worth. Closing bulk of good and choice grades sold at $22 to $22.50 at Oklahoma City, and around $24 at Denver.

Many cattle classes brought lower prices last week. Most stocker and feeder types, as well as slaughter cows, calves, vellers, and bulls dropped from 50 cents to $1.50. Steers and yearlings weakened at some markets. Common and medium cows was bringing $11.50 to $24.50 at Houston and Fort JayCeess used girls, beautiful and'er, otherwise, to sell tickets and advertise the JayCee Varieties last Saturday. In the top photo, a pair of wolves in long skirts put the squeeze on Jim Bob Allison. Sharp lookers recognized them as Sam (Sadie) Nunnally and Dab (Agnes) Reeves) underneath the war paint. Lower right, Agnes and Sadie stage their own version of the JayCee atop the sound-truck on Main street. Lower left, Alice Morgan and Cherry Ann Forrest offer tickets to more particular patrons. The girls are undeniably better looking... but Sadie and Agnes sold more tickets. (Photos by The Brand).

CHEESE CAKE AND JAYCEE VARIETIES

Social Security Law Enters 12th Year in U. S. This Month

Twelve years ago, this month the Social Security Act became law, providing a measure of financial security for the people of the nation through three principal channels: Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, formerly known as Old-Age Insurance, unemployment insurance, and Public Assistance.

Amended in August of 1939 and August of 1946, the Act today is stronger, and much improved on its 12th birthday, than it was when it first became law. The following anniversary facts were supplied by J. R. Sanderson, manager of the Social Security Field Office in Amarillo.

Old-Age and Survivors Insurance has passed the two million mark in beneficiaries and a million dollars a day in benefits. Those entitled to such cash insurance rights, bought and paid for by joint employer-employee contributions, include retired workers at or past the age of 65, wives of such wage earners who are also 65 or older, unmarried children under 18 of such retired workers or of deceased insured workers who are either 65 or older or who have one or more minor children entitled to benefits in their care, and aged dependent parents of deceased insured workers who left no widow or child entitled to monthly benefits.

Unemployment insurance payments by the individual States have fluctuated widely as job opportunities were few or many. By mid-1947, the various states had developed their public assistance programs, based on a proved financial need of the individual, with Federal matching provisions in varying degrees, to the point that over 2,250,000 of aged were receiving in excess of $80,000,000 each month in old-age assistance grants. Almost 400,000 families and almost 1,000,000 children were receiving more than $24,000,000 each month in aid to dependent children grants and nearly 80,000 needy blind were receiving some $3,000,000 each month in assistance grants.

Persons desiring more detailed information on any or all of the above three programs should direct inquiries on Public Assistance to the State Department of Public Welfare at Austin, on Unemployment Insurance - to the Texas Employment Commission at Austin, and on Old-Age and Survivors Insurance to the Social Security Field Office at Amarillo, Texas.

Parking Meters

areas in town. By noon, however, the meter stalls had begun to fill. At no time during the day did shoppers have difficulty finding parking space in the business district.
T. E. Seigler claimed the honor of depositing the first nickel in a parking meter... officially, while G. P. Owens held a watch to check the time, Seigler dropped a nickel in the slot promptly on the dot at eight o'clock Saturday morning.
County clerk Robert Thompson claims the first ticket for over-parking... a few minutes after 8 a. m. Saturday. Thompson failed to deposit his nickel. Other prominent first-day violators: Maxine Wooddell, wife of the City Marshal; and J. C. Reese, sheriff of Deaf Smith County... both for over-parking.

People from rural communities, coming to Hereford Saturday to shop, seemed particularly pleased with the results of the meter installation, Wooddell reported. One couple looked up the City Marshal to express their approval. "For the first time," they reported, "we've come to Hereford on Saturday afternoon and found a place to park while we did our shopping. We're for 'em."

Cultivated Pasture Grass Mixtures Paying Big Dividends to Deaf Smith County Farmers

From the Soil Conservation Service

Tests made by Federal and State experiment stations in West Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Nebraska, as well as the experience of many individual farmers in Deaf Smith and other Texas counties, indicate that cultivated pasture grass mixtures furnish excellent grazing plus seed or hay crops.

Though most of the adapted grasses will do well in single specie plantings, they are generally mixed for greater variety and hardiness. The usual mixture planted in this area consists of Crested Wheatgrass, 6 pounds; Smooth Brome grass, 6 pounds; Perennial Rye, Orchard Grass, or Fescue grass, 6 pounds; and Alfalfa, 2 pounds. This may vary according to personal preference. Where Alfalfa is in the mixture, it is wise to have two or three pastures fenced separately so grazing can be rotated.

The Brome grass is hardy and will stand more grazing and abuse than alfalfa, though it needs alfalfa to furnish the large amounts of nitrogen it requires. So, when alfalfa is in the mixture, it is better to have pastures so they can be rotated in grazing. This will preserve the stand of alfalfa. If possible, it is also desirable that cattle have access to native grass while grazing these cultivated grasses. Rotation grazing is desirable, however, for all kinds of grasses, including native grasses.

Several farmers near Hereford have had excellent results from these grasses. Virgil Dodson has 8 acres of a Crested Wheat, Brome, Alfalfa mixture. He ran 450 ewes and lambs on this for 8 days. After watering it, it came right on out.

Robert Veigel has 20 acres of straight Crested Wheatgrass seeded in August of 1946. It was damaged heavily by green bugs so he thought it was dead. He said, "The grass came out and I grazed 64 head for a month beginning in June. Then took off and watered. They are now back on it but can't keep it down."

Bill Kerr has about 6 acres of Crested Wheat, Brome, Rye, Alfalfa mixture. It was seeded 3 years ago. He says: "I sure wouldn't be without it. I turned in 23 head on this grass about April 1. With small amounts of concentrates fed pretty regularly they have gained weight steadily."

Leo Forrest has 10 acres of the same mixture three years old. Mr. Forrest stated: "I had other pasture so did not turn in on it so early. It headed out in April and I cut about 5 tons of hay. I then put 22 head of grown cattle and horses on it about May 1. They will remain on it till frost or about November 1. I sold two yearlings for beef. They were fat and dressed out well."

Gene Albracht planted about 10 acres of mixed grasses in August 1946. It came up to a poor stand. He watered it when it was 2 or 3 inches high. He says: "I grazed 30 head of cows and yearlings from April 1 to May 20 and 64 head of mixed cattle from then till July 1 without watering it. The grass was getting dry so I took the cattle off and irrigated it. Five days later the grass began to green up and I put 30 head back on it. The grass grows so fast it almost gets away from them."

Albracht fertilized his grass with 200 pounds of superphosphate per acre after it came up. He says that his cattle will leave the best native grass for this cultivated mixture.
C. N. Crosby has 25 acres seeded in the fall of 1946 which has done well without irrigation. Several others have also had good success with Crested Wheatgrass on non-irrigated land.

Immature sweet potatoes will not keep well in storage. Growers who wait for fully mature potatoes, then dig them for storage, will prevent losses.

Mr. and Mrs. Cawthon Bryant and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Coombs and family have returned from a ten-day vacation spent at Red River, Eagle Nest and Twinning Canyons in New Mexico. Enroute home they stopped at Santa Fe, N. M., for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Willa Wilfong returned to her home in Wynnboro yesterday, after a couple of weeks stay in Hereford with Mrs. C. H. Dyer.

Billy John Lee W. Sets Record for Faithful Performance of "Duty"

Five-year-old Billy John Lee West is one member of the local J. C. Penney Co. staff who has been on duty every day for approximately the last four years.

He began coming to the store with Mrs. Bessie Lee West, Penney bookkeeper when he was just a little tyke. At first she tried to discourage this, but finding him determined, she now ignores him and goes about her work while he roams about the store or sits by her desk.

In the winter time, Billy accompanies Linda West to school and hurries home in time to come to work with Bessie. If he happens to come alone to the office, he climbs the stairs, goes to the closet to see that Bessie's coat is there, and if it is, sits down at the head of the stairs to wait for her.

If the coat is missing, he goes immediately to hunt its owner.

Vacation time for Bessie confuses Billy. When he arrives at the office to have Florence Goldston or Byrdie Feller tell him Bessie is on vacation, he becomes very embarrassed and slips down the back stairs.

Billy takes time out every day just as the other employees to accompany Bessie to the drug store. There he always has cheese crackers.

Says Byrdie, "Billy is one of the most important members of the force. He has been here longer than most of the rest of us."

Billy considers it his specific job to keep dogs and other animals out of the store, and he will perform this duty even at the cost of a fight with the intruder.

However, this is not so remarkable when one considers the fact that Billy is a five-year-old terror.

Hereford Baseball Nine Routs Dora; Opens Championship Play-Offs Here on Sunday

First game of the Western Panhandle League round-robin championship play-off will be played on the Hereford diamond next Sunday afternoon, at three o'clock, when the Hereford nine, leading the loop for the regular season, will meet the fourth-place Clovis club.

The Hereford club clinched their position at the top of the standings for the regular season by defeating the Dora, N. M. team here last Sunday afternoon, 19 to 4. Homer Fox's account of the game follows:

By Homer Fox

Dora came over Sunday afternoon with a patched up ball club of exactly nine men, minus five of their regular players, and the VFW gang whammed the stuff out of them, collecting 30 hits and 19 runs, while Dora committed seven bobbles to help the cause along.

Every Hereford player got at least one hit except the two pitchers, Anderson and Winkler. Stan Barrett led the bunch with five hits in five times at bat, three singles, a triple and a double.

Lueb was right behind him with four for five, including two triples, one double and a single.

Dora started after this ball game in the first frame like an old hen after a fishing worm.

SPORTS

One walk by Anderson, two errors, and one hit netted them four runs before anyone knew what it was all about.

These Hereford kids came back in the bottom half of the first and ruined that four-run margin in a hurry. Sargee led off with a double, Carroll walked, Barrett tripled and cleaned the bases; Stagner singled and Barrett was caught off third, and both of the flat heads were out. Lueb crashed a triple to left center. Bud Stengel walked. Third baseman muffed Bill Stengel's grounder and Lueb scored. Groom singled, scoring Bud and Bill Stengel; then was out trying to go to second. But that was enough with five runs across.

Dora never did threaten again. Anderson pitched four innings and only allowed the one hit, striking out six men. Johnnie Winkler took over in the fifth and only allowed two hits, striking out six men.

Hereford scored four more in the second, five in the third, including a long, long homer by Speed Stagner... who said that

Revival Meeting Opening Sunday at Hereford Assembly of God Church

GEORGE S. KOONTZ

Evangelist George S. Koontz of Los Angeles, Calif., will open a revival meeting at the Assembly of God Church in Hereford next Sunday, August 17.

Koontz is a widely known evangelist, Rev. S. E. Eldridge, local pastor, said here.

Revival services will be held at 8:15 o'clock each evening, with morning services at 11 o'clock on Sunday.

"A cordial welcome is extended to everyone to attend these services," Eldridge said.

Play-Off in Munny Softball League to Start Next Tuesday. Fourth Place Battle Is Hot

With the championship play-offs scheduled to start next week, the spotlight in the Munny Softball League has shifted to fourth place this week-end where VFW and Summerfield are battling it out to a photo finish for a spot in the play-off bracket.

Tied for fourth place, each team has one game left to play. The Veterans will make their bid tonight (Thursday) when they meet the up-and-coming Lions in the second half of a double header which also features High School vs. Sunday School, a game which has no bearing now on the race.

The Standings:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Firemen	12	2	.856
Dawn	10	3	.769
Legion	9	5	.643
Summerfield	6	7	.462

Sunday School	3	9	.250
Lions	3	9	.250
High School	3	10	.230

route is via Oklahoma City, St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, Akron, Pittsburgh, New York, London, Burma, India, Iran, Greece, Palestine (from where he will send water from the Jordan River back to some churches in the States), Northeast England, Germany, France, Spain, Lisbon, San Francisco, Washington, D. C., and back to Ellensburg in 1958.

The traveler is a veteran of World War I and has two daughters and a son living in Idaho. Prior to the beginning of his tour he was a cowhand in the state of Washington. He is financing the tour from "my personal bank account" and appearances before the public.

Questioned as to the beginning of the wheelbarrow-around-the-world idea, he says he saw one day two calendars; on one was the picture of an airplane flying around the world, on the other a man pushing a wheelbarrow. "If an airplane can do it, so can I," he vowed, and he started out on the 12-year trek.

A rough way to travel it may be, Hightower agrees, but it has its advantages—not the least of which is the fact that he is never bothered with hitchhikers.

Wheelbarrow . . .

Calling himself "the man who spreads good cheer," and the "little ambassador of good will," and carrying several letters addressed to him as such, the "globe-walker" says he is making the trip simply as a good will tour.

He makes many personal appearances at theatres and broadcasts from the cities where he stops, always urging the people to stand behind their governments—city and national.

Hightower is pushing a deluxe 65-pound, solid steel wheelbarrow with double generators, double headlights, 32-ball bearing wheel, mileage indicator, a rear vision mirror and green lights for clearance.

The vehicle bears license number 1000 from the state of Washington and is equipped with three stainless steel packer boxes containing personal effects, two Bibles, and letters, radio, antenna, road maps, and complete tool case for repairs.

He is carrying also the Great Seal of Washington presented to him by Gov. Mon C. Walgren, and signed by Governors Warren, Osborn and Snell of California, Arizona and Oregon, respectively. With him is a United States flag, which will be turned over to the American Historical Society when the trip is completed as the only flag ever to go around the world by wheelbarrow.

In a utility tray, he carries shaving equipment, sunburn lotion, ink, aspirin and cigarettes. There is also a thermometer on the wheelbarrow.

Whenever he has stopped, people have added to his cargo . . . now 30 pounds—letters, cards and souvenirs to be delivered all over the world by wheelbarrow express.

To the Chambers of Commerce in Oklahoma City, Washington, D. C., and New York City from Alamogordo, N. M. go bottles of white sand from the National Monument. One letter is to be delivered in London, England.

As personal souvenirs, Hightower has a photo card from Louise Massey bearing the message, "Good luck to Larry Hightower on his good will tour," and two traffic violation tickets. One of the tickets he received in Las Cruces, N. M., for parking by a fire plug; the other in Roswell for "reckless driving"—namely turning a corner on one wheel.

For night travel, the wheelbarrow-pusher wears a luminous jacket, which appears red in the dark, and a white cap. He covers between 16 and 18 miles a day, spending nights in hotels or with farmers along the road. Caught by the heavy rain here Tuesday night, he stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Spigener, six miles west of Hereford.

Hightower plans to arrive in Amarillo Friday. From there his has been shut down since July 9 by shortage of materials, Forrest reported.

Poles are up and transformers set on the lines, but necessary wire is not available. The contractors are unable to complete the project until the delayed shipments of wire are received here.

Also held up by lack of materials is construction of a 3,000 KVA substation south of Hereford, and a small 600 KVA station south of Dimmitt, which are also constructed by Walco.

he is, we say orchids to him!

Today (Thursday) is V-J Day. Just two years ago, on August 14, 1945, Japan tossed in the towel, and a few million American G-I's poised in the Pacific for an invasion of the Jap homeland, heaved a sigh of relief heard around the world. It's not a national holiday . . . not even rating red letters on the 1947 calendars . . . but at least one Hereford store is observing it. Gerald Gollehon's Cash Way Store will be closed today while the force stages a private celebration of V-J Day. Some of the gang was over there.

plot east of Whiteface Field, Forrest said yesterday, and gasoline pumps will be installed. Minor repairs and maintenance will be taken care of at the barn.

The board plans eventually to build stalls at that location to house all buses.

Hotel . . .

originally offered by the Chamber of Commerce.

Explaining the change in the amount to the group at the meeting Tuesday, Pitman said that the proposition as it now stands is substantially different from that submitted originally. Construction costs are going to be higher than originally anticipated, he said. The Brand was wrong in stating the amount agreed upon as $25,000 in the report on the hotel contract last week, he told the group.

The Brand was wrong, however, only in its failure to attribute the statement directly to Chamber of Commerce Secretary Pete Cowart, since that was the information supplied this newspaper last Thursday morning.

Indications were, however, that the contractor's original estimate of $225,000 as the cost of constructing the building might be considerably higher.

Cost of building the hotel, as estimated by Contractor Charles H. Sharp of Emporia, Kansas, ranges between $225,000 and $300,000, Cowart said Tuesday.

A Lubbock contractor made an estimate on the proposed construction at $312,000. Highest estimate by any contractor has been $415,000 . . . the lowest, the $225,000 originally stated by Sharp.

Architect for the proposed building is George McIntyre, also of Emporia, Kansas.

Initial working plans were submitted to Thomson Tuesday. Sharp told a Brand reporter last Saturday that he was ready to start construction at once.

The Chamber of Commerce plans to raise the $45,000 by so-llecting member assessments in the Hereford Chamber of Commerce at $250 each. This amount was set, Secretary Cowart said, because it can be deducted legitimately from income tax as business expense. Any amount over this sum which may be contributed by any individual must be recorded as a donation.

All money will be returned if the hotel is not built, Cowart promised.

J. A. Pitman and J. E. Hill each suggested that a committee or board of trustees be named by the Chamber of Commerce to handle the funds, and to satisfy themselves as to the ability of the builders to complete the terms of agreement before any money is released.

IT HAPPENED IN BROOKLYN

Play-offs will start next Tuesday night with a three-game series slated between first and second and third place teams Tuesday, Wednesday, and if necessary, Thursday nights. All will be double headers.

Dawn and the Legion will tangle in the lower bracket, and the Firemen will meet the winner of the fourth-place squabble in the other half.

The following week, beginning Monday night, August 25, the winners of the two elimination rounds will beat in a three-out-of-five game series to settle the championship. Double-headers are slated in this round too.

In the last week of play, with double-headers scheduled each night only fourth position in the season's standings has been at stake.

Last Thursday night, August 7, the Legion walloped Summerfield 10 to 5, and VFW ran over Sunday School 10 to 7.

Monday night Dawn defeated the Legion 3 to 2, and High School dropped a decision to VFW 11 to 7.

Tuesday night's opening game between Firemen and Summerfield was rained out in the last half of the fifth, with the Firemen leading 10 to 1, but the official scorer declared it a game and gave the nod to the Firemen.

Wednesday night the Firemen knocked out a 4-1 win over the Legion just ahead of the rain; which cancelled the second game, between Dawn and Summerfield, with Dawn leading as they went into the third frame.

The Dawn-Summerfield and Lions-Sunday School games, which were rained out Tuesday and Wednesday nights are scheduled to be played next Monday night. Tonight High School meets Sunday School and VFW plays the Lions.

Judge and Mrs. E. L. Ivey and daughter, Ranell of Dimmitt, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Calvert last Tuesday evening.

COMMUNITY BUILDERS: Alex O. Thompson

Hereford's Own "Will Rogers" Traveled Covered-Wagon Trail

Amateur Photo Bug Specializes in Weddings

By RUTH TUCKER
Hereford boasts her own Will Rogers. The fun-loving "ambassador of good will" of Deaf Smith County who can always see the bright side is A. O. Thompson, better known as "Alex."

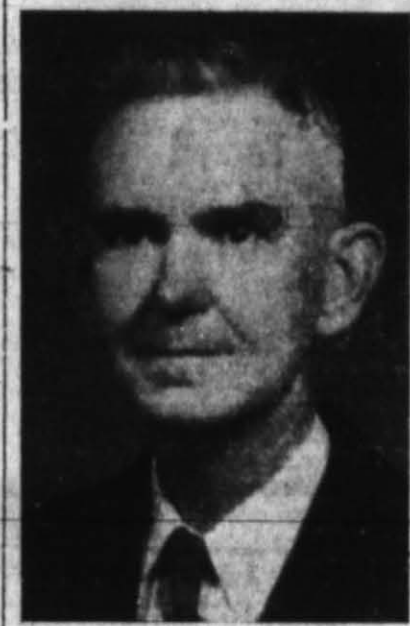

The fourth child of Mr. and Mrs. Alex J. Thompson was born at Gainesville, Texas, February 5, 1883, and was named Alex Obediah Amacker Womack Pier-son Thompson. "Obediah," he said, "was for my uncle, Amacker for my grandmother, Womack for my in-laws, and pier-son for my outlaws!"

Commenting upon his age, Alex declared, "I'm just about old enough to get an old-age pension; therefore, I'm going to move to Oklahoma—I'll get more there."

Big "A" little "o" Thompson, as he calls himself, moved with his family to Dexter when he was six years of age. Returning to Gainesville, where his father was county clerk for 16 years, Alex remained there until he was 19.

About 1901 his "father got the wandering fever. He came with his brother-in-law who was selling land to Deaf Smith County and bought a place 16 miles northeast of Hereford.

The following May young Alex and a friend, Bill Hill, hitched a couple of mules to a covered wagon and started for the Pan-handle. Bringing with them camping equipment and an extra horse, the boys slept out at night and ate wild game, prairie chicken, antelope, squirrels and prairie dogs, nearly every meal.

Everything went all right until the night they camped just this side of Dimmitt on June 12. "We nearly froze to death," recounted Alex. "Sure, we had cover, but we didn't have enough!"

Alex arrived here June 13, 1902, when "no two of the wooden sidewalks in four-year-old Hereford were the same height" and Main street was a maze of wagon ruts and chug holes. That night he stayed at the Hereford Hotel—his first hotel visit—and "I thought it was a dilly," he reminisced.

Young Thompson filed on land near that of his father's and erected a one-room house which came to be known as "The Mansion of Aching Hearts."

The winter of 1903, after Alex's parents had moved to Hereford, was severe. The Deaf Smith pioneer recalls one blizzard that sent temperatures down to 10 degrees below zero. After feeding the 450 head of cattle owned by the Thomp-sons, Alex recalls that he sat down behind the stove to read a magazine. His father, very much alarmed by the blizzard, spied him and pled, "Alex don't read. The cattle are freezing!"

Dr. Hill Asks Support for College Building Amendment in Deaf Smith

In a letter addressed "to the people of Deaf Smith County," Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State College of Canyon appealed this week for support for the passage of the "College Building Fund" amendment, which will be submitted to the voters on Saturday, August 23.

Dr. Hill's letter follows: "Throughout the life of West Texas State, Deaf Smith County has been one of her most liberal supporters. Hundreds of your youth have enjoyed higher educational advantages here and in turn have made their contribution to the life and interests of your county. We here at the college greatly appreciate your expressed confidence in us and desire to continue this happy and profitable relationship in even greater measure and improved service.

"To this end we earnestly request your support of the pending constitutional amendment to be voted upon August 23. This amendment will provide a huge building program for the sixteen state supported institutions of higher learning to help take care of the throngs of our youth who are crowding the campuses of Texas. For example, West Texas State will receive almost two and one half million dollars for buildings and improvements between this date and 1968. Other state schools will receive proportionately to size.

"All this great improvement (Continued on Page 8)

First Baptist Church Plans Building Expansion Program

A three-fold program of building and redecoration for the First Baptist Church was outlined at the morning service last Sunday by Rev. R. H. Cagle, pastor.

Wayne Evans will head the finance committee for the improvement campaign according to an election held last Wednesday night by the church.

The plans include the erection of a new Baptist parsonage, the building of an addition on the north side of the church, and repairs and redecoration of the present building.

In Hereford recently to assist the local committee in drawing up tentative plans for the building program were Dr. W. A. Har-raid, superintendent of the architectural department of the Southern Baptist Convention, Nashville, Tenn., and Dr. G. S. Hopkins, Dallas, Secretary of Baptist Sunday School work in Texas.

They will in the near future submit building plans in detail to the church for approval.

The building as it now stands at the corner of 5th and Main Streets was erected in 1928 un- (Continued on Page 8)

Sixteen State Colleges Urge Ratification

Deaf Smith County voters will go to the polls Saturday, August 23, in a state-wide Constitutional Amendment election to vote on the proposed "College Building Fund" amendment to the state constitution.

The amendment, as proposed, would assign to the building funds of the sixteen state supported colleges an unused five cents of the constitutionally authorized seven-cent per $100 valuation property tax for Confederate pension purposes.

It would also reduce the maximum property tax for the state general fund from 35 cents to 30 cents.

The Confederate Pension fund which is provided for in the Constitution, has long produced revenue in excess of that needed for pensions for the few remaining Confederate veterans. At the present time, only 2 cents of the seven-cent tax is applied to the pension fund, which has a steadily increasing surplus, and the remaining five cents reverts to the General Fund.

The plan to divert the 5-cent unused portion of the ad valorem tax to a fund specifically set aside for college buildings originated with the presidents of the sixteen money-starved state supported colleges as a means to free these institutions from total dependence on the Texas legislature for appropriations to provide campus improvements.

West Texas State Hopes for Library From Amendment

Officials at West Texas State College at Canyon are going all-out in their support of the College Building Amendment, which will be submitted to Texas voters next week.

West Texas State, which will benefit to the tune of about two and a half million dollars from the amendment if it is passed, would be enabled to build its first classroom building since the 20's, Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the college, reports.

Urgently needed on the campus now is a library building to relieve cramped and inadequate housing for that department in the Administration building. No legislative appropriation has been secured for that purpose, despite years of effort.

Sheriff's Office Gets High Praise from County Grand Jury

Deaf Smith County Grand Jury, in a rare action at the close of its session last week, issued a resolution commending the office of Deaf Smith County Sheriff J. C. Reese for its law enforcement work during the past six months.

While the action of the Grand Jury set no precedent, it was an unusual act, court officials pointed out.

Sheriff Reese and his staff were particularly commended by the Grand Jury for their enforcement of laws providing penalties for drunk driving, a campaign which has resulted in the conviction of a dozen offenders so far this year; as well as for general diligence in law enforcement.

The resolution, signed by Herman Ford as foreman of the Grand Jury and T. E. Seliger as secretary, was presented to Sheriff J. C. Reese and made a matter of record in District Court minutes. The resolution follows:

"Whereas J. S. Reese has been duly elected to the office of sheriff of Deaf Smith County and has secured a staff of capable deputies, and

"Whereas this law enforcing body has seen fit to diligently execute the laws of this state in Deaf Smith County, and has given particular attention to the protection of human life through the enforcement of laws pertaining to the apprehension and the punishment of those individuals found driving while under the influence of intoxicants;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Grand Jury for the August term of the District Court of Deaf Smith, assembled in regular session, express commendation to the Sheriff's office for the care exhibited in the seeking out of such offenders, and pledge its support in the continuation of such a program."

First Naval vessel to enter Tokyo Bay at the end of World War II was the appropriately named minesweeper, USS REVENGE.

Worley Continues Report on Mexico Tour of Inspection With Congressional Committee

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is the second of a series of three articles written for The Brand by Congressman Eugene Worley, reporting on his trip with a Congressional investigating committee to Mexico to check on means of preventing the spread of a threatened epidemic of Hoof and Mouth Disease. BY EUGENE WORLEY Leaving Mexico City, the party drove northward more than 100 miles into the State of Hidalgo and turned westward at Zimapan, which is within a few miles of the northern limits of the infection. Traveling westward into the State of Queretaro the party met an Army group near San Juan del Rio with the information that burial operations were to start the next day on a herd of cattle in the vicinity and that digging equipment was then on its way in. The party drove off the main road about 5 miles to observe this herd. On the way in it passed a heavy drag-line shovel being taken in on a huge semi-trailer. The herd was found being rounded up near a small lake. Inspection by veterinarians in the party disclosed that the disease had been present in the herd for several weeks. Here the party got its first glimpse of the quarantine established around infected herds by the Mexican army. In addition to sentries maintaining a quarantine immediately around the herd, the party found two other road blocks and disinfecting stations on the road leading from the main highway to the lake where the herd was being assembled.

Proceeding westward the party was informed at the city of Queretaro that a new outbreak had been reported the day before about 15 miles up in the mountains from that city. The party determined to observe the manner in which this outbreak was being handled and set off on the road leading to the spot. The road was so difficult, although weather conditions were not unfavorable, that it took almost 8 hours to make the trip of approximately 15 miles and return. The infected animals were found to be oxen belonging to a small farmer in the area. Although diagnosis had been made definitely only the day before, Mexican soldiers were already on quarantine duty at the spot, another squad was proceeding to the area for the establishment of a quarantine station, and a temporary bridge was being built across a small stream, in which cars of the party became stuck and had to be pushed, in order to provide access for automobiles. In spite of these early evidences of activity, however, it was estimated that it would be at least two weeks before the infected and exposed animals could be disposed of, because the equipment and personnel were busy elsewhere.

The following day, driving southward from Celaya in the State of Guanajuato, the party passed through a valley about 55 miles long and 35 miles wide in which it was stated that all the susceptible animals—cattle, hogs, sheep and goats—had been removed. Farming in this area was being done with mules which had been imported to replace the traditional oxen as draft animals. At Salvatierra the party witnessed the distribution of mules, harness, and plows. These are provided to farmers as replacements for their slaughtered oxen.

Under the system of distribution now in operation, the farmer is paid in cash for oxen which are destroyed in the campaign. He is later permitted to buy a team of mules, harness, and a single-shovel steel plow for the exact amount of cash he received for his yoke of oxen. At the time he receives the plow he must turn in his old wooden plow.

South of Salvatierra the committee observed burial operations in progress. Approximately 500 cattle, mostly oxen, were killed and buried in two huge trenches dug with a bulldozer. Animals were driven to the point by their owners, usually accompanied by the entire family, and were appraised, killed and buried on the spot. Ordinarily owners are paid in cash for their animals at the time they are appraised, but on this particular occasion the Mexican paymaster had not yet put in an appearance and the burial operations were being considerably slowed by the reluctance of most owners to part with their animals before they had been paid.

On Thursday the committee drove westward almost to the western extreme of the State of Michoacan where, near the town of Sahuayo, considerable difficulty in appraising herds of

Motor Vehicle Transfer Limit Set at 10 Days

A five-dollar penalty for failure to register transfer of motor vehicles within a 10-day period provided by a new state law will go into effect probably next month, according to advices received by the local Sheriff's office from the Texas Highway Department this week.

The new law, House Bill 75, which was passed at the recent session of the legislature, provides for the reinstatement of the registration transfer and also provides that application for transfer of registration and title shall be filed within 10 days of dairy cows had been encountered. The committee looked at a herd of grade Holstein cows on which negotiations over the amount of indemnity which would average $110 per cow. Commission appraisers said that they had killed and buried a herd the day before very similar to the ones the committee saw and the indemnity paid for that herd was as follows: 28 cows at approximately $110 each, 13 at $100 each, 31 at $90 each, and 55 at $80 each.

Returning to Mexico City late Thursday night, the committee continued its activity on Friday, July 4, conferring with officials of the Mexican Government and holding further conferences at the Commission headquarters. On Saturday the committee held its final conference at the Commission headquarters, conferred again with the Mexican Minister of Agriculture, and visited the Mexican Congress.

The committee left Mexico City for Washington by Army airplane at 7 a. m., Sunday, July 6.

Next week: Observance and Conclusions.

the date of such transfer. "A fee of 50 cents is required for transfer of registration, and a penalty of $5 is imposed for failure to apply within the required number of days," D. C. Greer, state highway engineer, advised the Sheriff's office.

The county retains one-half of the registration transfer fees and penalties collected. The other half goes to the state highway department.

Enforcement of the law may be delayed, Greer said, because necessary forms have not yet been printed and are being delayed by the scarcity of paper stock.

Another new state law, setting fees for assignment of motor or serial numbers of motor vehicles, goes into effect on September 5, Greer reported.

"House Bill No. 254," he reported, "authorizes this department to charge a fee of $1.00 for each serial number assigned to a House Trailer, and for each motor number assigned to a motor vehicle when the owner has installed a new or re-built motor and when such motor does not carry a motor number."

After September 5, a fee of $1 in cash must accompany each application. The evidence, and the assigned number, will be returned to the applicant.

Battleships of the IOWA class have as many as 1,556 telephones, and 155,600 feet of cable.

Avon Vick returned this week from a vacation to various parts of the Panhandle. She visited her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Thornbro, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sullivan in Amarillo. She also was a guest of friends and relatives in Plainview, Lubbock, Muleshoe and Farwell while she was gone.

Mrs. Belle Boutwell, teacher of voice in Terrell, was guest soloist at the First Methodist Church Sunday morning. Mrs. Boutwell is a guest in the home of her sister, Mrs. A. O. Thompson.

Although not in action, the USS WYOMING fired more anti-aircraft ammunition than any other naval vessel, during World War II. She was a gunnery training ship in the Chesapeake Bay area.

College ...

college presidents pointed out, the Legislature has appropriated only $5,900,000 for the entire group of 16 colleges for building purposes.
With the proposed tax, the college proponents say, during the next 30 years Texans can set up a fund of $60,000,000 to meet the needs of their colleges without any increase in taxes.
Supporting their claim that the amendment will mean no increase in state taxes, they point out that the automatic tax board recently announced that collection of the constitutional maximum of 35 cents for the general fund has been authorized for the coming year. If the amendment passes, this levy will be automatically reduced 5 cents, thus keeping taxes at the same overall level as in the past.
Provisions of the amendment include the following:
It reduces permanently from 35 cents to 30 cents per $100 valuation the maximum state property tax rate that may be levied for general fund support. It also provides that for the 30-year life of the amendment, the colleges could not ask the legislature for general fund appropriations for building purposes except in case of calamity.
The 14 state-supported colleges other than Texas A & M and the State University, would share in the revenue from the 5-cent ad valorem tax on the basis of enrollment, with re-adjustment every ten years. Each college would be permitted to issue bonds against their share of the revenue from the tax to go ahead with building programs.

The University of Texas is authorized to issue $10,000,000 in bonds, and Texas A & M $5,000,000 in bonds, payable out of income from the invested portion of the permanent university fund, which income the two institutions share. No tax revenues are involved in this portion of the amendment.
Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Clark left Tuesday for Greenville, South Carolina, where they will spend a couple of weeks with their daughter, Mrs. Paul E. Womar.
Mrs. Lyle Blanton returned Thursday from San Diego, Calif., where she was called by the death of her mother, Mrs. George Elo.
Sharie and James Wilson of Roswell have returned to their home, after spending the summer with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Clark.
Mrs. H. Fox is in Colorado for a vacation and visit with relatives.

SEEDS of ADVICE

from
The Garden Club

(Note—The following article on "Roses" was prepared for the Garden Beautiful Club by Mrs. O. M. Dickey.)

There are no fixed rules for growing roses but there are some general principles which, if followed, will be of advantage to the amateur gardener. He can grow roses the hard way or the easy way.

Location
There are many places suitable for growing roses and it is well they may flourish in spite of the lack.

High winds are disturbing to roses because the flowers cannot stand being whipped about, and the thorny canes damage the plant and cut the foliage when subjected to gusts and gales. Consequently roses need some form of windbreak such as a place protected by a ledge, a wall or a building, and contrary to the strongly held impression, roses do not require full exposure to the sun.

If trees and large shrubs are relied upon for shelter, the rose should be some distance from them. It is a small matter to drive a sharp spade down between the rosebed and the tree several times a season to cut off the robbing tree roots, for while it doesn't hurt the tree, if not severed, the tree roots will damage the rose.

Roses like four to six hours of direct sun daily, and it makes no difference whether they get it in the morning, at midday, or in the afternoon. If it is possible to choose, the afternoon sun is preferable because of the marvelous color-effects the sun-set produces among the blossoms. Roses will not endure "wet feet" and it is essential that the ground in which they are planted, be well drained.

Soils
Roses like to grow in firm soil and they prefer clay. They will grow, however, in other types of soil. Beds should be prepared at least two weeks, or even four, in advance of planting in order that the soil may have time to settle. Beds should not be more than 4 to 6 feet wide for in wider beds the inner plants do not get sufficient light or air. One and a half to two feet is preferable with a service path.

From eight inches to a foot of the top soil should be removed from the bed entirely and a liberal quantity of manure spread over the bottom. The manure should then be spaded deeply into the bottom of the rose bed and the top soil then returned to the bed and raked level. Allow the bed to settle several weeks.

Successful growing of roses depends largely upon manures and proper feeding for the plants require a great deal of nourish-

Sam Allen Assists In Revival Meeting At Dimmitt Church

"As close as I can figure it, a television set will take us 19 years to pay for."

Sam Allen, educational director of the First Baptist Church of Hereford, is assisting Rev. Lee Hemphill, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Littlefield, in conducting a revival meeting at the Baptist Church in Dimmitt which opened yesterday, August 13.

The revival will continue thru Sunday, August 24, with services each morning and evening. Allen is conducting the song services, with Rev. Hemphill doing the preaching.

Rev. M. J. Lee, pastor of the Dimmitt church, has issued an invitation to everyone in Dimmitt and adjoining communities to attend the services.

The J. C. Gilbreaths, who were injured in the explosion and fire at their home near Dimmitt recently, are improving at Baylor Hospital, Dallas, where they were taken following the fire. In a letter from Dallas, Mrs. Lucille Posey, sister of Mr. Gilbreath, said that her brother no longer requires the attention of a special nurse, but that Mrs. Gilbreath, though improving, is still under an oxygen tent. Also in Dallas is Mrs. Dyalthis Bradley, sister of Mrs. Gilbreath.

J. L. Davis and son Pete, are back in Hereford after a 10-day vacation camping trip to Colorado. The Davises spent most of their time around Lake City.

Shower-Tea for Miss Scheihagen Bride-Elect of Bob Lawrence Gray

A shower-tea complimenting Miss LaNelle Scheihagen is being given today at the home of Mrs. C. B. Williams.

Miss Scheihagen will become the bride of Bob Lawrence on Monday morning, August 18 at the First Methodist Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Scheihagen.

Miss Scheihagen is a graduate of Hereford High School and of West Texas State College, Canyon. For the past few years she has been head of the Music Department in the Pampa High School.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Carter for the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. John Henson, Roscoe; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wolfjen, Colorado; Mrs. Sim Shelton, of Abilene; and Mrs. Ernest Henson, Sweetwater. John Henson is a former manager of the telephone exchange in Hereford.

ment. It is difficult to make soil too rich for roses. They thrive best on cow manure which was laid two years or more, stewing in its own juice in a good old-fashioned, wholly unsanitary barnyard. Cow manure of all ages is acceptable to them and it may even be used fresh, in the bottom of the rose-bed, below the immediate reach of the roots. Some authorities on rose culture even advocate stealing the cow manure if it cannot be obtained any other way.

Chicken manure is very strong and should be used carefully. If at all. Horse manure is not as good as cow manure for it has less fertilizing value and bone-meal is slow to have any effect.

To insure proper drainage — cover the bottom of the bed with rocks or broken bricks after the soil has been removed to a depth of 3 feet.

Planting
The ideal day for planting roses is cool, cloudy and calm. In the previously prepared bed, dig a hole large enough to accommodate the rose roots — generally 15 inches in diameter and a foot deep is about right. Find the "bud" or the place where the top and root are joined together and adjust so that the bud sets barely under the surface when the bed is leveled. Spread fine soil over the roots and tramp firmly among them. Water well at this time as the water will wash the soil closer to the roots.

Watering
Water roses early in the day to insure dry foliage at night. To help prevent mildew, water until soil is wet to a depth of 12 inches, and best of all, manage sunken beds wherever possible. In extremely hot weather water thoroughly about once a week.

Bovina Voters Approve Bonds For City Water System July 31

Voters at Bovina approved a $65,000 municipal bond issue to finance construction of a municipal water system at a special election held on July 31.

The proposed bond issue carried by a vote of 88 to 2.

Included in the issue were $25,000 in direct tax bonds, and $40,000 in water revenue bonds.

Mayor O. W. Rhinehart said that the first action of the City Council, after canvassing the returns of the election, was to issue the bonds and start looking for a buyer.

An engineer for the Hatfield Engineering Company of Amarillo has been in Bovina making surveys, and preliminary blue prints of the location of water mains have been submitted to the City Council.

Mayor Rhinehart said that a tentative agreement had been reached with the Santa Fe Railway Company to use one of their water wells in Bovina, thus saving the city about $600 on the cost of a new well. The well has a capacity of about 1,000 gallons per minute, enough to meet the present needs of the city.

"There is a possibility that we may have the system installed by the first of December," Mayor Rhinehart forecast. He added that the time depends on an ability of the city to contract the job with someone who already has materials on hand.

Citizens of Bovina voted to incorporate their city several months ago with the primary purpose in view of building a municipal water system.

The Bootleg Philosopher

Dear Editor:
Last night I was readin' in a catalog, sort of idly turnin' the pages noticin' what new labor-savin' devices had been invented in case a man decided to do some actual farmin' occasionally, when I accidentally got over in the women's section and my worst fears had been confirmed.

For some time now I been noticin' in the newspapers which blow by out here at Bootleg Corner or that I borrow out of my neighbor's mail box that women's skirts is gettin' longer, but I hadn't paid no attention to it much, being busy thinkin' about the United Nations, until I seed it in a genuine style authority like the catalog.

Now here's the situation, it just don't make a particle of difference to me what women wear or what they don't wear, it's the fluctuations that make a man boil over. Knee-length, ankle-length, calf-length, draggin' on the ground, it don't make any difference, but when the style authorities start switchin' the length, especially when they go from short to long, which is just their way of takin' advantage of women and makin' all last year's dresses out of style, then it hits a man's pocket book and something ought to be done about it. Imagine what it would be like if the length of a man's trousers went up or down at the

A. O. Thompson . . .

Telephones connected to fences served about 35 families in the Thompson community. Alex insists the greatest pastime of everyone was to listen in on the conversations of his neighbors. "When we were talking on the phone, we always knew others were listening; we could hear roosters crowing and babies crying all along the line!"

Alex attended the first graduation exercises of Hereford High School held in the Presbyterian church in 1906. Sitting on the stage with the class was Miss Audrey Argo, whose parents had just moved to Hereford and were operating a grocery store here. Asked for first impressions, Alex replied, "She looked pretty good to me," and, of course, he determined to meet her. The formal introduction was made soon after at the annual Canyon Reunion, which "was THE occasion then in this part of the world." Both Alex and Audrey attended Hereford Christian College and "sparked there for a year," Alex was taking a "post haste" course at the school.

He remembers rather uneasily the day he was driving Audrey home from school in the buggy. "It was awful cold, and Audrey said, 'My hands are cold, and nobody loves me.'" To which lover Alex replied, "The Lord loves you, and you can sit on your hands!"

The couple was married Thanksgiving Day, 1908, in Aurey's home, the Rev. Dean, pastor of the Baptist church, officiating. Questioned about the honeymoon, Alex answered, "I had already taken my honeymoon to Detroit and Canada the summer before."

There was only one time when the marriage almost ended abruptly. That was when Alex went to Paris, Texas, to visit Audrey's relatives for the first time. The proud young wife, who preceded her husband to Paris, had spent much time boasting about her good-looking husband with the beautiful wavy auburn hair. Just imagine her surprise and chagrin when "hubby" Alex arrived with his hair freshly clipped and his ears looking "nine times as big as usual."

Alex was elected county clerk of Deaf Smith in 1915 and served in that office six years. He has been county surveyor since 1925 besides managing his local abstract office. He says he never learned to type but uses the HP & E system—meaning Hunt, Peck and Erase.

In 1918 he "fell heir" to the Sunday School superintendency of the First Baptist church, "and I haven't been able to get out of it since."

Seldom seen anywhere without a camera, Alex has taken pictures of just about everything and everybody in Hereford. He especially likes to photograph weddings and babies. He bought his first camera in 1900 but took up photography in earnest only about 1940 when he and Audrey went to Cuba—Alex to the international Lions club convention.

Alex is a welcome visitor in every business place and home in Hereford, and he never fails to make his presence known with a cheerful whistle followed by one of his inexhaustible store of jokes.

Ever since a trip to El Paso and Chihuahua, Mexico, last year, he has been an ardent admirer of the Spanish language. He insists upon meeting his friends with one Spanish expression he knows—but does not understand.

Whether it's business or pleasure, though, Alex Thompson is certain it can be taken care of most efficiently over a cup of coffee in a local drug store or cafe, and that's where he is sure to be found about 10 o'clock every morning of the world.

Everything has a funny side to this man-about-town. For instance, there was the time he crashed into a woman's car on Main street. The woman pointed out indignantly, "I stuck out my hand before I turned," and when Alex explained he didn't see it, she promptly answered, "Yes, but had I stuck out my leg, you'd certainly have seen it!" Alex agrees.

Alex's family takes him more or less as a joke himself.

Upon hearing a bit of news, they are likely to respond, "Why, Alex told us that the other day, but we didn't believe him."

He has two daughters, Mrs. Major Schroeter and Mrs. Troyce will be made without increase in taxes. We readily admit that this sum is not large enough, but it is more than ten times what we have received for buildings between 1928 and 1948. We suffered terribly last year because we did not have adequate facilities and unless this amendment passes on August 23, we shall continue suffering through an indefinite period.
