Landowners receive acquisition letters

By DEBE GRAVES
Staff Writer

Area landowners will be receiving letters by certified mail this week advising that initial activity for land acquisition has begun for the purpose of studies related to a nuclear waste repository in Deaf Smith County. Department of Energy officials associated with the salt repository project have authorized the Corps of Engineers to begin preparation of a real estate planning report.

"This planning report will describe the lands for site characterization and site investigation and recommend the property interests that should be acquired by DOE," according to the letter signed by Robert Wunderlich, deputy project manager.

The planning report is to be submitted to DOE on July 15. Originally the time schedule for the project allowed two weeks from COE's submission of the report to the time that DOE would complete its land acquisition plan and begin holding landowner's meetings. Under a new planning schedule the time will be expanded to four weeks.

"The time has been expanded at the request of landowners who felt they needed additional time to prepare a response to the proposals," Wunderlich stated at his Deputy Manager's Meeting in the Community Center early this morning.

As the plan currently stands the completed land acquisition plan will be filed Aug. 15 and Washington reviews and approval will be sought on Aug. 30.

Once approval is received from the Washington DOE office land acquisition will move rapidly with COE initiating action on the same day.

According to the revised plan, COE will hold landowner-public meetings on Sept. 15 and will present land appraisals eight weeks later, on Oct. 30. The appraisals will contain information about the value of the land needed and considerations related to recommending lease or purchase of the properties involved.

This morning Wunderlich stated, "COE has a 90 percent history of obtaining voluntary agreements through a offer and counter-offer process. However if a landowner refuses to comply we can get access to the land through right of ways or other means which will provide the least damage to the landowner."

Stating that condemning land is an option, Wunderlich advised, "The landowner does not really have any recourse in the end in terms of keeping us off of his land."

The negotiation and agreement stage of the operation is scheduled to be completed before Nov. 30.

A change from the baseline plan which landowners have not been advised of includes modifications of the site of some of the drilling activity. Bore holes which were to be drilled inside the corners of the nine-square mile area of the site have been changed. The holes are now to be drilled on the outside of the site, however Wunderlich advises that no new landowners will be involved in the process.

Staffing levels of the DOE office and of its subcontractors continues to slowly rise with the trickle of transferees from the Columbus, Ohio, area and with more local hires. Last week 70 related staff persons were in the area, that figure now stands at 74 with Battelle's addition of four employees in the local office.

Hereford has 23 of the employees in residence, 31 percent. Amarillo has 39 percent of the employees in residence and Canyon claims three while Vega has two.

According to Wunderlich, most of the local hires are administrative and support personnel while the transfers tend to be professional people.

It is projected that an additional 50 people will be on staff locally in the month of June with 30 joining the staff in July. Battelle will be the largest of the Hereford employers with an estimated 300 employees working in the local office.

WDIC draws few responses for issues council

By SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

A call for concerned citizens to serve on the Site Characterization Issues Council (SCIC) has drawn few volunteers, it was reported Tuesday by Phillip Niedzielski-Eichner, executive director of the Deaf Smith County Waste Deposit Impact Committee (WDIC).

"The WDIC can best do its job if it has the community working alongside. The SCIC is designed as a vehicle to get hands-on community involvement in the program," said the WDIC director.

"For the process to work, we need people who are concerned and have the energy to put time into the council study. The council is structured so that the concerns of the community will be heard," said Niedzielski-Eichner.

The WDIC and its six member governmental units are seeking 28 citizens to serve on the Issues Council. It will be structured in two directions--socioeconomic and geotechnical issues. The council will provide direct public participation in an effort to identify potential impacts related to site characterization and establish recommendations for mitigating or relieving them.

The WDIC strongly urges that interested citizens contact one of the following individuals to express their willingness to contribute to one of the two study groups: Judge Tom Simons, Deaf Smith County; Margie Ford, hospital district; Susan Perin, Walcott school district; Mayor

Wes Fisher, City of Hereford, John Fuston, Hereford school district; or Jim Conkwright, High Plains Underground Water District.

Niedzielski-Eichner pointed out that the SCIC needs to start its work as soon as possible, and it will continue to Aug. 31. He said the study groups would meet every other week for two or three hours. The WDIC staff will handle the work needed to be accomplished in between the meetings.

"The SCIC will accomplish a job and wind up with a product—a recommendation on issues to be presented to the WDIC. It will give participants an opportunity to get thoroughly educated on the site characterization matter," said the WDIC director.

The WDIC will appoint two persons to each study group, and the six entity boards will appoint two to each study group, resulting in the 28-member issues council.

The socioeconomic study group of the issues council will address social, fiscal, service delivery and economic impacts of characterization. The geotechnical study group will address all surface, sub-surface, on and off-site geological, hydrological and shaft construction activities.

Each study group will elect its own chairperson and vice-chairperson. The WDIC executive director will act as council coordinator.

Concerned citizens who are willing to serve on one of the study groups should contact one of the representatives listed above.

What was going to be a fireworks stand near Park and Redwood was tossed by high winds Tuesday night when a heavy thunderstorm hit parts of Deaf Smith County. Rains in the west part of town had bar ditches full and over the road in spots.

Tort reform sent to House, June 22 eyed for budget

AUSTIN (AP) — Senators approved and sent the House a package of legislation aimed at revising civil justice laws and providing more regulation of liability insurance.

"The Senate action tonight is a very positive step in the direction of economic development in Texas," Gov. Bill Clements said after Tuesday night's vote. "Hopefully, the House can move in a similar fashion very soon."

The House was expected to vote on the measures today.

The Senate approved the measures Tuesday on voice vote in the special session called by Clements after a filibuster by Sen. Craig Washington killed the tort reform measure at the end of the regular session Monday night.

Washington again postponed a vote on the bills Tuesday night for several hours.

"This is not a filibuster. I'm just asking questions," Washington said after he had been on his feet for more than three hours before a committee made up of the entire Senate membership.

The Senate approved 30-2 an allied measure making numerous changes in state liability insurance law. The bill creates a new consumer protection division in the State Board of Insurance and authorizes a public counsel for the department.

Efforts to place a two-year freeze on liability insurance prices failed by votes of 19-12 and 18-13.

The Senate approved the tort reform bill measure by Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, by a vote 29-3. Montford said the bill was the same as the Senate-House compromise that failed Monday night.

The package of bills presented to the Senate Tuesday involve an overall measure making numerous changes in civil justice procedures, including the responsibilities of defendants and plaintiffs in personal injury and property damage suits.

After weeks of discussion, the House and Senate had reached a compromise on the package that included placing caps on punitive damages and the liability of cities, sanctions for frivolous lawsuits and limits on the liability of defendants in multiparty suits.

The House had approved on Monday night the compromise between rival measures passed by the Senate and House on civil justice reform.

But there was never a vote in the Senate on the compromise because of a brief filibuster by Washington which used up the short time remaining before the midnight deadline.

Clements called the follow-up special session only for the tort reform bills, plus strengthening of liability insurance laws.

Li. Gov. Bill Hobby said he and Speaker Gib Lewis urged Clements to call the immediate special session on tort reform because "otherwise, I was afraid the momentum might be lost."

"Another thing, I would hope the June 22 special session (scheduled earlier by Clements) would be focused entirely on budget issues," Hobby said. "I would hope we would not be distracted by a very time-consuming issue such as tort reform."

Storm brings winds, hail

A storm system that started in the northeastern section of the Texas Panhandle brought high winds, rain, and hail sweeping across Hereford and neighboring areas Tuesday evening.

KPAN, the official weather reporting station, had .75 of an inch of rain and small hail. KPAN recorded a high of 86 on Tuesday and the early morning low today was 59.

Some crop damage was reported, but evaluations are not complete on losses. Harold Dillehay, whose mill is 5 miles north of Dawn, said a narrow strip running northeast to southwest received 1 to 1½ inches of rain and hail. He estimated wheat crop damage in that area to range from 25 to 70 percent.

Three to four miles west of Hereford on F.M. 1058 had hail for about 15 minutes when the storm hit between 9 p.m. and 9:30. Jaime Nepper said winds were about 50 mph. Quarter-inch hail covered her yard and bar ditches were full and running over the road.

Just north of the city limits a 20 x 30 foot metal barn blew about 50 yards to the southwest of its original location. J.W. McMorries surmises a small funnel cloud tossed it, but Fire Marshal Jay Spain said that was unlikely because the highwires just above it were not damaged. McMorries reported over 2½ inches of rain.

On the western edge of town, a fireworks stand was blown over south of Redwood and ditches were full late last night. Residents in that area reported high winds estimated at up to 80 mph.

North of Umbarger 2 to 4 inches of rain was reported by farmers.

Other wind damage near Westway blew down branches and knocked over some wheat and corn. West of Six-Mile Corner, .6 of an inch was recorded.

Dawn received enough water to leave it ankle deep in some yards still this morning.

Summerfield had .6 of an inch of rain, Northwest grain recorded .8, Pioneer Fertilizer had .4 of an inch and Easter Grain showed only .05.

OUTLOOK: A 20 percent chance of thunderstorms tonight, a few possibly severe. Low in upper 50s. Wind northeast to east 5 to 10 mph. Partly cloudy thursdays, isolated afternoon thunderstorms. Rain chance less than 20 percent and high in upper 70s.

As more motorists hit the roads this summer for vacation trips, there might be a temptation to test the new 65 mph speed limit. If so, they might want to keep this story in mind:

A man died and arrived in heaven's pearly gates. "Have you ever done anything wrong?" asked the gatekeeper.

"Well, I stole a watermelon but that was about 40 years ago," explained the deceased. The gatekeeper then asked if he had done anything else bad, perhaps more recently.

"Yes," replied the candidate reluctantly. "A Texas highway patrolman stopped me and was writing out a ticket for exceeding the new speed limit. I got very angry and spit on his boots!"

"When was that?" asked the gatekeeper.

"About five minutes ago!"

We're glad the month of May is behind us!

In Washington, our congressmen couldn't seem to attend to some of our serious problems because of the Iran-Contra affair. In Austin, our lawmakers couldn't solve the budget deficit during the regular session and will now go into a special session.

In Hereford, we've been so busy with tornado alerts and watching the clouds that it has been a distraction to other business. The HHS graduating class had to go inside because of the weather, and our baseball team ran into all kind of difficulties trying to complete playoff games.

June has to be better!

The Coffey Memorial Blood Bank didn't hold its regular monthly blood-donor drive here last week, but it was listed in The Brand's "Calendar of Events." We apologize for any inconvenience this may have caused some potential donors. The error was due to a lack of communications between the newspaper and the local blood drive chairman, and we hope it won't happen again.

New nuke office to open

The Nuclear Waste Task Force and POWER (People Opposing Wasted Energy Repositories) will open a joint information office in Hereford on Friday with a special ribbon cutting ceremony at the facility on South Kingwood, just north of Oglesby Equipment, at 11 a.m.

A grand opening week will be held June 8-12 from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily.

State Rep. John Smith, delegates from the Texas Department of Agriculture and the Governor's Nuclear Waste Task Force are expected to attend, according to Delbert Devin, NWTFF president.

The new office is being opened, a spokesman said, to provide more information on the proposed dump site in Deaf Smith County. It will be staffed by volunteers.

Devin and Tonya Kleuskens, who will be at the ceremony Friday, are in Washington this week for a meeting of the National Nuclear Waste Task Force, involving participants from 14 states. The activities will include a legislative strategy session and during the week opponents will be testifying before the Nuclear Regulatory Committee of the Environmental and Public Works Committee.

Police report assault calls

Two incidences involving domestic violence ended in assault according to the Hereford Police Department's report for Tuesday. A male victim reported two women beat him using their fists, a board and rocks. The incident occurred on the 100 block of Bradley and involved a former relationship between the man and one of the women. A family fight ended in assault on Blevins street and police officers stood by during a civil dispute on Aspen.

Two arrests were made on Tuesday, a 25-year-old man was arrested on warrants for failure to appear and for jumping bail, and a 26-year-old man was arrested on charges of DWI, no driver's license and no liability insurance.

Other offenses reported include trespassing on the 100 block of Brevard, prowlers on the 300 block of Western and the 400 block of Long, a mailbox hit by a vehicle on the 300 block of Sixteenth, theft of a purse with valuables totaling $158 from the lobby of Deaf Smith General Hospital, burglary of a vehicle from which a radio and speakers were taken, a runaway from Ave. B and dogs running loose on the 100 block of Northwest Drive.

Eight citations were issued.

New director appointed

Staffers join counseling service

By DEBE GRAVES
Staff Writer

Family Services of Hereford announces the addition of two staff members. Darrell Manzanares has been appointed as director of the agency and Belinda Taylor has joined the staff as a counselor.

Manzanares moved to Hereford from Santee, Calif., a suburb of San Diego. He has been a mental health clinician for nine years. He was raised in Portales, N.M. where he graduated from Eastern New Mexico University with a bachelor's degree in psychology and religion and a master's degree in education with a major in guidance counseling. His wife, Sylvia, is currently completing a degree in sociology at ENMU and will be joining him in Hereford this fall. The couple have two daughters Erma, 12, and 8-year-old Stephanie.

"I have been pleasantly surprised by the accepting and helpful attitudes of the people in Hereford toward those with mental health problems," says Manzanares. "I think it is important to remember that these people were humans first, before they had mental problems, and that we continue to see them as humans first."

Though state funding demands patients with chronic mental illnesses receive priority treatment at the Family Services Center, recent support monies from United Way have enabled the local agency to employ a part-time counselor who will focus on counseling individuals who, though not chronically ill, require assistance in coping with everyday life situations or with changes in their lives.

Belinda Taylor was hired to fill that position. She is available on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday each week and plans to begin offering counseling services to Vega clients on alternating Tuesdays.

Born in El Paso and raised in Big Springs, Taylor holds bachelor's degrees in psychology and in child development from California State University in Fresno. Associated with the Texas Panhandle Mental Health Authority, in Amarillo, for five years, she transferred to the Hereford office recently.

Taylor is bi-lingual and also is qualified to sign for the deaf. She and her husband, Wayne, reside in Vega where he farms and ranches. She has one daughter, Amelia, who is 8-years-old, and is expecting another child in late June.

She says she likes the community spirit of Hereford and the friendliness to the people but notes that there are limited activities for young people, for example bowling, movies, etc.

Stating that she is planning on taking some time to visit around town and ascertain areas where she can be of service, Taylor says, "My services are not only for the chronically ill. I will be here for those who need someone to talk to or just a sounding board for private thoughts."

Taylor says, "We all need somebody to confide in, a lot of us get this support from family or friends but others may not have that network or may not feel comfortable burdening family members with a problem. Family Services can meet that need and the clients confidentiality is guaranteed."

Taylor spent four years in California with a treatment center for emotionally disturbed children and foster parented six to 18-year-old children four at a time during that period.

Student suspended for hiring stripper

HOUSTON (AP) — Kingwood High School's highest-ranking student attended his graduation, but didn't get to deliver his valedictory address or receive his diploma after being suspended for hiring a stripper to entertain a teacher.

Despite threats of a boycott, commencement ceremonies went as planned Tuesday night with Michael Woosley sitting in the stands at Humble Independent School District's football stadium in street clothes.

His robed classmates sat on the field and received diplomas. A Humble policeman stood nearby, watching Woosley.

Woosley, 18, was suspended for six days last week after a stripper posing as a police officer visited his physics class, questioned the teacher and began removing her clothes, school officials said.

Caroline Williams delivered the valedictory address, although the program listed Woosley as valedictorian.

When the announcer passed over Woosley's name, the crowd started yelling his nickname — "Wooz!" Two spectators put up a sign reading "Let Wooz Walk," but police promptly removed it.

"I don't think the (school) board acted correctly on this. But what has happened has happened and they can't back out of their actions," Woosley said as he entered the football stadium. All around him, fellow students were yelling what became an overnight cheer: "Let Wooz Walk."

One student, Telle Crofts, wore a T-shirt with the cheer on the front and "Wooz for President" on the back.

"I think it's ridiculous," Miss Crofts said of Woosley's punishment. "Everyone in the whole school is supportive of him. There are people that got busted for drugs and they're out there walking."

Banners supporting Woosley appeared outside his home, on car windows and even a freeway overpass.

Woosley has said his prank had been taken wrong.

"We had just been in our physics teacher's class for two years, and we liked him a lot, it was just a joke," he said. "I think it was taken wrong, and I think it was wrong to do it. I'm guilty as charged. I never tried to deny that."

"Individuality is tantamount to self expression and success, and you have to search your soul and search yourself before you can relate to anyone else," he said, noting that his valedictory address was about individuality.

The stripper's performance last Thursday was cut short by a school administrator. Woosley, who collected the money for the prank, was suspended for two infractions of the school honor code, school spokeswoman Karen Collier said.

"It was a major disruption of our instructional day, and he lied to school officials when he said the lady was a guest of the class and would be making an educational presentation," Ms. Collier said.

She said many parents supported the school's actions in suspending the teen-ager.

Woosley attained a 4.96 grade point average on a 4-point scale by earning A's in classes for honor students.

He had to explain his absence from the ceremony to his parents who flew in from Atlanta, Ga. He has been living with family friends since his parents moved to Georgia last year.

"My parents are pretty exasperated and I think a little bit manipulated. The office of public information said my parents supported the school district and my parents never made any such statement," Woosley said. His parents have declined to comment.

It's not Woosley's first bout with school regulations. He was cited earlier this year for violating the dress code when he appeared wearing an earring and sunglasses.

"I didn't think it was fair to be restricted from graduating ... when you think of some of the kids who have been in trouble for drugs, for fighting and for weapons," Woosley said. "I don't think the school acted properly, yet two wrongs don't make a right."

Woosley has a Navy ROTC scholarship and said he plans to enroll at the University of Virginia in the fall and pursue a degree in engineering.

Paralyzed student gets own ceremony

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Jimmy Wilson has been honored with his own graduation ceremony, complete with gifts of fishing gear and hugs from classmates who have helped him adjust to his paralysis and speech loss.

"I, Jimmy Wilson, want to thank all of you here for making this graduation day possible for me," the 21-year-old said with the aid of a talking typewriter during a ceremony Tuesday at Fair Meadows School.

"Thank you for encouraging me and it's been a pleasure coming here to learn," he said. "Thank you all for your patience, good care and friendship."

When he was 13 years old, Wilson suffered a head injury in a collision with a basketball pole during a physical education class that left him paralyzed and unable to speak.

"When he came back to school, the hardest thing for him to learn was to accept himself as he was," his mother, Vivian Wilson, said after the ceremony.

Each special education class and the school's Special Olympics team presented Wilson with store-bought and handmade gifts, most of which centered on a theme of fishing, Wilson's favorite hobby.

"When he was 18 (years old), he didn't leave school," teacher Nancy Hunter said after the ceremony. "He wanted to stay with his friends. The kids in the school have grown to love him."

"He liked coming to school here so much," Mrs. Wilson said. "I don't want him to sit at home. I'm hoping there's something out there for him."

Texas legislature...

They did pass some things

AUSTIN (AP) — While many major problems of January are still problems in June, lawmakers made progress on several important issues.

The Legislature voted to ban late-term abortions, take beer cans out of drivers' hands, partially deregulate the trucking industry, crack down on campus hazing, allow quarantining of some AIDS patients and make it tougher for government officials to do the public's business in private.

The successful bill list grew Monday when the House and Senate approved a so-called "dram-shop" measure, under which bars can be held responsible for serving drinks to an intoxicated patron who then causes a wreck.

"We've had a good session. It's been a very productive session," Speaker Gib Lewis said.

He admitted to a few major disappointments, such as the budget impasse that has forced a special session that begins June 22.

The abortion bill was a significant, if less than total, victory for the pro-life forces. The bill bars physicians from aborting a fetus that could live outside the womb, with or without life-sustaining technology.

The bill would have made it a crime to perform late-term abortions, but the negotiating process resulted in a bill that makes it an offense punishable by loss of medical license or other Board of Medical Examiners sanction.

Pro-choice forces fear the bill will lead to more stringent anti-abortion legislation in coming years.

Gov. Bill Clements has said he would sign the abortion bill, which would give Texas its first abortion regulations since the U.S. Supreme Court's 1973 ruling that struck down state abortion restrictions.

Also headed to Clements' desk is a bill to permit quarantining of AIDS patients who pose a public health threat, although lawmakers at the last minute stripped that bill of a requirement for a pre-marital AIDS test.

Clements already has signed the bill that bars drivers from drinking alcoholic beverages while behind the wheel. The legislative battle centered on whether Texans have a right to drink — as long as they are not drunk — while driving.

The trucking deregulation measure, which ended years of squabbling, was a compromise bill that won approval with little floor debate. The bill, which is awaiting action by Clements, provides pricing leeway for some haulers. Under the current system, the Texas Railroad Commission tightly controls those rates.

Deregulation backers have argued for years that commission regulation has been anti-competitive and prevented shippers from getting better deals.

Deregulation also was sought by

AT&T on intrastate long-distance phone calls. Instead, the Legislature approved a bill to make their case to the Public Utility Commission.

The anti-hazing bill passed in the wake of the death of a University of Texas freshman who died of an alcohol overdose after consuming a fatal amount of rum during a fraternity activity. Grand jurors who reviewed the case issued a scathing report about the incident, but said no state law was broken.

The bill that is on Clements' desk makes it easier to bring criminal prosecutions for hazing offenses.

The open meetings bill that won approval is viewed as a victory for reporters. For many years, news organizations have complained that public bodies — particularly on the local level — abuse the executive session portion of the Texas Open Meetings Act.

That act requires government boards to meet in public, but grants exceptions for consideration of personnel matters, land transactions and litigation. Reporters have long suspected that some officials cannot resist the opportunity to talk about other matters behind closed doors.

However, that is difficult to prove. The revisions approved this year, and awaiting action by Clements, require officials to keep a tape recording or certified agenda of what is discussed in closed-door sessions. That would allow a judge to later decide if the Open Meetings Act was violated.

The Legislature also worked on the prison problem that has plagued the state for years. In bills already signed by Clements, the Legislature voted to expedite parole for inmates when the prisons become overcrowded and to allow the state to contract with private companies to build and run some prisons.

Committed procurement dollars are up $8,000 since last week and a Hereford firm has been awarded the bid for a major upcoming purchase. First Printing and Office Supply won the bidding competition for Battelle's purchase of two large copiers. The bid total is $187,000.

Proposals for permanent office space for the Battelle staff are due on June 5. Potential bidders will be notified late today or early tomorrow if the deadline date is extended due to requests of some bidders.

"We don't want to do the smaller businessman out of a chance to bid

DALLAS (AP) — Word gets around quickly among Southern Methodist University freshmen: this particular dormitory director is someone to be reckoned with.

To some, it's the authoritative way she carries herself. To others, it's her no-nonsense management style. And to others, it's the fact that, from time to time, this grandmotherly figure packs a .357-Magnum pistol with her name engraved on it: "Capt. Joan Waldrip."

You see, when she isn't managing the four freshmen residence halls on the SMU campus, the 56-year-old Waldrip puts on the uniform of a Dallas County Sheriff's Department reserve officer and manages a dormitory of another sort: the Dallas County Jail.

Mrs. Waldrip is among more than 120 Dallas County residents who volunteer several hours each month to help the sheriff's office in a variety of ways — from working patrol duty to supervising visitations at the county jail.

Mrs. Waldrip, who has been a reserve officer for 11 years, was named the department's first reserve captain in 1980.

For the last 19 years, Mrs. Waldrip has been residence hall manager at SMU, where, with help from graduate student dorm directors, she supervises four freshman dormitories "physically and fiscally," she says. For instance, she oversees maintenance of the buildings, student transfers and bill collecting, among other things.

She does not live on campus, however. "Oh my, no. I got these gray hairs from just being there during the day," she says.

Mrs. Waldrip says she enjoys the job, although freshmen tend to be a bit uncontrollable, especially on those occasions when they get intoxicated. "It's incredible how many ways they've come up with to throw up," she says. "And in so many places, too."

As a reserve captain, Mrs. Waldrip spends most of her time in administrative work. But she says she sometimes misses the more direct duties of a line officer. So on a recent Monday night, in a bit of a change of pace, she helped process visitors into the jail at the Dallas County Government Center, where all female prisoners and some male prisoners are held.

"You'll have to check with the turnkey," she said to two men seeking admittance. One of them carried a paper sack. "No," the captain said, rummaging through the contents of the sack, "you can't take these things in the jail. The only things allowed are underwear and gowns, and they have to be cotton."

About 100 visitors filed through the metal detector at the entrance to the jail. Some knew the routine, having been there many times before, while others were confused.

"You frequently have people coming up here who obviously don't belong," Mrs. Waldrip said. "It really tears some of them up. Sometimes the women will bring their purses, and purses aren't allowed in the jail. They can't take them past this door. That means they have to leave them out here (in the waiting room) and we can't be responsible for watching them."

The pistol with her name on it was a gift from the 31 reserve officers she supervises, one of whom happens to be her husband, Ben, a reserve sergeant. The Waldrips joined the reserve force at the same time at the urging of another couple who were members of the reserve. So how does the captain-sergeant arrangement work?

"With difficulty," Ben Waldrip says with exaggerated weariness. "With great difficulty."

But then he changes his tone and adds: "You know, she is really very well-respected among the reserve officers, and among the regular officers as well. She's a very good captain. There's one of the men here who said, 'She's the only person who's ever chewed me out and made me like it.'"

Nicklaus completes training

Mark Nicklaus, assistant vice president at Hereford State Bank, recently completed the advanced program conducted at the Texas Tech School of Banking.

The school was offered May 17-22 and comprised more than 25 seminars in each of two programs. The advanced program is designed for individuals with at least three years experience and with decision-making authority in credit or operations. Intent of the school is to acquaint participants with current issues in banking and expand their knowledge of the legal, financial, and managerial aspects of their responsibilities.

Ann Landers

Medicine may affect libido

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Fourteen months ago my husband had a stroke. He speaks with difficulty. I feed and bathe him and take him to the hospital for therapy. (He is in a wheelchair.)

Last week, a plain envelope, addressed to my husband, arrived at our home. He asked me to open it and read it to him. I did. It was a love letter—unsigned. I was shocked and just stood there trembling.

My husband confessed that he had kept this woman in a one-bedroom apartment for several years. To say I was stunned is putting it mildly.

We have been married 19 years and he has been impotent with me for 10. We have always had a tough time financially but I believe we loved each other and was willing to settle for a brother-sister relationship.

I was sympathetic when he told me he couldn't perform. Now I am crushed to learn from the letter that he performed very well with someone else. Of course I am filled with rage to discover that he was satisfying another woman while I was going without.

He says he will never see her again and that he wants to remain married to me. I know I can never forget but can I possibly forgive?

I am 61 and he is 62. I am attractive and in good health. He is still very good-looking and is making remarkable progress. I need to know if it is possible that he will ever be able to function sexually. The man takes a great deal of medicine every day — high blood-pressure pills, diuretics and Lord knows what else.

Please advise. I need to make up my mind.—No Name, No City, No State

DEAR NO NAME: Your husband's physician would be the person to ask about the prospects for a normal sex life. Certain medication does know out the libido but sometimes it can be restored if the medicine is changed.

The bigger question, it seems to me, is whether you can forgive this man for those years of duplicity. I suggest several sessions with a psychiatric social worker or a psychologist. Look in the phone book at once. The burden you are carrying could be an emotional time bomb.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You have printed a few letters from family members who were upset when a clergyman repeatedly mispronounced the name of a loved one during the funeral services. Can you stand one more letter along the same line—only it wasn't a funeral, it was a wedding. Mine.

The pastor we loved and knew well was ill and unable to officiate. He sent his assistant who was fresh-faced, uninitiated and new in town.

Everything went fairly well until he came to the vows. The young pastor looked at my darling and asked, "Bill, do you take Charlotte to be your lawful wedded wife?" My fiance stood there dumbfounded and did not reply. The pastor turned to me, ignoring the fact that there was no response. He asked, "Do you, Charlotte, take Bill to be your lawful wedding husband?"

At that point I lost my cool and shouted, "I am not Charlotte and he is not Bill. Are you sure you're at the right wedding?"

"Oh, my God," he gasped. "I have the wrong notes! What ARE your names?" I told him, "Rosemary and Robert." He completed the ceremony and everyone in the church roared. Sign me—Steady Reader in the Louisville Courier-Journal Who Enjoys You a Lot

DEAR STEADY: Thank heavens for a sense of humor. It can (and did) save the day. I'll bet it taught that young minister a thing or two as well.

Abundant Life

GIVE HEED
By Bob Wear

Give heed, play close attention, is one of the essential guidelines for meaningful living, and all of us know this. We cannot afford to just drift along, tossed to and fro by every wind that blows.

It seems that we are bombarded day and night by the multi-voiced demands of the society in which we live. This goes on to the extent that we may become totally distracted. This is what happens, unless we deliberately remain alert to what is important and of justifiable concern to us; and 'give heed' to these things.

Much of the distraction is just

'Rescuers' differ from 'bystanders'

NEW YORK (AP) — A study of people who rescued Jews from the Nazi slaughter finds that the "rescuers" differed from the "bystanders" in being closer to their parents and growing up in more loving families.

"Also, when they were disciplined as children, the rescuers were generally spoken to reasonably and not disciplined physically," Samuel B. Oliner, author of the study, told the American Jewish Committee annual meeting.

"The bystanders, on the other hand, were more likely when they were disciplined as children to have been beaten, slapped or humiliated."

Routine AIDS testing is opposed by TMA

In a move to improve the process used to review physicians who treat Texas Medicare patients, the Texas Medical Association approved 29 recommendations at its recent policy-making meeting in Houston. TMA and Texas Congressmen have been critical of the process used to assure that quality care is delivered to Medicare patients, stating that rural doctors are being held to unrealistic standards and that availability of care is being threatened.

Among the recommendations is that rural hospitals be encouraged to seek agreements with larger nearby hospitals and clinics to assist in peer review. This more regional approach would make physician review more effective by including needed specialty expertise that may not be available in small rural hospital settings. The majority of sanctions in Texas have been against doctors in rural parts of the state. TMA also approved narrowing the definition of "gross and flagrant" violations to include actions that constitute an immediate health threat to Medicare patients. They also agreed that such violations be reported immediately to the Texas State Board of Medical Examiners and to the hospital where the physician has staff privileges. The review process has been criticized for its subjective and sometimes misunderstood definition of "gross and flagrant" violations.

In other action, TMA's policy-making body, the House of Delegates, voted to oppose including physicians' fees in the medicare diagnostic related groupings (DRGs). DRGs seek to reduce the cost of hospital care by assigning a predetermined payment to certain diagnoses. The federal Office of Management and Budget has proposmeaningless noise. Some of it comes from persons and organizations wishing to use us or use what we have for their own profit, and some of this is offered for our amusement and entertainment. With all of this, there are the troubles of the world which are paraded before us every day; and this can be a constant source of distraction. If we do give way to the multiplicity of distractions which surround us, we will not be able to give heed to the things which are important to us and to our well-being.

We must 'give heed' to self, we must do this so we can manage our own lives wisely. We must respect self before we can respect others, and we must love self (not the love of vanity), before we can love others. We must 'give heed' to self in the approved manner which will enable us to form the proper value of self, before other people can mean anything to us. Therefore we must 'give heed' to self to make sure that we are the kind of person we can respect, and love and appreciate.

We must 'give heed' to obligations; our work; our family; our financial responsibilities; our citizenship opportunities; our contributions to the common good, etc.

We must 'give heed' to obligations; our work; our family; our financial responsibilities; our citizenship opportunities; our contributions to the common good, etc.

We must 'give heed' to the time-tested and time-honored principles of truth and right; because the good and wholesome things must live, if they live at all, in the minds and lives of the people who care.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Party appetizer looks, tastes great

By Polly Fisher

DEAR POLLY — Here's my idea for an attractive party appetizer. I buy a large round red Gouda cheese and slice off the top. (Leave the red wax on the rest of the cheese.) Then, I scoop out cheese with a grapefruit spoon or knife until I'm left with a hollow shell of cheese. I mix the cheese that was scooped out with cream cheese, a bit of cream, butter, Worcestershire sauce and perhaps a bit of blue cheese in my food processor. Then I spoon this cheese spread back into the hollowed-out shell. Placed on a platter surrounded with crackers and raw vegetables, the stuffed cheese looks beautiful and tastes great! — NITA

DEAR NITA — This is a lovely presentation. Your helpful Pointer earns you the Pointer of the Week award, a copy of my book "Polly's Pointers: 1081 Helpful Hints for Making Everything Last Longer." Others who would like this book may order it for $6.50. Make check payable to 'POLLY'S'.

DEAR POLLY — If your ears are sensitive to metal of any kind (including gold), and you love to wear clip-on earrings, put clear nail polish on the part of the earrings that touches the ear. This can also be done on the posts for pierced earrings. The nail polish, when it hardens, will keep the acids in the metal away from your skin.

If you need an extra long zipper for slip covers or pillow cases, use two instead of one. Stitch the two zippers into the opening with the open ends facing each other so they will zip open in opposite directions. When the zippers are both closed, the zipper pulls will meet in the center. Works like a charm. — J.L.

In College World Series

Only two 2-0 teams remain

By STEVEN WINE
Associated Press Writer
OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Oklahoma State and Stanford, which between them have one national championship in baseball, are in the best position to win the 1987 title.

Third-ranked Oklahoma State edged No. 7 Louisiana State 8-7 Tuesday at the College World Series, and second-rated Stanford beat No. 1 Texas 6-1. The Cowboys and Cardinal, who play Thursday, are the only 2-0 teams in the double-elimination tournament.

"Prior to the World Series, I felt that to be a legitimate title contender you had to win the first two ballgames," Oklahoma State Coach Gary Ward said.

"This is a unique format, because on Thursday we'll be down to four playoffs Thursday

The Hereford and Vicinity YMCA high school boys' volleyball league playoffs are scheduled for Thursday night, starting at 6:30 p.m.

The first match of the night will be between S.S.W. and P.A.R.T. One. At 7:15 p.m., the Terminators play the Seniors '87."

Winners of the first two matches will play at 8 p.m., and the losers of the first two matches will also play at 8 p.m.

The winner of the loser's bracket match will play the loser of the other 8 p.m. match, at 9:30 p.m.

The winner of the 9:30 p.m. match will then play the winner of the 8 p.m. winner's bracket match at 10:15 p.m. in the championship match. If a second championship match is necessary, it will be played at 11 p.m.

Rangers select pitcher in first round of baseball draft

By The Associated Press
A Texas schoolboy southpaw was the pitching-poor Texas Rangers' first-round pick in baseball's 1987 amateur free-agent draft.

The American League team, owning the 19th choice, Tuesday named Brian Bohanon of Houston North Shore High School as its top selection.

Bohanon had a 16-1 record for North Shore. He was scheduled to pitch Wednesday night against Clearlake in the Texas high school regional playoffs.

The Houston Astros of the National League, picking from the 22nd position, went for heavy hitting Seton Hall catcher Craig Biggio, who hit .407 this year with 14 homers, 7 triples, and 17 doubles.

Biggio, a native of Kings Park, N.Y., had an 18-game hitting streak this year. He's the second catcher in teams and everyone will be back to their (pitching) aces. Our staff has been solid all year, but we don't have the depth for the loser's bracket."

Two games in that bracket were scheduled for today, with Louisiana State playing Arkansas and Texas facing Florida State.

Oklahoma State, 58-11, is making its seventh straight appearance in the College World Series, but won its only national title in 1959. Stanford, 50-16, has been here four of the last six years, but is looking for its first championship.

The Cowboys and Cardinal used strong pitching performances Tuesday to advance. Reliever Marv Rockman allowed only three hits and one run over the final seven innings for the Cowboys, and Stanford's Lee Plemel pitched a 12-hit complete game.

"There are some great pitchers here — probably the best group that I've ever seen in one place," Cardinal Coach Mark Marquess said.

Plemel, relying on slow overhand curve to keep Texas off balance, walked only one, struck out eight and stranded 12 Longhorns.

"I was able to throw my curveball for strikes, and when I do that, I'm usually successful," said Plemel, 9-5.

Brian Cisarik broke up Plemel's shutout with a home run leading off the eighth. Texas added three singles in the inning, but left the bases loaded.

"I really didn't expect them to get as strong a pitching game as they got," Texas Coach Cliff Gustafson said. "We hit the ball well except in the clutch."

Stanford managed only five hits off Curt Krippner, 13-1, but stole five bases and scored on two wild pitches and a balk. Toi Cook stole three bases, and Ruben Amaro induced the balk when he tried to swipe home.

the school's history to be drafted. The other was Rick Cerone.

The Rangers also had another first-round pick and went for a catcher, Billy Haselman of UCLA. Haselman, a sophomore, hit .303 this year with nine home runs and 51 RBIs.

Texas Pitcher Kevin Garner, selected by San Diego with the 10th pick overall, was the only other Texan other than Bohanon to go in the first round.

"We're very happy to get Bohanon," said Texas Public Relations Director John Blake. "We're excited about getting a good left-hander."

Bohanon had a 1.12 earned run average during the regular season with 156 strikeouts in 93 and two-thirds innings. He had four playoff victories going into the Clearlake game.

"We noticed that Krippner was slow to the plate," Marquess said. "We were fortunate because with Ruben and Toi, we had our speed on the bases."

Oklahoma State's victory was the completion of a game suspended in the fourth inning Monday because of rain.

Robin Ventura extended his NCAA-record hitting streak to 58 games with an RBI double that tied the score in the sixth. Jimmy Barragan led off the seventh with a homer, his 21st, for the game's final run.

"I will treasure it for the rest of my life," Barragan said.

Rockman struck out nine, walked one and shut out LSU in the last five innings. Rockman, a walk-on four years ago, has used a sidearm delivery to compile a 12-0 record this season.

"I threw 83 or 84 mph with a slider, and there's a lot of pitchers that do that," he said. "I wanted to be effective and be a factor on this ballclub. The sidearm helped. It got me some movement on the ball, gave me a unique pitch and the last three years I've developed control with it."

Dawson drives in seven runs in 13-2 victory

'Amazing Andre' leads Cubs over Astros

By JOE MOOSHIL
AP Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Amazing Andre Dawson's feats for the Chicago Cubs are dangerously bordering on the realm of unreality.

Dawson hit two home runs, a triple and a single Tuesday to lead the Cubs to a 13-2 victory over the Houston Astros that left observers, including Manager Gene Michael, shaking their heads.

"He's been everything, I knew he was good, but I never realized he was this great," Michael said.

Dawson's performance, which might have been the best of his career, followed his effort Monday when he hit two home runs including a grand-slam in a 6-5 loss to the Astros.

It also rivaled his career-high eight runs batted in against the Cubs in 1985 when he was a member of the Montreal Expos.

"I hit three home runs that day," Dawson said. "This one may have been better. I haven't thought about it that much."

Dawson was thinking about something else — which was hitting for the cycle a second time this season, something achieved only once before.

Babe Herman of the Brooklyn Dodgers did it in 1931 when he had a home run, a triple, a double and a single in two different games.

Dawson singled in a run in the first inning and hit a two-run homer in the third before a heavy thunderstorm threatened to wash out the game. Play was resumed after a two-hour, 46-minute delay.

In the fifth, Dawson tripled in two more runs as the Cubs piled up a 9-1 lead. Michael was tempted to take Dawson out of the game but said later he left him in the game to get a chance to hit for the cycle again, a feat he accomplished April 29 against San Francisco.

Dawson hit a line shot into left field in the seventh inning, but he hit it so hard that the ball carried into the seats for his 18th home run which raised his RBI total to 53 for the season and 12 in two games.

"Someone mentioned it in the dugout, and it was in the back of my mind," Dawson said. "All I was trying to do was hit the ball hard."

Dawson, meanwhile, gave Michael a scare for leaving him in the game. In the sixth inning, Dawson raced in to foul territory for Glenn Davis' fly ball and made a great catch while avoiding the wall. In the top of the seventh, he made a diving catch of Chuck Jackson's sinking liner.

"I'd like for him to be more careful out there, but that's his nature," Michael said.

Dawson's response to taking a chance on Davis' fly was this: "When I went after it, it was still in play and could have landed fair."

Dawson said he was more worried about how he would get dressed to get home during the rain delay because he couldn't get to his locker. The storm flooded the Cub locker room with 4 inches of water.

Once play was resumed, Dawson managed his 20th two-homer game of his career and third this season. He has hit safely in 25 of his past 30 games with 16 home runs and 46 runs batted in.

"Dawson's record speaks for himself," said Houston Manager Hal Lanier. "He is one of the best players in the National League and has been for a long time. Not only offensively, but defensively."

Dawson's feats eclipsed some other outstanding performances in the game. Keith Moreland drove in four runs with a single and his fourth homer. Shawn Dunston had four hits and Ryne Sandberg three.

Mike Mason, 2-0, made his first National League start a success by limiting the Astros to three hits in the seven innings he pitched. That included a pair of doubles by Davis who drove in Houston's first run of the game.

Billy Hatcher hit his fourth homer for Houston in the ninth off reliever Drew Hall.

"Don't talk to me fellas," Moreland said after the game. "This was Dawson's game of the year."

With the Expos, Dawson had 225 home runs and a .280 batting average. He was respected for his abilities, but after a series of knee injuries, some thought his career was on the decline.

Last season, he hit .284 with 20 homers and 78 runs batted in for Montreal and was offered $1 million to re-sign with the Expos.

But Dawson had seen enough Canadian cold fronts and longed to play on natural surface, particularly during the day time.

The best place to do that is Wrigley Field, where Dawson had a .346 career average.

After many negotiations with Cubs president Dallas Green during the winter, Dawson finally told his agent to give the Cubs a blank contract and fill in the numbers. Dawson wanted to play in Chicago.

The $500,000 the Cubs are paying the right fielder has been the bargain of the year so far.

At Wrigley this season, Dawson is hitting .352 with 10 homers and 29 RBI.

Elsewhere in the National League, Montreal beat San Diego 6-2, Cincinnati edged St. Louis 3-2, Pittsburgh beat Atlanta 4-1, Los Angeles downed New York 6-3 and Philadelphia outlasted San Francisco 7-6.

Pirates 4, Braves 1
Rick Reuschel pitched a two-hitter to beat Atlanta for the ninth straight time to help Pittsburgh snap a six-game losing streak.

Reuschel, 4-2, hasn't lost to the Braves since April 28, 1979. He's had four no-decision during the streak and owns a 17-6 lifetime mark against the Braves.

Andy Van Slyke hit a two-run homer in the fifth inning and Barry Bonds and R.J. Reynolds added RBI. Atlanta's Dale Murphy went 0-for-3, snapping his 10-game hitting streak.

Expos 6, Padres 2
Casey Candaele had a run-scoring single and two run-saving plays in center field as Montreal sent San Diego to its 40th defeat in 52 games.

In the fifth inning, Candaele made a diving catch of Carmelo Martinez's sinking liner to end a Padre threat and he threw out Benito Santiago at the plate on Marvell Wynne's single to end the sixth, protecting a 3-2 Montreal lead.

Reds 3, Cardinals 2
Nick Esasky used a bloop and a blast to help Cincinnati beat St. Louis for the first time in six tries this season.

The Cardinals took a 2-0 lead after three innings against starter Tom Browning before Esasky started the Reds' comeback.

Esasky broke Lee Tunnell's shutout with a solo homer leading off the fifth, his second in two nights.

Trailing 2-1 in the sixth, Eric Davis walked and reached second on Tunnell's second balk of the game. Dave Parker doubled home Davis and scored the winning run on Esasky's weakly hit single. The single floated over the infield and died in front of center fielder Jose Oquendo.

Dodgers 6, Mets 3
Pinch-hitter Reggie Williams walked with the bases loaded to score the tie-breaking run and John Shelby's two-run single capped a three-run eighth as Bob Welch beat New York for the eighth time in his last nine decisions.

Jesse Orosco, 1-5, relieved Doug Sisk to start the eighth and yielded one-out singles to Jeff Hamilton and Alex Trevino, Hamilton taking third. Trevino went to second on a wild pitch and Mickey Hatcher was intentionally walked to load the bases. Orosco then walked Williams on a 3-1 pitch to score Hamilton and Shelby followed with a single to right scoring two more runs.

Phillies 7, Giants 6
Lance Parrish hit a three-run homer to cap a five-run fifth inning as Philadelphia survived a pair of two-run homers by San Francisco's Candy Maldonado.

Wally Ritchie, a 21-year-old reliever, got his first major-league victory and Steve Bedrosian picked up his 12th save of the season.

Coaches of Lakers, Celtics have opposite viewpoints

By KEN PETERS
AP Sports Writer

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Pat Riley is worried that the Lakers have ignited the Celtics, but K.C. Jones sounds as if Boston is in danger of rapidly going down in flames.

"We have to keep in mind all we did was light a fire under the Celtics," Riley, the Lakers' coach, said after Los Angeles raced to a 126-113 victory over Boston in Tuesday night's opening game of the NBA final.

"I'm sure they'll come back stronger; they don't like getting beat like this."

But Jones, Riley's Boston counterpart, said, "They are totally in control. A sweep is a possibility."

The Celtics, who fell behind 9-0 in the first 2½ minutes of the game and never mounted a serious threat the rest of the way, will try to regroup for Game 2 of the best-of-seven championship series Thursday night at the Forum.

"Neither one of us scored in the first minute or so and I guess Magic and Worthy said, 'Enough of that, let's run.' They did and after that it was a romp," Jones said.

Magic Johnson, engineering the Lakers' fast break to perfection, scored 29 points and handed off 13 assists, and James Worthy, dazzling with his gravity-defying dunks, scored 33 points on 16-of-23 shooting to pace the Lakers.

Los Angeles led 35-26 at the end of the first period, built its advantage to 69-54 by halftime as Worthy poured in 23 points, and led 101-85 heading into the final quarter.

Only the scoring of Larry Bird, who had 32 points, kept the defending champion Celtics from being completely embarrassed.

"Larry was the only thing going for us," Jones said.

"I was disappointed in our effort," Bird said. "This isn't Detroit or Atlanta we're playing, it's the Los Angeles Lakers, probably the best team in the league."

"It's going to take a great effort on our part and we just didn't have that."

The Lakers, coming off an eight-day layoff, dominated the Celtics, who had had just two days off, in virtually every phase of the game.

Led by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's 10 rebounds, Los Angeles outrebounded Boston 51-40. The Lakers shot 55.6 percent from the floor, including 60.4 percent as they took charge in the first half. The Celtics, who rarely got off a shot without a Laker defender right in their face, made 54.9 percent of their shots.

And the Lakers' diversity showed. Byron Scott had 20 points, Abdul-Jabbar 14 and A.C. Green 10 as all five starters scored in double figures.

"They have so many offensive weapons that it's hard to key on one or two individuals," Bird said. "What we have to concentrate on is getting back on defense."

Jones managed to maintain his sense of humor after the loss, saying, "We worked against their running game, we worked against their transition, we had the perfect plan. It didn't work. I'm going to tear up that page and get a new tablet."

The last two times the two clubs squared off for the NBA title, a blowout in the first game was a bad omen for the winner of that contest. The Lakers beat Boston by a lopsided score in the first game of the 1984 championship series, but the Celtics came back to win the title. The next year, Boston won the opening game going away, but Los Angeles bounced back to win the series.

The series will shift to Boston for the third game Sunday and the fourth next Tuesday. A fifth game, if necessary, will be June 11 in Boston. Possible sixth and seventh games would be played at the Forum on June 14 and June 16.

Major league first-round draft picks announced

By RONALD BLUM
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — One day after the Niekro brothers held baseball's center stage, the attention switched to a father-and-son combination.

Ken Griffey Jr. became the first son of a major-league player to be the No. 1 pick in the amateur free-agent draft. The Seattle Mariners drafted the 17-year-old son of Atlanta outfielder Ken Griffey Tuesday and signed him to a contract less than 20 minutes later.

"We do everything alike except I hit more home runs," the younger Griffey said Tuesday night in Atlanta where he watched his father play against the Pittsburgh Pirates. "I guess it's because of the aluminum bats."

Griffey batted .478 with seven home runs, 26 runs batted in and 13 stolen bases in 24 games this season at Moeller High School in suburban Cincinnati.

"He's got more power than I will ever have," the elder Griffey said.

Phil and Joe Niekro were in the spotlight Monday as they passed Gaylord and Jim Perry as baseball's leading brothers in terms of victories.

The elder Griffey was 29th-round draft pick in 1969, is a lifetime .301 hitter and a three-time all-star. He has 127 career homers in 13 seasons with the Cincinnati Reds, New York Yankees and Braves.

Mark Merchant, a shortstop from Oviedo (Fla.) High School, was the second selection, going to the Pittsburgh Pirates. He batted .419 this season, scoring 49 runs in 28 games and stealing 48 bases in 49 attempts.

Willie Banks, a right-handed pitcher from St. Anthony's High School in Jersey City, N.J., was picked next by the Minnesota Twins, the first of eight consecutive pitchers chosen. Banks is 8-2 with a 0.92 earned run average with 154 strikeouts in 78 2-3 innings.

Fifteen of the 26 players taken in the first round were pitchers, 11 of them right-handers.

In a surprise, 15 college players were drafted and 11 high schoolers. Several general managers had said the top players in the country this year were in high school and not in college.

Mike Harkey, a right-hander from Fullerton State with a 95 mph fastball, was the first college player picked, going to the Chicago Cubs as the fourth selection. He was 10-3 this season with a 2.72 ERA and 101 strikeouts in 125 2-3 innings.

Jack McDowell of Stanford went to the Chicago White Sox on the fifth pick, followed by Georgia left-hander Derek Lilliquist, who was taken by the Atlanta Braves.

Baltimore, picking seventh, took left-hander Chris Myers from Plant High School in Tampa, Fla., and Los Angeles followed taking Dan Opperman from Valley High School in Las Vegas, Nev. Robert Appier of Antelope Valley Junior College went ninth to the Kansas City Royals and Kevin Garner of Texas went 10th to the San Diego Padres.

Only the first round was made public. Other players selected will be announced alphabetically next Tuesday.

Texas loses to White Sox, 15-5

Rangers' Hough fails to win sixth straight

By The Associated Press
It might seem something of a contradiction, but Charlie Hough's knuckleball was so outstanding it cost him a shot at his sixth straight victory.
The Texas Rangers veteran was shelled from the mound in the second inning Tuesday night as the Chicago White Sox hit five home runs en route to a 15-5 victory at Arlington Stadium.
Hough gave up only one of the home runs, but in his brief stint he walked five, and three of them were aboard when Greg Walker unloaded his 11th home run of the season off reliever Ron Meridith that all but settled matters in the second inning.
"Hough has been one of the most consistent starters against us," said Walker, who had two homers in Monday night's 11-9 loss to Texas. "But tonight his knuckler was really moving and we laid off the bad pitches. He couldn't find his control."
"Hough's knuckler was so good tonight that he couldn't get it over the plate," said Chicago manager Jim Fregosi, who team has hit 21 home runs in the last eight games.

Jerry Royster homered in the first off Hough to give the White Sox a 1-0 lead. It was his fourth of the season and second in two nights.
"I'm making solid contact once or twice a game," said the 34-year-old infielder. "I'm just happy to play, and I'm really having fun."
When Hough lost his control in the second, the Sox scored six runs on only two hits, one of them Walker's grand slam as the first batter Meridith faced.
It was the third time this season for a Ranger reliever to surrender a grand slam to the first batter he faced.
"Our pitching will come around," said Rangers manager Bobby Valentine of a staff that has allowed 65 runs in the last eight games. "I've got to believe in the guys I have in uniform."
The Rangers got 13 of their 14 hits off Chicago starter Bill Long, 2-1, including Larry Parrish's 13th home run of the season and second in two nights.
"We had Long on the ropes a few times," said Valentine, "but we just couldn't get him. We get all those hits and score the runs and can't get the win."

Trailing 12-3 in the seventh, the Rangers got two runs, but left the bases loaded. They also loaded the bases in the eighth and failed to score.
"Even with the big lead I wasn't comfortable," said Fregosi, whose team blew a 7-1 lead Monday night and lost 11-9 and blew a 9-2 lead Sunday and lost 10-9 to Boston. "Those were the three toughest games back to back I ever had."
In other American League games, Boston edged Minnesota 6-5, New York edged California 3-2, Baltimore routed Oakland 9-2, Milwaukee shellied Kansas City 14-3 and Toronto beat Seattle 4-3. Detroit at Cleveland was rained out.
Red Sox 6, Twins 5
It was another wild and crazy game at Fenway Park.
The Boston Red Sox, who received 12 walks, finally beat Minnesota 6-5 Tuesday night on Bill Buckner's two-out, two-run single in the ninth inning.
The Twins took a 5-4 lead in the eighth on Boston reliever Calvin Schiraldi's wild pitch, but could not protect the lead.
With runners on second and third and two outs, Minnesota Manager Tom Kelly elected to have relief ace Jeff Reardon pitch to Buckner (.254) instead of intentionally walking him to face Rich Gedman (.173) with the bases loaded.
Buckner lined a 1-1 pitch to center field and ended Minnesota's three-game winning streak.
The Red Sox took advantage of wildness by Minnesota starter Juan Berenguer in taking a 4-0 lead by the fourth inning.
Berenguer tied a team record by walking nine batters, three with the bases loaded, in 3 2-3 innings. Mark Portugal relieved Berenguer and walked three in 3 1-3 hitless innings.

Yankees 3, Angels 2
Mike Pagliarulo's solo home run broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning and led New York past California.
Pagliarulo connected for his seventh homer with one out against Willie Fraser, 2-3.
Dave Righetti, 4-1, got the victory in relief of Rick Rhoden.
Willie Randolph homered and hit an RBI single for the host Yankees.
Dick Schofield and Devon White homered for the Angels.
Orioles 9, Athletics 2
Terry Kennedy and Larry Sheets hit consecutive home runs for the second straight game and Baltimore stopped its four-game losing streak by beating Oakland.
Sheets and Mike Young drive in three runs each. Kennedy and Sheets connected on consecutive pitches from Dave Stewart, 6-5, in the seventh inning for a 4-1 lead. The Orioles have hit 55 home runs in their last 24 games.
Mike Boddicker, 5-1, gave up one run on seven hits in eight innings. Reliever Tom Niedenfuer allowed Tony Phillips' homer in the ninth.

Athletics rookie Luis Polonia went 0-for-4, halting his 17-game hitting streak.
Brewers 14, Royals 3
Glenn Braggs drove in four runs and Rob Deer and Cecil Cooper homered as Milwaukee routed Kansas City for its fourth straight victory.
Braggs hit a two-run single in the first inning off Bud Black, 2-2, and a two-run single in the sixth against Rick Anderson.
Cooper hit a solo homer in the third and Deer connected for a three-run shot, capping a five-run seventh against Jerry Don Gleaton.

Chuck Crim, 3-1, made his first major-league start and gave up one run on six hits in six innings. He was a late replacement for Mike Birkbeck, who was scratched because of soreness in his shoulder.
Mark Clear pitched the final three innings for his second save.
Blue Jays 4, Mariners 3
George Bell hit his 17th homer, sparking a four-run second inning that led Toronto over Seattle.
Ernie Whitt, Kelly Gruber and Tony Fernandez hit RBI doubles in the second against Mike Moore, 2-7.
Reliever Jeff Musselman, 3-1, got the victory and Tom Henke earned his ninth save.

By winning the 1987 Belmont Stakes on June 6, Alysheba would become only the 12th horse ever to capture the Triple Crown. To do so, a three-year-old must finish first in the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont.

Alysheba's owners are West Texas ranchers

By JENNIFER DIXON
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Alysheba has brought its owners within a jewel of the Triple Crown, and a win in the Belmont Stakes would be the crowning achievement for a West Texas ranching family that has raised horses for a century.
"It would be one of the finest things that ever happened to any family," says Clarence Scharbauer Jr. of Midland. "I don't see how anything in this category could be more appealing than winning the Triple Crown, especially when you're in the horse business."
But Scharbauer, whose wife and daughter own the 3-year-old, says the family isn't counting on winning the Belmont Stakes on Saturday and taking home the Triple Crown.
"We're not scared and we're not worried," he said Tuesday in a telephone interview. "I don't count the eggs till I get them in the basket. I take everything as it comes. We don't count on winning until it really happens."

Alysheba brought the Scharbauers the first two jewels of the Triple Crown by winning the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness Stakes, and a first-place finish at Belmont would make the him horse racing's 12th Triple Crown winner. Twenty-three horses have won both the Derby and the Preakness.
Affirmed was the last Triple Crown winner in 1978. Alysheba's sire, Alydar, was runner-up to Affirmed in all three races.
While Alysheba couldn't be doing better as he trains for the Belmont with Jack Van Berg in New York, Scharbauer says the glare of the spotlight on his Midland ranch is wearing out the family.
"I'm getting tired of answering the same questions ... awful tired, yes," he said. "We're just down-to-earth people. We don't want the spotlight on us. We're horse people."
He said he received 84 calls in three days last week, most of them from the press. He's glad, he says, that the number for their home phone is unlisted.

"This time next year they won't even know who we are," he said.
That may not be quite true.
The Scharbauers have two 2-year-old colts in Hollywood Park, Calif., that just started training and Scharbauer said they look promising for next year.
Both were bought at Keeneland Sales, the same place where his wife, Dorothy, and 30-year-old daughter, Pamela, spent $500,000 for Alysheba, a yearling at the time.
Alysheba is Dorothy and Pamela's first starter in any Triple Crown race, although Mrs. Scharbauer's father, Fred W. Turner Jr., won the 1959 Kentucky Derby with Tomy Lee, 28 years prior to the day of Alysheba's Derby win.
Scharbauer's father settled in West Texas in 1889 and his family has been raising horses since. The junior Scharbauer is a former vice president of the American Quarter Horse Association, has raised quarter horses for 35 years, and his daughter is developing a sports medicine and fitness center in Missoula, Mont.
Clarence and Dorothy own several West Texas cattle ranches and a sheep ranch in New Mexico.
"We're just plain folks down here," he said. "We're taking this thing right in stride, just like we would take anything."
Alysheba's winning ways have also done more for Midland and West Texas, battered by the oil bust, he said, than "anything that has happened in many a year."
"This town of Midland is just ecstatic."

ROAD RACING
EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — American distance-running star Mary Slaney underwent arthroscopic surgery on her right Achilles tendon, forcing her out of Saturday's Prefontaine Classic track and field meet.
The surgery also clouds Slaney's options for the rest of this season. Slaney, who holds the American women's record at every distance between 800 and 10,000 meters, hasn't had a major track race since she dropped out of the sport 2½ years ago for the birth of her daughter.
BASEBALL
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gene Autry, who parlayed a career as a singing cowboy into a multimillion-dollar business and sports empire, has received the Spirit of Los Angeles award from the business community.
"They couldn't give me anything that I loved better than this award, except to bring me a 20-game winning pitcher," said Autry, 79, who owns the California Angels baseball team, as he was honored Tuesday by the Los Angeles Headquarters City Association.

WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP) — Milwaukee Brewers third baseman Paul Molitor says it's not hard to get caught up in drugs.
"You have to be on your guard all the time," he told about 500 elementary school pupils Monday.
The 10-year veteran with the Brewers said he tried cocaine at a Milwaukee party in 1981, while he was recovering from an injury.
And he said: "More than anything, I asked God to get me out of that situation once I had done it."
Molitor heads a statewide Jaycee program to educate people about drug and alcohol abuse.
HOCKEY
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Detroit Red Wings Coach Jacques Demers, for the second consecutive year, has been honored by the Sporting News as National Hockey League Coach of the Year.

NBC wins week of reruns; ABC tops CBS for second

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Hope and Molly Dodd wandered into the top 10 last week, strangers amid sitcom reruns that were the top-rated shows in the A.C. Nielsen Co. ratings.

NBC won the week with ending May 31 with an average rating of 14.0. CBS had a 12.0 and ABC a 10.8. NBC's season-to-date average is 17.2, CBS' is 15.3 and ABC's is 13.6.

The top six shows in the weekly rankings were reruns: NBC's "Family Ties," "The Cosby Show" and "Cheers," ABC's "Growing Pains," CBS' "Murder, She Wrote" and ABC's "Who's the Boss?" CBS' "60 Minutes" was seventh.

The NBC specials "Unsolved Mysteries" and Bob Hope's birthday were eighth and ninth. NBC's new comedy "The Days and Nights of Molly Dodd," was 10th.

"The Miss Universe Pageant" ranked 11th for CBS, but its rating of 15.6 was the lowest for the pageant ever. The previous low was a 19.6 in July 1977. The pageant moved to May this year and faced tougher television competition, including a first-run TV movie on ABC, "Cracked Up," which ranked 15th.

The bottom-rated shows for the week were: "Our World," "Hard Copy," "A-Team Special," "West 57th," "Ohara," "Starman," "Outlaws," "Disney World's 15th Birthday," "Hard Copy" (in a different time period) and "Survival Anglia: Polar Bears."

ABC had something to cheer about in news. "World News Tonight" overtook the "CBS Evening News," albeit without Dan Rather, for second place. NBC won its seventh week in a row and has beaten CBS 16 weeks out of the last 22.

ABC has not been out of third place in the news ratings since Aug. 25, 1986, when CBS was first and NBC third.

For the week ending May 29, "NBC Nightly News" had a rating of 10.3 and a 22 share, ABC "World News Tonight" had a 9.7 and 21, and "CBS Evening News" had a 9.5 and 21.

The rating is a percentage of the nation's estimated 87.4 million households with televisions. The share is a percentage of the audience viewing during a particular time period.

Agriculture

Forecast for corn exports on the rise

By MIKE ROBINSON Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brisk corn sales to overseas customers are prompting a 5 percent rise in USDA's export forecast for this year to 36.8 million tons.

Purchases of 1.6 million tons by Japan and 1.1 million tons by the Soviet Union were the major factors in the corn export market over the last month, the Agriculture Department reported Tuesday.

Because the increased sales also reflect lower prices resulting from a cut in the price-support loan rate under the 1985 farm law, sales in dollars have not kept pace with the volume of exports.

The report said, however, that the volume outlook for the year starting Oct. 1 is bright, with 40.6 million tons in exports giving the United States a 67 percent share of the 60.9-million-ton world corn market.

The report said world demand for corn most likely would expand 5 percent next year largely fueled by Mexico, Japan and other East Asian countries.

In contrast to the last three years, demand is expected to outstrip production and surpluses are expected to drop 5 percent to 146.5 million tons next year, the report from the Foreign Agricultural Service said.

There was no change in USDA's forecast of 27.9 million tons of wheat exports in the year just ended. But the department said an initial projection for the new year envisions a 20 percent increase to 33.3 million tons.

World trade is expected to pick up because of increased Soviet and Chinese wheat demand, the forecast said. It also pinpointed the Export Enhancement Program as the key to holding and regaining the Soviet, Chinese and North African markets.

The Export Enhancement Program furnishes heavy subsidies to exporters, such as major grain companies, to export U.S. farm goods. The United States just completed a 4 million-ton wheat sale to the Soviets

For farm credit system plan

Farm Bureau wins backing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four major grower and livestock groups have joined with the American Farm Bureau Federation in seeking government aid for the financially ailing Farm Credit System.

The farm groups are hoping to have legislation in the hopper by the end of the week to rescue the $70 billion network of cooperatives that together make up the nation's largest farm lender, officials said Monday.

The legislation is expected to follow the 21-point outline unveiled April 21 by the Farm Bureau, proposing that the Farm Credit System be given a cash infusion of $3 billion to $5 billion.

Groups joining in support of the plan are the National Cattlemen's Association, the American Soybean Association, the National Corn Growers Association and the National Pork Producers Council, according to Farm Bureau spokesman Joe Fields.

The Farm Credit System itself has called for a $6 billion cash infusion to stave off its burgeoning financial problems.

The Reagan administration several weeks ago circulated an outline it termed acceptable. The blueprint contains a line of credit to the Farm Credit System but the money would be considered a loan rather than a cash infusion.

Administration officials told lawmakers that they did not want to become involved in the bill drafting process at the moment but would merely present an outline of what was acceptable.

"Probably that is a strategy based on their not being able to get a reading on which way people are going to go up here," said Rep. Edward

R. Madigan, R-Ill., top GOP member of the Agriculture Committee. "And so they don't want to become deeply involved until they have a better feeling for what is going to evolve."

The Farm Credit System reported a first-quarter loss of $155 million, compared to a loss of $267 million in the same period a year earlier. Farm Credit lost $2.7 billion in 1985 and $1.91 billion last year.

The Farm Credit Administration, the regulatory agency for Farm Credit, has been forecasting serious problems in obtaining capital for some components of the system unless adjustments are made.

Ag policies need revision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following talks in Canada, Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Lyng and Canadian officials issued a joint statement urging that "the world get down to business" in finding ways to end trade barriers and other market-distorting practices in agriculture.

"The chaotic state of world agricultural trade means that we need to go beyond simply recognizing the problem facing the world's farmers," said the statement, which was issued in Ottawa where the talks concluded. "We must ... bring about fundamental comprehensive reform of agricultural policies and programs around the world."

the world market has put a strain on the European Community's $26 billion budget for subsidizing agriculture. The U.S. version administered by the Agriculture Department is also $26 billion.

The report said the European budget would show a $6 billion shortfall for 1987.

Director at large to be elected by borrowers

McLEAN, Va. — For the first time in history, the director-at-large to the board of directors of the Farm Credit Banks of Texas will be elected by their affiliated borrowers. The post was previously filled by a director appointed by the Farm Credit Administration (FCA), the Federal agency responsible for the examination and regulation of the banks.

The two-step process will begin June 1, when the FCA will mail nomination ballots to voting shareholders of FLBAs and PCAs to the state of Texas and to cooperatives owning stock in the Texas Bank for Cooperatives. It will be concluded later this year when an election will be held between the two people receiving the most nominations, assuming they are eligible and willing to serve.

Nominees must reside in Texas. They should be familiar with Federal regulations on conflicts of interest, soliciting support, and nepotism and meet other eligibility requirements. The regulations and eligibility requirements are available from the Election Officer, Farm Credit Administration, 1501 Farm Credit Drive, McLean, Va. 22102-5090.

Those interested in being nominated are responsible for making their candidacy and qualifications known to voting shareholders.

Nomination ballots must be returned to the Farm Credit Administration no later than July 31. Election ballots will be mailed Oct. 5 and must be returned no later than Dec. 4.

SAYING THE RIGHT THING

NEW YORK (AP) — Asking for a pay raise is always tough, but stand your ground when the boss says, "No," and pleads poverty.

Take the confident, positive approach, says Janice LaRouche in Family Circle magazine. You say, "Yes, I know we're in trouble. I understand it's impossible to give raises to everyone, but I think the company would want to use its resources in the areas that count and motivate the people who can really produce."

Popular homemade ice cream due to real dairy products

While new ice cream shops seem to open daily and older, established shops introduce dazzling new flavors in a rapid-fire fashion, homemade ice cream is enjoying a resurgence of popularity.

That's not as old as it might seem initially. Homemade ice cream offers a number of benefits: it insures that top quality ingredients—real dairy ingredients and natural flavors—are used, it allows for creative additions that the stores may not have yet considered, and thanks to simplified, new appliances that make small quantities, it's easy to prepare.

Quality control is probably the most important factor in making ice cream at home. Ice cream should be rich, smooth and flavorful, packed with valuable nutrients that come only from the finest, freshest ingredients.

The base can be the "French" cooked, custardy mix of milk and eggs or a blend of light cream, or half and half, with whipping cream. Sugar sweetens the mixture and brings out the creamy flavor. Special flavors are created with the addition of pureed fruits, melted chocolate, extracts, and juices.

Air is incorporated while the ice cream is stirred or agitated during the freezing process. Additional ingredients may then be added; nuts, chocolate bits or other candies, or pieces of fruit are popular.

Chocolate Almond Cherry Ice Cream boasts a rich and creamy custard base. The recipe calls for both semi-sweet and unsweetened chocolate, chopped maraschino cherries, toasted almonds, almond and vanilla extracts and whipping cream. The result is a flavor to be found only in one's own home ice cream shop.

If you've never made homemade ice cream before, the American Dairy Association offers the following tips for best results:

-Carefully follow the usage instructions provided by the manufacturer of your ice cream maker.

-Cooked mixtures require chilling; allow several hours or overnight.

-Use the proportions of sweeteners and flavorings specified in each recipe. Cold numbs the taste buds, so you can't judge the mix until it's frozen.

-If pieces of fruit, nuts, or other special ingredients are being added, cut them very small to avoid clogging the dasher blades.

-Pureed fruit prevents a coarse textured ice cream. Sweeten it before adding it to the mixture to keep in front freezing hard.

-Ripen ice cream before serving to let flavors mellow and blend. Just spoon the ice cream into a plastic freezer container, cover, and place in the freezer for 2 to 3 hours. Count the minutes if you must, but the waiting time is worth it.

-When whipped cream is called for, whip it only until soft peaks form. If it is too stiff, it will taste buttery. Don't fold whipped cream into a warm mixture.

CHOCOLATE ALMOND CHERRY ICE CREAM

Yield: 2 quarts

1 1/4 cups sugar

1 tablespoon cornstarch

1/4 teaspoon salt

2 1/2 cups milk

2 squares (1 oz. each) semi-sweet chocolate

1 square (1 oz.) unsweetened chocolate

2 eggs, beaten

1 1/2 cups whipping cream

3/4 cup chopped maraschino cherries

1/2 cup toasted sliced almonds

1 teaspoon vanilla extract

1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in heavy 2-quart saucepan. Stir in milk until smooth. Add chocolate squares. Bring to boiling over medium heat, stirring frequently. Boil and stir 2 minutes. (Chocolate does not completely dissolve; the mixture looks speckled. This does not affect the finished product.) Stir a small amount of hot mixture into eggs. Return to saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens, about 1 minute. Do not boil. Remove from heat. Place mixture in a large mixer bowl. Beat on medium speed until mixture becomes smooth and chocolate is dissolved. Stir in whipping cream. Chill several hours or overnight. Stir in cherries, nuts and extracts. Churn-freeze in ice cream maker according to manufacturer's directions. After freezing, transfer ice cream to a plastic freezer container. Ripen in freezer at least three hours before serving.

FRESH RASPBERRY ICE CREAM

Yield: 2 quarts

1 1/2 pints fresh raspberries

2 eggs

1 cup sugar

2 cups whipping cream

1 cup light cream OR half and half

1 teaspoon almond extract

Few drops red food color, if desired

Puree raspberries in blender or food processor; set aside. Beat eggs in large mixing bowl until foamy. Gradually add sugar; beat until thickened. Stir in whipping cream half and half, extract, raspberry puree and food color. Churn-freeze in ice cream maker according to manufacturer's directions. After freezing, transfer ice cream to plastic freezer container. Ripen in freezer at least three hours before serving.

NOTE: 1 package (20 oz.) frozen whole unsweetened raspberries, thawed, may be substituted for fresh.

Serving size: 1/2 cup
