6-year-old seriously hurt in two-vehicle crash here

Accident scene

Rescue workers prepare a young child for transport to an ambulance on Monday following a two-vehicle accident at Avenue B and Grand. Three children were injured with the van collided with the school bus shown. One child, 6-year-old Nicholas Cortez, was taken to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo, while another, 9-year-old Presley Cortez was admitted to Deaf Smith General Hospital.

A 6-year-old Hereford boy was listed in serious condition in an Amarillo hospital today following a two-vehicle accident involving a school bus on Monday.

According to police reports, a 1985 Plymouth van driven by Josephine Cortez, 33, of 237 Avenue C, was traveling north on Avenue C at about 5 p.m.

School schedule changes listed

With classes nearing an end for the 1992-93 school year, the Hereford Independent School district has announced some schedule changes.

Nena Veazey, assistant to the superintendent, said classes this week will continue as usual.

However, "Students that attend Shirley (Intermediate School) do not have school due to waiver days for staff development" on May 24 through 28.

This means their school year ends this Friday, so teachers can receive training for a new Integrated Thematic Instruction program being implemented next year.

In addition, students at Northwest Elementary School will dismiss for the year on May 26, two days early.

A waiver has been granted by the state to dismiss early so teachers there can undergo training to implement a new HOSTS language arts program next fall.

Classes will be held all day on Monday through Wednesday of next week at all schools but Shirley.

At all schools but Shirley and Northwest, students will attend through lunch on Thursday, May 27, and Friday, May 28.

Lunch will be served both days, but buses will run on their early schedule after the meal.

School will dismiss for the summer for the rest of the district at noon Friday.

Early voting to start Wednesday

Early voting in the June 5 special election will begin Wednesday in the Deaf Smith County clerk's office and continue until 5 p.m. on June 1.

Texas voters will elect a U.S. Senator, choosing between Bob Krueger, now serving as interim senator, and Kay Bailey Hutchison, Texas treasurer.

The seat formerly held by Lloyd Bentsen has been occupied since early this year by Krueger, by appointment of Texas Governor Ann Richards.

Hutchison edged ahead of Krueger in the voting on May 1. They were the two top vote-getters in a field of 24 candidates.

The vehicle stopped at Grand, but, a police preliminary accident report notes, it entered the intersection in front of a 1987 International school bus being driven by Duane Nathan Stewart, 60, of Hereford.

Stewart tried to avoid a collision, but struck the van on the side.

Both drivers were taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital, where they were treated and released.

Nicholas Cortez, 6, was taken to DSGH, but later transferred by ambulance to Northwest Texas Hospital.

A nursing supervisor there reported he was in serious condition this morning with a closed head injury.

Two other passengers in the mini van were transported by ambulance to DSGH.

Diona Lopez, 6, was treated and released, while Presley Cortez, 9, was admitted for observation. He is listed in stable condition.

All the children were reported as living at the same address as the van's driver.

There were no students aboard the school bus at the time of the accident.

The accident is still under investigation by Officer Christopher Havis.

New mayor focuses on city issues, needs

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

The new mayor of Hereford, Bob Josserrand, Monday evening called on the City Commission to take on in-depth discussions on needs and issues of city government through expanded briefing sessions prior to meetings or in workshops.

Josserrand made his suggestion at the close of the regular commission meeting. He and two commissioners, Silvana Juarez and Dennis Hicks, took the oath of office from the retiring mayor, Tom LeGate, to open the meeting.

Commission Roger Eades was elected mayor pro tem and will conduct meetings in the absence of the mayor.

During the meeting, the commission also looked at plans for a pavilion in Dameron Park, heard a request for sewer and water connections for the Campbell Street area, awarded bids for two side-loading refuse bodies, appointed a member of the planning and zoning commission and decided to take no further action on paving assessments for a portion of Lafayette Street.

Josserrand listed several issues on which he believes the commission must undertake studies and reach decisions.

"One is our need for more water," he declared.

Commissioners agreed to add 15 minutes to their pre-meeting briefing sessions, starting at 6:45 p.m., instead of 7 p.m., to allow more time to review agenda items.

Workshops for the study sessions will be announced at a later date.

Deaf Smith County Judge Tom Simons and Courtney Sharp of Panhandle Regional Planning Commission spoke to the commission about the community development grant obtained to install water and sewer service in the Campbell Street area.

Sharp requested authorization for the lines to be connected to the city's system. The commission agreed to take action on the request at the next meeting because the evening's agenda did not include the need for approval of the request.

Mike Acheson of McMorris and Associates reviewed revised plans for the Dameron Park pavilion, noting that changes could bring the cost down to about $75,000. By common consent, commissioners directed him to proceed with full plans to be submitted for bids.

The commission upheld action taken on May 3, on paving assessments on Lafayette Street. Warner Lawson of Applan Corporation said his firm was approached by residents of the street.

"A majority of the property owners wished to pay 80 percent of the cost," he said.

City Manager Chester Nolen said Lafayette was not involved in previous requests for paving. No homeowners had approached the city on the project, he said.

Commissioner Wayne Winget noted that the current city budget has no provision for assisting with paving projects.

The commission voted unanimously not to overturn the decision at the meeting earlier this month.

A bid of $67,760 submitted by Davis Equipment Company was accepted for two refuse bodies. The low bid of Southwest Equipment, $56,162, was turned down because the equipment did not meet city specifications, said Nolen. B&C Body entered at bid of $70,700.

After a six-minute executive session on personnel, the commission returned to open meeting and appointed Carolyn Maupin to the city's planning and zoning commission. She replaces Dennis Hicks, who is a new city commissioner.

Expense of landfill operation is cited as reason for closing site

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Expense of operating a city landfill was cited Monday evening as a major reason for many cities, including Hereford, to close their sites and seek other means of disposing of solid waste.

During an information meeting at City Hall, specialists in the field told officials and citizens that Hereford "is not alone" in coping with the problem.

Charles Stavely, rural and small city liaison with the Texas Water Commission, observed that the federal regulations on landfill operation are succeeding in the goal of eliminating landfills.

"A few years ago, there were 1,200 in Texas; last year, there were 700, and this year the number is down to 417," he observed.

Another TWC liaison, Ann Scudday, advised the city not to count on the six-month "grace" being proposed by the Environmental Protection Agency on landfill closure.

"We don't believe the EPA has that authority and we're advising everyone to stick with Oct. 9," she declared.

The Hereford City Commission last year decided to close the landfill instead of maintaining it under the stringent regulations in federal law.

John Kiehl, Panhandle Regional Planning Commission specialist in solid waste disposal, told the audience that cities throughout the area are looking at alternatives.

"Hereford is not alone in this problem," he declared.

In recent weeks, there has been some talk that Hereford could qualify for the "West Texas exemption" which permits less restrictive operation under certain conditions.

However, Fletcher Kelly of the Landgraf, Crutcher and Associates engineering firm, consultant for the city, told the group that Hereford meets the rainfall requirement -- less than 25 inches per year -- but generates too much garbage.

"You can't take more than 20 tons per day into the landfill with the exemption," he said. "Hereford would use up its 20 tons a day in eight months, then have to find another solution."

A question from the audience about operating the landfill for the amount of waste allowed and transporting the remainder to another site drew explanations that the expense would balloon because of conducting two operations.

John Landgraf estimated that cost of disposing of waste and transportation to a landfill in Amarillo or in Canyon would amount to about $150,000 per year under current pricing.

Asked if a "monopoly" could arise, leaving the city at the mercy of an operator, Landgraf observed that "the best thing you have is there are two landfills that will stay in business."

Ann Scudday told the audience that at the present time, Texas is not an "approved" state in the federal landfill program.

The water commission, the Texas agency charged with formulating landfill rules in the state, is striving to reach the approved status, she said.

"When this happens, you'll be able to deal with the state instead of the federal people on problems," she said.

If transporting solid waste to a commercial landfill becomes a problem, the city still can apply for a Type 1 landfill, Stavely observed.

But, he continued, "it takes thousands of dollars just to get the engineering for a landfill permit."

The City of Hereford plans to close the landfill, located just northeast of the city limits, by the Oct. 9 date. The Type 4 landfill, though, will continue to accept certain materials, such as concrete, tree limbs and other items.

Retirement tea Thursday to honor 12 HISD teachers

Twelve teachers and faculty members with nearly 300 years combined experience in education will call it quits this year from the Hereford Independent School District.

To honor them, the Hereford Classroom Teachers Association will host a retirement tea from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Thursday in the Community Center.

The following people -- who have worked in education 283 years among them -- have announced they are retiring:

-- Ken Helms, Junior High, 32 years total experience, 14 in Hereford.
-- Julia Helms, High School, 14 years, all in Hereford.

-- Mary Green, High School, 15 years, all in Hereford.

-- Claudine Lehman, Northwest Elementary, 15 years, 13 in Hereford.

-- Mary Hendrickson, Stanton, 11 years, all in Hereford.

-- Agnes Betzen, Junior High cafeteria, 23 years, all in Hereford.

-- Billie Sims, High School cafeteria, 17 years, all in Hereford.

-- Norma Grupp, Junior High, 34 years, 32 in Hereford.

-- Pat Montgomery, Junior High, 40 years, 24 in Hereford.

-- Rita Burges, Junior High, 37 years, 20 in HISD, 2 at St. Anthony's.

-- Sidney Kerr, Junior High, 25 years, all in Hereford.

-- Lores Teters, Bluebonnet, 20 years, all in Hereford.

Change in leadership

A plaque in appreciation for his eight years of service on the Hereford City Commission, two of those years as mayor, is presented to Tom LeGate, left, by his successor, Bob Josserrand, at the Monday evening meeting of the commission. "For eight years, you've been a force on this commission," Josserrand said in the presentation. LeGate responded, "I'd like to thank the citizens for electing me and the employees for their work." See page two for a photo of swearing-in ceremonies.

Opening of 'Dome' celebrated Sunday

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - What began as a gleam in the San Antonio mayor's eye has become reality with the Alamodome's weekend grand opening.

Athletic exhibitions, concerts and a giant barbecue Sunday marked the official completion of the 65,000-seat dome. It will become the venue for sporting events, rock concerts and other attractions.

"This day was a long time coming, but it's finally here. It's the beginning of a new chapter in San Antonio's life," said former mayor Henry Cisneros.

Now U.S. secretary of Housing and Urban Development, Cisneros officially opened the stadium Saturday.

After a decade-long campaign for a domed stadium in downtown San Antonio, Cisneros waged a successful campaign in January 1989 to get voters to approve a half-cent transit sales tax to pay for the $186-million structure.

Dome construction, hindered by heavier-than-normal rainfall, still remained on a fast-track so the dome could open on time.

Some finishing touches, including some concession stands and high-priced suites, still must be completed.

A sellout Paul McCartney concert is scheduled May 29 at the dome. The Olympic Festival is planned there for late July and early August, along with San Antonio Spurs games next season.

A midday dedication ceremony Saturday was attended by more than 3,000 people who braved 90-plus-degree heat.

Thousands more watched a later exhibition and performances inside designed to show off the facility's ice rinks, football field, basketball court and other features.

By the end of the day, 35,000 visitors had come and gone, officials said.

The opening festivities, which included patriotic music and a flyover by a squadron of F-16s of the Texas Air National Guard, were joined by Gov. Ann Richards.

"Even in Texas where we like to refer to everything as big, this building behind me with its nine acres of roof is impressive, but it's not as big as the heart of San Antonio and its people," said Richards.

The dome opening was a milestone for San Antonio, Mayor Nelson Wolff said.

"There are days in the life of a city when the citizens gather to make an event that marks a turning point," said Wolff. "Today, we come together on the silver anniversary of HemisFair to open the Alamodome, which was built and paid for in cash by all of us."

The Harlem Globetrotters, the University of Texas Longhorn Band, the GT Express Gymnasts and medal-winning ice skaters Caryn Kadavy and Natalie and Wayne Seybold were exhibition performers.

Abortion law remains intact, by close vote

AUSTIN (AP) - Unrestricted legal abortions will for now remain safeguarded by Texas law, barely.

State House members, by a 71-68 vote, on Monday defeated a proposal to require a 24-hour waiting period and physician consultation before a woman could receive an abortion.

The vote brought a sigh of relief from abortion rights advocates, but left anti-abortionists wondering what might have been, or still could be.

"This is a very small portion of what this state needs to do about the practice of abortion in this state," said Rep. Warren Chisum, sponsor of the proposal, which was offered as an amendment to a bill that would continue operation of the State Board of Medical Examiners.

Chisum said the amendment provided needed regulations to make abortions safer for women. He said it was not intended to circumvent Roe vs. Wade, the landmark Supreme Court decision that legalized abortion.

"This amendment aims to protect women and not criminalize anything that they've done," said Chisum, D-Pampa.

Under his amendment, a woman would be prohibited from receiving an abortion without first discussing alternatives and the procedure itself with a physician.

The proposal also would allow a physician to determine under what circumstances an abortion could be performed.

"An abortion may not be performed except by a physician after ... the physician determines that, in the physician's best clinical judgment, the abortion is necessary," the amendment said.

For example, an abortion sought solely because of the sex of an unborn child would be prohibited under the provision.

The amendment sparked heated debate among male and female lawmakers, who swapped jabs over the issue for more than an hour.

"In my 17 years here in this House, I've never seen a woman come and seek any penalties for abortion. It's always been men - men who try to tell us what we should do or should not do with ourselves," said Rep. Irma Rangel, D-Kingsville.

"Don't underestimate us," Rep. Patricia Gray, who said she opposes abortion, called Chisum's amendment "damaging."

"There is nobody in this chamber more opposed to abortion than I am ... but this is a bad amendment. This is an anti-woman amendment. It is an anti-health amendment, and I urge you to vote no," Ms. Gray, D-Galveston, told House members.

Following the abortion debate, the House approved the larger bill on a voice vote.

Officers installed at study club meeting

La Madre Mia Study Club conducted its annual installation of officers Thursday evening following a dinner served in the dining room of Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Installing officers for 1993-94 was the club's outgoing president, Nicky Walser.

Francyne Bromlow will serve as new president; Merle Clark, vice president; Mary Beth White, secretary; Mysedia Smith, treasurer; Bettye Owen, reporter; Walser, parliamentarian; and Betty Taylor, historian.

Committee reports were heard. Carolyn Baxter, representing the project committee, announced that Brent Flood was the club's scholarship recipient. He received $500 from the club. There were 26 applicants.

Smith read a note of appreciation from Ken Rogers who recently underwent heart surgery.

Betty Taylor, Georgia Sparks and Mary Herring will serve as chairmen for a club trip in June to Hershel and Ruth Black's home in Ruidoso, N.M. Sixteen members plan to attend.

Smith asked for discussion on changing the club's annual Christmas tour of homes to October. The new date of the tour will be announced later. Smith, Glenda Marcum and Judy Williams will serve as tour chairmen.

Bromlow accepted her new duties as president and distributed lists of committees for the new club year.

The club decided not to have secret pals this summer as it has previously done for many years.

Bromlow presented a lovely scrapbook, compiled by Baxter, to Walser showing all the club's events for the past year. She was also given a beautiful piece of crystal for the club members.

Walser expressed her joy of serving as president and said, "Club members are like a gift I will always treasure. For where your treasurer is, there will your heart be also." (Matthew 6:21).

Attending were Baxter, Black, Bromlow, Clark, Linda Cumpton, Herring, Barbara Manning, Marcum, Lavon Nieman, Owen, Nancy Paetzold, Tricia Sims, Smith, Sparks, Debbie Tardy, Taylor, Marline Watson, Walser, White and Kay Hall.

Summer activities planned

Hereford Junior High Junior Historians met for the planning of summer activities for the chapter with Candice Campbell, Chapter President, presiding.

Summer plans include visiting the Quarterhorse Museum in Amarillo and the Square House Museum in Panhandle on June 2 and a trip to Lubbock in July. The group plans to take a guided tour of the local museum before school is out.

Fund raising projects discussed include selling pens, pencils and folders at school in the fall and the production and sale of ethnic recipe cookbooks. All of the work in the production of the cookbooks will be done by the students and, hopefully, at times with help from parents.

Involvement in the "Jubilee" celebration in August is being planned. The chapter would like to plan a booth as well as have a float in the parade.

The chapter is also investigating the possibility of the "Adopt A Highway" program and researching the history of some of Hereford's buildings. Helping with the organization of Junior Historian Chapters in Hereford High School and at Boys Ranch are projects for the summer and fall.

Attending the meeting were Daniel Cortez, Tony Garcia, Chris Briones, Clay Brown, Chip Barnett, Ryan Manning, Lauren Hansen, Jim Moudy, Bambi Brethour, Leslie Poarch, Heath Henderson, Tyson Foerster, Kris Friel, Justin Landrum, and Andrew DelToro.

Focus on trends

"Protect and Serve" is no longer just a cop's motto. It has expanded to every person and company concerned with today's environmental woes. With scary statistics like "Americans use 2 1/2 million plastic bottles every hour of every day," something had to be done.

The concerned consumer will be glad to hear some solutions have already been est in motion and are gaining celebrity status in the Eco world. Carlee Corporation, a premier producer of polyester fiberfill, has teamed up with Wellman, Inc., the world's largest recycler of plastic bottles and created EcoFil. Wellman buys back the consumers' empties and transforms them into a fiber, branded Fortrel EcoSpun, that can be used for carpet, filling for pillows, comforters and other products. EcoFil is the only recycled content fiberfill (made from Fortrel EcoSpun) available for crafts and sewing. Fiber generated from recycled soda bottles and recycled polyester fiber is blended and made into a soft, durable, purified and hypo-allergenic fill that's resilient, machine washable and dryable. Crafters who have used EcoFil have found it better than premium quality virgin fiberfill.

Military Muster

Marine Pfc. Avery D. Parks, son of Jack and Georgia M. Parks of Route 1, Hereford, recently completed the School of Infantry.

During the course at Camp Pendleton, Calif., students received classroom instruction and participated in field exercises involving infantry tactics, construction and camouflage of fighting positions and the use of mines, demolitions and intra-company communications equipment.

Residents' daughter elected president of organization

Trisha Teel, daughter of Jerry and Denise Teel, was recently elected the 1993-94 president of the Aggie Cattle Women where she has been an active member for two years.

Trisha is an animal science major at Texas A&M University and plans to attend vet school. She will be working this summer at the Bryan Animal Clinic for Dr. Katherine Wheeler, DVM. The student is a member of Texas Alpha Chapter of Alpha Zeta, an agricultural honor and service fraternity, and is the 1993-94 secretary of Scribe. She is also a two-year member of Saddle and Sirloin Club.

Trisha received a four-year Houston Livestock Scholarship presented by Mr. and Mrs. Steven Lastobica during the annual Saddle and Sirloin banquet.

Sims steps down as Herd netters' coach

Hereford High School tennis coach Natalie Sims has resigned from the position, girls' athletic director Brenda Reeh announced Monday.

"It was a personal decision on her part," Reeh said. "She chose not to pursue coaching next year."

Calls to Sims' residence were answered by machine Monday. A message was not returned.

Sims will continue her teaching duties at Hereford Junior High next year, Reeh said.

Sims became the interim head tennis coach when Kim King resigned after the fall season of 1991, then made the head coach for the start of the 1992-93 school year. Sims had been an assistant coach under King, starting in August, 1991.

The HHS tennis team won a district title in team tennis during the fall of 1992, Sims' only fall season as head coach. During two spring seasons, she coached several qualifiers for the regional tournament, including Greg Coplen, who advanced to the state tournament held Friday and Saturday in Austin.

Head selected to All-District team

Hereford placed three players on the All-District 1-4A baseball team, including one, rightfielder Jake Head, on the first team. Head, a senior, also was a first team selection last year.

Earning second-team honors were centerfielder Chris Brummett and catcher Ruben Ramos, both seniors.

"I think they gained the respect of the other district coaches," Hereford coach T.R. Sartor said. "They certainly gained mine over the course of the season. Two (Head and Ramos) were our biggest offensive producers, and Chris was, I thought, one of the stellar defensive players in the district."

District co-champions Borger and Randall dominated the teams. Borger players got six of the 15 first-team spots, and Randall got four plus MVP Cory McAlister. Ross Taylor of Randall and Mike Montgomery of Borger were named the coaches of the year.

Dumas placed three on the first team, and Hereford and Pampa each had one first-teamer. Caprock was shut out of the first team.

Head batted .358 for the Herd--the second best average on the team--batted in 20 runs and stole 13 bases. His district stats, which are the only ones used to select the all-district teams, include a .343 average, 11 hits, 8 runs and 4 RBI.

Head also was known for his strong arm in right field. He had seven assists for the year, all but one from the outfield, Sartor said.

Ramos played first base and pitched as well as caught. In district, he batted .393 with 13 hits and eight RBI. He batted .353 for the year and drove home 25 of the Herd's total of 163 runs. His on-base percentage (.423), slugging percentage (.439) and fielding percentage (.979) all were among the Herd's best.

Brummett batted only .136 in district but made up for that with his glove and by getting on base in other ways: he walked five times and was hit by pitches twice in district play for an on-base percentage of .344. He had two outfield assists in district play, and he had several highlight-type catches during the year.

Jordan's shot ousts Cavs from playoffs

By CHUCK MELVIN

AP Sports Writer
RICHFIELD, Ohio (AP) - The situation was so eerily similar, Michael Jordan couldn't help thinking back to 1989.

"You dream about a challenge like this. I had very similar thoughts, positive thoughts," Jordan said Monday night after he sank yet another once-in-a-lifetime shot at the buzzer to beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 103-101, sending the Chicago Bulls to their fifth straight Eastern Conference finals.

Chicago, which has won nine consecutive playoff games dating to last year's NBA Finals, now awaits the winner of the New York Knicks-Charlotte Hornets series.

In 1989, Jordan hit a 16-footer over Craig Ehlo to beat Cleveland at the buzzer 101-100, eliminating the Cavaliers in a deciding first-round game.

Jordan, still bothered somewhat by the sprained wrist sustained on Thursday, finished with 31 points.

Tonight, the New York Knicks could wrap up their Eastern Conference semifinal if they defeat the Charlotte Hornets. The Knicks hold a 3-1 edge, and a victory at home would send them against the Bulls.

In other matches tonight, Houston is at Seattle and San Antonio is at Phoenix. Both series are tied 2-2.

Public Notice

On April 16, 1993, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (SWBT) filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission) for approval of a new optional service, Network Subscriber Information Interface (NSII). NSII is a new service feature developed primarily for the provision of Voice Messaging Service (VMS). It will give a VMS provider (as SWBT's customer) the ability to receive originating call information from SWBT's central office and to activate and deactivate a Message Waiting Indicator (MWI) on the line of the VMS provider's patron. NSII also gives the VMS provider the ability to activate and deactivate an intermittent dial tone on a patron's line in multiple offices. The VMS provider will be able to perform these functions in multiple offices through a connection to a single Message Node office. The Message Node will be a predesignated central office and will interconnect with all central offices within the Message Node Service Area. Upon approval of this application, NSII will be available to customers where facilities are available. Available facilities are not currently deployed statewide. The proposed effective date of this service is June 20, 1993.

SWBT estimates these new services will increase its annual revenues during the first year by approximately $2.4 million. VMS providers and Telephone Answering Services and their subscribers are the types of customers likely to be affected by approval of these services.

The proposed recurring monthly rate and nonrecurring installation charge is as follows:

Rate Element	Recurring	Nonrecurring
NSII	$6,000.00	$2,000.00

Persons who wish to comment on this application should notify the Commission by June 10, 1993. Requests for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or you may call the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at 512-458-0256, or 512-458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Local piano students to play Wednesday

Thirty-five local piano students have registered as candidates for membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians, sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers, Teacher Division of the American College of Musicians, of which their teachers are members.

This group of young piano hobbyists will play in the National Piano Playing Auditions Wednesday at Christ's Church Fellowship and will be judged by Dr. Judy E. Strecker of Fritch.

Students who will be participating in the audition represent the classes of Frances Parker, Cappy Cory, Evelyn Hacker, all of Hereford; Johnnie Walters, Friona; and Shirley Peagram, Canyon.

Performing from Hereford will be Amy and Heidi Ruland, Holly and Lisa Conaway, Candice Campbell, Kimberly Scott, Robert Reinauer, Stephen Cloud, Flint Dollar, Karon Harder, Aaron Hendrickson, Jana Baird, Laurie Gilbert, Amber Kerr, Kristin, Daniel and Andrew Carnahan, Amber Vasek, Julie and Janae Schlabs, Cameron and Leah Turner and Riley and Kuli Hall.

Dr. Strecker is a native of Amarillo and has a background of outstanding musical education and experience. She holds a master's degree from the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y., and a doctorate from the University of Colorado, Boulder, Colo. At both institutions, she was awarded a full-tuition teaching fellowship.

Dr. Strecker first served as an assistant professor of music at Incarnate Word College in San Antonio for five years. The last three of which she served as chairperson of the music department. She has been recognized by the National Association of Schools of Music as an outstanding community leader and she was nominated to the Outstanding Young Women of American Program.

Dr. Strecker was an associate professor music and chairperson of the music department at St. Mary of the Plains College, Dodge City, Kan. for three years before assuming the position as head of the music department at Frank Phillips College in Borger in the fall of 1992.

She has performed solo organ and piano recitals in Colorado, Missouri, Texas, New York, Kansas and Louisiana and is a judge for the National Guild of Piano Teachers. She has adjudicated numerous piano and choral competitions in Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado and Kansas.

Over 16,447 piano pupils of the nation will be participating in this annual national piano-playing event being held in 840 music centers of the country. Each entrant will be certificated, given a gold or bronze embossed pin, a year's membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians and Piano Hobbyists of the world.

Begun at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene in 1929, national headquarters are still maintained in Texas where rules and regulations are available on request.

Beware of endometriosis

Knowing the facts about a disease that affects over five million American women—ages 11 to 50, of all income levels and ethnic groups—could help prevent serious health trouble, experts agree.

Endometriosis is a disease in which tissue that normally covers the inner surface of the uterus (endometrium) is also found in other areas such as the abdomen, on the ovaries and abdominal lining, bowel and bladder, resulting in internal bleeding, formation of scar tissue and other problems. Symptoms to watch out for include:

- Chronic pelvic pain.
- Painful periods, especially when disabling and/or increasing in severity.
- Repeated miscarriages.
- Deep pain with sexual intercourse.
- Chronic fatigue.
- Low resistance to infections.
- Extensive allergies and related problems.
- Diarrhea and/or painful bowel movements with the period.

Gardening at the Gazebo

By CARMEN FLOOD

Here we are, already in the middle of May, and gardening projects and planting are heavily underway all over Hereford. Here at the Black House Garden, it is no different, except that we probably have many more workers than most gardens in the area.

The spring blooming tulips and daffodils are just a beautiful memory now and most of the planting of annuals and perennials has been completed. Time now to begin the rose program of spraying and feeding. We feed with a good balanced rose food on a monthly basis, and spray the plants bi-weekly for insects and fungus. Soon we will be rewarded by abundant bloom, we hope. The roses beds (there are three), are filled now, with only a few to be replaced, but we still accept donations for memorial roses to be planted here. The plaques with names listed are fixed to the east wall of the home.

Now is a good time to spray for dandelions, and in June we have all the trees and shrubs checked and sprayed if necessary. An ounce of prevention truly is worth a pound of cure, and more. You may have noticed that all the trees damaged from that untimely freeze two falls ago have been taken out and replaced by different types which will not only be beautiful, but, we hope, more resistant to our drastic weather changes and sometimes difficult climate.

We are looking at removing the Rose of Sharon Hedge that lines the north and east corners of the Gazebo Garden since it seems to have developed some problems. New background lattice and fencing is in the wings for us also. Any garden, by its very nature, is always changing, and this one is no different.

Controlling bindweed is not only a problem for you, but for us as well, and that effort is in full swing at this time. Maintenance and planning seem to be what fills most Monday mornings for us now. In the next few weeks many weed seeds that are germinating now will become apparent, and weeding and watering will take the lion's share of work time here.

Each of the triangular beds surrounding the gazebo is bordered with boxwood, and chrysanthemum, and we just recently dug and thinned the purple ones around the Brides section. The new plants gleaned were offered to the public at the plant sale sponsored by the Hereford Beautification Alliance on May 9. Our proceeds will cover the cost of a new variety of crabapple tree which we purchased that blooms in small rosettes instead of singly. We are hoping it will be as valuable to our garden as is anticipated.

The Beautification Alliance has designated the zinnia as the official flower of our community, and we hope you all will fill your beds and borders with this lovely and easy to grow annual, and truly make Hereford a "sight to behold" in 1993.

4-H demonstrations given for Toastmasters meeting

Two Deaf Smith County 4-H method demonstration teams presented programs for members of the Hereford Toastmasters Club recently when the group met at the Ranch House.

"Solve the Landscape Puzzle" was the title of the presentation given by Josh and Justin Howley, children of Jack and Maggie Howley. Betsy and Anne Weaver, children of Joe and Linda Weaver, gave a presentation about dust mites titled "Who's Sleeping in Your Bed?". The teams were interviewed by Margaret Del Toro and Dee Hamilton. Members of the club evaluated the teams preparing them for competition at the 4-H District Roundup which was held Saturday at West Texas State University.

President Gayla Sanders presided over the business meeting and the invocation was given Dave Kimmel. Linda Minchew led the pledge.

Charles Minchew served as timer and Joe Weaver was Toastmaster.

Liver will be more tender if you soak it for two to three hours in milk or tomato juice before broiling or frying.

'H' Awards presented at HHS

Heather Kleuskens, right, a junior at Hereford High School, is presented a letter jacket by assistant principal Ken Cole during Monday's H Awards Assembly. She was one of 58 students recognized for being in the top five percent of the class. Many other academic achievement awards were presented in a variety of areas. Assisting Cole is assistant principal Mary Ontiveros.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Tone Loc, the raspy-voiced rapper-turned-actor, plays a cowboy in the new film "Posse." But in real life, he says, his gunslinging days are over.

Loc, a former member of the Crips street gang in South Central Los Angeles, says he's grown up a lot recently - spurred in part by the birth of his son three years ago. Loc, 25, is raising the boy as a single father.

"His birth was like a tap on the shoulder, and I got the message," he said in an interview with The Orange County Register last week. "He needed me around when I'm 40 or 50, and I wasn't going to live long at the pace I was going."

Loc, who made it big with the hit "Wild Thing," says he was thrilled with his first big movie role in the Mario Van Peebles-directed Western. "I'm just like any other kid who dreamed of seeing himself on the big screen," he said. "I'm living a dream come true."

Fire victim

This dog, as well as another dog and three cats were rescued from a burning home at 820 S. McKinley Monday night. Firefighters were called to the blaze at 9:03 p.m. The dogs and mother cat were found while the fire was being extinguished. Firefighters and rescue personnel administered mouth-to-snout resuscitation to the animals, which suffered smoke inhalation. Two kittens were discovered after the fire was put out. They did not require medical treatment. The fire started in the drier room of the house and caused several thousand dollars damage. There were no human injuries reported.

Latest school proposal would let rich districts pick options

AUSTIN (AP) - The House Public Education Committee is considering a proposal that would give property-rich school districts different options for sharing some of their wealth with poorer districts.

It's a response to a Texas Supreme Court order for lawmakers to come up with a plan for evening out funding available to property-rich and property-poor school districts.

If they don't develop a plan by June 1, the court has ordered a cutoff of state education funding. School districts rely on state aid and local property taxes.

"What we think that we have found through this plan is a better way to achieve what the court has ordered us to do and still give each district local control over its own affairs," committee Chairwoman Libby Linebarger, D-Manchaca, said Monday.

Under the plan laid out by Ms. Linebarger and other committee members, the 109 richest school districts in property wealth would be consolidated with one or more of their poorer neighbors by the state - unless a district chose one of the following options:

- Merge its tax base with one or more poorer school districts.
- Send money to the state to pay for educating other students in poorer districts.
- Contract to educate students in other districts.
- Consolidate voluntarily with one or more other school districts.
- Move some taxable property to another district's tax rolls.

The first three options would require local voter approval.

The proposal is meant to bring all school districts to property wealth of no more than $280,000 per student. Ms. Linebarger said it would divert between $400 million and $600 million a year from wealthier to poorer school districts.

She said she hoped the full House could consider school funding by Thursday. The Senate already has approved a proposal for the state to shift some business property from the richest to the poorest school districts.

But some House members raised concerns about that approach. For example, they said that seven wealthy school districts rely mainly on residential property values, and so couldn't get down to the $280,000 per-student level under the plan pushed by Sen. Bill Ratliff, R-Mount Pleasant.

JHS student honorees

Cassie Abney and David Radford were honored last week as Students of the Six Weeks for the entire 1992-93 school year, during the Hereford Junior High School awards assembly. They were selected by school teachers.

Between The Covers

By REBECCA WALLS

This will be a very busy week for many of you. The seniors are rushing around doing the last minute shopping required before the prom. Parents of seniors are rushing around frantically trying to finish the decorations for the banquet and prom. Grandparents of seniors are trying to keep all of the dates straight so they won't miss graduation and other special events. The rest of the world has kicked back, propped their feet up and are enjoying life. Summer is almost here.

Well the Library is here for the rushed, the rusers, and the relaxed. Come in and see the collections that Don Nall and Judy Williams have on display this month. The Family Film, "The Legend of the Lone Ranger," will be shown May 20th at 7:00 pm. and don't forget preschool story time at 10:00 Thursday morning.

The new book list this week begins with a new author to some of you. Thomas King, a man of Cherokee, Greek and German descent, has written a story about five Blackfoot Indians in the small town of Blossom. Green Grass, Running Water shows the very different lives of Alberta, a college professor who wants children but doesn't necessarily see the need for marriage; Charlie, a flashy lawyer; Lionel, a TV salesman; Latisha, the manager of the Dead Dog Cafe and Eli, who escapes to the city and its white man establishment. When Eli left he never intended to return to Blossom, the reservation nor to the ancient way of life. All through the story, four old Indians, mental institution escapees, drift hilariously and mysteriously through time affecting everyone they meet. The old ones attempt to recreate and reorder the world through the stories they tell, while the trickster Coyote wreaks havoc as he pushes through the story. Anyone who enjoys Indian lore will enjoy this very different book.

Jeanne Williams, a native of Elkhart, Kansas, has taken the part of American history called the Dust Bowl and created her novel The Longest Road. The story centers around Laurie Field and the trials of a family torn apart by Mother Nature. A violent dust storm leaves a farm in ruins, a mother dead, and Laurie, brother Buddy, and their father Ed searching for a better life somewhere down the road. Along the way the Fields meet Johnny Morrigan who for a short time makes their journey a little easier. Johnny has a gentle manner and a way with songs of struggle and hope that later help carry Laurie through truly dark days. Laurie and Buddy are left with their autocratic grandfather while Ed looks for work in California. After a time Laurie decides it is time the family is reunited. Laurie disguises herself as a boy, and she and Buddy strike out for California. Hopping trains, the two travelers encounter many dangers and disappointments but remain determined to become a family again.

Rosellen Brown's new book Before and After is set in Hyland, a small town in rural New England. Carolyn and Ben have moved to New England for the "comforts of rural life and because it will be a better place" for their children Judith and Jacob. Carolyn, a pediatrician, has devoted her life to making others healthy and happy. Ben, a sculptor, has an imagination that creates some very strange creatures. Jacob, 17 years of age, is shy and also conceals a darker side from his parents. Judith is very suspicious and puzzled by her brothers' secrecy, sexual preoccupations, and suppressed anger. When Jacob's girlfriend is found stabbed to death the chief of police begins to look for Jacob. The search for Jacob, his capture, and the following chain of events results in a very compelling drama. If you enjoyed Tender Mercies you won't want to miss Brown's newest book.

If true crime is more to your liking, Rampage: America's Largest Family Mass Murder is here for you. Jim Moore, drawing from personal interviews of witnesses and survivors; police reports, autopsy reports, and newly discovered information, gives the first factual account of the Simmons murders. Gene Simmons loved his teenage daughter with a consuming passion. When daughter Sheila Marie married and moved far away from home Gene felt rejected, and his love turned to rage. Gene spent 6 months planning the murders that took place 2 days before Christmas 1987. When "the violence ended 4 days later in Russellville, Arkansas, 16 people were dead.

Other titles of interest include Jim Bridger: Mountain Man, a biography of the frontiersman; Mountain Bikes, something Bridger probably wished he had; and Liftoff: the Story of America's Adventure in Space by Michael Collins. Get started now on your summer reading!

DiETING discussed at chapter meeting

Linda Arellano presented the program, "Diet: Generalities for Healthful Diet", when members of Xi Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met recently in her home.

In connection with the program topic, the hostess introduced the guest speaker, Kee Ruland, education chairman for the Deaf Smith County Unit of the American Cancer Society, District 15.

As a cancer victim herself, Ruland spoke of her role as a volunteer with the American Cancer Society. Members were also shown a video entitled "Eating Smart" and were quizzed on their own eating habits.

The opening ritual was led by President Kay Williams who also conducted the business meeting.

Members were asked to volunteer as representatives for City Council. Serving with Linda Arellano will be Dalene Burns, Brenda Ramey, Ruby Lee and Deann Harris, alternate.

A letter from the Hurricane Relief Fund was read thanking the chapter for its contribution. Also, Sharon Bodner, chosen as Girl of the Year, extended her appreciation to the group.

Thank yous were extended by Susan Shaw, Gaye Reily, Carol Kelley and Ruby Lee.

Arellano reported that the recent chapter garage sale was a success.

Ruby Sanders, social chairperson, announced that a reception will be held for Billee Brown in the Lamar Room of King's Manor Retirement Home. The social and service committees will work together in planning the event. She also announced that the chapter's birthday party will be held at 7 p.m. May 18 in Canyon. Secret sister gifts will be distributed at the party.

President Kay Williams conducted the installation of new officers for 1993-94. Linda Arellano will serve as president; Connie Matthews, vice president; Ruby Lee, treasurer; Gaye Reily, recording secretary; and Susan Shaw, corresponding secretary.

Members present included Linda Arellano, Sharon Bodner, Dalene Burns, Susan Cardinal, Denise Hafliger, Deann Harris, Melinda Henson, Peggy Hyer, Carol Kelley, Ruby Lee, Connie Matthews, Brenda Ramey, Gaye Reily, Ruby Sanders, Susan Shaw and Kay Williams.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband of only eight months left me when I became pregnant. We had never discussed children. The pregnancy was not planned, and "Hal" was furious. He remarried at the earliest legal moment. The daughter I gave birth to has turned out to be the joy of my life.

The problem isn't Hale, it's his wife. She insists on sending me gifts that I feel are insulting.

Her first gift was a box of clothing from a thrift shop. Her second gift was a framed picture of the two of them and another box of used clothing. Yesterday, for my birthday, I received an electric massager "guaranteed to help soften facial wrinkles," a washcloth and a cookie cutter. To make matters worse, this "gift" was mailed to my office.

My ex-husband is the vice president of a beverage company and makes a six-figure salary. I cannot imagine him marrying a woman who doesn't know any better. How can I protect myself against these insults?—Burning in Lakeland, Fla.

DEAR FLORIDA: The solution is simple. Return all packages unopened. No note, nothing. Silence often speaks louder than anything you might say. I recommend it.

Hereford Music Study Club officers installed

New officers were installed when members of the Hereford Music Study Club met recently at Something Special for their closing luncheon of the year.

President Barbara Manning installed Helen Caraway as president; Frances Parker, first vice president; Jody Skiles, second vice president; Dee Anne Trotter, secretary; Tina Langenhennig, treasurer; and Pat Fisher, reporter.

Also, during the business meeting, Manning reminded members to attend the senior recitals May 29-30 and June 14.

This year's scholarship winner, Greg Coplen, played "Prelude in C# Minor", Rachmaninoff, and his own version of "How Great Thou Art." His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ed Coplen.

The meeting closed with the Federation Collect being recited by the club. Other members present were Cheryl Betzen, Marcella Bradley, Linda Gilbert, Donna Ruland, Margaret Schroeter, Susan Shaw, Sue Sims, Ruby Carmichael, Mary Carter, Charlotte Close and Mozelle Neill.

Memorial service conducted by Order of Eastern Star

Members of the Order of Eastern Star met recently in the Masonic Lodge Hall for a memorial service. The charter was draped for Mary Belle Manning.

Also, the altar was draped for a past worthy grand patron and a past worthy grand matron.

The chaplain, conductress and Star points conducted a ceremony at the altar for deceased members during the past year: James Bullard, Reagan Looney, Charles Russell, Gladys Smith, Marvin Coffec, Beatrice Hutson, Mary Belle Manning, Bruce Rose, Belle Ewton and Lillian Aldridge.

It was announced that initiation will be held June 8 during the regular stated meeting and a rehearsal is planned at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 1, at the lodge hall. All members involved are urged to attend.

Open installation is planned Saturday, June 19, for the following officers: worthy matron, Mildred Fuhrmann; worthy patron, L.J. Clark; associate matron, Dottie Darden; associate patron, Larry Knowles; conductress, Joy Bunch; associate conductress, Linda Knowles; secretary, Margaret Bell; and treasurer, Courtney Brooke.

Dorothy Noland and Lois Jones served refreshments following the meeting.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I had the recipe for a sugar starch and misplaced it. Could you please send me one. — E. Penachio, Jersey City, N.J.

I'd be happy to. Put 1/4 cup water and 1/4 cup sugar in a small pan. Stir the mixture on low heat until all of the sugar has melted and the solution looks clear. Don't boil it.

Wet the crocheted item in warm water first, then roll it in absorbent bath towels to remove as much water as possible. Dip the piece in the sugar starch, then set it on an absorbent towel and let it air dry. That's all there is to it. — Heloise

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, PO Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279-5000 or fax it to 210-HELOISE. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.
