City eyes obstacle to tax rate increase

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

A proposed tax rate increase for property owners in the City of Hereford apparently has run into a problem caused by state taxing laws.

The conflict in the city's charter and state law would seem to disallow any change in tax rate, either raising or lowering, for now.

During a budget preparation session Monday evening, City Attorney Terry Langehenning told the commission that a 1981 amendment to the city charter does not seem to address the problem.

In a nutshell, state law provides that a taxing entity may not set a tax rate until a tax roll has been certified. The tax roll is not complete until sometime in June.

However, the Hereford city charter requires that a budget and tax rate be in place before the start of a fiscal year on May 1.

"We can't set a tax rate based on estimates of property values," said City Manager Chester Nolen, "unless the 1981 amendment allows it."

The charter amendment approved by voters in 1981 primarily is concerned with necessary details to permit the city to join other jurisdictions "for the appraisal, assessment and/or collection of taxes."

Langehenning told the commission Monday evening that his interpretation of the amendment does not extend to permitting the city to change the fiscal year, which would have to be done before the tax rate could be changed.

Typically, cities in Texas operate on a budget year of Oct. 1 through Sept. 30. Counties also use that fiscal year. Hereford seems to be in a minority of entities that do not fall in that category.

Since the law requires a certified tax roll before a tax rate can be set, the Hereford commission can neither raise nor lower taxes, as long as the city continues to operate on a May 1 to April 30 fiscal year.

Officials privately agree that the solution may be a charter amendment election that would permit the fiscal year change.

In the meantime, though, Nolen said he and Langehenning will continue to research the state property tax laws.

The commission in earlier work sessions on the budget had eyed a three-cent increase in the tax rate which has held at 42 cents per $100 since 1986.

Commissioners had agreed that the increase would help close the gap between revenue and expenditures in the next year. A combination of declining property values and rising expense prompted the proposed increase.

The problem now facing the commission is to pare the budget, taking into account the funds, estimated at approximately $60,000, that will not be raised by a tax increase.

Estimates of expenditures for the year are $4,991,842. Including the proposed tax rate increase, revenue was pegged at $4,999,347.

Commissioners took no action on the budget Monday night, electing to wait to see if a solution is available on the tax rate issue and for recommendations from Nolen for reductions in expenditures.

Still in the budget under study are increases in fees for city services. Water rate for 9,000 gallons would rise from $10.60 per month to $12.35. Sewer charges would increase from $4 to $9 per month and the garbage collection fee would change from $7 to $8.35 per month. Total increase amounts to $8.10.

Bidding error results in bargain for city

A computation mistake by a supplier in Carrollton will save the City of Hereford a considerable sum of money on a utility vehicle for maintenance at the John Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

Jacobsen Textron bid the vehicle at $5,693. An Irving firm, Watson Distributing of Irving, submitted a bid of $8,262 and Goldthwaite of Fort Worth offered to sell the equipment for $10,225.

City officials learned after the bid-opening that Jacobsen had made an error and submitted the wholesale figure, City Manager Chester Nolen said at the City Commission meeting Monday evening.

"They called and said that it was their mistake and they'd stand by the bid," he added.

Commissioners quickly took Jacobsen up on the bid, voting unanimously to award the bid to the Carrollton firm.

Bids also were opened for a tractor for use in city parks. An allocation of $15,000 was provided in the budget for the current year for the equipment. Low bidder, at $24,455.60, was Plains Ford New Holland of Hereford. A bid of $30,006.53 was turned in by White Implement of Hereford.

The commission agreed to accept the Plains Ford New Holland offer, paying $15,000 initially and contracting on a three-year pay-out for the remainder of the cost.

An offer of $2,700 for the sale of a used Suburban was accepted from Richard Siera. However, the commission turned down a $1,000 offer to sell a fire truck no longer in use.

A presentation by Michelle Hughes, Hereford outreach coordinator, explained work of Family Support Services, known here, also, as the Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center. The commission voted a $5,000 grant to continue assistance to the center.

An assessment program for paving on two streets, Knight on the southwest side, and Lafayette, in northeast Hereford, was approved on reading an ordinance.

An ordinance related to the use of hotel/motel taxes and a contract with the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce to implement the program was approved unanimously and a resolution was passed to permit issuance of bonds by the Panhandle Plains Higher Education Authority. The city has no fiscal liability in the bonds.

Spring break a soggy time for students

PORT ARANSAS, Texas (AP) - Spring break got off to a soggy start as thousands of college students escaped homework and term papers only to huddle in tents, trailers and motel rooms away from the rain and blustery winds.

The mid-week forecast promised improved weather for the Texas coast, including plenty of sun and temperatures in the 70s and 80s, but that wasn't soon enough for Floyd Hushead, 20, and two friends spending spring break in a 36-foot camper at Port Aransas Park.

"Surely it will clear up soon," said Hushead, who with his friends from the University of Missouri decided to escape the weather Monday and party indoors.

Park ranger Mike Kinstley said all 75 camping sites at the beachside park were full and expected to remain that way for the next two weeks.

"Most of them have been hunkered down and waiting for the weather to improve," Kinstley said.

Spring-breakers from Missouri, Colorado, Kansas, Wisconsin, Arkansas, New Jersey and Canada are spending the week at the campground, he said.

The weather along Padre and Mustang island beaches, two of the most popular spring break destinations, was good news for law enforcement agencies, who reported fewer than two dozen arrests since last Friday.

This is the heaviest spring break week in Texas because classes at many of the largest universities, including Texas A&M and Texas are dismissed through Sunday.

Deadline Wednesday to file for political contests

Wednesday is the deadline for filing for city commission, school and hospital board elections, and there are no contested races at this point. At least one more candidate is needed in two of the elections.

There are three places up for election on the Hereford School Board and only two have filed. Raul Valdez, District 2, and Dennis Newton, at-large member, have filed for reelection. John Fuston, who also holds an at-large seat, is not seeking reelection.

Three seats are also up for election on the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board and only two have filed for the at-large positions. Mal Manchec has filed for reelection, and Jo Beth Shackelford is a new candidate. Terms of Dr. Robert Bidwell and Dr. Stan Fry Jr. also expire. Bidwell has indicated he will not seek reelection.

There is only one candidate for each position in the City of Hereford election. Bob Josseland is the candidate for mayor; Silvana Juarez seeks reelection to Place 1, and Dennis Hicks is seeking election to the Place 3 commission seat.

Two dozen campers missing in NC in aftermath of storm

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) - Parents today awaited word on the fate of 24 campers caught in the blizzard over the weekend while on a high school outing in the Appalachians. The storm's death toll reached 173, and crop losses mounted.

Road-clearing in the storm-ravaged East gained urgency as crews worked overtime to reach the snowbound.

"We're still getting a number of calls" from people in remote areas, said Charles Colwell, emergency director in Kentucky's Perry County.

"All our off-roads are still just about impassable."

In addition to the deaths - reported from Cuba to Canada - 32 crewmen were missing after a freighter sank Monday off Nova Scotia, and 16 sailors were missing off Florida.

Searchers on Monday failed to find the 21 youngsters and three teachers in the Great Smoky Mountains after dozens of others on the trip trudged through deep drifts to safety. The air and ground search was to resume this morning.

Bob Miller, a park spokesman, said the campers might even hike out of the woods as scheduled today, as the others did.

The campers from the Cranbrook Kingswood Upper School in Bloomfield Hills, Mich., were making an annual spring break trip based on the Outward Bound philosophy of building discipline by confronting natural challenges.

Parents and teachers gathered at the private school outside Detroit to wait for news. They said the students had received wilderness survival training.

"I feel upbeat," said Nancy Shapiro, whose 15-year-old was unaccounted for. "I think the kids are coming out."

"The waiting game is killing everyone," college student Christian Schultz said moments before learning her 17-year-old sister, Kimberly, was safe.

A teacher who was with one of the groups that emerged on Monday was hospitalized in serious condition with hypothermia. Five students in his group were hospitalized overnight for observation.

Meanwhile, insurance companies received thousands of claims for storm damage. A.M. Best Co., the leading rating agency for the insurance industry, estimated that the storm caused upwards of $800 million in insured damage.

Crops were damaged across the South, with heavy losses to fruits and vegetables likely to drive prices up in the supermarket.

The storm and the cold that followed ruined such crops as peaches, blueberries, tomatoes and strawberries, and knocked juice oranges off trees in Florida. "Now it has to be harvested quickly before it decays," said Bob McLean, a Valrico, Fla., grower.

It was one of the worst U.S. snowstorms this century. In 1958, a storm left 171 people dead in the East. A 1966 East Coast storm killed 165. In 1888, 400 people died in a March blizzard that dumped up to 5 feet of snow in the East.

Governors in several states sought federal disaster assistance.

Senate OKs bill giving death to killers of kids

AUSTIN (AP) - Murder of a child under age 6 could be punished by death under a measure that has won Senate approval.

"We're going to make sure that the little children who can't run or hide or call for help are protected," said Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown, R-Lake Jackson, bill sponsor.

The measure was passed unanimously by the Senate on Monday. It now goes to the House.

Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, who has opposed the death penalty in certain cases, voted in favor of the measure, saying it is worth it if the bill saves one child.

"I believe that the hottest places in hell are reserved for killers of children, and I believe we should help send them there when they do that," said Barrientos, D-Austin.

Similar bills have previously failed in the Legislature, over concerns that women who have abortions could be charged with murder. However, Brown said his measure is worded to include only the murder of a child who is "born and alive."

Gov. Ann Richards, who supports a woman's right to choose abortion, said she plans to sign the measure into law if it passes the Legislature.

DO DRUGS, DON'T DRIVE

Texas convicted of felony drug offenses would lose driver's licenses under a bill passed by the Senate and sent to the House. Sen. Teel Bivins, R-Amarillo, says the bill targets youthful offenders since, "There is not very much in life that is more important to them than that driver's license."

BENEFIT CARDS

Needy Texans will obtain their benefits using plastic, bank-type cards rather than paper vouchers such as food stamp coupons under a system to be demonstrated in Harris and Chambers counties. Comptroller John Sharp says his office is looking for companies to get involved in the demonstration.

VETO LIKELY

While she says she will talk it over with the bill's sponsor, Gov. Ann Richards says she likely will veto a bill that would allow trained and licensed Texans to carry concealed handguns if it passes. "My feeling about it is, guns kill people, and they kill little children, and they kill people with the best of intentions who are shot with their own weapon. To me, it's absurd," she said.

Federal agents refuse outside help

WACO, Texas (AP) - Lawyers battling to contact Branch Davidian cult members say they want to help end the standoff, but federal agents are using new tactics and say they have no immediate plans for outsiders to negotiate.

As the stalemate entered its 17th day today, negotiators said they were trying to veer away from "continuous, biblical" conversations with cult leader David Koresh and other Branch Davidian members.

"Frankly, we're not here to be converted. We're here to try and get this thing resolved peacefully," FBI special agent Richard Swensen said Monday.

Federal agents have had the Mount Carmel compound surrounded since a shootout between law officers and cult members Feb. 28 that left four federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agents dead and 16 wounded. At least two cult members died.

Swensen said the FBI has its own trained negotiators and right now is "not considering bringing in outsiders."

Also on Monday, a federal judge ruled against two Houston lawyers who are trying to communicate with Koresh and his top deputy in the compound, Steve Schneider.

U.S. District Judge Walter S. Smith Jr. denied motions filed by Dick DeGuerin, who was hired by Koresh's mother to represent him, and Jack Zimmermann, hired by Schneider's sister to represent him.

"I think at some point the FBI will realize we can help reach Mr. Schneider and help bring a peaceful end to this standoff," Zimmermann said. "If you were talking to your lawyer or the FBI, who would you trust?"

DeGuerin said he would appeal the ruling to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. DeGuerin also said Monday his advice to Koresh would be to turn himself in to authorities.

"Any lawyer would tell him that his only choice is to surrender and face what the courts have in store for him," DeGuerin said.

Some of the Sunday negotiations with Koresh and other cult members involved former cult members Kathy Schroeder and Oliver Gyarfas, who left the Mount Carmel compound Friday and are being held without bond as material witnesses in the case.

Gyarfas spoke with Koresh, Schneider and Gyarfas' sister, Aiesha Summers Koresh; Ms. Schroeder spoke with Schneider, Swensen said.

Swensen said both Gyarfas and Schroeder said they were being treated well and said they hoped other cult members would come out of the compound.

"None of these conversations appeared to move any of the occupants inside the compound any closer towards resolution," the FBI agent said.

McLennan County Sheriff Jack Harwell also spoke with Schneider and reportedly urged a peaceful solution.

In addition to cutting off Bible discussions, federal agents have introduced another tactic: bright lights that have illuminated the compound Sunday and Monday nights.

Swensen said the lights were to prevent gun-toting Branch Davidians from seeing federal agents behind barricades surrounding the compound.

Throughout last weekend, cult members tried to send messages to news reporters camped out about two miles from the compound. About midday a Sunday, a sheet was unfurled from a compound window with the printed words, "FBI Broke Negotiations. We Want Press."

Sunday night, a flashing light from that same window sent out the Morse code message, "SOS, SOS, SOS, SOS. FBI broke negotiations. Want negotiations from the press."

Koresh has told negotiators 17 children, 46 women and 42 men remain in the compound. Four adults and 21 children have left since the siege began.

Revitalizing downtowns to be studied

Ike Stevens Jr., the Hereford representative for Edward D. Jones & Co., will host a seminar Wednesday titled "Revitalizing Main Street: A Conference for Leaders in Business."

"This is a chance for business owners and city leaders to hear from some of the nation's leading authorities on ideas for revitalizing downtown areas," Stevens said.

The program will be broadcast live via satellite from E.D. Jones' St. Louis, Mo., headquarters. It will feature two experts on revitalizing downtowns across the country. They will discuss ways of enhancing the physical appearance of commercial districts, strengthening districts' existing economic base, and finding ways to expand downtown areas to meet new opportunities.

The two panelists are Kennedy Smith, director of the National Main Street Center in Washington, D.C., and Beth Spokas, executive director of the Pennsylvania Downtown Center. Because the program will be broadcast live, the audience will have an opportunity to ask questions of the panelists.

This program is the final broadcast in a three-part series designed specifically for small business owners. Edward D. Jones & Co. began offering continuing education to small business owners in 1991. With more than 2,000 offices in 47 states, it is the largest financial services firm in the nation in terms of retail offices.

The Hereford office is located at 508 S. 25 Mile Ave.

Former resident enlists

Randy W. Eaton, son of Bonnie M. Walker of Alvarado recently reported for active duty with the U.S. Army.

The Hereford graduate will take basic and advanced individual training at Fort McClellan, Ala. He has chosen the position of chemical operations specialist as his military occupational specialty, and has volunteered to serve a four-year tour of duty.

Eaton also qualified to receive the Army College Fund by scoring high on the military entrance test and choosing a critical job skill. After an initial soldier contribution of $1,200, he will receive $25,200 for higher education upon completion of his enlistment.

SSG D. Smith of the Amarillo Downtown Army recruiting station assisted Eaton in his enlistment.

42 tournament set Friday

Hereford Pilot Club members, from left, Marilyn Bell, Joyce Skelton and Sue Hyer, discuss the organization's 42 tournament planned from 7-10 p.m. Friday at the Hereford Community Center. The public is invited to participate in the benefit with tickets priced at $5 per person. All proceeds will be used to help purchase a security system for King's Manor Retirement Home. Refreshments will be serving during the tournament and Hereford Bucks awarded to winners.

At a formal dinner party, nothing but salt and pepper shakers should be on the table. All other seasonings and dishes are passed at the proper time.

Tanks got their name from the British, who developed them during World War I. They called them water tanks to conceal their real purpose.

Pilot members plan 42 tournament Friday

Members of the Hereford Pilot Club met recently in the Lamar Room of King's Manor Retirement Home to finalize plans for a 42 tournament.

The public is invited to enter the tournament which will be held from 7-10 p.m. Friday at the Hereford Community Center. Tickets are priced at $5 per person and may be purchased from a Pilot Club member or at the door. Refreshments will be served during the evening and Hereford Bucks will be awarded to the winners. All proceeds will be used to help purchase a security system for King's Manor.

Also, during the meeting, Linda Minchew gave the Pilot information and a report was given by the scholarship committee: Chairman Zula Arney, Carolyn Fry and Sharon Johnson.

The nominating committee will meet to nominate new club officers.

The club voted on four new members: Claudia Smith, Renee Hammock, Sharon Baxter and Elvira Enriquez.

The upcoming Pilot convention was discussed before the meeting adjourned.

Herd netters take 1st, 3rd in own tournament

Winning combination

Hereford's Kara Sandoval smacks the tennis ball as doubles partner Brooke Weishaar looks on during early action in the Hereford Invitational Tennis Tournament. The pair went on to beat Hereford teammates Sherry Fuston and Emily Fuston in the girls' doubles finals.

In Saturday's Hereford Invitational Tennis Tournament, Hereford finished first. And third.

Hereford's Maroon team, made up of Hereford's top players won the tournament on the strength of three wins and two finals appearances in the four brackets.

Hereford's White team, made up of second-line players, placed third behind Berger's Red team in the seven-team field.

Hereford Maroon scored 194 points, followed by Berger Red with 102; Hereford White with 88; Spearman with 54; Caprock with 52; Friona with 41; and Berger White with 26.

"It's a good feeling to win your own tournament, but it's a great feeling when both Hereford teams take first and third place," Herd coach Natalie Sims said. "Every single player on these teams proved themselves this weekend, and I am very proud and excited for them."

Hereford three winners were Jamie Kapka in boys' singles, Greg Coplen and Donny Perales in boys' doubles, and Brooke Weishaar and Kara Sandoval in girls' doubles. Weishaar and Sandoval beat Hereford teammates Sherry Fuston and Emily Fuston 7-6 (7-5), 6-2 in the finals, which ended at 10:45 p.m. Saturday.

The tournament's start was delayed until noon Saturday because of snow Friday and bitter cold Saturday morning. Perryton cancelled, but the other seven expected team played.

Bri Reinauer fell in the girls' singles finals, losing 6-1, 6-2 to Kimbre Townsen of Spearman. The rest of the Maroon team: Chris Lyles made it to the semifinals in boys' singles; Michelle Berend made it to the quarterfinals in girls' singles; and Richard Drager and Tom Jarecki went to the consolation semifinals in boys' doubles.

The White team was led by Gabriela Gamez and Carlos Cintra, who won consolation in singles, and by Paige Robbins and Natalie McWhorter, a doubles team that advanced to semi finals.

The White team's other girls' doubles team, Taylor Sublett and Traci Reiter, lost in the consolation finals. One boys' team, Pete Vargas and E.J. Lockmiller, lost in the semifinals.

Herd runs out of comebacks

Hereford's comebacks couldn't overcome the Whitefaces' own mistakes in a 12-11 loss to Canyon Monday at Whiteface Field.

Canyon scored a run on two Hereford errors in the top of the eighth inning, then retired the Herd in order for the first time in the game in the bottom of the inning.

That ended an offensive game that featured five lead changes. There was scoring in every half-inning except the bottom of the third, the top of the seventh and the bottom of the eighth.

Canyon, 9-0, is ranked No. 2 in all of Class 3A by the Texas High School Baseball Coaches Association/Houston Post poll. Hereford drops to 2-7.

Despite the exciting, back-and-forth nature of the game, Herd coach T.R. Sartor was left unhappy because of eight Hereford errors.

"On the positive side, we hit the hound out of the ball," Sartor said, "but on the other side, the reason for the loss was our defense. That's been a problem for some time. It's not that we can't, it's that we haven't got there yet for some reason or other. It's something we've got to go to work on."

Canyon wasn't perfect either; the Eagles committed six errors.

Canyon jumped ahead 2-0, but Hereford came back to 2-1 as Ralph Holguin--warming up for a big game--walked and scored on Russ Watts' single. Canyon got a single run in the second, then Hereford took a 4-3 lead on Holguin's three-run double, driving home Tab Hathaway, Rene Cano and Chris Brummett.

Canyon tied it with one in the third, then took a 6-4 lead with two runs in the fourth. Hereford promptly took the lead back with three in the bottom of the fourth. Brummett and Holguin reached on errors and came home on Richard Sanderson groundout and Jake Head's triple. Ruben Ramos singled in Head.

Canyon went back up 9-7 on Matt Hicks' RBI triple and Kevin Kraai's two-run homer back-to-back in the fifth inning. Kraai, a righthanded batter, sent the ball out to the opposite (right) field. It nearly hit the far curb on Ranger Drive.

Andrew Tijerina and Sanderson scored single runs on Canyon errors in the fifth and sixth innings, respectively, but Canyon kept the lead by scoring twice in the top of sixth. After six innings, Canyon led 11-9, but Herd reliever Sammy Casarez pitched the first 1-2-3 inning of the game in the top of the seventh to give Hereford the chance to win.

Hathaway led off with a single to left, and pinchrunner Chris Vallejo beat the throw to second on Stacey Sanders' grounder to shortstop. Brummett moved both runners over with a bunt and was called out on a close play at first base. Holguin, singled home both the runs to tie the game at 11-11, but he was stranded at second base.

In the top of the eighth, Canyon's Josh Conner reached on an error by Sanders, a mid-game replacement at short for a struggling Cano. A Canyon pinch-runner stole second, then tried to steal third and scored when catcher Vince Castillo's throw went into left field.

Hereford used three pitchers, and Sartor praised them.

"They didn't hit our pitching hard and Canyon's a good ballclub; they've been hitting the ball hard all year long," Sartor said.

Sammy Casarez got the loss despite not giving up a hit in his two innings. He did walk two batters, but not until Canyon's eventual winning run scored.

Ruben Ramos started the game and went 5 2/3 innings. He gave up 11 runs, but only six were earned runs. He allowed nine hits, including the homer in the fifth.

Ray Hastings pitched 1/3 of an inning, relieving Ramos in the sixth. Mike Gaines went the distance for Canyon, giving up nine hits, walking four and striking out seven.

Hereford will play in the Canyon Tournament this week, starting with a 9:30 a.m. game with Perryton on Thursday.

Hereford's junior varsity team played in the Plainview JV tournament on Saturday and ended up losing on a tie-breaker in the consolation finals. When the time-limit ran out, Hereford and the Randall JV were tied 5-5. The two were also tied on runners advancing to third base, but Randall had more advancing to second base, 10-8, and got the trophy.

In Hereford's first two games Saturday, they beat Muleshoe's varsity 10-9, then beat Bovina's varsity 10-1.

Hereford's Ronald Torres and Tanner Murphey were among the tournament MVP nominees.

The team also played Monday, sweeping a doubleheader in Dumas, 15-10 and 13-0. The sweep gives Hereford's JV a total record of 10-4-1 (in both A and B games).

Boys' golf team finishes fourth in Sweetwater

The Hereford boys' golf team finished fourth at a tournament Saturday in Sweetwater. The event was scheduled to go two days, but Friday's round was cancelled due to snow.

Hereford totalled 331, the best score of any team not from Midland. Midland High #1 won the tournament with a 317 beating city rival Midland Lee's 324. Midland High #2 was third with a 331. Abilene High was fifth with a 348.

Individually, Cory Newton fired a 79, good for fifth in the medalist competition, and Jayson Mines' 81 was sixth. Also for Hereford, Sabino Grijalva shot an 85, Clay Cantrell shot 86 and Tim Burkhalter carded a 91.

The girls' golf team was off last week. This Friday and Saturday, both teams will host the Hereford Tournament at Pitman Municipal Golf Course. More details will be available later this week.

Boys finish 2nd, girls 5th in Hereford meet

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Hereford's boys claimed second place and Hereford's girls came in fifth in Saturday's Hereford/Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Invitational Track Meet.

The sun eventually came out and shined on the meet, which didn't start until 1 p.m. because of cold weather. Several Hereford competitors warmed to the task of winning events.

Hereford's boys dominated the sprints, despite the absence of Petey Colvin, who was held out with a pulled muscle. Quincy Curtis won the 100-meter dash; Shawn Fogo won the 200; and Fogo, Curtis, Michael Ramirez and Chad Carlile combined to win the 400-meter relay.

For the girls, Brandy Dunn won the long jump, Jeannie Barrientez won the 300-meter hurdles and April Roddy won the discus events.

The boys had several second place finishes and placed in most events, allowing the team to finish just 13 points behind Clovis and stay ahead of Tascosa, Plainview and Pampa.

"We improved in most of the events," Hereford coach Ron Young said. "We competed really well—that's JV and varsity I'm talking about. Conditioning-wise, we've still got a way to go, but we ran better than we did last week, considering the weather."

"I was real pleased with our seniors," he said. "Our senior class competed real well."

The boys' JV finished third, behind Clovis and Tascosa.

"Our young kids, our freshmen on JV, did a good job running mostly against sophomores and juniors," Young said.

The girls tied for fifth with Palo Duro and finished behind winner Amarillo High, Pampa, Randall and Clovis. Plainview finished distantly in last.

Fifth place was disappointing for Hereford coach Martha Emerson.

"I think we competed well in some areas, but in some other areas, we are just not competing the way we should," Emerson said. "I feel like if you do things in practice, you should be able to do it in competition. I don't think we're doing that."

The girls' JV team won its competition, edging Amarillo High by eight points.

"I am pleased with the JV girls," Emerson said. "This was the first time they've gotten to compete, and I thought they did a good job."

Below are complete results from the varsity competition. Because of space restraints, look for the junior varsity results in Wednesday's Brand.

"We Reach Thousands Every Day!"
364-2030

That's difficult to say because you are as different as your substantial number would imply! You are one of the 4,100 households we're invited to every evening. That's quite a few. According to the most recent census, our township has slightly less than 5000 households.

Your vocation is part of a broad spectrum as well -- white collar, blue collar, owners, managers, cowboys, teachers, housewives, students and professional.

Yet, with all your individual complexities, your interest in local issues and news gives you and other readers a common bond which is separated only by your level of curiosity.

You are an informed, intelligent and often vocal audience, and we're happy to be a part of your household every evening!

Theater discussed by speakers

Program speakers, Jerry Williams of Canyon and Amy Gililand, discussed the "Art of the Theater" with Leta Kaul, at right, when members of the Bay View Study Club met recently in the Blue Room of the Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

Williams, Gililand talk about theater

"Art of the Theater" was the program presented by Amy Gililand of Hereford and Jerry Williams of Canyon when members of Bay View Study Club met recently in the Blue Room of the Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

The program speakers told about the theater, its importance, their experiences and also mentioned upcoming events, both locally and nationally. Williams, who performs in the musical production, "TEXAS", pointed out that those who have remained in the production as performers have a responsibility as leaders in the outdoor drama for keeping and continuing the perfection that has been attained because it is considered the most outstanding outdoor drama in the United States.

Williams also stressed that young people considering drama as a career are helped in understanding just what being in this profession means when they participate in the "TEXAS" presentation that requires 64 performances in the summer. He said that they have a good share of young people who go on in their profession of drama after their experiences in the musical production.

After discussing their experiences and the specific need for dedication to the art of acting, Williams concluded by saying, "The performers' talent is a gift from God and what we do is our gift back."

Williams announced that he has teamed with Ruth Halliday of Canyon to begin a storytelling event called "Patchwork" that will be available for booking in the Panhandle area.

Williams has completed his 26th season as Tucker Yelldell in the "TEXAS" production at Palo Duro Canyon. He is a graduate of West Texas State University and did intern work at Texas Christian University. He is a speech pathologist and taught the deaf and hearing impaired until his retirement.

Gililand, who has been an active participant in the Hereford Community Players, is now active in the Country Squire Theatre in Amarillo, as well as the Amarillo College Summer Arts Program, the annual summer melodramas at St. Thomas Episcopal Church in Hereford and the Amarillo Little Theatre where she is currently serving on the board of directors.

Vice president Beth Burran called the meeting to order and Virginia Garner gave a report of the nominating committee naming the following officers for the coming year: Pat Fisher, president; Lois Scott, vice president; Beth Burran, recording secretary; Margaret Bell, corresponding secretary; and Margie Mims, treasurer.

Members present were Virginia Bayne, Beth Burran, Roberta Caviness, Helen Eades, Mary Fraser, Virginia Garner, Nancy Hays, Elizabeth Holt, Nancy Josserand, Helen Langley, Majorie Mims, Ruth Newsom, Lois Scott, Edna Gault, Lois Gililand, and guests, Rosemary Smithers, Leta Kaul, Loraine Grant, Mary McCutcheon, Janette Ramey and Stan Knox.

Hints from Heloise

Q. I am about to begin a thorough spring cleaning of our home. One problem I noticed this year is white deposits on the outside of some of our windows. I know they are hard-water deposits, but can I clean the glass like I clean the tub tiles? — Deidra T., Canyon Lake, Texas

A. You can if you use full-strength white vinegar and a ball of nylon net. The vinegar will help to dissolve the deposits and the nylon net is great to help budge them from those stubborn areas.

Spray full-strength white vinegar on the window, let it set and then scrub with the nylon net. On stubborn areas, you may need to apply the vinegar several times, let it set, then follow with a little scrubbing using the nylon net.

Good luck with your spring cleaning! — Heloise

WOOD-BURNING STOVES

Dear Heloise: We have a wood-burning stove in our home and I keep a pot of water on top to help keep moisture in the air when it's in use.

All year long we collect lemon, orange and grapefruit peels in a bag in the freezer. In the winter when we use the stove, I put a few citrus peelings in the pot of water and it sends a wonderful aroma into the air throughout the house.

I change the water and peelings about twice a week or as needed. — Mrs. Arlene Franzus, Dawsonville, Ga.

WATERING INSIDE PLANTS

Dear Heloise: We have several plastic garbage containers which catch rain water for our indoor plants.

When the barrels are full, we fill cleaned, gallon-size plastic jugs with the water and then store it for later use. — Sarita Soto Zajicek, San Antonio, Texas

This helps to put a small dent in your water bill, plus rain water is better for your plants. — Heloise

PICTURE-FRAME HANGER

Dear Heloise: I found something I would like to share with your readers; it is for hanging up wood frames.

I wanted to hang up a spice rack and it didn't have a bracket on it to hold it on a nail, so I made one using the tab off a soda-pop can. After removing the tab, I nailed it (large opening up) to the back top portion of the spice rack. I used a short nail with a large head so it would hold the tab on but not go through the width of the frame.

When I hung the spice rack, I placed the large opening onto the nail in the wall. — Jessica Rogers, Van Wert, Ohio

Dear Heloise: Our cat's nails need occasional clipping. Will a pair of scissors work just as well as the nail clippers which are made for pets? — A Reader, Wauwatosa, Wis.

According to our friends at the American Veterinary Medical Association, you shouldn't use regular scissors. Instead of making a clean clip, scissors may tear or mash the nail. A nail clipper will work, but it's best to use a pet nail clipper. — Heloise

PANTYHOSE CONTAINER

Dear Heloise: I cut my pantyhose cartons in half and store the pantyhose in the upper half so I will know what shade they are. To know what carton to return them to after use, I color code them by sewing a few stitches with colored thread to the waistband at the back.

A large shoebox is ideal for stacking them and it fits into most drawers. — Lillian Puckett, San Antonio, Texas

Handwriting topic of study club program

"Handwriting Analysis" was the program presented by former Hereford resident, Mary Wiley of Canyon, when members of the La Madre Mia Study Club met March 11 in the home of Merle Clark with Susan Robbins serving as co-hostess.

Wiley, who has had instruction in handwriting analysis, has been involved in working with this skill in various situations for many years. She explained to members how much a person's handwriting reveals about their personality. She also demonstrated some of the ways letters and strokes are made and what this means.

During the business meeting with President Nicky Walser presiding, Kay Hall was voted in as a new club member. She will be welcomed during the March 25 meeting to be held at the Fellowship of Believers Church.

Following the program, refreshments were served to guests, Wiley and Christine Evans, and members: Lucy Rogers, Francine Bromlow, Linda Cumpton, Walser, Nancy Paetzold, Mary Herring, Georgia Sparks, Betty Taylor and Marlene Watson.

Upcoming golf tournaments discussed during meeting

The Ladies Golf Association met Thursday evening at the Hereford Country Club to discuss upcoming tournaments.

The association's opening scramble is set for March 27. Each lady who plays in this tournament will have their membership dues paid for by the organization. Also, the weekly ladies scramble will begin at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. The golf pro is offering free instruction at 6 p.m. that evening to all women who are members. The women's partnership tournament is planned May 1-2.

Also, during the business meeting with President Marcie Hughes presiding, plans were discussed for painting the disks that mark the yardage on the golf course.

All ladies interested in joining the association, are asked to call a member.

Those present were Hughes, Rose Marie Robinson, Evelyn Walterscheid, Mary Haun, Rhea Scott, Brenda Elliott, Teresa Albracht, Pat Goforth, Dee Hamilton, Mary Shelton, Colleen Meyer and Kim Buckley.

It takes more than blind luck to pin down the right home.

Sure, you could go on stumbling through the housing market. Running into dead ends and getting cornered with too little information.

Or you could nail down that new home the easy way. By consulting an experienced real estate agent.

An agent can point out options you may have missed. Get you inside interesting homes that you may never have seen otherwise. Even do a lot of the groundwork, so you don't have to.

Like researching financing packages. Checking through the multiple-listing service for homes that fit your needs -- and your pocketbook. Negotiating with the seller. And arranging for inspections. He or she will even be there at closing.

So instead of forging ahead without knowing what's out there, get some help from an expert. A real estate agent.

Inside The Hereford Brand, you'll find both qualified agents and valuable information about home buying. Everyday, the real estate classifieds list many properties and agents. And The Brand's Sunday housing section examines the latest market trends and housing opportunities.

With the right guide, hitting your mark can be child's play.

New numbers provide answer

Americans today are older, better educated, and vastly more ethnically diverse than their forefathers, according to "What the Numbers Say about the United States," a new, comprehensive pull-out section in the 1993 World Book Encyclopedia. The census-based section, which appears in the "United States" article, details who we are, what we do, where we live, and here we came from, and includes a number of surprising statistics.

Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor: "In 1890, 97.9 percent of all immigrants came to the U.S. from Europe—three-quarters from Western Europe and most of the rest from Eastern European Nations," said World Book vice president and editorial director A. Richard Hammet. "By 1990, fewer than 10 percent of U.S. immigrants were from Europe, with two thirds from Latin America, and another 22 percent from Asia."

Traffic Jam: The U.S. has more automobiles per capita than any other country in the world. In 1990, there were seven cars for every 10 people 15 or older.

The Boob Tube: Fewer than two percent of American households are without a TV—as recently as 1950, fewer than one in 10 U.S. households had a television. More than half of 1990s American households have cable, too.

"One of the most alarming findings for us, as an education-oriented company, was that, in 1990, a TV set was in use in each U.S. home for an average of seven hours a day," Hammet said.

City Slickers: Today, three-quarters of the U.S. population lives in urban areas, and more than half in metropolitan areas with a population of at least 1 million 200 years ago, only five percent of Americans lived in urban areas.

So long, Ozzie and Harriet: According to the World Book special section, in 1960, nearly half of American households consisted of married couples with children. In 1990, these households had decreased to a third of the total.

"Although you'd think the biggest change would be in single parent households, that wasn't the case," said Hammet. "Single parent households did grow—from 10 percent in 1960 to 15 percent today. But the percentage of unmarried individuals heading their own households more than doubled—from 13 percent to 29 percent."

Where Have All The Farmers Gone? At the beginning of the century, nearly half of all U.S. workers were involved in farming. In 1990, almost three-quarters were employed in service industries...and only three percent were left on the farm.

The Graduates: In 1910, one-quarter of Americans had completed less than four years of elementary school, fewer than 15 percent of the population had graduated from high school, and only one in 50 had earned a college degree. Today, 75 percent of Americans have completed high school, and about 20 percent are college graduates.

Live Long and Prosper: Since 1990, life expectancy for women has increased from 48 years to 79 years. Life expectancy for men rose from 46 years to about 72 years. "We're not expected to see the same kinds of gains for the next century, however," said World Book's Hammet. "Researchers are estimating that women's life expectancy will reach 85—78 for men."

The new pull-out on American demographics is just one of more than 70 new articles added to the World Book Encyclopedia for 1993. Others included biographies for President Clinton, United Nations Secretary General Boutros Boutros-Ghali and many others, as well as new entries on each of the nations created by the breakup of the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia. Overall, more than half the pages of the 22-volume set were revised for the 1993 edition.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just read the letter from "The Other Woman in Columbus, Ga.," who believes she isn't hurting anyone. You let her off much too easily. Apparently she thinks her affair is harmless. She should consider the following:

1. If she told her husband the truth, he would still have time to find a woman who would love him and play fair.

2. The same holds true for her lover's wife.

3. Sneaking around for 12 years and never getting caught is a miracle. She is playing with dynamite, and eventually her luck will run out. It will be devastating if she is caught by her husband or her lover's wife or, worse yet, by one of their children.

4. I found it interesting that the woman confessed she would suffer more if her lover died than if her husband passed away. If she becomes seriously ill, who does she think will take care of her? If she thinks it will be her lover, she is sadly mistaken.

Your correspondent sounds grossly selfish, as well as immature and immoral. I hope she sees this letter and decides to straighten up and fly right before her luck runs out and the roof caves in.—An Observer From the Sidelines in Holtsville, Long Island

DEAR LONG ISLAND: The Other Woman rarely shapes up and flies right before her luck runs out and the roof caves in. But here's your letter just in case there are a few out there who are walking in those same moccasins and are smart enough to accept the message.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in the letter and your response about the people in the next hotel room who were making a lot of noise long after most folks had turned in for the night.

I am a retired pilot who has had more than my share of drunk and rowdy hotel and motel neighbors next door and across the hall. My favorite episode is one I will call "Hurray for England."

I was staying in London and had an early morning departure back to the United States. About midnight, I was awakened by a couple in the room next to me who were arguing, shouting and throwing the furniture against the wall. After about half an hour, I abandoned all hope that they would pass out, and I telephoned the manager. I heard their phone ring. Soon after I heard their door slam. After that, there was no noise whatsoever.

When I checked out early the next morning, I asked the desk clerk, "What happened to the people next to me?" He replied, "We ordered them to leave. We do not permit that type of behavior in our hotel."

I have never forgotten that incident and have often thought it's too bad the hotel and motel operators in our country don't do the same.—Frisco, Texas

DEAR FRISCO: The British seem to have a lower threshold of tolerance for that while they do not toss out unruly guests on the basis of one phone call, they do respond promptly to such complaints, and almost without exception they accomplish their mission.

Shriners reach out

Ready, folks?" asked Nelson Cassis, M.D., chief of staff of Mexico City's Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children, to six hospital staff members as we prepared to leave for a two-day out-reach clinic in Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, located on the Rio Grande opposite El Paso, Texas.

The clinics are conducted there three times a year to reach children who need orthopaedic treatment in Ciudad Juarez and other northern Mexico states.

The clinic is located in the main fire station. Long before our clinic ever opened to treat patients, many parents and children—some of whom had come from as far as 600 miles away—waited patiently outside. By 8 a.m., the fire chief informed everyone here that the doors were ready to open.

On the first day, doctors examined 264 first-time patients and 32 follow-up patients. First-time patients who receive approval for orthopaedic treatment may be contacted to report to the Mexico City Unit or are referred to the consulting orthopaedist in Ciudad Juarez if surgery is not required. Follow-up patients are those who have already been treated and return to the clinic for continued observation.

For the two days, the doctors examined 490 children, nearly 100 of whom were approved for surgery and will have to travel to Mexico City.

A local doctor who participated in the clinic said, "This is hard work, but it is gratifying to know that Mexico City's Shriners Hospital considers it important enough to come up and assist the needy people of this area of our country. I'm sure many people who brought their children here are thankful, too, to Shriners Hospital."

Use of retreaded tires can help environment

Every year millions of worn tires add to the billions of tires already overflowing in our landfills. The use of retreaded tires can help to reduce this growing problem. And retreaded tires help conserve oil, since tires are mostly made of petroleum-based synthetic rubber.

Thanks to retreaded tires, North Americans are able to save over 400 million gallons of oil every year.

Retreaded tires have the same safety and performance characteristics as comparable new tires, which is why retreads are used by every major airline, on fire engines and other emergency vehicles, school buses, taxis, all kinds of trucks, and millions of automobiles.

Here are some interesting facts about retreads from the Tire Retread Information Bureau:

—Retreads are available in all radial sizes and designs, including steel belted radials.

—Retreads are an excellent way to save money and are widely used on pickup trucks, 4x4's and recreational vehicles.

—A large percentage of scrap rubber on the road comes from new truck tires, and nearly 100 percent is caused by misapplication (overloading and underinflation) and not by faulty workmanship. Retreads are not responsible for rubber on the road.

—The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency now mandates the use of retreads by all government agencies that purchase over $10,000 in tires during a year. The use of retreaded tires on government vehicles (federal, state and local) is increasing.

—Cities, states and other government agencies can make significant savings in tire purchases by switching to retreaded tires, while at the same time setting a positive example for the motoring public. This not only helps save taxpayers' money, it also reduces the number of tires destined for our already-overcrowded landfills.

AGRICULTURE

American agriculture is our nation's bedrock. It is the key to our continued strength. Without a strong agriculture, we cannot have a strong America.

FACT: America's food and agriculture system represents 16% of our nation's gross national product.

FACT: On average, Americans spend only 10% of their income on food, much less than in other nations.

FACT: America's food and agriculture system generates about 21 million American jobs—17% of the entire U.S. work force.

Help celebrate the production miracle of America's food and agriculture system.
