Six new members elected to boards

Voters reject school plan; pick Hutchison for Senate seat

Deaf Smith County voters followed a statewide pattern Saturday and rejected all three proposed constitutional amendments on school funding.

And, local voters joined the trend over the state in favoring Republican Kay Bailey Hutchison in the special election to fill Lloyd Bentsen's U.S. Senate seat. Hutchison edged Democrat Bob Krueger by just 497 votes (593,479 to 592,982) to lead the statewide ballot, with each taking about 29 percent of the vote and forcing a runoff.

The turnout was light here, with just 22.8 percent of registered voters going to the polls. With 8,482 potential voters, only 1,941 cast ballots in the county. Of the total votes cast, 35.9 percent made their picks in the early voting period.

Deaf Smith voters defeated Proposition 1, the share-the-wealth funding plan, by more than a 2-1 margin: 1,294 to 545. Proposition 2, the exemption from state unfunded mandates, was defeated here, 929 to 886. No. 3, the school bond proposal, failed here by 1,035 to 774.

Across the state, 63 percent voted against Prop 1; 51 percent against Prop 2, and 56 percent against Prop 3.

Hutchison led the senate race here by a large margin, garnering 635 votes to 348 for another Republican, Jack Fields. Krueger, appointed by Gov. Richard to fill the seat, ran third here with 308.

Voters had 24 candidates to choose from in the special senate race. Others getting substantial support here were Republican Joe Barton with 245, and Democrats Jose Angel Gutierrez and Richard Fisher with 64 and 63, respectively.

District court sentences are assessed here

Pleas of guilty to felony charges resulted in a probation sentence for one defendant and a term in the state prison for another man Monday during a session of 222nd District Court.

Judge David Wesley Gulley delayed formal sentencing of David Olivarez, charged with felony driving while intoxicated, until July. Olivarez faces a 17-year term in prison as well as a $500 fine.

On a guilty plea to escape, Guadalupe Segura Garcia was given a seven-year probation sentence in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. He also was fined $1,000.

A one-year extension of probation was given Julian Galvan after the court received a motion to revoke his probation. His original offense was interference with child custody.

Sentence of a defendant convicted of indecency with a child, was changed after a previous sentence was withdrawn. In a new trial, Robert Allen Treadway entered a plea of guilty and was ordered to a treatment center in Tom Green County. Intensive supervision was ordered until he enters the center.

In a court session last week, terms of probation of Danny Maeder were modified. He was ordered to the Midland Restitution Center for a period of three to 12 months.

Probation of Pedro Cervantez, originally convicted on two charges of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon, was modified in a Friday court session.

A six-year sentence in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice institutional division was assessed George Palacios on revocation of probation given on his conviction for third degree felony theft. The same sentence was given on revocation of probation on his conviction for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. The sentences will be served concurrently.

Probation was modified on the burglary conviction of Timothy Wayne Goodman. He was ordered to the Special Alternative Incarceration Program (boot camp) in the 10-year sentence.

City okays condemnation, zoning change; buys trucks

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Condemnation proceedings will continue on two buildings in Hereford but a third was delayed by the City Commission Monday evening to allow new owners time to start repairs.

A zoning change previously denied by the city's planning and zoning commission was approved, a paving assessment ordinance was passed, the city's fiscal year was changed by ordinance, preliminary plans for a pavillion in Dameron Park were studied and two new trucks for the health department were purchased.

The vote in last Saturday's city election was canvassed and the returns certified. Elected mayor, Bob Josserrand collected 989 votes. Silvana Juarez, Place One, received 75 votes, and Dennis Hicks, Place Three, 484. None of the candidates was opposed.

A request for a zoning change for 111 and 113 Alamo was approved by unanimous vote of the commission although the request was turned down earlier by planning and zoning. The change allows re-zoning from commercial to mobile home designation.

Commissioners approved an ordinance changing the city's fiscal year to Oct. 1 to Sept. 30. The change from a year beginning on May 1 will allow better budget planning, said officials, because the fiscal year will coincide with other taxing entities and conform to the State Property Tax Code.

The city now is operating on a short year because a new fiscal year began May 1 but will extend only to Oct. 1 when the change will be implemented.

A paving assessment ordinance was passed by the commission to allow residents of the Knight Street area and Appian Corporation to move forward with street paving. However, a similar project for a portion of Lafayette Street was rejected.

In proposed condemnation of three buildings, described as unsafe by the city inspector, Marvin Gaddy, the commission approved proceedings on a building at 329 Avenue B and one at 509 Blevins. In each case, though, owners have 30 days either to make needed improvements or demolish the structures.

The third condemnation proceeding was delayed when new owners of the property at 322 Avenue A asked for 90 days to bring the building up to city code.

A bid for lease-purchase of two new trucks for the health department was accepted from Dave Roberts Western International at a price of $91,036.80.

Other bids were from Summit White GMC, $91,552; Diamond Corporation, $91,626.36; Southwestern Equipment, $94,350; Dallas Mack Sales, $94,552; B&C Body Company, $94,957.90, and Stevens Chevrolet-Oldsmobile, $95,890.

Preliminary drawings for a pavillion to be placed in Dameron Park were reviewed with Royce Gooch of McMorris and Associates. Several suggestions made by commissioners will be incorporated in plans to be brought to the commission again on May 17.

Estimated cost of the pavillion as presented Monday night is $85,000, Gooch reported.

Financing for the park improvement will come from the fund established about two years ago. City water customers contribute $1 per month, if they choose, to the fund.

Approximately $83,812 now is available for park work. The fund grows by about $3,200 per month.

After a 14-minute executive session to discuss personnel, the commission re-appointed Dr. Howard Johnson as city health officer and named Jerry Koenig to the Board of Electrical Examiners.

Marsh, Flood; Manchee, Turner, Shackelford win school, hospital races

The Hereford Independent School District and Deaf Smith Hospital District boards will have a new look this year after four rookies were elected to five spots on the two panels on Saturday.

The city also will have two new faces, as two commissioners and a mayor were elected, all in uncontested races.

School board vice president Dennis Newton fell short in his re-election bid, coming in third among seven candidates vying for two at-large positions on the panel.

Board president John Fuston declined to run for re-election, freeing the second seat.

James Marsh and Joe Flood captured those two seats, outpolling their opponents in the seven-candidate race.

Marsh was top vote-getter, ending up with 704 votes. Flood was second, with 558 votes.

April cattle trading sets new record

The number of cattle traded in April set a new record, the Texas Cattle Feeders Association has reported.

The TCFA noted in its April 30 newsletter that the record was not the only one to fall during the month.

Last week, the association reported, the standing record of 123,337 head fell -- and fell in a big way -- as 137,020 head (121,170 cash sales and 15,850 contracted cattle) were reported sold.

That brought the April weekly average to 112,830 head per week -- by far the highest four-week total ever reported by the association.

"Continued reduced production in Kansas, plus rumors of increased export demand, seem to be driving the market," TCFA Market Director Jim Gill is quoted as saying. "With retailers booking a lot of Memorial Day needs this week, beef prices may level off or even decline somewhat."

In other TCFA Newsletter excerpts, the association is calling on members to express support to their state senators for DB 684.

The bill, which has passed the Senate Natural Resources Committee, would allow ag producers, including feedyards, to be exempt from regulation by the Texas Air Control Board if they are implementing good agricultural practices and are not adversely affecting public health.

Soliz named as 'Hispanic of Year' here

Joe Soliz Jr. was named Hispanic of the Year on Sunday during a Cinco de Mayo fiesta held here.

Soliz -- who is founder of the Hereford Public Service Association-sponsored fiesta -- was presented the award by past honoree Steve Cortez. He is the fourth honoree since 1989.

He was praised for his continuing involvement in the community and for standing as a role model to the Hispanic community.

A crowd estimated at 1,100 people watched as Cortez recited Soliz's accomplishments.

He is a member of the TRACS Committee for the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission and has served as an officer for the Deaf Smith County Crimestoppers board, the Hereford Public Service Association, the West Texas Trucking Association, Mexican American Democrats, Hereford Retail Association and YMCA.

The proclamation was the culmination of two days of activity, which included a softball tournament, band concert and food booths, all at Veterans Park.

Past award winners are: Edward Maldonado, 1989; Steve Cortez, 1990; and Margaret Del Toro, 1991.

Cortez was the 1990 recipient of the award, which is presented annually by the Hereford Public Service Association during its Cinco de Mayo celebration. Watching at second from right is radio personality and program MC Edward Maldonado, the 1989 award recipient.

Economic gauge plunges to lowest level since 1990

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government's chief economic forecasting gauge plunged 1 percent in March, the worst decline since the middle of the recession more than two years ago, the Commerce Department said today.

The drop, slightly steeper than predicted by analysts, was a sign of the dramatic slowdown that has gripped the economy this year, compared with a brief period of robust growth late last year.

The decrease was the worst since November 1990. It followed a modest 0.5 percent increase in February and a slight 0.1 percent decline in January. In December, at the end of the economy's strongest quarter in five years, the Index of Leading Indicators had leapt 1.7 percent, the best in a decade.

The index is designed to predict economic activity six to nine months in advance. Three consecutive declines are a good, although far from foolproof, sign of a recession ahead.

Analysts do not expect the economy to slip back into recession this year. However, they warn that growth is unlikely to reach the fourth quarter rate - 4.7 percent as measured by the gross domestic product - anytime soon.

Last week, the department reported first quarter GDP growth at an anemic 1.8 percent.

"We're in a very subdued economy. There's nothing very buoyant going on," said economist Laurence H. Meyer, a St. Louis-based consultant.

In a speech Monday, Treasury Secretary Lloyd Bentsen blamed the severe mid-March storm for much of the first quarter's weakness, calling the quarter "a winter pothole on our road to recovery."

However, economist Sung Won Sohn of Norwest Corp. in Minneapolis said the weather can explain only part of the economy's recent slippage.

"The economy is kind of scraping the bottom right now," he said. "The fundamental problem is the economy isn't creating enough jobs to support the kind of spending necessary to have even moderate economic growth."

In March, nine of the index's forward-looking indicators declined. In order of their effect on the index, from largest to smallest, the negative indicators were:

- A decline in building permits.
 - A rise in new claims for unemployment benefits, from a weekly average of 343,000 in February to 376,000 in March.
 - A decrease in the average workweek at factories, from 41.5 hours in February to 41.2 in March.
 - A dip in consumer confidence as measured by a University of Michigan survey, the third in a row.
 - A decline in orders and contract for new commercial buildings and business equipment such as factory equipment and computers.
 - A drop in new orders to factories for consumer goods.
 - A decrease in the inflation-adjusted money supply.
 - A speedup in delivery times from factories, a sign of falling demand.
 - A fall in the inflation-adjusted backlog of orders at factories, a sign the current workforce if having little trouble keeping up with demand.
- Two indicators were positive. Stock prices, as measured by the Standard & Poors 500, rose. The prices of raw materials rose, a sign of increased demand.

14 lottery winners divide $50 million

AUSTIN (AP) - James Grmwalt is all for sharing - really. Grmwalt is one of 14 people who had six lucky numbers in Saturday night's record $50 million Lotto Texas drawing. He had already begun spending the money in his head before learning he would receive only $3,471,816.

"I was a little disappointed to find out 14 people had won," Grmwalt, a roofer from Fort Worth, said smiling. "I don't mind a couple other winners - but 14? Actually, it's fine that we share it. It's nice that a lot of families get this kind of break."

The $50 million pot replaced the previous high in Texas of $21 million set last year and won by a woman from Schulenburg.

Grmwalt was one of seven winners who picked up an initial installment check of $173,959.00 on Monday. Seven other winners were expected to claim their winnings today, said Lottery Director Nora Linares.

Most of those collecting their cash Monday said they were surprised that 13 others had also claimed the $50 million jackpot.

Kenneth Armstrong, a 29-year-old instrument technician from Lake Jackson, had already planned to use $50 million to help family members retire.

"I almost cried," Armstrong joked Monday. "How many people do you know that could lose $47 million in one night? But after that I looked at the bright side, and it's pretty bright."

Obituaries

HOLLIE ALICE NEELEY

May 3, 1993
Hollie Alice Neeley, 92, of Hereford, died Monday. Funeral services will be held in Phoenix, Ariz., under direction of Mercer Mortuary. Hereford arrangements were made by Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home. Born in Tennessee, Mrs. Neeley lived in Phoenix before coming to Hereford in 1989. She married Virgil Harvey Neeley on April 26, 1917, in Burville, Tenn. He died in 1982. She was a member of Country Club Church of God in Hereford.

Survivors are four daughters, Mrs. G.N. (Viola) Treadway of Hereford, Rosie Griffith and Virgie Tucker of Phoenix and Eunice Ray of Sacramento, Cal.; three sons, Paul Neeley, Winston "Dick" Neeley and Marvin "Pete" Neeley, all of Phoenix; a brother, Plum Lewallen of Louisville, Ky.; 24 grandchildren and a number of great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren.

The family has requested that memorials be directed to Crown of Texas Hospice in Hereford.

For Roy Gomez, 54, of Ranger, it's a way to help pay off medical bills for six operations last year that resulted in the amputation of both legs due to bad blood circulation.

"I am kind of starting my life all over again," Gomez said. "I have to learn to walk again and now I have this. I was getting by on my disability check, but this will help tremendously. It was 90 percent God and 10 percent luck."

Betty Mayes, 53, of Houston, said winning would mean expanding her job as an ice cream truck driver.

"I may have to add three or four trucks," Ms. Mayes said.

Rudy Olivarez, a 36-year-old truck driver from Mathis, wanted to hurry up and get the check cashed Monday so he could begin partying.

"I need a drink," Olivarez said, smiling.

Olivarez said his wife, Mary, nearly threw his chances away. Mrs. Olivarez had tossed on old ticket in the garbage. But Olivarez said he wanted to play the same numbers on that ticket.

"I had thrown them in the trash," Mrs. Olivarez said. "They were a little wrinkled, but he said he wanted to use the same numbers, so I had to dig them out."

Lotto winners Theresa Morgan and her husband, Joel, who are from Mesquite, said they were relieved about not having to spend $50 million.

"Fifty million is too much," Morgan said. "We would take up too much time trying to figure out what to do with all that money, and we wouldn't have any time to enjoy it."

The winners, who will receive $173,571.43 each May 15 for the next 20 years, say they used mostly random methods in picking the lucky numbers - 7-10-11-23-34-43.

Those who claimed their winnings Monday, included:

- James Grmwalt, Fort Worth
- Mary Angell, Terrell
- Theresa Morgan, Mesquite
- Betty Mayes, Houston
- Rudy Olivarez, Mathis
- Kenneth Armstrong, Lake Jackson
- Roy Gomez, Ranger

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several years ago, I divorced my wife, "Bea" for "indignities and contemptuous behavior." Translated into more simple terms, it means she slept with almost every male in town. She was a beautiful woman, and men found her irresistible.

When Bea died, I was surprised to learn that she had named me executor of her estate. She was a former model, an excellent figure skater and even better on skis. In her desk, I found four "little black books." There are at least 200 names and phone numbers of men who lived in England, Switzerland, New York, Canada, Michigan, Vermont, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Vail, Aspen, California and one in Bangkok.

I also found the following note which must have just killed her. It was written by our son when he was 13. It read, "Mom, you are a hippokrit. I saw what you and Carl are doing on the couch when I came home from school yesterday. I love Dad, but I guess you don't."

Since her death, our son, "Don," has mentioned his mother only once—to tell me that he thought I did the right thing when I divorced her.

Don is in counseling and attending Alcoholics Anonymous meetings—to comply with a court order. Warn your readers who are cheating that their children will be the first to catch on. Like my son, they may be torn between conflicting loyalties and turn to alcohol and self-destructive behavior. Thank about this, please. I've thought about it plenty—South Jersey

DEARS.J.: Children always know more than you think, especially about things you'd prefer to keep secret. Thanks for the evidence.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is in response to "B.P. in Hollywood, Fla.," who complained that if he spent $100,000 on "tramps" and wrote it off as a business expense, it was OK. But if he gave his lovely daughter more than $10,000, the Internal Revenue Service would sock it to him.

As a tax accountant, I hear a lot of complaints about the IRS. However, both you and B.P. are blaming the wrong people. The IRS does not make the tax laws. It enforces the laws written by Congress and signed by the president. Unfortunately, once those laws are enacted, everyone blames the IRS.

If you and B.P. want to complain about the tax laws, write to your congressmen and your U.S. senators. They are the ones responsible for the tax laws, and they are the ones who can make changes.

Also, if B.P. plans to deduct $100,000 for "business expenses," he had better keep copies of all the receipts along with the name of the bimbo he wined and dined, the name of her company and the purpose of all those "meetings." The law, as enacted by Congress, specifically requires this information to document the deduction. Assuming B.P. can provide this documentation, only 80 percent of the amount is deductible. If enacted, President Clinton's tax proposals will drop this to 50 percent.—San Francisco Accountant

DEAR SANFRAN: According to Newsweek, when President Carter left office, there was a deficit of $78.9 billion. After eight years of President Reagan, the deficit was $212.3 billion. After four years of President Bush, the deficit is up to $331.8 billion. Somebody has to pay for this. That "Somebody" is you and me, bub. And, let us not forget it is Congress who

OK'd the expenditures.

Gem of the Day: If you had your life to live over again, you'd need more money.

Pack these safety tips

Vacations are supposed to be fun, exciting and relaxing. To avoid spending time in the emergency department try these safety and prevention tips before you travel.

-Refill any prescription medications and carry them with you in the original marked container. Avoid packing medications in luggage; if lost, they may be difficult to replace.

-Carry important medical information with you. Be sure to have the names and phone numbers of your doctor and pharmacist, your insurance ID cards, and up-to-date medical information on each family member.

Pack a first aid kit to deal with minor problems like sunburn, insect bites, and cuts and scrapes. Include a first aid guide, nonprescription pain relievers and antihistamines, elastic wraps, bandages and tape, antibiotic ointment, and rubber gloves.

Once you arrive at your destination, teach family members how to call for help during an emergency. Do you know the address where you are staying? Does the area have 9-1-1 service? If not, what is the emergency number?

If you're headed to a foreign country, check with your doctor or public health department regarding immunization requirements for that area. Dr. Kelley Hails, a specialist in emergency medicine at Wentworth Douglas Hospital in New Hampshire, suggests asking about the safety of the water supply. "About 30 percent to 50 percent of visitors to developing countries get diarrhea," she said. "If the water supply is questionable, drink only bottled water. Avoid fresh fruits and vegetables except those with a peel which can be removed before eating. If you do develop diarrhea, drink clear liquids for 12 to 24 hours to avoid dehydration. You should also avoid spicy foods, alcohol and caffeinated beverages which can aggravate the condition," she said.

When your children travel without you, or are left with a guardian, you need to leave a "consent to treat" form with the adult in charge. To obtain a "consent to treat" form, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to: American College of Emergency Physicians, 900 17th St., NW, Suite 1250, Washington, D.C. 20006.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I've read some interesting pet pal stories, but I have one that will beat them all.

My dog is half human and lets me know all the time. I call to BeBop on my speaker phone and comes to me, unless he's sitting in front of the TV watching his favorite game show.

I mean it! He actually watches one particular show every night and nothing will tear him away. — Dale, San Antonio, Texas

Dear Heloise: What can you do to prevent the matting of loose hair and dandruff in a hair brush? Simply take a short section cut from an old nylon stocking or its foot and slip it over the brush bristles.

Use the brush as usual, and after a few days of use remove the "tube" of nylon, wash it and replace it. The brush will remain free of collected hair and is easy to clean. — Lois Golding, Sequim, Wash.

Dear Hereford

Golden Plains Care Center, at 420 Ranger, has been a thriving part of the Hereford community for about eight years now, and regardless of the recent barrage of controversial statements surrounding our facility, we are here, and here to stay.

As many of you are aware, Golden Plains has been going through a management transition that has brought forth several positive changes and promises many more to come.

Our new owner, Nathan W. Davis, possesses the administrative knowledge, communication ability, and the financial foundation to ensure the efficiency and longevity of any long term care facility so we are proud to welcome him to the Golden Plains family.

Danny Wylie, our administrator, brings with him 13 years of administrative experience to our facility. However, Danny has also been directly involved in other areas of a long term care facility in the past, such as maintenance and housekeeping, giving him the insight and ability to better understand and help the staff, residents, and family to solve problems on a more personal basis.

Quality Care: has always been the standard at Golden Plains and even though there have been a few management changes, our thoroughly trained and motivated staff will still, as always, provide the best possible care for you and your loved ones.

Blea takes Region I-4A shot put championship

Hereford's Steven Blea will be going to the state track meet May 14-15 after winning the shot put event at the Region I-4A track meet Saturday in San Angelo.

Unfortunately, Blea will be the only one from Hereford who'll compete at the state meet. Petey Colvin and Krista West both came close, each finishing third in the 200-meter dash, giving them alternate status. Colvin will go to Austin with Blea and coach Ron Young in case one of the top two boys cannot compete.

West will not go to Austin, coach Martha Emerson said, unless they are notified early that one of the top two girls in the event cannot compete.

Blea shows a sign of hope for success at the state meet: he wasn't satisfied with his region-winning effort of 57 feet, 11 1/2 inches, even though it was four inches short of his personal best and beat the regional competition by nearly three feet.

"I felt I did pretty good, but I wanted to hit 60 feet," Blea said. "I don't feel there was enough competition."

"He didn't throw as well as he has been, but he threw well enough to win," said coach Bill Bridge, who coaches throwers along with Stan Carter. "He was upset about it but I said 'At least you won.' He's sitting about third in the state (in Class 4A) right now, so he's got a chance to get in the medal rounds at the state meet."

The Hereford boys had some bad luck with the 400-meter relay.

"We got there Thursday and we were going to work on handoffs, and Brandon Gearn pulled a hamstring in the leg that wasn't hurt," Young said.

Quincy Curtis, an original member of the relay who wasn't going to run because of his own hamstring injury, was pressed into service.

"Between the two, Quincy and Gearn, Quincy felt better," Young said. "We tried him on the anchor leg (in prelims). He just wasn't strong enough to finish the race. We had a 15-meter lead when we handed off the baton (to Curtis). Quincy held them off halfway down the track but that was it."

Hereford finished fourth in the prelim, but its time was not good enough to make the finals. Burk Burnett won the meet with a time of 42.10--a time Young said Hereford equalled at a meet in Dumas.

"We were pleased with the way (Curtis) competed," Young said. "We knew we were going in shorthanded."

STEVEN BLEA

Colvin had a time of 22.16 in the 200. He trailed Johnnie Smith of Mineral Wells (21.49) and Eric Tamplin of Forth Worth Poly (22.05). Young said Colvin was beaten by "two steps."

West turned in a time of 26.20 in the 200. That left her behind Tinesha Jackson of Arlington Heights (25.36) and Christie White of Wichita Falls Hirschi (25.75). Emerson said the difference between West and White was "kind of a bat of an eye."

Alternates usually don't get to compete, but Young said it does happen. He said that 14 alternates ended up competing at the boys' 4A and 5A regional track meets.

Colvin finished fourth in the 100 with a time of 10.90. The same boys beat him as in the 200: Smith in 10.61 and Tamplin in 10.75. Jerome Bryant of San Angelo Lake View was third in 10.83.

Hereford's other boy at regionals was Michael Ramirez, who's prelim time of 2:03 left him ninth and out of the finals.

Hereford's Jeannie Barrientez ran a personal best and school record 47.79 in the 300-meter hurdles, which was good for sixth place.

"It was real tough competition," Emerson said of the 300 hurdles. "The girls that won (Abby Baiza of Fort Stockton) broke the meet record (with a time of 43.29)."

April Roddy competed in the shot put and missed making the finals by two inches, despite a personal best effort of 34-8.

Herd to host Randall

The varsity baseball game between Hereford and Randall in Hereford, originally scheduled for Saturday and reset for Monday because of rain, has been postponed again.

The game has been rescheduled for 4:30 today at Whiteface Field, providing the field has dried enough to play.

Hereford is 4-4 in District 1-4A and 9-14 overall. Randall, 6-2 in district, can clinch a playoff spot with a win.

The other two District 1-4A games were played Monday. Borger clinched a playoff spot with a 8-5 win at Dumas, while Caprock picked up its first district win by beating Pampa 12-8 in Amarillo.

Borger leads the district with a 7-2 record, and Dumas and Pampa are both 4-5. That leaves Hereford in alone in third place going into today's game. Hereford has one more game after today--Thursday at Borger. Randall will have one more game left, against Caprock (1-8 in district, 3-21 overall).

Scrambles to start Wednesday

The first Wednesday Scramble of the year will be played this Wednesday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

The scrambles will be played every Wednesday, weather permitting, throughout the summer. Each scramble starts at 6 p.m. Entry fee is $5, plus green fee and cart.

Also at Pitman, free lessons for ladies will continue to be offered every Tuesday starting at 6 p.m.

Perfect double play

Jesse Castaneda, second baseman for the Blue Sage A's, turns a double play during the championship game of the Fifth Annual Cinco de Mayo softball tournament, held Saturday and Sunday at VFW Field in Veterans Park. The Blue Sage A's, a Hereford team, was beaten 5-4 by the Chicano Cubs of Clovis, N.M., when the Clovis team scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning. The tournament, which included seven teams, was completed on schedule despite heavy rains on Saturday.

Wade Boggs, while with the Red Sox, had a stretch of four seasons with at least 200 hits and 100 walks.

Hanson shuts out Sox

By The Associated Press

Under the rather severe standards established by Randy Johnson and Chris Bosio, Seattle's Erik Hanson was battered by the Boston Red Sox.

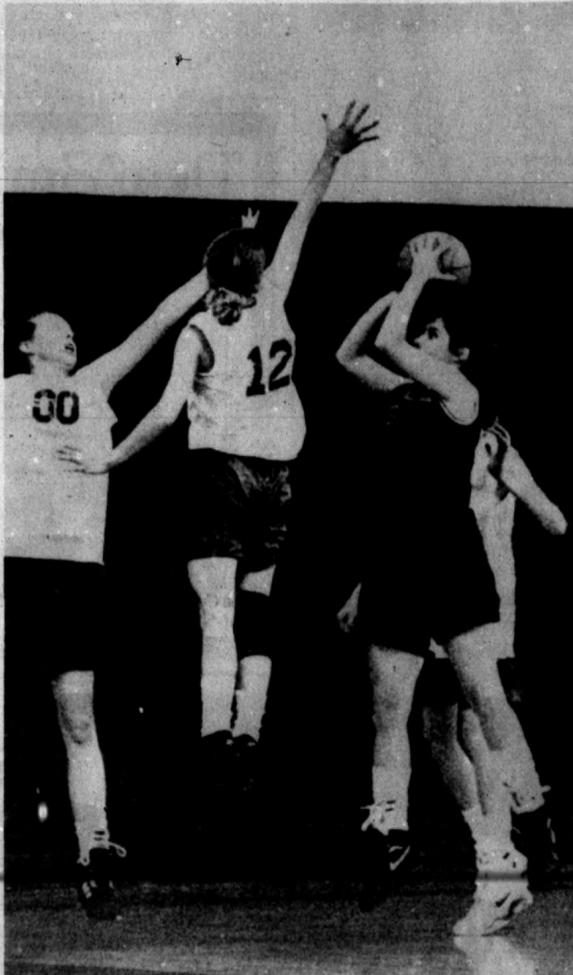

By any other standard, Hanson was terrific.

Although he allowed nine hits, Hanson spread them sufficiently to beat Boston 2-0 Monday and extend two impressive streaks.

In other games on an abbreviated schedule, Oakland beat New York 4-2 and Texas beat Milwaukee 9-2.

There were no games in the National League.

Nearly 500 kids compete in Cuby Kitchens Classic

The Cuby Kitchens Classic AAU basketball tournament concluded Sunday with eight teams being crowned champions in eight divisions.

About 500 boys and girls played for 52 teams from all over the Panhandle and eastern New Mexico. Age divisions for boys were 10-and-under, 11-under, 12-under and 13-under. For girls, the divisions were 12-under, 13-under, 14-under and 15-under.

Of the seven teams made up exclusively of Hereford kids, four made the championship game of its division, and one won.

The Herd outscored the Hoosiers 14-2 in the first quarter on the way to a 46-31 win in the 11-under championship game. The Herd got 18 points from Slade Hodges and 11 from James Miller. Cody Hodges added seven points, and Roy McCracken and Eric McNutt each chipped in five points.

One of several teams with a few Hereford players won another division. PPA Dumas, which included Herford's Mindi Davis and Crystal Mercer, took the girls' 15-under division title with a 52-38 win over West Texas Quicksilver. The latter team included Herford's Tarabeth Holmes, who had seven points in the losing cause.

UIL rules prohibit more than three players from one high school system playing on the same team. This rule affected several Hereford ninth- and eighth-graders who played in the tournament.

Three Hereford teams lost in their respective championship games: Hereford Heat in the girls' 13-under division; Whitefaces in boys' 12-under; and Prime Time in boys' 10-under.

Hereford Heat led Sportz Arena Jazz 16-13 at the half, but the opponents' 12-6 spurt in the third quarter gave them the lead for good, and Sportz Arena won 37-32. Katie Betzen led the Hereford team with 13 points, Misti Davis scored eight, and Julie Rampley added eight.

The Whitefaces got outscored by Dalhart 10-4 in the first quarter of the championship game, and the Hereford team never caught up, finally losing 34-25. Mitch Wagner scored eight points for the Whitefaces.

Prime Time also played a Dalhart team in the 10-under finals, with Dalhart winning 19-14. The key quarter for Dalhart was the third, when they outscored Prime Time 10-6. T.J. Torres was Prime Time's leading scorer with five points.

Two Hereford teams won in the consolation finals. Another team named Prime Time won consolation in the 11-under boys' division, getting 12 points each from Eric Ramos and Greg Ewing in a 34-20 win over the Bulls from Tulia.

Magic, a Hereford team, beat the Olton All-Stars 45-6 in the boys' 13-under consolation game. Magic led only 7-4 at the half but scored 26 points in the third quarter. Jeremy Scott led the team with 15 points, Jeremy Urbanczyk scored 12, and Spencer Power added nine.

The Slaton Sharks won the boys' 13-under championship, beating the West Texas Dream Team 65-30.

The seventh all-Hereford team, Hot Shots, lost in the consolation game of the girls 12-under division, falling 22-17 to Dream Team from Tulia. Amy Perrin scored six points for the Hereford team.

The Amarillo Lady Texans won the girls' 12-under division, beating the Lubbock Lady Bulls 31-19.

Two girls' teams with three Hereford girls each lost in the semi-finals. In the 14-under division, Heat lost 61-17 to the Lubbock Lady Bulls, who went on to win the championship, 44-39 over Technique, also from Lubbock. Heat included Danielle Cornelius, Kari Barrett and Cassie Abney, who scored six points in the loss.

In the 15-under division, Unknowns #1 fell 42-32 in the semi-finals to West Texas Quicksilver, despite four points each from the Hereford trio of Julie Cole, Heather Hodges and Brittney Binder.

Only one boys' team was made up partially of Hereford boys. Isaac Walker and Johnatan Keenan played for PPA Dumas. There were only two boys' 14-under teams--not enough for a division--so they played two games against each other.

PPA Dumas won both games in blowouts over Amarillo. Further details, including scores, were not available because the teams kept their own books independently of the rest of the tournament. One thing, though, is known: Walker, an eighth-grader at Hereford Junior High, had a slam-dunk in one of the games. Yes, a dunk.

Following are the rosters for all full Hereford teams (all Hereford players who played for mixed teams were listed above):

Prime Time (10-under boys): Cody Marsh, Chayse Rivers, Tyler Keeling, Ritchie Sanders, Tyler Neilsen, Jacob Power, Eddie Ruiz and

T.J. Torres. Coach: Leo Brown.
Herd (11-under boys): James Miller, Slade Hodges, Cody Hodges, Roy McCracken, Eric McNutt, Craig Campbell and Kurtis Flood. Coach: Burl Miller.

Prime Time (11-under boys): Tim Dudley, Jeremy Williams, Eric Ramos, Joseph Valdez, Landin Noland, Eddie Lacey, Justin Carroll, Greg Ewing. Coach: Jennifer Bullard.

Whitefaces (12-under boys): Brent Bernad, Mitch Wagner, Brian Mathews, Cal Wallace, Chris Corey, Spencer Caviness, Cody White, Shane Decker and Brian Cagle. Coach: Clay Wallace.

Magic (13-under boys): Jeremy Urbanczyk, Bryant McNutt, Jeremy Scott, Tate Head, Cory Marsh, Ty Boggeman, Spencer Power, Anthony Lopez and Jantzen Louder. Coach: Robert Scott.

Hot Shots (12-under girls): Aja Albair, Lindy Carlile, Melanie Casarez, Kristin Cole, Toni Eicke, Kristin Fangman, Meredith McGowan, Amy Perrin, Tisti Tice, Kasey Torres and Melissa Meyers. Coach: Mike Albair.

Hereford Heat (13-under girls): Myca Langgood, Staci Betzen, Kendra Wright, Jamie Marquez, Julie Rampley, Kasha Kimball, Makeisha Rivers, Nichole Albracht, Briar Baker, Misti Davis and Katie Betzen. Coach: Jackie Mercer.

Hornets take 2-1 lead over Celts

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

The Charlotte Hornets have a short NBA history, having joined the league just five years ago. And, as might be expected, their first home playoff game had an historical bent.

Dell Curry, one of the first players chosen by the Hornets' in the expansion draft, and Larry Johnson, Charlotte's No. 1 pick two years ago, combined Monday night to lead the Hornets to a 119-89 victory over the Boston Celtics and a 2-1 lead in their best-of-5 series.

In the only other game Monday, the Houston Rockets defeated the Los Angeles Clippers 111-99 to lead 2-1.

Tonight, Chicago will be at Atlanta, New York at Indiana, Seattle at Utah and Phoenix at the Los Angeles Lakers.

Rockets 111, Clippers 99

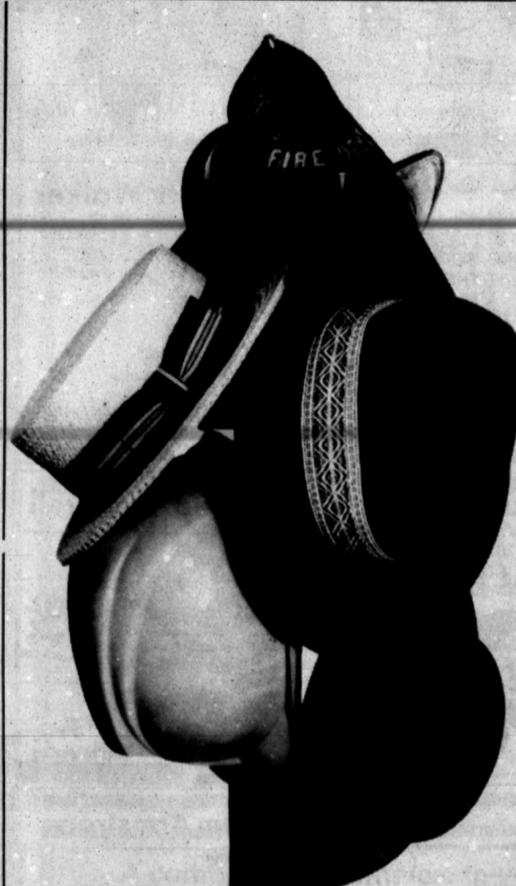

In Los Angeles, Hakeem Olajuwon scored 32 points and Otis Thorpe had 22 in Houston's victory. The Rockets lead 2-1 in the best-of-5 series.

With a dominating inside game, Houston defeated the Clippers for the sixth time in their last seven meetings. Los Angeles scored just eight points in the first seven minutes of the game.

Danny Manning led Los Angeles with 23 points and Mark Jackson added 21.

The Rockets pulled out to a 16-8 lead and Los Angeles got no closer than six points the rest of the game. Houston led 55-40 at halftime and, with Olajuwon scoring 16 points in the third period, was ahead 88-71 heading into the final period.

1993 National Stuttering Awareness Week May 10-16

NBA All-Star Bob Love has been named chairman of 1993 National Stuttering Awareness Week campaign, May 10-16.

Love has known first-hand the experiences of someone who stutters. He has overcome considerable frustrations and setbacks since his glory years with the Chicago Bulls. Now he is director of community relations for the NBA franchise following a painful but successful transition to the business world.

"Bob is more than a great basketball star and community leader," said Jane Fraser, president of the non-profit Stuttering Foundation of America. "We asked him to serve as chairman because his courage in coping with his speech impediment serves as an excellent role model for the three million Americans who also stutter."

National Stuttering Awareness Week was established by Congress in 1988 to promote public information and understanding concerning this complex speech disorder.

"I know how important it is to receive speech therapy at an early age," said Bob Love in a recent interview. "My grandmother Ella used to swat me in the mouth with a dishrag and say 'Spit out those words, Robert Earl,'" he recalls. "That approach didn't work very well, but it underscores the public's misunderstanding of stuttering that is still prevalent."

Difficulty in finding a job for those who stutter is also nothing new to Bob Love. In the 1970's, he made the NBA All-Star Team three times and led the Chicago Bulls in scoring seven straight years. But he still stuttered, and there were fewer media interviews or endorsements than a player of his caliber would normally receive.

"After my retirement from the NBA, reaction by potential employers to my speaking difficulty turned the usually tough post-sports career adjustment into a living nightmare," Love relates. "I had a college degree and a well-known name, but personnel managers seldom call back someone who stutters on the telephone. For years, I was either in poor-paying jobs or out of work."

By the end of 1984--some seven years after millions had watched him play NBA basketball--Bob Love took the only job offered to him, he would wash dishes and bus tables for a Nordstrom department store in Seattle.

Yet it was here that Bob Love's story began a slow, grinding and difficult turn for the better. First there was the corporate manager of Nordstrom's restaurants, who offered to have his company pay for speech therapy. Enter speech-language pathologist Susan Hamilton, who would guide Love through countless hours of therapy in which he learned to manage his moments of stuttering and speak more fluently.

"Gradually, I learned how to work on my speech and to prepare mentally for speaking situations," Love says today. "I began accepting a few speaking invitations, and told whoever would listen about the trials of those who struggle with stuttering."

"My message to young people who stutter and their parents is direct: Don't wait, like I did," Love emphasizes. "As the Stuttering Foundation points out in its publications, speech therapy during childhood has the greatest chance of success."

Today, the comeback is complete. Bob Love rose from dishwasher to Nordstrom's corporate director of health and sanitation for its restaurants nationwide. In 1988, the National Council on Communicative Disorders awarded him its Individual Achievement Award.

And, in 1990, the NBA Players Association chose Bob Love to receive the Oscar Robertson Award for achievement outside basketball. Today, he is a full-time public spokesperson for the Chicago Bulls.

"There is no 'cure' for stuttering, but therapy and hard work often can help those affected to speak more easily and fluently," notes the Stuttering Foundation's Jane Fraser. "Bob Love joins an impressive list of Americans who have not let stuttering hold them back from important careers and rewarding lives. Now he is helping others."

For free information on stuttering, including the new National Stuttering Awareness Week brochure featuring Bob Love, call the toll-free Hotline on Stuttering at 1-800-992-9392, or write the Stuttering Foundation of America, P.O. Box 11749, Memphis, TN 38111-0749.

Hereford CCA season concluded

Concerteers open to local CCA members' daughters

In conjunction with the Hereford Community Concert Association's membership drive, membership into Concerteers is being extended to members' daughters who will be Hereford High School juniors.

Those choosing to be members of Concerteers are required to make a two-year commitment and need to be present at each CCA concert.

The Concerteers elect a board of officers including president, vice president, secretary, publicity chairman and telephone committee.

The jobs of the Concerteers members are to arrive approximately 30-45 minutes before each concert to distribute programs and assist performers before and during the concert. Also, posters must be distributed at local businesses before a concert.

The Concerteers organization was established over 10 years ago by the Kathlee Palmer after she attended the Amarillo Symphony and witnessed the organization's daughters, the Symphony Bells.

Young ladies wishing to become a member of the Concerteers are asked to contact a CCA member.

Energy-efficient mortgages make house buying easy

Home buyers today have a relatively unknown resource available to them that can make purchasing the house of their dreams a reality. Called energy-efficient mortgages (EEMs) by lending agencies, these mortgages enable buyers of energy-efficient homes to buy more house for their money, according to the Edison Electric Institute and the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, two national electric utility trade associations.

If you are a first-time home buyer, EEMs may also mean being able to qualify for a new home that you would not have been able to otherwise. You can also use an EEM to finance energy-saving home improvements in your present home.

It's true that a house built to high energy-efficiency standards can lower your monthly utility bills. As a result, more of your income can go to the monthly mortgage bill instead. This is why an increasing number of lenders should be more willing to offer EEMs.

EEMs work by extending a borrower's standard maximum debt-to-equity ratio of 28 percent to 30 percent when purchasing an energy-efficient home. This ratio is the maximum percentage of your gross income that a bank will allow you to dedicate each month to the PITTI-principal, interest, taxes, and insurance.

The five secondary mortgage insurers--Federal National Mortgage Association (Fannie Mae), Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (Freddie Mac), Federal Housing Administration (FHA), Department of Veterans Affairs (DVA), Farmers Home Administration (FmHA)--have agreed to buy EEMs from the primary lenders--local banks and other lending agencies. But despite being available since the early 1980s, EEMs today remain unknown to many local banks and to most home shoppers; only a few were underwritten last year.

Many electric utilities across the country now offer new-home construction programs. These programs encourage builders and remodelers to build to high levels of energy efficiency. The programs can also help you provide certification of energy efficiency for your new or existing home. Call your electric utility's residential marketing department. They have more information about using electricity efficiently to save money and help protect the environment.

Spring fashions discussed

Lajeane Henry, owner of The Pants Cage, gave a program on spring fashions when members of Toujour Amis Study Club met recently at The Atrium.

Henry emphasized that bright colors and denim are the main colors for this spring and said the wrap skirt and sleeveless tops and blouses are a fashion must.

Following the program, a slate of officers was presented. Nominees will be voted on at the next meeting.

Refreshments of cookies and coffee from Vera's Coffee Shop were served to Judy Barrett, Trish Brown, Kim Bigham, Cindy Black, Melinda Bridge, Patti Brown, Kim Buckley, Tami Charest, Diana Griffin, Kathy Carthel, Tonja Horrell, Lisa Formby, Leisa Lewis, Kyla McDowell, Shelly Moss, Donna West, Lauri Paetzold, Kim Porter, Becky Reinart, Jill Savoini, Sarah Lawson, Cindy Simons, Nena Veazey and Marsha Winget.

For a refreshing salad, toss together a can of sliced yellow cling peaches, green onions, halved cherry tomatoes, enoki or other sliced fresh mushrooms, and assorted salad greens. Serve with your favorite dressing.

A promise made is a debt unpaid.

Unlock value of landscape

Ever drive down a residential street and one home in particular stops you in your tracks? It sends your senses into visual overload - statuesque trees, cascades of flowers and well groomed shrubs.

Healthy trees and ornamental plants can:

-Save energy. One large tree has the same cooling effect as 15 room-size air conditioners. Mature trees shading homes cut energy costs by 18 percent to 50 percent, reducing bills by $100 to $200 per home per year.

Shrubs and ornamentals moderate cold temperatures: they reduce heat loss and build an insulating buffer of air around buildings. Ornamental plants also absorb heat and provide shade, reducing solar radiation and reflection.

-Improve the environment. One average, mature tree absorbs 26 pound of carbon dioxide annually and gives off enough oxygen for a family of four to breathe for a year.

Healthy plants intercept rain, softening the impact that might otherwise loosen soil particles and wash them away. In addition, plant tissue absorbs gaseous pollutants. Plant leaves, roots and the soil combine to act as a highly effective air scrubber and cleaning machine.

-Brighten people's moods. Studies have found that plants positively affect human health by reducing stress and increasing a sense of well-being.

Hospital patients with a view of plants have been found to recover more quickly, require less potent painkillers and experience fewer complications than those without a view.

-Increase property values. Healthy trees can add up to 20 percent to the value of a home. Realtors report that attractive landscaping, or "curb appeal," can speed up home selling time by five to six weeks. Furthermore, homeowners can expect to recoup 100 percent to 200 percent of their investment in landscaping.

Attractive landscapes don't just happen. Successful landscapers depend on a mix of chemical controls and cultural practices. Specialty pesticides, combined with timely irrigation, fertilization, weeding and aeration of the soil, can help you achieve healthy, thriving trees and ornamental plants.

So, the next time an attractive landscape gives you cause to pause, remember the beauty is much more than skin deep.

Thank You, Folks

I offer my heartfelt appreciation for all the flowers, gifts, cards, phone calls and kind words regarding my recent retirement. Thanks to all the Carriers and their families that made my job so easy and to all the many customers that made it so interesting.

Retirement is great!

School finance backers dare opponents to develop new plan

AUSTIN (AP) - Backers of a school finance plan that was rejected by voters challenged their opponents Monday to come up with an alternative that will pass muster with a judge who has threatened to stop state funding.

"We don't want philosophy. We don't want generalities. We want plans," said Senate Education Committee Chairman Bill Ratliff, R-Mt. Pleasant.

The Legislature faces a June 1 court deadline to come up with a constitutional school finance plan. State District Judge F. Scott McCown has vowed to cut off state aid if the Legislature fails.

According to the state, 168 school districts would have a combined deficit of $107.5 million by Aug. 31 if state aid were cut June 1.

The report showed that all school districts currently have a combined cash balance of more than $4 billion. McCown has set a hearing for 9 a.m. Thursday to discuss proposed methods of stopping funding.

On Saturday, voters rejected a share-the-wealth finance proposal that was touted by state leaders as a way to satisfy a Texas Supreme Court order to equalize funding between property wealthy and property poor school districts.

GVERNOR GRIEVANCES
Private attorneys defending Gov. Ann Richards in lawsuits filed by former state employees have charged the state nearly $200,000. That is four times the amount of the original contract for outside legal help. The Austin law firm of Minton, Burton, Foster & Collins is defending Richards and several Texas Department of Commerce employees in two lawsuits filed by former Commerce workers.

REGULATING TATTOOS
The Texas House has tentatively approved a bill that calls for the regulation of tattoo parlors. The measure by Rep. Dianne Delisi, R-Temple, would require tattoo parlors to get a license, follow health regulations and keep information on those who get tattoos. Tattooists could not give tattoos to anyone under 18-years-old, or anyone who is under the influence of drugs or alcohol.

AUSTIN — A conference committee of five House members and five senators started last week trying to bridge a $2.2 billion gap between their chambers' proposed budgets for the 1994-95 biennium.

The House has proposed a $67.4 billion budget, while the Senate has proposed a $69.6 billion budget for the two-year period that begins Sept. 1.

The biggest difference is social services: The House would cut funding for Aid to Families with Dependent Children, battered women's shelters and other programs.

Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and co-chairman of the conference committee, predicted it would take two to three weeks to reach a compromise budget.

Veto Vow Kills Gun Bill

In the wake of a promise by Gov. Ann Richards to veto the concealed handgun bill, the Senate decided not to consider the measure.

After the Senate met in a 30-minute, private caucus, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock said, "I asked senators as a personal favor to me not to take up the handgun bill for the simple reason that the governor is going to veto it."

As passed in the House, the bill would only become law if it won the majority of Texans' votes in a November referendum, but some elected officials said the referendum vote would have been unconstitutional.

"Our major issue here in Austin is schools. It is the state budget. Considering this bill would be a waste of our time," Bullock said.

Income Tax Ban OK'd

A proposal to ban a personal income tax in Texas unless it were endorsed by voters was approved last week by the Senate, with the only dissent coming from a Republican who consistently opposed higher taxes. The vote was 28-1.

Approval in the House, where it is expected to have strong support, would put the proposal on the Nov. 2 constitutional amendment ballot.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, who failed to generate much support for an income tax two years ago, said it was "high time" Texans had the opportunity to decide how they are taxed and how those taxes are used.

Sen. John Leedom, R-Dallas, the only senator to vote against the proposal, warned that Bullock's plan would "open the gate for a personal income tax" by dangling the prospect of property tax relief before the voters.

Sen. Jane Nelson, R-Flower Mound, abstained from voting on the Bullock proposal. She said she didn't want to vote against the income tax restriction but opposed it because it "potentially sets up a scenario in which an income tax can be sold, not banned." Sen. Peggy Rosson, D-El Paso, was absent.

Laney Eyes Second Term

With about five weeks left in his first legislative session as presiding officer of the Texas House, Speaker Pete Laney, D-Hale Center, appears to have a second term cinched.

Speaker pro tem Tom Uher, D-Bay City, says he has collected "80 or 90 signatures" on pledge cards to re-elect Laney in 1995. To win the speakership, a House member needs 76 votes in the 150-member chamber.

Laney, who was elected in January on a reform platform, discouraged the effort to collect pledge cards on his behalf.

But Uher said he only began collecting the cards "after members were coming up saying, 'Where can I sign a pledge card for Pete?'"

Insurance Reform

The House has approved a health insurance reform bill that supporters say will make insurance more affordable and accessible to small businesses.

"People in this state will never lose their insurance again when they're sick," said Rep. Mike Martin, D-Galveston, after his bill won a 126-13 vote of approval.

If approved by the Senate, small businesses — those with three to 50 employees — would be able to choose from five types of health plans, with varying levels of benefits and costs.

Employers would also be able to form purchasing cooperatives or join a state cooperative to negotiate for lower rates.

Other provisions would:

- Prevent insurers from cancelling policies except in cases of non-payment or failure to honor contracts.
- Require health care providers to use standard forms in order to hold down administrative costs.

Ambulance-Chasers

During its first month of operation, a toll-free hot line to report "ambulance-chasing" lawyers has given investigators from the State Bar of Texas more than 50 leads.

At least 175 people have called the hot line since it was installed March 19, said Jim McCormack, the bar's general counsel. The hot line, (800) 633-6630, is part of the agency's campaign to fight ambulance chasing, also known as improper solicitation or barratry.

Insurance Rates Frozen

Texas insurance regulators voted to freeze the benchmark property insurance rate at the current level.

But the State Board of Insurance said insurers can charge from 30 percent above the benchmark to 30 percent below. Currently, they can charge as much as 25 percent above the benchmark. Insurance companies had sought an 8.5 percent increase in the benchmark rate.

NEW YORK (AP) - Bob Hope's 90th birthday tribute truly will be a once-in-a-lifetime affair, but one celebrity is passing up the party - Jerry Seinfeld is finally taking a holiday.

"Jerry hasn't taken a vacation in 14 years," his manager, George Shapiro, says in the May 10 issue of People magazine.

The television special honoring Hope taped Saturday and is to air May 14. Guests include Johnny Carson, Jay Leno, Whoopi Goldberg and George Burns.

But Seinfeld was in Europe and doesn't plan to return until this week, in time for a show Friday in Atlantic City, Shapiro said.

What is the sitcom star doing on his belated holiday? "Among other things, he was looking to buy a Porsche in Stuttgart, Germany," Shapiro said.

The High Priest asked Stephen, "Are these accusations true?"

This was Stephen's lengthy reply: "The glorious God appeared to our ancestor Abraham in Iraq before he moved to Syria, and told him to leave his native land, to say good-bye to his relatives and to start out for a country that God would direct him to."

"So he left the land of the Chaldeans and lived in Haran, in Syria, until his father died. Then God brought him here to the land of Israel, but gave him no property of his own, not one little tract of land. However, God promised that eventually the whole country would belong to him and his descendants—though as yet he had no children!

"But God also told him that these descendants of his would leave the land and live in a foreign country and there become slaves for 400 years. 'But I will punish the nation that enslaves them,' God told him, 'and afterwards My people will return to this land of Israel and worship Me here.'

"God also gave Abraham the ceremony of circumcision at that time, as evidence of the covenant between God and the people of Abraham. And so Isaac, Abraham's son, was circumcised when he was eight days old. Isaac became the father of Jacob, and Jacob was the father of the twelve patriarchs of the Jewish nation.

"These men were very jealous of Joseph and sold him to be a slave in Egypt. But God was with him, and delivered him out of all his anguish, and gave him favor before Pharaoh, king of Egypt."

Fans beat the heat the economical way

The way most people look at it, there's no trick to beating the heat in summer - as long as you're willing to pay the price.

There is an alternative, however. More and more homeowners are finding that fans can provide them with the cooling effects they seek, without resulting in overwhelming utility bills.

There are a wide variety of powered ventilators currently available. Properly selected and installed, they can create an indoor environment which remains comfortable all summer long.

Whole-House Fans

Foremost among the energy-saving powered ventilators is the wholehouse fan. Situated near the center of the home, the fan can be used during the summer months to draw in cooler evening air through screened windows and doors, creating a pleasant and comfortable indoor environment. The fan also produces breezes that can make the temperature seem two to eight degrees cooler than it actually is.

An effective cooling device at temperatures well into the eighties, the whole-house fan can yield substantial energy savings as it takes much of the cooling burden off of the air-conditioning system, yet can be operated for as little as one-tenth of the cost of air-conditioner operation. Useful in all climates, the whole-house fan can replace the air-conditioner in some areas of the country.

The Home Ventilating Institute (HVI), a voluntary organization of manufacturers of static and powered home ventilating equipment, offers a simple method for proper selection of whole-house fans. HVI labels displayed on members' products, show the certified capacity of the fan as measured in cubic feet of air moved per minute (CFM). To determine the necessary CFM rating for a whole-house fan, multiply the interior square footage of the home (excluding garage, attic or basement) by three. In warmer, more humid climates, a larger capacity is needed, and the square footage should be multiplied by four in those areas. The resulting number is the CFM rating for the fan needed for the home.

It is important for the homeowner to provide sufficient static vents for the whole-house fan to function properly. To determine the necessary vent area, the CFM rating should be divided by 750. The resulting number will be the square feet of static vent area which must be provided.

Ceiling Fans

Ceiling fans, devices which have been around since the turn of the century, have enjoyed a rebirth in popularity recently, largely because of their decorative appeal. However, the fans also offer significant cooling and energy-saving benefits to homeowners.

Research has shown that ceiling fans have the ability to make room occupants feel comfortable at temperatures up to 85 degrees Fahrenheit. The ceiling fan's ability to provide cooling effects at temperatures into the mid-80s is of notable significance in terms of energy and cost savings. The fans are extremely economical to operate and can yield substantial savings when used to supplement air-conditioning. Based on 1982 national averages, an article in "Consumer Reports" estimated that the cost for operating a ceiling fan for eight hours would be one-half cent.

The fans are available with shortstem assembly, allowing them to fit easily into rooms with standard eight-foot ceilings, with seven feet of clearance. The fans range in size from 36 to 52 inches across. The smaller models are designed for use in tight quarters such as hallways, small offices, stairways, dining rooms, apartments and small houses where space is at a premium. The larger fans are suited to living rooms, play rooms, large porches, basements, dens, and thanks to truly silent operation, bedrooms.

HVI cautions consumers to be very careful in selecting a ceiling fan. The organization notes that some fans are built strictly as decorative items and are of almost no value as air-circulating devices. Consumers are urged to determine that the fan has been sturdily constructed to withstand the rigors of operation before they make their purchase.

Attic Fans

During the summer months, as the sun beats down upon the roof of the house, air in the attic can become extremely hot. As the heat builds up, it can penetrate to the house below, causing discomfort or putting an added burden on a home's cooling system. Further, attic heat build-up poses a threat to insulation and to structural materials, causing serious deterioration of these items. The problem continues in the winter when water vapor produced throughout the house rises to the attic and collects there. It can penetrate insulation, seriously impairing its efficiency, and can also cause damage to other materials in the roof and attic.

The ideal way to combat both unwanted intruders is with a powered attic space ventilator. Mounted on the roof or gable wall, the ventilator removes hot or moist air, replacing it with clean, fresh air from the outside. Equipped with a thermostat, the ventilator automatically comes on whenever the attic temperature exceeds safe levels. In the winter, ventilators equipped with a humidistat activate automatically when moisture in the attic air reaches an unacceptable level.

To determine the necessary CFM rating for an attic fan, HVI recommends multiplying attic floor area by 0.7 (add 15% for dark roofs). The resulting number is the correct CFM rating for the fan needed to properly ventilate the attic. As with wholehouse fans, the powered attic ventilators manufactured by HVI members are independently tested and certified, and the CFM rating is shown on the HVI label.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: As my enclosed medical records indicate, I have angina. I would like to know what angina is and if there are any measures to correct it? My doctor told me I'll have to take medication for the rest of my life. I take Plendil and aspirin.

I'm 6 feet tall and presently weigh 195 pounds. My blood pressure has decreased somewhat since I've been on Plendil to 115/75. My resting heart rate remains at about 50 to 55, and I continue to walk four miles a day, five days a week and maintain a diet to reduce my cholesterol level. Any information you can send would be appreciated. My main symptom has been shortness of breath while digging or doing heavy yard work, but not while walking.

DEAR READER: I note from your records that your cholesterol level has been in the 240s, which is not striking. The description of your EKG changes with exercise are certainly consistent with angina discomfort, but your coronary arteriogram does not show severe obstruction, although you have moderate fatty-cholesterol blockage.

Angina is chest discomfort that occurs when the heart muscle needs more blood flow to deliver more oxygen, and the circulation cannot be adequately increased. That usually occurs because of blockage of the coronary arteries. But it can also occur when the heart works too hard, as from high blood pressure. Lowering the blood pressure will decrease the work of the heart and its need for oxygen. Angina can also occur when the coronary arteries go into spasm, which has been cited as one way shortness of breath can be caused.

Straining or lifting-type work sometimes raises a person's blood pressure through reflexes, but walking should not. Your Plendil, which is a calcium channel blocker, helps to dilate the coronary arteries as well lower blood pressure.

You need to have a more complete understanding of angina, so I'm sending you a free copy of Special Report 132, Angina Pectoris and Heart Attacks. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/132, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077.

It is important in your situation to follow a program to limit any progression of the early fatty-cholesterol deposits you have with your diet and exercise. Losing weight is important for you if you want to avoid high blood pressure or the need to take medicine. I note you used to weigh 205 pounds. The leaner you are, short of starvation, the better your outlook.

DEAR DR. LAMB: What is in pumice stone that we are advised not to use if we have poor circulation?

DEAR READER: Nothing. I presume you have poor circulation to your feet. A pumice stone is often used to scrub away a callous over the heels. The danger is that you will injure the skin and because of poor circulation you might develop gangrene.

Anyone who has poor circulation to the feet, as can occur from blockage of arteries in the legs, must be especially careful to guard against an infection or any injury. That includes care of the toenails to be sure there is no injury. Wear shoes that do not cause an injury. Do not trim your corns yourself. Avoid excess heat. Never use a heating pad or hot water bottle on your feet to relieve a cramp or for any reason. Cold can also cause an injury. You need to literally baby your feet.

Almost all cases of gangrene from poor circulation to the feet occur because of an injury.

DEAR DR. LAMB: What causes hives? Are they the result of various things in the environment, or are they induced by organic malfunction? What medications are currently producing the best results?

DEAR READER: Hives—urticaria— are caused by an immune (anti-gen-antibody) reaction, an allergy. To illustrate, if a person is allergic to strawberries, when the body is first exposed to strawberries, the immune system will produce an antibody to attack the substance in strawberries that person cannot tolerate. If the antibody is fixed in the skin, the next time that person eats strawberries, the strawberry antigen will be circulated to the skin and the antibody will attack it. The result of the antigen-antibody reaction in the skin causes the swelling, redness and itching characteristic of hives.

Women farm operators increasing

The farmer's traditional image is of a man planting the crop, operating a tractor or herding the livestock.

But more than 130,000 of the 2.1 million U.S. farms have a woman in charge. The last U.S. agriculture census found that women farm operators had increased by more than 10,000 in five years.

Most U.S. farm businesses, large and small, are family-owned and operated, whether they are sole proprietor, partnership or incorporated. On many of these family farms, women co-manage the family business. Farm women are often in charge of entire portions of the family farm business such as all livestock operations, or all cash crop marketing, or all financial records analysis.

Women spend thousands of hours as tractor and farm machine operators and thousands of dollars as purchasing decision-makers on today's farms. Women's roles on farms have changed so much that farm machinery manufacturers do detailed research to find out what women want in farm machine performance.
