But, economists not upset

Soaring energy costs boost consumer index

By SALLY JACOBSEN

ssociated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) Wholesale prices, propelled by the sharpest energy price gains in 11 months, shot up 0.5 percent in June, the government said today.

It was the second straight overall gain — following four months of little or no change and meant that, for the first half of the year, wholesale prices fell at an annual rate of 1.0 percent. Indeed, economists were far from being upset at today's news. One said that further, although smaller, increases should be registered for the next few months. Another said the new round of price hikes was typical "as a recovery picks up steam."

Anticipating the new report, several analysts stuck by their earlier predictions that, for all of 1983, wholesale prices may rise at their smallest clip in more than a

Today's Labor Department report placed much of the responsibility for the new round of higher prices on energy costs, which rose 3.2 percent. Gasoline prices soared 5.1 percent, also the largest gain since last July, while heating oil costs climb-ed 5.3 percent and natural gas costs rose 0.2 percent.

Energy prices had risen 2.2 percent in May after falling for the five previous months. Last month's higher overall prices came despite a 0.6 per-

Increases of 11.1 percent were posted for fresh fruits and 5 percent for vegetables Beef and veal prices rose 1.1 percent while sharp declines were recorded for eggs, down 10.4 percent, and fish, off 12.3 percent. Pork prices tumbled 4.5 percent and coffee prices fell 2.8 percent.

Food prices overall had fallen 0.5 percent in May. In all, wholesale prices last month were 1.8 percent higher than a year ago. Prices were up a modest 3.7

percent for all of 1982. Wholesale prices had risen 0.3 percent in May after falling 0.1 percent in April and 0.2 percent in March. Revising its earlier calculation, the department said prices rose 0.2 percent in February; they had been down 1.1 percent in

If prices rose for 12 months straight at the June rate, the yearly rise in the department's Producer Price Index for finished goods would be 5.6 percent. In reporting its inflation figures, the department bases its compounded, sessonally adjusted annual rate on a more precise calculation of monthly changes than the figure the department makes public.

Today's report gave these other details on wholesale price changes in June:

Because of a strip search and other incidents occurring during the July 4 weekend, Deaf Smith County Jail inmate Danny Beltran wrote a letter to the Brand, requesting the matter be investigated. He said, among other things, one jailer uses racial discrimination and claimed a cockroach was found in breakfast food.

Farmworkers file suit over wages

A class action suit alleging failure to be paid at least minimum wage has been filed by the International Union of Agricultural and Industrial Workers (IUAIW) on behalf of 103 Dimmitt-area farm-

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Amarillo Wednesday, names Dimco Industries, Inc. and Alan Mc-Clure as defendants. The farmworkers are seeking at least $50,000 in damages for Dimco allegedly not paying them at least the minimum wage during 1981-83.

According to the suit, the workers seek "to recover unsuant to the Fair Labor Standard Act... and to recover damages for defendants violations of the Farm Labor Contractor Registration

The suit involves workers who planted onions for Dimco during the years in question. McClure was identified as "a manager" of the Dimmitt plant, who supervised the onion planting crews, who were paid on a piece rate for piece rates paid in 1981, 1982, and 1983 were not sufficiently high for all workers to average at least the federal minimum wage."

The IUAIW said in a press release that it expects to sign another 100 persons which will be added to the suit.

It added that the union "is open for negotiations with the company and is asking that half of the onion harvest jobs with Dimco, Inc., be given to Joe Rodriguez and Americo De La Paz and their respec-tive workers and the other half to migratory workers."

Dimmitt workers protested earlier this week action by Dimco, which hired out-oftown workers to harvest its onions. Dimmitt workers protested the action, saying it was only fair that they be allowed to harvest the crop since it was they who planted it last spring.

The suit, filed by Edward J.

Tuddenham of the Texas Rural Legal Aid, Inc. Farm-worker Division in Hereford, also charges the Dimco failed to maintain proper records for work done during 1961-13, and asks the court to award the plantiff "its costs and nable attorney fees."

Management says

Walesa won't be fired

WARSAW, Poland (AP) - The Gdansk shipyard management has "no intention" of firing Lech Walesa for taking an unauthorized two-week vacation, an official of the government-run Polish information agency Interpress said today.

"The management of the shipyards will not fire Mr. Walesa," the official said, asking not to be named.

He did not elaborate on his statement, but said the agency had its in-formation from "good sources."

Officials in the shipyards, where Walesa formed Solidarity after August 1980 strikes, have said they are waiting for the union leader's return before taking any action.

Under workers' rules, they are obliged to assess why he took the leave, and rule on his future employment afterwards.

Walesa last week took off from work ithout official leave for a vacation. He is expected to return to his Baltic acoast home Sunday and to report for work Monday.

By taking the unauthorized leave, Walesa risked dismissal from his job under workers' laws stipulating that any three-day absence without official approval is grounds for being fired.

Walesa had said he would not return to work before he wanted to, and vowed to fight a possible dismissal in court.

Walesa has been visiting relatives north of Warsaw and taking his wife Danuta and three youngest children fishing and swimming in nearby rivers and lakes. He has been closely watched by police during the trip.

Polish authorities have dubbed Walesa a "private person," and the former leader of a former trade union," outlawed under martial law last October. Walesa was interned for 11 months after the start of martial law in December 1981.

Old city jail closed after 70 years

DALLAS (AP) - The Dallas City Jail, where nightclub owner Jack Ruby fatally shot accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald in 1963, has closed after nearly 70 years in favor of an ultra-modern facility.

Municipal Court Judge Michael O'Neal on Thursday arraigned, fined and released the final six prisoners held in the jail, which is perched atop the city's courts and police building in the downtown area.

The city will now hold its prisoners in the new Lew Sterrett Justice Center, a $62 million facility owned by Dallas County.

The two inmates who did more to put the old jail in the history books were Oswald, the accused killer of President John F. Kennedy, and Ruby, who gunned down Oswald on Nov. 24, 1963 in the jail's basement as law officers prepared to transfer Oswald to the Dallas County Jail.

The jail, which opened in 1914, is. "one of the oldest landmarks in the city," said Ed Preston, who retired from the police department 10 years

"It's done the city of Dallas pretty well for all this time, but times do change," Preston said.

Jail Sgt. M.A. Southerland said the city plans to keep the jail maintained for possible future service.

Papandreou said the agreement would go into effect Dec. 31, 1983, and after the termination of the five-year period the Americans would be given 17 months to remove the installations.

Papandreou said the agreement was initialed by the two sides early this morning and that the full text of the agreement will be made public when the accord is signed within the next two weeks.

Describing the moment as "historic," Papandreou said that under the agreement the United States undertakes to maintain the strategic balance of power in the region, and gives Greece the right to revoke the accord if this balance is upset in favor of Turkey. "

The Socialist government has repeateadly demanded a guarantee from Washington that the United States would provide Greece with military aid equal to at least 70 percent of the aid provided to Turkey. Both are members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Papandreou said the Americans would provide Greece with $500 million in military aid in 1984. He said that amount represents 70 percent of the aid to Turkey next year and would be provided for in a seperate exchange of letters between the Greece and the United States.

Chutists uninjured

NOVATO, Calif. (AP) -The parachutes of two Green Berets became hopelessly tangled 1,500 feet from the ground, but the men escaped injury and returned to the helicopter to jump again.

"They both stood up, looked at each other and were both smiling," said Phillip Gon zales, an Army medic who photographed the accident. "What's more amazing is that they requested to go back up on the next jump in the helicopter. And they did."

The incident occurred during a practice jump Sunday near Hamilton Field, a former Air Force base located about 25 miles north of San Francisco.

After seven others had leaped from the helicopter, the last man jumped and tried to open his parachute.

"He had a little twist in his line," Gonzales said. "By the time he came out of that, he was snared in the parachute of the other man."

welfare. "It is a trend I think you will see through this decade," Woomer told the board

AUSTIN (AP) - The state welfare board has approved a

$2.15 billion budget that deputy commissioner Quentin

Woomer says reflects a trend of spending more state - and less federal - money for Thursday. The three-member board voted to raise payments slightly for welfare families beginning in September, with a one-time average bonus of $100 for August.

The board also approved staff recommendations for penalizing nursing homes that fail to meet state and federal standards.

Recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children - AFDC - would get an increase of $7 a month in keeping with the Legislature's decision to put more money in that program. The AFDC increase will be the first since 1969, and Woomer said it "is doubly significant this (legislative) session when money was so tight." The budget for the fiscal year starting Sept. 1 is approximately $231.5 million more than the current year, an increase of 12.5 percent.

State funds will provide approximately $901.2 million of the budget, federal funds over $1.22 billion and other funds $26.6 million.

Not included in the welfare budget are $600 million to $700 million in food stamps, which flow directly from the federal government to recipients.

He said the last Legislature approved bills and resolutions that would require another $73.9 million in state funds, but lawmakers failed to provide the money.

Under the proposed nursing home rules, the Department of Human Resources could penalize nursing homes by denying them a portion of the money they get from Medicaid, the state and federal program that pays for nursing home care for the

The department would be required to cancel the Medicaid contract of any nursing home that is cited twice in a year for violating standards of patient care. It also would be forced to cancel the contract of any home at which conditions are considered an "immediate threat to the health and safety of its patients." Medicaid payments could be held up for 30 to 60 days for other deficiencies.

Currently, the staff said, 50 nursing homes could have their Medicaid contracts canceled, and an estimated 150 homes could lose Medicaid payments for an average of 30 days each. About 1,100 nursing homes furnish health care to 72,000 impoverished Texans at a cost of $496.6 million a year.

The proposed nursing home rules will be presented at an Aug. 2 public hearing, and the board will consider them for final adoption in September. The AFDC proposal would raise the average monthly grant in September from $41.26 to $48.49.

Welfare board chairman J. Livingston Kosberg of Houston said he was pleased with the legislative increase, but added, "It is woefully short of what we need. I hope future legislatures can see fit to continue the increases." A provision in the overall state budget would allow the board to raise AFDC payments to $53 per month if it can find the money, and Woomer said the staff would 'come back at mid-year" with recommendations. In August only the typical Texas welfare family - a mother and two children would receive a $100 bonus in AFDC payments and food stamps, raising the total AFDC-food stamp payment

Beginning in September, special payments that welfare children have been receiving twice a year will be incorporated into the regular monthly AFDC grant.

The AFDC budget for fiscal 1984 is $191.6 million, a 51.8 percent increase over this year, but Woomer said the welfare department "is denying over 50 percent of the people that come in the door.'

The board voted to add nearly $1.2 million to a family planning program on teenage pregnancies, which Woomer described as a "serious problem."

"I don't think we're No. 1" among the states in teen-age pregnancies, "but we're very close," said Woomer. "It's a massive problem that doesn't go away - it's a fact of our

The welfare budget also provides $1.5 million for emergency assistance to famalies and children - the first time state dollars have been made available for such a program - and $1.9 million to deal with truants and runaways, another state first. Texas welfare commissioner Marlin Johnston said the department was installing a toll-free hotline to take calls about alleged welfare fraud or abuse.

"This is one more step up the ladder that we've been climbing for a long time to prevent fraud or detect it," he told the board. Johnston said that in 1982 welfare investigators developed 7,913 fraud cases involving $6,640,998, and the department collected more than $1 million in restitution. Most of the fraud cases were among AFDC and food stamp recipients, he said.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN-Texas' youthful new Land Commissioner Garry Mauro has shown in his first six months of office that he doesn't hide from controversy or new

In fact, sometimes he appears to be the only statewide elected official who thrives in the hot seat.

Last week, Mauro, who manages state oil lands among other duties, called for federal import tax on OPEC-produced oil to insulate domestic oil markets and energy independence from foreign influences.

When the press wrote headlines linking South Texas rancher Manges' multi-million dollar contributions to political candidates up and down the ballot, implying attempts to buy enormous amounts of political influence, most candidates who were recipients of Manges' money laid low until the storm abated.

Manges To Pay

Not Mauro. Two months after he took office, he closed a dubious loophole whereby Manges had avoided paying the state close to $1 million in royalties on state oil land he had leased from the previous Land Commissioner, Bob Armstrong.

Then he negotiated out of court with Manges, who agreed to pay the state the full amount of questionable money. Manges had given $60,000 to Mauro's campaign, but Mauro had vowed to the press that Manges would pay . . . and so would others who had used that

A few days later, Mauro announced that powerful Exxon Corp. had also agreed to reimburse the state $4 million in cash, plus other concessions in out of court settlement of a dispute over a 50-year old lease of land on Manges ranch.

The Manges and Exxon money goes into the Permanent School Fund, the interest on which pays for much of the Texas public education system.

Mattox Probe

The Travis County District Attorney, the man who prosecutes state officials accused of wrong-doing, announced he will investigate Texas Atty. Gen. Jim Mat-tox's campaign finances. The DA, Ronnie Earle, caught some flak earlier this year for not investigating Speaker Gib Lewis' failure to disclose several financial dealings. Lewis pleaded no contest and paid fine, and, it turned out, the DA was also remiss in his financial reporting and also paid a small fine. Other missteps by him have prompted the Travis County grand jury to act independently, so Earle is now under the gun to make a thorough probe of Mattox.

Houston wanting to return to triumphant ways

In 1980, Terry Puhl and the Houston Astros hit line drives, got good pitching and fine defense in winning the National League West.

Since then, the Astros have

But lately, things are looking brighter for Puhl and his teammates.

On Thursday night, Joe Niekro threw a three-hitter and Puhl doubled twice and scored two runs as Houston stopped the Montreal Expos

"Offensively and defensively, this is the best this club's played in a couple of years," Puhl said.

Also, Atlanta downed Philadelphia 5-2, New York beat Cincinnati 7-4, Pittsburgh rallied past San Diego 8-6, Los Angeles clubbed Chicago 8-4 and St. Louis overcame San Francisco 6-5.

Houston is currently tied with San Diego for third in the NL East with a 45-41 record, eight games behind Atlanta. Still, Puhl is encouraged about the Astros.

And Bill Virdon, who managed Houston the last three years and now manages Montreal, is encouraged about Puhl, who hit :282 with 13 home runs in 1980.

In strike-shortened 1981, Puhl slumped to .251 with three homers and last year he hit .262 with eight home runs.

Houston went ahead in the fourth against Steve Rogers, 12-4, when Omar Moreno tripled and scored on Puhl's

In the sixth, Puhl doubled, went to third on Thon's infield hit and scored another Garner grounder.

Niekro, 7-7, retired the last 14 batters for his first complete game. He struck out three and walked none as Houston won for the eighth time in nine games. Montreal has lost 11 of 14.

Braves 5, Phillies 2 The game was tied 1-1 after eight innings, but Bob Horner and his Atlanta teammates quickly changed that.

Horner led off the top of the ninth with his 15th homer, Chris Chambliss followed with a triple and Glenn Hubbard, Bruce Benedict and Rafael Ramirez added RBI singles as the Braves scored four times.

Philadelphia tried to battle back in the bottom of the ninth. With one out, Ivan De-Jesus and Greg Gross drew walks from reliever Steve Bedrosian, 6-3. Reliever Terry Forster allowed Tony Perez's RBI double before retiring Pete Rose and Gary Matthews for his ninth save.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) Billy Cannon, an All-America running back in the late 1950s, has made a plea bargain deal in the $6 million counterfeiting scheme in which has been described as the centerpiece. Cannon spent 50 minutes testifying before a federal grand jury Thursday and, afterwards, court records showed the former Louisiana State University football hero agreed to testify against fellow conspirators in return for leniency and a promise that no additional charges would be filed in connection with the investigation.

"No comment. No comment. No comment," he said in brushing by reporters as he left the federal courthouse.

In a three-page plea agreement signed with Assistant U.S. Attorney Rand Miller, Cannon agreed to waive indictment and plead guilty before U.S. District Judge Frank Polozola today to a single charge of conspiracy and possession of counterfeit $100 bills.

Polozola could sentence Cannon immediately or, more likely, put it off until later. The most he could get was five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Under the plea agreement, no additional charges would be filed against Cannon relating to either the

Studds vows to stay, Crane isn't talking-

WASHINGTON (AP) -Rep. Gerry Studds, facing House reprimand for gay sex with a 17-year-old page, says he will stay in Congress, but Rep. Daniel B. Crane has left his plans unclear after admit-ting an affair with a female

The two congressmen on Thursday admitted ethics committee charges they had sex with teen-age pages. For-mal reprimand, the mildest discipline the full House can mete out, could take only a few minutes once scheduled, since neither is contesting the

"Of course," Studds, 46, a Massachusetts Democrat. told reporters when asked if he would serve out his term. He took the House floor, where he proclaimed his homosexuality and admitted "a serious error in judgment" in his relationship with the page 10 years ago.

Studds said, though, that his relationship did not involve improper conductbecause it was voluntary and there was no preferential treatment or harrassment.

Crane, 47, a Republican from a Bible Belt district in downstate Illinois, first sought advice from his

Workshop scheduled Saturday

A workshop on infants, birth through 18 months, sponsored by the Hereford Day Care Center, will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday at the Hereford Day Care Warner Memorial Center, 248 E. 16th St.

The event will be presented by Amarillo College.

Anyone who works with infants and all interested parents are encouraged to participate. There will be a $3.50 registration fee.

brother, Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill., the 1980 GOP White House hopeful. Then he flew home to explain his affair with a 17-year-old girl page to his wife, Judy, and six

"I know nothing - I'm not talking," the conservative supporter of school prayer and strict morals said when asked about the liaison three years ago that began when the girl lost a six-pack of beer to him on a basketball bet and ended with repeated sessions in the bedroom of his Alexandria, Va., apartment.

The talk among Illinois Republicans was that Crane might resign and that, if not, he would have a hard time getting re-elected after barely squeaking out a third term last fall.

"If Dan Crane came to me and asked me if he should resign," House GOP Leader Robert H. Michel of Illinois said in reply to a question, "Well, I'd like to be as much of a strength to him as possible. I'd say the Good Lord sometimes moves in mysterious ways."

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., said the windup of the investigation by the ethics committee, formally the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, yielded findings that were "most disturbing."

The committee voted 11-1 to recommend to the full House the reprimand of the two lawmakers.

Committee special counsel Joseph A. Califano Jr. also said the panel found that James C. Howarth, majority chief page in the House doorkeeper's office, "engaged in a sexual relationship with a 17-year-old female in 1980 who was at the time under his direct supervision and gave her preferential treatment."

Califano said there was evidence that in 1979 and 1980 Howarth, now chief majority page in the document room, purchased cocaine in the Democratic cloakroom where lawmakers mill during House sessions.

Unlike the two lawmakers, Howarth did not waive his right to a public hearing. Califano said he urged disciplinary proceedings against Howarth.

The committee said Studds and the male page both confirmed the details of their and the girl page did the

In his floor statement, Studds said, "It is not a simple task for any of us to meet adequately the obligations of either public or private life, let alone both. But these challenges are made substantially more complex when one is, as am I, both an elected public official and

After Crane left Washington, his office issued a statement in which he said: "I'm sorry that I made a mistake."

"It happened three years ago," he said. "I'm human and in no way did I violate my oath of office. I only hope my wife and children will forgive and that he asked her if she wanted some beer.

The girl replied that she did not like beer and the two of them then went to a suburban Virginia bar, the committee quoted her as saying. Because she was underage, though, she was not served and they went to Crane's apartment where "we went to

"Now," an investigator asked her, "were there any other occasions after that when you went out with Congressman Crane?"

"Went out with? No," the girl said. But the panel quoted her as saying she went to his apartment "three or four" more times for sex. She said she would meet him on the House floor to make such appointments and later join him in his office or wait for him by his car. The former page who had a relationship with Studds was quoted by the committee as saying he was "flattered and excited" when the congressman asked him to din-where they sipped vodks and cranberry juice until the small hours and then had sex. He said it happened several times, and then they went to Europe together in August

"I have nothing negative to say about him," the commit-tee quoted the former page as saying. "In fact, I thought that he provided me with one of the more wonderful ex-periences of my life, if we exclude the instances of sexual experience, which I was somewhat uncomfortable

Remove freezer odor

KANANASKIS COUNTRY,

Alberta (AP) - Singing and cheering teen-agers from 102 countries gathered beneath a Canadian mountain sky and bade farewell to new friends

made during the 15th World

Scout Jamboree.

DEAR POLLY — My freezer was off for about two weeks and I cannot get rid of the bad odor in the box. Could you give me some information on how to remove the odor so I can use the freezer again? — RAY

DEAR RAY — Wash the inside of the freezer thoroughly with a solution of baking soda and water. Then place a shallow pan full of activated charcoal in the box and prop the door open slightly for several days. If the odor is not entirely gone after a week to 10 days, exchange the charcoal for fresh and leave for another week or two. The freezer should then be usable again. You may wish to finish off with another baking sods and water rinse before turning the freezer on. Pet shops that sell aquarium supplies are a good source for activated charcoal. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY - To light candles sunk into tall containers without extra long matches, take a twistee from a bread wrapper or garbage bag and twist it firmly around the match as a long handle. By holding the end of the twistee, you can light the candle without burning your fingers or getting soot along the inside of the container. — H.J.S.

DEAR POLLY — This is for those who have a problem with candle wax on their carpeting. We had the same problem: red candle wax on white shag. We called our insurance agent after trying to remove the stains ourselves. He advised us to call in a professional cleaner. We did, but the cleaner could not remove the stain. We then had the carpet appraised for wear, cost for new, etc., and eventually received a $350 check to replace it under our homeowner's policy. We did not need the pad replaced, so were able to get a new carpet rather cheaply. — A.M.

DEAR A.M. — Thanks for passing along that useful

Pointer. Others with homeowner's insurance that covers this kind of accident should be sure to check with their agents about the proper procedure to follow to insure the validity of their claim. — POLLY

The 13,564 scouts, some carrying flags of their homelands, marched to the ceremonial grounds at the foot of the Canadian Rockies. And in the cold, clear night, they sat cross-legged on the ground and pledged to meet again in 1987 - at the next world jamboree near Sydney, Australia called an aid to world peace

"You now know that people all over the world really are the same, with the same feelings," Lord Baden-Powell, the grandson of scouting's founder, told the campers. "The way we speak and behave is the only difference."

The jamboree was the first to include girls as participants and had more countries represented than any other in the 63-year history of the event. About 3,600 attended from the United States.

Campers began packing Thursday and were leaving today and Saturday. Since July 6, this community in the wilderness had been the eighth-largest city in Alberta.

Although they traded everything from uniforms to badges, many scouts said the most rewarding part of their stay was the exchange of cultures.

The jamboree "could literally change the course of the world," said Scott Higginbotham, 16, of Dallas.

"One of these boys could become leader of Libya and one of our guys could become president. Then, they could walk up to each other and say: 'Remember the World Jamboree in '83?'

"It could be a key to world peace," he said.

Higginbotham taught some Austrian boys to play American football and, in return, they taught him how to dance a polka.

"You know, 35 years ago we were fighting with these guys, but here I can say, 'Hey, Wolfgang, let's play football.' It makes you feel great to know your grandparents fought with them and you can live with them in peace."

Having girl campers, about 1,000, was an experiment that organizers said was a success and would be repeated at the next world jamboree. The presence of girls resulted in a few international romances.

Alcohol and ulcers

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am 24 and have a duodenal ulcer that bleeds. When I was 16 the doctors did an upper gastrointestinal series and said I had an ulcer. It didn't bother me much then. Later I would have trouble when I would drink. I would throw up and have really bad pain to the emergency room and they would give me a shot that relaxed me. I would sleep and be OK the next Six months ago when I went to the emergency room they had me come back the next day and an upper gastrointestinal showed the ulcer. They put me on Tagamet. So I stopped drink-

Then I started drinking again and ended up in the emergency room. They admitted me and pumped my stomach. A gastroscopy showed I have a bleeding ulcer in the valve that goes between the outlet of the stomach and the small intes-

I followed the program but then slipped back into drinking and got sick. I'm a bartender and it's hard not wondered if Tagamet will heal my ulcer or if I am stuck with it. Also what kind of surgery is available? I feel I am too young to have this problem always.

DEAR READER - Your letter reminds me of the old truth that we are our own worst enemy. You know full your problem and you seem to be unwilling to do anything constructive about it except temporarily. You will even subject yourself to surgery rather than do the obvious. The obvious is to stop drinking and never touch the stuff again as long as you live. That may not be as long as it should be if you don't heed nature's warning.

As far as I am concerned the most important things an ulcer patient can do are stop smoking, stop coffee (including the decaffeinated brands), stop tea, avoid colas and never drink any alcoholic beverages. If you don't do that you cannot expect good results with or without medicines.

You should seriously consider changing your profession. If you can't tend bar and not drink, you should stop tending bar.

There is a lot more to your own management of an ulcer you need to read and heed in The Health Letter 15-10, Understanding Ulcers and Acidity, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY

DEAR DR. LAMB - Is there any cure for eczema? What foods aggravate it? Mine started in my hairline. The medicine I took then helped. Then when it came back another dermatologist me Prednisone and Aris cort Cream, which helps. Now I am breaking out on my neck and shoulders. I folowed his instructions fully but I keep itching.

DEAR READER - Ecze ma is not really a diagno but a term to describe redning and other inflamma ory changes of the skin. The erm is not specific. You could have seborrheic ermatitis or even psoriasis. While steroids are very effective in some such skin disorders, it is important to match the right steroid with the right disorder.

You should go back to your dermatologist so he can see how you are doing. He may want to change your treatment on the bester. ent on the ba blessings that have come to pass, We tend to disregard; Because we see the greenest grass In someone else's yard.

The magic thing we call success Eludes us, come what may;
And thus it seems that happiness Will never come our way.

However, through the Church we find
That there's no need to roam,
For happiness and peace of mind Are always close to home.

So, don't go searching all around,
And some day you'll agree:
The greenest grass of all is found Wherever you may be!
