of Energy (DOE) meetings held during April and May in Texas have been distributed to the Deaf Smith County Library according to Bill Merriman of the DOE Waste Terminal Storage Program Office in Columbus, Ohio.

The transcript covers comments received at meetings held in Hereford, Tulia, and Austin, and also includes by the DOE.

More than 1,800 people at-tended the nine hearings held in four states and more than 300 people presented com-ments. The DOE also receivwritten comments from nearly 400 people. In addition to the Texas hearings, hearings were also held in Louisiana, Mississippi, and Utah. The hearings were held by DOE in accordance with the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982. The hearings' purposes were to inform residents of the proposed nomination of a site for characterization and nuclear waste repository and to receive comments on issues to be considered in the environmental assessments and site characterization

Also shipped to the libraries were copies of the "Summary of Issues and Concerns Expressed During the April-May, 1963, U.S. Depart-ment of Energy Public Hearof Sites for Site Characterization and Recommendation of Issues for Environmental Assessments and Site Characterization Plans,"

This report contains a categorized summary of the issues raised by people at the hearings and in letters received through the end of the comment period, May 31, 1983. Copies of the transcripts and issues summary report have also been sent to state officials in Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, and Utah.

"For the present, I'll keep my residence in this county and may spend some time in San Antonio," said McPherson. "If I decide to enter the race, I may move to Lubbock – that's the center of the action for this district," he added. Meanwhile, Hance was

Reagan defends his position to feminists

SAN DIEGO (AP) - President Reagan, defending himself against criticism from feminists, complained today that his efforts to protect the rights of women have become clouded by a "fog of demagoguery."

In the aftermath of charges that his administration has compiled a record of empty promises for women, Reagan said, "All of us are interested in one goal: insuring legal equity for women."

In his speech, on the 63rd anniversary of women's suffrage, Reagan tried to repair some of the political damage caused by charges from former Justice Department official Barbara Honegger. She has accused Reagan of reneging on a commitment to

That program has been described by the administration as its alternative to the proposed Equal Rights Amendment. Ms. Honegger called it a sham.

"There are laws already on the books to safeguard the rights of women," Reagan said, speaking to a Republican women's leadership forum. "Those laws must be enforced. Some must be strengthened.

Hightower said.

Referring to the program to rid federal laws and regulations of discriminatory provisions, Reagan said, "Contrary to what you might have heard or read, that process is going forward."

He said he had instructed the Justice Department and the Cabinet Council on Legal Policy "to accelerate their review of federal laws and to have specific recommendations on my desk for discus-sion immediately upon my return to Washington."

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said earlier this week the Cabinet group would meet in early September, but said that did not represent an acceleration of its work.

Reagan, who returns to his Santa Barbara ranch today for the remainder of his 25-day vacation, is due back in Washington on Sept. 5.

In a brief discussion of foreign policy matters, Reagan expressed disappointment with Israel and the Arab world over the Middle East peace initiative he anounced last Sept. 1.

Reagan said his peace plan "is definitely alive and available to those parties willing to sit down and talk. It's unfortunate that neither Israel nor its Arab neighbors have yet grasped the opportunities afforded."

Reagan told the audience that economic recovery will do more for women than anything else. He also urged women to run for public office, suggesting that their concerns are too diverse to be represented by a single organization.

What some cannot accept is that women are not a monolithic group" but are "a diverse majority with varied interests and varied futures.

Six more arrested in Mr. Burger case

Sure Hands

Seven arrests had been made as of this morning for a recent theft of ground beef and tater tots from Mr. Burger West, 821 W. Park, according to Deaf Smith County Attorney Roland Saul.

There were three more arrests to be made, Saul said, as 10 adult-age males were involved in the estimated $519 burglary. Seven juveniles are also suspects in the case, with action against them to be taken through the juvenile justice system.

All 10 adults either have been or will be charged with theft over $20 and under $200. The maximum penalty for that Class A misdemeanor. according to the district attorney, is one year in the county jail along with a $2,000

The 10 adult suspects include Robert Abalos, Johnnie Adame, Eddie Aguilar, Keith Doug Warren, all of Hereford.

Aubrey Richburg, the first to be arrested in the case, was originally charged with theft over $200 and under $10,000. That offense carries a maximum 2-10 years in a state penitentiary and $5,000 fine. The charge has since been reduced to that received by the other nine suspects.

According to Saul, Richburg was actually arrested illegally. Hereford police did not have a warrant, which the district attorney claimed is necessary unless a suspect is seen in the act of committing a crime. Despite the police mistake, Saul said, Richburg does not have any grounds for appealing his reduced charge.

All the adult suspects have been contacted, the district attorney said, and of those ar-

According to a police report, the theft occurred during the night of August 12-13. Four cases (valued at $30 apiece) of tater tots and 7-10 240-pound cases of ground beef ($1.12 per pound) were stolen from the store's unlocked meat locker. Police know at least some of the meat was trashed.

Anselmo Serrano, assistant manager under John Teters at Mr. Burger West, told police he had several suspects in mind. His comments led to the arrest of Richburg and helped police begin to uncover the other 16

Strain charged again

Robert Strain of H was charged with a third count of theft over $200 and under $10,000 Thursday in connection with an apparent burglary-fencing operation discovered here 10 days ago. Strain was charged by Lamb County officials with the theft of items in the Littlefield area according to local investigator Terry Colston.

Colston said that Strain was arrested and placed under a $30,000 bond by the Lamb County officials. Colston said that Strain had met bond and was released.

In connection with the discovery of the stolen items at the Strain farm northeas of here on Aug. 15, Colston said that persons who suspe that some of their property was a part of the haul may contact Dean Butcher at the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's office to make arrangemen to claim their property.

Persons wishing to make a claim must show proof of ownership, Colston said, such as a proof of purchase, including a serial number, an engraved identification mark such as a drivers' license or cial security numb surance claim.

Following Herd scrimmage

Taylor disappointed, but optimistic

By BOB NIGH MANAGING EDITOR

New Hereford Whiteface head coach Jerry Taylor will be going to the movies the next few days, but he won't be enjoying a soft drink and popcorn at the local cinema

Taylor, and his coaching taff, will be bleary-eyed before the weekend is over as they view and review a film of the Herd's efforts against the Clovis Wildcats in a scrimmage Thursday even-

"I was kind of disappointe by our goalline effort," Taylor said Friday morning. "I thought we got in-timidated; they (Clovis) whipped us in the trenches

Taylor reserved final judgement concerning the scrimmage until he and his staff have viewed the film, but he saw several areas for improvement for the 1983

He expressed concern over the play of the offensive line, but saw some bright spots in the play of the defensive secondary and linebackers.

"Our offensive line has some holes in it," Taylor said. "Our pass protection was not really good, even on the goal line where we weren't stopping people."
Returning safety Jeff

Streun led the secondary which Taylor feels is improving. "Streun played well back there," the coach said, "and Sammy Suarez made a cou-ple of good plays to knock down some long passes." Taylor also cited the nebacking play of Alan Rit-hie and Lee Brockman. Offensively, junior Mike Scott directed the Herd well during the workout. "Mike threw the ball well at time when he had the time,'

Scott connected with receiver Mickey Stengel on a 72-yard touchdown early in the scrimmage, and had several other long passes for the night. He also scored once on a scramble from the Wildcat 4-yard line.

In addition to Scott, running back Ronnie Terry played well for the Herd in the scrimmage, breaking loose on several good gainers.

Taylor also singled out junior David Parsons, who was relegated to yoeman du-ty since Eric Walterscheid as injured. "David handled himself very well, especially as much as we had to use him," Taylor said. Parsons saw duty at defensive end and noseguard as well as tight end during the scrimmage. "Overall, I was disap-pointed in some areas,"

Taylor said. "But, I think we have the nucleus for being fairly competitive if we just tighten up our belts a little and get after it, and not assume that that's the best we can do." The inexperienced Herd, boasting of Streun as the only returning starter, faced a Clovis team which is the defending Class 4A New Mexico state champion. The Wildcats have 18 lettermen back this season, nine of whom were regulars a year

By contrast, the 1983 herd has only 12 lettermen back. Hereford has one week remaining to get ready for their season opener against the Pampa Harvesters on the road next Friday.

Taylor said the film of the workout will be "studied intensively" by the coaching staff, which will be taking notes on where they need to improve their job of instruc-ting the players.

DALLAS (AP) - Homicide detec ves say they have no "specific uspects" in the death of a Dallas weler who was poisoned by a carton chocolate milk laced with cyanide.

Richard Mankin, 34, died Thursday fternoon at Parkland Memorial spital, two days after he drank from a chocolate milk carton that appeared to have been injected with cyanide, police said. Capt. Grant Lappin said Thursday the investigation is continuing, and detectives are looking at a group of assible suspects.

Mankin purchased milk from the convenience store across from his northside jewelry store and placed it in the refrigerator in his office, police said. After drinking from the carton, he went into convulsions, according to his 24-year-old partner Steve Although city and police officials said the incident appeared to be an solated case, they removed 23 pints and 12 quarts of milk from the convenience store. City Health and Human ervices officials said there was no indication that milk in any other store vas poisoned.

The milk taken from the convence store was tested and found to Police said cyanide is used in lating gold and some of it was in lankin's office. "It's our belief the cyanide was administered to the milk after it came on the premises of (Mankin's) store," said Sgt. Tom Sherman.

Schwarz said that when Mankin ok a swallow from the carton, he said "it tasted awful."

Moments later, Mankin collapsed, went into convulsions. Schwarz said he called an ambulance, performing cardiopulmonary resuscitation until it

The pint of chocolate milk was recovered by police who found evidence of tampering, but refused to provide details.

Violent Houston deaths decrease

HOUSTON (AP) - Fewer Houstonians died violently during the first six months of this year than 1982 because of a slower city growth rate and a greater number of policemen on patrol, officials said.

After steadily rising in recent years, the number of deaths from murder, suicide and accidents fell more than 17 percent from 1,278 in the first half of 1982 to 1,055 in the first half of this year, Harris County Medical Examiner Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk said Thursday.

Until this year, "the number of violent deaths in Harris County has been increasing," Jachimczyk said.
"But it may have reached its peak and is now levelling off."

Jachimczyk said a słowdown in Houston's unsettling growth rate may have helped reduce the number of violent deaths.

People uprooted from other areas of the country, said Jachimczyk, have accounted for many of the violent deaths in Harris County during the past few years.

The greatest single decline was in the number of fatal accidents, which declined more than 20 percent. Last year, accidents accounted for 613 deaths in the first six months, compared to 488 this year, which represented 46 percent of the total number of violent deaths.

There were 362 reported homicides. or 34 percent of the total, compared with 436 for the same period in 1982, for a decline of 17 percent.

The number of suicides in the first six months of this year declined more than 10 percent in Harris County over the same period last year, from 229 to

Downtown buildings burned

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) - Three firefighters were injured early today in a ram-paging blaze that burned through a one-block section of downtown buildings here, officials say.

The flames heavily damaged a four-story hotel in an area adjacent to the historic Strand section, which was also pounded by Hurricane Alicia earlier this month.

Authorities said one of the injured firefighters was taken to John Sealy Hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation. Two other firefighters were treated at the scene for smoke inhalation, officials said.

"It is still burning, and units from three other cities are battling the fire," said police dispatcher Sheree Brockstine. "It is still threatening other areas of downtown.

Flames leaped into alleyways in the section located one block away from the historic Strand section, said Ms. Brockstine.

She said the fire began about 12:55 a.m. and then spread into surrounding buildings.

Fire officials said the fourstory Washington Hotel and two other businesses were heavily damaged in the blaze. Firefighters from Galveston, Texas City, La Marque and Hitchcock were called to battle the flames.

"It started as a two-alarm fire, and then rapidly spread to a general alarm, where you call everyone in the surrounding area to help prevent the whole damn town from going up," said Ms. Brockstine. "Flames are leaping out into the alleyways."

Witnesses said flames leaped 50 feet into the air from the old hotel, which was vacant. The blaze also spread to a nightclub and a printing company, said officials.

Three of the hotel's walls collapsed, and authorities blocked off an L-shaped area of the downtown section of buildings, some of which are more than 100 years old.

Galveston firefighters were worried for a time that the blaze might spread from the Strand section to other downtown sections. All available equipment, in-cluding a ladder truck and at least six other trucks, were called to the scene, officials

First 'phase' of probe ending

By JAMES R. KING Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - The grand jury investigation of Attorney General Jim Mattox is nearing the end of its first 'phase," and Mattox himself will be asked to testify, probably next week, District Attorney Ronnie Earle says.

Mattox said he thinks it's all a waste of taxpayers' money

Grand jurors have been investigating his campaign finance reports since mid-July, and on Thursday, Mattox made his second surprise appearance outside the grand jury room.

This time he was invited into the private grand jury suite, where he said he made a "brief statement." He told reporters he would return next week to testify at length.

Earle said the matter was nearly complete. "It depends on which part of the investigation you are talking about, but I would say we are relatively close to finishing this phase of the investiga-

He refused to say how many phases were left, or what the initial phase included. Mattox has come under fire during the summer because of various newspaper articles suggesting conflicts of interests. and Earle has said all allegations of misconduct would be vestigated.

Mattox has said he had a letter delivered earlier Thurdsay to the foreman of the panel, requesting that he be invited to talk to grand jurors. He then showed up at the courthouse with an armful of documents he said would prove he did not violate state campaign finance reporting laws. He was accompanied by his brother and sister, who were subpoenaed to testify about a $125,000 loan they made from a Seattle bank a short time before Mattox loaned his own campaign that same amount.

behind closed doors, Mattox waited outside the private suite until he was summoned.

"I made a brief statement," the attorney general said after he emerged from the private grand jury suite 28 minutes later. He would not comment further, saying "I'm not in a position to disclose what took place in that room."

Mattox then waited until shortly before 7 p.m., when the grand jurors quit for the day. He left with his brother and sister, Jerry and Janice Mattox, both of Dallas.

Ms. Mattox said, "I knew most of the answers and attempted to help clear up the matter a little bit. I'm glad to come before the grand jury to explain the facts as I see

Grand jurors also heard testimony during the afternoon from Ceretha Rose, a secretary in the attorney general's office.

The grand jury investigation has been going on since mid-July, and previously, several workers from Mattox's office have testified, including the attorney general's two top legal aides.

"I don't know how much of the taxpayers' money is being wasted on this," Jim Mat-

Earlier Thursday afternoon, Mattox and Earle met in a surprise confrontation just outside the grand jury room where Mattox was talking to news reporters. Earle approached and the two men smiled and shook hands.

"I'm ready to offer documents that would clear up this entire matter whenever y'all are willing to let me present them and talk about them," Mattox told the district attorney. "I'd very much like to get it resolved as soon as we can."

"We'll be in touch, general," Earle replied before disappearing behind the grand jury door. A short time later, Earle sent a baliff to bring Mattox into the private session.

Earle said later the grand jury will resume the Mattox probe next week. "I think he (Mattox) probably will testify next week, but I can't say that for sure," Earle said. At the time of the con troversial $125,000 transaction last year, wealthy rancher Clinton Manges, a $50,000 contributor to Mattox's campaign, was an influential customer of the Seattle bank.

State law requires statewide political candidates to report the true souurce of campaign funds, including names of people who may have helped arrange bank loans.

Mattox's $125,000 was listed simply as a loan from himself to his campaign. He has insisted he followed state campaign reporting laws strictly and said even if he were guilty of the suggestion that his report was improper, it's a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum $200 fine.

Dr. Barry Tuchfeld; a TCU co-investigator, said that while the precentage of drinkers experiencing pro-blems is higher than the national average of 7 percent to 8 percent, "the rate of abstinence among adults in Texas is also abnormally high. Almost 40 percent of the population abstains from hol, with Hispanic and black females showing a igher rate of sbstinence than any other group."

Questions encouraged about prescriptions

When a physician prescribes a drug, most pa-tients do not ask the doctor questions about it, says the Texas Medical Association.

In fact, only two to four percent of patients nationwide said they do so while in the doctor's office, according to recent surveys.

This could mean doctors are providing patients with adequate information about prescriptions.

Other studies indicate other possible reasons for patient silence: profound respect for the doctor to the extent that asking questions would seem rude; fear and confusion in the doctor's office perhaps from having received bad news; failure to understand the doctor's directions; and simply not knowing what questions to ask.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has been working with industry and private groups to improve pa-tients' understanding of medications. These groups have come up with five basic questions that patients should ask when given new medica-

-What is the name of the drug, and what is it supposed

-How and when do I take it, and when do I stop using it?
-What food, drinks, other drugs, or activities should I avoid while taking the drug?

-What are the side effects, and what should I do if they

-Is there any written information available about the Addressing that last point, the American Medical Association has prepared information sheets on 40 of the most commonly prescribed drugs. Doctors who purchase the sheets distribute them to patients.

CBS news disagrees in $120 million libel suit

NEW YORK (AP) - In preliminary sparring seven months before a $120 million lawsuit against CBS News is expected to go to trial, a lawyer for CBS says a recently received "smoking-gun document" completely dismantles Gen. William C. Westmoreland's libel case.

David Boies of the New York law firm of Cravath, Swaine & Moore said Tuesday the document contradicts the public position of one of Westmoreland's strongest supporters, George Carver, a former CIA official. Carver is quoted as saying in the document that he concluded that Westmoreland gave orders to suppress enemy troop counts during the Vietnam War.

Carver, now a senior fellow at the Georgetown University Center for Strategic and International Studies, said Tuesday: "I would not agree with the lawyer at all. He

Seat belts save lives

On virtually every list of tips on how to live longer is one reminder that everyone knows but few observe.

Buckle your seat belt. The Texas Medical Association notes that more than 37,000 drivers and passengers are killed in auto accidents each year in the U.S. An additional two million people receive disabling injuries, costing more than $35 billion annually.

TMA says studies show that using seat belts would reduce these fatalities and serious injuries by 35 to 60 percent. For this reason, the 22,000-member organization of physicians and medical students is one of the participants in the nationwide Make it Click campaign. TMA will make information available for doctors to give to patients, and will distribute posters to doctors and major Texas employers. Current studies show that seat belts are being used only 10 to 33 percent of the timedespite massive advertising campaigns. TMA notes that legislation in several foreign countries to require people to buckle up has increased seat belt usage to 60 to 70 percent. This has resulted in a marked decrease in vehicle fatalities and serious injuries in Australia, Sweden, France, Great Britain, and Ontario, Canada.

The U.S. National Safety Council has prepared examples of mandatory seat belt legislation for states to consider. The council estimates that this legislation could save more than 12,000 lives annually.

Just as important as buckling up is the responsibility of adults to make sure that children of all ages are buckles up. Child safety seats should be used beginning with the infant's ride home from the hospital.

TMA says auto accidents are the number one killer and crippler of children. More inants and small children are killed in accidents in Texas than in any other state.

Accidents in Texas have killed more than 380 child sengers under age five in the last five years - and injured thousands more. Up to 90 percent of the fatalities and the vast majority of the injuries could be prevented by using child safety seats.

Their disagreement is over whether Westmoreland conspired to falsify enemy troop strength figures before the Tet offensive — the same issue raised by the CBS documentary, "The Uncounted Enemy: A Vietnam Deception," broadcast in January 1962.

Three days after that broadcast, which had Mike Wallace as on-camera correspondent and George Crile as reporter-producer, Westmoreland held a news conference. He denied any conspiracy to underestimate enemy numbers. Later, he fil-

Carver said there were honest disagreements and differing interpretations bet-ween the CIA and the military on the troop estimates, but he contended that there had been "no suppression of evidence."

Crile told The Associated Press Tuesday that CBS' lawyers had just received a "breakthrough document" from the CIA that he said showed a contradiction in Carver's position.

The document, given the AP by Cravath, Swaine & Moore, is a Sept. 10, 1968, cable, which Carver, then a special CIA assistant for Vietnam affairs, sent to his boss, CIA director Richard Helms.

Carver reported in the cable that attempts to nail down enemy troop counts were "frustratingly unproductive." He said that the military in Vietnam was "stonewalling, obviously under orders. Unless, or until

I can persuade Westmoreland to amend those orders, serious discussion of evidence or substantive issues will be Later in the cable, Carver said the military's "juggling of figures ... point to the in-escapable conclusion that Gen. Westmoreland ... has given instructions tantamount to direct order that Vietcong strength total will not exceed 300,000 ceiling. Rationale seems to be that any higher figure would not be sufficiently optimistic and would generate unacceptable level of criticism from the Responding to the "smok-ing gun" claim of the CBS lawyers, Carver said the Sept. 10 cable was just the first of five he sent to Helms. At the time, he was chairman of a commission to resolve differences on the troop figures, and he had hoped to meet with Westmoreland and other generals on the subject.

"But we had to start staff talks before we talked to the written after a long and frustrating day," said Carver.

Carver said the fourth cable, sent after he had finally met with Westmoreland, painted a different picture. "Westmoreland denied giving such an order and I believed him. He acquiesced to my suggestion that we use my figure."

Carver explained that enemy troop figures were nearly impossible to pin down because the forces included regular soldiers, quasi-military forces and secret defense forces. In a later cable to Helms, Carver wrote: "Our information varies widely. Regular forces good, others much less

"In sum," Carver wrote, "the communists' militia and political organization is complex and its aggregate numerical size cannot be estimated with confidence."

Carver said Tuesday that his estimate of 250,000 enemy soldiers and another 250,000 quasi-military personnel was the intelligence projection "that went to the president and the National Security Council. It was my suggestion, and Westmoreland agreed with it."

Asked if Westmoreland had placed a ceiling on the troop count - as CBS reported and Carver suggested in his first cable - Carver said "he didn't behave as if there was DeLeon didn't flirt with a no-hitter, as he has done three times since being recalled from the minor leagues just over a month ago. But he managed to strike out 11 Houston batters over 8 2-3 innings Thursday as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the stros 5-3.

The victory salvaged the final game of the four-game series for the Pirates and moved them into a first-place tie with idle Philadelphia in the National League East.

DeLeon, 5-2, kept the Astros guessing with his array of forkballs, fastballs and curves, allowing just a run and four hits until the eighth.

New Yankee paying dividends

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

Fifteen days ago, when Billy Martin of the New York Yankees discovered Omar Moreno on his roster, he was one unhappy manager.

Now - well, for the moment, at least - he's all

Moreno was obtained from Houston in a deal that sent Jerry Mumphrey to the Astros, a straight-up swap of unhappy center fielders that angered Martin because he hadn't been consulted by Murray Cook, the Yankees' general manager, before the trade was consummated.

Before he arrived, Moreno was batting .242. But in the 13 games since putting on the pinstripes, he is hit .349 with eight runs batted in and his first home run of the season.

The homer came Wednesday, when he also had a single and a double and drove in four runs to lead the Yanks past Seattle 6-3. On Thursday he had three more hits — a single, double and triple - drove in a run and scored three as the Yanks beat the Mariners 7-4

Elsewhere Thursday in the American League, Milwaukee routed California 7-0, Baltimore edged Toronto 2-1 in 10 innings, Detroit whipped Chicago 10-1, Minnesota beat Boston 5-2, Oakland shut out Cleveland 6-0 and, in a twi-night doubleheader, Kansas City swept Texas 3-1 and "I think Billy's only reservation with Omar was that he didn't know him," said Cook, "and I think Omar is going to make Billy like him.'

Moreno seemed to be of the same mind. When asked about Martin's earlier negative attitude, Moreno replied: "I don't know anyi,g about that. He never saw me play. Now I'm in a new league and I'd like to show everyone how I can play." He's showing Martin. "He's swinging the bat real good, playing a great outfield, and running the bases really well," the Yanks' manager said - but he still hedged. "So far, I'm happy...I like to watch a player for a month before I make up my mind."

The Yanks spotted Seattle three first-inning runs, got one back in the bottom of the first, tied it in the second and broke it open with three in the third as Steve Kemp and Roy Smalley doubled to left, games off the pace. Moreno tripled and Willie Randolph singled. Shane Rawley went the route for the 11th time this season, scattering seven hits. Brewers 7, Angels 0 Milwaukee retained its onegame lead in the East, riding rookie Tom Candiott's eight-hitter past the Angels. It was his second complete game in two starts. The Brewers pounded California sinkerballer Tommy John for 13 hits in five innings, the big one a three-run homer by Ned Yost in a five-fun fifth. "It was a fast ball, but didn't sink," John said.

Orioles 2, Blue Jays 1 For the second night in a row, Toronto saw a last-inning lead dissolve in Baltimore. This time the loss dropped the Blue Jays into fifth place in the East, 31/2 games behind the Brewers.

Tippy Martinez gave up Barry Bonnell's two-out homer in the top of the 10th, but he wound up the winner when, with one out in the bottom of the inning, Joe Nolan and Al Bumbry singled off Roy Lee Jackson and Dan Ford doubled off the glove of diving center fielder Lloyd Moseby.

Tigers 10, White Sox 1

John Wockenfuss' threerun homer, Lou Whitaker's two-run blast and Chet Lemon's solo shot carried the Tigers past Chicago and kept them third in the East, 142

The White Sox, whose West Division lead over Kansas City was cut to 71/2 games, were ordered by the AL to travel to Detroit for this single game, rather than wait and make up an Aug. 10 rainout at the end of the season.

Twins 5, Red Sox 2

Minnesota's Frank Viola baffled Boston on three hits including Reld Nichols' homer in the second inning and Dave Stapleton's RBI double in the sixth.

The Twins, winning for the 11th time in 16 games, broke a 2-2 tie in the bottom of the seventh on singles by Mickey Hatcher and Ron Washington and Darrell Brown's A's 6, Indians 0

While Viola was throwing heat, Oakland's Steve McCatty was avoiding it - and he still came away with a fourhit victory in Cleveland. "If they think I wasn't challenging them, it wasn't because I didn't want to throw the fastball," he said. "It's just that I couldn't get it over." It was his third consecutive complete game and second

Royals 3-5, Rangers 1-4 Kansas City won the first game as George Brett homered and Quisenberry picked up his 35th save to tie his personal

season high and move within three of the major-league record of 38, set by John Hiller of Detroit in 1973.

In the second game, Dave Hostetler's homer put Texas on top 4-3 in the top of the eighth inning. But in the bot-tom of the ninth, John Wathan led off against Dave Schmidt with a single, was bunted to second and scored the tying run on pinch-hitter Frank White's double before Pat Sheridan sent White home with the game-winner by drilling a single to rightenter field.

Boxing showdown coming

By DAVE GOLDBERG AP

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) - It's almost showdown time for U.S. boxers in the IX Pan American games, the confrontation with the Cubans that most anticipated since they arrived here.

Four young Americans -Pernell "Sweet Pea" Whitaker, Jerry Page, Louis Howard and Dennis Milton won semifinal bouts Thursday night, atoning for the U.S. flop on Wednesday when three of four American boxers lost. That ended a U.S. unbeaten streak that had reached 12.

But waiting for all four on Sunday will be four Cubans who took only nine minutes and 52 seconds to dispose of four opponents, three by knockout in the first round, the fourth by disqualification.

Action on the field and in the ring Thursday continued to share the spotlight with the crackdown on the use of performance-enhancing drugs by athletes.

Mike Tully, a U.S. pole vaulter who had left with 11 other U.S. track athletes after they heard of the strict drug testing standards, returned and said he would compete at 4 p.m. today.

"I will give a statement after competing," said Tully, who paid his own way here from Los Angeles. "I think the issue will become clearer tommorrow."

Fernando Vera, a Chilean cyclist who had been handed a one-month suspension earlier this week, became the 12th athlete to be named for using drugs in competition. Vera did not win a medal here, but like the others, his name and test results were forwarded to international sports officials for possible further sanctions.

Vera was the first nonweightlifter named. The only U.S. athlete involved so far has been Jeff Michels of Chicago, a triple gold medal winner in the 243-pound weightlifting class who faces an automatic one-year suspension that would eliminate him from Olympic competition.

In another development involving Michels, Cable News Network reported Thursday night that the U.S. Weightlifting Federation has not taken action against the weightlifter.

"We have to make sure the findings were correct," said Murray Levin, president of the USWF, in a telephone interview from Boca Raton, Fla. "They may have the wrong apparatus. We have not been, and the boy has not been notified what was found in Caracas."

Levin also told CNN, "We aren't going to let this boy go down the drain because some mad man from Cologne, West Germany, has developed a system that may not be acOne U.S.-Cuba confronta-tion will take place today when the U.S. baseball team tries to end Cuba's 32-game Pan American winning streak. But now the U.S. must beat the Cubans twice to win the gold medal because the U.S. lost its first game in nine starts Thursday, falling 9-5 to Outside of baseball, it was a good day for the United States, which won 11 gold medals to move to 106 total and 218 overall. Cuba remained second with 64 golds and 138 medals and Canada third with 12 and 89,

The women's basketball team clinched its gold with a game left to play in a 113-33 romp over Venezuela, as Lisa Ingram made her first appearance and led the United States with 23 points. Joan Benoit won the women's 3,000 meters and Colleen Sommer took the high jump to ease the American drought in track and field.

There were three golds in tennis, one in table tennis and four in the brand new sport of sombo wrestling, a cross between freestyle and Greco-

In tennis, NCAA champion Greg Holmes of Danville, Calif., won the men's singles; Gretchen Rush of Pittsburgh, who won the women's singles on Wednesday, teamed with Leslie Allen of Winston-Salem, N.C., to take the women's doubles, and Eric Korita of Glenview, Ill., and Jon Levine of Phoenix combined to win the men's doubles, 4-6, 7-5, 12-10 in 3 hours and 20 minutes.

The women's table-tennis team of Insook Buschan of Aurora, Calif., and Diana Gee of San Carlos, Calif., beat Cuba 3-1 for the gold and the sombo wrestling golds went to Lewis Dorrance of Triangle, Va., Steve Siroy of Hayward, Calif., Bobby Sole of San Bernardino, Calif., and Jim Martin of Alexandria,

The U.S. men's basketball team remained unbeaten by trouncing Argentina 88-68, its biggest point spread of the games, as Michael Jordan led the way with 24 points. The American softball team earned a spot in Friday's championship game with an 11-9 eight-inning win over Canada as Butch Batt and Chuck Prescott scored the winning runs on bad throws by Canadians in the

The best performance of the day came not from an American but from Luis Delis of Cuba, who broke the Pan Am mark in the discus with a toss of 220 feet, 10 inches. Delis also won the shot put on Tuesday and competed in both events against fields without Americans - the U.S. weight men were among the 11 athletes who went

More families taking new forms

COLLEGE STATION - By the year 2000, if current come in three major forms: first-marriage families, single-parent families, and remarriage families.

"First-marriage families are not predicted to die out, but they will not necessarily predominate either," says Dr. Delores Stegelin, a family life education specialist.

These marriages will have one, two, or less frequently, three children. A sizable minority will remain childless.

The greatest problem facing first-marriage families will continue to be the balance of work and family responsibilities, says Stegelin, who is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

With one out of two married women now working outside the home, and a projected increase of working mothers by the end of the century, the issues of childcare and housework in families will be increasingly important, she adding too much sugar.

If current divorce rates remain the same, half of all marriages begun in the early 1980's will end in divorce. Since divorce tends to occur early in marriage, threefifths of all divorces involve couples with children living at home.

Divorce, along with births to unmarried women, has led to a steady and continuing in-crease in the number of single-parent families. The result is that about half of all children will spend some time in a single-parent family before they reach 18.

According to Stegelin, the most significant problem for single-parent families will probably continue to be income. Less than half of the divorced women receive child support payments, and those who do receive an average of about $1,900 per

Although a great deal of publicity has been given to joint-custody arrangements, it is still uncommon. As the wife retains custody in nine out of ten cases, the lack of a male figure in the home is

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Fisher

DEAR POLLY — Last year, my daughter-in-law made grape jelly and didn't cook it long enough. She put it in sterilized jars and sealed them. When it didn't jell, she brought it up to me to redo. I have worked until recently and have not touched it. Is there any way I can salvage something from it? My mother never used added pectin in her jelly and we just tried to do the same. However, in this batch, she apparantly either did not add enough sugar or cook it long

DEAR MRS. K.M. - If the seals on the jars are intact and no deterioration, weeping, mold or other signs of poor seals no guarantees, but worth a try. Softness in jelly made without added pectin can be caused by cooking too long, cooking too slowly, adding too little sugar or acid, or even

Anyway, try this. Measure 4 cups of the jelly and quickly bring it to a boil. Boil for two minutes, then give it the jelly test: Dip a metal spoon into the juice, raise it from the pot and allow the juice to run off the spoon. If it runs off in a sheet, rather than a liquid stream, it should be ready. If it doesn't pass the sheeting test, boil for an additional minute or two until it sheets from the spoon, indicating that the jelly is done. Then skim off any foam, pour into freshly sterilized jars or glasses and seal. If after three to four minutes of rapid boiling, the jelly shows no signs of improving, stop. This technique's probably not going to help. You can try again by adding powdered pectin as follows:

Measure 4 teaspoons powdered pectin and one-fourth cup water into a large pot and bring to a boil, stirring constantly.

Then add 4 cups of jelly and one-fourth cup sugar. Bring rapidly to a boil for 30 seconds, stirring constantly. Immediately remove from heat, skim off the foam, pour into jars or glasses and seal. Again, this may or may not work. If you're not successful, the soft jelly could still be used as pancake syrup and ice cream topping. Good luck! — POLLY Keep your family's wardrobe spotless with "Polly's Guide to Spots and Stains." Send $1 for each copy to POLLY'S POINTERS, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, ough. I hate to waste this since they need it for their famisingle-parent families, notes the home economist. Remarriage families will be increasingly common as three out of four divorced people remarry and half of these remarriages take place within three years of divorce. While remarriage solves many of the economic problems associated with single parenthood, it also requires blending two families together into one.

The remarriage family faces complex interactions and adjustments blending children from either or both spouses, grandparents and other extended relatives, says Stegelin. Even though many Americans will live in nuclear families themselves, they will be involved with single-parent and blended families formed by their relatives or friends. Although the divorce rate is expected to remain high, Americans seem to hold the institution of marriage in high esteem. "The question," says Stegelin, "is whether we as a society can find ways to support families - no matter what form they take."

Frequent urination

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

First find out if you are really passing an excess amount of urine which can occur as a result of diabetes and other disorders. Carefully measure and record all your fluid intake each day and, on the same day, measure the total urine passed. Do this for a few days to find out what the balance is fluid in vs. fluid out.

You may need an internal medical consultation to look for other causes, particularly if this test proves that you are passing a lot of urine rather than just urinating frequently. Beyond that, it is a urological problem. If you do have prostate obstruction, your urologist could inject a radio-opaque substance in your circulation, have you empty your bladder and then use an X-ray to see if you still have residual urine in the bladder. If you do, it could mean you need more

DEAR DR. LAMB - I had a prostate operation called a TUR. My main reason was night urination. Since then the frequency of urination has diminished but I still go three to six times at

I am 72. My urologist who performed the operation tells me to refrain from liquids after 6 p.m. and to work on overcoming the habit. I have even stayed off liquids from noon on to no avail.

I've seen two other urologists in the same group and neither would comment on the size of the prostate. I've also had a cystoscope which was negative. What do you suggest? DEAR READER — Time and patience may help. However, it is important to understand that frequency of urination does not mean passing lots of urine. Also there are other reasons for frequency besides prostate obstruction.

of the core of the prostate removed. The size of the prostate is not nearly as important as how much it constricts or obstructs the urethra from the bladder. This can occur even though the prostate is small

I am sending you The Health Letter 15-6, Prostate Gland Problems, to give you a better appreciation of the situation. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, selfaddressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY

10019 DEAR DR. LAMB - I am worried about social diseases such as herpes simplex. We have a friend who does not use any bleach. She has had too many accid dents with it taking out color and refuses to use it anymore. She does her laundry using cold water and social disease be transmitted by using washcloths and towels at her home? I wouldn't want to appear neurotic and bring my own, so what is the answer? DEAR READER - No. you won't catch herpes that way. But do inquire discreetly if she uses a clothes dryer or not. If she does, that is the best procedure in the laundry routine to destroy infectious organisms. The heat required to dry the clothes kills almost all organisms.

The exception is fungus such as athlete's foot. That is why it is a good idea to iron socks when you are treating athlete's foot. It gets rid of any of the fungus spores that may have survived the laun-

And if you use other people's towels which are not clean it is possible to transmit staphyloccocal infections. Boils can be spread that way.

FAITH WILL PREPARE YOUR CHILDREN FOR TOMORROW

by the way you conduct your life, and by attending your ur children need to learn faith in God, as well as the basic skills of life. As the opening of the school season draws near. remember that it is also time to begin or resume their spiritual education; to fortify them for the time when you may no longer be on hand to guide and protect them. That a large segment of our young people have never learned goodness for its own sake is tragically evident in the almost daily accounts of juvenile wrongdoing. Children are not born with this knowledge; they must be taught it. Enroll your children in Sunday school, and set your own good example for them

'Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it." - Proverbs 22:6
