Hurricane Alicia slams into Texas coastline

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Hurricane Alicia slammed into the Texas coast early today, spawning tornadoes, smashing cars with flying debris, and littering streets with tree limbs and glass. An elderly woman was killed in Houston when a tree fell on her house, an official said. Sustained winds of 76 mph and gusts up to 102 mph were measured by the National Weather Service's office in Galveston as the hurricane hit shore. Just off Galveston Island, reconnaissance aircraft reported maximum sustained winds near 115 mph as the hurricane's center moved inland. Howling winds in Galveston ripped bricks and metal siding from buildings, threw sign posts into cars and ripped limbs from trees. The city was plunged into darkness by power outages. The hurricane also knocked out the weather service's local radar and tide gauges. Scattered minor injuries were reported in the storm's path. The body of the woman killed in Houston, 50 miles from Galveston, was found early today. She was identified as Elisa Lopez Flores. "A tree fell into the house and trapped and killed a 71-year-old female at her home," said Stanley Curtis, an ambulance dispatcher with Houston Fire Department.

The leading edge of the eye of the hurricane moved across the western end of Galveston Island about 1:40 a.m., said Steve Harned, chief meteorologist of the Galveston National Weather Service office. By 7 a.m. Alicia's center was southwest of Houston and was moving on "a rather erratic course" between northwest and north-northwest at about 7 mph, the weather service reported. Reconnaissance aircraft measured maximum sustained winds of near 100 mph. No other deaths or serious injuries had been reported, said John Hansborough, a spokesman at the emergency center operated by the Texas Department of Public Safety in Austin. Alicia caused "significant ... but not serious" damage to Galveston, he said. Moderate wind damage was reported in Brazoria County, he added. Weather service meteorologist Brian Peters said he had talked with civil defense officials in Galveston but they had no damage estimate. "Too much is happening out there and they've pulled all of their people off the streets. We won't know how bad it is till daylight," Peters said. The low visibility created by power outages in Galveston was worsened by a driving rain. Power was cut to 250,000 residents in the Houston area. Houston Mayor Kathy Whitmire ordered downtown barricaded at dawn because of glass and debris that littered the streets, said Richard Hawkins of the Houston-Harris County Civil Defense. Water pressure was low in much of the city, where winds gusted to 94 mph, and non-existent in other areas, he said. The hurricane shattered several windows, broke doors and blew down about 75 trees at the LBJ Space Center at Houston. A hangar was blown over at Hobby Airport in Houston, the weather service said. Loss of power also was reported farther south toward Freeport, Texas City, on Galveston Bay, was without power and had low water pressure, state officials said. In Baytown, 600 homes were reported flooded before (See SLAMS, Page 2)

More than 10,000 people take refuge in shelters

PORT O'CONNOR, Texas (AP) — More than 10,000 people took refuge in temporary shelters as Hurricane Alicia prompted residents and vacationers along the Texas coast to seek safe ground and forced hundreds of businesses, schools, stores and hospitals and plants to close or change schedules. Red Cross officials said Wednesday that evacuees left their residences along the 500-mile-long Gulf coastline from Corpus Christi, Texas to Morgan City, La., for dozens of shelters inland. Meanwhile, Alicia, described as "dangerous" by the National Weather Service, battered the coast with 115 mph winds and tides 12 feet above normal. Despite the warning, authorities said thousands of people who ignored the evacuation warnings would remain at home to weather the storm. The approach of Alicia reminded some coastal residents of earlier storms. Lou Stryker and her husband, who have lived on Texas' midcoast for 31 years, got all their guests out of their motel at Port O'Connor by midmorning Wednesday and made plans to go to stay with friends in Victoria. She said they made no special provisions at the motel, a cedar building constructed in 1962, one year after Hurricane Carla destroyed a motel they owned a few blocks away. "There is not really anything you can do. If it is coming it doesn't help to board up. We'll just leave and hope it is here when we come back." The Red Cross operated 52 evacuation centers in nine Texas counties. Civil defense officials recommended people living in mobile homes and below elevations 10 feet above sea level to leave. In Galveston, hit by torrential rains and high tides, Mayor Gus Manuel refused to order the evacuation of the island's 60,000 residents, placing the city's trust in a 17-foot-high seawall. Red Cross spokesman George Hill said most refugees came from Calhoun and Brazoria counties, but that relatively few came from Galveston County, where gales ripped boats from moorings and ripped at trees. "We are very surprised that people are not going deeper into the state," Hill said Wednesday. "In the past, we have had maybe a 1,000 go as far north as Austin and even some to Waco. Tonight, we only have 75 in an Austin shelter." Authorities worried that a 6-foot storm tide could rise to block traffic on Interstate Highway 45, isolating Galveston Island from the mainland and blocking one of the main escape routes. Officials said it would take 26 hours to evacuate the island and some experts say many residents would have to find shelter in Galveston. The Texas Emergency Management Council, made up of representatives of 28 state agencies, planned to operate on a 24-hour basis during the hurricane crisis. Gov. Mark White, following an afternoon briefing Wednesday, said that an order was issued for the evacuation of Port O'Connor and nearby Surfside. Most of Surfside's expensive vacation homes were boarded up by Wednesday noon. A motel was also evacuated. About 30 Coast Guardsmen stationed at the Port O'Connor station were evacuated, said Coast Guard Chief Petty Officer J.W. Brown.

Tile Painting
The Hereford & Vicinity YMCA is sponsoring a project in which citizens may become a permanent part of the Y's proposed facility. For $2.50, persons may decorate a ceramic tile with their name. The tiles will go on a wall in the new Y building, according to Rick Brown (left), chairman of the Y board's building committee. A good crowd "signed up" for the project at last weekend's Town & Country Jubilee. Others wishing to sign a tile may do so at the Y office in Sugarland Mall. (Brand Photo).

Drive gaining steam YMCA fund nears $500,000

The Hereford & Vicinity YMCA's building fund project is nearing the $500,000 mark, and is gaining steam with prospects of some other major donations on the horizon according to building committee chairman Rick Brown. Brown said Wednesday that the Y's project has raised $350,000 in cash and pledges thus far, and has another $100,000 worth of services pledged toward the proposed full-facility building to be erected on 15th Street. In addition, several other items in the form of merchandise, including a used combine and automobile, have been donated to the cause. YMCA Director Weldon Knabe reported that the Y has $219,500 on deposit at the Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union. He estimated dirt and paving work donated by Jake Diel Construction Co. to be worth near $120,000 as well. The Y must reach the $500,000 mark in cash on hand to receive an $80,000 gift from a local donor. It was the prospect of that original $80,000 gift which prompted Y oficials to begin the building project initially. If the Y has the half-million on hand by Jan. 1, 1984, it will receive the designated $80,000. If not, the money will be divided up by several other local agencies as stipulated by the donor. The Y's building fund goal is $925,000 for a 25,000 square-foot structure which will include a full-size gymnasium, several handball-racquetball courts, a small pool, locker room and exercise areas for both men and women, a fitness center, youth center, and office space for the YM-

PUC denies consumer appeal
AUSTIN (AP) — Texas consumer groups opposed to Southwestern Bell's $1.7 billion dollar rate hike request have lost an attempt to get the Public Utility Commission to throw the case out. The PUC denied the motion Wednesday and ordered hearings on the case to begin as scheduled Oct. 11. However, the panel expressed reservations about the date and Commissioner Phillip Ricketts said opponents of the rate increase could ask hearing examiner Jacqueline Holmes for a postponement. A lawyer for the groups had tried to argue Wednesday that Bell had not provided enough information on why the company needed the rate hike, and therefore the public did not have all the facts. Marriage is one of the great institutions of life. The tragic part is that most don't last long these days. Here's a few quotes on the subject from some celebrities:

Rodney Dangerfield: "We sleep in separate rooms, we have dinner apart, we take separate vacations, we're doing everything we can to keep our marriage together."

Zsa Zsa Gabor: "I am a marvelous housekeeper. Every time I leave a husband, I keep his house. I have never hated a man enough to give his diamonds back."

Lilly Tomlin: "I had a friend who was getting married. I gave her a subscription to Modern Bride and the subscription lasted longer than the marriage."

Johnny Carson: "The difference between divorce and legal separation is that a legal separation gives a husband time to hide his money."

Elizabeth Taylor: "I will never make the statement that I would never remarry."

Margaret Mead: "We had no problems until we added the second bath. That ruined our capacity to cooperate."

Teachers to report Friday

All teachers within the Hereford Independent School District system are reminded that they need to report for an inservice day Friday. According to Mal Manchee of the school office, teachers will report at 8:30 a.m. to the high school auditorium. In-service activities are expected to last all day, Manchee said. School begins in Hereford Wednesday. Students will register Monday, and another inservice session for teachers is set for Tuesday.

Strain charged on two counts

Robert Strain, 52, a Hereford area farmer, is free today after posting a $30,000 bond with Deaf Smith County Justice of the Peace O.K. Neal Wednesday afternoon. Strain, whose farm was raided Monday and found to contain almost $150,000 worth of stolen items, was charged with theft over $200 and under $10,000 by both Deaf Smith and Hale County authorities. The former County Democratic Party Chairman was reportedly taken into custody around noon Wednesday, according to Terry Colston, Special Investigator with the criminal district attorney's office. Colston said the two charges leveled against Strain are third-degree felonies. No other arrests have been made in the incident, but Colston said the investigation into the apparent fencing operation is continuing. The investigator indicated that other arrests may be forthcoming as soon as sufficient evidence is gathered. Officers from over 20 Texas counties converged on

Crops tour set next Tuesday

Deaf Smith County hopes to have its annual crops tour Tuesday beginning at 1 p.m., with five stops scheduled. According to Justin McBride, county agricultural extension agent, the first visit will be to Joe Grodegut's farm located north of the Southwest feed yard. Tour members are then slated to go examine sugar beet production and disease control at the farm of Raymond Schlabs. Next on the agenda is a visit with Dr. Allen Wiese of

Police continue Mr. Burger probe

Hereford police are continuing their investigation of a Friday night theft of more than $500 of ground beef from Mr. Burger West, 821 W. Park Ave. David Wagner, a sergeant for the police department, said seven or eight juveniles and about 10 others are suspects in the case. The only arrest as of this morning was Aubrey Richburg, who was taken to the Deaf Smith Sheriff's office Monday afternoon. He was bonded out for $1,000 shortly after being charged with theft over $200 and less than $10,000. According to Sgt. Wagner, the suspects are believed to have been gathered in front of nearby Handy Hut Grocery, 817 W. Park Ave., before moving to the Mr. Burger parking area. Two boys discovered the meat locker door was unlocked, prompting them and the others to grab 17 cases of meat. More statements from suspects were to have been taken today. Sgt. Wagner indicated the police report may be completed by Friday. In other crime news, Melba Hickman of Rt. 3 recently had a $200 color television set stolen. The police report said she claimed she had lent the TV to someone who failed to return it. Two arrests were made by police Wednesday, both involving minor theft with one including public intoxication. Reported incidents included four prowler, two each of harassing phone calls and minor theft and one each of attempted arson and threat.

Heart transplanted during stormy night

HOUSTON (AP) — Dr. Denton Cooley and a team of surgeons ignored an approaching hurricane and transplanted a heart into a 48-year-old man as the storm slashed into the Texas coast, a spokesman for the Texas Heart Institute said today.

Winds in excess of 50 miles an hour ripped through parts of town, and several tornadoes were reported in the Houston area as Hurricane Alicia struck the upper Texas Gulf Coast.

But a heart was made available by the death of a young traffic accident victim and the operation was ordered to proceed.

The organ was transported from Hermann Hospital in a saline solution to the heart institute where the surgery took place during the night. The patient was reported recovering in good condition today.

It was the third heart transplant this week at the institute, the spokesman said.

Explosion heard at navy yard

WASHINGTON (AP) — A loud explosive noise rocked a computer operations center at the Washington Navy Yard early today minutes after military officials were warned that a bombing would occur, the Navy said.

No bomb was found in the building that houses the Navy Regional Data Automation Center and Navy spokesman Lt. Cmdr. Bill McLoughlin said he could not confirm any damage. There were no reports of injuries, authorities said.

Navy officials searched the building for the source of the noise but no bomb was immediately found, authorities said.

The Navy's district duty officer received a recorded telephone message at 11:56 p.m. Wednesday that a bomb would go off at midnight in the Defense Department's Computer Institute, located in a building next to the automation center, officials said.

Shortly after the explosive sound was heard, several news organizations received apparently recorded phone messages claiming that the FALN, a Puerto Rican nationalist group, was responsible for the explosion.

Soviet leader receives democratic senators

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet President Yuri V. Andropov, taking the initiative in broadening high-level contacts with the United States, today received a group of Democratic senators in the Kremlin.

The nine senators, led by Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island, are the first government delegation from Washington to meet Andropov since the death of President Leonid I. Brezhnev last November. Andropov, then newly installed at the helm of the Communist Party, met briefly at that time with Vice President George Bush to receive U.S. government condolences.

Western correspondents were not allowed inside the Kremlin, but Soviet authorities allowed two photographers and two television camera crews with the American media inside briefly for pictures and film.

Today's meeting was the second this week that the 69-year-old Soviet leader has held with Americans.

On Wednesday, Andropov met with William Winpisinger, leader of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers. Winpisinger gave him a plaque depicting two joined hands depicting the United States and Soviet Union and a message for peace and friendship, the official Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Death toll reaches 13 in Philippine quake

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — An earthquake killed at least 13 people, injured 22 others, toppled buildings and damaged bridges and churches in President Ferdinand E. Marcos' home province, civil and military officials said today.

Office of Civil Defense spokeswoman Priscila Duque said six of the dead were found in the wreckage of two buildings, three and four stories tall, that collapsed in the Ilocos Norte province capital of Laoag, 250 miles north of Manila, after the tremor struck Wednesday night.

Seven others in a four-story building that fell in the adjacent town of San Nicolas, she said.

The military reported 22 people were hurt in the quake. Ms. Duque said her office confirmed 16 injured, but was awaiting details of other damage and possible casualties. Manila radio and television stations quoted officials who said "many more" were hurt.

"Many buildings and concrete roads suffered cracks and at least one house burned down," in Laoag, Ms. Duque said.

Laoag and San Nicolas appeared to have suffered worst in the 20-second tremor, which measured 5.7 on the Richter scale of motion and struck at 8:18 p.m. (8:18 a.m. EDT). A 5.5 Richter reading indicates a quake that can cause considerable damage.

Exactly seven years earlier, on Aug. 17, 1976, an earthquake measuring 8.7 on the Richter scale struck the southern Philippines and created tidal waves that killed about 8,000 people on the island of Mindanao.

Summertime news

Shop talk:

In the Kansas City trial of former television anchorwoman, Christine Craft, the jury was not allowed to hear that her male co-anchor had also been demoted because of "low ratings."

Whatever the other significance of this trial, electronic media "news" has been exposed as the show biz it is.

President Reagan replied, "You're tempting me!" — when a reporter asked whether the debategate bruhaha was not merely "summer theatre."

July and August are dog days for the legion of competing media people in Washington, D.C.

They have to "come up with something" to justify their allotted 60 seconds and with Congress in recess and bureaucrats on vacations it's not easy.

Newsmongers who prefer to sanctify their profession with the aura of a divine calling are reduced to speculation over Roger Mudd's reassignment and George Brett's sticky bat.

Media people, frequently critical of the National Enquirer and the Star become imitators of those tabloids, emphasizing if not exaggerating "miracle cures" and "impending ecological disasters."

To keep readers reading and listeners listening, the professional purists compromise their purity.

Those who spell "Eye-Witness News" with a capital "I" defer in practice to that which they deplore in principle, "the mountainous molehill."

Especially since Watergate journalism graduates have been taught to look down their noses at tabloids though tabloid journalism may be more honest!

Tabloids do not take themselves seriously; unabashedly they sensationalize.

The purist journalist sensationalizes surreptitiously. Especially during crucial rating periods, he emulates their preoccupation with prostitution, personal hygiene, child molestation.

But he justifies it by attaching righteous significance to the trivial.

Newshandling is not an Evangelical calling; it's show biz. Any presumption otherwise is conspicuous pretense.

Face it, the national Enquirer and the Star and such bring into the reading room a lot of people who otherwise would have no interest in national or world affairs.

Electronic newpeople too frequently tend to bestow a mantle of emotional abstinence on their guru, Edward R. Murrow, which he would never have claimed for himself.

Bush says panel won't solve all of border economic problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President George Bush, chairman of a federal task force recently created by the president to deal with economic problems along the southwestern border, says he does not want to "elevate expectations" for federal aid to the area.

At the first meeting of the task force on Wednesday, Bush said the group would "see what kind of assistance we can give in the short run."

But he said he did not see it as "a long-range task force trying to solve in Washington all the economic problems of this border."

Noting that it was a time of tight budgets, Bush said, "We're not going to elevate expectations. We're not going to raise people's hopes beyond the federal government's ability to perform."

Bush said the task force would approach the problem

"as you would if some kind of tornado had gone through there."

Creation of the task force, officially known as an "interagency action group," was announced Saturday by President Reagan in El Paso, Texas, one of a large number of communities that have suffered severe economic disruption as a result of last year's devaluations of the Mexican peso.

The devaluations sharply reduced Mexico's trade with U.S. border areas, causing plummeting retail sales, a rash of business failures and skyrocketing unemployment.

Reagan had been urged by a number of Texas officeholders, among them Republican Sen. John Tower, to provide additional federal aid to the area.

The first task force meeting, held in the White House, lasted nearly an hour and was attended by representatives of more than a dozen federal agencies, including four cabinet secretaries.

Among options discussed were an acceleration of federal aid programs to the area and the dispatch of teams that would help local businesses bid for government contracts, said Shirley Green, a spokeswoman for Bush.

Working-level officials associated with the task force will meet again soon "to really bore in on how to implement" some of the general options discussed on Wednesday, she said.

"They're going to really have to dig into it to get it moving," said Ms. Green.

Bush told reporters at the meeting opened that he could not say how much extra federal money, if any, would be sought for border areas.

Later, Ms. Green said "it would be really premature for me to discuss" whether additional federal money might be requested for such border assistance.

After Reagan announced creation of the task force, Texas Gov. Mark White, a Democrat, criticized the president for creating a "phantom agency" that would not have the resources to help alleviate the problems of the border.

Cabinet secretaries attending Wednesday's meeting were Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger, Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole, Education Secretary Terrel H. Bell and Samuel R. Pierce Jr., secretary of housing and urban development.

Slams

high winds knocked out communications at the emergency operating center, Hansborough said.

At least 11 tornadoes touched down in the Houston-Galveston area.

Freeport Police Chief Charles Bankston estimated 35 percent of the area's 80,000 residents evacuated.

"We've got a lot of roof damage in the residential part of the town," he said.

Several twisters touched down in Pearland, knocking trees over roads, overturning a trailer, and tearing roofs and doors off some houses, according to police dispatcher Violet Phillips.

Alicia built into a strong hurricane Wednesday afternoon about 100 miles out in the Gulf of Mexico before heading toward the coast. The storm had stalled much of the day, keeping weather and civil defense officials guessing where she would reach shore.

More than 10,000 residents from Corpus Christi, Texas, to Morgan City, La., huddled in dozens of evacuation centers along the 500-mile coastline under a hurricane warning, Red Cross officials said.

Thousands more ignored the advice of authorities and chose to remain at home to ride out the storm, described by the National Weather Service as "dangerous."

Forecasters expected 10 to 15 inches of rain to fall in already sodden Southeast Texas.

When the gales began pelting Galveston Wednesday, trees were bent and broken and signs and boats were ripped from moorings. A fishing pier was swallowed by the high waves.

On Wednesday, the weather service had predicted Brazoria, about 70 miles south of Houston, and neighboring Matagorda County, were the likely targets for the eye of Alicia.

A portion of the area is protected by a levee built to withstand a storm surge of up to 18 feet. The levee never has been hurricane-tested and Sheriff Joe King said he was concerned that up to 65 percent of the residents remained in some of the low-lying areas.

"I'm not going to pull my people off of helping people who want to leave and send two men to get somebody that's going to fight leaving," King said. "I think we'll save more lives if we try to help the people who have enough sense to get out."

The hurricane grew from a tropical storm Tuesday and initially was termed a minimal hurricane. But Alicia stalled for several hours in the Gulf on Wednesday, gathered strength, and neared classification as a Class 3 hurricane, meaning it could cause extensive damage.

Gus Manuel, the mayor of Galveston, where 6,000 people perished in 1900 in the nation's worst hurricane disaster, feared the storm would cut off his island city from the mainland.

A bridge leading from west Galveston Island was closed early Wednesday, and ferry service was stopped by evening. The island's remaining link, a bridge on Interstate 45 to Houston, was threatened by high tides.

"We're uneasy about any hurricane that comes through here," Manuel had said Wednesday. "We do respect them because we know what they can do."

However, Manuel refused to order the evacuation of the island's 60,000 residents and placed their trust in a 17-foot-high, 10-mile-long seawall which has saved the city since it was completed in the 1960s.

In flood-prone Houston, the nation's fourth largest city, downtown shopkeepers Wednesday boarded and taped windows.

Civil defense officials advised anyone living in mobile homes and below elevations 10 feet above sea level to leave. The Red Cross was operating 52 evacuation centers in nine Texas counties. More than 10,000 people were being housed, spokesman Fred Yaeger said.

Mitterrand complaint believed to stem from misunderstanding

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials say a misunderstanding must have caused French President Francois Mitterrand's complaint that President Reagan tried to pressure France into taking military action against Libyan-backed rebels in Chad.

The French newspaper Le Monde reported that Mitterrand believes the rush of American aid to Chad complicated the conflict between rebel and government forces. Le Monde said Mitterrand received several letters from President Reagan concerning Chad and was irritated by what he saw as efforts to pressure him.

The story, apparently based on an interview, said Mitterrand resisted what he felt was a U.S. effort "to make him part of their preoccupation with the ambitions of Col. Khadafy," referring to Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy.

Alan Romberg, the State Department's deputy spokesman, told reporters Wednesday that if the Le Monde story is true, "we regret this apparent misunderstanding."

"We have consulted fully on a daily basis during the entirety of this problem, with numerous French civilian and military officials at the highest levels," Romberg said.

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes issued an identically worded statement in California. Asked whether the administration had put pressure on the French, Speakes said, "I won't address it in those terms." He said the aim of the United States action has been "to stop a situation we regard as dangerous."

But U.S. officials had made it clear that they wanted France to send jet fighters to help defend Chadian government forces against attacks from Libyan aircraft, which were supporting the rebels. And officials let it be known they were disappointed when the French didn't respond with aircraft to blunt rebel attacks in northern Chad. France has sent troops which appear braced to stop any Libyan-rebel advance on key cities in southern Chad, including the capital of N'Djamena.

When Speakes was asked whether the White House was dissatisfied with the French response, he said, "You would have to draw your own conclusions."

Computer learning good for children

And they also co-opt a key feature of video games: "It is inherent in the game that you realize what you can do to turn in a superior performance," according to Bob Olton, a research psychologist at Atari.

In creating Learning Company games, Mrs. Plestrup, an educational psychologist and former teacher, said she wanted "to give clear information, but not to say 'wrong' or 'incorrect,' because I've seen the effect of that on so many children."

Since they're not "made wrong by the machine," children quickly become comfortable, confident and competent on the computer, Mrs. Plestrup said.

The new computer games "let the child roam around and explore and give them the opportunity to define their own activity," Seuss said.

"First they learn the rules, like learning how to get around the board in Monopoly," Mrs. Plestrup said. "Then they get a little better at it... then there's another stage in the program where they're plumbing its depths, seeing the concepts that are there."

Fund

CA and probably the United Way and Big Brothers-Big Sisters organizations.

Both Brown and Knabe said Wednesday that the Y is "hopeful and expectant" that The Mabee Foundation of Tulsa, Okla. will be making a large gift to the drive in the near future. Knabe said that the Y has requested a donation of $150,000 from the foundation, whose board of directors will meet in October.

Brown said the prospect of a gift from the foundation is good since it donated to YM-CA projects in both Dumas and Canadian.

The Mabee gift would probably be designated as the final $150,000 of the project goal, Knabe said, effectively lowering the goal to $775,000 for local efforts.

Brown added that the YM-CA is also hoping that the Amarillo Area Foundation will make a donation to the fund, and said that several other significant gifts may be forthcoming soon.

The First National Bank of Hereford boosted the total recently with a donation of $15,000, and Brown indicated that the Hereford State Bank is also considering a donation to the fund.

The fund drive was officially launched July 5 and is expected to be completed by mid-September. An auction to sell merchandise donated to the cause has been tentatively set for Sept. 10.

"I've worked with kids all of my life, from Camp Fire and 4-H to Vacation Bible School," comments Micki Baulch, who is currently a special education and learning disabilities teacher at West Central School.

"I started out helping my mother teach Sunday school and had thought about teaching since I was pretty small," continues Micki. "I knew that I wanted to be a teacher when I started college."

Micki works with fourth, fifth, and sixth graders in small group situations, sometimes two ages at once. "I really enjoy the one-to-one contact I have with the children in this type of program; it suits me more than working with a big class," she comments.

"I've worked with children who have special problems all of my life and I feel real natural and comfortable with them. Sometimes it requires a lot of patience and repetition, but when they get something right, you can really see an accomplishment. It is well worth it," she smiles.

"These children, especially, need someone to look up to," adds Micki. "I try to be a friend in the classroom and they know that they can come to me if they have a problem."

Micki, who was born and raised in Hereford, met her husband, David, during her first year of teaching after graduating from college. She was instructing sixth graders in Midland and David was also a teacher there.

The couple has been married a little over a year, and after moving to Hereford, David taught sixth grade at Shirley School. Since February, he has been working full-time at Deaf Smith General Hospital as an operating room technician.

"David enjoys working at the hospital," says Micki, "and sometimes his job can get pretty exciting. He is on call quite often."

He had been employed at the hospital the summer he and Micki were married and he also had experience working in surgery in two Odessa hospitals, which is where he grew up.

David had taken some pre-med courses at Baylor University, his alma mater, where he majored in music and education. He also attended West Texas State University one semester, where Micki attended all four years, except for one summer course she took at Houston Baptist University.

Micki was a special education major in elementary education. "I had a CTA (Classroom Teachers Association) scholarship during school and now I'm a member of that organization," she comments. She was a member of Delta Zeta Sorority at WTSU.

The couple moved from Aspen Street to 233 Star the first of May and they are currently in the process of redecorating their kitchen. "We moved while I was still in school so I've been pretty busy this summer getting everything organized," smiles Micki.

The Baulchs are members of First Baptist Church, where David sings in the choir. Micki helped with Vacation Bible School this year, for the first time since high school. "I used to help with it when I was in school and always enjoy it," she says.

All through school, Micki was involved in outside activities such as 4-H and Camp Fire. She participated in a number of projects, from food shows and dress revues to showing steers.

In high school she was active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, was on the track team, and was a member of Future Teachers of America and Future Homemakers of America.

Her hobbies include playing the piano, sewing and making latch hook rugs. She has made several latch hook designs and enjoys giving them as gifts to family members. She is currently taking piano lessons, especially enjoying this pastime because David likes to sing. He has been in the Hereford Chamber Singers and enjoys singing at church.

David also likes to refinish furniture and he and Micki both like to cook. "He enjoys cooking outdoors on the grill and he also cooks indoors," smiles Micki.

As Micki's family lives here, they get together fairly often and bring their favorite dishes. "I nearly always make the easy jello salad (below) for family get togethers," comments Micki.

The other two recipes which Micki shares were ones she used for 4-H county food shows when she was in high school. "The straganoff is simple to make and delicious and the pineapple tarts are a favorite recipe," she says.

Ann Landers Still fighting Civil War

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Re: "Southern Belle Transplanted." I don't know how old Magnolia Blossom is, but sure as the devil she is living in the past. Few males wear hats today to doff in Her Honeysuckle's presence.

I'm nearly 80, a native Georgian and have always lived in the South. It has been a long time since I've seen an elevator rider uncover his dome just because Scarlett was aboard. In fact, in the 1920s a friend of mine who weighed about 110 pounds was riding an elevator in Atlanta. He was wearing a hat, which he kept on.

Some smart-aleck Yankee made a few nasty remarks about men who don't know enough to show proper respect to ladies. When the elevator reached ground level, my friend exited, stepped aside until his critic got off and then gave him a rap in the mouth. Long live the Confederacy!—Colonel Corpone

DEAR PONE: Still fighting the Civil War, Colonel?

Thanks for a 1920 bulletin from south of the Mason-Dixon line. The world has been waiting for that.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your advice regarding the suicide in the family stank. All members wanted to keep it quiet except one. She refused to go along with the heart attack story and then told everyone she knew that the young person who had died was indeed a suicide.

The family was very upset and now she is being treated like an outcast. She wrote to you for assurance that she was right. Instead of backing her up for wanting to be honest, you gave her hell. I want you to know I am—Disgusted In Hot Springs

DEAR HOT: Wasn't the pain enough? Do you believe the family should NOT have been spared the agony of the questions that would inevitably follow?

DEAR ANN: Thank you for setting that woman straight on whether or not a suicide should be made public.

I am 16 years old. Last February I tried to kill myself. My family felt very guilty, but it was not their fault. I was hurt and depressed because of the way the world treated me. Instead of looking inside myself for the real reasons, I viewed it as "persecution."

You would not believe the number of people who tortured my parents with all sorts of questions about the incident. I am much better now, but the pain I went through was nothing compared with what my parents suffered.

I just wanted to thank you for saying what you did. When a child attempts suicide, the mom and dad feel so terrible they should be protected whenever possible against people who don't know how to mind their own business. I love you.—Been There In Newark

DEAR NEWARK: I love you, too. Thanks for writing.

Take precautions in summer's heat peak

The hottest part of the Central Texas summer is now here, and with the rising temperatures comes a higher risk of heat-related injuries or illnesses.

"The elderly, infants, athletes, and workers in high-heat environments are at particularly high risk," notes Dr. Gary Quick, of Scott and White's Department of Emergency Medicine in Temple.

Hot, humid, windless days are conducive to heat-related illnesses such as heat exhaustion and heat stroke. Dr. Quick stresses that "a higher frequency of heat injuries occur during the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., when the sun's rays are the strongest." Heat illness affects the body by disrupting salt and water balance and the ability of the brain and nervous system to regulate body temperature.

Symptoms frequently begin with dizziness, nausea, vomiting, and headache. Other signs may be muscle cramps or heat cramps.

Heat stroke, the most severe form of heat illness, is marked by confusion or coma and fever, sometimes as high as 105-107 degrees F. The heat stroke patient may be either sweating or have dry skin. Heat injury may be prevented by limiting heat exposure, by seeking cool places, and by limiting exercise and work to cooler times of early morning and evening. One should drink ample amounts (between three and ten quarts) of non-alcoholic fluids to replace fluid loss due to heat.

"Salt tablets are not usually necessary," says Dr. Quick, "but adding salt to food is usually sufficient replacement."

Dr. Quick also recommends wearing light-colored, loose-fitting clothing for further relief from the heat.

VFW Auxiliary plans garage sale Sept. 10

The Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 4818 voted to hold a garage sale on Saturday, Sept. 10, at the toy barn near the VFW when members met Monday night. Rose Goheen presided over the regular business session.

Members are urged to donate items for sale and to go out and help set it up at 4 p.m. Friday, Sept. 9.

Members of the group are urged to attend the District 13 convention at Childress this weekend.

Those attending were Betty Boggs, Rose Goheen, Essie Martin, Lillie Muller, Erma

Murphy, Edith Richardson, Mabel Yocum, and Marie Goheen.

Since the next regular meeting falls on Labor Day, President Goheen asked for a called meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 6, to replace the Monday night meeting. A covered dish supper at 7 p.m. will precede the meeting, which will begin at 8 p.m.

At the end of 1981, about 5,500 commercial banks — out of a total of nearly 15,000 in the country — were members of the Federal Reserve System.

"Newhart" top-rated show again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The low-key "Newhart" comedy series led three other CBS shows in the Top 10 of last week's Nielson ratings, pushing the network to its second straight ratings victory over NBC and ABC.

"Newhart" is the highest-rated first-year show on CBS and the only new series from last fall to be renewed.

Although the show, comedian Bob Newhart's second situation comedy, has been high-rated, its only other time in first place came in the week ended June 19.

CBS won the week ended Aug. 14 with a network average of 13.3, according to the A.C. Nielsen Co. NBC was second with 12.8 and ABC was third with 11.4. The networks say this means that in an average prime-time minute 13.3 percent of the country's TV homes were tuned to CBS.

Despite its victory, CBS did not dominate the Top 10 as it did last week. It had only four shows at the top and NBC and ABC had three each.

Here are the week's Top 20 programs:

1. "Newhart," CBS, a rating of 19.6 or 16.3 million households.
2. "Trapper John, M.D.," CBS, 19.1 or 15.9 million.
3. Movie—"Wait Till Your Mother Gets Home," NBC, 18.5 or 15.4 million.

4. "The Jeffersons," CBS, 18.0 or 14.9 million.

5. "Hill Street Blues," NBC, 16.9 or 14.0 million.

5. Tie—"Simon & Simon," CBS, 16.9 or 14.0 million.

5. Tie—"9 to 5," ABC, 16.9 or 14.0 million.

8. "Cheers," NBC, 16.5 or 13.7 million.

9. "Hart to Hart," ABC, 16.4 or 13.6 million.

9. Tie—"Three's Company," ABC, 16.4 or 13.6 million.

11. "Facts of Life," NBC, 16.3 or 13.5 million.

12. Movie—"A Matter of Life and Death," CBS, 16.1 or 13.4 million.

13. "Magnum, P.I.," CBS, 15.9 or 13.2 million.

14. "60 Minutes," CBS 15.3 or 12.7 million.

14. Tie—"Knight Rider," NBC, 15.3 or 12.7 million.

18. Movie—"Mark, I Love You," CBS, 15.2 or 12.6 million.

17. Movie—"A Bridge Too Far," NBC, 14.8 or 12.3 million.

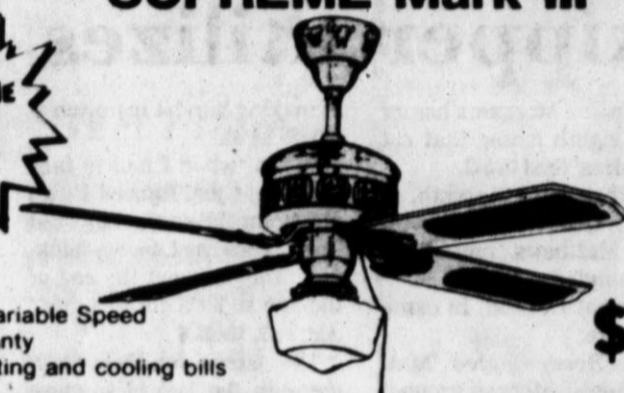

17. Tie—"20-20," ABC, 14.8 or 12.3 million.

Flanagan gains win despite four-pound brace

By BARRY WILNER AP Sports Writer
Like Linus in the Peanuts comic strip, Baltimore's Mike Flanagan has a security blanket. The main difference is that Flanagan wears his around his knee.

The Texas Rangers found nothing comical about facing Flanagan Wednesday night. The veteran left-hander, on the comeback trail from a severe knee injury, improved his record to 7-2 with his first triumph since being sidelined with ligament damage May 17. He lasted nine innings and scattered 10 hits before being relieved by Tim Stoddard in the 4-2 Orioles' victory.

Flanagan, who had lost his two previous starts, wore a four-pound brace on his left knee.

"Initially, I thought I might not pitch again this season," he said. "It was like taking the winter off and then trying to pick it back up without spring training. My knee is still only about 80 percent."

"The brace is tough getting used to, but my arm still feels as good as it did at the start of the season. The brace is a safety device, and supposedly I can't hurt myself in the injured area with it on. It's sort of like a security blanket.

"If I had to throw it away I wouldn't have the confidence to pitch."

Dan Ford's run-scoring double in the 10th won the game. The Orioles added an insurance run when Cal Ripken collected his fourth hit of the night, a single that scored Ford.

Elsewhere, Milwaukee swept Boston 4-3 in 10 innings and 5-1 to take hold of first place in the American League East; Toronto edged Cleveland 6-5 in 10; Chicago downed New York 7-5 in 13; Detroit belted Kansas City 10-4; Minnesota defeated Seattle 7-4; and California trimmed Oakland 6-5.

Brewers 4-5, Red Sox 3-1 Milwaukee took a half-game lead over Baltimore in the East with its sweep at home. The Brewers got all five of their runs in the second game in the fourth inning and rookie Tom Candiotti pitched a seven-hitter for his first major league victory.

Paul Molitor walked with one out, Cecil Cooper singled and Mark Brouhard singled home Molitor. Ed Yost lined an RBI single and Marshall Edwards beat out an infield hit. After a balk by reliever Dennis Boyd, Rob Picciolo hit a sacrifice fly and Ed Romero contributed an RBI single.

The Brewers won the first game on a 10th-inning single by Ted Simmons off the leg of pitcher Bob Ojeda to score Molitor.

"I knew this club is in the thick of a pennant race, but I never thought about that," said Candiotti, who was called up from Vancouver Aug. 6. "I knew I had my control, and I could get my four basic pitches over the plate. If I can do that, the hitters don't know what's coming next."

Blue Jays 6, Indians 5

In a wild affair at Cleveland, Lloyd Moseby tripled in Dave Collins with the winning run in the top of the 10th, then scored on Willie Upshaw's single as Toronto won for the sixth time in seven games. Collins singled off Rick Sutcliffe with one out in the 10th, then was awarded second when first baseman Mike Hargrove tackled him on Sutcliffe's errant pickoff attempt. Moseby followed with his triple and reliever Jamie Easterly surrendered Upshaw's hit.

It was Toronto's ninth win without a defeat in extra innings this year.

"Sutcliffe hit me in the hamstring and it knotted up on me, kind of like a spasm," said Collins. "It was a good play (by Hargrove) because I would have been on third if Hargrove hadn't held me, with Damaso (Garcia) coming up. He was off balance too, it was a good play by Hargrove."

Tigers 10, Royals 4

Lance Parrish homered and knocked in three runs and the visiting Tigers scored seven times in the last two innings. Marty Castillo also homered for the Tigers and Dan Petry went all the way, surrendering 11 hits. Kansas City's George Brett got his first home run since the famous pine tar shot on July 24.

White Sox 7, Yankees 5

Mike Squires, the White Sox defensive specialist at first base, delivered a double in the 13th to snap a 5-5 tie. He scored on Vance Law's single as the White Sox swept a three-game set in New York.

The Yankees' Graig Nettles had tied the game in the ninth with a two-run homer. "I haven't had a chance to contribute offensively much this year. I'm in almost every game for defense. But it feels good to have the chance to do something offensively," said Squires, who got only his fifth extra-base hit of the year in 128 at-bats. Salome Barojas worked 3 1-3 innings of two-hit, scoreless relief for the victory.

Twins 7, Mariners 4

Two-run homers by Tom Brunansky and Gary Gaetti sparked Minnesota's seven-run second inning at Seattle. Rookie Mike Waters picked up his first major-league save for the Twins. It was Brunansky's fourth homer in three games.

Seattle's Dave Henderson belted a three-run homer.

Angels 6, A's 5

Juan Beniquez belted a grand-slam homer and the California Angels, held scoreless for 27 innings, held on over host Oakland. The A's pitchers had not allowed a run in 37 consecutive innings before California broke through in the sixth for one run. In the seventh, Bob Boone doubled with one out, Rod Carew was walked intentionally, and Rob Wilfong walked before Beniquez connected for the Angels' eighth grand slam of the season, two short of the major league record.

Three pitchers for one inning

Padre skipper utilizes bullpen

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

It was the kind of game Dick Williams lives for — the kind that shortens managers' lives.

The San Diego manager, noted for his quick hook when his pitchers get in trouble, wore a path from the dugout to the mound Wednesday night. It took him four pitchers to get the three outs that gave the Padres a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Elsewhere in the National League, Houston defeated Cincinnati 7-6, Montreal routed San Francisco 12-5 and Los Angeles beat New York 4-1.

Bobby Brown had a two-run double, Terry Kennedy singled twice to drive in two runs and Garry Templeton drilled his third consecutive game-winning hit as the Padres built a 5-1 lead through seven innings. Eric Show was the beneficiary, but he left in the sixth inning.

Luis DeLeon took over and gave up Joe Morgan's homer in the eighth inning that cut the Padres' lead to 5-2.

And then came the ninth. Ivan DeJesus fled out. Gary Matthews and Greg Gross singled.

Out went DeLeon. In came Sid Monge.

Pete Rose singled Matthews home. Morgan grounded into a force play, Gross scoring.

Out went Monge. In came Ed Whitson.

Mike Schmidt walked.

Out went Whitson. In came Gary Lucas.

Tony Perez was safe on Templeton's throwing error that loaded the bases. Garry Maddox forced Schmidt at third, ending the game.

"I've been at this too long to get a thrill out of making all those managerial decisions," said Williams. "With a three-run lead like we had, let's just 1-2-3 and come in."

"Tony (Perez) hasn't seen me that often," Lucas said, "but the only time I faced him this year, he got a hit off me. I tried to stay conscious of making him hit my pitch — which he did.

"Then, when I had to face Maddox, I just figured I'd go after him the same way I did Tony. Dick had to be thinking, 'This is about the end of the line so let's get this guy.' Astros 7, Reds 6

The Astros won their ninth game in the last 11 to close within seven games of first-place Atlanta in the West.

Bill Doran had four of Houston's 13 hits. "We are getting timely hitting — base hits when we need them to forge ahead," said Manager Bob Lillis. "This series (a sweep of the Reds), we just had our hitting shoes on."

Vern Riffe relieved Nolan Ryan in the fifth inning and got the victory, retiring nine consecutive batters before Cesar Cedeno homered in the eighth.

Ryan struck out three batters to give him 3,622 for his career, 15 behind Philadelphia's Steve Carlton. "I had an upset stomach," Ryan said. "It was something I ate at lunch."

Expos 12, Giants 5 Andre Dawson drove in four runs, two of them with his 26th homer, and Steve Rogers became the NL's first 15-game winner as the Expos routed San Francisco.

"We've been swinging the bats well lately," Dawson said. "It wasn't a good night for Rogers, but he got the job done. It was nice to see the guys ahead of me getting on base and it's good to see (Gary) Carter starting to hit."

Carter and Tim Wallach each homered and drove in three runs for third-place Montreal, now 2½ games behind the first-place Phillies in the East.

Dodgers 4, Mets 1 Steve Sax's hit a two-run single in the Dodgers' three-run third inning as LA closed to within for games of the front-running Atlanta Braves in the West.

Chrissie triumphs

TORONTO (AP) — Chris Evert Lloyd was so busy looking for her game that she nearly lost the match.

Playing sluggishly, the second-seeded American was fortunate to get by Alycia Moulton 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 Wednesday and join eight other seeds in the round of 16 at the $250,000 Player's Challenge women's tennis tournament.

Fourth-ranked Sylvia Hanika of West Germany, No. 5 seed Hana Mandlikova of Czechoslovakia, seventh-rated Kathy Rinaldi, eighth-seeded Claudia Kohde of West Germany, No. 10 seed Eva Pfaff of West Germany, 11th-ranked Kathy Jordan, 13th-rated Helena Sukova of Czechoslovakia and No. 14 Kathy Horvath, all advanced into third-round play today.

been knocked out of the weeklong tournament.

Lloyd, who has lost only four times this year, needed one hour and 50 minutes to overcome the rangy Moulton, 33rd on the Women's Tennis Association computer.

Playing only her second tournament since a month-long layoff after Wimbledon, Lloyd sprayed groundstrokes long and wide, and benefitted mostly from Moulton's spotty net play and 10 double faults.

"Tonight, I was not proud of the way I played," said Lloyd, 28. "I just didn't have the feel out there."

"I don't usually start out that slowly, so I'm just glad to have gotten through it."

The Canadian Open is only the sixth event that Lloyd and Navratilova have both entered so far this year. Navratilova has won all three of their 1983 meetings.

Lundquist wants to show

Americans have best swimmers

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) - Steve Lundquist, who has set 100-meter breaststroke world records four times in the last year and twice in 11 days, wants to prove to the world that the United States has the best swimmers.

That the U.S. team is the best in the Western Hemisphere is becoming well documented this week at the Pan American Games, both in the pool and elsewhere.

"We were disappointed in our showing in the 1982 world championships," Lundquist, 22, of Jonesboro, Ga., said Wednesday night after setting a world mark of 1 minute, 2.28 seconds, .06 better than his previous standard set Aug. 6. "We're vigilantes now. We want to show the world we were a freak accident in 1982."

The United States won only eight of 28 races in the world championships, but they harvested gold in the first four races of the six-day swimming competition.

Meanwhile, Kelly McCormick of Columbus, Ohio, and Wendy Wyland of Mission Viejo, Calif., also finished one-two in the springboard diving; the U.S. shooting team added six more gold medals to raise its total for the games to 14, and Ann Marie Burns of Spring Valley, Calif., and Mary Lewis of Albany, N.Y., won gold medals in judo.

In boxing, Cuban world champions Adolfo Orta and Angel Herrera advanced with easy decisions, while the U.S. fighters took the day off.

The overall medal standings show the United States with 29 golds and 52 medals, while Cuba's count is 18-44, Canada is 5-28 and Venezuela 2-16.

Lundquist, who also has come close recently to world records in the 200 individual medley and 200 breaststroke, was asked if he had more world records on the horizon in the games. "I just go where my body tells me," he said.

As for the 1984 Olympics, Lundquist says he is 80 percent certain he will continue swimming another year, "depending on what my parents, my coaches and I decide."

The broad-shouldered, thin-waisted Lundquist, nicknamed "Lunk the Hunk," was pushed to his world mark by John Moffet of Costa Mesa, Calif., who finished in 1:02.36, just .02 slower than the previous record and .08 behind Lundquist.

"I had no clue he was so close," Lundquist said, "and I didn't want to know. I have to commend him immensely for his race."

Some more record-setting was done by Bruce Hayes of Dallas, who eclipsed the Pan

Am mark in the 200 freestyle with a time of 1:49.89.

The games will be hard-pressed to surpass Hayes' victory in pure drama. From the opening gun, lightly regarded Albert Mestre of Venezuela sprinted to a big lead and then tried to rely on adrenalin to carry him to triumph.

Mestre led Hayes by 1.24 seconds at the 150-meter mark, but Hayes passed him with about 20 meters to go. Mestre finished second in 1:50.36 and Rowdy Gaines of Winter Haven Fla., the former world-record holder in the event, was third in 1:51.27.

In addition to Lundquist and Hayes, the United States also got victories from two women swimmers, one of them a veteran and the other a first-timer in international competition.

The veteran was Tracy Caulkins, 20, of Nashville, Tenn., a 47-time winner in U.S. championship meets, who won the 400 individual medley, combining for a 1-2 sweep with Polly Winde of Ellicott City, Md.

The newcomer was Carrie Steineseifer, 15, of Saratoga, Calif., who proved herself the hemisphere's fastest woman swimmer in the 100 freestyle. She beat Canadian medalists Jane Kerr and Kathy Bald.

Cathy Graham, a police officer from Huntington, Mass., set a Pan Am record of 379 points in the women's air pistol, and the United States also won the team gold in that event.

The U.S. baseball team kept its record perfect through three games and clinched a spot in the final round.

Rodeo expects to draw big crowd

The nationally-famous Boys Ranch Rodeo is expected to attract 10,000 people of the Ranch when the event is held over the Labor Day weekend.

Afternoon performances are scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 4, and Monday, Sept. 5. Nearly 250 boys of the Ranch are the only contestants, riding calves, steers, bulls and bareback broncs.

This is the 39th year for the rodeo that also features a Grand Entry of area riding clubs and a homecoming of Ranch graduates who travel from towns and cities all over the United States. It is a rodeo for all of the Ranch's 350 boys. Those who do not compete as contestants will be selling soft drinks, pop corn and barbecue beef plates for $3. Reserve box seats are $3.50, general admission $2.50, and children age six through twelve are $1.

The rodeo is the only one of its kind in the nation in which the only contestants are boys riding professional rodeo stock under RCA rules.

Albracht gets win

Matt Albracht carded a 150 over 36 holes to capture the Junior City Golf Championship in the 15-17 division at Pitman Municipal Golf Course this week.

Albracht had a 17-stroke bulge over the runner-up Bobby Valdez. Chad Stephan was third at 173 and Blair Rogers shot a 183. Albracht opened with a 79 and added a 71 for the title.

Keith Anderson captured the 13-14 division, while Jason Walterscheid won the 11-12 division and Kevin Kelso was the 10-and-under division winner.

Anderson carded a 170, shooting 85 each day to win his division. He had a 13-stroke margin over Jason Bullard.

Walterscheid netted a 108-113 for a 221 total in winning the 11-12 division. In 10-and-under action, the players shot nine holes each day. Kelso won with a 142 and Zack Farr was one shot back.

Q: Are anti-theft devices for cars worth the trouble and expense?
A: An experienced car thief, given adequate time and privacy, will steal a car if he wants it. Anti-theft devices installed in a car will, however, probably stop the amateur, and may make the pro look for "easier pickin's". Several states have now mandated insurance companies to offer discounts to consumers who have installed anti-theft devices. These credits range from 5 to 20%, the amount depending on the company and the state. And, while some devices do qualify for discounts, others do not. Anti-theft devices may run from $3 to as much as several hundred dollars. There are a lot of variables, but, in general, the answer is "yes" if the device you install (1) makes the prospective thief think twice and (2) gives you a little more peace of mind.

Texas A&M hopes to rebound

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — In his first four of duty at Texas A&M, R.C. Slocum helped tutor defensive units that led the nation. Slocum, an assistant from 1972 through 1980, returned last season as defensive coordinator under Coach Jackie Sherrill and discovered the flip-side.

The Aggies struggled to a 5-6 season. The offense stumbled and the defense fell, yielding 403 yards per game, last in the Southwest Conference.

"Everything worked against us," Slocum said.

"We had a bad opponent to start with because no one had any respect for Boston College. They threw for 300 or so yards (in a 38-16 victory) on us in the first game and everyone just went berserk over that.

"Later on in the year, they threw for 540 against Penn State and they win the national championship. By then no one says anything about it. But early in the year it was that we were awful."

As a matter of fact, the Aggies were bad, Slocum agreed. But they intend to get better this season with a new 3-4 defense and shifting from the split backs offensive to the 1 formation.

The entire offensive backfield is gone but after watching John Mazur from the defensive side, Slocum thinks the Aggies have a premier quarterback at the helm.

"I think he will be one of the best quarterbacks A&M has ever had, the best one since Edd Hargett," Slocum said. "He's made a great adjustment. I hope he gets off to a good start."

Mazur is a transfer from Southern Cal where Slocum was a defensive coordinator in 1981. He will replace graduated Gary Kubiak.

The Aggies must also replace starting running backs Johnny Hector and Earnest Jackson. Among the candidates are Joey Harris, Jimmie Hawkins, Thomas Sanders and Ira Valentine.

Bryan Dausin was the lone graduation loss among the starting offensive line.

Slocum says the 3-4 alignment is better suited to the Aggies' talents.

"We didn't have many defensive linemen and we had more linebacker-type guys," Slocum said. "We had a couple of guys who could be pretty good inside backers but we didn't have the great middle linebacker.

"So, trying to sort it all out, we felt we could come up with better starting group with the 3-4."

Ray Childress was expected to carry the defense last season as a sophomore but faltered.

"The biggest thing was he played on a sorry defense," Slocum said. "Everybody expected him to be so good and to dominate people. He was the best lineman in that bunch. We were expecting a young kid to do it all and that was unrealistic."

NFC East

Division boasts off-field antics

By IRA ROSENFELD AP Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tough National Football Conference East division may be decided this season as much by developments off the field as on it.

Key players holding out for more money and drug charges hanging over a half-dozen players have further muddled a division picture already clouded by the appearance of two new head coaches and two fights for the No. 1 quarterback spot.

Washington assistant coach Richie Petitbon cautiously picked the Super Bowl champ Redskins to again rise to the top of the division.

"We are the defending champs so you have to say we are the team to beat. Of course, you know Dallas is going to be there at the end because they always are, the Giants are the most physical team in the division, that (Neil) Lomax kid keeps getting better in St. Louis and the Eagles can beat anyone."

The heart of the New York Giants defense is All-Pro linebacker Lawrence Taylor, who just reported to training camp last week after settling a contract dispute.

The Redskins, meanwhile, are trying to get cornerback Jeris White in camp. White has threatened to sit out the season if the Redskins refuse his contract demands.

Washington defensive back Tony Peters is also not in camp — he's preparing a legal defense for charges of trying to sell cocaine to an undercover federal agent.

The Redskins, 8-1 in the strike-shortened 1982 season, avenged their only loss of the year in the NFC Championship, beating Dallas 31-17 in the friendly confines of RFK Stadium.

Public opinion to the contrary, the Redskins are no fluke, having won 20 of 24 games in the last two seasons. Offensively, the team is stronger than the one that beat Miami 27-17 in the Super Bowl.

"Art (Monk) and Joe (Washington) are healthy and that can only help," notes Redskins quarterback Joe Theismann. "Our kicking also gets a boost from Darrell Green (the team's No. 1 draft pick). That kid can really fly."

Injuries sidelined both Monk and Washington last year. Monk, the team's leading receiver, is running well this summer after breaking a bone in his foot last year. Washington, who led the club in rushing in 1981, looks sharp following arthroscopic surgery on both knees.

The Atlanta Falcons can attest to Green's ability returning punts. The rookie out of Texas A&I ran 61 yards for a score the first time he touched the ball in the NFL in the team's first preseason game against the Falcons.

A healthy Washington will provide relief to John Riggins. Despite his record-breaking performances for carries and yardage in the playoffs, Riggins is 34 and cannot hold off Father Time forever.

Clarence Harmon, Riggins' backup in the playoffs, is another player facing drug charges and will stand trial in Texas for possession of cocaine.

The Cowboys, too, have been preoccupied with talk of drug investigations. Five players — Tony Dorsett, Harvey Martin, Ron Springs, Larry Bethea and Tony Hill — have all been mentioned in a federal drug probe.

Coach Tom Landry, who has guided the Cowboys to 10 NFC championship appearances in the last 13 years, must decide on a starting quarterback in time for the season opener Monday night, Sept. 5, in Washington.

The Giants have a new coach and an old problem — who will play quarterback?

The new head coach is Bill Parcells, moving up from defensive coach. He replaces Ray Perkins, who returned to his alma mater at Alabama to succeed Bear Bryant.

Parcells will have to choose between Scott Brunner and the often-injured Phil Simms. Simms may better but has spent more time in the hospital than on the field over the last three years with two shoulder injuries and knee surgery.

The Giants running attack looks solid with both Butch Woolfolk and Rob Carpenter capable of big afternoons.

The Giants also figure to get a lift from Terry Kinard, a safety out of Clemson, who may be the division's top rookie.

St. Louis could be the surprise of the division with quarterback Lomax continuing to mature as the Cardinals signal-caller. Finally establishing himself over Jim Hart as the Cardinals No. 1 quarterback, Lomax has started the team's last 15 games, fashioning a 9-6 record.

Lomax's one major flaw is a failure to dump passes off to his tight ends. Last year, Cardinal tight ends caught a league-low 11 passes.

Moving to shore up the team's weak spot, its secondary, the Cardinals top two draft picks were defensive backs Leonard Smith and Cedric Mack. Both could find themselves in starting roles.

Marion Campbell is the new head coach in Philadelphia, taking over the last-place Eagles from Dick Vermeil.

The Eagles will be faster this year having drafted fullback Mike Haddix and wide receivers Glen Young and Victor Oatis. Philadelphia's offense still has quarterback Ron Jaworski, running back Wilbert Montgomery and wide receiver Harold Carmichael, but the team is still growing old and slow at other spots and appears headed for a second-straight basement finish.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McCuistian

Anniversary party given for couple

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McCuistian of 338 Centre were honored Tuesday night with a surprise 25th anniversary party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Rains.

Nine couples brought a dish and dinner was served, followed by bridge. Individual tables for four were covered with white tablecloths and centered with bronze vases of fresh miniature mums.

A gift of brass candlesticks, large tray and easel were presented to the couple from members of their bridge club and other friends.

Attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Jack Hughes, Jerry Weldon, O.G. Nieman, Bill Lyles, Jim Mercer, Charles Hoover, Dean Herring and Eugene Sparks.

Mr. and Mrs. McCuistian were married Aug. 14, 1938, in Lubbock. They moved to Hereford in 1967 from Plainview.

They are the parents of four children: Gary, who resides in Dallas; Trent, a student at Texas Tech University; Craig, a senior at Hereford High School; and Karyn, an eighth grader at La Plata High School.

McCuistian owns Town and Country Irrigation and Mrs. McCuistian is a third grade teacher at Tierra Blanca School. They are members of the First United Methodist Church.

Jury sets life in prison for wife

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Convicted murderer Linda May Burnett was ordered to spend the rest of her life in prison after jurors said it was unlikely the 35-year-old housewife would commit future violent acts.

Mrs. Burnett could have received the death penalty for her part in the July 1978 murder of five members of the Bishop Phillips family.

After the verdict was announced Wednesday night by State District Judge Larry Gist, Mrs. Burnett said "just thank God," and then burst into tears as family members cried and hugged each other.

The jury deliberated for almost 10 hours before returning the punishment verdict about 10:30 p.m. CDT. The panel reported it was deadlocked about 7 p.m. but Gist ordered jurors to continue deliberations.

Mrs. Burnett, of Nederland, received the death penalty in 1979 in the slaying of 3-year old Jason Phillips of Woodward, Okla., but the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals overturned her conviction last year.

Investigators found the child, his parents, Elmer and Martha Phillips, and grandparents Bishop and Esther Phillips, of Winnie, shot and buried near Fannett on July 9, 1978.

A jury convicted her Sunday of murdering Jason's mother, Martha Phillips.

Carver said he will appeal Mrs. Burnett's capital murder conviction, but he would not specify the grounds.

"Everyone on the defense system is extremely pleased," that the jury did not return the death sentence, Carver said.

Earlier Wednesday, Carver told jurors they would commit murder if they sentenced Mrs. Burnett to die, but a prosecutor argued that she condemned herself by her malicious deeds.

Jefferson County District Attorney Jim McGrath said "I'm very disappointed and very surprised," with the sentencing.

None of the jurors would comment to reporters on why they recommended a life sentence.

Richard Hughes, a first assistant district attorney in Jefferson County, said he believes there is "ample evidence" to prove Burnett will commit violence in the future.

"But I have nothing but respect with the way the jurors conducted themselves during the trial," Hughes said.

He said his office would decide in the next 20 days whether to prosecute Burnett on four other murder charges in the Phillips case.

The U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., was founded in 1802.

Galveston historically survives hurricanes

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — As the target of violent hurricanes for 150 years, this seaside city has recovered from them all, even the worst to hit North America. And despite warnings against Hurricane Alicia, officials say storms are "nothing ... to get hysterical about."

Alicia was bearing down on the city today, now home to 60,000, a major resort on the Texas Gulf Coast.

Alicia, an "increasingly dangerous" storm, forced thousands to evacuate from low-lying areas of the 2-by-30-mile island.

Galveston Mayor E. Gus Manuel said his city is prepared for hurricanes and that the "weather people" take extreme positions.

"It's nothing you need to get hysterical about," he said. "We've had a lot of hurricanes and come out fine."

Once the largest city in Texas, Galveston was a major commercial center with a population of almost 38,000 when what is called the Great Storm struck without warning on Sept. 8, 1900.

That day, a surge tide roared across the island, killing 6,000 people and leveling most of the buildings. In the dreary days of recovery, another 6,000 people moved out, and there was talk of abandoning the island altogether.

But residents rebuilt, and in 1902 began construction on a 10-mile-long seawall.

In 1915, another hurricane struck, more powerful than the killer storm of 1900. But the partly completed 17-foot sea wall protected the city, which escaped major damage; this time, 275 were killed.

The latest threat came exactly 14 years after Hurricane Camille slammed into the Gulf Coast, killing 256 people and leaving 68 others missing.

Many longtime Galveston residents have become casual about hurricanes, confident of protection from the seawall. The wall has been ample protection from the average storm; during Hurricane Allen in 1980, there was little damage and about 60 percent of the city's population refused to evacuate.

But Neil Frank, director of the National Hurricane Center in Miami, warns that "Galveston is potentially a death trap" should a severe storm — one with winds of 150 mph or more — strike it directly.

Some residents, however, are unimpressed.

"There are only a few of them left," said Sgt. B.J. Whitburn of the Jamaica Beach police on the west end of Galveston Island. "Those who are crazy enough to want to stay, we're telling them,

'OK, give us the name of your next of kin' because once the flooding starts there's no way they're going to get out."

The city has only three escape routes. One is a ferry that shuts down in bad weather, and another is a bridge that floods with only a mild rise in the tide. The third path, Interstate 45, is a six-lane modern highway connecting the island with Houston and points north; it quickly jams with traffic during an evacuation.
