the keys to a successful United Way campaign, according to Ron Meyer, nationally-known football coach, who was the keynote speaker for the kickoff luncheon of the United Way of Deaf Smith County here Tuesday at the Community Center.

Comparing the team concept in the United Way drive to teamwork in football, Meyer said "it takes individual commitment and enthusiasm for doing the job right."

Meyer said a goal sometimes "looks tough, but things are not always as we perceive them." He told of going to New England to rebuild the sagging professional football team and receiving a phone call from Burn Phillips, a friend and also a NFL grid coach.

"You have readlly got your plow stuck in some hard ground," Phillips told Meyer. "On a football team, or any other organization, everyone makes a difference. Some of the lesser-known players on a team are just as important in helping reach a goal as the stars," added Meyer. He was introduced by Don Cumpton, Hereford's Athletic Director.

"Only you, the residents of this city, can make a difference. Everyone Commitment and enthusiasm are is important and everyone has their own load to carry," said Meyer, "There is no pronoun 'I' in the word team. Let's stop pointing our fingers and get involved.'

Meyer is a former Southern Methodist University head football coach and a former New England Patriots head coach. He also worked in the Dallas Cowboys organization and at Purdue University.

The United Way invited Meyer to speak at its kick-off luncheon to motivate members along the way to reaching a goal of collecting $110,000.

"It is important to have enthusiasm while you're out there asking for money. Do it with a little gusto and bounce." Meyer said.

"The thing I like is that the money will stay in town and you are going to have to point out that the money will stay here and will be used here."

Bobby Owen, vice president of UW, announced at the meeting that more than $15,000 has already been collected-the most ever reported at a kickoff luncheon. "We will go over the goal this year," stated Owen.

The kickoff meeting for the United Way brought together members of civic clubs and volunteers of the United Way campaign. M.D. Gentry, UW president, served as master of ceremonies for the event.

Theme of this year's drive headed by campaign chairman Helen Langley, is "Up, Up and Away with United Way. Goal for this year to help fund 10 agencies is $110,000. The campaign is scheduled to end Oct. 10. United Way division chairmen were introduced by Mrs. Langley. They include: Peaches Reinauer and Cherry McWhorter, agriculture division; Betty Drake and Fred Fox, general; Leona Kimball and Homer Garrison, golden age division; Buddy Peeler and Mike Car, major division; Carol Sue LeGate, metro; Margaret and Charlie Bell, pacesetters; Marjorie Mims and Wanda Hoover, professional; Donnie Houle and Ike Graves, special; and Tony Calkins and Roberta Caviness, Whiteface Division.

Lajean Henry, publicity director, introduced the agency representatives and executives attending the luncheon. Also introduced were executive officers who have been "loaned" to help work in the campaign. They include Raymond White

Lewis speculates that tax will pass

AUSTIN (AP) - Senate and House members have been told that tax bills will be getting more attention in the second special session, and House Speaker Gib Lewis predicted approval of a temporary sales tax increase.

Lewis, an ardent anti-tax leader, fanned speculation Tuesday in a speech in suburban Fort Worth.

What I predict for the future is that you're probably going to see a tax increase out of this special session," Lewis told members of the chamber of commerce in White Settlement, "and what I anticipate that you'll probably see is a penny sales tax increase and possibly a five-cent gasoline tax increase to get us through this current biennium."

Lewis added that "we're still holding firm to the point that we want it to be temporary."

Lewis and other House leaders have been firm in holding that no new taxes will be considered until budget cuts are complete.

Earlier Tuesday, 28 House members filed a proposed one-year increase in the state sales tax that would raise $500 million to cure the current deficit.

chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee which must clear any tax bill for debate, said he "probably" would not set a public hearing until the Senate and House agree on 1987 budget cuts.

However, several House members, including some members of his committee, said he would ask an immediate hearing.

The Senate Finance Committee had on its agenda today a resolution that Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said was designed to let the Senate get started Rep. Stan Schleuter, D-Killeen, on tax discussions. The committee will make recommendation to the full Senate.

Gov. Mark White, who recommended a one-year sales tax hike plus budget cuts in his speech Monday, told a group in Houston that the tax bill will be needed although the state comptroller says $700 million of the deficit has been erased.

"It makes it easier for all of us." White said, but asid the 11/8-cent increase in the 41/8-cent sales tax was needed because of immediate cash demands.

Bill would stop government from using collectors

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Reagan administration's use of private collection agencies to demand immediate repayment of $630 million in past-due farm debts is drawing angry reactions from farmstate lawmakers, many of whom are only two months away from reelection time.

Sen. Mark Andrews, R-N.D., fumed that the move was "the most idiotic case of bureaucracy run amok."

Added Rep. Tom Coleman, R-Mo.: "Sometimes the administration is our own worst enemy."

Reflecting the displeasure, a Senate subcommittee on Tuesday voted to halt the practice, putting onto a farm appropriations bill language that would prevent the Agriculture Department from spending any money to hire private bill collectors.

"I thought the Farmers Home Administration had just about gone the limit in being hard-hearted," said Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, who proposed the amendment banning the practice. "But this goes beyond anything I've seen."

Collection agencies hired by the department have sent out 6,500 letters to farmers in recent weeks giving them as little as 24 hours to repay overdue loans or risk stepped-up collection procedures.

Most of the letters went to farmers who already had forfeited their loan collateral - farm property or machinery, in most cases - to the government but found it inadequate to pay off the entire loan. Some of those farmers said they were given five years to work out a way to pay off the balance, and others reported being told that their unpaid debt would simply be written off as uncollectable.

The move, part of a stepped-up effort by FmHA to update its loan portfolio, came without advance notice to local FmHA officials, and Andrews said the action was taken without the knowledge of Agriculture Secretary

Richard E. Lyng. Harkin's amendment was adopted unanimously after subcommittee Chairman Sen. Thad Cochran, R-Miss., noted that the administration was insisting it had legal authority to collect debts to the federal government. But Cochran said that authority was being misus-

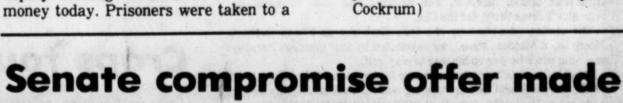

"Farmers Home is doing a very poor job in dealing with this problem," he said. "A great deal of insensitivity is being shown."

After reports last week that farmers were receiving stern letters from the collection agencies, FmHA Administrator Vance Clark softened his stance by saying the agency would continue to work with farmers who believed the letters reneged on previous pay-back agreements.

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas House members had under consideration today a Senate compromise offer to make another $153 million cut in 1987 spending, along with a challenge for the House to do the same.

Meanwhile, the House was scheduled to vote today on its version of 1987 spending. The House bill up for debate is the same measure approved in the first special session that made a $739 million cut.

"We think the Senate stands ready to split the difference," said Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, chief Senate negotiator. He noted that compromise efforts were about $326 million apart when the first special session ended unsuccessfully. "This is our effort to reach a mid-

The Senate approved a bill Monday that would reduce spending by $413 million.

The House and Senate negotiators agreed to meet all day Thursday, after the House acts on its bill, then

Fired teachers not insured rehiring

HOUSTON (AP) - About 50 teachers fired after twice failing a state competency test need to find other jobs after a judge said the Houston Independent School District didn't have to hire them back.

But State District Judge Louis Moore also told the teachers in a packed Houston courtroom Tuesday that a trial can still be scheduled on their lawsuit against the district. The suit seeks monetary damages as well as reinstatement.

Sam Westergren, the teachers' attorney, said the next task is to decide whether to appeal on the narrow issue of reinstatement or press for a later trial on all the issues.

In either case, he said, the plaintiffs must find other work, since the district would probably appeal any adverse ruling.

During a court recess, the plaintiffs as a group voted unanimously to reject an offer by HISD to settle the lawsuit.

"They weren't giving the teachers anything," said Gayle Fallon, president of the Houston Federation of Teachers, which funded the lawsuit. "What they were saying was that if they resigned and when they passed the test, they might consider taking them back, but they'd receive no preferential treatment.

"Had they said we'll take them back based on seniority once they pass the test, it would have been a different issue."

Space Center regains control

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - The Johnson Space Center will regain control of the interior elements of the crew compartment of America's space station under an agreement now being negotiated between managers of two NASA centers, a space agency spokesperson said.

The spokesperson, Mark Hess, made the comments to clarify a statement made earlier Tuesday by Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas.

The senator said that the Texas center would have "full control of the habitation module," but Hess said the development of the hull and exterior of the module would still be managed by the Marshall Space Flight Center in Alabama.

Hess emphasized that work management assignments for the space station are tenative and that agreement has not been affirmed by both centers nor by NASA headquarters.

In a statement released by Gramm's office, the senator was quoted as saying that the plan "already has been accepted in principle by NASA headquarters" and that it "marks a major policy re-

Hess said that, in effect, the plan would merely return to Johnson a work assignment that had been taken away under a previous revision of the space station plan.

House considers anti-drug package

WASHINGTON (AP) - House debate is beginning on legislation that would authorize billions of dollars for anti-drug programs designed to reach from the high seas to the nation's high schools.

In advance of today's debate, the Congressional Budget Office said the bill could cost $6 billion through 1991 - provided all programs were fully financed and proposed new enforcement agents were House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., said he would be willing to break out of the Gramm-Rudman balanced budget guidelines or even raise taxes to finance the drug program.

New York Mayor Edward Koch on Tuesday called a sudden bipartisan consensus for the expensive House bill "almost magical in a way. No one knows exactly how it happened."

Koch was among six mayors who met with House Democratic leaders to offer their support. He was joined by mayors Richard Berkley of Kansas City; Maureen O'Connor of San Diego; Theodore Mann of Newton, Mass.; Joseph Riley Jr. of Charleston, S.C.; and Richard Taylor of Plainfield, N.J. They comprise the U.S. Conference of Mayors Task Force on Drug Control.

The bill, which will be debated for at least two days, is a product of a dozen House committees and contains numerous approaches to fighting illegal drugs.

Caller claims Jihad responsible

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - A telephone caller claimed the Shiite Moslem group Islamic Jihad staged the Beirut kidnapping of an American school director, and accused the man of using an educator's cover to spy for the CIA.

The victim, identified by the U.S. Embassy as Frank Herbert Reed, 53, of Malden, Mass., was abducted by four gunmen Tuesday morning while he was on his way to play golf.

Reed is the director of the Lebanese International School in mostly Moslem west Beirut. His kidnapping was the first of an American in Lebanon in 15 months. A spate of politically motivated abductions in 1985 prompted most Americans and other Westerners to leave the ci-

An anonymous caller claiming to speak for Islamic Jihad, which has said it holds at least three other American captives, charged in a call to a Western news agency that Reed was a spy for the CIA and that "documents convicting him" were found on him.

"We found out that his educational mission was a mere disguise for his espionage efforts," the caller said Tuesday. "The real Moslems have uncovered the game and they will punish whoever is involved in it."

Bail could cool Daniloff uproar

MOSCOW (AP) - Nicholas Daniloff, the jailed American reporter charged with spying, believes his release on bail along with a Soviet held in New York would help "cool the international uproar" over his case, Daniloff's wife said today.

Ruth Daniloff told reporters her husband mentioned the idea to her on Tuesday during their third meeting since his imprisonment at Lefortovo Prison.

Daniloff, Moscow correspondent for U.S. News & World Report magazine, was arrested Aug. 30 by eight KGB agents after a Soviet acquaintance handed him a package later found to contain military photographs and maps marked "secret."

On Sunday he was formally charged with espionage, which under Soviet law can carry a prison term of seven to 15 years or the death

During their 80-minute visit, Daniloff, 51, told his wife the spying charges filed against him roughly correspond to the federal indictment handed up Tuesday against Soviet U.N. employee Gennadiy Zakharov in New York.

She said Daniloff continues to deny the charges.

Mrs. Daniloff said her husband is convinced the Soviets are treating his case as a "mirror" of Zakharov's case, who is accused of trying to buy military secrets for the Soviet Union.

Farmers doing bet

WASHINGTON (AP) - An unexpected sharp reduction in costs is one of the big reasons that farmers generally are doing better than expected this year, according to an Agriculture Department analysis.

the tiny increase expected in to 6 percent. That would translate inlivestock cash receipts and help offset a predicted reduction in crop prices.

The department's Economic Research Service says 1986 farm production costs could drop 4 percent to reduced cash spending of $4 billion to $8 billion this year, following a $3.5 billion decline in expenses in 1985.

"If the 6 percent drop in expenses is realized, it would be the largest annual cut since 1932's 19 percent," says economist Gary Lucier.

P. D. Box 816423

Initially, agency economists forecast farm production expenses might decline by $1 billion to $3 billion as prices of major items continued to slip. However, the original forecast was revised upward, largely because of:

-A large and rapid decline in fuel prices.

-The spillover effect of the drop in energy prices on fertilizer and chemical costs.

-An absence of price increases of most other farm production items such as machinery and building materials.

-Lower-than-expected market interest rates and outstanding farm

But cash receipts from crop marketings are expected to fall this year, and farmers are again expected to place large quantities of grain and cotton under the department's price support loan program. Also, total crop output is expected to decline 5 percent this year because of lower harvested acreage for major commodities.

Reflecting lower price support loan rates, the crop prices received by farmers are expected to be down 8 percent to 12 percent from last year. but livestock cash receipts are expected to rise slightly, Lucier and colleague Richard Kodl said in a new outlook report.

Net farm income, which takes into consideration the changes in value of commodities held by farmers, may be in the range of $25 billion to $29 billion this year, about $1 billion less than the previous forecast. Last year, net farm income was $30.4 billion, down from the revised level of $32.7 billion in 1984.

The report said government payments and the declining production expenses "are the two most important elements" of this year's farm income forecast. Government spending on farm programs this year will probably be a record high, in the range of $18 billion to $25 billion, the report said.

According to agency economists, that would include all direct payments to farmers under the commodity programs, net price support loans made by the Commodity Credit Corp., and government purchases of dairy products under the milk support program.

The report cited several reasons for the rise in government farm costs this calendar year, including the larger "deficiency payments" to farmers to make up for low crop market prices.

Another reason for higher costs in 1986 has been the advance to farmers of more than $3 billion in 1986-crop deficiency payments for corn, cotton and rice, which normally would have been disbursed in calendar 1987.

The addition of new programs such as the whole-herd buyout program and the conservation land reserve will increase USDA farm outlays this year. The buyout is sending more than 1.5 million dairy cows, heifers and calves to slaughter over an 18-month period that began last April 1. Most of the animals, including some for export, are being sold off this year.

Be careful of mail order ads

Though there are no figures to prove it, authorities say that many thousands of American are taking those offers in the belief that they will save money. With so many satisfied customers, it must be a good idea, mustn't it? The answer, however, is not always.

"I don't recommend it for all types of customer. If you need design service or fast delivery, it's not a good idea," says Edgar Broyhill, a furniture-by-mail merchant himself. Despite the caveats, buying furniture by mail has apparently caught the fancy of the public. Indications are that consumers can save at least 10 to 20 percent off rental prices.

This is possible because mail order retailers have lower costs and can pass those savings on to their customers. They may, for example, have no store or a small store in a town with low overhead. They may do little advertising and they don't have to maintain large staffs or a warehouse crammed with expensive furniture, explains Nancy High, consumer affairs specialist for the American Furniture Manufacturers Association.

As in other areas of life, she adds, there is a trade-off. What you give up includes: decorating service; a chance to see the furniture "in the flesh" before buying; a local dealer who will handle the headaches, making sure the furniture is delivered and placed where you want it, and who will be there if something goes Potential customers of long distance furniture retailers need to ask lots of questions before they send in their money, according to Miss High. She says it can be aggravating to deal at long distance with a product as cumbersome as furniture. So even though there is a certain cachet in buying your furniture from North Carolina (where most of the dealers are clustered), you could be better off buying from your local retailer.

To be sure that furniture by mail is right for you, she suggests you ask the following questions before placing your order:

- What happens if the furniture arrives damaged?

- Is delivery included in the price? (It is usually not included and adds from 4 to 10 percent to the cost.)

- What type of carrier is used? Does the carrier deliver the furniture to the home or curb? Is it placed where it will be used and unpacked?

- How long a wait is there? If the date is not met, can the order be canceled with full refund?

- How can a sample be seen, especially if there is a choice of fabric or finish? - How much of a deposit is required and when does the balance have to be paid?

- If service should be needed later on, is any available?

Broyhill answered these questions by noting his firm will try to have damaged pieces repaired in the customer's home. "If that is not possible, we pick the piece up and take it to our service department in Clemmons (N.C.) for repair or we order a substitute from the manufac-

Broyhill added that he uses independent moving van lines to deliver furniture, which arrives blanket wrapped and is placed where the customer wants it.

Delivery charges vary depending on the size of the order and location of the customer's home. On average, delivery chargs amount to seven percent of the cost of the furniture. Customers can cancel (though few do so) if orders are not delivered when promised approximately 10 weeks after a deposit of 50 percent has been received.

Broyhill, whose business is known as Edgar B Furniture Plantation, says the customer is asked for the final 50 percent when the furniture has been received at his warehouse. We consolidate everything ordered from several manufacturers and ship at one time."

He contends that customers realize savings of 10 to 20 percent over prices in other stores, a sizeable amount on a large order, but relatively minimal on small orders.

McCathern invited to speak

Gerald McCathern, Democratic candidate for the 19th Congressional district of Texas, has been invited to address the FarmAid sponsored Farmers and Ranchers Congress which is to be held in St. Louis, Missouri. He will address the Congress at 4:30 p.m. on Friday, Sept.

The Farmers and Ranchers Congress has been established in an effort to bring representatives of farm groups from all across the nation together to address the farm crisis and to draft recommended agriculture legislation which will be presented to the U.S. Congress. 1200 working farmers are expected to attend the Congress.

McCathern a Hereford farmer, is recognized nationally as a leader in agriculture circles. Besides serving on the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, he has held leadership positions in the National Farmers Organization, the Texas Farmers Union, the American Agriculture Movement, the U.S. Feed Grains Council and in the U.S. Department of Agriculture as a Special Assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture.

Crops tour Friday

Grain sorghum, corn, and cotton production practices will highlight stops during the Annual Deaf Smith County Crops tour on Friday, Sept. 12. The tour will leave the parking lot of the county library just North of the courthouse at 9 a.m.

The first tour stop will be on the Joe Grotegut farm, two miles North of Dawn on FM 809 then where 22 grain sorghum varieties are being grown under irrigated conditions.

Stop number two will feature yellow and white corn varieties on the Roy Carlson farm one-half mile west of Milo Center on FM 1057 then 1/2 mile south and 1/4 mile east on turn Tour stop three will be on the Donald Hicks farm four miles west of Ford on FM 2587 then 1/4 mile south on gravel road. Eleven grains orghum varieties are being grown under irrigation.

Dryland sorghum production will be featured at stop number four on the Gerald Marnell farm located thirteen miles west of Farmers Corner on FM 1412 then 6 miles South on county road.

At 12:30 p.m., a dutch treat lunch and program will be held at Savage's Hickory Pit in Hereford. During the luncheon, Dr. Carl Patrick, Extension entomologist and Dr. Robert Berry, Extension plant pathologist will present updates on insect and diseases in crops.

Stop number 5 will be after lunch at 2:00 p.m. at the Weldon Stephan farm 2 miles south of Frio on FM

Mexican-American caucus. Several speakers blamed Lewis and Republican House members for failure of the first special session.

"We all know what the problem is, it's the re-election campaign of Speaker Lewis," said Rep. Paul Moreno, D-El Paso. "We tried his way and it didn't work. It is time for us to act now.'

Luna said no Republicans signed as co-sponsors of the bill, which would raise the state sales by 11/8 cents. Caucus officials said the proposed tax, which would expire in a

One sponsor was Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, who introduced a tax bill of his own on Monday.

"One of our problems is that the House Ways and Means Committee, which must clear any tax bill for House debate, has a majority of Republican members," Luna said. 'We are hoping that Republicans will sign on to our bill later."

"I think there would be a majority vote for a tax bill in the House today if the speaker would let the members vote their will," said Rep. Juan Hinojosa, D-McAllen.

Moreno said three members of the Ways and Means Committee could bring a tax bill to the House floor on a minority report.

"The question now is whether the speaker and the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee will give us a hearing on our tax bill," said Rep. Lena Guerrero, D-Austin.

George Loerwald wins grid contest

George Loerwald missed three games to win the first week of the Brand football contest, and $25 in Deaf Smith County Bucks.

Loerwald missed the Troy State-West Texas State game, the Atlanta-New Orleans, and the tie game between Amarillo High and Clovis. Tie games count as misses in the football contest.

The second and third place prize winners were determined through the tie-breaker. Five people missed four games each, with Lloyd Olson emerging as the second place finisher and Marie Loerwald as the third place finisher.

Olson predicted a score of Hereford 20, Andrews 3 in the tiebreaker, and Loerwald predicted the score to be 20-7 in Hereford's favor. The actual final score was Hereford winning 28-0.

The second place prize is $15 in Deaf Smith County Bucks, and the third place prize is $10 in Deaf Smith County Bucks.

Other entrants who missed four games each were Ronnie Bell, S.T. Loerwald, and Don Clark.

Film tells of disillusionment

NEW YORK (AP) - The American Communist Party has been a joke for a long time, and it's easy to forget it was once taken seriously as a shining hope and as a deadly threat to the nation.

"Seeing Red," a 90-minute film on public television tonight, tells the stories of people who dreamed of creating a workers' paradise but who, for the most part, saw their delusions shattered in 1956.

The motto of the state of Idaho. "Esto Perpetua," means "Let It Be

That was the year Nikita Khrushchev delivered a speech that acknowledged the horrors of Josef Stalin's purges.

"We had said these things were not true," former party member Dorothy Healey says. "And as I sat there listening, the tears are coming down, I'm crying so hard I can hardly stand it."

Until 1956. Dorothy Healey had been a true believer. "We knew with absolute conviction that we were part of a vanguard that was destined to lead an American working class to a socialist revolution," she says.

"We didn't have all the truths." says former party member Marge Frantz. "We had, you know, some few little bits and pieces of the truth here and there."

Some are less repentant. Folksinger Pete Seeger, still out fighting for causes, says, "It's better to have struggled and lost than never to have struggled."

"Seeing Red" is not an apology for communism, although it is sym- at all on camera.

As a 1960s political activist feeling lost in the increasing conservatism of subsequent years, Klein said "Seeing Red" was a personal quest.

"We were looking to the people, in a certain sense, for answers," he said, but he didn't find them.

It was difficult, he'said, to get the former members to talk about 1956 but they were eager to talk about the hopeful early years. Some former members, like one who used his organizing skill to make a capitalist bundle in truck leasing, wouldn't talk

Now you're cooking with...

By CINDY SMITH Staff Writer

Driving past the Hereford High School Cafeteria with the window rolled down, one can inhale heaven. Students are lining up and getting out their dimes.

"Yes, cinnamon rolls still cost a dime," said Trudie Gray, food service director of Hereford Independent School District for the past 20 years. "Some things never change."

Starting out as a substitute food service worker, Gray has been supervising the food preparation at HHS for 12 years. She explained that the original veteran of cinnamon rolls, Lena Hudson, retired after serving the rolls for the past 11 years.

Gray designs all the menus two weeks in advance to allow proper time for all food orders to arrive. The breakfast crew at HHS begins cooking at 7 a.m. so serving can begin at 7:40 a.m.

The breakfast menu consist of fruit, bread, cinnamon rolls, apple sauce, bacon, pancakes, sausage and Four groups of hungry youngsters from Stanton Junior and Hereford High Schools are served lunch five days a week. Serving times are 11:10 a.m., 12:00 p.m., 12:10 p.m., and 1:00

"The state reimburses us for so much per lunch," said Gray. The reimbursements depend on whether the meal is paid, reduced, or free.

Gray explained that all meal planning is government regulated around the basic four food groups; meat or meat alternate group (eggs, dry beans, peanut butter, cheese, etc.); the vegetable and-or fruit group; bread or bread alternate group (rice, pacaroni, noodles, etc.); and milk.

The food service director also noted that students may now choose between three items, whereas in the past they were served a meal, like it or not.

Students also have a bigger variety of food to choose from than in the earlier days at the cafeteria. Gray explained that they used to be required to serve spinach, carrots, and other similar food but now the cafeteria caters to fast food type menus because this is what the student likes.

We're in competition with the fast food lines," she said. "I believe we're serving more students now than we did a couple of years ago

At the HHS cafeteria a student or teacher has a choice of an a la carte line which serves french fries, cookies, brownies, and chips; a snack bar offering ice cream, sundaes, cones, nachos, and slush puppies; the fast food line which includes fun food items such as pizza, hamburgers, burritos, tacos, chili dogs, etc.; the menu line featuring the menu of the day; and a self serve salad bar.

Tacos seem to have succeeded hamburgers as the cafeteria favorite.

The food we sold the most used to be hamburgers but tacos are right up there with them now," said Gray. "Probably the reason the tacos are way up there is because that's the day we have cinnamon rolls."

Everything seems to gravitate back to those cinnamon rolls at the HHS cafeteria. Gray explained, "The reason we serve the cinnamon rolls when we have tacos is because it's a hard menu to meet the bread requirement."

A day in the kitchen at the cafeteria means hours of planning at a desk prior to serving. Just as soon as the breakfast run is completed, depending on the menu of the day, lunch preparation begins at 8:30 a.m.

"Preparations are made the day before serving in order for our work to go smoothly and for the food to be ready when the Stanton students come in," said Gray.

"Friday we're having submarine sandwiches. That means we have to bake our turkey the day before to have time for it to cool and be sliced," she said.

The cafeteria workers also do all their own bread-baking in advance. Even our toast is baked the day before," said Gray. Reflecting on her menus for the school year ahead, Gray said, "There may very well be a menu change because of the dairy cattle slaughter. "We're to have all the beef we can use for the next 18 months. In the ter, and cheese. "I was reading an article in the School Food Service Journal that states cafeterias will be getting some new commodities this year. They include fresh apples, pears, canned apples, pears, and pineapples, dried raisins, and frozen blueberries and cherries which we also received last year." Gray said.

She said they also have a big supp- place on buttered pan. Bake at 350 ly of prunes and they use this com- degrees until done and ice with glaze.

modity to make the chocolate prune cake shown on the menu.

"It goes over fairly well," she said, "you wouldn't know the prunes are in there."

The cafeteria workers also have a formal club at which they met once a month in the past. A get-acquainted salad supper is planned for Sept. 22 at 6:30 p.m. at the HHS cafeteria and on Oct. 20 is a meeting on the state's sanitation laws. "It takes a lot of planning to serve all these kids," said Gray. "I think you have to have love for this type of work to be successful at it. And most of all, you have to have a bunch of good women that are interested in carrying out the government's regulations and re-

Man asked to get rid of courgar before it attacked boy

VIVIAN, La. (AP) - The police chief and a neighbor said they had asked the owner of a pet cougar to get rid of it before it attacked the man's 7-year-old son, tearing away much of his face.

The 140-pound cougar pounced on James Michael Swearengin after getting loose Monday night from its backyard chain, said Police Chief Donice Jones.

The boy remained in stable but guarded condition at Schumpert Medical Center in Shreveport.

Jones and a neighbor, Orlen Davis, said they had repeatedly asked John Swearengin to give up the 18-month-old cougar, which he had purchased as a cub from a drive-through zoo when it closed.

Davis said he couldn't require Swearengin to get rid of the animal because this northwest Louisiana town of about 5,000 residents has no laws against owning wild animals.

The cougar was surrounded by a 4- to 5-foot-tall fence and tethered on a 10-foot-long chain tied to a stake in the ground, Jones and Davis

The cat pulled the stake from the ground before attacking the child, according to Davis, who said he witnessed the attack.

"When I saw him, I was shocked. He literally had torn the boy's face off the bone," said Davis.

BITE THE DUST, DIANA!

Inside, the people, were all shouting, some one thing and some another -- everything was in confusion. In fact, most of them didn't even know why they were there.

Alexander was spotted among the crowd by some of the Jews and dragged forward. He motioned for silence and tried to speak. But when the crowd realized he was a Jew, they started shouting again and kept it up for two hours: "Great is Diana of the Ephesians! Great is Diana of the Ephesians!"

At last the mayor was able to quiet them down enough to speak. "Men of Ephesus," he said. everyone knows that Ephesus is the center of the religion of the great Diana, whose image fell down to us from heaven. Since this is an indisputable fact, you shouldn't be disturbed no matter what is said, and should do nothing rash Yet you have brought these men here who have stolen nothing from her temple and have not defamed her.

If Demetrius and the craftsmen have a case against them, the courts are currently in session and the judges can take the case at once. Let them go through legal channels. And if there are complaints about other matters, they can be settled at the regular City Council meetings; for we are in danger of being called to account by the Roman government for today's riot, since there is no cause for it. And if Rome demands an explanation, I won't

Then he dismissed them, and they dispersed.

Maxim Shostakovich makes his debut tonight as conductor of the New Orleans Symphony, but an estimated 3,000 subscribers may not get their tickets.

Season tickets for the Soviet-born conductor's first performances were mailed late because the company that supplies the blank tickets was behind by three weeks. said orchestra spokeswoman Angela Vachetta.

Tickets for tonight's debut weren't mailed until the middle of last week, she said.

Shostakovich, son of composer Dmitri Shostakovich, was principal conductor of the U.S.S.R. Radio and Television Symphony Orchestra in the 1970s. He was granted asylum in the United States in 1981 and has worked with many of the great orchestras.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) -There are many ways to commit a blooper on television but only a few ways to show them, a federal appeals court ruled in dismissing Dick Clark's copyright infringement suit against the producer of a rival show.

Clark claimed his "TV's Censored Bloopers," was the basis of a series by Alan Landsburg Productions, "Life's Most Embarrassing Moments."

After watching tapes of both shows, U.S. District Judge James Ideman of Los Angeles dismissed Clark's suit, saying Landsburg's show was not "substantially His ruling was upheld Tuesday by a unanimous threedge panel of the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

and I just returned from our honeymoon. It was seventh heaven for me until the third day, when she told me something that has been weighing on my mind like a ton of lead.

It seems "Sally" has slept with five men who attended our wedding. She named an usher, two guests, the photographer and the minister. All this came out after too much champagne. At first I thought she was kidding, but it soon became apparent that she was "confessing." I asked why she hadn't told me when we were going together. She said she was afraid I might not marry her.

I had never heard one whisper of gossip about this woman. She has begged forgiveness and promised to be faithful. She wants a family right away. So do I. But I am shaken by what she has told me and I want some advice .-- MORE THAN I NEEDED TO KNOW IN PANAMA

DEAR PAN: Hold off heaving a family until you feel confident that the marriage is on solid ground. It's going to take a while for you to recover from the shock. Time is your best ally. And for heaven's sake, tell Sally to keep her mouth shut. The minister doesn't need the publicity.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: While preparing a lunch for unexpected visitors, my mother asked me to go to the storeroom and get a can of tuna. I noticed a can with a date stamped on it - July 1974. I brought it to Mom along with a can of more recent vintage. (Last year's).

My dad happened to be standing in the kitchen. When I showed him the date on the can he said no way would he touch it. He went to throw it out and Mom said, "Wait-that tuna is perfectly OK. Nothing can happen to it in the can. I'd eat it this very

He got her to use the more recent

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife How about it, Ann?-THE D FAMILY IN NEW ENGLAND

> DEAR D's: The tuna may be just fine, but I wouldn't eat it. Twelve years is a long time to hang on to a tin of fish. When you consider what you stand to lose it's a mighty bum gamble. Toss it.

> DEAR ANN LANDERS: Dale (not his real name) and I have been living together for seven months. The problem: His personal hygiene. When we were dating he showered and brushed his teeth regularly. He would never have dreamed of getting close to me without using a mouthwash or a mint. The man was, immaculate.

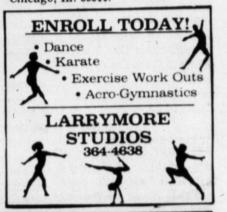

> Since we've been sharing an apartment he has gone five days without showering or brushing his teeth. Last night when he wanted to make love I almost threw up.

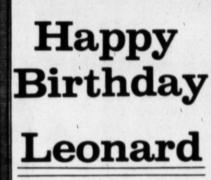

I have tried talking to him but nothing works. There was a time when I wanted to marry Dale more than anything in the world. I am having second thoughts about a life with a man who hasn't enough pride to keep his body clean.

Why is he like this? Is there any hope for our relationship? - BAFFL-ED AND UNDECIDED

DEAR B. AND U: The type of behavior you describe is soemthing deeper than carelessness or indifference. The man has a clinker in his thinker. He needs counseling to get to the root of his offensive behavior. DON'T marry Dale nless he agrees to get some help. If it bothers you now it will drive you crazy later.

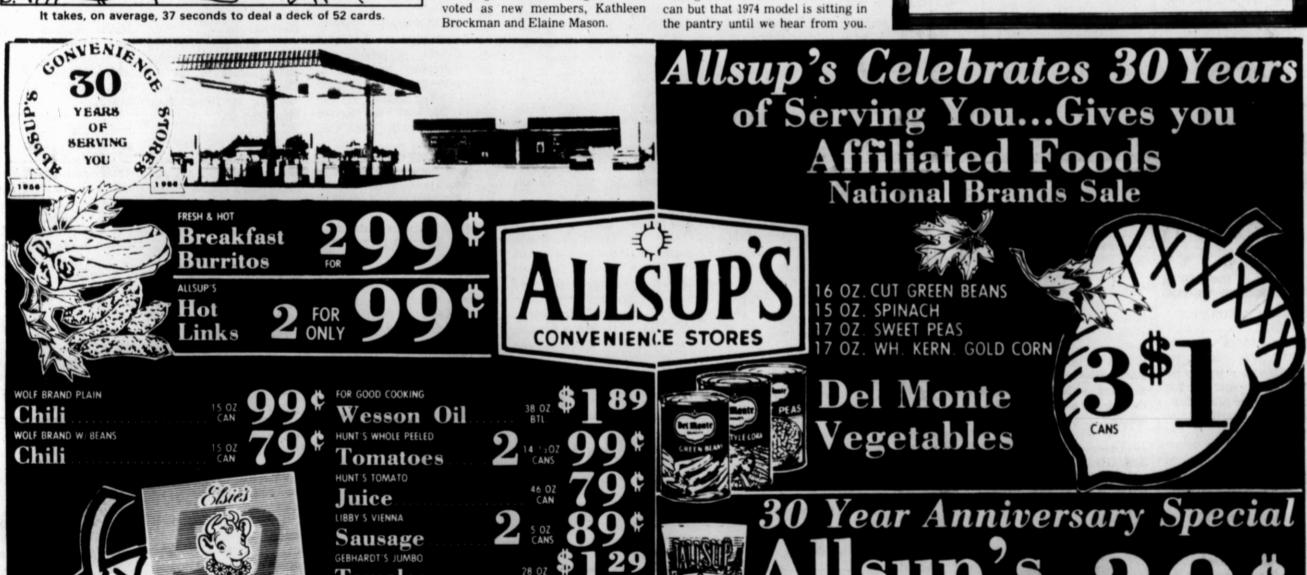

Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," explains every aspect of sexual behavior-where to draw the line, how to say no, the various methods of contraception, the dangers of VD, the symptoms and where to get help.
