27 groups form anti-dump coalition

Citizen groups from 14 states have joined to form the National Nuclear Waste Task Force in an effort to prevent funding of all Department of Energy's high-level waste programs.

The coalition of 27 citizen groups includes the Texas Nuclear Waste Task Force and the Texas Energy Alliance which are fighting the location of a nuclear waste repository in Deaf Smith County.

Delbert Devin of the Texas Nuclear Waste Task Force said today at a press conference in Amarillo that the national group hopes to inspire congressmen from all states to work together in support of cutbacks in three major areas of DOE waste projects - first and second repositories and Monitored Retrievable Storage (MRS) facilities. The national group supports a Senate Appropriations Committee bill which reduces DOE funding in 1987 to $380 million. House and Senate action on DOE appropriations is expected later this month.

"Citizen groups long concerned about DOE high-level waste siting activities in their own states have banded together to demand scientific excellence in the overal program and a fair siting process for all," said Devin. "No state is safe under the current DOE program."

The national task force advocates across the board cutbacks in all programs. It claims that politics and expediency, instead of science,

Counties asked to have referendum near Hanford site

PASCO, Wash. (AP) - Commis-. argues that initiative may not reflect sioners for Benton and Franklin counties are being asked to give voters in those counties an additional chance to say whether the Hanford nuclear reservation should be the site of a high-level nuclear waste repository.

A statewide initiative on the November general election ballot contends Hanford's selection as a finalist for the waste dump was politically motivated. But the Tri-City Industrial Development Council the opinions of voters in Benton and Franklin counties, which take in much of Hanford.

TRIDEC officials said they will present commissioners with a proposed November ballot intiative today that asks whether studies should continue to determine if Hanford is suitable for the repository.

The proposition will ask voters in the counties whether Hanford should be "the subject of further scientific study by the Department of Energy to determine whether it is safe and technically suitable for a high-level nuclear waste repository," said Benton County Commissioner Bill Sebero.

Sebero said the measure would not determine whether site characterization would continue, but would send a message to President Reagan, Congress, the Energy Department and Washington state officials on how Benton and Franklin county residents feel about placement of the repository at Hanford.

The statewide resolution criticizes the Energy Department's selection process for the repository site, sayng that Hanford was chosen as one of three finalists for political reasons and that basalt underneath the reservation may not be safe for storage. It was placed on the ballot earlier this year by the state Legislature.

The other finalists for the repository are near Yucca Mountain, Nev., and in Deaf Smith County, TRIDEC President Cliff LaHue also said the state ballot issue precludes the opinions of Benton and Franklin county residents.

"The state referendum appears to have been written to elicit a predetermined response from the voting public, and it will not allow the citizens of Benton and Franklin counties to express themselves," LaHue said. "We believe the voter response to our ballot question will more accurately convey the position of the citizens of Benton and Franklin counties on an issue that is of the utmost importance to us."

has directed DOE in site selection. The group also says flawed siting processes would lead to technically flawed sites.

The group suggests a one-year suspension in siting activities so that Congress and the courts can evaluate whether current DOE programs are in compliance to the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982 which mandates the search for a repository.

"This cutback would prevent site-specific work on the first and second repository and on the MRS facility planned for Tennessee and will send a clear signal to DOE that Congress does not approve of its scofflaw approach to siting waste facilities," said Caroline Petti of the Southwest Research and Information Center, who will represent the group in Washington, D.C.

Activist groups involved are from the states of Nevada, Washingtion, Texas, Mississippi, Utah, Oregon, Tennessee, Georgia, Maine, Minnesota, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Virginia, and Wiscon-

Committee gets teachers' request

Requests made by a local teacher organization to alter some of the procedures on appraisals have been sent to the Policy and Personnel committee of the Hereford Schools board of Mary Hendrickson asked the board Tuesday night to take into consideration that some subject areas do not have all 74 objectives which are to be taught in one lesson under state rules. Hendrickson, representing Hereford Educators Association, asked that the board also have limitations on having physicians district uniformity in evaluations of teachers from campus to campus and that a teacher have the option of one waiver to postpone an evaluation. She also gave the board a list of school holidays which teachers would like excluded from evaluation dates because of general classroom disruption.

Dr. Harrell Holder, superintendent, said he agreed with the one time waiver and excluding holiday and sent the issue to committee.

Appraisal workshops for teachers will be sponsored by HEA on Sept. 27 and Oct. 4 and by the Classroom Teachers Association on Sept. 20.

Another item to be considered for further study is placement of spring break. John Claypool, Hereford High drama coach, said Hereford is one of only two schools which have spring break the week of district drama contests. He said he would lose half of his play production class during that week of contest if it falls during spring break. Claypool noted that if Hereford does not compete this year, it will be ineligible next year for 4-A Claypool said he was informing the board for possible action this year and as an early reminder for next year's calendar plans.

Martha Shire made a request, due to some problems with the school's athletic insurance, that the board inform parents of athletes of any time check injuries. Four claims on her son's injury last year have been submitted to the insurance company without any payment, becausee the company said the medical problem was not noted to be from a specific football injury. School officials received the same responses from the company, although a doctor had said the injury was football related. Shire listed several other families who had had problems with the com-

Holder recommended that the board get an attorney to look at all the athletic claim files to see if any resolution could be made.

In other business at the meeting: -- Larry Wartes, assistant superintendent, told the board that enrollment was in good shape at 4,788, which is 10 over last year at this time. The district plans to provide incentives for attendance during October when the average daily attendance is calculated for the district's allotment of state money.

-The board hired Rose Nava as a fourth grade teacher at West Central

-The board heard a presentation on a prepaid legal insurance for teachers.

-Ed McCreary reported plans to purchase computers with migrant funds and agreed to bring to the board a breakdown on where all district computers are and what students have access to them.

-The board approved an update of policy from the state.

-Bud Patterson reported that the Curriculum Committee would start meeting with teachers to monitor progress with the new policy within the next 10 days.

-- Marc Williamson, assistant superintendent for instruction, said summer school cost about $30,000 less than expected. He reported that some students who had enrolled, however, never showed up for the session.

 Holder discussed possibilities for self-insurance for the district's health plan and recommended that the district shop around.

-Holder reported that the Texas Education Agency would be auditing the vocational, special education and bilingual education departments

-The board looked at ideas Holder had for rearranging classes in K-4 through second grade to comply with class size regulations.

-The board approved an English Honors II class curriculum.

-Board president John Fuston praised the Hereford coaching staff and players for their sportsmanship during Friday's game against Clovis, N.M.

Enrollment at 4,788 this week

Hereford Independent School District enrollment stood at 4,788 this week, an increase of 10 students over the same reporting period a year ago, it was reported at the school board meeting Tuesday night.

A breakdown on the enrollment figures showed the high school with 941 students—an increase of 37, and the two junior high schools with a total of 1,060-a drop of 37. Totals for the elementary level-5-year-old kindergarten through the sixth grades-was 2,541, a decrease of 20 over last year. The slight increase resulted from a larger enrollment in

The enrollment at elementary schools included: Northwest 504, Aikman 444, Bluebonnet 439, Tierra Blanca 430, West Central 417, and Shirley 307. Stanton Junior High had 546 and La Plata enrollment was 512. In the high school classes, there are 349 sophomores, 323 juniors and 269 septions

Residents of Dawn let County Clerk David Ruland know that they were strictly against taking a voting box out of About 15 residents of that community attended a public hearing in Hereford on the possibility of dropping some rural voting boxes in the coun-

Ruland had proposed to county commissioners that the county reduce the number of voting boxes throughout the county and convert to automatic tabulation from paper ballots.

Under government regulations, no more than 2,000 registered voters can be assigned to one voting box in which paper ballots are being used. Currently, there are more than 2,000 voters in both Precincts 1 and 2.

If the county converted to atuomatic tabulation, there could be 5,000 voters assigned to one polling place.

Under Ruland's plan, voting boxes at Dawn, Northwest Elementary, Bippus, and at the Zinser residence would no longer be used. Residents of Dawn would be affected most by the change since they would be asked to vote at the Bull Barn in Hereford.

"We have a lot of people in Dawn who want to vote, but they will not be able to find time to drive to Hereford to do it," said Helen Caraway, a resident of Dawn who attended the meeting. "We are farmers, if we have to drive to Hereford it will take at least three hours. We can plow 100 acres in that time. The people out there just can't afford to take the time off to go into town to vote."

Ruland told those at the meeting that they could peti-tion the commissioners to keep the polling place in Dawn. Ruland said that 25 signatures of registered rs will then have the final

Professor seeks alternative to oil

WACO, Texas (AP) - Using an airplane named "Spirit of Independence," a Baylor Univerity mathematics professor planned to prove a point with a transAtlantic flight: Alcohol is a useful fuel that could help break dependency on oil.

"Flying across the Atlantic will show alcohol is a dependable and economic fuel for aviation," Dr. Max Shauck said.

"Alcohol burns cleaner and is cheap, abundant and renewable. In addition, this is a product that could stabilize grain process in the agriculture industry," he said Tuesday, the eve of his scheduled departure on what was billed as the first flight across the Atlantic us-

Shauck, 50, planned to fly a 6-seat, twin-engine Piper Azteck modified to fly on alcohol fuel. He outfitted the plane with survival gear in case of engine failure over the Atlantic.

John Russell, a fuels engineer with Southwest Research in San Antonio, was to accompany Shauck on a trip was expected to last three to five days and cover 6,000 miles from Waco to Montgomery, Ala., Greensboro, N.C., and Long Island, N.Y., and from there to St. John's, Newfoundland, to Paris.

The "Sprit of Independence" can use blends of ethanol and methanol or can fly on 100 percent of either fuel, Shauck said.

He said he would make this flight on a 50-50 blend of methanol and ethanol for fuel. The flight marks the latest action by Shauck to publicize use of alcohol for aviation fuel.

Judge's ruling frustrates officials

TYLER, Texas (AP) - Attorney General Jim Mattox and state prison officials are looking for new ways to avoid triggering a state law that could free hundreds of inmates.

U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice on Tuesday rejected state efforts to move 300 low-risk inmates to a National Guard barracks near Mineral Wells.

Justice wrapped up a two-day hearing by saying the Fort Wolters facility does not meet the standards he set for prisons in his Texas Department of Corrections reform order.

The judge's decision left state officials frustrated in their attempt to avoid early release of inmates because of prison crowding.

"He's not letting us take the easiest road to resolving this particular problem. There are ways to resolve it other than letting these people out early," Mattox said.

Under the state's Prison Management Act of 1983, prisoners must be released when the prison system reaches 95 percent capacity or 38,825 inmates.

Last week, Gov. Mark White announced the transfer to Fort Wolters in order to keep the prison population within 95 percent of

On Tuesday, the Texas prison population stood at 38,259 inmates, putting the system at 93.61 percent of capacity if beds at Fort Wolters and a Galveston prison hospital and some planned beds at TDC's Wynne Unit were counted.

Hunt properties to be sold

DALLAS (AP) - The Texas Hunt brothers have three weeks to rework loans or seek an injunction now that banks seeking to recover part of $1.5 billion in defaulted loans have posted more properties for foreclosure.

Hunt attorney Steve Gordon said the latest posted property includes a 48-acre tract of land in Collin County owned by the personal trust funds of Bunker, William Herbert and Lamar Hunt.

Banks have also posted the Mont Belvieu, Texas, processing plant owned by Placid Refining Co., Gordon said. The plant was built in 1979 for $8.5 million. Herbert Hunt's personal trust filed for protection from creditors, as did the Hunts' Placid Oil and a real estate subsidiary, after some of its property was posted for foreclosure last month. The latest postings come as Bankers Trust Co. and RepublicBank Dallas seek payment on part of more than $1.5 billion in loans to Placid Oil Co. and Penrod Drilling Co., energy companies owned by the brothers' trust funds. If the brothers can't rework the loans or get an injunction, the property will be auctioned off at the Dallas County Courthouse under Texas foreclosure laws. The brothers filed Chapter 11 bankruptcy petitions after lenders posted more than 200 acres of Hunt property in Collin County, the brothers' one-third interest in the 50-story Thanksgiving Tower in downtown Dallas, oil and gas leases in Texas and Mississippi and the Mont Belvieu refinery.

National Travelers pack French offices

NEW YORK (AP) - Customers lined up at the Air France ticket office and French tourism officials had trouble getting answers to their own questions about France's tightening of visa requirements to battle terrorism.

The French Tourist Board office, the French Consulate and the cultural attache's office were besieged Tuesday by phone calls and visits from travelers inquiring about the security plan announced French Prime Minister Jacques Chirac said citizens of the United States and about 40 other countries who had not previously needed visas will be required to have them for travel in France.

Workers at the French offices said there was confusion among American travelers about where and how to apply.

Marion Fourestier, a tourist board spokeswoman, said some of the unanswered questions are th fee involved and the length of wait between applying for and receiving a visa.

"But we're having trouble getting the answers because the phones to all the other French services have been tied up since Monday,"

Americans planning to travel to France, however, seemed to be taking the visa requirement in stride.

Aquino may get more U.S. help

WASHINGTON (AP) - Philippines leader Corazon Aquino, already promised $505.4 million in U.S. assistance during the current fiscal year, may receive additional pledges during her week in Washington, a senior administration official says.

The official, who spoke Tuesday on condition he not be named, said any announcement of new aid would come after Mrs. Aquino meets President Reagan today.

Philippines officials have said that all the money granted prior to Mrs. Aquino's visit to the United States - including a $200 million installment handed over by Secretary of State George P. Shultz in June - was earmarked for the country even before she took office.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

Boy! My first game this season. Here I am all excited because-I am ashamed to say-I haven't been to a football game since I was a child. That one was quite an experience because a drunk man sat down on me. That was my knowledge of football and to a kid 10 years of age at that time in our society, it was a bad experience to say the least.

But then it would also be one now. To start with, I only live a couple of blocks from the main gate. So we walked, the kids all excited but on their best behavior. Why not walk? Some people had to park almost to my house just to find a place to park

We chat with various friends and fight the crowd to get to the ticket booth and guess what-I hadn't bought tickets in advance. "That's right, we're sold out. You might try the east side," said the ticket man. So we walk, jog and trot around the stadium and fight the crowd to get tickets. To the top of the stands we go, and I realize I should have exercised more. Dr. Payne warned me about these things and how as we get older we sometimes can't do what we did at age 20.

Now you think you had problems at the game-here we are on the opposing side hollering, "Go Herd" and we get all these funny looks. Thank you, Lord, for sending the real cool breeze and for my girls getting goosebumps. We didn't take jackets, so we trotted home, clicked on the TV and listened to the rest of the game.

We all learned a good lesson. All week I've told my kids, if you can't control yourselves, someone else had

Mr. Maes was born in Clovis, N.M. and moved to Hereford 40 years ago from that city. He was employed with Holly Sugar and was a member of San Jose Catholic Church. He was married to Frances Oliz in 1961 in Hereford.

Survivors include his wife; four sons, Paul, Mark and Ralph, all of the home, and Frank Jr. of Dumas; a daughter, Lisa Maes of the home; three brothers, Joe of Amarillo, Tilo of Borger and Max of Hereford; two sisters, Jose Martinez of Clovis and Pauline Ayala of Hereford; and four to control you. So I will try to do this until you can do it yourselves. My example was the lack of sportsmanship shown by the opposing team.

It may be good that we left. If any fights broke out after the game, we didn't need to be a part of that. Besides, my husband just got over a big bruise from riding the girls' skateboard in his cowboy boots-but that is another story.

Congratulations, Herd on the win and more so on attitude and sport-

Double ring ceremony conducted for couple

A double ring ceremony united Pattie Ann Johnson and brian Gerard Urbanczyk in marriage Sept. 13 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Hereford. Father Pat Carathers, pastor of St. Ann's in Canyon, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Autry Lee Johnson of Tulia. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Urbanczyk of Hereford.

Guests were registered by Janna Walker, cousin of the bride.

Vows were exchanged before two 15 branch spiral candelabra entwined with fern. Two bouquets of gladioli and roses completed the setting. The pews were marked with dusty rose bows. The mothers' pews were marked with candles.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of imported organza and venise lace. The gown featured a hand-pearled alencon lace bodice accented with seed pearls and a venise lace ruffle. The sleeves were of by-o-matton and alencon lace. The skirt, made of organza and venise lace, formed a chapel-length train. Ushers were Russell Johnson of Tulia, brother of the bride; Chris Urbanczyk of Hereford brother of the groom; and Andy Stengel of Hereford, cousin of the groom. Following the ceremony, a reception and dinner dance was held in the Knights of Columbus Hall. A four-tiered wedding cake, decorated with burgandy roses and punch was served by Melody Cruse of Canyon, and Jana Corse of Amarillo.

The groom's table was covered with a blue cloth and a lace overlay. Centering the table were two trac-, tors and an ivy plant entwined with dusty rose and white lace. A chocolate cake, decorated as a sugar beet field, and coffee were served by D'arci Morgan of Grandview, and Sandra Strafuss of Hereford, cousin

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the American Legion Hall in Hereford.

The bride is a 1983 graduate of Tulia High School and attended West Texas State University. The groom is a 1982 graduate of Hereford High School and a 1984 graduate of Amarillo College.

> KNITTING BONES

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A University of Rochester Medical Center team says it has isolated a molecule that stimulates bone growth 364-9038 and may be the key to effective new treatments for osteoporosis and to healing fractures that fail to knit.

Dr. Edward Puzas says the research is based on natural body processes for replacing lost bone tissue. Certain cells control this process by releasing a factor that causes generalized cells to become bone cells.

Like this factor is a molecule called HBP, which causes unwanted bone growth in muscle tissue. Puzas thinks HBF can be used to stimulate bone growth where it is wanted, as in unhealed fractures and osteoporosis.

Ice Capades will appear at the Amarillo Civic Center Thursday through Sunday, for six performances. Tickets, priced at $7, $8, and $9 are on sale now at the Civic Center Box Office and Raffkind's Clothing in Westgate Mall.

Prepare oysters Texas style and now is a great time to be enjoying them. Most oysters are sold live in the shell or fresh shucked, but you can also buy them canned and frozen breaded. Oyster connoiseurs say that the best way to enjoy oysters is raw in the half shell. However, if eating them raw doesn't appeal to you, there are other ways to enjoy this shellfish. Oysters can be baked, broiled, fried, or placed in casseroles or soups.

There was a tradition regarding oysters that stated were in season only during the months that have the letter R, with the season beginning in September. This tradition no longer has much meaning since oysters can be eaten all year round. Oysters reproduce from May through August, and though they may be smaller during the summer months, they are just as flavorful as in the fall and winter.

Texas oysters are in prime season closed. The best way to know that an oyster is fresh, is to make sure it is alive. If the shell is open gently tap the oyster. If the fish is alive it will close the shell. If the shell stays open the oyster is not fit to eat. If you have your fish store open the oysters, be sure to use the oysters immediately. Oysters have a shallow shell on one side and a deep cupped shell on the other. Oysters are usually served in the deep shell and opened just before serving. When buying oysters you should plan to have about six oysters on the half shell per person. When shucking live oysters you will probably need an oyster knife. Scrub oysters thoroughly with a stiff brush under cold running water. Discard any oysters with broken or gaping shells. Place oyster on firm surface with cupped side down and hinge at your left. With heavy potholder or glove to protect your left hand, grasp oyster firmly at hinge end. Work knife into shell on front right edge. Try to avoid plunging the shell, be sure the shells are tightly knife straight into the oyster, but rather keep the knife against the shell. Move knife sharply to right and left to cut muscle attached to the shell. Lift off top shell with oyster still attached, cut meat free. Place oyster in deep sided shell with juices. Serve immediately.

This shellfish is rich in vitamins and minerals such as vitamin B 12, vitamin A, iron, phosphorus, zinc and calcium. Oysters are also high in protein and low in fat. They are low in calories with only 84 calories per 3.5 ounce serving.

Last year 5.13 million pounds of oyster meat was harvested in Texas. This harvest was worth over eight million dollars to Texas fisherman. If you would like more information on oysters or free seafood recipes write to the Texas Department of Agriculture 3652 North Dixie Street, Odessa Texas 79762.

NBC wins week with strong starts

NEW YORK (AP) - Yogi Berra once said it's not over 'til it's over. Now NBC, crowing about some preseason successes, is saying it may be over before it's started.

The No. 1 network got a big boost one week before the 1986-87 primetime season officially begins, when ratings for its premiere episodes of "Our House" and "Easy Street" went through the roof. NBC is counting on these Sunday shows to repair its worst nighttime leak.

Last week's opening performances were somewhat artificial, though. To ensure sampling, "Our House" was introduced after the top-ranked "Cosby Show" on Thursday and "Easy Street" began after "The Golden Girls" and before the "Miss America Pageant" on Saturday.

According to figures released Tuesday by the A.C. Nielsen Co., "Our House" ranked second with a 28.7 rating, 45 share. "Easy Street" was third with a 27.3 rating, 48 share.

A single ratings point equals 874,000 homes with television; a share measures the percentage of sets on that are tuned in.

But what most impressed network researchers was that "Our House" performed respectably when it moved to Sunday for its second episode, this time against its regular competition: the 19th season premiere of "60 Minutes" on CBS and a repeat episode of "The Disney Sunday Movie" on ABC.

"NBC has to be pleased with that," said Mike Eisenberg, CBS' research director.

"Even though the regular season hasn't started, if we keep up Sunday numbers like that, the season has just ended," said Gerald Jaffe, NBC's vice president for research

HHS varsity spikers defeat Dunbar

A victory marked the opening of District 1-4A play Tuesday night for the Hereford High School volleyball team when it defeated Lubbock Dunbar 15-12, 15-7 at Lubbock.

The match win is the first of the season for the HHS varsity girls, after nine straight defeats in tournament and non-district matches. In Tuesday's junior varsity match, Dunbar beat Hereford 8-15, 15-11, 15-10.

"The kids played a super match last night. They maintained their composure throughout the first game and thus gained the momentum they needed to win the second game and the match," Hereford Coach Brenda Reeh said.

"It would have been very easy at some points in the match for the kids to ease up and become overly cautious. Instead, they were determined to stick to their game plan and never once allowed themselves to slip mentally," Reeh continues.

In game two of the varsity match, Kamille Martin served for six points and Jeanette Mumau served for five

"The junior varsity played a very tough match and succeeded in accomplishing some major goals. They should be very proud of themselves for scoring as many points as they did and for hanging in there and never giving up," Coach Reeh said.

"Both teams overcame some major obstacles last night. They proved to themselves that they are more than capable of playing with and beating some very strong teams in the district," Reeh adds.

On Saturday, Hereford High School plays at home against Dumas. The junior varsity match starts at 2 p.m. and the varsity match will be played after that

On Tuesday, Sept. 23, the HHS teams play at Lubbock Estacado, with the first match starting at 6:30

Terminally ill girl gets wish

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) -A 5-year-old victim of cystic fibrosis, the nation's No. 1 genetic killer of children, got her wish to visit Disneyland and see Mickey and Minnie Mouse.

the Magic Kingdom Tuesday morning with her father David, a junior high school teacher.

"So far she's all excited. Yesterday we went by Knott's Berry Farm (amusement park). Definitely she had a tremendous time there," Mireles said. All she had said since arriving in Southern California on Monday was: "When are we going on the rides and (to) see Mickey?" Mireles said. Mia's visit was sponsored by the Make-a-Wish Foundation, which grants the fondest wishes of terminally ill children. Most children with cystic fibrosis, a disease that attacks the respiratory system, never reach their 18th birthday. Doctors say the disease is the nation's No. 1 genetic cause of death. Mia is not in pain yet, but probably will be in the next few years as she begins to grow, doctors have said. "My IVs hurt and it hurts when I cough," Mia said last week before leaving Texas.

"She really doesn't know what she has. All she knows is make ends meet. The family also includes another daughter, 7-year-old Irene. "This trip came just in Mireles said the Make-A-Wish Foundation representative asked his daughter three questions. 'They asked her where she wanted to go. First, she said she wanted to go to Disneyland; the second one was Houston, because we always go there for her checkups and her third wish was Brownsville, because that's the only other place she knows," Mireles said with a Mia's name was referred to a recently formed local division of the Make-A-Wish Foundation.

The Mireleses said their daughter's cheerfulness, despite her illness, has given them strength.

When we see other children, I tell my wife we really don't have any problems. There are people whose children are worse than Mia," Mireles said. "We try to live as normally as possible and not talk about Mia's illness."

Says real estate investor

Japanese shot aviator

HOUSTON (AP) - A real estate businessman investigating the disappearance of missing aviator Amelia Earhart says he found the woman's gravesite next to a breadfruit tree on the island of Saipan.

Buddy Brennan, 62, said he excavated the gravesite about 11/2 years ago and unearthed a blindfold he claims the Japanese forced Ms. Earhart to wear before she was shot twice in the chest and then buried.

Ms. Earhart, Brennan said, was executed by the Japanese in 1944 on Saipan just before U.S. forces invaded the Pacific island. Information provided by island residents led him to the discovery, he said.

"The lady who had known this for years had been afraid to say anything about it," the Houston real estate investor said Tuesday in an interview. "But her nephew, a friend of mine, convinced her she was getting so old, that she should say something now." Brennan said the woman led him to a site next to the largest breadfruit tree on the island. The area is now a heavy equipment storage yard for utility maintenance on Saipan, which is one of the Mariana Islands.

According to the woman's account, Japanese officials took Ms. Earhart from a motorcycle sidecar, shot her twice and dumped her in a pre-dug hole, Brennan said. The woman was there because her family was farming land adjacent to the site.

"We were fortunate to get permission to dig at that spot," he said. "We just dug in with front end loader to see what we could find. It's a coral island and knew we couldn't find bones. But we found a khaki blindfold.

"It's pretty well chewed up. But there's no question what Brennan said other people he talked to knew of a woman whose plane either was shot down or crash landed in the area in 1937 on Mili, an atoll in the Marshall Islands. Others told of a woman being imprisoned on the island, of Ms. Earhart's navigator, Fred Noonan, being treated for a leg injury suffered in the crash, and of seeing a boat transporting a silver airplane with a missing wing, Brennan said.

Ms. Earhart, the first woman to fly across the Atlantic, was attempting an around-the-world flight with Noonan in 1937 when their plane disappeared.

"Amelia, in my opinion, was on a spy mission," Brennan said. "President (Franklin) Roosevelt knew the Marshall Islands were being fortified, but the Japanese had denied the ability of the Americans to come into the Marshall Islands."

Brennan said his search for clues to Ms. Earhart's demise began in 1979, and he's spent about $100,000 on it so far.

However, the co-author of a book about Ms. Earhart says Brennan came up with nothing new. Joe Gervais of Las Vegas, Nev., co-author of "Amelia Earhart Lives," says others have suggested the aviator was a spy - and also produced testimony that she was captured and executed. As for the "grave," Gervais asked, "Where's the body? How can you deteriorate something as hard as bone and not cloth?"

As 'Suggester Of Year'

Engineer wins awards

HOUSTON (AP) - John C. Winfree's bright ideas let to changes in jet engine developments and netted him thousands of dollars, and he never once slipped an anonymous note into a company suggestion box.

Winfree was honored as Suggester of the Year Tuesday by the National Association of Suggestion Systems. The non-profit association is holding its annual conference in Houston this week. The 52-year-old assistant project engineer for Pratt & Whitney's Engineering Division-South in West Palm Beach, Fla., says success in making suggestions just takes a little time and thought. "You've got to understand what the problem is first," he said. "If you break it down into simple terms, you can usually find simple answers.' Eleven of 32 technical suggestions Winfree submitted were accepted in 1985, and they have saved his company $730,128 to date, officials said. Many of his suggestions are still being reviewed.

It is not just the money that motivates Winfree, but the satisfaction in changing things for the better.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A woman wrote to you recently and asked the proper way to address a letter to a widow. You replied, "The widow of Mr. John Smith should be addressed the same as during his lifetime - Mrs. John Smith. A good way to remember this is to keep in mind that your beloved husband may have passed away but your name is his forever."

Are you nuts? Don't you realize that some women feel liberated when a miserable marriage is terminated by the death of a poor excuse for a husband? My old man was as mean as a rattlesnake. He used foul language, ran around on me, gambled and got into trouble with the law. When he died (shot by a husband who came home early) I felt as if a 10-ton weight had been lifted off my shoulders. And you tell me I should keep his name! You need a brain transplant, lady .-- FREED IN ALABAMA

BRIDGE BUILDING

By Bob Wear IT IS ADMITTED that, for one reason or another, there must be some walls of separation between us and some people. These must be established and maintained for our well-being, and as part of our right of
