more this year. We feel confident the United Way will reach its goal this year," said Gentry.

Helen Langley, campaign chairman, recognized the Golden Age division for being the nearest to its M.D. Gentry, UW president, goal-already collecting 92 percent of its target of $5,100. Leona Kimball gave the report for that division, and singled out J.O. Robinson for turning in the most contributions.

The Pacesetter division, headed by Margaret Bell, has collected the most total dollars with $10,183 and that hiked its total to 48 percent of the division goal. The Major division, headed by Buddy Peeler is next with $9,544, or 24 percent of its goal.

Other division totals and percentage of goals: Whiteface $1.993 (55%); Special $4,811 (42%); Agriculture $1,535 (34%); Metro, $4,318 (33%), Professional $2,929 (30%); and General $265 (10%).

Highlights listed for the week by Langley included the Lions Club contribution of $2,500; First National Bank and employees $3,200; Pilot Club $500; and Southwestern Bell Telephone, with just seven employees, with a contribution of $843. Two schools-Bluebonnet and Tierra Blanca, contributed about $900 each and both are increases over last year's gifts.

Gentry also recognized Lithographics for printing work it has done for United Way, and Energas for its volunteer representatives and use of facilities for sign work and other tasks. Donnie Houle of Energas is chairman of the Special Division.

The reports were given at a luncheon meeting Monday at the Community Center with UW leaders. volunteers, and agency representatives attending. Bobby Owen is vice president of UW this year, and Lajean Henry is publicity chairman.

Commissioners postpone plan to use automatic vote tabulators

By SHAWN COCKRUM Staff Writer

Deaf Smith County Commissioners voted to postpone converting from paper voting ballots to automated counters until 1987.

"I think we are trying to rush into this," said Commissioner James Voyles, during Monday's regular meeting of the commission. "I wouldn't want us to get ahead of ourselves and have something go wrong on election day."

Commissioners have been contemplating the change from paper ballots to automated tabulators for the past year. In early September of 1985, County Clerk David Ruland informed the commissioners that some of the voting precincts were becomming overcrowded. Ruland said the commisson would have to add voting precincts to the county or convert to automatic tabulators to handle the increase in voters. Ruland told the commissioners that it is illegal for a county to assign more than 2,000 voters to one ballot box if paper ballots are being used. Currently, Precincts 1 and 2 exceed

Last year, commissioners decided to wait until this November's election before making changes.

Monday, commissioners elected to wait until the next constitutional admendment election to implement automatic tabulators.

Commissioners did elect to do away with boxes at Bippus and at the Zinser residence.

A request from Deaf Smith County Jail Administrator David Castillo for a 2.5 percent increase in salaries for jailers was denied.

Commissioners told Castillo that they felt the jailers were doing an outstanding job, but the county did not have the funds to raise any salaries.

Commissioner Bill Bradly said, "I don't see any way we can give the jailers a raise and then explain to the other county employees that there is not enough money in the budget to give everybody a raise."

Valley View to revamp Hereford packing plant

Hereford Monday to renew $8.2 million in revenue refunding bonds to benefit the idle Swift Independent Packing Plant located southeast of Hereford.

Fred Hegi, president of Valley View, and Dennis Farley, president of Valley View owned Friona Industries, told Deaf Smith County Commissioners that marketing plans are in process for the Hereford plant.

"The Hereford plant will be our value added plant," said Hegi. "From this plant we will be producing portion control products and possibly microwave ready products."

Hegi said the industry is turning toward foods that are easier to prepare and are higher in nutritional value.

"First the marketing plans must be put into effect, we hope that will year and plant operations should happen within a year. After the Executives of the Valley View overall plan is approved, then the Capital Corporation were in reopening process of the plant will Valley View electrical generating proceed." said Hegi.

The bond renewal approved Monday by the commissioners comes from money that was obtained in 1982. With Monday's proceedings, the money will now benefit the plant that has been idle for over a year.

Hegi said that Valley View is planning on putting between $2 and $6 million into the renovation of the Hereford plant.

"Our engineers have been through the plant and we know what needs to be done. When the renovations are completed, the plant will employ more people than it had before," said Hegi. "With the newer types of products coming out of plant, it will take more people to do the operation."

Valley View officials said the marketing plans for the Hereford plant should be completed within a

House passes bill seeking research of groundwater at repository sites

The U.S. House of Representatives approved legislation Monday which would give high priority status to researching and preserving underground water sources below nuclear waste repository sites, according to a spokesman from Rep. Larry Combest's office in Entitled the National Groundwater Contamination Research Act of 1986, the bill directs the Geological Survey to give top priority to gathering information on groundwater quality in order to provide a basis for the decisions the Department of Energy makes relating to nuclear waste repository construction activities.

The bill requests that the Geological Survey, with a $343 million allowance for three years, complete the investigation within two years, then to compile a report of the findings which is to be independently evaluated by individuals appointed by state governors. Congressman Dick Chaney (R-Wyo.), the ranking Republican member of the House Subcommittee on Water and Power Resources, was asked by Combest to include the item in the bill.

Combest told the House that he was concerned about the ramifications of placing the nuclear waste site in Deaf Smith County and the questions which must be answered concerning water and the site. The bill is the first call for comprehensive groundwater research.

"The vital role played by water," Combest said, "is the reason that I particularly applaud the Committee's report language relating to the proposed nuclear waste repository site."

KKK candidate draws attention

ABILENE, Texas (AP) - It didn't look like a typical campaign stop for a gubernatorial candidate stumping across Texas.

But Charles Lee, grand dragon of the Invisible Empire of the Ku Klux Klan, is not a typical candidate for Texas governor. But he is a write-in candidate.

The candidate, accompanied by two "bodyguards," was standing beside the Winters Freeway in Abilene Monday, waving at passing motorists. The Klansmen were dressed in white robes with U.S. Marine fatigues under the robes.

The men in white turned more than a few heads Monday on the freeway just south of Humana Hospital.

"There are more and more people who see the Klan is not just a group that goes out and lynches people," said Lee. "We're a responsible Christian group."

In addition to campaigning, Lee said the klansmen were in Abilene to talk to local supporters about forming a local chapter.

"People are tired of do-nothing, dead-end candidates," Lee, 31, of Houston said. "Instead of complaining about it, I decided to do something about it.

NEW YORK (AP) - The Chernobyl nuclear disaster may have emitted up to 50 percent more radioactive cesium than all the atomic tests and bombs ever exploded, according to a U.S. study cited in The New York Times today.

Chernobyl emitted massive radiation

The substance, which takes more than 100 years to decay and is the primary long-term component in fallout, has been associated with cancer and genetic disease.

"It is another way of telling us that this was a very serious accident," said Dr. Lynn R. Anspaugh, a biophysicist who participated in the study by Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory for the Department of Energy.

The study is one of several new Western examinations of the April 26 disaster since Soviet scientists formally presented their findings to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna, Austria, a

Another report by the International Nuclear Advisory Group, warns that the Soviet plan to entomb the reactor may not resolve the health questions because the concrete enclosure may have a design life of only 50 years.

This report, which was to be presented to the international agency today, says that more than eight tons of highly radioactive material was emitted from the accident, some of it deposited hundreds of miles away, the Times said.

The Livermore study came as the governors of the international agency met in Vienna on Monday to complete plans for an early warning system and international relief network in case of nuclear power accidents.

AIDS realigns research programs

WASHINGTON (AP) - As AIDS patients clamor for more information on the first promising treatment for the disease, scientists are assessing the impact of the drug on future studies of this and other potential therapies, health officials say.

Researchers will continue meetings at the National Instihe next two weeks to reassess current and planned treatment trials for acquired immune deficiency syndrome in light of saj+!E National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, which is coordinating federal AIDS treatment trials, says that because AZT shows some effectiveness against the disease, it will change the nature of some trial-s with placebos, or dummy drugs, that deny treatment to some patients in order to test the effectiveness of a potential therapy, he

Since Friday's announcement that AZT will be made more widely available, thousands of people have called hotlines to get more information about the first therapeutic drug for AIDS sufferers.

While authorities said the experimental drug cut the death rate and improved quality of life for some AIDS patients, they stressed that the drug is not a cure and can cause serious side effects.

The National Institutes of Health opened a special telephone hotline to answer questions about the drug and received more than 3,500 calls between Friday and Monday, a spokesman said. The special toll-free number is 1-800-843-9388.

Satellites pose future hazards

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nuclear graveyard 60 miles wide and 600 miles above Earth is filling with debris from worn-out Soviet satellites that could collide some day and allow radioactive pieces to fall into the atmosphere, an expert in space junk says.

"The threat posed today is not serious at all, really," said Nicholas L. Johnson, author of a study to be published soon. But, he said, onethird of the 6,000 objects known to orbit the globe pass through the graveyard region and that the danger of collision increases as more waste is placed there.

The Soviets have parked 39 nuclear reactors — mostly spent power plants from low-flying ocean surveillance satellites - in the orbit, which is high enough to keep them from returning to Earth for hun-

The only U.S. space reactor, SNAP-10A, launched in April 1965 and operated successfully for 43 days in a 780-mile-high orbit, has started to break up and, according to Johnson, "spawned pieces of debris on at least six occasions." He said the nature of the debris and how it got free is unknown.

Johnson, a scientist with Teledyne Brown Engineering of Colorado Springs, Colo., which assesses Soviet space capabilities for military and civilian agencies, said nearly 3,000 pounds of radioactive debris is estimated to be orbiting in the region selected as a nuclear dump, about 600 miles above Earth.

International Israel, Soviet Union resume relations

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) - Prime Minister Shimon Peres today said he and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze agreed during a 70-minute meeting to continue contacts and work toward a normalization in relations.

Their meeting Monday at United Nations headquarters in New York was the two countries' highest-level contact since the Kremlin severed ties with the Jewish state 19 years ago.

Israeli and Soviet delegates met for 90 minutes in Helsinki. Finland on Aug. 18.

Peres, speaking to reporters at the Ben-Gurion International Airport after a nine-day trip to the United States and Canada, said his meeting with Shevardnadze "surprised me favorably in its seriousness and the willingness to hear and be heard."

"Both of us agreed to continue contacts and to take steps which might bring about a normalization in the ties between Israel and the Soviet Union," Peres said. "Many things were opened up but I cannot say they were finalized."

He declined to be specific, saying he and Shevardnadze "agreed not to publish the content of the talks."

Missouri holds manhunt for Indiana killer

WRIGHT CITY, Mo. (AP) -Townsfolk were warned to stay indoors today as scores of law officers searched for a man who shot two people to death, briefly abducted six others and wounded a policeman during a three-state crime spree.

Michael W. Jackson, who painted his face black and silver, also stole seven vehicles during the rampage that began Monday morning in Indianapolis and took him through Illinois into eastern Missouri, authorities said.

Jackson, who turned 41 today, once vowed "to buy some guns and start shooting people," authorities said. His mother once asked that he be put away for good because of fits of violence, The Indianapolis Star reported today.

He was believed to be on foot today near Wright City, about 35 miles west of St. Louis, said Missouri Highway Patrol Lt. Ralph Biele.

The town's 1,200 residents were warned to stay indoors as FBI agents and police searched the rural, wooded countryside on the ground and in helicopters. Jackson was believed to be carrying a sawed-off shotgun and

He was free on federal probation and had vowed not to be taken alive, said Indiana State Police Lt. Col. Donaid Cox.

In a day that started almost 300 miles to the east in Indianapolis. Jackson killed his probation officer and a merchant, then abducted three people while stealing four vehicles to help him escape, authorities said.

In Frankfort, Ind., he forced a woman and her 2-year-old son to accompany him in her car, but released them five miles away, police said.

Jackson turned up in the Missouri town of O'Fallon, where he stole three more cars and abducted one man, and later shot a police officer in Wright City, authorities said. The officer was not seriously injured.

Jackson was convicted in September 1985 for on a federal charge of possessing illegal firearms and sentenced to one year in prison and three years' probation. In a report at the Marion County Jail, officials said Jackson vowed that "when he gets out of here, he is going to buy some guns and start shooting people."

He has been arrested more than 30 times in 17 years, the Star said. His record included a conviction on assault and battery in 1966 and on forged theft in 1969, said Wendy Snitko of the Indianapolis police.

Jackson's rampage began at his home when he allegedly shot and killed probation officer Thomas Gahl, 38, who was found with gunshot wounds in the legs, chest and head, said homicide Capt. Dennis Hawkins. Gahl apparently was to serve some legal papers.

Jackson apparently fled in a stolen pickup truck and drove to J.B.'s Market, where he ordered Jim Hall to give him money, Hawkins said. When Hall was slow in responding. he was shot in the throat and died.

Later, Russell Vanosdol was taken captive and ordered to drive his bread truck to Indianapolis International Airport, where he was forced out, police said.

Soon after, at an airport hotel, Mark McClean of Spencer was robbed and his truck commandeered, Hawkins said. It was abandoned on the city's west side.

Jodi Smith, 27, of Indianapolis, who apparently was taking out her garbage, was forced to drive to Frankfort in her car, which was later abandoned there, police said. She broke an ankle after jumping from took money and jewelry before he released her and her son unharmed.

In Missouri, a car was stolen from a supermarket parking lot in O'Fallon about 7 p.m., said Officer John Fomera. That started a series of car thefts and attempted abductions in which the suspect fired his shotgun at one man.

Water district sponsors special meeting

The Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation District will sponsor a special meeting to explain the lowinterest agricultural water conservation loan program currently being offered by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1. The meeting will be held on Wednesday at 10 a.m.

All persons interested in upgrading their irrigation application and distribution efficiencies are encouraged to attend this meeting in Hereford at the Hereford Communi-

Water District personnel, as well as personnel from the USDA-Soil Conservation Service and the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation District, will be on-hand to discuss the loan program and eligible equipment, as well a answer questions on a one-on-one basis. A slide program will illustrate the types of equipment eligible for loans. Coffee and donuts will be served, courtesy of the Tierra Blanca SWCD.

"Now is a good time to take out a loan because the interest rate, which is 6.75 percent, is low. The rate of interest could change with the next loan the Water District receives from the Texas Water Development Board," points out Ken Carver, Assistant Manager of the High Plains Water District. The District has already committed more than $450,000 in loan funds from the original $1 million it had available for loans.

Loans are being made for up to 75 percent of the purchase price of irrigation equipment and up to 50 percent of installation costs and the purchase price of non-recoverable items. Eligible equipment includes low Energy Precision Application (LEPA) irrigation systems, center pivot sprinkler systems, drip irrigation systems, furrow dikers, surge irrigation equipment, soil moisture monitoring equipment and underground pipeline.

Rude solicitor

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The other day I was wallpapering my bedroom while my children were napping. The phone rang and when I answered it, an overly friendly voice said, "Hi, this is Chris from Central Publishing. How are you today?" I was annoyed and replied, "It sounds like you're selling something." She replied, "Magazines." I promptly hung up, miffed that I had been interrupted by another nuisance call.

She phoned back. When I said, "Hello," she shouted, "You know, you're a rude b-!" and hung up!

Who's rude? If I were walking down the street and someone was handing out handbills, I wouldn't take one. If that woman came to my door selling magazines, I would shut the door in her face. What right has a company to call me in my home and force its sales pitch on me?

Maybe if enough people hung up more often, we would put an end to these nuisance calls. Junk mail is bad enough, but at least you can throw it out without opening it.

Would you say I was rude? I'd like an honest opinion-D. IN THE EAST

DEAR D.: You weren't rude. The solicitor was. Granted, many telephone solicitors have small children and must work from their homes. But they are trained to be pests and will keep talking as long as you let them. This problem is going to get worse before it gets better. Now, heaven help us, we have computers calling! Some folks may view this as high-tech sophistication. I call writing in regard to "A Steady Reader in Waterford, Wis." whose wife was killed because of his drunken driving.

I would like to tell you about another woman who had a nervous breakdown because of the same pro-

It happened when he didn't come home after work until 2 a.m. When he got upstairs to their bedroom, she could see he was cockeyed drunk.

The next morning he was pulling out of the garage onto the driveway to go to work. His wife ran to the door to give him his lunch, which he had forgotten. She went as far as the porch and fainted. Her husband got out of the car to see what was the matter. He saw an eight-year-old girl imbedded in the grill of his car.

He reported himself to the police, said he had a complete blackout, didn't remember hitting anything. He was charged with D.W.I. and a few other things that will keep him in prison for quite some time.

Maybe others who drink and drive may decide it's not worth the risk after reading this letter.-STILL HORRIFIED IN PORTLAND

DEAR PORTLAND: What a grisly story! Bone-chilling, to say the last. I hope it makes an impact on drivers who chance "a few" and don't think it will make any difference.

Last weekend proved to be a tough one for Brand football contest entrants, since the fewest misses by anyone was seven games-by seven people.

Through the use of the tiebreaker, Ronnie Andrews came out in first place, Larry Brogdon finished in second place, and Andrew Crandall placed third.

The tiebreaker game was the Hereford versus Pampa contest, won by Hereford 36-28. Andrews predicted a score of Hereford 28, Pampa 14, in capturing the first place prize of 25 Deaf Smith County over Pampa 34-7, and Crandall turned in a predication of Hereford 30, Pampa 7. Second place prize in the contest is 15 Deaf Smith County Bucks, and the third place prize is 10 Deaf Smith County Bucks.

Brogdon's prediction was Hereford

The four other people who missed seven games each were Karen Marsh, Marc Williamson, Bobbie Kitchens, and Jim Marsh, listed in the order of their placings according to the tiebreaker.

Six people missed eight games each. They were J.D. Bryant, Don Leverett, Larry Wartes, Susan Higgins, W.H. Kitchens, and W.B. Dowell.

Seventeen entrants missed nine games each. There were 163 entries in last week's contest.

Winners must pick up their prizes within five working days, or else the prizes will become null and void.

Stanton 8th, 9th grade spikers lose to Gattis

The Stanton eighth and nine grade volleyball teams lost home matches Monday to Gattis of Clovis, N.M.

Stanton lost the ninth grade match, 15-2, 15-12, and suffered a 15-5, 15-5 defeat in the eighth grade match.

Coach Lynn Gilbreath said the team MVPs in Monday's matches were ninth grader Daphne Roddy and eighth grader Leslie Billingsley.

In game two of the ninth grade match, Stanton trailed Gattis 7-2, but came back to tie the game 7-7. Stanton then moved into an 11-7 lead before Gattis rallied to tie the game at 11-11.

Gattis then moved ahead 14-11 enroute to winning game two, and the match, 15-12.

Stanton's next matches are scheduled for Monday, Sept. 29, at La Plata. Actions begins with the seventh grade match at 4:30 p.m., followed by the eighth and ninth grade matches.

Accent on Health

Perhaps no other factor is as important following a serious injury or sudden illness as the time it takes to begin medical treatment.

According to the Texas Department of Health (TDH), any delay between the onset of trauma and the start of competent treatment increases the severity of the emergency and can needlessly lead to disability or death of the victim. Also, studies show that as many as 25 percent of victims of accidents or sudden illness underestimate the seriousness of their situation-they do not recognize that an emergency Texas Commissioner of Health, Dr. Robert Bernstein, said, "It is always up to the victim or a witness to decide if an injury or illness is an emergency. But if there is any doubt, the victim should get medical help immediately." He added that the fastest way to receive medical attention is to call an emergency medical service (EMS).

"Thousands of Texans owe their lives and current health to EMS teams, which ensure speedy medical assistance and special transportation to trauma victims around the clock," Dr. Bernstein said.

To honor EMS personnel and the services they provide daily, Gov. Mark White has proclaimed September 21-27 Emergency Medical Service Week in Texas. The observance coincides with national EMS Week, sponsored by the American College of Emergency Physicians. A highlight of the Texas observance is the Statewide EMS Conference to be held in Austin September 26-27 at the Austin Hilton Inn.

TDH regulates more than 1,000 EMS firms in Texas. The department's Bureau of Emergency Management certifies EMS technicians and their trainers, develops tests, and approves EMS courses. It also licenses EMS vehicles, including ambulances, helicopters, and fixed-wing aircraft. The bureau currently certifies nearly 35,000 persons to practice emergency medical service, including about 20,000 members of EMS firms and about 15,000 law enforcement, fire, and other emergency personnel.

Many face periods of great stress

Most people deal with daily stresses like traffic jams and work deadlines without too much trouble. But even people who are on a fairly even keel most of the time face occasional periods of great stress.

Bereavement, financial difficulties, ill-health, and worry are all part of life. According to the Texas Medical Association, it is when several such events occur together that mental health can suffer.

Since you cannot always avoid stress, learning to deal with it effectively helps ease tension that can build up. There are many ways to relax. Often the problem seems to center around finding the time to 'get away from it all." The following exercise routine does not take very much time and can be done on your own, without going anywhere.

Try to do the exercises regularly, not just when you feel tense. A gradually acquired ability to relax may help you deal with occasional periods of great and unavoidable

1. Loosen or remove any tight clothing. Lie on the floor, face up, eyes closed, either in a warm room or covered with a light blanket.

2. Tighten muscles in your face, and then let them relax.

3. Lift up your head and let it fall gently back. Keep your jaw and neck relaxed so that you can feel your throat opening. 4. Press your shoulders down onto the floor. Then relax them. 5. Stretch out your arms and fingers. Hold them taut for only a moment before easing the strain completely.

6. Lift your buttocks and let them fall again, feeling your spine stretch and relax as you do so.

7. Keeping your heels together, stretch your legs and toes. Then relax them completely.

Continue these exercises, one after the other, for a few minutes until you feel totally limp and relaxed from head to toe. Rest with your eyes open or closed. Before standing up, turn and lean on your side for another two or three minutes. Repeat this routine every day.

In 1985, the fatality rate on the nation's highways declined to the lowest level in history and in the last five years, alcohol related traffic fatalities declined by 25 percent. Statistics compiled by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) showed 43,800 motor vehicle-related deaths in 1985, 1 percent fewer than the 1984 total of 44,257 and nearly7,300 less than in 1980, when 51,091 people were kill-NHTSA also estimates that 22,680 people were killed last year in motor vehicle crashes that involved alcohol, 1,140 fewer than in 1984. The number of fatally injured drivers who were legally intoxicated (blood alcohol concentration of .10 percent or greater) at the time of the crash declined to 9,890 compared to 10,320 in 1984 and 13,110 in 1980. This represents a 25 percent decrease between 1980 and 1985.

Today, all 50 states and the District of Columbia require safety restraints for young children. Twenty-five states and the District of Columbia have passed mandatory safety belt use laws, and similar islation is pending in other states. Yet, despite legislative initiatives, a majority of Americans still fail to fasten their belts before taking to the road.

Riordan said the INS was investigating reports that "marriage brokers" had paid servicemen $500 to $10,000 each to wed Korean women so they could enter the United States, and then get divorced.

If resources permit and the military approves, the INS will interview hundreds of men who married Korean women while in the military in the past three years and have since divorced, he said.

The Defense Department will help locate military personnel, said spokesman Jim Turner, but will await INS results "to determine if there is a problem." Sometimes Korean women with no military ties who have come to America to rejoin families also fall prey, authorities say. Promising a better life, the

The jobs are in other cities. Many take the bait and leave husbands and families.

Some might ask, "How can you fall for a line like that?" said Junction City Detective A.B. Farrow. "These girls, when they're told by their own people, they're assuming they can place some trust in them. They get a rude awakening.

They discover they've been roped into prostitution.

The women, who often speak little English and have few job skills, have borrowed heavily and accepted plane tickets to get to new jobs. Room and board are added to mounting IOUs.

Some become virtual prisoners, turning tricks 16 hours a day, sleeping and working in the same room, never seeing sunlight.

"They're like indentured

> They travel from city to city - pawns in an active barter of human flesh.

Police say it's hard to gauge the extent of the problem because women use bogus names and prostitution usually is merely a misdemeanor.

Authorities also find themselves bedeviled by a conspiracy of silence fostered by ethnic loyalties - and intimidation.

Many Koreans "do not trust law enforcement," said Charles Woodard, police investigator in Killeen, Texas, next to Fort Hood. "They're afraid to bring charges. These people will not come to talk to us."

HHS spikers suffer losses to Dumas

In high school volleyball action last Saturday, the Hereford varsity girls dropped below the .500 mark in District 1-4A matches when they fell to Dumas, 15-10, 15-6.

Hereford, now 1-2 in the district, plays at Lubbock Estacado tonight. The junior varsity match is set for 6:30 p.m., and the varsity match will be played after the junior varsity match.

Dumas also won Saturday's junior varsity match, 15-0, 15-5. Hereford and Dumas were tied 3-3 in game one of Saturday's match.

teams lose

La Plata Junior High School's ninth grade volleyball team defeated Dumas last Saturday in matches played in Hereford.

Dumas, however, won the seventh and eighth grade matches.

La Plata lost game won of the ninth grade match 15-3, but won the next two games, 16-14 and 15-12.

The La Plata ninth grade girls trailed 14-5 in game two and trailed 9-0 in game three.

Dumas' victories in the other matches were: 15-10, 15-6 in the seventh grade match, and 15-3, 15-11 in the eighth grade match.

La Plata hosts Marshall today at 4:30 p.m., and then hosts Stanton next Monday at 4:30 p.m. All three La Plata teams will play each day.

Dumas gained a 4-3 lead, but Jeanette Mumau gave Hereford a 6-4 lead with three points served.

Dumas came back to take an 8-6 lead before Hereford tied up the match again at 8-8. Dumas then moved ahead 14-8.

A block by Mumau and Kamille Martin gave Hereford a point, but Hereford could only score one more point in the game, and lost 15-10.

Dumas led 2-0 in game two. A service ace by Wisty Mars of Hereford tied the game at 2-2.

Moments later, Hereford trailed Dumas 5-2. Mumau served an ace to cut the Dumas lead to 5-3, but Dumas built up 11-3 and 14-4 leads enroute to defeating Hereford 15-6.
